Woman: "You stole this property. This is robbery! This property is worth $1,850,000."

Me: "Well, that is what the owners offered as the price and I agreed to it."

Woman: "I will pay you $1,400,000 for it."

While I was quite tempted to take it, I felt the Holy Spirit tell me that I was not to take it.

Me: "I am sorry, but this place is not for sale."

Woman: Screaming. "This is not the last you have heard of me."

She was absolutely furious. As she left, she slammed the door. I then walked to the window facing towards the west. The landscape there was supernaturally growing, blossoming and transforming right before my eyes. Sub-dream description over...

I woke up in the velvety green grass. There was Jesus looking at me and smiling.

Jesus: "So, Erin, were you house hunting?"

Me: Laughing. "I guess so, but only in my dream."

Jesus: "I am glad to see you again today."

Me: "Lord, we are in need of miracles. All of our hopes are in You. I will be coming to You as often as I am able. Oh yes...thank You for giving me some reprieve from my pain today. This feels wonderful!"

Jesus: "Erin, there is soon to come a day when the word 'pain' will not cross your lips unless you speak of healing."

Me: "I long for this day. Lord, what does the dream I just had mean?"

Jesus: "Do you not know? Well, this dream is good. In this dream, you were not shopping for a home. You took shelter in an abandoned old home from the storm. Once inside, you soon discovered that, what you thought was old and run down, was actually a hidden treasure.

"You then became interested in the home because of the altar the young man's grandfather had built for Me. While you had no means to purchase it, you were supernaturally able to do so. The sellers were happy as they had no interest in the property.

"Now, the woman had tried to claim what was not hers because she had plans to remove the altar and develop the land. When you then discovered the true worth of the land from her, you still did not sell it. You did not take the generous return on your investment. You instead kept it because you wanted to keep the altar intact.

"Once the woman left, the area flourished and blossomed even more. You then recognized the true treasure. The treasure was where the man met with Me and you knew that you would be able to meet with Me there as well. "However, even if I would not meet with you there, you still would have purchased this property. You would have done this to honor the man who had built this altar in My honor. This dream is an excellent dream."

Me: "While I still do not fully understand, I am glad that I had made such a good decision in this dream."

Jesus: "Erin, your old dry bones are about to have new life. Do not worry as I am with you. I have not forgotten you. I will breathe into you so that you may live. Your hope will no longer be gone. You will stand and rejoice together."

Me: "Oh please, Lord, soon, soon!"

Jesus: Smiling. "I have heard your cries. Your groans are deep within you and I have heard them. I have given you a new heart and placed a new spirit in you. I have not forgotten you. I love you. Now, rise up!" He reached out His hand to lift me to my feet.

Dear Father,

It feels like old times, the summer of 2012 to be precise. While the grief in my heart was so great, Father, You turned my life around in such a miraculous way and with events that I never imagined. You even gave me things I never prayed for. However, as You created me, You knew what I needed deep in my soul to revive my dying life.

In a matter of a year, You gave me so much. In the matter of three years, You gave me what I could not conceive. You are an amazing Father and God! Given all You have done for us, I do not want to be a grumbler. I do not want to miss out on something special. It is just that...well...this waiting is discouraging to our household.

It is difficult to understand my current condition in light of all that You have done. Even when I try hard to mask my pain, my family sees it in my eyes. How should I act? While I am trying hard to keep my household upbeat, it is becoming more and more difficult to do so as the summer continues to drag on.

I need to go to a hospital where there are specialists. I travel to a specialist on the East Coast on Tuesday in the hopes of a referral to either the Seattle Washington area or Portland Oregon area. This would be required as there are very few specialists in the area of 'Ophthalmology combined with Neurosurgery' where we are here.

In reality, I am praying that the specialist sees a miracle instead and says, 'I see nothing here!' Father, the last round of medical bills seven years ago, combined with legal bills to fight to keep my children, had bankrupted me. I cannot do this to my family again. My husband does not deserve such a burden.

Please, Father, take care of us. Please grant us the miracle of healing. I am supposed to remain 'positive, stress free, doing nothing physical to place undo stress' as per my doctor's orders, but how, Father? I had hoped I would not begin a rant today because we would have already been healed. Oh, what praises will come from me then!

You see, Father, when You said yesterday, 'I will help you at the break of dawn', I had hoped that You had meant this literally. I held out hope that today would be a great day. In reality, I can no longer discount any day because, to me, all days now are great days for Your miracles.

Father, I feel as if my kids come to check on me each day when they wake up hoping to see a miracle. I then see them turn away in disappointment as nothing has changed. My one son is currently saying, 'God does not speak to me. He does not answer my prayers'. This is so disheartening as I really do not know what to say.

All I can say is keep trying and do not relent. I try to defend my case for faith despite our circumstances. Still, it is rather difficult at times. It does not help that my head aches again today. It does not help that our cruel neighbor is having his home framed.

Oh Father, why does evil succeed? Why do the wicked advance in this life while Your children seem so weak in comparison? Please be the lifter of our heads today. Please grant my husband an opening from a new employer that You have handpicked for him. Grant my sons an answer to their prayers so that their belief is strengthened.

Oh Father, please do not let time diminish all that You have done. Even so, though my household grows weary and discouraged, we still cling to Your promises. Even though we may waiver at times, we still cling to Your undying faithfulness. Thank You, Father, for not turning away from us when we so quickly grumble.

Yes, Father, even though we deserve punishment at times, You are loving, gracious and merciful to us instead. We love You, Father. I love You. My heart is full of love for You. No matter what comes our way, I know that You will not let us fall. I know that You will fulfill Your promises.

I just know that You will do all that You have said and even that which we cannot conceive of. Please forgive me for my worry and my fear. I know this is not from You. Please take this dawn, this new day, and make it Your day. I had a dream last night...

Sub-dream description begins...

I was preparing meals for my enemies. It was difficult as I could somehow read each of their thoughts as I served them. I could hear their thoughts as clearly as if they were speaking out loud. It was difficult to ignore their words as it was just so painful to hear them condemning me. They just sat there eating without saying a single word. I continued to serve them for quite some time until they had their fill.

Sub-dream description over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a beautiful open pavilion in God's Garden. It was made of stone and the columns were covered in fragrant blossoming vines. I was sitting at a table and could somehow tell I was about to be served. An angel I did not recognize approached me.

Angel: "The King shall be here soon to dine with you. Even though you are early, you are still right on time."

Me: "I do not understand."

Angel: "You are a guest of the King. Here is some bread and water from his pool and springs. When the King arrives, I will serve wine from His new vintage."

Me: "Will this be new wine?"

Angel: "Yes. Please be patient while you wait. We have been sent to attend to you."

Me: "Well, I guess I do need a lot of special attention."

While I smiled and laughed as I said this as I was just joking, the angel was serious in his reply.

Angel: "According to the King, yes, Erin, you do."

Me: "When will the King arrive?"

Angel: "Right on time. He is bringing gifts for you."

I was speechless as I began to cry. A different angel soon came up to me and handed me a beautiful white cloth. The cloth appeared to have Hebrew initials on it, but I was not entirely sure as I did not recognize the writing. The angel motioned for me to wipe my tears. Just as I did, the fabric instantly soaked them up and then dried completely.

Angel: "Please look around you. The King delights in you."

Just then, some small animals were coming slowly across the grass towards the pavilion. My heart instantly became excited as I just love these little blessings.

Me: I smiled at the angel. "Oh angel, may I please go over there and pet them?"

Angel: Smiling back. "Yes, Erin, of course."

I went over and sat down in the grass. The little animals came over to greet me. As I petted their soft fur, I looked over at the angel. He was still smiling at me.

Me: "How much longer until the King arrives for dinner?"

Angel: "At the appointed time. He is coming. The King is coming!"

Just then, several more angels appeared. They stood at attention and were now 'in order'. I stood up so that I could fully marvel at the sight. I then heard some shuffling behind me. As I turned to look, a bright flash of light came...

Dear Father,

It is a beautiful day for healing! Just letting You know that I am still here and that I am still thankful everyday when I wake up to a new day. I am in pain again today. I have excruciating pain on the left side of my head and neck. In spite of the pain, I am trying to come as often to You as possible right now no matter what.

Father, You are the only One Who can help us. The only One! I cannot help myself. My boys cannot heal their conditions. I need my Creator, my Designer and my Builder to do all of this. You know more about me than any X-Ray, CT Scan or any doctor could. So, Father, my Grand Physician and Creator, please have mercy.

Please at least heal my sons and give them hope and a future now so I can witness this. The joy in my heart would mask the pain I feel. Oh Father, when I imagine it, I see them healed. Perhaps it is because I have seen them changed in my dreams and see great things in them there. I see only strength, wisdom and kindness, like the angels.

Please let me have my earthly hope that Your promises are for now. I would give all that I have for all of our children to live in Your service in the Army of God. It would help me to make sense of all that we have endured. This has been a particularly brutal and grueling part of the race.

I was awoken earlier today by an automated reminder, a three-day warning, that my appointment with a specialist was on Tuesday. It will be a long day as it is a long drive to where this specialist practices along the eastern coastline, the closest specialist to us. From there, I then hope to get a referral to someone from a large hospital.

It just seems that there have been so many hoops and obstacles to get through to see these specialists. I have done so much just to be able to see someone for a couple of hours. Oh Father, I am so glad that You are readily available for us in comparison. You are there for us 24/7 no matter where we physically are.

The timeframe of this July just reminds me so much of my July in 2012. This was just before You began Your miracles for me and gave me these dreams and visions. I was fighting so many enemies back then that I was caught up in an earthly maze of oppression. Legal and financial debts were mounting so quickly that I was drowning.

The burden was so great and the conditions so unfair that I could not wrap myself around how I could be take to court for no reason other than my ex-husband's revenge and his desire to not want to pay any child support. While the courts ultimately saw through his schemes, there was no real restitution put into place for my pain.

In order to keep peace and be given the assurance I could keep my children, I was then saddled with a debt of $25,000 in legal bills and no child support. My heart was breaking and I was just one disaster away from total bankruptcy. My bills were simply too high and my income just too low. After a while, that disaster arrived.

In July 2012, my daughter was hit in the head with a golf club. This was swung by her stepbrother at her dad's house. While my ex-husband was supposed to cover the medical bills of almost $3,000, he instead lied on the forms and saddled me with the debt instead. As per usual, the courts sided with him when I protested.

I cannot tell you what a shock it was to have an unexpected garnishment of my wages of $300 per month. My worst enemy had won and I was now ruined. As there was now no hope, no loan options, no choices and no means, I had to file for bankruptcy. I could not take a second job as this would result in me losing my kids.

In order to file for bankruptcy, I even had to take a payday loan out to afford an attorney to file for protection. All the while, I watched as my enemies mocked me. I was trapped. It took four years of repayments in order for me to finally clear my name again. I called it a prison with no bars...like house arrest.

In reality, I needed medical treatment. However, due to the cost, I did the very bare minimum at every turn. All of this resulted in me finally surrendering myself completely to You in July 2012. However, You seemed silent and I stumbled. All of the unfairness and sickening travesty of pain and humiliation continued my downward spiral.

The desert became my 'personal hell'. I spent countless hours up at night pacing. I would breakdown in tears on my knees in front of my little round ottoman. I begged for Your help, Father, I begged! I finally had given up hope of hearing from You and I was angry, disappointed and felt of very little worth to You.

I gave up...BUT I then received a dream from you...

Sub-dream (from 2012) begins...

I was opening the backdoor of a home that I did not recognize. When I looked out to the yard, I saw freshly mowed grass and a large hedge of bushes. Grazing in the grass was a rabbit. It was almost nightfall.

I then wanted to speak to the rabbit to warn it to hide because I was worried about predators. However, I was unable to say a word as nothing was coming out of my mouth. I then saw a cat skulking and stocking the rabbit. The rabbit seemed oblivious to the danger.

I then looked for something to make noise with. I found a stick and banged it noisily against the wall of the home. However, I was then awoken suddenly from this dream as something had banged in my home in real life. As I could not find anything to be concerned about, I decided to go back to sleep.

My dream continued and I was back in the same place. I looked and looked to see the rabbit again, but it was nowhere to be found. I started to pray in anguish as I was worried that something happened to this cute little bunny. I heard a voice...

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin, as you will see this rabbit again."

I woke up immediately after He had said this to me in this dream.

Sub-dream over...

Well, after that, it was as if a dam had broken open and a constant flow of dreams and visions began. It was the beginning of my gifts of the Spirit from You, Father. Thank You for answering my pleas to hear Your Voice.

My husband and I went to take some photos of the eagles again last night at around 8:30pm. Before getting into the car, we decided to check on 'our' woodchucks in the backyard. To our shock and surprise, we instead saw a rabbit eating grass that my husband had just mowed the day before.

I was amazed as this seemed to match my dream from July 2012. I started to take photos of the rabbit with my camera. It started to run back and forth and seemed confused. We realized that it was scared by our presence, so we decided to leave so it could calmly find its way home. Before leaving, I told it to 'be safe, little guy, be safe.'

This seemed like heavenly timing to us as we had never seen a rabbit in our yard here before. Sadly, I do not have an exact record of the date of this dream from six years ago, but this seemed to me to possibly be a sign of some sort.

Father, You speak to me with signs from nature and in everyday life. Please do not allow my ministry to end. In 2012 to 2018, this was the time of dreams and visions. In July 2018, I saw this rabbit in real time and it matched. Please allow this to be a sign that our time of miracles from these dreams and visions are soon to be upon us!

Oh Father, come, and please bring us Open Heaven. Lord, my King, come! You reside in Heaven, but let Your Kingdom come, let Your Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who have severely trespassed and punished us.

Lead us not into the temptation of revenge and sin, but instead deliver us from the evil that threatens to harm and entice us. For Thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory, forever and ever, Amen!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again sitting in the pavilion at the King's table. An angel approached me and poured some more water into my cup.

Me: "Where is my King?" Is He coming?"

Angel: "A King asks 'where are my people?', Erin."

Me: "Well, cannot the people ask 'where is my King?'"

The angel smiled and I could see the other angels there smile as well. I could somehow tell that they were holding back their laughs. All of this made me feel so very welcome!

Angel: "Erin, you are a guest of the King. You have been invited. You came a bit early, but this is no surprise to our King. Do you not enjoy the refreshing water and warm bread handmade by the finest of the King's bakers? Perhaps you have some place better that you would rather be?" He smiled, as did the other angels.

Me: "I am sorry, but I am just so excited to see Him. I am honored to be His guest. How dare I expect anything from the King when I arrived early. I am sorry that you now have to entertain me. I feel foolish, yet I am just so excited." The angels were still smiling.

Angel: "You are to make yourself at home. The King delights in you. Now, come with me as I have something for you to see. The King thought that this would make you smile."

I got up and followed the angel to a beautiful pool with fountains that created archways out of the water. At the end of this series of arches was a large rock with water flowing from it. The water was so beautiful and pure.

Me: "May I please put my feet into the water?"

Angel: "Of course. This water is living water and is greater than the water of the Bethesda Pools."

I dipped my feet in and I felt a surge of this living water flow up throughout my body as if it were in my veins and my very being. Tears came from my eyes, but I noticed that my tears no longer had salt in them. This was unlike anything that I had ever felt.

Me: "Oh my goodness, this is incredible. May I please wait for the King here?"

Angel: "Yes, Erin, of course."

Me: "I hope you don't mind me asking, but how early am I?"

This time, all of the angels began to laugh, but, and as per usual, in a kind and good-natured way.

Angel: "A bit early. The King is coming, so do not worry. For now, enjoy the healing waters."

Dear Father,

It is a beautiful day to be alive here! I thank You for this day, a great additional day added to my days. Thank You for our peaceful household despite all of our difficult circumstances.

Eighteen years ago, I had asked You to reveal Who You are to me. I had only been a Christian for seven years and I was confused by all of the negative fruits of the spirit that I was seeing in my fellow Christians. It is amazing how fast rotten fruit can spread to rot the good fruit if left unchecked.

Thankfully, I also had a few close friends at church that displayed the positive fruits of the spirit. I could tell that they truly loved Jesus. However, I once again became confused when I started to hear horrible gossip about each of them. Clearly the enemy was at work here, but I was too new a Christian to be able to discern this. I would later realize that these were all evil lies.

When attending church, I would often go up to the altar for prayer. I would do this almost every Wednesday night and every Saturday morning. I felt close to God when I did this, but now I was being coerced by my ex-husband and his family to stop doing this. As they felt that this was an embarrassment to the family, I agreed to stop.

I am so sorry, Father, that I lost so much time floundering. When I would have something exciting happen at my shops as a result of answered prayer, I would quickly dismiss this as not coming from You, but fruit of my own hands. Those were my years of being squelched. I was being squelched, but my worldly ways needed it.

I soon decided to stop asking questions about You as they were usually met with negativity. I decided to instead go into quiet pursuit of You. While I knew that You existed, I needed to keep things private while I learned more about Who You are. I also made a decision to spend more time with my children exploring Your Creation.

We went on so many adventures together. We went to the aquarium, the zoo, various museums, drives, parks, beaches and lakes. During these drives with just me and the kids, I would play praise music. We would talk about all that You would someday do for us. We dreamt together. 2002 to 2004 was a different time for me.

Suddenly, all things changed after this. It was time for three years in the furnace of affliction. I questioned all I thought I knew. I could not move backwards. I could not move forwards. No matter where I went, fire was there waiting for me. Nonetheless, I met You there, Father, in my great grief and humiliation.

I had such great sorrow and pain from my circumstances that my heart was now skipping beats. I was shutting down. The courts did not support me as they had not yet encountered what happened to me and my kids at the hands of my ex-husband. While there is now, there was no reference back then.

I soon learned to isolate myself from people and instead pressed into You. You became my Husband and my Father. Thankfully, I still had those three great friends that I did not isolate myself from. They helped me come to grips with what happened and taught me how to stop my self-shaming and self-blaming.

In addition to being incredible supports for me and my kids, they were witnesses for me in the criminal and divorce proceedings that followed. Soon after this, my kids and I once again went through the furnace. This was the time of my desert place. What a wicked time. What a horrible and lonely time of five years or sixty months. This is where I finally called out to You in prayer...

Prayer said in Erin's past begins...

While I have learned to love You through all of my troubles, Father, I am still unsure if You love me. While I have apologized and repented of anything and everything I can think of that I have done to You or anyone else, I am still unsure. While I am deeply sorry for telling You this, my heart is breaking. I am barely hanging on.

I am bankrupt and in great distress. Because You have not blessed us, I am not sure if I even matter to You. How can I when I see my enemies thrive and prosper at my expense over and over again. I feel as if I have been punished much more than my crimes deserve. I do not have anything left. You have taken all that I have from me.

If You took my children, I would surely die. Perhaps by me even saying this, I appear arrogant. If so, Father, I am sorry. No matter what though, I still love You. However, I am going to take a break from believing that You will one day do great things for me and my children. Father, even though it just hurts way too much to continue, please know that I will always love You.

Prayer said in Erin's past over...

Father, You did all that You promised and much, much more. However, it first required me to surrender fully to Your Will in all things. It has been quite a race!

Yesterday, my husband and I took a drive. Even though I was still in great pain, I love taking drives. When we finally arrived at the coast, I became nauseous and my head was in great pain. I became dizzy and unsteady and felt that we needed to go home. When we got in our house, it was not long before I vomited. I then laid down.

As I laid down, tears streamed down my cheeks. I felt as if I was in a similar situation as the time just before You moved us from the desert. Just like now, we were completely at Your mercy for our deliverance. This has been a difficult journey, but an amazing one. Thank You for guiding us.

You are so wise to not reveal Your plans in advance to us. If I had known every step of the way in great detail, I am not sure if I would have signed up for the trip. Knowing what would be involved would have made almost anyone nervous. Well, now that I have passed through the fire, I love the destination and where You are now taking us.

It is like taking a trip with our children. We do not reveal every detail in advance because there would be a lot of questions and grumbling prior to reaching the destination. Who knows...they might even opt out of the road trip and miss out on all of the fun. Sigh...as adults, are we really that much different from our kids?

I woke up this morning just after receiving a funny short dream from You...

Sub-dream begins...

I was sitting at a control panel. This control panel was so massive that even a large man would feel small in comparison. On this control panel was a large illuminated red button, along with a huge lever just to the right of the button.

Across from the panel and directly in front of me was a huge door. The door had a metal plate with neon lighting that read 'THE LEAST OF THESE!' I heard a bell and I somehow knew that this was a signal for me to press down on the red button.

I got into position and pressed on the red button with all of my might. After doing so, I heard an odd compression sound. I then somehow knew that I was now to pull the giant lever. I again got into position and pulled back on the lever with all of my might.

As soon as I did this, the door in front of me opened. While there was fog and lights coming in from the door, almost like at a sports arena when the home team arrives, I could also now hear the sounds of cheering. I decided to move towards the door...

Sub-dream over...

Father, this was such an exciting dream. It was so real that, when I woke up, my hands felt as if I had actually pushed the huge red button and pulled the giant lever in real life. Oh Father, thank You so much for not giving up on me! I know that I am not the easiest scribe and dreamer as I can often act like a whiny baby.

I just pray that You fully know that my heart is now like a child. As a child, I just cannot help myself from getting excited easily, but also disappointed just as easily. Well, one thing I know...You know everything, including this...AND for all of us! No matter what, Lord, I just know that I love You so much!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I smiled as I still had my feet in the same spot of the healing pool as I did yesterday. I was so happy that I began to splash the water in delight. Only then did I feel that someone was there. When I turned to look, there was the same attending angel. He had a smile on his face as he held a towel out for me.

Angel: "Are you ready to get out or would you like to be served your dinner here?"

Me: I jumped to my feet. "Oh, is the King here? Is He here yet?"

Angel: "No, Erin. You are still early. The King is coming at the appointed time."

Me: "What is the appointed time?"

Angel: "Dinner is at 7:00."

Me: "What time is it now?"

Angel: Smiling. "You have arrived before the doors close, so do not worry. The guests have not yet arrived."

Me: "Guests arrive at 6:00 and the door shuts at 6:15." I let out a sigh. "Hmm, since there are no guests, this must mean I am very early." I grimaced.

Angel: "Do not worry, Erin, as you are here at the time the King has expected you."

I looked down at what I was wearing and suddenly felt underdressed.

Me: "Everything here seems so formal. Should I not be better dressed for the supper?"

Angel: "Yes, Erin, come with me."

I followed the angel into a room with nothing but female angel seamstresses. Just before leaving me to their attending to me, he added the following...

Angel: "So, Erin, would you like to be a 'fit model' for this gown?"

Me: "Oh yes, angel, I love 'dress up'! Oh my, this gown is, by far, the finest dress I have ever seen, either on Earth or even here! Please!"

Angel: Addressing the female angels. "Erin has arrived!"

After first closing the door for privacy, they placed the gown on me from the table it had been lying on. They must have already known my measurements as this dress already fit. As a matter of fact, it fit better than any item of clothing I have ever tried on.

They then opened the door and invited the male angel back in. After doing so, they then turned me around so I could look at myself in the mirror. I found this a bit odd at first as this was the first time I had ever seen a mirror in Heaven.

What I saw in the mirror soon had me crying. The way I looked had changed. I was now...Transformed! I soon became uncomfortable staring at myself in the mirror as it seemed to represent vanity. As vanity is contrary in Heaven, I looked down at my feet.

Angel: "Do not worry, Erin, as this is a fitting, not a judgment. Be joyful, Erin! Be joyful!"

Me: "Oh angel, who has the honor of wearing this magnificent gown? Who is the bride?"

I heard good-natured laughter coming from the angel, as well as all of the 'angel seamstresses'.

Angel: "Oh, Erin, do you not know yet? It is you! Erin, you are the bride!"

Me: "Me?"

At that second, I suddenly remembered what had happened just the evening before. We were not even near our glass shelves when a wine glass 'leapt off' and smashed into pieces. We then joked around about this being like the Jewish tradition of breaking a glass at a marriage ceremony. Since this was the first time in our marriage that we had broken a glass of any kind, we had found this noteworthy.

Me: "Oh, angel, how could someone like me deserve such a thing?"

Angel: Smiling. "Erin, you are preparing. The King loves His bride. He will come! He will not delay! Rejoice, Erin, rejoice, for the King is coming!"

Dear Father,

Another day, another day, thank You for another day! I feel better than yesterday so far, so thank You for relief. As You know, Father, I have been anxious about tomorrow's appointment. It will be a total of twelve hours in the car tomorrow to get to the appointment and back.

More than ever these days, I do not like being far from home. I cried last night as I went to sleep as it hurt to lay my head down. My sons had come to say goodnight to me and they both seemed so sad. All of the kids are bored this summer as I am not really up for that much fun I am afraid.

Oh Father, everything is on hold until You open doors for us. It is the first time in our lives where we have done all that we physically can and now can do nothing but wait on You. Even though each day seems significant, I still try to balance my time between You, my chores and spending time with my family.

One of my sons asked me the other day why I take so many photos. I answered... 'I am not entirely sure. Perhaps I am trying to capture a moment in time that triggers a memory. It is to remember. Perhaps it is for all of us to remember. I don't know.'

My favorite photo subjects these days are hummingbirds and eagles. This makes it difficult though as they are quite tricky to adequately capture with my novice setup. My shaky hands mean that I could perhaps have just one focused shot out of many. Even though it is a challenge, I keep trying as right now it makes me smile.

Father, I was given the most unique dream last night. It was pretty well as unique as any dream that I have ever had. It was also very clear...

Sub-dream begins...

I was my current age and in the disabled state that I am in now. I was carrying a large duffle bag that was mostly empty. I was standing at the corner of Solano Avenue and Masonic Avenue in Albany, CA. This is one of the places that I had grown up in.

The I looked up and saw that the BART Tracks were towering over me. The regular railroad tracks passed underneath the BART Tracks. While I recognized the area 'in general' from when I left here in 1976/77, it really did not look the same as before.

I suddenly remembered that I needed to check on several people to see how they were doing. While I believed they were 'still alive' in this dream, all of these people had actually already passed away. What was also odd is that these people really had no ties to this area.

As I reviewed the street names around me, I realized that they would later become relational to future places I would eventually live in. The street names included Portland Avenue, Washington Avenue, Spokane Avenue, Key Boulevard, Brighton and Gabriel Avenue. As I reviewed the list of people and street names, I became overwhelmed.

I decided to phone my husband to tell him where I was going to be so that, when he got away from his business meeting, he knew where I was. After telling him, I rushed to the store as it was nearing 5:00pm and I knew that this would be near its closing time.

It was a store that was right on the northwest corner of Solano Avenue and Masonic Avenue. While this store does not exist in real life, it did in this dream. This store was a very high-end shoe and jewelry store. As it closed at 5:30pm, I was glad I rushed over.

When I entered the store, I was surprised to see the ridiculous abundance of workers there. There were easily two workers to each customer. I decided to look at some of the shoes they had. These shoes were unlike any I had ever seen before. The quality of these shoes was literally 'not of this world'. My attention was soon drawn to a pair of natural linen shoes. They were elegant and had jewels and pearls sown into them. I had never seen an earthly shoe as beautiful as these in my entire life. I sought a clerk to ask for assistance.

Me: "Excuse me, but do you have this shoe in my size. I would really like to try them on. They are really quite unique."

Clerk: "No problem. This will take a bit though, so please continue to look around."

I had been at the store for almost ten minutes now and this was my first contact with an employee. Given that there were so many employees working, I soon realized that I was purposely not being given 'gold star service'. While every other customer had two attendants, I was being completely ignored.

I decided to walk to the back of the store to check out the jewelry display cases. As I browsed, I noticed that this mostly consisted of estate jewelry, 'plunder from the dead'. While there were quite a few beautiful places, I felt that they had somehow been 'swindled' from elderly people.

As nothing felt right, I turned to go back to the shoe section. As I walked over, I could hear several customers and attendants making jokes about the dead's poor taste in jewelry. They seemed to be laughing at one piece in particular, a brooch well over 100 years old. While they said it was tacky, I thought it was quite beautiful.

As I was starting to get worried that the store was about to close, I went to find the clerk who told me that she would check for my shoe size. As I searched for her, I heard the store's PA system announce that 'the store is closing in five minutes so please finalize your purchases.'

While I tried to get the attention of this clerk several times, it soon became apparent that she was purposely ignoring me. I was so bothered by the lack of service given to me that I decided to find the store manager to complain to. However, I was then told that she was in a meeting and would be unable to meet with me today.

We were all now being hustled out the door. As I approached the door, I saw the clerk that had been purposely ignoring me. I decided to go and speak with her.

Me: "Why did you not come and find me as you promised?"

Clerk: "We did not have your size. Not only that, but, even if we did, you would not be able to afford it."

Me: "How could you possibly know whether or not I could afford it. I have $500 on me to spend as I please."

Meanwhile, I would never pay that much for a pair of shoes, but I kept that part to myself. I could not tell from her reaction if she thought I was lying or just really could not care less one way or the other.

Clerk: Laughing. "Like I said, you cannot afford them."

When I realized that this meant these shoes were over $500, I knew it was time to leave. I grabbed my duffle bag and left. I quickly phoned my husband and told him to not pick me up from the store and that we will meet at home instead.

I looked down the tracks and remembered that I had about three city blocks to walk to get back home. I would need to pass Washington Avenue and Portland Avenue before I arrived home. I realized I was barefoot, so I opened my duffle bag and pulled out some comfortable shoes. I put them on and zipped up my duffle bag.

After doing this, my duffle bag suddenly weighed much more than it had. While I am not sure how this happened, it was now really hard for me to walk with it. The pain of carrying this duffle bag became just too great. I then realized that there was also a rock in one of my shoes. I decided to take my shoes off so that I could walk barefoot.

Sub-dream over...

Father, if I still carry heavy burdens or baggage, please help me to remove this. I want to be free. As I am right now, I cannot physically carry any extra weight.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again sitting down on the edge of the pool of healing waters. I slipped my feet back into the water and immediately felt recharged. It was so beautiful here. It was like a dream that one would never want to wake up from. It was incredible. Tears without salt again flowed down my cheeks.

I could smell heavenly fragrances all around me. These are extremely difficult to adequately describe, but I will try. I could smell the fragrance of flowers and fresh cut grass. I could smell hints of pine, sandalwood and woodsmoke, even though nothing was burning. I could also hear birds singing praises to God.

I kept my eyes closed for quite some time. I really wanted to take in all of the beautiful smells and sounds. I heard someone call out my name, 'Erin', and I opened my eyes. It was the same angel that had been attending to me recently.

Angel: Smiling. "I see that you are back in the healing waters after your dress fitting."

Me: "Oh yes, it is so beautiful and amazing here."

I was playfully kicking my feet up and down in the refreshing pool. I paused when I saw my feet and that they were now perfected. My toenails were white and looked like perfect pearls. My toes were perfected, the gnarling from my years of dance completely removed. The skin on my heels was now buttery soft.

Angel: "Beautiful are the feet which bring Good News."

Me: Laughing. "Yes, these feet are a gift from God. I am so thankful. Oh yes, am I to now go barefoot? I have no shoes."

The angel handed me a towel to pat my feet dry.

Angel: "Come with me. The King has sent gifts ahead of His arrival for you."

Me: "Oh really? I love gifts! Is it okay to love gifts?"

Angel: Smiling. "Yes, Erin. The King knows what you need and what you desire. He also gives you what you never knew you desired."

Me: "Oh no, I have nothing to give the King of any worth!"

Angel: "The King desires only your heart. There is no price on this, yet it has cost you everything."

Me: Crying. "But my heart is a bit battered. Sometimes it skips. It is not perfect, although I wish it were. However, yes, it is His to have and to hold. I would love to have His heart too."

Angel: "It is yours already. Now, your heart is already perfectly desirable to the King. Come with me."

The angel took me to a beautiful room that looked like a dancehall. It had open air archways with silken curtains of white flowing in the breeze. We walked through this hall to a beautiful room. It seemed 'perfectly made for me' as it had some of the finest fabric on the most comfortable cloud-like cushions on furniture that I have ever seen.

There were beautiful paintings and lovely windows. There was an arched doorway which led to a balcony. When I looked out, the scene was absolutely breathtaking. There before me were lush gardens and little animals grazing in the grass. There were pools and fountains, as well as precious stones and lovely music.

Me: "I...I...I have never seen such beauty in my entire time here on Heaven. I have definitely not see such beauty anywhere on Earth. This is truly amazing!"

Angel: "The King prepared all of this for you. This is your garden. This is your sitting room. All of this is also yours..."

The angel then brought my attention to an area of the room with many gifts. Some of the gifts were wrapped and some were not. On a lovely hand marquetry inlaid table, there was a beautiful scale. It was made of fine metals, gold and inlaid with jasper.

On the scales, there was balanced measures. Next to this was an intricately engraved plumb bob and line. These specific pieces were like nothing I had ever seen in any auction house here on Earth.

Angel: "These are all yours. Oh yes...you had also inquired about these..."

I opened a white box and there were the white linen silk shoes with pearls. There were gold strings embroidered on each shoe. I laughed as I had seen these same shoes in my dream from last night.

Me: "Angel, these were like what was in my dream, but better quality."

Angel: "Yes, Erin, but those were a counterfeit and they had none to fit you. You were hated there and even your money was no good to them. You noticed jewels there at a bargain price, yet you did not buy them as you knew they had been stolen. You instead stored up for yourself treasures in Heaven.

"The King loves truth, humility and justice. He has given you gifts to go out in pursuit of these. Now, Erin, pay close attention and forget about your people's house and your father's house. The King is enthralled by your beauty. Honor Him for He is your Lord."

Me: "Are you quoting Psalm 45?"

Angel: "Yes, but this Word was the Lord's first. Remember that the Word is His, Erin, and that the Word is the record of His words. Now, these gifts are all for you. The King owns the cattle on a thousand hills. This is your glorious chamber, a gift for you."

Me: "This is beautiful. It is all too wonderful for words. I am speechless. When will the King be here?"

Angel: Smiling. "He is coming. The King is coming at the appointed time. Do not worry. Beautiful are the feet who bring Good News."

Me: "Who were those dead in my dream? Where are they?"

Angel: "They are waiting too. They also ask 'how long?' Do not worry as they petition for you and rejoice with you. One day, you will meet again, but not now, not now, as there is more to do.

"Right now, your burden must be laid down and replaced with anticipation of the King's arrival for the King comes at the appointed time. While you are here early for the preparations, rejoice, rejoice. Is this not beautiful?"

Me: "Oh yes! It is beyond description. Thank you!"

I ran out to the balcony in my new shoes.

Dream 292 – An Angel encourages us to ‘trust Him a bit longer’

Communion

Dear Father,

I do not want You to grow tired of me. One way I know for certain that You are greater than any man is because You put up with my constant pursuit. Why do I continue? Because I believe. I believe You are my Creator. I believe You are my Father. I believe You love me or You would have thrown out this piece of clay long ago.

I know You love me or You would have started fresh. I believe that You are God over all things on Earth as well as over Heaven above. You are the God of what we see and that which we cannot see. The telescopic realm is amazing, but so is the microscopic realm. You are the God over all of this as You are the Creator of all.

I find that writing today is a bit uncomfortable as my right arm has numbness and tingling. It could be a pinched nerve from yesterday's long car ride. Father, the trip went well and I just know it was because of all of the prayers we received from our Nest family. Lord, please bless each one with abundance for their loyalty and faithfulness.

At this point, the doctor's appointment yesterday did not reveal anything that we did not already know. However, and on a bright side, we now have two more tests authorized that should be able to give us our answers (if healing doesn't come first, of course). Sadly, I just found out that I have a cataract starting to form in one of my eyes.

Father, I know that we have so many here on the Nest that love us and pray for us and that some are discouraged that I am not healed yet. Please grant them patience, along with me as I too grow impatient, as we await Your perfect ways and Your perfect timing. As You have told me before...Your ways are higher AND better than ours!

Oh Father, while I do not want to anger You nor do I want to have You grow tired of me, it actually hurts my heart to verbalize my pleas for healing yet again. I do not want to speak it nor do I want to see my pen write down the same sentences, the same prayer requests, over and over.

While perhaps You do not tire of me because You are God and You have infinite patience and an enduring heart, I am small and have very little patience left. Time is also a concern of mine now as time seems to be a luxury I cannot really afford any longer. Oh Father, You know my needs before I even ask for them.

Is it Your desire to have me go before the King as I am today? I am now a worn and battered bride and do not look at all like what I had seen in the mirror in Heaven recently. Oh Father, discouragement has now set in and deepens whenever I look at my children. They too have hoped for and prayed for Your miracles.

It is very possible, if not probable, that all of these tests, pains and heartaches are to create a grand paper trail of evidence of my current condition. Even though I 'get it', I still feel miserable from the 'delays after delays after delays'. I know You promised to do so much in 'a single day', but we would find so much joy from something wonderful 'in the meantime'. My number one request would be the healing and transformation of my two sons. This would mean the world to me and I could easily continue with my non-healed condition if I could experience their change. Please, Father, if not me or not now, then please, please, I beg for You to have mercy on those who need You so much right now.

Please give us hope and a future. Please consider our prayers and answer them. I ask this on my knees today and in Your Name, Jesus' Name, the Name above all names. I know You have told me to have joy, but I am having so much difficulty today. I am sad today and in pain, and not just physically, but also in my heart.

I had several dreams from last night and the night before. Some of these have been dreams of me packing up to leave. I am doing tasks to ready our household for this. I have historically received dreams like this during actual moves in the physical. I believe this is usually because I am stressed and making certain I do not forget things to do.

This time is different though as we are not actually in the process of moving. Quite simply, we still do not know when, what, where and how this will all occur. While there were several of these 'moving' dreams, there were other dreams as well...

Sub-dream 1 "Kitchen full of dirty dishes" begins...

I was in a kitchen that I did not recognize. As I looked around, it was easy to see the evidence that a large dinner party had just taken place. There were stacks and stacks of dirty dishes all around me. What made this amusing is that the dishes were from various sets of dishes that I have used in the last 20 to 30 years, as well as the Costco dishes we are currently using. I was informed that it would be my task to wash and dry all of the dishes by hand before we would be allowed to leave. Since I could not leave the dishes, I began the task of washing each of them.

My husband and I were looking at a beautiful brochure of a resort in the mountains near a beautiful river. We were to meet someone important there. We seemed much younger than what we are today. We spoke about our need to get to this resort someday. Right after saying this, we were supernaturally brought to the very spot that was shown in the photo of the brochure instantly.

Sub-dream 3 "A Marketplace run by a Coven" begins...

Please note that my youngest son does not have an ATV and that we do not have a Target store nearby to us. The nearest Target is actually three hours away by car.

It was approaching fall and we were about to leave to move west. I asked my youngest son to drive me and my daughter in his ATV to the nearby Target store. While he is 18 years old, he was only 10 years old here. When he was age 10, he was so handsome. He was smaller in stature and usually had a mischievous, but good-spirited, grin on his face.

As was the case when he was 10 years old, he had developmental delays so his speech was slow and his voice very deep. He was innocent and naïve again. While this has not changed drastically to today, the greatest change has been his physically maturing. In many ways, he is still like that 10-year-old he once was.

We went into the ATV and started to drive down a very muddy road. While we soon realized we had gone the wrong way, my son made a right turn into a massive canyon instead of making a much safer left turn. Just before plummeting into the canyon, he stopped it. However, the front tires of the ATV hanged precariously over the edge.

I was glad that my daughter was seated in the back because her weight may have helped keep us from plummeting. It probably also helped with traction as my son was then able to back the ATV away from the cavern. We then managed to get back onto the right road and it was not long before he dropped us off at the Target store.

As we entered the Target store, we noticed that they were having a special market day event for fall and back to school in the center of their store (which would be quite silly in real life). There were street vendors there selling their wares at the tables they had set up. The place was quite crowded, so we found it difficult to move around.

There had not been much that interested me when I spotted a beautiful massive carved 'dough bowl' filled with colorful gourds of all shapes and sizes. To get closer to this bowl, I had to navigate around the entire perimeter of the market. As I did, I was then also able to see some beautiful linen and sisal table runners and placemats.

I was happy as I saw many novelties that could be used to decorate for entertaining during the harvest fall colors. When I finally got up to where the massive bowl was, they were now all sold out. The only one left was the display bowl with the gourds in it. I motioned to the sales woman to come over.

Me: "Do you have anymore of these bowls available for sale?"

Woman: "I am sorry, but we are all sold out today."

Me: "If I were to come back tomorrow, will you have any to sell?"

Woman: "Possibly. Are you interested in any particular color?"

Me: "Well, I really like greys, greens, yellows, oranges or whites."

A man I did not recognize then walked in behind the next table. I could tell he worked there and knew this woman. He had piercings all over his face and was difficult to look at. He also had quite a few tattoos.

Woman: "Okay, now that he has arrived, I can find out." She then turned to the man that had just arrived. "Darrin, do you know if the coven has more of these bowls for sale?"

Darrin: "Yes, we have quite a few." He then looked over at me and squinted his eyes slightly. I could tell he was examining me. An evil smile came onto his face as he addressed me. "Yes, indeed, we have several of these for you to take into your home."

Now that I knew that these bowls were made by a coven, there was no way I would purchase one of them. However, I felt I was to 'play this cool' and was not to raise any suspicions as to why I was no longer interested.

Me: "Thank you. I will return tomorrow."

Darrin: He now had an evil grin. "No. No, you won't."

Me: "Excuse me?"

Darrin: "You won't come back."

As I was not to confront him, I decided to give him the 'non-answer' of "Okay." I felt we then needed to walk away immediately. As we walked away, I could hear them whispering in curses. As we walked away, we passed a table with beautiful rock-based candles. This was basically a hollowed-out rock with wax and a wick inside.

Me: "How much for these 'rock candles'?"

Man: "Those would be $2.75 each."

Me: "Okay, I will take three of them."

When I went to pick them up, they had mysteriously turned into three flat pieces of polished jasper rock in my hand. The man did not seem to notice that they had changed.

Man: "That will be $38.50 with tax."

Me: "How is that possible? You told me that they were $2.75 each."

Man: "No, I said $12.75 each, plus a minimal vendor tax."

Even though I really wanted to, I decided not to argue. After paying the man, we walked away from his table. As we walked, we came up to a woman selling table linens. I could tell that they were Austrian in origin. There was one beautiful placemat in particular that interested me. It was made of two textures of natural linen. As I looked at the placemat, I noticed that Darrin had come by. I was not pleased with his arrival. I decided to pretend to ignore his arrival.

Me: "How much for this placemat?"

She looked over at Darrin with a questioning look. He smiled and nodded. She then smiled back at him before replying to me. She had an accent I did not recognize.

Woman: "$138.50."

Me: "What? Are you serious? For one placemat? For that price, I want to take a closer look."

She handed me the placemat and I looked it over closely. It was only upon closer inspection that I had noticed that it was horribly sewn. I left it on her table and we just walked away. As we did, I heard them laughing at us. By then, we noticed that almost all of the fall items on the other tables had almost sold out. I shook my head.

Me: "I think that we should just leave now."

My daughter: "I agree. Let's go."

As we were leaving, we bumped into a young mother tending to her three children.

Mother: "Can you believe what is happening here? We can never come back! Look at what they are selling for toddlers to wear!"

She held up a piece of clothing for me to look at. The t-shirt was light lavender with a design in a rainbow shaped into a pyramid 'spirograph' triangle. The triangle had a stem coming off of it and was labelled 'True North' underneath.

Mother: "This shirt really is not pointing up to our God in Heaven. Two of the points are on Earth and the point going up is for the north. It is also not referring to the Trinity."

I decided I would whisper my reply to her as I was less concerned with this clothing item than the 'coven items' she had in her cart.

Me: "The items in your cart have all been crafted by a coven. All of them."

Mother: "Oh no. Thanks for letting me know."

She then dropped the shirt, grabbed her children and left the store, abandoning her cart full of goods. As I inspected the shirt more carefully, I felt that she had worried for no reason about this particular item. I then felt the Lord download to me that it really was pointing to Him and that the rainbow was a 'holy reminder' of His promises.

Me: Talking to my daughter. "Let's go somewhere else for decorations."

We both laughed and left the store.

Sub-dream 4 "A Motion Painting of Jesus with His Sheep" begins...

I was browsing over several paintings in an art gallery. One of the paintings was a beautiful pastoral landscape with a flock of sheep and a shepherd. When I looked at this painting closer, I was amazed to see that the Shepherd was Jesus and that the painting was alive. I watched as Jesus walked with His sheep. While this painting was so awesome that I would pay anything for it, I did not let the gallery owner know this.

Me: "How much for this painting?"

Owner: "That is a special painting. Just $420 and it is yours."

Me: "Done." I then casually handed him a stack of $20 bills.

Owner: "Can I wrap it for you?"

Me: "No, thank you. I will take it just like this right off the wall."

I took the painting off the wall and started to walk to the door. As I walked, I looked at the painting again. I could see Jesus as the Good Shepherd and He was laughing and smiling at me. My heart jumped with happiness as He was looking right at me.

Me: "Whoa, did you just see the painting move?"

Owner: Laughing. "What? Yes, you just took it off the wall."

It was clear to me that he was definitely not seeing what I was able to see.

Sub-dream 4 over...

Father, my husband just came into my room to tell me that his favorite cousin had just lost her battle with Cystic Fibrosis. This happened last night at around 5:15am. She was in her early 40s. While Jeff does not cry that often, we cried together.

Her father was with her when she declined to have another breathing tube put into her lungs. This decision was made at around midnight. According to her dad, she knew Jesus and had a smile on her lips and a face full of peace when she took her last breath.

The timing was interesting as we had just prayed that we would all be Transformed and that we could go and heal her. The fact that she was still alive is a miracle. There were twenty children in her Cystic Fibrosis group when she was a little girl and all of them had died one by one. The last one died 15 years ago. She was the last survivor.

For those who have never had a breathing tube, I can tell you from personal experience that it is terrifying. You never get used to it and I panicked every time I woke up with one going down my throat. The gift of breathing easily is a gift that most of us just do not appreciate enough. To breathe with difficulty is horrifying.

Oh Father, I just know that this wonderful woman is there with You, running and breathing in the rarified air of Heaven. Her lungs are now filled and she can breathe freely. While You did not answer our prayers exactly how we had hoped for, You did answer them.

It was just last week that my husband and his kids had talked with her. Despite being in the hospital with pneumonia, she was upbeat, funny, kind and gracious. Father, please bring peace to her family. Please bring peace to my husband. While he is very happy for her to now be in Heaven, it is still difficult to say goodbye in this life.

Father, all people die. They are born and then they die. While Enoch and Elijah have not experienced death yet, the Scriptures outline that they too will not be exempt. Even Jesus died but then He rose three days later. The only ones who will be exempt from death are those to be raptured at some date in the future.

As sure as there is birth, there is also death. Oh Father, there is no greater joy than birth and there is no greater sting than death. Thank You for the promise of eternity. Thank You for Your promises. Thank You!

Father, You put it on my heart today to study 1 Peter 5. This happened prior to my husband coming into my studio area to tell me his cousin died. When I reread this Scripture in light of her death, this seemed to be even more significant. Why do I feel that there is even more to this chapter than I originally thought?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

My feet were back in the healing waters in the garden / pavilion area. I was facing the rock wall spouting water that fed the beautiful healing pool. As I looked, I noticed that the arches spouting water, with the sun shining on it, created a series of rainbows. There were twelve arches of water fountains.

As I observed this beauty, I reflected on how such beauty could only be designed by God. He is truly the finest water feature designer in all of the universe. As I gazed upon it, my thoughts started to wander and I wondered about those who have gone before us.

I felt my attention being drawn towards the pavilion. It was then that I noticed that there were several angels in the pavilion. They were setting another place at the King's table. I received my answer. I had a smile on my face as the angel approached me.

Angel: Smiling. "I can see that this is your favorite place here."

Me: "Well, it is for now...while I wait for the King. Once He arrives, my favorite place will then be wherever He is." I began to cry. "I am getting so tired of the way things are. I want so much for God to use us and for God, the King, to reveal His majesty. So many are suffering. If only the King would soon find us pleasing and worthy of His promises and miracles."

Angel: "Erin, will you trust Him a bit longer? He has answered your prayers. Is your friend not better here than where she had resided? You will see her one day and you will rejoice. She resides here with the King in a place prepared for her many years ago. She has so many friends here and there is a great celebration. Now, whom do you mourn."

Me: "Those left here without her."

Angel: "While I understand, Erin, look...there are more shoes." He pointed to the archways with flowing curtains. "Release your friend to the King. You are His also, Erin."

Me: "I am sorry, angel, but the news is still new to me. I...I...I..."

Angel: "Look, Erin, or you will miss the gifts the King sends ahead of His arrival."

Just then, a huge number of hummingbirds started to fly in and out of the fountain arches. Their iridescent feathers were shining like jewels. It was so amazing that my mouth dropped open in awe.

Me: "Oh wow, this is so beautiful!"

Just then, one came over and landed on my arm. It was studying me. It had iridescent feathers and were white like pearls. It had silver and gold wings. It tilted its head back and forth as it looked at me. It suddenly flew away and went right through the arches. The other hummingbirds then followed and I began to cry.

Angel: "Now, please delight in the King's gifts, Erin. He knows your heart. He loves you. He delights in you. He has not removed His promises. He is coming. Remember that you are here early."

Me: Crying. "I still do not understand."

Angel: "Soon you will, Erin, so do not worry. As you have come at the appointed time, the King also comes at the appointed time. He is coming! The King is coming! Now, rejoice!"

He looked so happy and enthusiastic for me, I became excited again. I smiled at him.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another beautiful summer day! Thank You for all that we have. The children have remained here this summer so far, which is a miracle. I have cried inconsolably several times in the last two days. It has been a disheartening time.

Even though we have had all of the kids together here, our circumstances, my condition and provisions have been quite limited for 'fun activities'. All traveling seems to be centered on my medical appointments. Father, I long for the day when we can just be a normal family with normal activities.

As we live in an area that is very remote, there is not a whole lot we have not already explored or visited. I do not know what the future holds, Father, but could You just grant us temporary relief from our struggles so that we can have fun?

As You know, Father, something happened yesterday that troubled me deeply. Even though I hate bad news, I seem to receive this often these days. Sometimes I feel as if I am at the 'mercy of men' lately and that there is nothing I can do about it.

In a recent dream, an angel told me 'beautiful are the feet which bring Good News'. It is difficult to imagine this when all that happens around us seems to be 'bad news'. If my feet are to bring Good News, what good news do I have right now to bring? I am sorry, Father, for feeling this way.

I know that I am to feel joy, but what am I supposed to say when someone asks me how I am feeling? Anything other than 'I feel horrible. My pain in my head and neck is bad' would not be telling the truth. I am tired of saying this and then hearing a response of 'I am sorry to hear this', even though this is the correct response.

It is just that I want to instead say, 'Glory to God for He has healed me and lifted my head. How great is our God! His ways are higher and better than our ways, so rejoice.' I know that You will do this 'someday', but I just long for this day to actually arrive and that this is truly 'very soon' as we define 'very soon'. I had a dream last night...

Sub-dream begins...

I was in a large warehouse and it was closing. We were in the process of boxing things up. The business was ending after being around for many years. Several managers were finalizing their tally of sales and inventory for each area before the 'final bell' and the lights were turned off for the last time. I had been moving from department to department to let each manager know how much time before the bell sounded.

Sub-dream over...

I was awakened in the middle of the above dream at 3:30am to the sound of my husband's voice. Even though he was sleep talking, the words that came from his mouth were spoken confidently and clearly...

"It was November 1947, a time which changed history in just four minutes, the time when we were able to decide for ourselves. We were born."

I was able to remember the words clearly and wrote them down before I forgot. I just knew that the words he spoke were from the Lord as the hair on my skin stood up. Later that morning, I read the above words to him and asked him why he may have been dreaming this.

While he was aware that the UN approved the resolution creating Israel in November 1947, he was confused by the 'four minutes' part. We decided to look it up and it turns out that 'four minutes' was the length of time for this resolution to be deliberated before being approved. Even Russia and the surrounding states approved. Wow!

Well, Father, here I am again and apologizing in advance as I am about to whine 'yet again'. I am discouraged, the news is bad and I have nothing to give You. I know You are aware of everything and nothing surprises You, but I am a small human in a failing body.

It is difficult to continue a great faith story when pain chokes out my hope. I am scared, Father, and I am disheartened. Please, Father, hear my cries, answer my pleas and grant my petitions. What I ask of You is small in comparison to Your great miracles. Please help us, Father!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was floating on my back underneath the arched fountains of God's healing pool. I was laughing at the humor of God starting me off this way as I stood up on the bottom. I decided to walk towards the rock from which the healing water was flowing.

When I got there, I put out my hands in the form of a cup and started to drink this deliciously fresh water. It tasted so good that there really is no earthly equivalent. The water was aerated, oxygenated, energy releasing and healing.

I was about to take another handful when I was stopped in my tracks by a 'floating glass'. I laughed when I saw it was not floating, but rather being held out towards me by the angel I have been visiting with recently. He was smiling at me.

Me: "Thank you! I will be able to take in more this way, so thank you."

I giggled as I filled up the cup and gulped down even more of the healing water.

Angel: Smiling. "Have you been in there long enough?"

Me: "I can never be in here long enough! It feels fantastic!"

Angel: "Well, we also have a beautiful bathing pool waiting for you. Once there, you will find lovely flowers and scented oils just for you, as well as dry clothing."

Me: Laughing. "Oh no! I am sorry that I was using this as my personal swimming pool."

Angel: "Do not worry, Erin, as you are welcome here as well. You have not contaminated the water nor have you caused any trouble."

Me: "Oh good! Yes, I would love to take a bath in the bathing pool you speak of. This sort of saddens me though as it means I must have come very early to have time for a bath. I am sorry, it is just that I am so anxious to see the King! I can hardly wait. I really need to talk to him about all..."

Angel: "Yes, Erin, you are here early. Do not worry though as the King is coming at the appointed time. He knows in advance all that you are going through. He is taking care of this. When He arrives, this will be a special time with great joy. Your troubles will then be removed in an instant, all of them, okay?"

Me: "Yes! Okay!"

Angel: "Good. Now, come with me to the healing bath. Your cares will be removed and you will be drenched in the oil of joy."

Me: "Thank you! I need this!"

Angel: "Do not worry! You are here early, but still you prepare. This is good. You are still looking for Him, right?"

Me: "Oh yes, I can hardly wait to see Him. I love Him. His heart is so kind. He is handsome. He loves me even though I am broken. Only He can fix my brokenness and heal me." I sighed. "Oh, just to look into His eyes and see His splendor."

Angel: "This is good news, Erin, very good news. Many grow so tired and discouraged that they stopped looking for Him."

Me: "Well, I can understand why they would do this as waiting is so hard. I feel as if I have been waiting my entire life. It seems as if I have nothing left but time now."

Angel: "Do not worry, Erin, as the time will be short."

Me: "A time? Does this mean yet another year? Oh no!"

Angel: Laughing. "No, Erin, do not worry as His time is soon. Do not worry."

He smiled at me.

Dream 294 – Uriel, the Graduation Gown and the Wedding Dress

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You! Sometimes I write this and it is just automatic, almost habitual, but I really do mean this. I will not comprehend the very value of my life until I complete this here and I stand with You. I woke up this morning with thoughts of a dream I had and a past memory. I will start with a memory from my past...

Memory from my past begins...

When I was about sixteen years old, we moved into a brand-new tiny home in a later to fail housing development in Sagle, Idaho. My mom was a speech teacher, the only one in the entire district of Sandpoint, Idaho. She taught out of the 'Ninth Grade Center', the very same building we would later hold her Memorial Service in 2015.

My mom was single and raising three kids. As we lived in the country and we would put out bowls of cat food on our back porch, we would often have other wildlife come visit us. The wildlife that would come to visit included skunks, racoons and the like.

One day, we discovered that a strange cat was visiting us. The cat looked like it had wings, but of course it did not. Over the course of many days, we tried to figure out what was wrong with it. We were finally able to get close enough to see what had happened. The cat had been skinned on each side by a predator and had escaped.

The 'wings' turned out to be two large flaps of skin and hair. This odd cat continued to come around for another week or so to eat from our cats' bowls. We felt sorry for it as it was starving because these two flaps made too much sound for it to be able to pounce on any prey. Even our cats were somewhat terrified by its presence.

At some point, we had decided that we would take this cat to the veterinarian to get checked out. However, this cat never again came around. What I remembered the most about this cat to this day is how thankful he or she was for the food we had left out. While our cats took it for granted and were 'food snobs', this cat was thankful.

Memory from my past over...

Well, Father, I am feeling grateful today, like that cat who came to eat from the bowl we had out. I am thankful that You have brought us this far. I am sorry for acting more like a 'routine and formulaic' Christian these days instead of being an enthusiastic worshipper of You as a child of God.

It feels as if I have been in a burning furnace lately. Even my skin hurts. In this fire of our current situation, I have failed to be 'on fire' as a child of God. I am hot, burning and shriveling here, but my flame has been barely burning. I am requiring comfort and relief from this fire, yet I know that there is an ending date where we will come out of this.

I recently learned that the Israelites would celebrate their blessings before receiving them, celebrating as if these blessings had already come to pass. They would then receive these blessings. It seems as if this is what You mean when You tell me to 'rejoice, Erin, rejoice!'

You would tell me Your promises and then You would say, 'find joy, Erin, your trials are finished.' However, instead of finding joy, I would then say, 'when, Lord? The trials continue. When?' While I do hope in the promises as I know they will come, my pain makes it so I just cannot find joy all of the time.

Father, it is hard to celebrate while in the fire of affliction. It is difficult to dance while in a furnace. Forgive me, Father, as I should take comfort from You showing me as a finished vessel. You gave me the outcome so that I would have peace in my trials.

While, at first, it seems arrogant to celebrate a victory prior to its arrival, we do exactly that when we celebrate our salvation. We celebrate the wedding which is soon to come, all with an engagement party and a dinner with close family on the eve of the wedding rehearsal dinner included. I had a memorable wedding dream last night...

Sub-dream begins...

I had seen this unusual geographical occurrence in my dreams before. The setting was a four-way intersection of rivers. Two of the rivers flowed in and two of the rivers flowed out. There were two distinct settings. One area had a beautiful treed canopy and the other area had a lush green grass meadow. Above the area and facing the venue from the southeast was a massive resort hotel with many rooms. All rooms faced the wedding venue, making our ceremony very public. There were also open-air restaurants in full view of our wedding.

My daughters were there and both of them were wearing beautiful gowns. These gowns appeared to be wedding gowns. In contrast, I had on a blue and gold graduation ceremony gown. As we were waiting for the ceremony to begin, I complained...

Me: "The heat is unbearable right now."

Daughter: "Well, no wonder. Mom, you need to take off your graduation gown."

Me: "You are right. Why would I want to get married in this? I finished school a long time ago. This is ridiculous. I am even holding a graduation scroll in my right hand."

My two daughters then helped me remove the graduation gown by pulling it off over my head. While this happened in the view of those around us, it did not matter as I had a beautiful (and modest) wedding dress underneath the graduation gown. I felt instantly cooled off once the graduation gown was removed.

Me: "With all of these gowns on, no wonder I was hot."

As I laughed about this, those around me laughed with me. We then began to proceed down the stone stairs to the venue taking place at the resort. On the way down, someone came up to me to bring bad news as to why I should not be marrying.

As I reviewed the evidence about the Groom, I became overwhelmed. Combining this evidence with the venue being entirely public, I then started to question my sanity. Thankfully, my daughter saw that I was being temporarily swayed and piped up with some encouragement...

Daughter: "Keep walking, mom, as it does not matter. The Groom loves you and you love the Groom. All of this is for this special day. Keep walking!"

Me: Laughing. "You are right. I am dismissing these trumped-up charges right now. Dismissing these false charges will allow us to take our vows and continue."

Sub-dream over...

Thank You, Father. This is a month of changes, so we celebrate what You have promised in advance. We rejoice in the outcome of these trials and we celebrate today!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was in front of me. He smiled at me.

Uriel: "This is a good day, Erin. You have finished your graduation ceremony. The scroll in your hand is your promises, a contract which is signed and sealed by the King. He is also President of your learning university. I have been sent to give you a gift."

Me: "Oh, I just love gifts!"

Uriel: Laughing. "Yes, Erin, we know!" He was teasing me good-naturedly. He then became a bit more serious. "Now, the King gives good gifts." He then handed me a beautiful large key. "This key unlocks a door in which you will enter through."

Me: "Will I know which door?"

Uriel: "God has set before you only one. You will see it and know it is the King's door and a good one. When you see it, rejoice!"

Me: "Uriel, we had a very discouraging week...well, season...well, seasons...well, really, the last year...really, decade...hmm, decades really! Oh Uriel, I am sorry to sound downcast, but it has been such a difficult and long journey for me."

While Uriel was smiling as I said this, I could tell he was holding back laughter.

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, it has been a struggle for you. However, you are not alone. Others have gone through the same journey. The Lord has sent armies of angels to guard your ways. The Lord is with you."

Me: "You are right, Uriel, thank you. Oh yes, I saw a sign yesterday. I saw four white doves sitting on an electrical wire in the country at around noon on Thursday. Was this a sign from Heaven? Was this a sign for us?"

Uriel: "Well, let us break down what a miraculous sign is, Erin. Were these white doves out of their usual setting?"

Me: "Definitely. They were out in the middle of a green forest on electrical wires next to the highway. White doves are not expected here."

Uriel: Smiling. "Okay. Now, were you delighted or scared by these doves?"

Me: "Delighted!"

Uriel: "Then you have your answer, Erin. God's Spirit, the Holy Spirit, is your Counselor. Trust in this voice as this is a direct communication from Heaven. Four white doves out in the middle of the wilderness does not seem like something you should dismiss."

Me: "You are right!"

Uriel: "When you backed up to take a better look at the doves, the birds did not stir. They instead remained calm and sat there for you. They were upon you. Erin, there were four doves. Did the Lord not recently tell you (in a private dream) that four large blessings from Heaven were coming? Does the Word of God not say you will receive signs, wonders, miracles and gifts before He comes? Erin, it is time to study the Word, as well as bridal tradition. The King is traditional."

Me: "While He is traditional, He is also completely modern."

Uriel: "Yes, but He follows His Word. It is an evil man who veers and decides to change course, times and seasons."

Me: "A man, a spirit or the enemy?"

Uriel: "Yes to all. Rejoice not in the plans of the wicked. They plot and devise evil schemes to discourage, derail and distract you from your great hope in the promises of your Groom. Your Groom is sending you gifts on the wings of white doves. He loves you. Do not allow anything to destroy what the King has planned for you!"

I reached over and hugged Uriel.

Me: "Thank you for this great message of hope. Oh...when will this door come? The girls have to start school around three weeks from now."

Uriel: "The King knows what You need before you ask! Celebrate today!"

Dream 295 – An Unusual Dream, Visit and Vision from God

Dear Father,

Please, please help me! Please help us. Father, I am madly in love with You. I am a 'crazy child of God' because I love You with my whole heart. There are things I enjoy in life, but their lure wonder and interest do not captivate me like You do. Your Word says that:

- When we cry for help, You will answer us.
- When we need help, You will save us.
- When we are sinking, You set our feet on Solid Rock.
- When the waves crash over us, Your mighty hand brings us out of dark waters.
- When we are thirsty, You give us refreshing water.
- When we are hungry, You fill our bellies.

I had a dream last night of great loss...

Sub-dream 1 begins...

I was mourning the death of someone very close to me. I could not tell who it was. Friends were coming to comfort me. I was unsure if the person who had perished might have even been me, but I do not think so. I just know that I had to cross a major divide from North to South before a certain timeframe.

I soon found myself in a type of stone walled well-lit underground church. While there, I had only a limited time to help one of my son's friends. This friend had lost everything in his life and he no longer had hope. He had become crippled and these were his last moments. He had come to this underground church for comfort, but was barely noticed.

While there were some men in uniforms and they looked like they could even be catholic priests, I was not sure. Before I could get there, he had entered one of the private confessionals to receive comfort. When a priest never came, he decided to take his own life. The young man then shot himself in the confessional and died.

As I mourned this loss, I received two texts from unusual sources. One text came from my deceased mother and the other text came from my deceased father. They were alerting me in advance that someone was also in trouble on the other side of the major divide. I had to leave in a hurry to go to this next crisis.

I believe I was too late here as well as I started to get condolences from unlikely sources, including my step dad, a very good friend and several others. Though they were doing a great job trying to console me, I was still in great grief and guilt.

Sub-dream 1 over...

When I woke up from this dream, I was deeply disturbed. Father, the people who had died did so because I could not get there in time. I did not make it. They died without hearing the Good News because I had been delayed. I even started to wonder whether this dream had been in the flesh or the Spirit. I do not know.

This was a highly unusual dream in that I felt great grief when I awoke. Even now, several hours later, this grief is still with me. While I do not know who these people were, I felt the Holy Spirit assure me that it was not my husband or children that had unexpectedly perished. I also had a dream prior to this dream that disturbed me...

Sub-dream 2 begins...

Prior to going to bed last night, we had watched a horror drama titled 'Quiet Place'. One of our friends had recommended this movie as he thought it seemed to be an allusion to the fallen angels that are still to come. In this movie, most of humanity has been killed by these creatures and the only way to survive is to remain absolutely quiet.

My dream was a sort of 'prequel' to the 'Quiet Place' movie. The world was still normal and well populated when these horrifying creatures arrived. I saw complete chaos as people were trying to escape these fallen angels. While I will not describe 'the killings', I will say it ranked as one of the most disturbing scenes I have ever seen in my dreams.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Oh Father, I am still feeling the effects of these terrifying dreams. I am at the bottom of myself. I am unsure of anything except Your love for all those who love You. My older daughter and I laughed and had such a fun time driving into town yesterday. I have not laughed and felt like a kid again for some time and it felt fantastic.

We face an uncertain week ahead of us and it is really quite scary. I placed an email addressed to some very high up people in my husband's company asking for help...well, really, mercy. However, these people are so important that I am uncertain if they will even respond to me. We need You to turn some hearts.

Father, only You can turn this around. Only You, Lord. I have loved You my whole life, even the parts of my life where I did not know You yet. Please, please help us. I have seen the landing area, the River of Life, the trees of fruit, the Golden City and the gardens. I have seen the great celebration and the parade...the cheering.

I have grown to know You, my Lord, and my heart has changed. This I now understand. This I now look forward too. This is my Home, not on Earth, but here in Heaven. Today is Elul 1 and we have now been here over 1400 days. It has been 20,291 days since my birth.

August has been my month of major moves, or so it seems. August has usually meant a change of venue. This fits in for the last two of our major moves...

- I was in the place of my heart (or the place where my heart was broken), Bend Oregon, for exactly six years, from August 2003 to August 2009
- I was in the desert, Tri-Cities Washington, for exactly five years, from August 2009 to August 2014

If it is in Your Will, Father, perhaps a major move removing all of our problems and concerns can happen once again in this month, the month of August 2018. If so, I would have been in this 'land of trees' for exactly four years, from August 2014 to August 2018. All I know is that, whatever You do with us, it will be divine and perfect.

Oh Father, I cannot remember a time in my life where I have truly been free. I have always been in Your furnace of affliction. This furnace seems to catch up to me no matter where I go. While I cannot say this will ever change here in this life, I know that, one day, I will cross over and be caught up to where I belong here in Heaven! I will one day be Home. Oh Lord, please do not forget about me here. Please help us!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I heard the Voice of God as I stood in an area of white light. I was in a void. There was no ground, no sky, no land and no reference of direction. I had no definition. I had no defining place. The only thing here was the white light and the Voice of God...

God: "Erin, I created you for this. Your name is written on the palm of My hand. You are more than 'just a speck' to Me. I created and shaped every good part of you. The world has chipped away all that you owned. All that was contrary to My work, the dross, was burned off in the furnace of worldly affliction.

"You have developed into the child I had hoped and knew you would be. As with gold, you are in the final process of burnishing and polishing. Erin, there was a process to follow when you asked for a heart of gold. You did not choose this first for yourself, but instead I chose you for this.

"You did not choose Me, but I first chose you. Therefore, your life is not your own, your life is Mine. You are my daughter. You were created for this special time. You suspected from the start that your life was unique. I am now confirming this to you.

"One day soon, you will be overcome with such great joy and awe when I reveal what was planned for you from the beginning to the end. You now see yourself as a speck and no one of significance. However, this is untrue. You have now come to the point in your journey of supernatural manifestations of My Heavenly Realm.

"You are struggling to write right now because you now have doubts that it is Me. Erin, I AM Who I AM. There is no one before Me and no one after Me. Understand what I say. With Me, there is no beginning and no end. You are in a place with Me, a void with no beginning and no end.

"However, you hear Me. It is I. I am here. One Voice. Do not worry about the former things. I have you. I love you. I am pleased with you. I require nothing of you except to trust My Voice. Hear Me. You have completed your course."

There was a flash of light...

Vision begins...

I was suddenly standing on a mountain overlook on Earth. It was beautiful and I could see as far as the East is from the West. My eyesight was perfect. I was wearing a gown made of real gold. It was modest and light. There was an undergarment of pure white linen. The gold gown was like an over piece with jewels. My hair was long and braided. While I could not see what I looked like in full, I could see glimpses as I looked down. I noticed that my skin no longer had any blemishes from age.

I now had great insight, not from me, but from God. Even though I had peace, my heart was still heavy with the tasks ahead. While I was still on Earth, I no longer felt from here. While I did not know what my tasks would now be, I knew that I had much to do before my Groom came for me. At this point, it was all that I really knew. I was excited.

Vision over...

I do not fully understand any of this. This was unlike anything that I have ever experienced with God. Everything about this last twelve or so hours with Him has been unusual and without reference.

Dream 296 – Uriel, Transformation and ‘The Brides Fast’

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You, thank You, thank You! You are the God of the impossible, the God of miracles and my Father in Heaven. You are over all things. I am thankful today as hope is in my heart. Although I still have my illnesses and pain, we are still here. I have my family here together, we are all alive and I am grateful.

One of Bryce’s classmates and friends died in a horrific accident on Thursday. No mother should ever have this happen to their child. She seems like such a kindhearted woman. She is a single mother who has raised her two sons alone. All of this just to have one die in his eighteenth year. My heart is broken for the family that remains here.

I could not shake this yesterday and I cried to the Lord about it. I then heard Your gentle whisper say, ‘I met him there. I met him there in the depths.’ Oh Father, You are a God of compassion and I know that we are never out of Your reach. Father, please raise this boy up at his viewing so that they will all know that You are God.

While You are at it, could You also please raise up the pregnant mom and her two little girls at the same time? These were the ones murdered by her husband and their father in Colorado. To be truthful, I have a long list of people for You to ‘resurrect’!

It is my youngest son’s birthday today. It was 19 years ago today that I was in epic labor. My water had broken just after midnight while I slept. My son’s position made it so his feet and hands were scraping against my spine. It was unbelievably painful. He would still not be born for another 10+ painful hours.

We did not know which way he was going to come out. He flipped and turned so much that we jokingly said he was performing acrobats in there. This went on for hour after hour. With the benefit of hindsight, I believe that this was all an analogy for my future struggles with him.

He has a good heart. He is good, but simple. He is not diabolical and wears his heart on his sleeve. He is a believer that God will do everything He has promised. I know that he would like to be a superhero and one day get the girl God has chosen for him. He is very tall and big boned. He has been approached to play football and rugby.

All in all, he is like a gentle giant. As a mom, I just want him to have the same chances that the other kids have. While he is often made fun of, he also has many friends. However, I am sometimes not always sure that his friends' intentions towards him are innocent, so I have prayed constantly for his protection.

He was physically abused when he was little. He was thin and small. He never had hit the medical milestones the pediatrician had for him. I also remember the curses placed upon him. He would come home to me and say, 'mom, 'so and so' says that I will always be small and stupid'. His speech was delayed and he did not speak much.

Me: "Do not worry. I believe that you will spring up and be so tall and big that no one will ever bully you again."

Well, one should always be careful for what they pray for as he definitely grew up. When he was smaller, I still remember having to go to the principal's office. As he had later become bigger, he would often defend the other special needs children. I then found myself being both proud and upset at him at the very same time.

Oh Father, all of our children need healing, but especially my birthday boy. I ask for this for his birthday as he just went from age 18 to 19 here on the 20th ("The 18th, 19th and 20th"). The absolute greatest birthday gift I could ever ask for is his healing. Speaking of healing, I had a wonderful dream about healing just a few nights ago...

Sub-dream begins...

This was the very first time I had ever seen my transformed body (pre-rapture) in detail. While I have seen my glorified body (post-rapture) in detail before, this was unique as this was clearly my transformed body. Quite simply, I could barely recognize myself. While I could see nuances that let me know it was still me, it is like a child looking like their mom and dad, yet still having their own unique look apart from.

- I was wearing a white long sleeve t-shirt and a white long cotton skirt with sandals.
- My hair was white like snow and had the softness of Mongolian lamb's wool.
- My hair was very long and in a braid over my shoulder.
- My skin was a light olive color, but golden.
- My skin had no blemishes, no wrinkles and absolutely no imperfections.
- My face was now 'heart shaped' in structure.
- I had perfect white teeth and stunning green eyes.
- Out of modesty, I will not describe me and my daughter's figures or my husband's and our sons' physiques other than to say, 'just as good as the superheroes on the movie screen', yet somehow even better.

I was feeding the animals in my yard and it was still summer. I saw the house in the joining yard being built and it was not much different from today. Just then, the wicked man and his husband pulled up near me in a vehicle. I did not look up. I soon heard them yelling and fighting, then confessing, then yelling and fighting again. This cycle repeated for quite a long time.

Their car then suddenly started going backwards rapidly and left our area. While it somehow seemed too sudden a motion to not have been supernatural, I was not 100% sure about this. I soon finished feeding the animals and went back into the house. I later went into town and made a few more appearances.

It was now later in the day and people were confessing to their sins and fighting everywhere I went. I later found out that this was happening wherever our children went as well. It was exciting to see! I looked quite ominous, as did my husband and our children. Just our presence seemed to frighten anyone that was evil.

Sub-dream over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I came up to the base of a staircase. I looked around and there, behind me, was a beautiful path. While the path was a bit rocky and unkept, I knew I would be able to walk it. As I just did not know which way to turn, I decided to just stand there.

Me: "Lord, I am not ready to climb the stairway home yet. Is there anywhere else I can go? Perhaps there is another detour on my race? There must be as I..."

Just then, I saw Uriel approaching me. He was smiling at me.

Uriel: "It is good to see you, Miss Erin."

Me: Smiling back. "It is good to see you, Mr. Uriel...or should I say, 'Angel Uriel?'"

Uriel: Laughing. "Uriel is fine."

Me: "So, Uriel, what comes next? In my dream, I had very white hair. Why do I have such white hair?"

Uriel: "It is the time of change. You have been prepared for these times. You have white hair to distinguish you for your wisdom with age. You appeared both young and old at the same time. In comparison, your children did not have white hair and looked young. Do not worry about this as all of this will make sense later."

Me: "What is to happen? What comes next?"

Uriel: "Oh Erin, you have waited this long, why not just let God be God? When the Lord walked the Earth, He too terrified the wicked even though He did nothing wrong. He came to deliver those who were captive and heal the sick and the lame. While He did so much more than this, He was hated for no reason. This is something you also know.

"Erin, you have been hated for no reason for your entire life. However, this will not change after you are healed as you will be hated even more because the times of miracles, signs and wonders are upon you. Your very presence marks a time of judgment soon to come for the powers of darkness and the evil.

"Like a boiling pot of water, the evil has been stirred up in advance of this. You will need to adjust to the noise and screams of confessions. You will be strengthened to heal the sick and bring hope to the lost."

Me: "How many of us will there be?"

Uriel: "Many, and in waves! This will consist of those God has called and prepared and those who will testify as recipients to God's miracles."

Me: "When will this be?"

Uriel: Laughing as I have tried to get timing out of him before. "Oh Erin, you cannot wear me down." He smiled and continued. "I do not know, but I do know that this will be soon. You can see the punishment of the lands, the tragedies by storms, lightning strikes, earthquakes, floods and fires. Bridges have been torn apart and lands divided.

"Not one country in the world is escaping God's punishment right now. This is the time of the chastisement of the hearts. While it seems that the wicked are prevailing in discouraging those whom God has elected, do not believe this as God is more powerful. This is a world war, Erin, and just the beginning.

"The locusts are stripping during their invasions. While they assume their positions, their posts, soon will come the mass invasion. Do not worry, Erin, as God has something even greater planned for those who love Him with all of their hearts. Have you been preparing?"

Me: "I am not sure how to prepare for the unpreparable. That being said, I recently determined that I am on a type of 'forced diet' right now. Perhaps it is an eighth type of fast to go along with the seven Biblical fasts. I say 'forced diet' as I get extremely nauseous when I veer off of it and then start to vomit soon after.

"Right now, I am eating only white bread, honey, salted white crackers and mashed potatoes with salt and butter. I am drinking only water and some chicken broth. I am calling it 'The Brides Fast'. This diet somehow seems supernatural to me."

Uriel: "Then remain on this until God instructs you otherwise. This is wisdom. Do you feel strengthened or weak and tired from this diet?"

Me: "Strengthened! It is very easy to follow."

Uriel: "Bread is filling and water is refreshing."

Me: "Jesus is the bread of life and He is the healing water which refreshes. I am not sure about where the honey fits in though."

Uriel: "God is intentional, Erin. He is not random. Now rejoice, celebrate..." He smiled at me. "...and eat cake."

Me: "Hey, that is what the Lord said to me just a few days ago."

Uriel: "It is your son's celebratory day. Eat and rejoice, you and your household. Rejoice, Erin, for God is soon to bless you." He smiled.

Dream over...

Soon after this ended, I felt in my heart that a few Scriptures seemed to somehow relate to all of this...

- Isaiah 7:15 (KJV): 'Butter and honey shall he eat, that he may know to refuse evil and choose the good.' The time to reject evil and choose good has arrived!
- Leviticus 2:13: Salt Covenant.
- Matthew 5:13: Jesus is 'the Salt of the Earth'.
- While I could not find the specific Scripture, I believe that the Bible talks of potatoes somewhere...something like...'Fruits of the soil, grown in darkness, rich in minerals'...or perhaps something similar? I will leave this as homework.
- Judges 6:19-20: Broth, Gideon.
- John 6:32-35,50-71, Matthew 4:4, Matthew 26:26, Ecclesiastes 9:7, 11:1: Speaks of bread.
- Leviticus 26:26 (same numbers as in Matthew above): Ten women, correlation with the Bride, wow!
- Matthew 25:10: Bridesmaids' Parable
- I believe there is also a Scripture on a cake. An ancient recipe may even be included with this. Again, I am not 100% sure. I will leave this as some more homework.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You, thank You, thank You! Today is a marker of so many promises and dates. Please do not forget about us, Father. I woke up this morning with a song of praise in my head. I sang it quietly while feeding the small animals and birds in our yard...

"Just as it is in Heaven, just as it is in Heaven, Oh God, Oh Savior. My Jesus, my hero, don't forget me. I love You, rain down now, open the skies, Lord, rain down now, on Earth just as it is in Heaven. My Jesus, Oh God, my Savior, my love, don't forget me. I am waiting, my Jesus, my Lord."

I cried out, "Oh Father, I love You!" Any other thoughts that come to me during the day are quickly replaced with the hopes of Your promises. I am a waiting bride. However, I ask that You fill the oil in my lamp as I have waited a long time and my reserves are depleted. My heart is becoming sick and broken.

I often wonder if I was not worthy and my household not prepared as I am becoming sick again. I am no longer a youthful bride. Will You still desire me if I am not young and vital? My heart is tired and my brain tissue is old and dying. Please do not forget about me, the one You have called 'ready for service and My friend'.

Please grant us mercy, Father. Please look at the palm of Your hand. Are our names no longer written there? Please forgive me as I have children who have placed their hopes for healing in You. I come today to praise You and plead for You to strengthen and encourage us if You are delaying.

Oh dear Father, who resides before the Throne in Heaven and presides over all things on Heaven and Earth, there is no name greater than Your Name. There is no God greater and nothing above or below You greater. Your name has no beginning and no end. There is no idol to worship which would survive the fire. Therefore, there is no greater God in all of Creation than the everlasting Father, our Father in Heaven.

Please come, Father. Please let Your Kingdom come and let Your Will be done on Earth exactly like I have seen in Heaven. Even just a fraction of this glory, Your glory, would change the balance of the wicked gaining on Your children who love You. The world is imbalanced now and evil seems to be prevailing as so many of Your shining lights are growing dim.

Please give us this day the blessings of heavenly oil to restore our lamps. Please send bread like manna from Heaven to satisfy our hunger for more of

You. Please send rainwater to refresh our parched bodies as we have shriveled to nothing here apart from our hope in You.

Oh dear Father, You are wonderful, glorious, marvelous and brilliant in all of Your power. Please send Your Spirit to our households. There are so many sick and dying who love You. Please heal them. Please do not let the enemy celebrate another warrior for God exiting this Earth. Oh please, Father!

Father, we are arrows in Your quiver. Please remove us and use us as a weapon of truth in the midst of lies. Use us as a weapon of truth to testify to Your justice in corrupt courts. Let the verdict be life everlasting for those with no hope. Let those with no voice speak to Your glory. Father, please consider Enoch 49 today...

In those days, the saints and the chosen shall undergo a change. The light of day shall rest upon them and the splendor and glory of the saints shall be changed. In the day of trouble, evil shall be heaped up upon sinners, but the righteous shall triumph in the name of the Lord of Spirits.

Others shall be made to see that they must repent and forsake the works of their hands and that glory awaits them not in the presence of the Lord of Spirits, yet that by His Name they may be saved.

The Lord of Spirits will have compassion on them for great is His mercy and righteousness is in His judgment and in the presence of His glory, nor in his judgment shall iniquity stand. He who repents not before Him shall perish. Henceforward I will not have mercy on them, saith the Lord of Spirits.

Change us this day! Let Your Kingdom come upon us here on Earth as we are in Heaven. Let the wicked confess and the demons flee when they look upon Your glory shining upon our faces. Set us free to do Your Will. Just like the time of Pentecost, please settle and rest Your Spirit upon us to preach the Good News to the lost.

Please give us Your Spirit to allow us to restore the dying and raise the dead in Your Name. Father, at Your command, fill this land, our houses and our lives, with unexplainable displays of miracles, signs and wonders. Declare our vessels worthy today in Jesus' Mighty Name! I had a dream last night... Sub-dream begins...

I was college age in appearance. We were in a gymnasium. There were several sports activities going. In each area, athletes were amazed at the displays of supernatural abilities and feats each of us who had been transformed were displaying. As an example, I was able to perform perfect layups in basketball with absolutely no effort despite being of average height.

Soon after I put my basketball down, a friend, also transformed, came up to me and challenged me to a leaping and skipping contest. It was so much fun as we could leap and skip further than any normal person in history, all with no real effort.

There was another area of this huge gymnasium where amazing artists and sculptors displayed their artistry. There was yet another area that had incredible singers. Each area had 'worldly' instructors who were then in shock at the IQs and abilities we had to perform several complex tasks at once.

Unfortunately, our fun came to an abrupt halt when we learned that a hospital just down the road from us had just had their ceiling collapse. Several of us were immediately sent there by God to save survivors and to heal those as God directed us to.

When we arrived, there was one patient that had a piece of metal rebar twisted into his leg. To make matters worse, this rebar had gone right through his leg and there was blood everywhere. At God's direction, one of us were then able to effortlessly twist this thick metal back to being straight. This person was then able to remove the rebar from the patient's leg. He then prayed over the wound and it was instantly healed by God.

Sub-dream over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was right there in front of me.

Uriel: "All that you have proclaimed will come to pass as the Lord has told you. The time of the Lord's favor is now. Heaven will be displayed on Earth. Opening the sky, the Spirit of God will come upon those He has called. Your time of rest is coming to a close and your waiting is over. The door is about to open and God will instruct you clearly in everything you do."

Me: "I am ready. I so want the Lord to come for us today."

Uriel: Smiling. "God loves you and He will not be delayed...on Earth as it is in Heaven. Now rejoice and sing songs of praises. Whether today He comes or tomorrow, celebrate! Rejoice and proclaim 'The Year of the Lord's Favor'."

Dream 298 – Uriel and Removing the Old to Allow the New

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Fall, one of my favorite seasons. Thank You for our home and Your promises that we cling to. The leaves are changing here. School starts for the girls in a matter of days. We need to either go now or in two weeks, but, either way, we have no choice but to leave.

My husband will soon have no work and no ability to work around here. No matter what, we must leave soon. Father, all seven of us have now stepped out of the boat and onto the water. We have done everything in full faith of Your promises.

As for my diet, I am still mostly eating only bread, butter, honey, mashed potatoes and salt. However, I also just added bananas to the mix. I almost only drink water, but will occasionally settle my stomach by drinking a vanilla milkshake or by eating some salted crackers. I have not really been that hungry at all during this time.

I have had more tests at the hospital. On some days, my headaches can be unbearable. My vision will then become blurred at the same time. This then forces me to lay down. This is not from my diet, but rather from the tumor that is behind my left eye. While I know God will eventually heal this, it is time for us to go as the best 'earthly treatment' is not here.

My dreams last night consisted of impossible obstacles to get from one place to another...

Sub-dream 1 "A city with no road signs" begins...

I was in a city on top of a hill and had to navigate several of its streets at night. The winding roads were endless and there were no road signs. On top of all of that, there were night animals that I had to contend with. I was also aware that my other family members were walking the same course. While I was the first to go, I had no way to give them directions to get to where I was going or where I would end up. The bottom line is that I was fully reliant on God alone for my directions!

Sub-dream 1 over...

Sub-dream 2 "A deep channel as an obstacle" begins...

I was sitting on one of three very tall bar stools out on the shore of the ocean of a seaside resort. The trees surrounding the resort consisted of coniferous trees. The beaches were a beautiful white sand. I was relaxing and enjoying the sights when I realized that the tide had risen quickly and had surrounded me.

The water was very dark and I could not see the bottom. The tide had now risen so high that I was forced to stand on my stool. The shore was still not that far away so I decided to leap towards it and try to walk and swim to safety. As I was trying to get to the shore, I realized that there was a sudden drop off, really a deep channel, where the waves had eroded the shore.

This made me instantly recall a similar situation I had been in when I was a child surfing in Pacifica, California. Just like then, I was now stuck in this drop off. I was in a precarious position and I would really need to battle the water to get to the shore. Just like when I was a child, I was finally able to crawl to the sandy beach before the tide could overcome me. I made it, but it was scary.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Sub-dream 3 "Six-way intersection on a bike" begins...

I found myself at a series of very busy intersections. I was riding a ten-speed bicycle. There were transit buses, cars and large, long haul trucks everywhere. To make matters worse, the weather not great and it was beginning to rain. I soon came up to a stop sign at a six-way intersection. Since I had never seen an intersection like this before, I became confused as to what to do.

I decided to park my bike at the side of the road so that I could study the situation better. I just could not figure this out. When I finally decided how to navigate this intersection, my bike was gone. Someone must have stolen it. Despite this, I still soon somehow made it to my destination. I knew this arrival must have been supernatural as I cannot even remember how I got there.

Sub-dream 3 over...

Sub-dream 4 "Working for several of my former bosses" begins...

I found myself working for several of my former bosses in one warehouse operation. Each of these bosses had been extremely controlling, or at least had tried to be. These bosses were from my past and I just could not believe that I was having to deal with them again.

There were many divisions in this business. Each section represented a talent that God had gifted me with. In each area, there was some type of production going on...

- One was antiquities
- Another was textiles
- Another was illustrations and painting-art production
- Another was lighting

- There were also other areas there

In each of these areas, I had a former boss who knew very little. The one thing they all had in common was that they were saying horrible things to me in order to try and force me to produce more. I was frustrated because I knew that, without me, they would have no viable business. I also knew that, if I quit, they could no longer afflict their punishment. As it was right now, it was my worst nightmare.

A day soon came when I had decided to go in and quit on all of them. Each of them then threatened me and told me 'NO!' As they protested, there before me was an open door. I began to walk towards it. They verbally threatened me. When this did not work, they each took turns to try and physically stop me. Thanks to God's protection, not one of them were able to touch me. I walked through the door and I was free.

Sub-dream 4 over...

Father, this last dream was very odd because I had not worked for some of these guys in many, many years. In each situation, they needed me, but I no longer needed any of them. Father, there is clearly a common theme to all four of these dreams...I am trying to get from one place to another place in difficult or impossible circumstances.

Oh Lord, please help us! You are my God over all things. We are stuck on the water right now. Please, Father, where are You in this storm?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was right there in front of me. Just behind him was a door.

Me: "Uriel, please help us."

Uriel: "I am a messenger from God. I follow His instructions. I do not act on my own nor do I create 'a thing' on my own. My King says, 'go here' and I go. Now, a door is being presented to you here, Erin. You will walk through this. While you have been kept away so far, you will soon step through this and into the land God has promised.

"The evil has been increasing over the land in a great wave. God has been allowing this as a plumb line. Your household has been in a time of mourning and repentance. As a result, you now have no directions or ties to this world other than those given to you by the King. You have been worried that you have missed instructions or have made mistakes.

"All of this relates to what you are experiencing in your fast. It has been 21 days since the gall has been removed in your stomach. You no longer crave the things you once loved or expected. You have been separated from your own ambitions. You and your family have now offered yourselves to God.

"You are soon to leave your place of 'comfort'. As this 'comfort' was meant to be temporary, changes have come and will continue. You changed as you knew you cannot rely on man for a definition of who you are. I was sent to confirm this to you today. God saw your great distress and your cries were heard in Heaven.

"Now, the Lord went on your behalf to petition for you. What you thought was loss is truly gain. The water is rising, Erin, and, if you were to stay where you are, you and your family would eventually be overcome."

Me: "Uriel, I wrote down our troubles starting on September 1st, 2017 and ending August 31st, 2018. It truly was a year of great pain and loss. I am only human and I know that I will be unable to endure another year like this. My favorite month of the year is September. Please ignite my lantern as my flame has grown dim. My heart is sick. Please tell God for me as this door is not open behind you yet. Am I to die before my children enter in?"

Uriel: Smiling. "Erin, are you really believing in God's promises or are you making up new ones based on your discouragement? You have been chosen and appointed for a time such as this. You have not been forsaken."

Me: "But God had told me that August was our month of change, a time when we moved."

Uriel: "Hmm, did He really say this? I was there as a witness and can confirm that August really was a month of great change, as has all of the last 12 months for you. Did you not experience the same things that I witnessed? You have let go of the former things. While some things were painful, you are now free from the world."

Me: "No, we are still slaves as we still have debt and are subject to the banks."

Uriel: "God owns all things. As He owns the banks, you are slaves to God."

Me: "But..."

Uriel: "While I know it is difficult to understand this, God will soon deliver you from the shackles of institutions. Celebrate as a man delivered. God loves you and those He has hidden and chosen for this time. Soon He will summon angels across the four corners of the Earth and all of you will be changed.

"Before the Israelites entered the promised land, instructions were given, a process of circumcision of their hearts. Removing your old cover and entering into a new cover with God as your cover, you will enter into a different state, a new frontier, where you will be strengthened.

"While you are low, weak and humbled by the punishment of the wicked, through this door, all changes. Your dreams show you changed and youthful, strong and vibrant. Wherever you step, the enemy will be subject to God and he will see the time of the King's return is here.

"You are like a wave, a tidal wave like a tsunami, that will change the landscape. While it is written and was prophesied years and years ago, there was no understanding as this had never been seen before. This has been 'prophesied' AND is 'a new thing'.

"Now, Heaven is visible on Earth, on Earth as it is in Heaven, not with Heaven as a planet in the sky, but visible by God on Earth. Rejoice, Erin! Do not fear!" Uriel smiled at me. "Now look!"

As he turned to look at the door behind him, I saw the latch on the door move. I then saw a flash of light come from the door.

Dream 299 – Uriel and Amazing Wings for Us to Fly

Received on Thursday, September 6, 2018

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all that we have. Thank You for the life raft of Your promises which we cling to. I am not sure what to say this morning except thank You for bringing back our Nest. This is a second home for so many, including us, and offers such wonderful 'cyber-fellowship'.

In the past, You have often placed a song in my head that repeats over and over upon waking up. This happened again this morning and was a song that I recalled from my childhood. When I was about eight years old or so, my parents constantly had the radio or the record player going.

Music was our main form of entertainment as we could not afford a television. As a result, it was not uncommon for music to be playing at our house for ten hours or more per day. Well, the song in my head this morning is a song by Jimmy Cliff called 'Sitting here in limbo' (1971).

This is a difficult song for me to hear as it brings back so many memories, many painful and many joyful, all at the same time. I remember hearing this song after my stepdad had committed suicide in 1975 and wondered if he was stuck somewhere between Heaven and hell.

I really did not know the answer to this as I was unchurched and God was truly foreign to me. I do not recall ever seeing a Bible in our home. Today was the first day that I really every truly listened to all of the lyrics of this song...

Jimmy Cliff – Sitting Here in Limbo (1971)

But I know it won't be long, sitting here in limbo, like a bird without a song. Well, they're putting up a resistance, but I know that my faith will lead me on.

Sitting here in limbo, waiting for the dice to roll, yeah, now, sitting here in limbo, got some time to search my soul. Well, they're putting up a resistance, but I know that my faith will lead me on.

I don't know where life will leave me, but I know where I have been. I can't say what life will show me, but I know what I have seen. Tried my hand at love and friendship, but all that is past and gone. This little boy is movin' on.

Sitting here in limbo, waiting for the tide to flow. Sitting here in limbo, knowing that I have to go. Well, they're putting up a resistance, but I know that my faith will lead me on.

I don't know where life will take me, but I know where I have been. I don't know what life will show me, but I know what I have seen. Tried my hand at love and friendship that is past and gone and now it's time to move along. Gonna lead me on now. Meanwhile, they're putting up resistance, but I know that my faith will lead me on. Sitting in limbo, limbo, limbo (x3). Meanwhile, they're putting up a resistance, but I know that my faith will lead me on.

Father, this is how we feel right now, all of us! We need You! We look to You for answers as we do not know what to do. We do know this...we have no ability to open the door which I have seen in the spiritual. As for the natural, there is only the promise of the door. I cried a lot yesterday. Perhaps it is my fast. This is now day 33. While I was violently ill last night, I felt better after getting sick.

I was reading local, national and world news recently and was in complete shock at how quickly the world has changed. The news is so shocking now as the wave of evil is now truly sweeping over the Earth like a tsunami. Oh Father, I want so badly for You to soon rise up in us. Rise up Your army and lead us to stand on Your behalf.

The spirits of resistance and rebellion have come in like a plague of mold. This has permeated every corner and every once good thing is now 'turning'. Everything we thought could never happen is now happening. There is no morality and to even speak about You or even to act out in goodness is now met with intense hatred.

While many of my dreams have been personal recently, they seem to have a systematic pattern to them. On one night, I will have hellish dreams of nightmarish oppression from my past enemies. However, on the next night, I will have a night of being supernaturally changed and being blessed with supernatural strength.

My dream the night before last was like none I have ever had before. This dream was so specific and clear that I knew it was directly from God. In essence, God was granting me an ability I had never asked for or even really desired. While I may not actually be granted this ability as written as perhaps it is more of a metaphor of a similar ability, I really have no idea what God is up to on this one. Anyway, here it goes...

Sub-dream 1 "Amazing wings for us to fly" begins...

I was facing an impossible situation, an impasse where I had no ability to go from one place to another. While I was with a female friend, I was not sure who she was. I had given up all hope as I had no options on my own strength. I sat on a bench and began to cry. My friend came over to console me...

Friend: "Erin, use what God has given you, the ability to fly."

Me: "I cannot fly."

Friend: "Yes, you can, Erin. Use your wings!"

Just then, thousands of ladybugs started to crawl up my arms. They then went over to the area of my shoulder blades. I then felt something quite warm, something similar to a jolt of electricity, to the area. I looked in amazement as wings with feathers started to grow up around me. The wings were thick and strong, about three inches in thickness and about two feet above my head.

Including the height of the wings, I was just over seven feet in height when I stood up. The feathers were beautiful, white iridescent like opals and slightly pink at the root. They were soft like down to the touch. When I touched them, I could feel the touch as the wings were now a part of me and I had feeling in them. I began to freak out as I did not like having these things growing out of my back. I was in complete shock and awe.

Me: "Oh no, I feel weird with these. I do not want to be a bird! I do not want these. I cannot live like this."

I would have gone on and on like this, but my friend interrupted me.

Friend: "Erin, these are now an extension of you. God has blessed you."

Me: "Are you sure? I do not think that I can even get through a door with these!"

Friend: "Oh really? Do you think God made a mistake? I do not think so." She smiled and added good-naturedly. "Now you are being ridiculous."

Me: "But how will I wear clothes?"

Friend: "Are you not wearing clothes right now?"

She was right. The wings had gone through my clothes.

Friend: "Do not worry as all of this will happen supernaturally. When your wings retract, your clothes will not show where the wings had gone through. Now, go through that door and fly to where you need to be."

Me: "But I will be seen as a complete freak. I will be hunted..."

Friend: "Not if you cannot be seen. Try them out. Go through the open door."

I looked and there was an open door in front of me. As soon as I desired to go through the door, the wings retracted and could not be seen. Once through the door, I thought about where I wanted to go and my wings immediately took me there. With just a little practice, these wings were now like another arm, hand or leg to me.

When I got to where I needed to be, the wings disappeared as soon as I landed. I reached around and felt my upper back and they were gone. They were gone! I looked up at a tall building and desired to be there. My wings immediately sprouted and took me there.

I could see my reflection in the building glass as I ascended. My wings looked like those of a giant eagle, but heavenly. Once I got to the top of the building, I could see all around me. I saw a distant area that I desired to explore. My wings took me there. I laughed with joy as I soared up and around the area.

Me: "Okay, Lord, these are super cool!"

Sub-dream 1 over...

Sub-dream 2 "The wicked unwillingly confess" begins...

I had supernatural knowledge of the plots against the innocent by the wicked around me. I could hear the voice of the Lord incredibly clearly. His instructions and His knowledge were being imbedded in me instantly and as necessary. Using this, He gave me the ability to stop plots and thwart plans. I found this funny and enjoyed the looks on the faces of those with evil intent.

The presence of God within me then made those with evil in their hearts confess their desires and expose their schemes. After a while, this became more and more difficult to witness. This is because there were just so many of these evil people and it became exhausting. I told the Lord that this was draining me too much and He strengthened me. God strengthened me!

Sub-dream 2 over...

Sub-dream 3 "A great enemy is forced to pay" begins...

People who had stolen from us were being forced to compensate us for damages and harm done by their thefts. However, God was forcing them to payback many fold more than what they had actually stolen as punishment for their deeds. In a strange twist, one of our enemies, an entire family, were being forced to pay us back $4.5 million.

They were absolutely furious with me. This entire group had to first confess to harming us, but then began to taunt, yell and threaten me from a distance. For a reason I was not sure of, this family was confined to a certain place and could not leave. While I was scared by them at first, I soon realized that God had rendered them helpless other than their cursing and yelling. They had no ability to hurt us again. I heard God's Voice...

God: "Let them curse. Do not stand around this place. Leave so their curses have no place to land. Why are you listening to this by standing around those confined to their cursed lips? You are free to go!"

God then showed me the door of a prison cell that He had now opened. I soon realized that I was still standing there because I did not know any better. I was staying where I was familiar with, my situation in the past. Thankfully, God once again interrupted me...

God: "Erin, I have set you free! Now go!"

Sub-dream 3 over...

Well, Father, here I am! Please open the door of the place You will change us forever. We love You and we long to be set free.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was right there in front of me. He was smiling. I hugged him.

Uriel: "Do not worry, Erin. God has sent me to let you know that you are not the only one waiting."

Me: "Uriel, it is my entire household. We need to go soon. We have just enough to last our household for a few months. We do not have enough for extras or emergencies. We do not have enough to pay for a move. If you would, please tell God that we need help and that we are in 'limbo'."

Uriel: "While 'limbo' is an earthly term meaning that you are in an uncertain place, God is always certain and there is no 'limbo' under God. Perhaps you should reread the lyrics from the song that was repeating in your mind this morning (Jimmy Cliff – Sitting Here in Limbo (1971)). These lyrics had been inspired for such a time as this."

Me: "Why am I having such vivid dreams right now? What do these dreams mean?"

Uriel: "From the beginning, God instructs man while he sleeps. This is a place where God has a man's full attention. Erin, you understand this as, before you were given dreams and visions, how did you learn from God? How could you learn from His Words unless He inspired them from His Holy Spirit? How could you know of hidden things if God did not reveal them while you slept?"

"Now, these are not your imagination. God can and will do all that He has promised you. You are looking for that which you understand and that which has reference in His Word. However, God is now showing you even more. He is now showing you that which is unimaginable, that which you have not prayed for.

"Erin, He can do all things impossible to man, understand? Do not limit God. Erin, do not confine Him to one word, but instead remember the One Who spoke light into being and separated light from dark, the One Who created Heaven, Earth, the sun, the moon and the stars. Who is the Keeper of time and seasons? Who created man from dust and separated the waters from the dry land?"

"There are so many things that God has done from beginning to the time now and for eternity. Who can place God in confinement or place Him in 'a box'? Is He not strong and mighty enough to lift the lid and escape? He sees what resides here upon the land and He is not removed from the plots of the wicked or the hidden. He will send judgment.

"He also knows the desires of His children. He also understands that they are helpless without Him. Do not worry, Erin, as He is compassionate and full of grace. Erin, you were chosen for a time such as this and, in your weakness, He is strong. In your dreams and visions, He has shown you that which is good. His plans for you are to build you up and grant you hope and a future.

"Now, He will return you to the land He has given you. Like an eagle, you will soar on wings. You will scale a wall. You will display the Mighty Hand of God. Though you have been hidden, He will place you in wide open spaces. Once there, your enemies, who are also God's enemies, will be confined to the place God has prepared for the wicked.

"A wave of miracles, signs and wonders will come upon the cursed land. Springs of living water will rise up there. Just as the tides have given rise to evil, God Himself will send a larger wave to shake the land. Remember that God is within her and she will not fall. Remember that God will help her at the break of day.

"Now, rejoice when your dreams instruct you on His plans for you. Listen to the lyrics of the song, Erin, and be encouraged. As He shows you the way you should go and all other routes are closed, wait for Him. Wait for Him as He is good and His ways are higher.

"He has opened up your prison cell and given you clothing of a free man. He also asked you to be a guest at His table every day. He has also given you allowance and cared for you all the days of your life. Now rejoice, Erin! Rejoice, rejoice! Step through the door!"

Me: "Should I knock first?"

Uriel: Smiling. "I believe that all of Heaven, and even Earth, has heard your knocking. God knows, Erin, and He will answer. It is His door to open and you are to walk through it when He does. Now, eat what is good. He has given you a beautiful place, a place that you will soon step into.

"Oh yes...if God wants to give you wings to fly, then receive these. Do not limit God, the Great I AM, the One Who created you, understand?"

Me: "Yes, I understand."

Uriel: "Then enjoy this day that He has given you."

Well, the hummingbirds have now left for the south. I am sad about this as I so enjoyed watching them and taking photos of them. Lord, please protect them on their long, long journey. Please have them return here again in the Spring or, better yet, bring them to wherever You will be taking us. This morning, I woke up later than normal. I came out of a very graphic prophetic dream. I have not had one this clear in quite a while.

As I laid in bed, I could hear the distinct song of a bird outside, a song that I have never heard before. I was going to leave the bed to see if I could spot it, but the pain I felt in my head and neck prompted me to remain still. Silent tears streamed from my eyes and landed on my pillow. I then fell into an odd 'micro-sleep' and was not sure if this was a dream or vision...

Sub-dream 1 "Jesus heals me from head to toe" begins...

I was as I am now, in pain and feeling sluggish and old. I was wearing a ridiculously long white shirt that went below my knees. I had just finished tossing bird seed to the mourning doves and realized that I was unable to straighten my back. I went to the small bench in our yard and laid on the grass next to it. I looked up in the sky as tears streamed down my cheeks. I closed my eyes and began to pray a personalized version of the Lord's Prayer...

My Father Who art in Heaven, great is Your Name and worthy of all of my praise. Your Kingdom please come, Your Will be done on this Earth just as it is in Heaven. Please grant us this day my daily bread and honey. However, and most of all, please forgive my trespasses against You as I forgive all those who have trespassed against me. Lead me not into temptation, but instead deliver me from the evil one. For all of this is Yours and You hold the power in all things. This is Your Kingdom come, Your Will be done, on Earth, On Earth, ON EARTH, as it is in Heaven. Father, this is Your Kingdom, in Your power, in Your glory, forever and ever, Amen!

I opened my eyes and there was Jesus standing over me. He was wearing a white robe with a red sash draped across His left shoulder.

Jesus: "Say nothing. I AM here."

He kneeled next to me and touched my head with both of His hands. I felt something like a hot flash, like light, cutting through my skull. He then moved His hands to the base of my skull. While I felt uncomfortable at first, He then spent time on my neck from C3 to C8. I felt a searing cold that was then followed by warmth. I could literally feel that He was adjusting my entire spine.

I looked up and saw Him remove something. I then felt Him lining up my spine. While doing this, it was if He was running His fingers across a piano's keyboard, but it was my spine. He was healing me. While I began to cry, I still remained quiet and motionless. When He then moved His hands to my heart, I felt similar sensations and could feel Him removing something. While I could feel all of this, none of it was hurting me.

I then felt Him restore something on my right side. I closed my eyes as He then moved lower and restored my limbs, my arms, my fingers, my legs and my feet. I somehow knew that He had now finished. When I opened my eyes, He was already gone. As I sat up in the grass, I could tell that I was now fully healed.

Sub-dream 1 over...

When I woke up in 'real life', I was still the same. It was disappointing and I wondered when He would actually do this for me...for us. It was so real that I could not believe that it had not happened in real life.

I decided to get out of bed and write this dream down, along with the epic dream that I had last night. Please, Father, let me recall everything You showed me in this dream of prophecy. Please keep things clear so that I only write that which is Your Will to be written.

Sub-dream 2 "A former 'king' comes back into the spotlight" begins...

I was visiting the home of one of my former bosses. He was a nice man with a wife that was just as nice. While not the case in reality, he had several children in this dream and all of them were older. The home was quite large and had a large billiards room. When I walked into this room, the man and his children were in the middle of a game of Carom. While they were mistakenly calling the game Snooker, I did not correct them.

Regardless, the pool table was in no shape to actually be used. For some reason, the table they were playing on was literally cut diagonally from one far corner to the other far corner. The long side was completely open and there was nothing to prevent the balls hit there from falling onto the floor.

While it was 'half a table', it was also 'half a game'. Instead of 22 balls, there were only 11 balls being used, plus the white ball, or twelve balls in total. While it was not even possible to have a game with this setup, those playing were all very tense and competitive. It was such an odd sight and I could not believe that they were so 'into it'.

Just then, I noticed a commotion in the adjoining room by several of the older family members. After I walked around the three large supporting columns, I entered an area that had four large television screens mounted on the wall. One of the television screens were showing a bunch of people screaming and crying.

Me: "What happened? Why are they screaming and crying?"

Woman: "They are dead. All of them are dead. They were wiped out. So many and so quickly. There was no warning."

I turned back to the televisions to see if I could find out more about what had just happened. Each of the four screens had something different on when all them suddenly turned into static snow. This lasted for about thirty seconds or so when all four of them switched back on simultaneously. Even though these televisions were on four different stations, they were now all showing the same thing.

It was our former president sitting at a long table with six leaders on one side of him and six leaders on the other side of him. It was set up just like the last supper.

Former president: Raising his cup. "Whoever drinks from this cup will have eternal life."

The men sitting with him quickly drank from their cups and received supernatural powers. While only those with discernment would notice this, their powers were actually evil and were meant to be a counterfeit to God's miracles. It was clear that all of this was meant to mock God.

Former president: "I now ask all of you at home to partake in this toast. This will mark my rightful place as the leader of a free government. My government will respect free will and the right to live free from consequences, free to do as you choose with no condemnation."

My former bosses' family quickly gathered wine into a massive German Ewer and poured it into smaller steins from there.

Former boss: "Here is a stein for you."

Me: Politely. "No thank you. I am not thirsty."

Former president: "I bless this wine of the people, by the people and for the people. From this point on, I will be your savior and your god. I now ask all of you to partake in this wine as a celebration."

Everyone around me drank some of the wine except for me. To my amazement, it was as if they were completely drunk, even for those who only took a tiny sip. It was as if what they were drinking had somehow become a type of drug or spell. I then saw the twelve leaders who were sitting at the table with the former president become even more enthralled with the former president than they already were.

Former president: "The first order of business will be to remove the resistance. We must remove the obstacles and walls to freedom. We must remove the scales of justice. We must remove and redefine the laws of morality. There will now be but one government, one church, one body and one judge. This will be the time of freedom from oppression. This will be the time to remove the negative and start anew.

"Let all of the prisoners out and let those opposed take their place behind bars. This is a new dawn and a new era. God walks this and I have removed evil. Evil opposes good and disguises itself as morality. However, this is false. It is time to separate from hate, remove the remnant of oppression and take your world back."

I sat in shocked silence as I had just witnessed this entity claim to be God. He was claiming all of God's miracles as his own. However, I then noticed something glaring that no one else around me was able to because they were too drunk. Quite simply, this man was clearly unable to do all that God could, but just a small portion that was allowed by God for this time, the time of the end.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Oh Father, what did all of this mean? I am concerned for the world and those who will be deceived. This was a horrible dream about the upcoming deception and it frightened me. If only they all knew You like we do!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was right there in front of me.

Uriel: "Erin, the wrath of God is upon the nations. This entity is playing half a game on half abilities. As you noticed, there were half of the normal amount of game pieces in your dream. When a third of the angels fell, their ability to communicate with God, their Creator, was lost. They were now on half power.

"Since they still had memories of knowledge, they still knew how to teach and taunt. They knew how to break rules. Most of all, they defied God. Knowing that they could not return to Heaven, they decided to bring Heaven to Earth. However, they failed at this and brought only destruction instead. This is why God confined them and separated them underground until the days of judgment.

"While the flood destroyed all physical creation on Earth, a spiritual remnant remained. This remnant was still allowed dominion to roam. However, this remnant was limited in scope and had restrictions. Today, these are powers, principalities, princes and rulers of darkness that resist all that is good. God has allowed the balance of power to now be tipped towards them. As you know by your own experience, the enemy seeks to divide and conquer."

Me: "I simply cannot believe all that is happening right now in the USA, but especially the ill will towards the current president. This began before he even ran. While I know that this man is not perfect, I find myself rooting for him because I know that it is God Who has appointed him. All of the attacks on him are just so difficult to watch."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, but it is not just the USA. It is now worldwide. What you are witnessing is a direct assault on God and His children. Let us first focus on what happened in Israel, where Jerusalem is God's city. God had sent this 'wild bull leader' to declare Jerusalem as the capital of Israel. However, look at what happened leading up to this...

"The former president who was president at the time, knowing that it was God that had sent the bull to stand against him, mocked the bull and publicly humiliated him. Then when the bull rose and defeated the woman who was endorsed by her 'king', the leader at that time, he took some time to rest. However, this appearance of him resting was merely an illusion. He has set up a race war to divide the country.

"He has also sent in operatives like tentacles into every branch, even the bull's own party. He called on friends for favors and got the backing of all outlets to sway information. He then systematically ordered each 'hit', taking out and defaming all those standing for the bull. He did this so that anyone remaining that stood for the bull would now stand in silence out of fear.

"This man is angry with the bull and his reach is great. However, he will slip up as God will not be mocked. Later on, there will be an attack on the land and the bull will be blamed for it. However, it was not the bull's fault and the leader will know this. Just know that, from God's perspective, any attack on the bull is seen as an attack against Him."

Uriel reached for my hand and we walked together to the overlook. I saw large archangels positioned strategically over the entire Earth. Michael was over them on the web. I then heard a horn sound four times. The angels then began to punish the land. I saw seven archangels commanding each continent, along with even more angels under each of them. Each of the seven archangels blew trumpets and the wars began.

Me: "Uriel, please strengthen us."

Uriel: "I am not God, Erin, I am a messenger. Fear God and give Him glory because the hour of judgment has come. The land will be humbled and shaken. Many will be in fear, but God has a plan in place. He has prepared an army of His own, His remnant.

"Since the enemy has anticipated this in advance, he sends a counterfeit to each move of God to confuse the lost. Be encouraged, Erin. Do not worry as you will not be a slave to the king of this world. You will be subject to God instead. His plans, God's plans, will not be hindered."

Me: "Uriel, please expose the plans of the wicked. Please strengthen and protect us. While I know you cannot do this, I just know that my Father, God, can and will as He can do anything and He has promised."

Uriel: "You have seen the determination, the assaults and the seduction of the enemy. However, do not worry as the voice of God's truth will prevail. When you hear about the greatness of evil, do not believe it as God is greater and the enemy knows that his time is up.

"The enemy fights all of you and yet does not know who is who under the Throne as he is limited in his abilities and cannot be omnipresent. Do not worry. Even though they are now hunting down the lost tribes, God has kept this hidden. The hour of judgment has now come."

Me: "I am scared."

Uriel: "Do not worry, Erin, as this hour is for those apart from God. While you will witness it at first, God will then call you forward."

Me: "I pray that God will soon heal and strengthen us."

Uriel: "Do not worry. Do not be afraid. He will do all that He has promised."

Uriel nodded at me and smiled.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for the ability to wake up! Thank You for another day. Thank You for the promises, Your promises, that we cling to in the midst of everything. We have been struggling this week. Since our entire household is on the brink of change, we are all unsettled and uncertain. While we are ready, hope is beginning to fade.

Please forgive us, Father, but we only have a few months provisions to sustain us. We are fully relying on You to open that door we can walk through. As of yesterday, I have been without solid food now for 40 days. I felt in my heart that this was symbolic of me as a toddler in the adventure of Your calling soon to come.

I feel as if I am now finishing my race of this portion of my journey and that I am now moving into the next portion, a supernatural phase. During this 40-day period, I became very sick if I veered at all off of the foods I could take in. At times, I was unstable, dizzy and I was frequently tired...well, at least in the beginning.

I just could not stomach anything that I was used to eating and the sickness eventually made it so I lost all desire and cravings for these things. Two other things that are odd has also happened during these 40 days. First off, I constantly had a bitter taste in my mouth. Secondly, I smelled things that no one else was smelling. This was an odd burning smell, something similar to burnt toast, rubber or metals.

Counteracting these harsh smells were the smells of fragrances, such as strong flowers or spices. Again, nothing was present and only I could smell these. I have also experienced heightened periods of agitation, pain, muscle tightness and even twitching. I had already experienced this last part prior to the start of these 40 days.

I have also become more emotional. I now get very sad over the loss of children or the elderly in the news. I have also become quite attached to some of the small animals in our yard. I recently wept over the loss of a small red squirrel I called "Patches".

Patches used to seek me out several times a day. Patches was pregnant and/or nursing babies and I had grown quite fond of her. Patches came whenever I called her name. She ate out of my hands. Then...one day...she was gone. I called for her for an entire week, but nothing. I believe she became prey for something larger.

Even writing about Patches brings back my tears. Thankfully, there are three little red squirrels who began to come around shortly after Patches disappeared. I would like to think that these were her babies. Two of the three will now even eat from my hand.

This last year has been one of my most brutal on record. Father, please have compassion on me as I am still stunned by all of it. It has been difficult to stomach and, as I write, the taste in my mouth is like syrup of Ipecac. While I do not recall how I know what this tastes like, I have had it and it is horrible. I believe it might have been when I was a little girl and I had used some inappropriate language around my grandma.

I had a very vivid and horrible nightmare last night. In this dream, I had purchased a property from an ex-client that had turned into an enemy. As background, I had done quite a bit of work for her for no charge. I had even referred her husband for the job he currently has as an executive. I had made the calls and wrote a letter of recommendation on his behalf. Why they turned, I still do not understand until this day.

Father, I was so thankful when You woke me up from this. In this dream, I had 'superhero' abilities. The Holy Spirit was upon me. At one point, while there were several hundred people around me, only four or five at the most were saved. It was so frustrating...

Sub-dream 1 begins...

I had purchased a large, distressed property from the ex-client couple I described above. I decided that my first project would be to remodel the kitchen. For no good reason, I then phoned the husband to install the new electrical lighting. Instead of waiting for me to show him where I wanted the lighting to go, the couple had used an extra set of keys I knew nothing about to come in and install it where they wanted it.

When I arrived, I could see that the man had installed the wrong light in the wrong spot. I then noticed he had left an invoice for his work for me. I had someone change all the locks so that their keys would no longer work. I then confronted the couple and they became instantly and unreasonably offended.

Me: "I am sorry, but I refuse to pay for this until you have fixed it."

Woman: "You are being unreasonable, but fine, so be it." She then added with an evil smile. "Oh yes, don't forget about all the people coming here for the festival. It is all right there in the purchase agreement for your house."

While I was going to ask her what festival she was talking about, both her and her husband had quickly rushed off. I went to a cabinet and took out the purchase agreement. I searched the fine print to find what she was referring to. Well, there it was. For some reason, part of the sale contingency and immediate closing of the property was that I agreed to house some of their relatives for a weekend during some festival.

While I started to panic, I then asked myself 'how bad could it be?' I then prepared a few of the bedrooms believing there would only be a couple of families with a few younger children coming. I then spent a lot of time fixing up the main living areas, including the kitchen, living room and the bathrooms.

On the day of their arrival, I quickly realized that I had not been as thorough in my preparations as I had wanted to. While this would turn out to be a relatively minor problem, it started off with me noticing some dust in some of the corners. My problems then quickly escalated when I opened the door to greet my guests.

To my surprise and dismay, there were more than 40 people who entered in. I was then concerned for good reason as I certainly had not planned to house this many people. Even though the house was large enough to house more, I had only prepared for the arrival of two families.

After greeting all of these people, I began to run throughout the home trying to clean it up to accommodate the influx. The house turned out to be much more massive than I had anticipated. It was like a maze, similar to a massive furniture showroom with various room vignettes.

Many of the rooms were outdated and had a lack of linens. For those rooms that had linens, they were unclean with dust. Even though the rooms were imperfect, everyone seemed fine with it until sunset and it was time to eat. I realized I did not have enough food, so I ordered more. I continued to rush from room to room cleaning as best I could.

I began to walk through the house to check in on my guests. I soon realized that there were other doors I was unaware of and many more people had entered. I was now completely overwhelmed by the amount of people. In total, I had counted that there were easily thirty rooms to the home, as well as some basement rooms. Despite the great number of bedrooms, I knew that this was still insufficient for all of these people.

As the night wore on, I realized that this home had supernaturally expanded to be the size of a small city. I wanted to check the perimeter, but it would have been too long to walk it. To my surprise, there was a golf cart that I could use. I then used this golf cart to circle the back of the property so that I could find the place that all of these other people were using to come in.

It did not take me long to realize that there was an open gate. I then spotted a large gang of very scary men hanging around the gate. As I got closer, I realized that they were MS-13 gang members. They looked at me and watched me, but stayed at the entrance as I drove by. I somehow knew that they wanted to shoot at me and that God was preventing them from doing so. I was completely supernaturally protected!

I then drove to the top of a hill. There was a para militia group shooting at a target range. One of them stopped me...

Man: "Just to let you know, there are a few gang members peddling drugs disguised as candy. When they saw you come around here to the back, they decided to sell them at the front door."

Me: "Thank you."

I then began to continue my drive around my 'house city'. The man yelled out to me.

Man: "What are you doing? You can't go this way." He then pointed up ahead. "Look, there is a biker gang blocking your path."

I looked ahead and saw that there was a notorious biker gang at a bar bordering the path to the other end of my property. I prayed and decided that I needed to warn the people not to take these disguised drugs. I then cut across a field and found another entrance. I saw paramedics hauling out people on stretchers.

I wanted to find the drug dealer doing this, so I drove around a bit. I soon found a most disturbing sight that I will never forget. There was a man dressed like a clown on a bike towing an ice cream trailer. The 'familiar music' of the ice cream man was playing, luring all of the kids to him. Even though I was still too far away to confront this man, I could supernaturally hear what he was saying to the kids...

Little girl: "What kind of ice cream do you have?"

Clown drug dealer: "Well, I am out of ice cream, but I have something much better...and it is free. I have this role of candies for you."

He then showed the little girl a strip of colorful candies that looked quite enticing.

Little girl: "But I really wanted ice cream, not candy."

Clown drug dealer: "Once you eat some of these candies, it will be like you can order any kind of ice cream you like and have as much as you like."

Little girl: "Okay, thank you."

She then took the candy and walked off. I then noticed that there was a line up of other kids waiting to do the same. Since these kids were below the age of accountability, I knew that this had to still be pre-rapture. I had to stop him. When I came closer, he instantly became alarmed.

Clown drug dealer: "What the f are you doing here? I am going to f kill you!"

I waved my hand and he instantly stopped his cursing.

Me: "In Jesus' Name, I command you to leave."

It worked. It was as if he had no control of his actions. He went on his bicycle and rode away from me as fast as he could. I went back to the front door to speak with the paramedics.

Me: "I confronted the drug dealer. He has now left."

Paramedic: "What do you mean? That drug dealer was only a small part of the problem. There are drug dealers all over the place now. The ones you really need to watch out for are the drugs being distributed from your basement. These are lethal."

As I then searched around this massive complex that had been a much smaller house, I realized I could barely do anything compared to the massive amounts of crimes now taking place. While I wanted to help, I was almost powerless. As I searched, I soon stumbled onto a larger room that had twelve native chiefs. Each chief had a skill. When I entered the room, they looked at me as if they hated me. One of them addressed me.

Chief: "I am to draw your picture."

He sat down to begin to draw, but his hand stopped. He called out to the other chiefs.

Chief: "This one has something powerful around her. I am unable to draw her. Pray for me that I will have the strength to draw her."

Even though they all began to pray in a language that I could not understand, he was still unable to draw me. I then felt a call to pray openly in tongues. I started to talk in tongues quite loudly. They seemed to understand what I said and looked terrified.

Chief: "What can we do to make things right with the gods?"

Me: "Not 'gods'...God. Repent and turn away!"

They became enraged at me and began to curse me. I turned and prayed something and God instantly shut their mouths. When word got out that this had happened, people began to scream and run away. I then prayed to God...

Me: "Father, forgive me for thinking I could do more here. I am overwhelmed at how many hate You. They hate me too even though I am hosting them in my home. They love their sin. I am sick, Lord, really sick."

Sub-dream 1 over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was sitting in a meadow by a stream that I recognized. I saw this many years ago. In fact, it was 14 years ago. It was a beautiful place.

Me: "Oh Lord, I am overwhelmed by my dream. I thought that this would be rewarding. There was so much sin and evil that I had a hard time keeping up with them. I wanted them all gone. I did not like them."

I then heard the Voice of God. His voice was powerful, yet comforting. We immediately started discussing the dream I had just written down. This dream was quite draining, more so than almost any other dream I have had. God: "Erin, you will see much evil, but it is only a fraction of what I see. I have shown you what it will look like at the end. The demons in the hearts of men will stir up. Evil will far outnumber the good."

Me: "But, Father, some of these people are those that I recognize, some are even from church. I failed to see many redeeming qualities. My Holy Spirit was at full attention. Even though this is not like I am now, I had very little compassion in this dream."

God: "I know, Erin. You will be called to areas where you will not have a good reception. You will be hated because of Me. These people have not humbled themselves. At times, you will be sent just to be present and to wait on Me. I will instruct you in the ways that you should go."

Me: "Oh Father, I had ideas that I would do great things on behalf of the Kingdom, Your Kingdom, but this was disturbing and I felt ineffective."

God: "No, Erin, you will be very effective. You only saw your greatest opposers in every room that you stepped in. There were others in the rooms who witnessed that you were called by Me. While you were overwhelmed by the number of opposers, you sent others hope. It is important to understand that My Will involves going into battle and that these wars are not pretty.

"I sent this dream to you to show you the progression of the times you are coming into during your service. At first, it will be palatable and you will start off with scenarios you are familiar with, those that you can quickly overcome. There you will prepare for the basics. You will be a gracious host who yields to Me and provides for your guests...or, should I say, those that I send to you.

"You then encounter more and more and more. As the night turned darker in this dream, so did the areas that I took you. This is so I have not one who is lost, understand? They cry for help and you are sent in to stand. While you are not their savior and you are not God, My presence will be in you and upon you so they know that I have heard their cries."

Me: "Father, I do not understand. This all seems so bleak to me."

God: "Erin, each group that you encountered had someone who had cried out to Me. To survive, they remained silent. You are there to display mighty deeds. You were free to walk amongst them, you were not scared and you were not harmed."

Me: "Father, I could hear their thoughts and how much they hated me. It was horrible."

God: "I understand. Are you still wanting to continue?"

Me: "Yes. However, I will need healing and strengthening. I also need to repent for believing my own ideas for how all of this will be. All of this involved me being a 'Superwoman' of sorts. I am embarrassed to even say this aloud."

God: Chuckling. "Oh Erin, you make Me smile. You referred to yourself as an infant eating soft food like a toddler learning to navigate. While this is true, you need to know that you will be like a warrior from My army, but subject to Me and sent for My purposes. You will heal the sick and the broken hearted.

"You will display mighty deeds and scale a wall. Yes, Erin, you will scale a wall! You will be My vessel for My purposes. You will stand for My Kingdom as I appoint you. You will go as I lead you. I will provide for you in all that you do. It was time you understood that you will not always enjoy this.

"Look at how your relationship with crows has changed. While you have always despised crows because you have had bad experiences with them, you have now grown fond of them. You even rescued an injured crow from dying alone in the fallen snow. In turn, I have used these birds to warn the animals around you of predators. These birds also then chase these predators off. As you are now feeding them, they are sending you gifts."

Me: "They do?"

God: "To these crows, their gifts are precious. They send you shiny things and drop them on the ground around your home."

Me: Laughing. "Oh, I thought that this was my kids dropping earring studs, dimes and paperclips."

God: "No, Erin, this is from the ones that you once hated. I sent this to you as an analogy so that you would rethink your preconceptions about the things around you. Cast off your judgments as you are not judge. Let Me be the judge, understand? This means go freely where I take you. When you have a question, just ask.

"I am here with you. Let Me be your solid food. Let Me be your source of water as I bring the water of life which fills your emptiness as My vessel. I love you. I accept your repentance and I will now make you brand new. You are a new creation in Me and I am pleased. Are you ready?"

Me: "Yes, Father. I will gladly go wherever You take me. Even when it becomes scary or difficult, fill my vessel and pour out water to those who are thirsty. Please do not let me ever run ahead of You. Please do not let me ever stay way behind You. Please let me do Your Will in all things. Let Your Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. I want so much to be a Bride worthy of her Groom."

God: "Do not worry. I love you. Take courage!"

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for Your instructions and divine grace...really, Your mercy! You are merciful to me even though I do not deserve it. The day after Yom Kippur, Wednesday, September 19th, 2018, which is yesterday, Thursday, September 20th, 2018, marked the day the bitterness left my mouth, so thank You for this!

This had been a bitterness that had been there since late August 4th / early August 5th, 2018. For the very first time, I ate real food and kept it down. I ate rice, pot stickers and coconut shrimp last night. It was delightful and I was not repulsed by what I ate. It did not make me ill! Thank You for this gift.

This unplanned divine fast was a big wakeup call directed at me for this very period of time. I did not understand it as it did not make sense from a natural point of view. However, in the supernatural, this all made perfect sense.

Thank You, Lord, for my last several dreams. These dreams have all had instructional themes and consisted of You bringing us forward. You have showed me that there were things buried that were no longer to be buried. These things were like dust bunnies in the corners. These form if we do not sweep these bunnies up.

Sometimes this dust appears when there is movement or light directed into an area. Most of the time, we simply do not see this dust at all. God, You, using Your 'power of suction', vacuum up these dust bunnies to help us draw them out and remove them.

Years ago, I needed to be purged of my own ambitions. My plans at that time were not in line with God's plans for me. God's course for my life had no need for my personal accomplishments, accolades, awards, recognition, riches and glories in the eyes of my peers. Well, you get the idea...I was 'self'-focused.

God had a plan for me which could not be carried out without the persecution and humiliation of removing my self out of the picture. The bottom line is that I needed a 'reduction'. This reduction would involve years and years of tearing down the bricks and stones that I had built for myself. Humiliation, loss, grief, pain, misery and anxiety, all of it, comes from this process of 'reduction', our 'refining'.

During this time, I became angry as I watched 'my' plans slipping away. However, this is where the problem lies. 'My' plans were never to be my plans to begin with. It was only when I realized that these were supernatural events that I removed 'my' self to watch God work to get me to where He desired me to be. He desired me to be under His care, by His altar and beneath His wings. This is all for His glory, not mine.

It has been painful! It has been a long and hard race. There have been lots of twists, turns, dead ends, desert places, mountains, valleys and detours. However, once I finally let myself go somewhere, somewhere over one of those bridges, I let go. It was only then that the 'why me?' changed into 'why not me?' Well, only if it is my Father's Will, of course.

Right before this fast finished, dust bunnies came out. While I saw them a few times, I was just too tired to deal with them. I am not sure why, but perhaps I was still holding on. I do know that the last day of my fast on Yom Kippur was a very odd day. I started my journal entry with joy. However, as the day grew longer, my joy left.

I became bitter. The bitter taste in my mouth then went into my body. I became upset at everything. I became anxious and discouraged. I cried while I was watching the news and wept 'please do not let these children and infants die.' I was upset at the agonizing lies I was witnessing being said about the 'land's leader'.

I then had an incident at a drive through where the teller had accidentally given me $20 extra back. I did not notice it at first, but I did once I pulled away. My first thoughts were to keep the $20 in order to teach the teller a lesson on the consequences of being sloppy. Almost immediately, I felt convicted and decided to give the money back at the second drive through window.

While no one knew my faulty thought process on this, I did and I was humiliated. How could I have even thought about keeping the $20 after all the Lord has done for us. I could not believe how quickly this came upon me. Even though I 'made it right', I knew that I had a heart issue, even if it was but a brief one. My oldest son saw what had happened as he heard me speaking as I handed it back.

Son: "Wow, mom, you almost had that $20 for free."

Me: "Actually, nothing from this would have been free. I would have been in chains from the enemy and he would have legal rights. My guilt would have been for the worse in the long run. I would have gained so little from this $20, but would have had to give away so much of myself to keep it. God would not have been happy with me no matter how I could have rationalized this."

Oh Father, bring out that vacuum and remove the dirt. Please skim the black, impure dross which boils up to the surface. Please remove my bitterness. I am sorry, Father, if I took this holy day to You and turned it into a day not fitting for a child of the most high God and loving Bride of Jesus. Please forgive me!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was sitting in a meadow from the beginning of my walk with Jesus. The following is a reminder of that particular dream...

Past dream reminder begins...

I was picnicking with my children by a port with a seemingly safe harbor. Demons soon came to devour us and the peaceful day instantly turned dark. My children and I ran to a banquet hall. When we saw the food, we realized we were hungry. However, we soon saw the mold growing there and not one of us ate the food there. We realized this was a trap and that we needed to leave immediately.

After we exited, we kept walking until nightfall came. We then came up to a rushing river that was in the flooding stages. Jesus then met us there and carried all of us across. There were now so very few of us left from the harbor. He then spoke tenderly to us and instructed us. He gave us shelter, food and water.

Past dream reminder over...

Me: Letting out a huge sigh. "Well, Father, here I am at this same place yet again. Where are You, Lord?"

Just then, I heard the Voice of God all around me and over me.

God: "I do not require perfection from you. Where is this written?"

Me: "Oh Father, I am sorry. I was upset with myself for my recent bad thinking."

God: "Stop thinking about this. You are 'mis-thinking' and placing perimeters on My grace and mercy. Erin, let those who condemn be condemners. I did not call them to be My voice. Even though a man condemns another man, I can then save them both by showing mercy for the condemner and grace for the condemned man. In your case, you are condemning yourself. Stop this.

"Now, Erin, just because I have not unfolded all of my promises at 'your appointed time', this does not mean I have removed My favor. Am I the God Who brings a pregnancy to term and then does not deliver? Erin, repent for thinking of Me as 'the punisher'. Once before Me, a criminal gets a fair trial. He will then know his guilt and that the verdict is deserved.

"Erin, I am judge over all, both on Earth as it is in Heaven. While it seems that justice in the land turns a blind eye to the guilty, I tell you the truth...I have eyes to see and I do not turn from the wicked and their deeds. While the wicked might enjoy a short moment of freedom to do evil on Earth as they are children of the father of lies, once here, all is confessed.

"Because I am merciful and I understand the increase of evil in these times, I will send My army upon the land to make jealous those who believe themselves chosen by Me by their rituals and accomplishments. Erin, I send out those whom the world would disqualify as My chosen. These are My special army, My sharp arrows from My quiver.

"Just the presence of My elect will make the wicked confess. With their lips, they will accuse those whom I send. While they will kick, scream and recite their reasons for being bitter about those I have chosen, it will be because their very lips that claimed to praise Me had never connected to their hearts of stone. Did they really believe that I could not see their true heart condition?

"Even though I created them, they believe in another father and worship the gods of this world, not me. Erin, you have been broken and crushed in front of Me. Even though you have not yet seen the promises I have given to you present themselves, you are still here. Even though you try to disqualify yourself at times, it is not Me that is calling you to do so.

"Now, Erin, surrender the very last bit of yourself that the enemy fights for you to hold onto. While you were born into this world, you are Mine and you reside here with Me. There you are a foreigner who was once lost. However, I created you in your mother's womb. From your conception, you were conceived for My purposes. You have given Me your heart for My purposes. Erin, are My plans not better than that which you could conceive?"

Me: "Yes, Father. You love me. While my life has been full of failures, You have never failed me. Please forgive me for wondering if You had deserted me. I am so sorry."

God: "You are forgiven. Erin, it is now time. The time has come. Put the rest of your imperfections far from your memories. Bring these to Me."

Me: "Father, I had a dream last night..."

Sub-dream 1 begins...

I was in the process of packing up my belongings that I had in two separate office buildings. I decided to take a break in order to retrieve my mail. Similar to my belongings, half of my mail was in one box and the other half of my mail was in a distant box. I knew that I would need help with the first box as I was too short to reach it. A man saw me struggling and came over to help.

While he had retrieved my mail, I soon noticed that he had accidentally retrieved mail from the box next to mine. I decided not to tell him about his mistake as I did not want him to feel bad about helping me. After sorting through the mail, I went to the postmaster to have him put back the portion that was not mine.

After this, I went back to the first office with my belongings. After I finished packing up, I realized I had put it all into one large box. However, there was no way that I would be strong enough to carry this box out. Once again, someone saw me struggling and came over to move the box for me.

Before I could show him where to take it, he moved it outside of the building. Because he had put this box next to the curb for me to pick up, someone else thought it was put out for someone to take, like a couch or something similar, and it was gone. When I questioned the man that had 'helped me', he told me that he took no responsibility.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Me: "Father, this entire dream seemed to take place in California. What did all of this mean?"

God: "For you as a child, this was a cursed land and your memories there were not fond ones. Though you search, there will not your heart be. It was a time period, a bridge of disorder, when much was stolen from you there."

Me: "Our home was robbed several times. Many things were stolen from us. It was horrible as we had no insurance and things would take months to be replaced."

God: "This was a place of abandonment for you. You protected your heart from those who hurt you. You had deep wounds there. This part of the land will soon be where much trouble will come from and it will be as if I opened the gates of the bowels of the Earth there. The anger and stench will be horrific.

"When I send you to this part of the land, it will be in numbers, but for a later time. Right now, you are to witness to those who long to know Me. These people will be those who are like you once were wherein you had one foot in the world and one foot out."

Me: Laughing. "I remember those times. I could go either way if it benefitted me. I remembered that I did not like many of the Christians that I had met back then."

God: "Many of these will have the same thoughts. However, they will like you because they will see Me operating through you. They will see Me as I am and you will proclaim 'The Year of My Favor' across the divided lands. I will send you where you could never have imagined going. You will allow Me to heal and display awesome deeds. They, in turn, will testify to the miracles of the Kingdom of Heaven. Now rejoice, Erin, rejoice, as your time has come!"

Me: "Oh Father, the people that I have dealt with have been extremely cold and aloof."

God: "Do not worry as it will not take long for all of that to change. Do not worry as I have not forgotten you. I will surround you with the help of angels. Nothing will succeed against you. As this will not be easy, you will also need to retreat in prayer for the lost and come into My shelter. I will comfort and strengthen you there."

Me: "Father, I felt something yesterday. I was taking my girls to school and was at a traffic stop. I suddenly felt a wave of something hit me coming from my right. It scared me. I looked up and saw a car in the right lane. I then recognized someone in this car who had been sent by the enemy a few years ago to cause trouble. When we turned off of the road, the wave of dizziness disappeared."

God: "In My Word, remember the woman who had bled that had touched the robe of My Son. When this happened, He had felt something leave Him. This is like a vessel full of healing, life giving water for those who thirst. When those who need healing receives this, this will be as if something portioned out for them from the vessel will leave.

"I knew when someone was in need and I answered. I poured out healing water. If I send you as a vessel to go out and healing waters pours from you as I fill you, you will know it. You will sometimes then ask which one received the healing. You will then recognize those that I had sent.

"You will also feel when evil is present. You will feel the presence of evil as it will hit you as a wave sent to disorient and confuse you. This will be different than when I send you to someone that needs healing. I made it this way so that you will be able to understand the difference. There will be a difference when I complete My purposes in you.

"Now, be encouraged and have joy. Do not worry about provision as I will send you help. I love you, Erin, and I will give you peace. You are a worker, My worker, and I will provide for you. However, please do not ask Me how as, when I do this, you will never doubt Me again. Now enjoy this day. Rest and delight in Me. You are greatly loved."

Me: "I love You, Father! Thank You!"

God: I heard Him laugh. "You are welcome. Now rest!"

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You! Thank You for another day here. There are so many things to be thankful for that I could never name all of them before You. There are the things I could name which are known to me, as well as the things that are unknown or unseen to me. The unseen would include times when things came against me, my husband, my children, my friends, my animals or my household in which angels protected us.

There are things You stopped in front of Your Throne. This would include schemes by others made in secret which You divinely put a stop to. Oh Father, I am in tears today from being so thankful for You. Yesterday was only my third day of solid food. I ate some processed food last night and I became slightly sick from it. It seems that I can now eat solids, but I still need to be careful about what I eat.

Today is just a little after the third-year anniversary of mom's death on Yom Kippur 2015. I have had dreams with her in it and we were both around the same age of 25. I have also had dreams with her in it that all I did was follow and listen to her as she did her own thing. I miss her. I wish she could have lived here like she does today there.

I also miss my dad. I am not sure what his fate was. I believe that, since he too was in a coma, God may have called him there. However, I am not certain what this would have looked like. While he was cold to me and my brother, he seemed to have a compassion for others, but only when it served him. He would then boast of how he helped others even to the point of embellishing his acts.

My dad had an odd type of 'faith'...he had extreme faith in those who had money and was always striving for ways that men could bring him riches. He even stole my inheritance that had been promised to me by my grandparents. However, I did not grieve over this as I did not think I would ever actually see any of this. Even though I was the oldest grandchild, I rarely felt worthy in their eyes.

Father, thank You for removing my brother and me from a major enemy trap. I have seen what money or the promise of money does to people. This is clearly one of the enemy's favorite tool that he uses to keep a man from having a full relationship with You. My father was one of those men. He was one of those men that would expect something be given to him from those who 'have' even if he did not do anything for it.

I am thankful to You, Father, that You have removed me from performing for man like a 'trained seal'. I have not performed for anyone but you and my family these last few years and it has been so freeing. Working for my household is truly joyful because it is chore based and makes my heart glad. With my journal, communion with You is more rewarding than anything I have ever done in my life.

There has been nothing greater than my relationship with You, Father. You have used my life stories, my sorrows, my joys, my physical pain and my bridges to relate to others who have had the same struggles and joys I have had and I am forever grateful. Thank You, Father, for all of my amazing friends on the Nest as, without them, I surely would not feel such overwhelming love by their presence and by their prayers. Thank You!

The remnants of the Hurricane Florence came to our area yesterday. The winds and rain knocked down trees and caused us to have a loss of power for about ten hours or so. Losing personal comfort is humbling, even for as short a time as ten hours. So much of the time, we simply never pay attention to basic services like utilities. We take for granted modern conveniences like:

- Electricity
- Heat
- Water
- Cable or satellite television
- Internet
- A safe vehicle that runs
- Four road worthy tires
- Refrigeration for our perishable foods
- Fresh food
- Store houses of food in the pantry
- A reliable shelter over our heads
- Money in the bank

And these are just our daily provisions. What about losing major things that reduce us even further:

- Loss of a loved one such as a spouse, a parent or a child
- Loss of a friend, human or animal, such as pets
- Loss of mobility due to changes in physical health
- Loss of limbs
- A weakened heart
- A brain that can no longer remember
- Then there is breathing, swallowing, sight and hearing, just to name a few

Father, everyday I overlook all that You have done for me from the beginning to the end. You have done these things for me, but not just in my life, but also for my household and those around me in the world. I am so sorry for taking the things You do for granted. So much of the time when I am waiting I accidentally focus on what I do not have, cannot do, cannot go, miss doing or having and how much I have failed.

I am sorry, so very sorry! Help me to not focus on the troubles that I have just been through. I want to instead give thanks to You and to stay focused on Your promises and Your loving kindness. You are awesome in power and I am so grateful to still be here to see all that You have promised unfold. Though I feel pain in my head and body and my sight is sometimes blurry, I am still here and I can still see.

I can also now hold down bread, water and other foods. Despite my two brain tumors, I am still able to write. Thank You, Father! Thank You! Father, You are perfect. You are larger than all of life itself because You are the Creator of all of it. You are also nearby and hear us when we cry out to You. As for those caught in the desires of their flesh, they run and hide from You. I must admit that I have been there myself.

Running and hiding is pointless when we try to this with our omnipresent God. This is when He seems far from us, separated from us. A wise man is a man who desires a life close to God, God over all things of this world. Even when it seems like an eternity to get there, it took You no time at all to remove the Israelites out of Egypt. However, it then took forty years to remove Egypt out of the hearts of the Israelites.

Oh Father, thank You so much for my forty days of fasting. Thank You for Your guidance even as I stumbled through so much of it. It has been a difficult, difficult race and I am grieving today. My dream last night was a serious one and reminded me of similar dreams that I have had before...

Sub-dream 1 "Thankful for my two sons" begins...

My two sons were much younger, the ages they were almost 16 years ago, ages 3 and 5. They had very little understanding and fully relied on me. While I had tried to give them responsibilities similar to those normal children could do at their ages, they were unable to do these without great difficulty. In order for me to see their milestones, I had to stick to only things that they had interest in or I knew that they could do.

Unlike normal children without Autism Spectrum, I could not try new things with them. Everything had to be orderly and predictable or chaos would erupt. No matter how hard I tried, my friend's and family's children accelerated past both of them in abilities. I was trying to explain deep mysteries of the Bible to them, but it was slow and agonizing. It was painful and I felt exhausted when I woke up from this dream.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, this was an example of how difficult it is to bring us to harvest. However, it also reminds us of how incredibly patient You are with us and I am so thankful. If You had not given me these two boys to raise, my walk with You and my compassion and patience for others would not be where they are now. What a gift they have been in my life. I also had a second dream last night...

Sub-dream 2 "Avoiding the Air Strikes" begins...

I was with two of my friends in a foreign city that I had never been before. While I was not sure where this was, the architecture seemed like it was most likely somewhere in Europe. We were in this city for an important purpose. We were there to witness to five people, as well as several others. The city was soon to come under siege by ground forces after the enemy was done sending in air strikes.

We were in the area where both the first and second air strikes had come. The Lord then told me that there was a third air strike coming in just five minutes. I told those around me that God had sent me to witness and that they needed to believe me that they needed to take cover immediately. Of those around me, only two took heed and were the most unlikely of the bunch.

These two were the number 1 and number 2 kingpins of a major gang. What I found odd is that they both looked normal and had no tattoos or piercings visible. When I asked them about this, I discovered that they did this so that they could look normal and therefore be able to conduct business with business leaders in typical settings.

When the air strikes came, they were quite frightening and very real. Many were killed and wounded. There were a handful of God's warriors there, including me and my friends, and we were sent to comfort, heal and witness in His Name. God then gave me supernatural abilities that I am not to elaborate on in my writings in order to show the two kingpins that I was sent from Him and that I was not part of the strike force.

With this supernatural display, combined with all of the death these two could now see and knew that they had avoided by following me to the shelter, it was no surprise that they both were now quiet and willing to listen. I spoke with them for a short while and then they started to confess to all they had done. Both of them then chose to turn from their lifestyles of death to instead go to Jesus for healing.

All of us that were of God's army were there to be like a special ops group from God, from Heaven. None of us looked able until God rose up in us, welling up in us like a fountain. While the water from this fountain had only 'sputtered out' at the beginning, it was now flowing out mightily from us. God was now using us fully to minister to the unlikable and the unreachable. Sub-dream 2 over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again up in the beautiful meadow. While I was changed here in Heaven, my stomach was sick and my head hurt as I sat in my devotional chair on Earth. Here in Heaven and here with God, I am strengthened, healed and alive in Jesus.

Me: "Oh Lord, here I am again, sick and exhausted. I cannot wait for the day when we are healed like I am here...on Earth as it is in Heaven. Father, Lord, Jesus, please, please heal us soon. Please set us free to witness. Please set us free to operate in Your Will!"

Just then, I heard the Voice of God all around me and over me.

God: "Erin, I will do all that I have said that I will do! Now, rest and rejoice. Come into My dwelling place. Give Me your burdens and cast aside your prison clothes. Come and dine at My table. Drink from the cup of living water in front of you. Eat from the bread of life until you are full and then sing and dance like you did in your youth. Erin, I have invited you and will give you the desires of your heart.

"You will witness and will display awesome deeds in My Name. You will cause the wicked to confess and the lost will be found by Me. You will witness to My love, My mercy and My kindness. You will confound the heads of evil men and women and comfort those who are weak. You will be like a trumpet calling out to the blind to say 'this is the way, walk in this'.

"As the lost step out, the ground will shake, the mountains will lay low and the path will be smoothed and leveled right before them. Those who step out of the world and follow My call will find Me there and will witness to My works. Those who prefer the world will receive their payment in full and will perish. Now rejoice, Erin, rejoice as the times of the fulfillment of 'The Book of Mysteries' have come and very few see this.

"Wait on Me. Give this day to Me for My purposes. Rest...rest and take comfort. Rejoice, children, rejoice, for the One Who once walked there, My Son, My Son is coming. Pronounce the Good News because beautiful are the feet of those who bring Good News! I love you, Erin. Rest and rejoice this day for I am with you! Do not worry as I AM here!"

Communion

Dear Father,

I am so thankful to You! You love me and bless me despite my earthly desires. Who am I that You should love me so? Who are we that You should delight in any of us? You created us fully knowing that our earthly lives will be a struggle and that, more than likely, we would go our own way with rebellious hearts and sinful appetites.

To most, I should not even be considered for any special calling. To the world, I am a disappointment and a failure. However, Father, You see something in me that delights You. I am in awe of this. Please forgive me, Father, when I say flippant remarks against myself as, to me, I too feel as if I am a disappointment.

I know that to think or say these things dishonors You, my Father Who knit me in my mother's womb, so please forgive me! I can say this much with certainty...I was lost and I have now been found by You. I had wandered in my youth and You called me to You, saying 'Here is the way, child, walk in this.'

I felt abandoned and unloved and You took me in and loved me. You have taught me compassion for those who grieve, have lost, have suffered, have endured great pain or have been hungry or thirsty. I found I did not notice these things as much before as I had so much trouble of my own to focus on.

I could only dream of one day being free, whether in this life or in death. I felt something awaited us on the other side of death even though I really did not understand the eternal, the place You have prepared for those who love You. Father, I have been lost, exhausted, in great pain, unsettled and scared, but more so lately it seems.

Oh Father, our lives are facing great uncertainties. There has not been any open doors yet. We have done all that You have asked and are now waiting on You. Our lives will soon be in great turmoil if at least the promise of an open door does not come soon. As this would be contrary to Your promises, we continue to cling to what we know.

Oh Lord, while I know that You love us and will not abandon us, this has been a literal nail biter. This world needs Your miracles now and more so than ever. I now see things once thought to be terrible and horrifying becoming trendy and fully acceptable. There are now blasphemies against You and Your Bride everywhere.

Christians all over the world are now being openly killed for their beliefs. I just know in my heart that it will not be that long before these persecutions are everywhere. DNA kits are becoming increasingly popular and are being used to find out our various ancestry origins. I believe this is an attempt by the enemy to flush out those that You have kept hidden.

This recently landed close to home when a medical facility pressured me to have my blood tested for information about viability and illness. As I became sick just thinking about allowing this, I declined each time that I was asked. All I know is that we love You with our whole hearts, souls and strength and that You are never changing.

Oh Father, I am so sorry that I have been mad at You. I am sorry that I am scared right now...well, really scared. My children are all starting to want to go their separate ways now as they too are starting to lose hope. While they have not left You, I just think that they are becoming ready to take their own journeys.

While to hear my boys talk such big dreams makes me proud, I am also worried for them as they are truly unaware of their inability to read social cues. Oh Jesus, please bind this curse of autism and let this curse be removed in Your Mighty Name. It is just too much to bear seeing these young men with hearts like young boys face this harsh world unaware of what lurks beneath the surface.

Everyday for the last 7000 days or so since my youngest son was born, I have begged You for so many things concerning them...

- To keep these boys close to You.
- To let them grow up to be fine young Christian men that chase after Your heart.
- To help them to one day find loving Christian helpmates, lovely brides who will be great compliments to their lives.
- To help them to one day find gainful employment.
- To have the ability to heal others.
- To be able to defend the causes of the weak in Your Name.

I have done all that I can do which You have entrusted to me to love, nurture and grow Godly men. Now, Father, I give them to You as they were always Yours from the beginning. Please let them not be crushed in spirit as it is different for them than it is for a man with understanding.

Oh Father, I pray that I have not failed You. As my eyesight becomes worse, especially on some days, and my headaches become difficult to endure, I lose sight of Your promises. While I know better than to allow myself to do this, I still do, so please, please forgive me!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was standing in the beautiful Aspen Grove in Heaven. I was looking over the beautiful path made with chiseled stones and noticed that, instead of grout between each joint, there was soft green moss, as soft as animal fur. It was so beautiful. I was wearing a white linen tunic or dress and my feet were bare. They were lovely feet, no longer scarred from their years of use. As a small breeze was blowing, the aspen trees were making music. The beautiful leaves were shimmering in green and gold. I could see the small pool up ahead and it was bathed in a shining bright light like the sun. I picked up my pace and started to run down the path. As I drew closer, I saw Jesus standing there waiting for me. When I finally reached Him, I dropped to my knees and wept at His feet.

Me: "I am sorry, Lord, so sorry. I am losing hope now. When I dream that I am healthy and then wake up unchanged, it hurts so much. Every cell of my body hurts. As I already love You with all of my heart, what good could continuing this do?"

I felt His hand gently rest on my bowed head.

Jesus: "Erin, I am here. Allow Me to carry you. You are not alone. I have not abandoned you. Erin, I have not abandoned you."

My face was to the ground over my knees. I then felt Jesus pick me up into His arms.

Jesus: "Erin, your name means 'peace'. I am the Prince of Peace. You are My Bride in gold of Ophir (Psalm 45). I have chosen you. You did not choose Me. All you have, I have given you. All your friends, I have sent. All of your enemies, I have silenced.

"I know that you are tired. I know that you struggle and weep. I am pleased with you and your heart is Mine. I refined you in the fire of affliction and the dross has been removed from the surface."

I began to speak and He put His finger across my lips to 'hush me'.

Jesus: "I know, Erin, I know. I know."

I began to cry and even now as I write.

Jesus: "Stay with Me a bit more. Watch for Me. I come and I will not delay. I have prepared something for you that you would not believe. This will be for there, Erin, and will be like it is here in Heaven. This is how I have taught you to pray. There will be a final time and times before the great and terrible day when I will do all that I have said and the prophecies are fulfilled.

"Now, there will also be a terrible day for those who enjoy their blasphemies and lies. This will be a great time of shaking where the wicked will confess to those that I have called. It will be a period of vindication for you whom I have called, but also a time of exhaustion. It will be tiring and draining to be here knowing that you belong as a citizen in Heaven. I will strengthen and heal those I have prepared as My arrows.

"You will divide your time of service to Me between 'the lost' and 'communion, rest and prayer with Me'. You will do all things with no hesitation or fear for what comes as there will be My Voice in you and the Spirit of the Living God will be as one with you. You will hear from Me greater than someone that has fasted with no food for 40 days, yet you will still have the strength of an army of men.

"Now, Erin, there is a reason that I have shown you who you will be in your dreams. There is a reason that I have shown you who you will encounter, who will be humbled and who will turn. I know that this has been difficult, but, when you are as I have shown you in your dream state and changed in the physical, all things hidden will be revealed in a period of a few short days.

"This will be a time of great reconciliation, comfort and joy. You will then understand that you were called for a purpose. You will then forget your people and your father's house as the King is enthralled by your beauty. What I mean by this is that you will be called into service by Me and that you will need to let go of your former ways of thinking, those engrained in you by your family that is apart from Me.

"You will put away your prejudices, your notions and your will and you will put on the new garments that I have prepared for you. See, I have kept you hidden. Though they search for you to destroy you, they cannot find you because the King has called upon angels to guard you in the ways you should go.

"So here, Erin, even the part of you in pain and suffering is not considered. While your past, including your divorces, has disqualified you by those who see only your stains, they fail to recognize that you have been forgiven, set free and are now as white as snow to Me. Looking at you as the least, or similar to the worst like Hagar, has been the best thing to keep you for My purposes.

"Who but My Father, your Creator, and Me, your King, is better qualified to choose whom will be of service to the Throne, the Kingdom of Heaven? Who is better to love than those who have lost everything but have still been loved and carried by God? Do not worry, Erin, but rejoice for this is a glorious day that I have made for you. I love you!"

He reached over and kissed my forehead.

Jesus: "Erin, I will restore all that the enemy has stolen. I will reveal all that has been done in secret. I will comfort and strengthen you. God is within you and you will not fall. I will help you at the break of day. Be still, My arrow, and know that I am God! I love you!"

Jesus smiled at me as He reached over to gently hug me.

Communion

Dear Father,

I love You! Thank You, Lord, just thank You! The beautiful leaves outside my window are like flames of orange against a brilliant blue sky. It is dramatic and so inspiring that it is bringing tears to my eyes. I am thankful for all that we have. You have delighted me in too many ways for me to even try to list them all.

I am coming to realize that I have been like a child about lovely things my whole life. Your stunning nature simply takes my breath away. All of the little animals, Your little animals, bring tears to my eyes. All five of the wild turkeys came this morning. It was so good to see them again amidst the gun shots that I have heard in the distance.

I look around me and see the works of potters and artists. Their talents are truly like miracles everywhere. I sit in my lovely devotional chair and look out at Your amazing creations. I am so thankful for a husband who loves me and children who have seen Your miracles and believe.

Thank You for the Nest as well, Lord, for their love and support has meant so much and has kept me going. How blessed am I to have hundreds of people globally who pray for us? Though we have not met in the physical, it is like we have and they are part of a special family. Who am I to complain, Father? Well, I still do, so please forgive me.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was standing right there in front of me.

Jesus: "Oh Erin, I know that you are tired. However, even though you are tired, you still delight in Me. This pleases Me and My Father."

Me: "Lord, You have done so much. You have done so much more than I can even count and I cannot thank You enough. Please forgive me for complaining. I love our home and the little animals You have sent our way. I find so much joy in all of it.

"I never want to appear unthankful or ungrateful when You have lavished me with such beautiful things. I do not know what tomorrow holds, but, with You, my family and my friends at my side, I truly have everything. Oh yes...thank You also for opening a door for my husband. This means so much to us, so thank You."

Jesus: "You are welcome. I also forgive you for your complaining, Erin. However, you are not alone. There have been many a prophet that have come before Me asking for signs, for fulfillment, for protection and for mercy. They lived in fear of angry mobs. They lived in fear of My Words coming back void of truth and the mobs being proved right. This was confusing to them as none of them could see the bigger picture.

"Now, man was created to care for the Earth and the animals. However, sin is the great separator between good and evil. The mouths of the animals were then silenced and the relationship was gone. Men then had to battle the land as feeding off the land was now a constant struggle and still is for so many.

"Before this, all was taken care of and there were springs of fresh, healing water. There was also an abundance of food. This was man's reward as man was created to worship God with their whole hearts. Things of beauty can then bring opportunities to 'worth-ship', but only as long as the source of where this came from is never forgotten.

"When man decides to worship things that can break, burn or be stolen instead of the God Who created them, then forget their Creator in thanksgiving in exchange for something that does not breathe life into them, then I either give them over to their sinful desires or I break and remove that which caused the walls between us, their idols."

Me: "I love You, Lord. I know full well that everything in front of me will soon burn when the Earth is re-made. I have learned to not become attached to things, but rather just to my family and friends, but especially and more so to You, my Father and Creator.

"Lord, my body is turning against me right now and there is nothing I can do about it. Even resting hurts. I cannot get much sleep as even the pressure of my mattress now hurts when I lay down. The pain is so intense that it even makes me bring up my meals at times. Well, I guess 'no pain, no gain', right, Lord?"

Jesus: "Soon, Erin, very soon..." He smiled and laughed as He knew that I had no gauge for the time He speaks of. "...and yes, I know that I have said this to you before. Now, I will do all that I have promised. I love you. Even though your wait has continued, you have not cursed Me and turned. Instead, you have pressed into Me even more."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but I have still been complaining to You about our wait. My heart has been hurt by this as You are my friend and I know that You could heal me in an instant if You wanted to. I watch for You in all things. I love You with my whole heart. I am broken before You and in such great pain. Given this, I guess I still do not really understand why You will not remove at least part of the great pain I am in."

Jesus: He looked into my eyes with an indescribable empathy. "Oh Erin, I have a reason for this. Can you please just trust Me a bit longer?"

Me: "Yes, Lord." I smiled and laughed. "I am not going anywhere...well, at least not without You!"

Jesus: "Then cling to this scroll and My Words as nothing spoken by Me or written will return void. Rejoice, Erin, rejoice. Continue on your course and care for that which I have entrusted to you. Have faith in Me that I will do all that I have promised. Trust Me for a record harvest in due season.

"Now, I have you, so do not worry. Rejoice and delight in Me as I am the Living God, your Groom and your Friend. Before you, there is no other God." He smiled and laughed. "I will send gifts ahead to delight you as I will lavish My Bride."

Me: "I love You, Lord, with my whole being. You are my greatest gift and treasure."

Jesus: "You are My Bride in gold of Ophir. Though you have been refined in the fire of affliction, you are still here with Me. See, I am doing a new thing. Do you not perceive this? You have knocked and I have opened the door before you." He smiled. "Do not hover in the hallway as I am calling out to you. I am here. Enter...enter!"

Isaiah 43:1-21 came to me. I read it and cried. I am so thankful to God, to You, Father, for everything in my life!

Dream 306 – Jesus and why we could not have been healed until now

Communion

Dear Father,

I love You! You have called me friend, but, even more importantly, You are my Dad. You know me. Father, I have been crushed. I have been so sick. I have been weak and exhausted. For the first time in my life, I have relinquished my chores. At times, I can no longer even do just the basics, things that give me value.

I cannot digest food very well and I have been dealing with a horrible bitter taste in my mouth. I have somehow now developed a lump on my back left side the size of an orange. It is a hernia or some other type of frightening thing. It seems that, for some reason, my body is under attack and there is a battle raging, a war with no winners.

Father, I have been mad at you and I am sorry. I am so sorry. I cried and cried on Thursday night. I lost my balance and had stomach queasiness. I had the chills and then the sweats. My skin went quickly from bright red to pale white. It was like the days when I had pancreatitis, but still not as bad. I went to lie down, but lying down only made me feel worse. There was no relief. I sat in bed, Father, and I cried out to You. I do not understand any of this. I know my blood pressure goes up with the pain, but I just do not understand all of it. It has been impossible to get in front of someone who can help. This is because this is right where You have me for now.

But why, Father, why? Did I do something wrong? Did I anger You? Are You now deciding that I am no longer going to see Your promises here? Oh Father, please do not forget about me. The trouble throughout the nations has increased beyond what I thought could be possible in such a short period of time.

When we were in Houlton, Maine on Friday, there was shooting between a man and some officers at the U.S.A. Canada border. It was serious enough that the border crossing was closed for most of the day. While doing our errands, we witnessed a most unusual event. We watched as a car from Canada was pulled over by customs agents.

My husband and I then sat there in stunned silence as two women were asked to come out of their car. These two women looked like Apostolic Christians or Mennonites. They were then searched right there in front of us and put into handcuffs. These women were easily in their late 60s, but there they were...being arrested. Shortly after being put into custody, their brand new, beautiful car was impounded.

I later inquired about this incident with some people we have known in the area for the last four years and they believed it all pointed to the legalization of marijuana in Canada. Apparently there has been a huge uptick in trouble for all of the states bordering with Canada. It was madness, complete madness.

I could not believe they had used the disguise of a religious group to carry out smuggling. They truly looked like the real deal. Who would suspect older women of doing this? There was no way to copy this kind of specialized dress without a huge effort. In my heart, I felt that they were doing this for money. Anyway, nothing was ever mentioned of this in the news – neither the shooting or the problems with smuggling.

Father, I also believe that the man who sent out the pipe bombs was somehow threatened or paid to do it to get sympathizers for the left side's agenda. If these bombs were real, then at least a few of them would have exploded. It is one of the few times that I truly believe this was a 'false flag' event. There were so many troubling things around the timing of this that I was left shaking my head in amazement!

I then noticed that the media was claiming that the 'bomber' was Caucasian. However, when I saw photos of him later on, he looked more like so many of the Seminole Indians I knew in Florida from many years ago. This did not make sense. His van was also decal'd with so many things pro-Trump, anti-Democrat, it felt rigged, kind of like the left wing saying, 'could we make this anymore obvious that we are the victims here'.

Then there is the news of the crazy man going into the Tree of Life Synagogue in Pittsburgh and killing 11 Jewish people yesterday. While murdering them, he spouted out hateful things such as 'Death to the Jews'. While I am glad that at least this story received coverage, what about the coverage on the rhetoric that seems to be covered on the right side, but not on the left side.

Quite simply, and as just one example of many, the media completely ignores 'Reverend' Farrakhan, a 'preacher' who refers to the Jewish people as 'cockroaches who need to be killed'. What? Seriously? These things are allowed and then we are shocked when hate is then carried out. This is all truly disgusting and it is hard for me to watch the 'unbiased news' that is constantly being 'twisted for our viewing pleasure'.

Oh Father, while, at times, our President makes me squirm in discomfort, I know that You have placed him there. This must be Your Will or he would not be President...plain and simple. As Trump stands up for the Jewish people and Israel, I will, in turn, stand up for those who You have appointed.

I suppose it is just that I am still somewhat in complete disbelief at the times we are now in.

Then there was the whole process of confirming Brett Kavanaugh to the Supreme Court. The media used this opportunity as a feeding frenzy against him. Whether what happened to Dr. Ford actually happened or not is not the issue here. I feel the true issue is what has happened to someone being 'innocent until proven guilty'. The left-wing media was doing the opposite, trying to make him have to prove his innocence, 'guilty until proven innocent'.

The other thing that bothers me is the term 'sexual assault' as it is being used in the media these days. The generalization here is so broad that you no longer know if someone was 'brutally raped' or if someone had their 'buttocks squeezed'. Yes, I agree that no one should have their 'buttocks squeezed' without your permission, it is certainly not even close to the category of 'brutally raped', yet the same title is now used.

If this generic wording had been used back in my days in college as a waitress, I could say I have been 'sexually assaulted' hundreds of times. The generic term here is so general that it is almost like someone who has 'cried wolf' one too many times and people blank out or don't take the words 'sexually assaulted' seriously anymore. The public is then desensitized and the hardened criminals are not sentenced justly.

Well, Father, You are a just judge, THE Just Judge! You see all things. You know truth from lies. Please expose all of the liars. These people out there are making all of us afraid to speak. Movies from just five years ago were completely offensive, but, in humor, things were still permissible. However, now, Father, things are removed because things offend.

Even so, it is still okay for certain groups of people to say what they want. Everything comes from a root history of offense which is now uncovered to use as weapons against those whom the enemy wants silenced. The liberal media would even have us believe that the worst thing for the U.S.A. is to have protection at our borders.

Father, there is a large group of people coming from South America that will soon try to illegally cross our southern borders. This would further weaken the U.S.A. and would fit in with the enemy's plans. The enemy would like the U.S.A. destroyed, along with Israel. In my heart, I believe that this group of 4000 people are being sent by some very rich and powerful people. This could result in the following scenario...the midterm election could be won by the Democrats. They will then 'let them in' and open our borders. This would then make all of us, even the working poor, have to pay for all of this. Then any group seeking asylum will be let into the U.S.A. without background checks. Once in the U.S.A. in sufficient numbers, these people will permeate the land and pillage it.

What many people are not aware of is that there are already 'safe zone' areas set up in the U.S.A. for Muslims in which U.S.A. law has no jurisdiction. These areas are 'gated' and no one in our government is entitled to know what is happening there. No one talks about this other than the contractors and workers who helped set these zones up. I heard this first hand from someone who sent classified items there.

If you want to see our future of continuing to allow all of this within our borders, look no further than to Europe. It is not good there. In fact, it is horrible. Then laws will be set up to allow hoards to use both Canada and Mexico as landing strips for the continued 'soft invasion' of the U.S.A. Only three years ago, I dismissed all of this as being impossible. Now, however, I feel that this 'not happening' is impossible.

The next step will surely be to remove guns from the hands of American citizens. This will then reduce or eliminate any future resistance. There are also other items on their agenda that will be encouraged, including anything that involves anti-procreation, including beefing up abortion, and encouraging same sex relationships. Watch any Hollywood movie and almost all have a message that the Earth is now 'overcrowded'.

The agenda will also encourage and further the assault against marriage, having children and the sanctity of the family. Sons will turn away from their fathers and fathers will turn away from their sons. It is okay to dress as the opposite sex. It is okay to legally identify with anything you want, including animals and even cartoon characters. Anyone who expresses concern on this are labeled haters and face increasing danger.

The other thing that is also becoming increasingly widespread by design is the DNA testing kits. While they would have us think that this would give us information we would find interesting, there is little doubt that this is all being entered into a giant system of information on each of us to use later. This is all meant to gather information, intelligence, on who you really are.

Father, do I now have to burn everything I just wrote down above? Am I now being controversial by what I have written or observed? If the Republicans win the midterms, there will be wars at our borders versus open borders. Entire states might even annex themselves. Other than You, Father, who knows what will happen? It just seems to me that so many are furious that Trump won that it has divided the country, if not the world.

It is like all rational thought has been removed by madness, like 'mad cow disease', only it is now 'angry donkey disease'. When I was a registered democrat, which I had been for the majority of my life, we seemed to be on the side which was 'for the least of these' in society. We took care of the lost, the poor and the disadvantaged. We believed in taxes to govern and keeping our schools with hot lunch, head start and other programs.

We believed that all of these together would help provide a level playing field and to keep all of us more even. It used to be more middle-class friendly as we lived in a country where there were industries and jobs. It seemed like the democrats were kinder and listened to the other side. Perhaps we did not agree, but we at least agreed that everyone had a right to freedom of speech.

When I say freedom of speech, this even included when offensive things happened. We believed for equality, freedom and justice. I remember not that long ago, just literally five years ago, when news was a place where I could tune in and see or hear what was happening in the U.S.A. and the world today. I could actually also get information on weather (God's power) and highlights of major sports events.

Along with this, they would usually include one sweet special interest story. This happened to be the only time during the news where I would hear or see the news anchor's personal opinions or thoughts. As for today however...just WOW! There is massive editorial now in place of the facts that I used to form my own personal thoughts on at one time.

There used to be freedom to choose my direction based on the two sides presented evenly during the reporting. Here, my thoughts mattered and so too did my ability to choose right from wrong based on the truth of facts only. If anything was reported incorrectly, the news would state an apology and issue a retraction. Anyone involved with this false or misleading information was usually blacklisted from all news media.

Quite simply, there is no integrity in news today. There is a direct agenda of trying to persuade those listening to match the agenda of the desired result. Instead of facts presented for the audience to conclude, they are doing all of that themselves 'for our good'. As just one example, is the Trump Whitehouse really guilty of colluding with Russia? Well, that is not a headline backed by the facts.

This is instead meant to draw out anyone who might have something to back this desired outcome with hidden narrative based on lies. This was not how I was taught. I was taught in college that a story is not a story until all the facts are presented. While there are still shows like 20/20, 60 Minutes and others that at least try to show equal weighting and then follow up, this is becoming rarer by the day

Instead, everything is now meant to deceive us. Why do I have to tune into a right-leaning news channel to hear the horrible threats of bodily harm from democratic leaders to trigger the 'mobs' to make it so a republican cannot even enjoy a nice and quiet meal with their family anymore? I then tune into the 'other channel' to hear them claim that only the republicans are doing this name calling.

Could you imagine a person threatening or suggesting that the President be beheaded in the past? This would have been labeled treason and instigation and the person charged of terrorist acts against the nation's leader. Clearly something is horribly wrong as a person did this in our current climate and was praised for their commentary and insight into the 'real issues'. What? My dreams have been so disturbing lately...

Sub-dream 1 description begins...

The nations were now promoting and advocating the demonic. Waves and waves of armies of the darkness were coming out from crevices. There were so many coming out that they looked like locusts even though they were human. There was so much hate that all things good were now gone.

All of the lights had grown dim. While the sun had become extremely hot, everything else had very little power, like a microwave at 50%. Half of all the neighborhoods were either completely dark or dimly lit at night.

There was lawlessness as the darkness was clearly winning. All things abhorrent were now permissible and acceptable. I saw massive groups of Wiccans assigned to various grids throughout the world. The men were effeminate and their lips were the same color as their skin. It was really creepy.

I also saw horrible sacrifices of innocent things, both humans and animals. It was so horrible that I cannot even talk about it. I felt in my heart that these things were even starting to happen now. I saw groups of teenagers and there were very few that had no piercings or tattoos.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

I recently went through a drive through and noticed that the young man had full on women's makeup. He was watching people closely to see who would react. When it came to my turn, I made sure that I did not react at all. I didn't bite.

I then later noticed a very large woman at a different store. She had put bones through her skin and up her arms. I then saw piercings of bones threaded through her neck. For some reason, I became ill and had to leave the store. I just knew this was God having me leave. I knew that I could not make a complaint as I would then be labeled 'hater'.

Sub-dream 2 description begins...

I saw a mother feeding a baby at a restaurant. Even though the baby wanted 'baby food', the mom kept trying to make the baby eat steak. This was impossible as the baby was only six months old and barely had any teeth. The baby kept choking. The baby was crying as he or she clearly wanted milk or pudding instead. I felt powerless as I clearly had no power to stop it in this situation.

Father, there is no 'safe place' for any of us anymore. Please raise up Your people. Please let Your truth prevail. 2 Timothy 3 about wickedness came to mind. Oh dear, dear Jesus, You are our God, our Savior and our Friend. No matter what, I choose to stand for You. I thank You for the life You have given me. I thank You for this difficult race, including my divine detours and delays.

You have not given me a life of comfort. Perhaps this is because You wanted to see if I would mix things up a bit during times of Your silence or uncertainty and build a 'Golden Calf' of impatience. Well, Lord, I have come this far. I have given my entire life to You. While my children get disappointed when they think You should do things quicker, they still continue to wait. Lord, they wait.

Oh Father, please have mercy on us soon. Sometimes when we wait, a day might as well be a month. For us to wait a month sometimes feels like 365 days. It is just the way we are, but especially our children, children that are doing their best to wait patiently. Oh Lord, please do not forsake those of us who pursue you, those of us who love You.

I see my doctor for further tests tomorrow. I will then travel to see the neurosurgeon about the tumors in my brain on Thursday. I am also waiting to have a specialty test scheduled for flying out on Sunday, but am still waiting for confirmation. Oh yes...one other item. My husband and I are meeting with my daughter's teacher at the Christian school they are attending. We are meeting with him to understand his beliefs.

More specifically, this man is teaching the kids at the school that the Old Testament is nothing more than a metaphor and none of it is true. By doing so, he is trying to erase Creation, Enoch and Elijah. No David? No Israelites? How can this be? It cannot be possible. This is the same teacher that had the students do an unusual exercise around two weeks ago or so.

He had all of the children in the school put their heads down and close their eyes. He then asked for a raise of hands of those who would stand for God against opposition and proudly proclaim Jesus as their Savior. Only eight kids out of forty kids raised their hands, of which two kids were our daughters. How can this be? Who will take the Name of Jesus?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in a beautiful meadow and, over me, was the night sky and millions of stars. The moon was also there and looked different than here, so much more beautiful. The stars and constellations were so clear and bright. The stars were in many different colors. I could also see the Milky Way and it was so bright that I could see everything in amazing detail.

On the lawn before me was a beautiful rug. It was thick and the design was incredible. There were large, fluffy pillows in white. I went over and sat down on the rug. I soon decided to lay down, using one of the pillows, and looked up into the sky.

The beautiful pillow was so comfortable that it was as if my head was resting on a cloud. It was designed perfectly by God for me. I was wearing a long white tunic and linen pants. As I continued to lie down and stare up at the beautiful sights of Heaven, tears started to stream down my face onto the pillow.

Me: "Thank You, Lord, thank You. I love You."

I was so relaxed and comfortable, I soon drifted off to sleep. When I awoke, it was now near the break of dawn. Something had been nudging me to wake up. I opened my eyes and there was my beautiful foal. She was now a bit older than when the Lord had given her to me. She was excited to see me awake and began to jump around and race through the meadow.

I was laughing as I watched her stop to smell some purple Irises. Some beautiful butterflies then appeared and she began to chase them. I then watched the butterflies gather together and begin to chase her. It was then that I noticed that she had riding gear that appeared like a crown. After running away from the group of butterflies, she stopped right in front of a massive fruit tree.

She then stood on her hind legs and tried to reach a fruit. She soon became distracted by a mother bird and her babies in a nest on one of the branches. She then went to the trunk of the tree and rubbed her side against it in the hope that a fruit might fall. I was laughing, but then noticed that I caught myself wishing that I had her youth and energy.

Finally, there was some success and a fruit dropped from the tree. She picked the fruit up and started walking it over to me. She dropped it on the blanket and nudged it towards me, wanting me to take a bite. I took a bite and then gave the rest to her.

Me: "Here you go. The rest is for you."

The foal then laid her head down next to me. I patted her soft fur as she rested.

Me: "Where is the Lord?"

I then heard His voice behind me.

Jesus: "I am here, Erin. Did you rest well?"

My foal immediately rose up and so did I. I quickly went over to embrace Him.

Me: Crying. "I love You, Lord. I am scared. It is harder now. I am sorry that I have been mad at You. While I am angry down there, everything becomes perfect while I am here with You and my anger disappears."

Jesus: Laughing. "Hmm, so you are mad at Me? What did I do now?"

Me: "No, Lord, it is what You haven't done. I am not a very good witness. My husband and I stood next to two people who hate me. I do not understand it. It is so ridiculous as I have never done anything to them, yet this woman has said horrible things about me. Lord, I felt so sick while we were there as well. I do not know for sure, Lord, but I would think this would be a really good time for..."

I began looking around for a piece of paper. I then took this piece of paper and rolled it into a scroll. I then began to tap the 'scroll' into my hand while I smiled at Jesus. He soon began to laugh at my antics as I was clearly 'mocking', in a joking manner of course, His scroll with my promises from Him.

Jesus: Still laughing. "Oh wonderful. Please read your contract of promises to Me. When are your promises to be fulfilled?"

Me: Sighing. "I am sorry, Lord, but I just thought that a gently reminder might help."

Jesus: "Hmm, do you think that I forget and I need you to help jog My memory? No, Erin, I can assure you that I am fully aware of the times and season. You must also know that I am fully aware of your state...oh yes...and the state of the nations. There is nothing to wonderful for Me or beyond My reach. As you look for Me in everything, Erin, would I therefore not long to heal you and dry up your tears.

"The enemy has been granted no new permissions from My Father's Throne, from God in Heaven. Victory has also been granted to you, along with these promises, this contract..." He brought out His scroll of promises for me, His contract. "Now, and as you can see, all is in order as it is written." He smiled. "Okay, Erin, it is now time to open your scroll with your promises for Me."

Me: "Lord, I know this is blank..."

He smiled and motioned for me to unroll this anyway. I did. To my absolute surprise, the sheet of paper was no longer blank. I could not help but laugh. I then took a closer look at what 'my scroll' had written on it.

"I, Erin, promise to love the Lord, my God, with all my heart, with all my soul and with all my mind...and...I shall love my neighbor as myself."

Me: Laughing. "I do love You, Lord. You are everything to me. I do not have a Golden Calf made even though it is taking so long to see all of Your promises. This last bridge, my eighth bridge, has been my greatest as it has been my time of closeness to You. It has been a miracle, Lord. You are the greatest gift and my hidden jewel. You, in my life, is more valuable than all the riches in the world. I am thankful, so thankful, for You, Lord!" I reached over and hugged Him.

Jesus: "So, what if I chose not to heal you?"

Me: "In terms of me chasing after You, it would not matter as I would still chase after You. However, I also know that You would not go against Your promises. If this happened, I would still chase after You, but I would start to doubt that I am actually hearing from You as I am not to contradict who You are or Your Word."

Jesus: "Very good, Erin. I asked you because this was the case that went before God in Heavenly Courts concerning the Bride. The enemy asked to grind you on the threshing floor as wheat. His theory and case before he was cast out was that the Bride, in great pain, would eventually give up and follow him. He was quite certain this would happen with your children and those who call you friend as well."

Me: "Wow, so sifting wheat as with Peter was not enough. He thought crushing us into wheat flour was best. Hmm, this is horrible."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, do not worry. The enemy holds all of you in contempt of court. He believes that none of you are worthy as My Bride. He believes that you would all be better off as his bride, understand? My Bride is seemingly being crushed and disheartened. However, do not worry as soon, Erin, very soon, I will call upon you with great clamor and you will all rise up and be healed and strengthened.

"Right now, there is wave after wave of evil pounding the nations. There is also wickedness in churches and many unclean abominations are ministering there. They are teaching that I am the God Who accepts all sin as I am the God Who grants permission to sin. They teach that I am the all-loving God no matter how great their sin. So, where is this written? It is not!

"My Father is sending storms across the land to soften it. I am the Good Farmer, and you, My Bride, work for Me, tending to My fields, crops and harvest. Despite the storms, the people are defiant instead of the people being humbled by God's judgment.

"Times are even more difficult now as parents without understanding of the Word of God is allowing the church or school to teach their children. As you are discovering, something else other than truth is being taught and these are a false narrative. This is being taught by those who truly believe that they are right. Many are falling away.

"You have been hurt by your old church family as they used false doctrine against you. You left there and did not go back because I did not want you defiled there, understand? While there are still good churches, many pastors sent and appointed by Me to lead as shepherds to My sheep instead have now left the gate open for the wolves to devour them by day and by night.

"A building does not house Me. There is no ark to house God. I am free in you, Erin. I dwell in My tabernacle in each of you, understand? Soon, I will well up in you like springs of living water. The vessels I have created will then pour out to the thirsty with the Gospel, My Word of Truth. You will be hated, but the enemy will be unable to come against you.

"You will be like My 'secret service', which will really be more like a loud army in My service. Your joy will crush the wicked and you will quench the thirst of the parched whom I will send you to. You will see storms, but you will observe them only and rescue those whom I call you to.

"Now, I know that you are crushed in spirit. I will care for you, so do not worry. Go to your appointments that I have called you to. There will be more than enough evidence to support your current state." He smiled. "Do not worry! I am with you.

"Today, the stronghold of the enemy's test has been lifted and the time constraint given has ended. You will receive a thousand-fold more as My recompense for you is with Me. I love you, Erin." He smiled and hugged me.

Communion

Dear Father,

I am in so much pain. Every part of my body hurts. It hurts to breathe, it hurts to write and it even hurts to lay down. I have realized that there are two things in life that make it so nothing else matters. What I mean is that these are the times when we suddenly realize that we cannot control what happens around us and we have lost the sense that anything else matters...

1. An encounter of heavenly proportions, such as an NDE or divine encounter from God or His heavenly angels. This is the sudden reality that only God matters!
2. Pain so great that it removes the memory of what once was life without it. There is also a tragedy, a great loss, which again causes such deep grief. Again, this makes it so what happens around you simply does not matter. Only the loss, the great pain of loss, searing pain and grief brings us to our knees before God.

Father, my dreams last night seemed to have a common theme...

Sub-dream 1 description begins...

I was in my youth again, but on Earth, not in Heaven. I was running and laughing, but never taking the time to truly enjoy or appreciate it. I lacked depth. I lacked wisdom. I took for granted my health, joy and physical strength. I then was made old again...

While I was now wiser and appreciative for the small things, I was now in poor shape and could not enjoy it fully. I wanted so much to bring joy to my kids. I prayed that I could create good memories in the little things. I prayed that I had raised children who love Jesus.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Oh Father, if it is Your Will for You to continue to allow my pain, I will accept it. However, I come to You in truth that I am not enjoying this and long for something better, even if it is just for a short time. We must leave soon as my husband will be without income in just a month. I am worried. What will happen to us?

Father, I had a vivid dream last night...

I was once again preparing for my wedding. However, even though there were many people around me, not one suspected that I was to be the bride. When someone would see me making preparations for the wedding, they would come up and ask 'where is the bride? Who is she?'. I would then reply that I was not to reveal who she was at this time.

After all had been prepared for the wedding, I decided to try on dresses for my wedding. There was a place where various vendors had gathered with their most beautiful bridal gowns. For some reason, they had all gathered at someone's house.

I soon found a beautiful blue slip dress that goes under the wedding gown and put it on. When I came out into the room with this slip on in order to meet the various bridal gown vendors and try some dresses on, all of the people gasped. I was surprised at their reaction as this slip was extremely modest.

Me: Laughing. "Do not worry, this is just an undergarment. I will be putting my wedding gown over this."

As they were still looking at me in shock and disbelief, I decided to go and look at myself in the full-length mirror they had set up for the venue. This time I was the one who gasped! I had been changed and the dress I was wearing was stunning. I heard voices from various people in the waiting room that I should get married in this.

Me: Laughing. "I actually already have the perfect white wedding dress waiting for me."

Just then, I heard a shout from some of the vendors from the back of the home I was in. I wanted to know what was happening, so I walked towards the back of the house. It was all windows. I walked out of the home and into the wooded area in the back. The landscaping was amazing and I saw the most beautiful birds I had ever seen.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Oh Father, this wooded area and the birds were simply breathtaking. While this was on Earth, it was as if it was in Heaven. It was as if I could see Heaven from here. For lack of a better way to describe this, it was as if Heaven was now on Earth. What an amazing venue this would be for our wedding, our Transformation!

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for the Nest, our 'cyber-family'. Thank You for our physical home and sending in angels to protect our children while we were away. I thank You also for keeping us safe on our travels and protecting us narrowly from the storms which threatened so many. Father, my dreams last night were very odd...

Sub-dream 1 "The Redwoods become collectibles" description begins...

I was in the northern California area. It was in the middle to end of November. I had traveled there with my family to a familiar town that was near some redwoods. There were signs which read 'Fresh Greenery for the Holidays'. We then followed some more signs that led us to a loading dock. There were wholesale floral dealers from all over the world purchasing sprigs, branches and wreaths, as well as firewood in bundles. While there were garlands and swags for sale, no Christmas trees were being sold. I came up to a sales agent that was sprucing up the shelves.

Me: "Excuse me, but why is this sale happening?"

Seller: "Where have you been?"

Me: "Forgive me. I am not from around here."

Seller: "Do you recognize this greenery?"

Me: "It smells like redwood..."

Seller: "Since the fires are coming, we have been sent to dismantle and sell off these old trees."

Me: "But they are going to shrivel up and die anyway. You have cut them down. Are they not already dead?"

Seller: "Yes. However, so many would still like to buy them for personal décor before they burn in the fires."

Me: "Why do they not stop the fires instead?"

Seller: "The fires have been sent by God. Who can stop them?"

Since I agreed with him on this point, I saw no reason to continue asking him questions. As I looked over the items for sale, I was amazed at the prices.

Me: "Wow, these are really expensive."

Seller: "Yes, but they will be triple the price or more next week. Consider yourself early, where early is good as greater is your savings."

While I still felt uncomfortable doing so, I decided to purchase a wreath and two long garlands for $120. As soon as I finished purchasing them, the seller promptly moved on to the next customer by yelling out 'Next!' I just shook my head.

Behind me was a massive group of Asian brokers. They were portioning out various items and offering the seller a premium. I overheard someone hitting a massive bell and it made a similar sound to the bell that is used to open the market on Wall Street. I then suddenly heard some great cheering. The Chinese had just bought up all of the inventory. Not only that, they had also bought up all of the land as well.

This seemed suspicious to me as the sellers were not the owners of the land. As we began to leave, an Asian broker came up to us and asked to purchase the items we had just bought. He held up four fingers on his right hand and slammed it down onto his open left hand. While I was not sure, I believe that he was wanting to pay me four times the price that we had just paid. I sighed as the seller was coming up to me to talk again.

Seller: "Listen, they own all of this now. Not only that, but now they want yours too."

Me: "No thank you. We will be keeping ours."

Seller: "Lady, be nice to them as you might soon be answering to them."

Me: "No! I only answer to God in Heaven and Jesus."

Seller: "Don't anger them. You are insulting him by not agreeing to his price."

Me: "I am insulted as these are not for sale."

Seller: "You have no clue what you are doing. They even now own this land that you stand on."

Me: "No! God owns it. It is His and we answer to Him only."

The Asian man then became so enraged by this that I just knew that there had to be much more to this than what I knew. He started to lunge at my neck with his hands. I could see in his crazed eyes that he was clearly ready to choke the life out of me. I closed my eyes, braced myself and prayed to God to send help.

Just then, my husband came around the corner and slammed his foot onto the ground. A wave of supernatural force came towards us in a wave. While this wave did not affect me, it nearly knocked the others in the room over. The land then immediately began to shake. When those around us saw that the shaking was not affecting me or my husband, they knew it was supernatural and quickly retreated.

Sub-dream 2 "A 'Thousand Oaks' begin to burn" description begins...

I was overlooking some hills covered in grand and massive beautiful oak trees. Their trunks were very wide. As I stood there gazing at them, I noticed a large boulder at the base of one of them. I went to sit on it, but quickly realized that it was hollow and made of resin from the trees. It was a 'movie prop'.

I shook my head at myself because I had just been fooled into believing this rock was solid and heavy. Just then, a sudden wind came up and the pretend solid rock prop was taken up and blown into the sea. I could not help but laugh and shake my head again. However, what happened next was very strange.

The oaks began to become twisted and gnarled. The way the trunks were twisting was almost as if they were giant human torsos twisting. The land was barren and dry now. Long dried grass now surrounded the oak trees as there was no water.

Soon there were also no leaves and no beautiful abundant branches for shade. Instead there were now just hollow dead trees. As I looked around, I knew that there were thousands of these hollow dead trees. The winds soon picked up and I saw something in the night sky that looked like a spark.

As it got closer, I now knew it was a small spark that was swirling in the wind. Once the spark landed, the entire area ignited so quickly that I simply could not believe it. The oak trees were now burning quickly and the smell was awful. I turned away from the sight of it.

When I turned back, it was the first time that I noticed that the oak trees were in a type of V-position. They were now burning in a 'wave pattern'. I saw the distinct outline of three hills. The wind was being controlled by a mighty angel. While I feared for the safety of all those around these forests, I had no fear for myself as I knew that God was with me and would not allow me to be harmed.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Sub-dream 3 "The Treasures of the Saints" description begins...

I was given a very large skeleton key, along with an address. I decided to drive to the address. As I pulled up to this place, I noticed that it was a massive brick industrial building with a metal roof and a very thick wooden door. As I approached the door, I could hear voices and cheering, along with some music. As soon as I turned the key in the lock, the sounds disappeared.

I began to open the door very slowly. Just as I did, I heard a bell sound and saw something drop. When I looked closer, there on the floor was an envelope with a seal. The light was so faint that this is all I could see. When I turned back towards the door, I saw a massive hand switch. I knew from watching cartoons that switching this on would cause the lights to go on in succession. I laughed as they did just that.

I stood there in complete awe as there, right before me, was a collection of antiques, artifacts and paintings from two thousand or more years old up to the present. They were from all over the world. While I am not an expert, I know enough to know that the contents of this warehouse were priceless. I opened the seal of the envelope and read it out loud...

"Before you are the belongings stolen from the saints. All were enslaved, murdered or persecuted publicly for their faith. They too have waited for justice. Erin, take care of what was stolen and know that I promise soon I will come and My recompense is with Me."

Sub-dream 3 description over...

I don't understand, Lord. Who robbed them? Why is everything here as it has no value in Heaven? Dear Father, this relic room makes no sense to me. It seems like it is a room of idols, not treasures stored up in Heaven. I am not sure of these other dreams either except oaks represent righteousness.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in Heaven on the stone porch area in Jesus' Heavenly Home. I went to use the massive knocker. Before I could finish knocking, the door opened. An angel of the Lord was standing in front of me.

Angel: "Please enter, Erin. You are welcome."

I stepped into the amazing stoned entry and again noticed the beautiful woven rug from my past visits.

Me: "I remember this!"

I looked around in awe. Lamps were lit, yet had no electric cords running to them. Lamps were lit without electricity! The furnishings here were much more comfortable and inviting than anything I have ever seen on Earth. For the first time, I then noticed that there were beautiful stone shelving units with crystal shelves. They were self-illuminating and were absolutely beautiful.

As I looked around some more, I was in awe that everything was warm and handcrafted and not at all 'pretentious'. I saw small rustic wooden pieces. These were quite simple and not valuable to most. I also saw some very elaborate pieces. These would be priceless in today's standards.

Me: "I see more around me now than I have in past visits. What does this all mean?"

Angel: "Erin, all that God has here are things that were dedicated to the Lord for His purposes. These items on Earth were stolen, destroyed or plundered after the death of the craftsmen. These are the items that have been restructured by angels or remade by craftsmen here. These are not idols to God, but instead, as a loving Father, He displays the good works of His children.

"Things on Earth rarely last thousands of years. It is rare that a material item can withstand the harsh elements, even if it were buried. Fabrics are quickly destroyed by moths, water or wear. However, here in God's House, they are perfected by the measure of the craftsmen's hearts for God."

Me: "You are right. Things do not last long on Earth."

Angel: "The only 'thing' meant to last on Earth is the Word of God. So it was in the beginning, so it will be in the end. The treasures should be stored in Heaven and not on Earth. A man's identity is not measured by his wealth or accomplishments here. Erin, it is the heart that God treasures."

Me: "Oh angel, what were the meanings of the dreams I just wrote down?"

Angel: "Come, God requests your presence."

I was immediately in the courtyard in the center of Jesus' Home. While I could not see Him here, I could feel His presence. The angel walked me over to the clock and calendar of God. While I had not been here in a while, I quickly noticed that the events were moving very quickly. Tears began to stream down my cheeks. I suddenly felt a rumble. I looked up and there, over the courtyard, was a cloud.

God: "Erin, do not be afraid. I am the God of Justice and My scales are fairly weighted. You mourn those whom have sacrificed so much for My sake. They had lost their families, their reputations and even their lives to stand for Me. As the world rapidly decays, they plead 'How long, God? How long will You let the wicked increase in number and deed? Please do not forget about us or our children.'

"Erin, I have not forgotten you. I have not forgotten My promises to you. You have been running away from Me recently. You are afraid of the Words I give you about what comes."

Me: "Yes, Lord. Please forgive me! It is just so heartbreaking to witness what I see now and what is soon to come. The physical pain I have been in does not quit now. I am worried that You are angry at me."

God: "No, Erin, I am not angry. I know you are scared for your husband and family. I know you worry about tomorrow. Do not be, Erin, as I have you. My favor is upon you and your household and I have no intentions of allowing your destruction. I have been watching you grieve for what has been lost. You feel robbed over so many 'lost years'."

Me: "You are being kind. I believe that You mean that I have been acting like a baby mourning for something which I had hoped for but never had." I laughed. "Oh Father, now look at me. What good am I? I have been crushed and I cannot do anything. I therefore give our lives to You. All that I have is Yours, Father."

"That clock is moving faster than before. It has accelerated and I can do nothing to slow it. I have run into several of my enemies lately and the way they look at me is in 'complete judgment'." I began to cry. "Oh Father, this hurts my heart. My heart is broken, Father. However, since I love You so much, may Your Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. Please just don't forget us!"

God: "How could I forget you? Your names are written on the palms of My hands. You are ever before Me. You give all glory to Me. The dreams I have given are to show you the times you are in. Just as I have sent the Red Bull, I have also sent 'the spark', the flames and the winds. Who can escape it? What firefighter can contain that which I have sent?"

"You are My righteous oaks planted in the land for My use by My hands. The oaks of righteousness you saw planted on the hills stands against those I send. They are arrogant and self-righteous. Even though I have sent calamities to soften hearts to turn back to Me, they still believe themselves stronger and more righteous. They give no care to those who have stood up on their behalf and fought so they could be free.

"They instead mock those that I have sent from My high position and declared all kinds of lies. Despite the fire raging across the beautiful lands, they are not moved and thankful for the mercy I have granted them. They are not humble before Me. The wicked are comfortable in their wickedness as sin unchecked and flourishing spreads like a wild fire out of control.

"See, I have seen things done in secret and nothing is beyond My reach. However, do they understand why it was sent and by Whom? Trouble has now come upon the nations and, today, even in Israel. The time has come for eyes to turn to Me. However, very few see Me. Instead, 'the father of lies' is building an army, a government of the people, void of God.

"Now, Erin, My army will come. My Kingdom come, My Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. Understand?"

Me: "Yes, Lord."

God: "Do not worry. I will send help from My sanctuary. Angels will guard you in all that you do. The enemy will not prevail against you. I love you, Erin."

Me: "I love You, Father!"

God: "Now, do not worry. I am about to do something in your days which you would not believe even if you were told. Your trials are over and My recompense is with Me."

I began to cry, half in joy and half in sorrow. I felt a tap on my shoulder. It was the angel that had been with me since the beginning of this dream. He had a serious look on his face...

Angel: "You are in the forty days of the floodgates being opened."

Dream 309 – Uriel and a battle rages on against the now cast out enemy

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You that our home is still standing today! Thank You for our children, my family and my friends. This is a blessing beyond words. I am scared, Father, as we are struggling right now. I am afraid as my physical condition is worsening. I now have more bad days than good days and I am so sad. I can do nothing to change anything.

2018 has been my most brutal year to date. I have tried so hard to find joy, but, literally, I am one wrong step away from losing all we do have. You have directed my steps, Lord, but I have been so distraught, so heartbroken, that it has been difficult to imagine a hopeful life as I am now.

Oh Father, healing would change our lives. We could then be free to move about. I would be strong enough to do so much more. However, and even more so, our children could then lead normal lives. However, the healing has still not come. Financial help would maintain us. Perhaps we could keep our home. We could relocate where Jeff could find work and we could be free from debt.

We have worked hard as a household to sew good seed and to be wise with what You have given. However, the time of seed is running out. We are one breakdown away from disaster. Our debts are paid except for our home and a vehicle, but I see our savings are soon to be used as income and I am scared. Please, Father, have mercy on us. Please forgive me if, at times, I complain when You have continued to provide.

Please protect our heating, our water and our communication so that we are able to live. Please protect our vehicles so that we are safely able to drive in the winter. I spent several hours on icy and snowy roads yesterday and it was not fun. Even a safe car and winter tires can sometimes not be much of a match for these storms.

I went to the doctor again for more tests yesterday. It took me an hour and a half to drive a mere forty miles and even longer from there to town. It was actually a good use of time as I spent it in worship and the occasionally long and deep sigh. In my sadness, I would utter 'when Father when?' and 'please do not forget about us, Lord'.

The winds have been very strong lately. I looked out and saw that a tall beautiful pine tree in our yard had split into two. It was sad as some of the birds I feed live there. I was looking straight down on this through the window next to my devotional chair. Thank You, Lord, for not letting this large tree hit our home. Thank You! There is another tree about to fall, but please prevent this as it houses some chickadees.

Father, please continue to protect our household. Please keep us safe from harm. I am under attack right now even though I feel as if I have done everything You have asked us to do. I know to stand, but I have still not received breakthrough. We are humbled here by Your power and might.

I know we are small, but please, please, Father, do as You have promised soon so that we are able to endure. Please lift my head. You are my Prince of Peace and my Groom. The wars rage all around us and the lands shake and burn. You control all things and, even though I become afraid at times, I know that You will do all that You have promised us.

Oh Father, we were created by You for Your pleasure and worship. However, I know that there are more of us who complain and curse You. Please forgive them, Father, for surely they do not know what they do...they really don't! Whoa, a huge wind gust just came and shook our house. Lord, please protect us! We love You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a beautiful vineyard and the massive bunches of grapes were ripe. They were heavy and pulled down on the branches. I quickly realized that I was not in Heaven as I could see a smoky haze in the sky. The air smelled of wood smoke. I reached over to a bunch of grapes and picked a few.

Some of the grapes were sweet, but also had a 'funny taste' to them. Some of the other grapes were perfect, sweet and ripe. I then noticed that some of the grapes in the midst of the bunch seemed withered and decayed. I looked across the vineyard and I could see very few workers, certainly not enough to perform this harvest before it was too late.

I looked out into the distance and saw a mountain with a line of red on it. I soon recognized this to be a fire line. I began to run towards the few harvesters that were here to warn them. When they turned to look at me, I realized that they were not human. I felt the Lord tell me that they were, in fact, poisoning the grapevines and killing them from the root.

I decided to stand my ground and cried out to them in my prayer language. They quickly started to run, but I kept up in pursuit of them. I just then realized that I was no longer my current injured self, but rather my 'soon-to-be' healed self. I yelled out to Jesus to send help and there was a sudden rumbling sound. I ceased my chase.

I looked around to the hills in a full circle slow turn and could now see war raging in the heavenlies. I cried out, "Where are the workers? Where are the harvesters?" I began to cry out to God in my prayer language, "Help, Father, please help us! There are very few left!" Just then, Uriel appeared behind me. As I went over to hug him, I noticed that he was in full battle gear and looked worn.

Uriel: "Erin, there is an epic battle. Do not fear. Although it looks like there are more against you, there are actually more for you. You are soon to be strengthened. God sent me to let you know that He has not forgotten you. He has not turned His head from you. Even though you have not fully seen the harvest promised to you from the ministry He gave you, You are not far from His favor.

"You must understand this instead...He has hidden you and kept you for a time such as this. A commander of an army sometimes keeps his specialized weapons concealed until the time they are to be used against advancing armies. You are like flaming arrows in God's quiver. Now, you were sent signs of turkeys. Do you remember?"

Me: "Yes. They were feeding in my yard up until a couple of weeks ago."

Uriel: "You were shown several things recently. In particular, you had a vision that you have been unable to dismiss."

Me: "Yes. I had a vision of the homes of the very wealthy being burned down at the same time as the homes of the very poor. I was then shown that the media was giving much more sympathy towards the rich and famous than those who had just lost their entire livelihoods. This has since come true in the news we are watching.

"One of the headlines recently grabbed my attention. It said 'Paradise will not be visible until after Thanksgiving'. Paradise is a city in California that had just been ravaged by the fires. My husband and I could not help but shake our heads at the irony and appropriateness of the title to this news story."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, there is a great war taking place right now. This is the time and tide, the great shaking, the cold and the fires. There is an enemy plan in place, a false urgency to fight against God's chosen. What you are witnessing right now is 'demonic amplification'. They are using the media to fight like a weapon.

"All technology is a weapon with the goal to give those with no voice power. The spider in a web silently spins to entrap its prey. The spider says nothing as it paralyzes its victim. A similar type of web is now over the Earth and it is unseen. However, soon the enemy's greatest weapon of mass destruction will be breached. Michael is there now."

Me: "Did this not happen awhile back?"

Uriel: "This was but a foreshadowing of what is now here. Understand that their goal is souls. This will occur first with division based on a false foundation from the father of lies. Look at the symbolism of the word 'simi', a valley now in flames. This means short sword, meaning that the valley is short on truth. However, God's armies have flaming swords which are long and effective because truth is a sharp sword. Understand?"

Me: "I am still a bit puzzled. Are not the saints also losing homes and lives?"

Uriel: "Yes, Erin. However, this is a war. There are casualties on both sides. We are coming into a time of war on Earth. The enemy has started a race war to enrage those who choose to believe. They are purposely ignoring the horrible things being said against God's chosen."

Me: "Do you mean Antisemitism?"

Uriel: "Yes. Watch how the daughters of the enemy have rose to power and their wicked lies are ignored. However, if even one small thing is said about this, it is amplified beyond reason. Erin, this is just the beginning of this."

Me: "Well, it is horrible and I don't like it."

Uriel: "When you see patterns and an increase in severe evil like you do now, understand what is behind it."

Me: "So many horrible things have occurred in the news that create severe fear. People are afraid to speak because, if they do, they are condemned for hate speech. It seems that this only works one way where one side can say what they want and the other side are immediately condemned."

Uriel: "This has also occurred in history. Why? It is because the enemy hates God and His chosen. It is a long war, but now it has increased because the enemy has been cast down."

Me: "I thought the Rapture would have occurred right when the enemy came down so that none of us would have to endure all of this."

Uriel: "Hmm, yes, in an ideal situation, but there is still an army of angels fighting. There is a war in the heavenlies. Until God tells us to retreat after the Lord has come to gather His flock in the Rapture, there is still to be opposition to the enemy's plans. Perhaps you should look at the order of events again in light of all of this.

"You will not endure tribulation in your current state. You will instead be strengthened before the times of tribulation and you will witness to the lost. While you will be a bride in splendor before the enemy, it will be as a weapon used. This means that there is still a war raging."

Me: "Will this war be a long one?"

Uriel: "Well, in the light of your time reference and calendar, yes, it seems long. However, for us, it is not. Now, understand the cleverness of the enemy and do not fall for his schemes. Do not believe him when he claims that the savior is here or there. These are false declarations. The strategy is to confuse, anger and consume those who are unaware of the times they are in.

"Those with little knowledge are easily consumed and ignited by the enemy. It is the opposite of the flame of God's truth and hope...the Holy Spirit. This opposite is the unholy burning flame of lies. When you hear things that are contrary, you are to pray. Pray as the Holy Spirit will then speak truth and increase your wisdom."

Me: "I have felt this right now. I cry over the state of things...the injustice, the anger and the lies. It seems like rebellion is running rampant. One day, a couple of weeks ago, I awoke from a deep sleep to the Voice of God telling me 'Wake up... Prepare... The winds have come...'

"After this, I then felt an overwhelming urgency to shore up loose ends, batten things down outside and protect our home from flying debris. We also had a strange incident shortly thereafter. As I drove with the girls to school, a rock fell from the sky and hit our windshield and cracked it. We were not even by any cars so we could not figure out how this happened. What does all of this mean?"

Uriel: "Erin, press into God. While you cannot see the winds, you can easily see the affects of the winds. If God is giving you wisdom to keep you from harm, than do as He is telling you too. This is Godly wisdom. You are to then pray and go to God every day. Since you fight against unseen forces, activate the power of God in praise and prayer. He will answer you. He speaks to you.

"I am only here to confirm what He has already told you. There will be small residual annoyances as no new permissions have been granted from God's Court, so therefore do not fear. You are instead observing, witnessing, testifying and being restless like a horse waiting to spring from the gate.

"Soon, very soon, God will use you. He will continue to show you His favor during your time period of waiting. He has sent me to tell you that gifts are coming to you, but that there has been a delay. The battle is great and it still rages. Just know that He will do all that He has promised you. He loves you!

"Now, the enemy disguises itself as a worker and harvester. He is instead poisoning the grapes in this later harvest. The poison comes from the roots and enters in the branches to the center of each bunch. They do not discover the poison until it is too late. Pray for this harvest. Good workers are fewer than the size of the yield.

"I must go now. You will be okay. Remember that God is about to multiply that which you have sewn into His Kingdom. Heaven is soon visible to you. Rejoice, Erin. I must go."

Just then, Uriel sprouted massive wings and flew toward the flaming ridge. He was soon out of my sight. I then saw flames stirring up in the southwest. To my right, I saw a very, very cold wind. It was freezing everything. A massive storm came from the south to the northeast.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my husband, our children and all of our friends. Thank You for a safe warm home. Thank You for keeping our trees standing after the winds. Please keep straight our leaning trees and do not let them fall. Father, the Nor'easter has now arrived from the south. Because of our location, we have come used to preparing for double the snow amounts predicted.

When I woke up this morning, the snow was barely visible. However, it soon started coming down in a horizontal direction. Now the size of the snowflakes has doubled and visibility outside is mostly gone. The girls stayed home from school today as the district closed the schools ahead of the pending storm.

Father, You gave me a dream within a dream last night. I do not believe that I have ever had something quite like this...

Sub-dream 1 "We are protected as evil is swallowed alive" description begins...

I was watching myself in bed asleep and dreaming. I soon became restless in my sleep and awoke suddenly. I saw myself then wake up to whatever dream I had just dreamt. We 'both' then looked at the time on the clock and it was 3:30am.

This what about the same time I would get up for these dreams in my first year of these coming to me. This was in 2012 and I had so many things to write about, I simply could not go back to sleep. Waking up this time seemed to stir up some old emotions. I remember waking up and not being able to go back to sleep, primarily due to worry. Worry seemed to consume me back then.

I now realize that I was probably suffering from something similar to Post Traumatic Stress due to all of my personal battles. Although I have never experienced the level of trauma soldiers at war experience, I could at least have a level of sympathy for what they had endured. I would not be surprised if what we experience while we wait on You, Lord, is similar to that of a soldier at rest waiting for a great battle to erupt.

When I was like this and unable to sleep, I would go to my devotional area in my living room. I would pray on my knees and I would often be crying. I would then start to write everything down in my journal.

Now, back to this dream within a dream. I was now watching as I sat down to write down the dream. What was so odd is that, instead of handwriting the dream into a journal as I am used to, I was typing it using an old-fashioned typewriter. While it seemed to take forever to do it this way, I had several typed pages before I was finished. I then handed the typed pages off to have entered into the Nest forum. After doing so, I told my husband that I had to go somewhere, but was not sure where yet.

As soon as I left the house, my outfit instantly changed. I was wearing white combat boots, white wool pants unlike anything I had ever seen before, a plain white wool top and a long white wool coat with a hood. I then noticed that there were no adornments on me at all. Even the laces on my boots had no metal clasps. There were no buttons either.

As I walked, I noticed that my clothing was the same color as the snow around me. The fabric I was wearing was unlike anything that is available here on Earth. It instantly wicked all dampness off. My clothes were dry even though it was snowing outside. I saw myself walk up the road, turn to look back at the house and then I was gone! It was amusing that I then found myself search for where myself had gone in my dream.

When I finally walked back to the location that I had started my 'search for myself', I was instantly in a distant city. After walking a bit more, I soon saw myself meet up with a dear friend. She was dressed almost identically to how I was dressed. She had an accent. I knew her and she knew me even though we had never met in person.

As the people around us were looking at us in fear due to how we looked, we both decided to place our divine clothing in bags and purchase some street clothing in order to blend in better. We stayed together at all times.

What seemed odd to me was that we were able to speak together via the Holy Spirit without saying anything out loud! While we could not read each other's 'other thoughts', I could hear what the other person was saying when they wanted me to hear it and vice versa. Very cool!

We soon found ourselves situated in a busy open-air market place. There were stores, courtyards and fountains. It was only then that we noticed that both of us were walking in bare feet. While our combat boots may have even been considered to be 'fashionable' where we were, they still would have been out of place. As we wanted to blend in, we decided that our next order of business would be to get some footwear.

My friend soon found a pair of shoes that fit her perfectly. She was surprised by this as she used to have larger feet. Her feet were now 'unreasonably small' in comparison, but still perfect. She was delighted with the change and we both started to laugh.

While I was waiting for the clerk to finish with my friend, I noticed a pair of shoes that I knew could not be of earthly origin. I knew this instantly as they were not like anything I had ever seen before. The clerk and my friend soon noticed that I was looking at them and seemed interested.

Clerk: "Those are one of a kind. Not one person who has seen these to try them on has been able to get them to fit. It seems that they were designed for a specific person."

Me: Looking at my friend's new shoes. "Are hers 'one of a kind' as well?"

Clerk: "Well, yes. So many people have wanted them, but no one has dared to try them on. The shoes you are looking at for yourself are the same."

My friend: Laughing. "Come on, Erin, go ahead and try them on."

Me: Laughing. "There is no way I could fit into these shoes. They are narrow and only a size 6.5. My foot is too long and wide for it."

I decided to look at the shoes more closely. I was surprised that I had not noticed this before, but the shoes were the color of green. I was also surprised that I did not mind the color as I usually to not buy green clothing, let alone shoes.

Despite this, I was intrigued. These shoes were a cross between the finest leather and the finest silk combined. They were low woven shoes with a type of ribbon leather that wrapped around the ankle. While I have seen similar designs before, they were nothing like this in material or craftsmanship.

Me: "Okay, I will try them on."

I tried the shoe on my right foot first. Just then, I noticed that the shoe expanded and shaped to my foot. I did not do anything for this to happen and the shoe fit was the most comfortable I have ever had. I looked over at my friend and we both laughed and shook our heads in amazement.

Me: "God is good!"

My friend: "Very good...and funny too!"

Both of us finished our purchases and then were led to go to the southern area of the city we were in. Both of us were now wearing coverings over our hair. We were specifically to go to the south end of a beautiful marketplace we had found there.

As soon as we arrived, we encountered the beginning of a very heated argument. It was a group of men speaking in a middle eastern language, possibly Arabic. Regardless, thanks to the Holy Spirit, we were both fully able to understand what they were saying. A few families were confronting these men because they had taken their young girls away.

While the evil men had offered them money for their girls, each of them had said no. The men did not care and took the girls anyway. While the families had tried to get the authorities involved, they were turning their backs on the situation. While the families looked distraught, the young girls looked absolutely terrified.

As we stood there, my friend and I prayed and waited. We then heard clearly from the Lord in advance of how we were going to quickly resolve this situation. While we waited, we held each other's hands and prayed to God. After a few short moments of praying, the evil men completely froze with the exception that they could still move their eyes back and forth.

As we looked at them, we were able to read their thoughts. The Lord was clearly revealing their thoughts to us. Their plan was to take some of the girls to rape and to take some of the other girls to sell. They had no respect for these young girls and looked down upon them as if they were dogs.

With the men frozen, we approached them and freed the girls. We then delivered the girls back to their families. We told them to leave immediately and that God has shown favor upon them. As the families walked away, we could hear them wailing with joy and gratitude.

We then went back to the 'frozen' evil men. As we approached them, we could read their thoughts of evil intent. Quite simply, they were now praying to their 'god' to unfreeze them so that they could rape and kill us. While both of us thought that this would be the end of our assignment, we instead read from their thoughts of even more evil occurring south of town.

Instead of walking there, we were both there in an instant. When we arrived at our destination, we instantly understood why we had clothing that fully covered our bodies and our hair. There before us on a stage was very graphic human trafficking involving only girls, many of them disgustingly young. While there were very few actual buyers there, there were many agents in their employ doing their dirty work.

We quickly noticed that certain ages and skin colors were drawing higher dollar amounts. It was so disgusting that I will not reveal what we saw. We started to become distraught as we were only two small women and this operation was massive and very well-guarded. Without saying a word, God welled up in us. He told us to 'relax' and let Him lead as He was about to display awesome deeds through us.

Little did we know just how awesome! The ground instantly started to shake violently and the ground split open slightly. The shaking was somehow not affecting my friend or me. This caused temporary chaos and all those trying to flee were frozen. As with the previous evil men, they were not frozen like ice, but more like stiff paralysis.

We then had our attention drawn to a water feature behind the stage that had been designed to drown out the sounds of the auction. There were three layers to the water feature and both of us moved our arms in an upward direction. While I somehow knew that we had done this before, to our delight, the water feature began to flow in reverse.

Without effort, we started to speak in their native tongue, fully knowing what we were saying. We told the girls that we were part of a Heavenly force sent to return them home or, in some cases, to even better places. We could tell that the girls were now relieved, excited and terrified, all at the same time. We directed them to wait over in a certain area together as a group.

We then watched in amazement as something like a Transport Teva or High-Speed Train came up next to them. It was definitely not of this Earth and was 'state of the art supernatural'. We could see that there were others there assisting them that were like us. When all of the girls were loaded into the Teva, it instantly disappeared. As soon as the Teva disappeared, the men were unfrozen.

While most became quite angry, there were some that were terrified and begged us for their life in repentance. As we walked around to each person there, those who would have done us harm were prevented from doing so from some type of Godly barrier that was now surrounding us.

As we walked, rocks were thrown at our heads and we could hear curses of death and rape all around us. There were other things said and attempted, but I will not provide the horrid details other than to say that their intentions were off-the-charts evil. After a while, we had surveyed each person.

God then illuminated those who were to be saved as they were either there in disguise or were remorseful. In this crowd of hundreds of traffickers, only a handful of five men were either truly remorseful or were there to find their own daughters and in disguise. God gave us their names and had us call out to them to reveal themselves.

As soon as they raised their hands or made a move forward, they were also divinely shielded from those who wanted to rape and kill them. A path was then forced through the crowd that allowed the men to walk forward. We then pointed to an area where they were to wait.

Suddenly, there was another earthquake. The ground split open and, in an instant, the hundreds of evil men were thrown into the split and the ground closed back up. We then turned to the five terrified men and told them to 'sin no more as God had delivered them from death today'. As we watched the men run back into the city, my friend and I remained in complete awe at what had just happened. We then watched the waterfall feature reverse back to normal and start to flood the auction area.

We were then directed back to the frozen evil men we had previously left behind. When we went back, we saw that the families of some of their 'almost victims' had returned and had beaten them severely. While the men were still alive, the prognosis for their survival was 'not good'. We could read in their eyes that they were now begging for death. We were instructed by God to leave them there in their current state. As instructed, we turned and walked away.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

The next dream I had was also of 'post-Transformation' and was clearly meant to be a training guide from the Lord on reserving our personal ambitions and yielding to God's Will in all things no matter what. In this dream, we had to remain as 'normal and inconspicuous' as possible while waiting on the Lord's instructions and directions...

Sub-dream 2 "Blending in is really, really required by God" description begins...

The Lord had sent us to a distant college town. It was a place I recognized. Once again, this was an extremely difficult assignment because God had revealed to us the evil intent of all of those around us. We were to act as normal as possible. While we were Transformed, we somehow did not really look that out of the ordinary. It was as if there were varying degrees of appearance based on a given circumstance.

A pair of us were in a small temporary apartment in town that was our base. There were six others 'like us' in the town at the same time as we were. I have never understood before now why we were so often at shops or restaurants as customers in my dreams, but now realize it is because we were learning about people 'discretely' and were blending in with the crowd around us.

One evening, we were sent to a place to meet with the other six people. An angel of the Lord was also there and he was instructing us to be as those around us and to always blend, neither reacting or interacting unless God instructs us too. No matter what happens around us, we were to only do God's Will through us and that He would make it obvious. After the angel told us this, he left and we dispersed.

We then began our journeys back to our respective apartments. As instructed, we blended in with the crowd. Well, even though the night college crowd around us was drunk, rowdy and obnoxious, we weren't...smiles. Just then, we noticed that one of our group was confronting a man who had just purchased some drugs in a syringe. She, like us, already knew that the man was planning to use this syringe to rape some unsuspecting woman.

What happened next all seemed to happen in slow motion. We watched as the man started to drive the end of the syringe towards the transformed woman's face. It was heading right between her brow. Just before it was going to plunge into her forehead, she disappeared. All those around her that saw this then began to scream and run away.

Instead of going back to our apartments, we were then directed to double back to our original meeting place. The angel was standing there to greet us at the door. He told us that the woman had been removed from this particular assignment, but was not removed as a worker. He then told us this was meant as a lesson to us, and her, that blending in is essential and required by God of us in our journey with Him. We were all greatly relieved that this woman was still going to be a worker!

Just then, a different transformed woman arrived to partner with the person that had just lost her partner. The eight of us were then instantly taken to a place with a massive waterfall. While it was not Niagara Falls, it was quite similar in both size and power. The angel then instructed us on how to make the waterfall flow in reverse. Each of us were able to do this with God flowing through us. However, it was also made very clear that not one of us could do this on our own...only with God and God alone.

Sub-dream 3 "The 'Kits' are calling...don't answer!" description begins...

My husband and I were in a distant city together as he was interviewing with a very large corporation. The interview was long and comprehensive involving a several days span of various meetings and interviews with various departments.

While we had already been Transformed, our glory light from Heaven was 'covered up' during certain times. While we still appeared attractive, it was not overdone. I have now come to the conclusion that God disguises us or reveals us, high beams us or low beams us as a given situation requires. As per usual, God knows exactly what is required for any given situation and when. We are then instantly 'as required'.

While my husband was being interviewed, I was contacted by the interviewing company. They must have liked my husband as they were very encouraging and wanted to provide me with a company town car to sightsee. This made me smile as I knew they wanted me to fall in love with the company and the city so that I would later encourage my husband to take the job. Quite clever!

After I was picked up, I was taken to an area of the town that was along the riverfront. It was cute, filled with galleries and restaurants. As I walked around, I started to see an odd pattern emerge. There were a series of advertising posters with a common theme, though hard to see at first. They were beautifully illustrated and extremely manipulative.

After walking for a while to scan the surroundings, I decided to take a closer look inside one of the artist galleries. As I walked inside, the first thing I noticed was that a short film was playing on a loop and was completely related to the posters I had seen outside. The loop started off by showing a young boy who was a remarkably gifted painter and illustrator.

The loop then showed his parents being approached by an organization that was willing to give him a full ride prestigious scholarship to a special school for gifted children. However, I soon noticed that there was a catch, a catch related to all of the posters. The boy would need to take a DNA test to see if he was a match to any of the master painters. The list of painters included Van Gogh, Michelangelo, Da Vinci and others.

The loop then informed us that either the boy or the parents of the boy could take this test. All they would need to do was use a simple kit and either mail it in or drop it off at a local lab. Results were promised within 24 hours and the only cost involved was a modest registration processing fee. The tagline was catchy..."Today, you are an artist, tomorrow, you are a legend!"

I was disgusted, yet impressed, as I knew the real reason for them wanting this done and they were doing a great job making the test incredibly tempting. As soon as the loop completed and was about to begin again, one of the gallery staffers approached me. The timing seemed well calculated.

Woman: Smiling. "Hello there! Have you received your free kit yet?"

Me: "No. I am not certain if this is for me."

Woman: Looking shocked. "It does not matter if this is for you or not. Just one of your family members would be needed to tell you if you are a match. We will then know too."

Me: Bluffing. "I do not understand why all of this is so important."

Woman: "Well, I will explain. Through this test, you will have information on where you came from...your beginnings. Not only that, but there are rewards and promotions for those who choose to do this now. There are rewards for those who bravely step forward. There already have been for those that already have."

Me: "While I could see this being beneficial if you have 'advantageous' DNA, what if your DNA is the opposite and you are related to someone in history that was bad. For example, what if it was discovered that I was related to a murderer or to a leader who had murdered many. Could I not then be somehow held responsible for their crimes?"

Woman: Looking confused. "No, no, no, it is not guilty by association! Try to not look at the negative. We are here to offer you a positive experience."

Me: "Hmm, well, thanks for explaining it. I am not interested, thank you. I will just keep looking around."

The woman shot me a look that clearly told me she was very angry and upset by my refusal to do this. Rather than react to her, I felt the Holy Spirit draw my attention over to a painting of a shepherd boy in a pasture. The field he was tending to had a fence of stone separating the field into two. On one side of the fence, there were sheep, and on the other side of the fence, there were goats.

Me: Smiling. "I will take this painting, please!"

Woman: "Are you sure? It is expensive."

Me: "No problem. Please wrap it up for me."

Woman: "I am unsure why you would even want this painting? There are some much more remarkable pieces in the gallery that I could show you."

At that second, I felt the Lord well up in me. God's presence was somehow now shining out from me. As per usual, I was not sure what He was about to do, but I knew that, whatever it was, it was going to be awesome!

Woman: In an agitated and raised voice. "I personally think that this painting is atrocious. Even worse, it is religious and therefore divisive. Things are not supposed to be this way anymore in the way our world has now become."

Me: "Well, they still are this way. The kit you offered me when I first arrived is not one sent out to benefit, but rather to gather evidence. This evidence is needed as they want to hunt down and destroy the sheep. The goats hate the sheep and want the sheep divided and destroyed. The goats have no shepherd and they lack self-control."

Woman: Now yelling at me. "I want you to leave this store right now."

I knew this woman was not the owner and had no authority to force me to leave. I also knew that the owner was around and was aware that I wanted to purchase this painting.

Me: "No, I don't think so. Why should I? I want to purchase the painting. If you hate the painting so much, why would you not want to get rid of it by selling it to me? That way, you are no longer reminded about the 'divisiveness'. You have a choice here. You can choose differently."

At this point, the owner had arrived and indicated that she was happy to sell the painting to me. The owner then promptly wrapped up the painting and handed it to me. I thanked her. Just as I was about to turn towards the door to leave, the woman began to swear at me and tear her clothes. She was soon absolutely hysterical.

Woman: Screaming. "You are one of them! You *****!"

There were too many expletives to count and certainly none of them worth writing down. She soon fell to the ground and began to crawl and roll. Her face soon became so contorted that she started to look like a different person. I felt that the Lord wanted me to leave immediately. As I did, I turned back to notice that the women had twisted her neck back as if it had been broken.

She no longer looked natural. She looked evil. She then stood in the window staring at me with a demonic, but dead, look on her face as I walked away. It was a very disturbing and unnatural sight! I kept walking back to the town car. As I approached the car, the driver's 'comparative normalness' was somehow comforting.

Driver: "I was too far to hear anything, but even I could tell that the salesclerk seemed upset over your purchase."

Me: Downplaying it. "Yes. She thought that I should purchase a more modern piece instead."

Driver: Smiling. "So, where too now?"

Me: "I think that I am ready to go back to my hotel. I am tired now."

Driver: "Are you sure that I cannot take you over to our central marketplace? It is beautiful there. There is some refreshing water for sale there. It seems like you could use some right about now."

Me: "You are right, I am very thirsty. That sounds wonderful. Let's go."

As we pulled up to the marketplace, I could see that it was filled with tourists and was extremely busy. I noticed a small cheese shop and decided to go over and buy some bread and cheese. There was a sign there and I started to chuckle as I read it..

"Try our goat cheese or goat butter and receive a fresh loaf of sourdough bread."

I shook my head. After a short while, a cheese tasting attendant approached me with samples of the two goat products.

Woman: Smiling. "Would you like to try a free sample?"

Me: "Thank you, but no. I am allergic."

She turned and walked away. I then looked around and was impressed by the massive variety of cheeses. Most of it was not goat, so I ate a few samples. I soon decided that I would purchase a variety package of gourmet cheese and a loaf of bread. I walked up to the counter. The sample woman was now working at the cash register instead.

Woman: "You are the one allergic to goat cheese, correct?"

Me: "You could say that."

Woman: "Would you like to find out the origins of your allergies?"

Me: "No, I am okay, thanks."

Woman: "I have a free kit that will tell you the origins of your allergies and other physical ailments. Why would you not want this? It will even tell you..." I held up my hand to interrupt her. She soon continued. "But..."

Me: "Look, I already know all about this."

Woman: Now offended and frustrated. "But there are so many great things that come from taking this test."

Me: "You know what...you are not a great salesperson. I will take this and go."

I once again felt God rise up or well up in me. The woman then began to change. She was now contorting and twitching. She was now muttering in a strange voice and I could tell that there was an evil entity inside her that was now talking to me.

Woman: Slowly. "I know you. I know you. I know you. I know..."

Me: Interrupting. "Oh yeah! Well I know exactly who you are and I am here to tell you that your time is very, very short."

The entity started to shout horrible things towards me in return that I will not repeat. With just a simple wave of my hand, the woman instantly could not speak another word. The entity in her was completely silenced! As she hadn't rung my purchase through and I had now lost my appetite, I decided to simply turn and walk away and leave the cheese and bread for them to put back. I got back into the car.

Me: "I am ready to go back to the hotel now."

Driver: Seemingly disappointed. "Are you sure that I cannot take you to another stop?"

Me: "Yes, I am sure, but thank you! I think that I will just go back to the campus and wait for my husband to come back."

Driver: "Sure...no problem!"

I felt the Lord tell me to remain quiet until I joined back up with my husband. I kept silent and just observed. As we approached the gatehouse to the campus, there appeared to be some protesters holding up signs. The signs said things like, "I am not my father", "I am not a killer" and "I am a good person". While I then saw some of them being arrested and taken away, I also saw others fleeing from the area.

Driver: "I will take you to the south entrance instead so that we can avoid all of this."

Me: At the Holy Spirit's prompting. "What do the signs mean?" I asked this even though I already knew exactly what they meant.

Driver: "The usual...they are some disgruntled 'kit' customers."

Me: "Hmm. Does your company make these kits?"

Driver: "Yes. It is one of the divisions. A very popular one. The corporation gathers information for the parent company."

I now knew in advance that the company was corrupt. I soon met up with my husband. I said nothing to him, but smiled. The Holy Spirit in us once again allowed us to communicate with each other without words. We wanted to do it this way as it would not be out of the question for a corrupt company to have listening devices, or bugs, in many places, including where we now were.

My husband: In his mind to mine. "They offered me an incredible package. I told them that I would think about it and that I would let them know by Friday if I would take the position."

Me: In my mind to his. "Did they try to take a sample of your DNA using one of their 'kits'?"

My husband: Laughing. "They sent someone in to personally take a sample. The nurse was very beautiful. I believe that they specifically hired someone that looked like her knowing that people would have a hard time saying no to her. I knew to avoid it though, which I did. There are so many other things I have to tell you. Let's gather our things and go home 'another way'."

We both laughed as we already knew in advance that we were going to be taking 'God Air' home. My husband reached for my hand. He gently squeezed my hand and we were instantly home.

Sub-dream 3 description over...

Father, all of these dreams have been extremely overwhelming. In the last several days, we have been under severe attack. I recognized these attacks as being similar to past ones as they were of a similar pattern. I have had people treat me unusually horrible for absolutely no reason at all, each time with witnesses 'on my side' witnessing that this occurred. It is beyond normal and they have been quite cruel.

Father, please rise up and strengthen us. I am so deeply disturbed by the uptick in evil. It is easily three times worse than in 2012. There does not seem to be any indication that it will subside anytime soon. The news has been deeply disturbing and my husband can attest to my sudden tears at the magnitude of the evil.

We had to drive into town a few days ago and we all watched in horror as a family in a van was trying to turn left. As they did, a car coming in the opposite direction with plenty of ability to slow down to make sure no one was hurt, sped up instead in order to exert his power of life or death over them. It was a narrow miss. I instantly began to cry as I realized the danger our boys driving are in if they did not have God's protection.

No child should live in fear, Father. No person should be in danger because of their religion or skin color. No one should be hunted like dogs because they are Jewish or any other religion. Things have changed...yet they haven't really. The world has grown so cold and so quickly, who can keep up?

We love You, Father. Those of us still here for You call upon You because we love You and long for the day when You will come and heal us. Please let it be soon. Thanksgiving here in the U.S.A. is only two days away.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a massive valley that was surrounded by hills. Before me were thousands or more small boulder rocks with inscriptions upon them. I realized that this was a 'valley of death' when I noticed that these rocks were grave markers upon closer inspection. I began to weep as I stepped past them.

My heart was heavy. In the middle of the grave site, a giant boulder with stairs carved into it circled around the border until it reached the top. On the very top, there was a flame. I somehow knew that this flame must have been burning continuously for a few thousand years. The flame was coming from a hole on the top.

Next to this and cut from the rock was a bench of stone in which one could sit. I decided to climb the stairs in order to sit down on the bench. When I reached the bench and sat down, I stared out at the sheer magnitude of death in this valley. I mourned for those who were slain as I felt it was a place for the martyrs.

As I sat there, the sun set and the dusk turned to night. There were countless stars in the Heavens. Over to the south and east horizon, the moon started to rise. The moon was beautiful, like a pearl. As it rose, I could see the small headstones of the buried illuminate. What I saw were divided into rows. I recognized twelve stone colors in groups. It left me puzzled.

Me: "Who are these, Father? Are these martyrs?"

I sat and viewed the beauty of this place. In the night air, these stones were sparkling like jewels. I started to sing a song. It was a song unlike any song that I had ever sung before. It came from within me. It was beautiful. As I sang it, I started to hear others singing with me. It was a song with layers. It was a worship song to God, our Father, and Jesus, Who was slain for us.

Our voices mounted up together and rose up and up in crescendo. I knew that this song was not only special to us, but also special to God. I am now crying as I write. Never could I imagine loving the Lord our God so much that I would surrender all of my earthly ambitions just to have the honor of His presence.

I felt a hand gently touch my shoulder. I turned and there was Uriel! Once again, he was in full armor. He looked strong and terrifying, yet his eyes were so kind.

Me: "Oh, hi, Uriel! Is the war still raging?"

Uriel: "Yes, Erin. The battle is unlike any other as the enemies of God in Heaven and man are fighting the battle to win. They do so even though the outcome has already been determined by God. What you see around you here is the valley of the shadow of death. It is a shadow because it is only that...a shadow.

"The graves are of those who have lost their lives for their faith in God and stood on His truth. This is a memorial, like a monument or promise, of God that, soon, He will do all that He has promised. Here, this lamp never goes out. This flame burns eternal."

Me: Crying. "Oh, how long, Uriel? Things are becoming worse in the world. Will God not soon call us to Him to heal and strengthen us? If not, who will endure this? My heart skipped several times today. I was hurting deeply for others and I need healing or I will not endure it. I cannot ask anymore. I feel like I have been a beggar, a whiner and a complainer."

Uriel: "Erin, God is with you. He is showing you great mysteries. There is so much that you would not believe it even if He were to send me to tell you. Know this...God will do all that He has promised you. His love never dies. It is an eternal flame. God does not forget and He will avenge lives lost for the sake of His heart.

"Now, you ask, what is this? It is the beginning of a new chapter, a new valley and a new dawn. You who are hidden under His wings and in the clefts of rocks will soon come out into wide-open spaces. He will meet you there in the Valley of Blessing. Each one of you will be like a lamp with the flame of God in you.

"What you see here are your ancestors who sacrificed and fought knowing this day would come. God keeps track of His children...His flock. He knows each story and you are never lost because His flame lights your path.

"Now, there is another uprising and I must go. Soon you will understand the severity of the events around you. However, you must know that God has kept you concealed in His quiver. You have been rendered 'dead' and no one of interest. You have been kept for this time. You will soon no longer ask 'how long, Lord, until You avenge us?' because the time has come."

Me: "The Lord showed me six years ago that earthquakes would be a measure."

Uriel: "That is because those who were buried and sleeping have arisen to prepare for the coming deception. These areas are filled with shrines and tunnels and are in remote lands. They will soon reveal themselves. These areas of earthquakes are from God as a marker and some are created by fracking by the hands of evil. Evil has increased and there is a cold air that has swept across the Earth.

"Erin, many will soon fall away. Those who did not keep their lamps filled with oil will fall away. Those angry and defiant because they think themselves worthier and more valuable to God than you will fall away. You will see increased attacks upon the saints in waves of depression and discouragement as the enemy will change tactics.

"Do not be fooled. This is the time written. The joy of the Lord is your strength. Even if your outward appearance is full of grief for those lost and the news reporting on this, have joy because the time of the Lord has come.

"Now, I must go back to the battle. Your worship and prayers are strong weapons against the enemy. You will soon sing a new song. Gifts to heal, encourage and strengthen you from Heaven are on their way. You will be supernaturally strong. You will be wise and knowledgeable. You will be able to scale a wall and leap up to grab a fruit.

"Your skin will be without blemish or wrinkle. Your appearance will be youthful. You will surrender all to God for His purposes. You will be like a soldier, but the flame of God in you will terrify many. You will be protected by angels..." He looked up. "...and nothing will prevail against you. You will know the plans of the enemy in advance. Men and women with evil intent will confess before you and others will seek your lives.

"However, do not worry as no harm will come to you or your family. God will provide you with all that you need. You will fly on the wings of eagles. You will walk and not grow faint. Those who have gone before you are interceding here for you. Do not worry. Take courage! I must go!"

Just then, Uriel spread his massive wings and he was gone. I cried as I saw 'stars' moving around in the distance. I knew that this was a distant battle in the heavenlies.

Communion

Dear Father,

I love You so much! When I think of You, my heart flutters and skips a beat. I cherish You so. I hear You in my dreams, but I am unable to see Your face. I have seen Your majesty and I am in awe of Your works. You have sent Jesus, my Lord, so that I can see Your face through Him. When You call out to me, I turn and I can run into Your arms through Your Son. Thank You, thank You, thank You for sending us Your Son. Did I say thank You yet?

Father, You still my anxious thoughts and grant me hope when I feel so crushed. You send help from Your sanctuary and command angels concerning me to guard my steps. You have kept me close to You my whole life. You have covered me in the protection of Your wings. My soul longs for, and even faints, at the thought of Your presence as there is the only place I truly belong.

I am no one special to man here on Earth. I have not done anything remarkable or Earth shattering. In fact, I have been an abomination to those around me. I was an outcast and a shameful embarrassment. To the world, I am one of the least deserving of Your attention.

Father, in spite of all of this, You somehow saw me, a sinner, a small speck of a woman, as being worthy of being taken in. You treated me as a child who had been abandoned. I was hungry and exhausted when You first rescued me. You brought me into Yourself and there You taught me to turn from sin and lose my personal ambitions.

It was an extremely difficult task, but You placed me in the furnace of affliction, refining me each time. You would then bring me out of the fire and nurture me back. Day by day, You hand fed me Your Word and applied Your instruction, writing it even on the tablet of my heart. I was exhausted from my battles and You took care of me there.

You nurtured me, spoke lovingly to me and gave me hope for the future when it seemed that there was no hope. You spoke clearly to me. When You called and I answered, it was always wisdom and a gentle rebuke that would place my feet on the solid rock of Your salvation.

I have surrendered my life to You, Father, and I am thankful for this race, this journey, every day. I know that I have been in great pain lately. I have been in great grief and sorrow as well for those who have lost so much. I am able to place myself there because of circumstances You have allowed to happen to me that have given me an ability to sympathize and intercede for the restoration for others.

I have had so many dreams lately where it seems as if the current time is wrapping up in order to usher in a new time. The various signs that You have shown me to look for are now here. Father, they are all happening now! The time has now come and we are ready for what You have next for us!

Once in the morning of Tuesday, November 20th, 2018 and once in the afternoon, an extremely large Bald Eagle flew over us. How beautiful and majestic are these birds! Thank You, Father, for Your amazing Creation!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was standing on top of an extremely high mountain, a much higher mountain than I could ever possibly climb unless God helped me...a lot! There I stood, looking over a vast landscape of mountains. It was beautiful. My peaceful surveying of the amazing landscape was soon interrupted from a rumbling that reverberated throughout the mountain range. I heard the Voice of God and I instantly dropped to my knees...

"Erin, I have been with you always. When you cried out to Me, I was there. When you stumbled and fell, I was there to pick you up. I carried you across raging waters, desert landscapes and steep terrains. I carried you so you would never be lost and you would always find your way. When I would pick you up, you sometimes kicked and screamed because you were afraid and did not trust Me to keep you safe.

"Then, one day, you surrendered all to Me. You surrendered your ambitions, your belongings and your heart to Me. I was overjoyed when you surrendered yourself to My Will in your life. If you had not, I would not have been able to use you for these dreams and visions of Heaven, the place that I have prepared for you.

"I have given you a great gift and you have done all that I have asked. Even though you have questioned Me at times based on the trials that have occurred, you have still followed My calling. The story of your life, this story, I have created for you. Each experience, each instruction, each lesson and each hardship has been given so that your heart would be ready for what I have planned next for you.

"Erin, you will soon mount upon the wings of an eagle and will return to the land that I have promised to you. I will keep you and your family safe there. Even though your lives will be sought, do not worry as you will be under My protection. I have a plan for you, a plan to give you hope and a future.

"I have seen the grief in your heart for the lost. I will send you across the land and you will testify to My glory there. Those that I have called, prepared and chosen are soon to rise up and stand as witnesses. Each of your stands as witnesses will soften the hearts of those who have turned away from Me and have ignored My call.

"I am soon to reward you for surrendering your will to Me. I will strengthen you, heal you and use you for My glory. While I will turn your grieving heart into the heart of a warrior, your heart will still beat with the compassion and love of one after My own heart. Just as David ran after me, so too have you and you did not stop.

"I will therefore show My love to you, you who was once called 'unloved'. I have longed for this day to arrive, the day that I could bind up your brokenness and turn your heart to joy. Erin, it is now time!"

Just then, a magnificent, large eagle flew over me then circled back. It soon landed right next to me and my heart pounded with excitement. I stood up from being on my knees and climbed onto his back. We raced up towards the sky. I was flying on the wings of an eagle! As I surveyed the landscape, I felt a prayer of thanks well up in me that was specifically for our Nest family. The prayer flooded my heart with love...

"Thank you to my friends on the Nest. God has brought all of us together here for a reason. There are no accidents in the Kingdom of Heaven. As you give thanks today with your families, remember all that God had done from the beginning and that He is our Father, the Author of our story and the Lover of our soul. Remember that He sent Jesus to you, God coming down as a baby, born of a virgin.

"All of Heaven will soon be visible as His Kingdom has come, His Will be done, on Earth as it is in Heaven. I pray for all of us to be healed and strengthened because He loves us and He has promised. Bless all of you, in Jesus' Mighty Name. Dream dreams and have visions of Heaven. Prepare to be a clarion call to the lost. Prepare to give witness to God's glory!

"Remember that nothing is possible without Him and everything is possible with Him. We truly would not believe what is about to happen with us even if we were told by God Himself in advance. We now have been...well, at least some of it anyway!

"I thank each of you for being our faithful friends through both the joyful and the sorrowful. Remember that our journey is not ending. Indeed, our journey together will only just now begin. Remember that, with God in us and leading us, not even one of us can fail. Give thanks, Nest family, to our one true God, the God Who loves us and created us!"

Dream 312 – Uriel and the Seven Distinct Valleys

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for a short pause between snowstorms. Thank You for all that You do for us, both in the big things and the small things. Thank You for protecting our family and friends. Thank You for keeping our ministry up and running.

Father, the world has changed quickly and dramatically. It is as if hell is now here on Earth. While it is not that things were not already bad, it is as if there is now a large cauldron hanging over a fire and the dark water inside is now beginning to boil. It is terrifying to see all of this unfolding faster and faster.

My daughter stood up against some pro-choice students today in chapel. Yes, that's right, chapel...and in a Christian school no less! She stood for life and cited several facts. She texted me from the bathroom, crying that she had then been bullied and accused of being self-righteous and judgmental. All of this from her simply stating a list of facts and statistics.

This is now the third time she has had to stand for her beliefs, but, really, God's commandments, in a very short period at this Christian school. Father, while I try to not judge men for their beliefs, leaving this to You, why then do they judge us so harshly in return?

While I want to stand with Heaven here on Earth, I do not want to die as a martyr. Without You healing us, we will have no chance as things are getting worse. People around us are behaving in a bizarre manner. It is quite frightening and I now find myself longing for the days of innocence, the times of freedom.

I used to be able to ride my bike for hours without fear back when I was young. I would run on trails without any worry about rapists. I could paint outside in the sun and did not need to worry about its intensity like we do today. We could joke about silly things and there was no offense taken. We could speak out about our injustice and stand for what we believe in, yet still keep friends who were opposed to our beliefs.

In today's times, a person who has a bad moment of bad behavior could be filmed and lose their job, even their entire careers. We have left the age of actual courtroom justice and have now moved into the court of public opinion via social media. Justice is swayed by opinion and media presence. While much of importance that is relevant is ignored, small insignificant things are amplified disproportionately.

Many churches that were once houses of God are now dens of iniquity. They are 'religiously neutral', neutral on who You are, God. They make stuff up as they go to make things more palatable for those who want the bread they serve. The wine is bitter and avoided as they desire something that allows the dulling of the senses.

Instead of taking God at His Word, it is easier to avoid any opposition by turning God into an all-loving, all encompassing 'god' who embraces sinful lifestyles. They do this by adjusting and modifying His Words to the point that what God has truly said becomes nothing but 'blurred lines'.

More often than not, they completely leave Jesus out of the equation. Why? Because having a cross showing up these days is just way too controversial for so many people now. Well, the cross means just as much today as Jesus still died for our sins and rose again. Jesus is alive. This has not changed and this will never change!

It is also becoming easier and easier to just skip what many now consider to be that 'old hateful outdated Old Testament'. To these people, the New Testament, especially when talking about Jesus, is not much better. It is much easier to use love, but apply it in a way that all types of 'love' are, not only acceptable, but encouraged.

According to the new age of this world, Jesus' greatest commandments are no longer followed, the commandment to 'love God with all of your heart and then others as you would want to be loved.' It has now been changed to 'love each other in all ways, every which way and with anything and never stop. Then just love yourself, take care of yourself at all costs and indulge yourself and your appetites, no matter what they may be.'

To oppose any of this 'new age commandment' is now considered to be 'hate'. Anything said praising God is also now hateful and offensive. They tell us to keep it to ourselves. We have become the new 'inconvenient truth' and everyone would like to have us simply disappear. In contrast, anything praising the world, self-acceptance, self-expression, self-satisfaction and pro-rebellion, resisting God in all things, are now good, even if it means resorting to violence!

Father, I am deeply disturbed about what is now manifesting in the physical. You have shown me the Valley of the Shadow of Death. I know this valley. In my dream, I saw another valley, but I also saw something amazing...a gathering of saints. I am scared, Father, things have turned in the world so rapidly. Who will endure any of it when You turn up the heat and shake the nations?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in yet another valley. There was crying. People were in great pain and mourning. So many were hurting. I kept hearing, 'Why, God?', 'Why, Abba?', 'Where are You?' and on and on. I saw great trouble. It was horrible. I cried as I did not know what else to do. I was on the top of a butte-like overlook. I cried with them. I soon felt a light tap on my shoulder. It was Uriel. I was still crying as I hugged him. He was in battle gear.

Me: "Why? Where is the Lord?"

Uriel: "He is here, Erin. Look...there, in the midst of all the suffering, is Jesus." I then saw angels followed by saints. I did not know what exactly I was seeing. "Look, Erin."

He drew my attention to the City of Jerusalem. I saw seven valleys surrounding the beautiful city. It was bathed in beautiful light. However, the light soon turned to dark. These valleys were places that had to be crossed before getting into the city.

Me: "Why is this so difficult? There are highways and roads on the way to the city."

Uriel: "You have only captured a fraction of the meaning of 'valley'. Look deeper. Look at the valley over there." He pointed. "You know this valley. This is the Valley of Achor, the Valley of Punishment. While you have already saw the Valley of the Shadow of Death, there are still five more. Come!"

He took me to another valley. I saw disgusting things there. It was so gross. It was so bad that I was about to vomit. Just before I did, Uriel somehow stopped it. He then drew my focus away to another vista facing yet another valley.

Uriel: "The valley you just witnessed was the place where Sodom and Gomorrah stood. This is the Valley of Siddim, the Valley of Abominations, the Valley of Sin."

Me: "Is Jesus here as well? I cannot imagine Him being in this valley."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, He is here."

Just then, I saw the Lord looking out over the valley. There were also angels gathered there. When someone in the valley had finally had enough of what that valley 'offered', Jesus would take them out of the valley.

Me: "I see! He obviously does not partake in the sin, but He will still go to the bottom of the slimy pit of sin for us in order to pull us from it. He will not leave us there! He even comes for us in this terrible valley!"

Uriel: "Now, look at this valley. You have been here too."

I saw great pain and suffering. It was horrible.

Me: "How is this different from the Valley of Achor, the Valley of Punishment?"

Uriel: "This is the Valley of Kidron, the Valley of Pain, the pain of your heart. This valley is the place where pride is removed. This is the place of humility.

This is a place of the reduction of personal ambitions. It is a place of loss. The Lord is here too.”

I saw Jesus picking people up, people who had been stripped down to nothing from the cruelty of others and from the stain of loss.

Me: “Oh Uriel, this was such a terrible time for me.”

Uriel: “Yes, Erin, but look over there...”

I saw that a separated section of this valley had been reserved for Jesus’ healing. It was so incredibly beautiful that I started to choke up with tears.

Me: Crying. “I have seen the Valley of the Shadow of Death. There is the Valley of Achor, the valley of long suffering from punishment and affliction. There is the Valley of Sin, the valley of abominations. There is the Valley of Pain, brokenness from pride and oppression. Do I have this right?”

Uriel: “Do not worry, Erin, as you will understand the differences in a greater way very soon.”

Me: “Oh no, please, I have been to all of these valleys and I know them.” I started to weep. “Oh please, Uriel, I never want to go back into those valleys again.”

Uriel: Smiling, yet with empathy in his eyes. “Hmm, perhaps you should let go and let God decide. How do you know you will not be able to help others there? If the Lord is in you, they why don’t you let God use you as His vessel.” Uriel stopped to look over each of the valleys surrounding us. He nodded at me to do the same.

“Erin, we are in an epic battle. Are you an arrow or not? I was not called here to tell you that the Lord is taking you back to these places to relive them. He is showing you that there is hurting and that these valleys are also His vineyards. Erin, the harvest is great, but the workers are few.

“It is time. The angels are battling. While those the Lord has called are still ‘targets’ right now, God will soon change this by governing those He has called for His purposes in a greater way. You will all stand amazed. While Sodom and Gomorrah have been removed in the physical, the Valley of Sin still remains, understand?”

“Now, look at this valley. This is the Valley of Elah. This is the Valley of Battle, the Valley of Decision, the decision to surrender or fight. God is there. This is also where the enemy intimidates and calls out.”

I then heard horrible things being shouted at those who had already been through so much. I heard them call out, ‘Give up and die!’, ‘God has forgotten you!’, ‘Do what feels good!’ and on and on. I also saw a river there, but the water was dark and bitter. I also saw giants there. To stand against them was intimidating. I then saw saints come in and strengthen those that the enemy was taunting.

Me: “Who are they?”

Uriel: "You don't know? This is you, Erin, as well as those that have been called into His service. However, be forewarned that there will also be many saints that quit here. Some of these are even the elect as facing these giants is intimidating. However, your witness as arrows will pierce the hearts of the evil."

Me: "So, is this our battlefield, the battlefield where God will use us?"

Uriel: "While this is difficult to understand, not all of those you witness to and aid, even those you heal, will stay and overcome. Many will instead go back to their place of sin, a valley familiar to them and a valley where they have company."

Me: "Oh Uriel, that is horrible. They do this even after Jesus has done all of this for them? That is so sad!"

Uriel: "He is there and gives chances, sometimes many, before the final one, the final decision."

Me: "But I see an overwhelming army of demons there!"

Uriel: "Yes, but this it to prevent this..."

He showed me another valley. It was a garbage dump filled with flames. It smelled horrible. It was terrible to even look at.

Uriel: "This is the Valley of Eternal Death. This is the last valley."

Me: "Hmm, I only count six valleys though. Did we miss a valley, Uriel?"

Uriel: "The order is purposeful. The final battle is fought in Jezreel. This is the Valley of the Final Battle, the Valley of Armageddon. By God's command, I have shown you this before. The Lord comes to this place with His army of saints. Yes, Erin, those who have been His vessels, His arrows, His warriors and His Bride.

"It will be when His Kingdom, as the Lord of lords and the Kings of kings, will be established. The nations, all seventy of them who remain from them, their remnant, will bow before Him. Erin, you will witness this.

"Now, do not get caught up in specifics with these valleys. A valley is below the mountains. When the nations are shaken, the lands will be leveled, the valleys will be raised up and the mountains will be brought low. There will be a highway leading to the City of God and all will travel there.

"Now, this Great and Terrible Day of the Lord will come and some will be raised up and others left here, understand? Do not fear this as God will soon bind up your brokenness and heal your infirmities. You will run like you did in your youth and will even leap over objects. You will see a wall and scale it. Nothing shall be impossible for you as God is with you.

"Now, Erin, rejoice...rejoice! However, I must go now as we are in an epic battle. God is sending signs to the nations that this is the hour. I must go!"

I then saw Uriel go up into the Heavenlies. Then, and for just a brief three seconds or so, I saw an epic battle taking place, a battle between the angels of Heaven against the angels of darkness and other beasts. After seeing this for just a brief time, the terrifying vision was gone. I looked back across the seven valleys...

- The Valley of the Shadow of Death: Facing death.
- The Valley of Punishment (Achor): Chastising.
- The Valley of Sin (Siddim): Abominations.
- The Valley of Pain (Kidron): Heart pain and humility.
- The Valley of Pride (Elah): The battlefield of decision.
- The Valley of the Final Battle (Armageddon): Just before the appearance of our Lord.
- The Valley of Eternal Death: Everlasting flames.

I was glad that Uriel told me not to get caught up on the order of what he had just showed me as he knew that I would have. Well, as told, I give this all to You, Father, as all of this is Yours. This is Your story, not mine. As for right now, You told me to look at the shaking.

To those who are watching for You, it is obvious that You are humbling the lands right now via fires, famine, drought and extreme temperatures. The media and scientists are trying to cover this up, most of them probably unintentionally, by using climate change as the reason for this increase.

What is harder to explain away is the noticeable increase in the number of earthquakes, especially those of magnitude 5 and higher. The 'Ring of Fire' is on fire. Then there is the increase in people displaying demonic properties. What about all of the strange phenomena, such as the 'unexplainable Bell Earthquake' on November 11th, 2018? There is also the rise in hatred and the waves of lies. There is persecution. There are rumors of wars.

Oh Father, the list just goes on and on. We cannot endure all of this if You do not strengthen us soon. Please, Father, do this soon! Please...we love You so much!

Communion

Dear Father,

Sigh...we love You, Father! We give our lives to You. We thank You for all that You do for us. You sustain us. You give us eyes which can see and limbs in which to move us from one point to another. You give us hands to praise You and write of Your Great Works. How great and wonderful You are, Father!

Today marks the one-year anniversary of my earthly father's death. He neglected me. His love was conditional and I did not prove myself worthy of his love. His judgment for me was harsh and his lips were filled with lies. He died as he lived...separated from all of us. Oh Father, feelings of abandonment and sorrow often bubble up when something triggers our memories.

For example, the recent tornado outbreak that just occurred literally hit close to home. Cass County, Illinois was where my mom, aunts and uncles were abandoned as little children. They were left for several days in the winter with no shoes or warm clothes. My grandmother somehow could not get home to them as she was very young and began to have children at age 13 or 14.

By the age of 17, she had two children. By the age of 20, she had a total of five. All of them were taken away from her, including the sixth child that she gave birth to while she was in jail. It was here, in Cass County, that the tornadoes just hit. Cass County is a tiny county in the middle of the country. When I say it is in the middle, it really is as there are 24 states to the right of the state and 25 states to the left.

It is right in between all of them on the map. I had learned years ago that this area was once considered to be one of the best antique locations on the east side of the Mississippi. Some believe that this was because a barge was needed to reach the west side that would cost them their belongings. Evil men took advantage of them and the east side of the Mississippi was where many just made their home as a result.

Here are some other interesting facts about the state of Illinois...

- It became a state on December 3rd, 1818. Their 200th anniversary was just two days ago.
- It was one of the main hubs for both the Mafia and the KKK.
- Both Obama and Abe Lincoln began their political careers there.

- On a personal note, this is where I was born, where my parents met and where my mom was adopted.

Illinois is also hot and humid and therefore prone to tornado activity. My first recollection of Illinois was during a tornado when I was about four years old in Peoria, Illinois. I also recall Easter in Varna, Illinois, as that is where I saw little yellow fuzzy chicks for the first time.

I also remember that my grandpa took me to a real soda fountain. For just one nickel, he bought us two root beer ice cream floats. They were served in large glass cups, each with long spoons and straws. Other than that, I do not have a lot of memories there other than gravestones of relatives and markers of the roots of my family. I also still remember stories about the Great Depression and starving families.

Father, the times we are currently in are very difficult. Evil has severely increased and is continuing to do so very, very rapidly. Just recently, I read an article about someone mistreating a baby to a point that I just could not believe it. Who tortures babies? It just grieves my heart. Perhaps these evil people are keeping these babies for welfare purposes. Who truly knows though other than God?

Father, the demonic presence everywhere is becoming increasingly unmistakable. Please strengthen us greatly and soon. We have had some very upsetting blows recently. While the usual 'normal' problems of everyday life continue, I am now wearing down quickly. Well, Father, I am struggling greatly.

Father, I have a dear friend that has a little girl that is in trouble. You know my friend's name and the baby's name and both are in Your care. I know that You have her, but I pray that You strengthen my friend and heal her baby. Please, Father, give her a sign to show her that You are there in this valley with her.

Oh Father, grief is so difficult. The pain of the heart, and the pain of being unable to do anything about it, is so hard. Father, You can heal her from where You are because You are all around us. Please, Father, if we are Your lights, then shine through us. Please light the flame in us. Strengthen us to be Your servants in all of this darkness.

All of the opposite of the fruits of the Spirit are manifesting everywhere now. Please, Father, please shine Your light in us. Please do not place us where we cannot be seen. We want to be used by You to light the darkness. In Matthew 5:15, it is written, "Nor do people light a lamp and put it under a basket, but on a stand, and it gives light to all in the house."

So, Father, please consider us. We are the Bride. We are the maidens who watch for our Groom to come. We have been diligent. We have plenty of oil to keep our lamps burning until You come for us. However, why keep the home lighted for only those under our roof to see it? If we are the light of the world, why do You keep us hidden?

Oh please, Father, please use us soon. We love our Groom and we have sacrificed ourselves to search You. We long to be in Your presence and at Your service. So therefore, You tell us in Matthew 5:16, "In the same way, let your light shine before others so that they might see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in Heaven." However, Father, we are instead still tucked away as of now.

The world is becoming so cold so quickly. It is dark...well, very dark now. Father, the 'snake-tivity' is next to the Nativity, with both on display. There is a battle between the self-wisdom of man apart from You and the faith that You will be God over us and will bless us. Please vindicate us. Change us so that we terrify the enemy because You are here and You are bigger than all of them.

Father, strengthen us and make our faces shine like the sun, all of us who are blessed because of our suffering and pain in Matthew 5:2-12. Father, rise up in us here and now. Make Heaven visible in us. Your promises are for here and for now. It is freezing right now in this part of the world and the grapes are ripe for the harvest. However, there are fewer and fewer every day. Please, Father, rise up in us! Do so quickly!

Sub-dream 1 description begins...

In my dream last night, I woke up in a shallow grave. I was in a valley and dawn was starting to break very slightly. I could see a lighted area where the sun was beginning to rise at least an hour before the dawn. While my eyes were completely open, my body still felt as if I was in a deep sleep. I then heard either Jesus or Uriel (I could not tell which) call out to me...

"Erin, arise! Arise! Wake up now!"

I sat up quickly in my dream. In an instant later, I then awoke suddenly from my sleep. I looked over at my clock and it was around 2:30am.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again in the valley of the twelve rows of grapes. I was crying as I looked over the landscape. It was night and beautifully clear. I felt a hand on my shoulder. I looked over and there was Uriel again. He was in full battle armor. I knew that he had been fighting with his sword as you could see the remnants of war on it.

Uriel: "Erin, God has sent me. We are in an epic battle. We will not retreat until God commands us to. Our retreat will not be until the harvesting is finished. You have not begun the harvesting yet as you are awaiting the King's orders. You are to wait for Him as you are in the service of the King.

"Remember that a general...or, in this case, the King...does not reveal His secret weapon until the time of its greatest value against the enemy." He looked at me and smiled good-naturedly. "In other words, Erin, the Lord has not forgotten you.

"Now, we, the angels, have been commanded to not yet release the full battering of the nations. What you are seeing right now is merely an uptick in activity as those hidden are soon to rise and come against the land and those who remain. These are the evil entities and are the enemy.

"In contrast, the opposite of evil, God's lamps..." He pointed towards me and smiled. "...will shine as bright as the sun and will expose the hidden. The evil will then have cause to confess with their lips all that they have done against the Kingdom of God. Your very presence will terrify them.

"Now, I must go. I have come to tell you to be strong and take courage as you will see some more difficult things soon. However, be encouraged as Jesus has overcome the darkness and He is bringing His lights with Him." He smiled and pointed towards me again. "He loves His lights.

"Now, you are anxious and tired right now because you know something has begun which cannot be stopped. You, Erin, have seen what is coming and you are terrified. However, do not be. Stay strong and be of good courage as the Lord is with you. Greater are those with you than are those against you.

"Now, you will soon be changed and in an instant. This change will come upon you as a thief in the night. You will be in a dream and you will think that 'this is only a dream'. However, when you awake from this 'dream', you will soon notice your ability to breathe has become greater. You will then notice that you feel alive and strong again. As you will be amazed by this, it will then take some adjustment for you to fully comprehend it.

"However, when you then begin to move around, you will notice that your pain has been completely removed. You will then get up and dance." He looked at me and smiled. "While there is even more to this, I must go now. Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. Be strong and take courage. The Lord is with you."

Uriel turned away from me and towards his horse. He jumped up onto his horse and flew back up into the darkness. In an instant, he was gone.

Dream 314 – Uriel and the Wheel of Misfortune

Received on Thursday, December 6, 2018 (Kislev 28)

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love. Thank You for all that we have. Thank You for treating us so much better than we deserve.

Thank You that our children will not be travelling this Christmas. Thank You that they will remain with us here. They were given a choice to opt out this year and they did. We are in shock...absolute shock! Surely, Father, You have yet again fulfilled prophecy. You told us in a Personal Word that 'there will be a time where your children will be given a choice and will opt out'. This has now happened!

While they did not go to their father's in the summer either, they had wanted to. However, an argument ensued between the children and their father and their father said 'no' to them coming out. While this was an event we did not expect, this Christmas' 'opt out' seems to be more like the real 'marker' we had been looking for. That being said, I am not exactly certain what this was 'marking'.

Father, my husband will soon have to expand his job search since all jobs in the Pacific NW has so far seemed to be closed to him. While You have told me in a different Personal Word (of which, I get many) that our move would not necessarily be contingent on my husband's employment, this means that truly a huge miracle would be required in order for us to move without this.

In fact, just the thought of all of this is far too overwhelming because, from my viewpoint of the 'natural', not the 'supernatural', this seems impossible to me. However, to You and through You, I know that all things are possible and that nothing is impossible.

I had a strange dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "The Wheel of Misfortune" description begins...

I saw the clock face fall at the Clock Tower at the campus of Purdue University just like I had seen on the news in 'real life'. I watched this massive clock face drop as the workers watched. The workers were helpless to stop what was in motion.

In a blink of an eye, I was now in an audience watching a type of 'Wheel of Fortune', but a demonic version that I will call the 'Wheel of Misfortune'. The clock I had seen fall was now on a spinning platform. However, it had now been changed from an ordinary clock face to one with 24 separate sections or wedges.

I then watched as two 'demonic' versions of Pat Sajak and Vanna White walked out to assume their positions. This was definitely not them, but rather a couple of people who were impersonating them. It was clear that these two people did not 'look right' to me. The three contestants waiting there for them were three world leaders. While I was kept from recognizing them, I somehow knew that each were important on the world stage.

I then saw 'fake Pat' announce that the 'bankruptcy' wedges had now been replaced by 'TIME'S UP' wedges instead. While I could not help but laugh out loud at this, I was drowned out by the moaning, swearing and complaining of the three contestants and the rest of the audience.

This moaning, swearing and complaining became even worse when 'fake Pat' started to read out eight of the other 24 wedges. I quickly recognized that these were the exact opposite of the Beatitudes in Matthew 5:3-11:

- Cursed are the haughty in spirit for their kingdom is hell.
- Cursed are they who scoff for they will be tormented.
- Cursed are the proud for they will be bankrupted.
- Cursed are they who plot injustice for they will be served the same by their own accuser.
- Cursed are the callous for they will be shown wanting on the scales.
- Cursed are the black hearted for they will surely see satan in Sheol.
- Cursed are the war makers for they will be called children of the god of war.
- Cursed are they who persecute and sodomize the saints for theirs is the kingdom of the Lake of Fire.

I then saw that the other wedges on the wheel said 'Israel', 'Jerusalem', 'USA', 'Internet' and so on. These were the most desirable wedges to the contestants. They were even referred to as the 'domination wedges'. There were also some funny 'one-time' bonuses stuck on some of the wedges that were similar to the '1/2 car' bonuses, but instead were '1/2 Jerusalem' bonuses. If all of this wasn't so evil, it would have actually been quite humorous.

I then watched as each of three contestants took turns spinning the wheel. No matter how they spun the wheel, it would continuously stop on one of the 'TIME'S UP' wedges. The contestants were becoming angrier with each spin of the wheel. The 'fake Pat', regarded as an expert in spinning the wheel, decided to give it a try and he too kept landing on 'TIME'S UP'. The host cursed God with each spin of the wheel.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, please help me with our situation here. I cannot imagine being here when all of these events from Your Clock and Calendar in Heaven happen.

Please grant us strength, knowledge and divine wisdom to stand in the face of such opposition.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was sitting with my eyes closed. I heard a voice from behind me call out 'Rise Up, Erin!' When I opened my eyes, I saw a massive wheat field before me. It had broken stalks and was heavy with ice. It looked as if a sudden freeze occurred right before the harvest. I then looked over to my right and there was a massive field with wheat ready to harvest and with no ice. I stood up.

Me: "Where are You, Lord? Uriel, are you there?"

Just then, Uriel appeared. He had walked through an open sky and then the sky shut. In the short time that the sky had been open, I could see thick smoke and movement. I knew that he had just come from the war.

Uriel: "While I do not have much time to spend with you today, God has called me to tell you that He is with you. The enemy and his workers no longer have access to God's Courts. This would be similar to a judge giving them his instructions and orders from his bench, but not giving them the paperwork from his decision.

"In other words, the enemy is testing his boundaries and is angry at the perimeters that have now been set up by God. We are here to enforce the directives made by God, as well as enforce those territories with established borders of entry. The confusion you are experiencing and are seeing in the physical around you are people with demonic strongholds that just lost contact. This is why you are seeing such odd behaviors."

Me: "Do you mean that this is like they are aliens and that their communication to their 'mothership' is down? Does this mean that the angels of God are confounding and confining the enemy as we speak?"

Uriel: "Well, yes, it is like what you stated, but there is much more to this. Erin, there is a plot in place against Israel and the USA. There is also a plot to assassinate the Crown Prince of Saudi Arabia by his critics in order to gain control over Mecca."

Me: "Uriel, is the enemy not a 'united kingdom'?"

Uriel: "Yes, but there is now a lust for power against common enemies. These common enemies are the USA and Israel. However, this is really not a change as it has always been this way. They seek to remove anyone standing in their way to power over Mecca and over the world.

"You have only to seek those in the UN who are consistently opposed to the USA and Israel to know who is controlling the narrative. It is unfair as Israel is attacked relentlessly by the UN. When Israel's people defend themselves or fight back, they are the ones to be found guilty of crimes. Do not worry about this though as God has seen the course of the architect of lies."

Me: "Hmm, I had thought that the Saudi Prince was likeable and popular with his people?"

Uriel: "No, Erin. There is a plot to remove him. Remember that God had originally separated the nations and confused their language. Their goal is to reverse this so that the world has only one governing body, one entity.

"There is also a plot to open the borders of both the southern USA and the northern USA, as well as the global waters. While these are disguised as humanitarian efforts, this too is a lie. Their secret slogan is 'Tear down the walls and storm the city'. 'Walls' hinder access and is the reason why they are so hated by the enemy.

"Now, once the Saudi Prince is removed and his family killed, both the oil and Mecca will be controlled by a type of 'savior of the people'. You, as a believer in the Lord, are an enemy of the One World Government, a government to be controlled by Islam, the offspring of Ishmael.

"Remember that this is only their plot or plan. This is not God's plan as He is the Creator. Remember that their 'Wheel of Fortune' is only in light of God's Will, NOT 'their will be done'. Their control is limited. Just know that they are seeking the destruction of all that is God's and all that is good. They plot evil continuously and call for the death of God's chosen.

"Now, I must go. However, do not worry. Be strong and take courage. When you begin to see all of this unfold, you are not to be surprised. While you still have time there, do not be afraid as God is with you and will be with you in an even greater way. Heaven will be opened to you. You will be strengthened because of this. You are loved by the King!"

Uriel then turned and went back up into the sky from where he had come. As he went up into the sky, the sky opened and he disappeared into the opening.

Dream 315 – Uriel and the Pattern of Job in our lives

Communion

Dear Father,

I praise You this morning with everything I have. With my whole heart, I am glad that You are my Father. I was once forgotten, abandoned and a stain, but You took me in and nourished me with Your Words. I dedicate this day to You, Father. I just love You so much. Thank You! Thank You for Your goodness and for Your loving kindness!

It is slippery outside today. The ground is frozen solid and the bare dirt is now covered with ice. Thank You for helping me to get my girls safely to school. As we drove this morning, around sunrise, just before the sun shone on the mountainous horizon, a column of bright crimson shot up into the sky. It looked like a flame!

We stopped to take a photo. My daughter tried her best to capture the image, but the photos really did not catch the awesome sight that our eyes were seeing. Even though the lens of the camera filtered the beautiful flame on the horizon, I knew it was a sign from You, Father, so thank You!

My dreams last night were exciting. My first dream provided more details on my "Wheel of Misfortune" dream as posted in yesterday's Dream 314...

Sub-dream 1 "The Wheel of Misfortune Revisited" description begins...

I saw the wheel again, but the curses were now hidden under the wedge prizes. As such, these curses were now hidden to the participants. The wheel had also changed in that there were now too many partitions or wedges to count. It previously only had 24 wedges, the same as the real 'Wheel of Fortune'.

The participants were extremely excited about the various parcels of land that were now on the wheel. It was all about power and money. They did not care what could happen to them in eternity. The hidden cursed wedges were under the wedges that portioned out parts of Israel, Jerusalem and the USA in such horrible ways.

You then showed me that men who quickly run to evil simply cannot contain their excitement over the prospect of harming the innocent. You then showed me the demonic entities all around this 'Wheel of Misfortune'. You then pointed out that, to these participants, it said 'Wheel of Fortune'. They somehow could not see the 'Mis' part attached to the Fortune. The 'Mis' was missing to them!

I could tell that the demonic realm was very excited that the people around the wheel, including the host, could so easily be manipulated to manifest their demonic entity. Their demonic entity manifested in them very easily. Seeing this unfold somehow produced an odd type of shock in me. It is the type of shock that, when you see it, you think, 'Oh please let there be a witness to what I am seeing as I cannot believe my eyes right now!'

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Well, Father, You have shown me that this type of demonic manifesting is now occurring in the physical realm all around us here on Earth. This will be something we will all begin to witness as the hour is very late. We have even seen these entities manifest in children. I recently encountered this at a discount thrift store known for its wide selection of costumes.

There was a boy named 'Conner' and he was about five years old. He was looking at costumes and both of his parents were with him. Conner was wearing a princess costume over his clothes and the parents looked proud. I could hear them talking together and they were now looking for wigs and princess slippers for him.

I had to do a double take on this as I was having trouble comprehending what was going on. I then caught Conner looking at me. He had a very demonic look to him. It was as if he knew who I was in the Lord and grinned. Even though I was haunted by his look, I smiled at him and said loud enough for the parents to here, 'I will see you around, Conner.'

I said this cheerily and made sure that there was no fluctuation in my voice to give away my surprise at his evil stare. Conner did not look so happy about that either. His parents were clueless and seemed delighted that I was interacting with their son. After this, Conner kept his eyes on me. I waved at him a few times and he looked away each time. I knew the demonic manifestation did not like that I seemed unphased by this.

Oh Lord, please have mercy! Seriously? Father, I never thought I would actually be here to witness all of this. My husband experienced the same thing last week from a 'special needs' boy around the age of fourteen. He said that the look the kid gave him was so evil that chills instantly ran down his spine. He too felt led to cover up his surprise by being friendly to the boy and his mom.

Please power us up, Father! We are going to need the help!!

My next dream was so cool that I could get 'lost in it' over and over again if I could. After I got home this morning, I dropped to my knees and was so thankful to You, Father. Thank You for my dreams and visions. What refreshing water they are and they quench my hurting heart.

Sub-dream 2 "A Life Full of Activities" description begins...

I was in Portland, Oregon on a road near Lewis and Clark College. This road runs through the exclusive area of Dunthorpe and is known as the place with Portland's 'Old Money'. I had driven this road everyday on my way from home in the SW Portland Hills to Lake Oswego where I had two of my businesses.

I was riding a bicycle that had a ridiculous number of items balanced on it. Even though I was having trouble keeping the bike straight, I kept picking even more things up. It was not that long before I could no longer stay up and be balanced. As I simply could no longer ride that overburdened loaded bike down that Dunthorpe Oregon Road, I decided to shove the load off of my bike.

I found a bunch of Trillium plants and pushed my bike towards it, heavy load and all. Once there, I shoved my load violently into the plants. The vigor with which I threw these burdens of mine into the plants surprised me, but then I realized just how much I hated this load. As soon as I did this, I somehow became a tiny toddler again.

I fell to the ground. At first, I could not move, but then I was on my knees and crawling. I was so happy to be free from my burdens. I knew that I was now a tiny infant as I could see that my hands were tiny and I could even feel drool coming from my mouth. I laughed with glee at my newly found and wonderful freedom.

I then went from crawling to walking. I had a hard time at first just as most infants do when first using their legs. I smiled and laughed as I was loving being freed of that heavy load. I then laughed with glee when I found a tricycle. As I rode the tricycle, it somehow morphed into a bike with training wheels.

As I could soon ride the bike with ease, the training wheels simply disappeared. I then went from that to running, biking and swimming. I then went to my high school days and was cycling, running and dancing, all near the joy of the water near our home in Idaho. From there, I saw myself doing an even greater extreme of activities.

Then, one day, it all stopped. I had grown tired. I then gave myself up completely to God after He had brought me through several years of punishing that broke me. I saw my Trek Racing Bike parked in the garage. I saw my running shoes shoved in a corner. I saw films of my dance performances on VHS tapes, but unable to play them now.

I then saw the last thing my mom had purchased for me thinking that I would soon be back to 100% health. It was a set of custom Titleist DT irons. These irons were so good that it was the only time that I could spin the ball backwards. At the time I was playing in college, it was rare for a woman to be able to do this in golf.

After looking at this for a while in sadness, I felt You reach down and pick me up. I felt a mighty wind and it went into my lungs. It was surely the Breath of God. He then placed my feet on a solid rock and said, 'Now, Erin!'

I looked up and I saw Open Heaven. I then looked around and saw others who God had called.

I was so excited that I leaped off of the rock, leaped over another and skipped over another. I then went to a highway through a valley and began to run. It felt so fantastic. I was completely free from pain, stiffness or shortness of breath. Tears streamed down my cheeks as I thanked God for this gift.

I then looked down at a river and noticed that a scullers boat was waiting for me. I had always wanted one. I climbed in and was soon rowing with great precision and speed. I then came up to a large pool and dove into it. I was able to keep my breath held underwater for much longer than is humanly possible. I came to the surface and swam very fast with virtually no splashing.

I then looked over at the peaceful shore and saw a racing bike waiting for me. I climbed onto the bike and raced like the wind straight up a huge 45-degree angle hill. Even though the hill was long and impossibly steep, I did not once run out of breath. I did this with ease. There was no strain on my body.

The bike soon turned into a wind sail. I could somehow fly and could see over the entire area with it. Even though I did not have wings, I could fly! I stayed up in the air for quite some time and was gleeful. Just then, a massive eagle came towards me and swept me up onto its back. I felt so happy and safe there as we glided over the terrain.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Oh Father, I felt so fantastic in this dream. It was truly a miracle and gift from You. I needed this, Father. I love You! I love You so much!

I had a dream similar to the above dream in 1999 or 2000, about 18 to 19 years ago, when I was pregnant with my youngest son. While the scenario illustrated above was similar in ways to this dream, this one was a much better continuation of it and one I enjoyed so much more. Thank You, Father, for this amazing dream.

I remember even more about my time back then. I had too much happening. There were way too many things on my plate and I had a heavy burden. I was a very good business woman and designer. I seemed to be well liked by clients. I had a lot of friends in the church. I had even designed the remodel of our large church right down to matching choir robes and flower arrangements.

In my businesses, I was cunning and shrewd, but always ethical, particularly with any signed contracts. I was what you would call a 'Christian Sinner'. Why? I would often times tell white lies in order to keep clients from bothering me and panicking about late shipments. While I was cagey and stayed within the perimeters of business ethics, I now realize I was out of bounds when it came to Biblical principles.

Even though I did this six days a week, I would then try to make everything 'right' at Sunday's service. I would cry out for mercy. I would go down to the altar to ask for forgiveness. The problem was that, on Monday, the 'Sinner's Cycle' would start again as if I was keeping it hidden from God. Seriously, it was as if I had left Him at the Altar.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up on a cleft or butte of a familiar valley. I saw the harvest taking place there. I could see that this field was smaller than the massive frozen wheat field I had previously seen and this made me sad. Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and it was Uriel. I could tell that he had come to speak with me from the battle again.

Uriel: "Erin, I have been sent by God to let you know that He has heard your cries and He knows your pain. The pattern of those whom God has called can be seen in Job. You have been tested like Job. You had lost your monetary wealth. You were then hit with the grief of painful loss and someone close to you told you to turn from God.

"You did not do so, but then you endured physical punishment and loss of your full function. While you were dealing with all of this, friends then came to you to remind you of all of the areas where you fell short of God's blessings and why you were instead being cursed.

"Each of your friends then deserted you. All you thought you could count on was then lost. You cried out to God in your pain, sorrow and abandonment! God heard your cries and He called out to you. He opened Heavens to you.

"He will now restore all that you have lost. You will not only receive all that you have lost, but you will receive a double portion! He has not forgotten you, Erin. Do not worry. Be strong and take courage for the Lord is with you. He will take hold of your right hand and bring you before your enemies, your scoffers.

"Now, Erin, you have found a jewel in the pages of your brokenness just now..."

Me: "Yes. I just opened my old Bible, my battle Bible, the Bible that took me over all of my valleys, my tests and my trials. I cried out to God and marked the days in this book. However, just this morning, I discovered a Psalm that I did not mark up. It was never illuminated until today and I am not sure why."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, it is the 144th Psalm and is written for this time. It is a hidden jewel, as was Psalm 45 to you fourteen years ago. Now, rejoice, as a hidden mystery is soon to be unearthed. Rejoice in God, Erin, for He has found favor upon you. Now, I must go back!"

He turned away and leaped onto his winged horse. It flew rapidly towards an opening in the sky and then he disappeared. As I stood there looking up, I knew in my heart yet again that the Lord is my Rock and my Fortress and will always be, from now and to eternity. Psalm 144 once again came to my mind ...

"Blessed be the Lord, my Rock, who trains my hands for war, and my fingers for battle; He is my Steadfast Love and my Fortress, my Stronghold and my Deliverer, my Shield and He in whom I take refuge, who subdues peoples under me. O Lord, what is man that You regard him, or the Son of Man that You think of him? Man is like a breath; his days are like a passing shadow.

"Bow Your Heavens, O Lord, and come down! Touch the mountains so that they smoke! Flash forth the lightning and scatter them; send out Your arrows and rout them! Stretch out Your Hand from on high; rescue me and deliver me from the many waters, from the hand of foreigners, whose mouths speak lies and whose right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

"I will sing a new song to You, O God; upon a ten-stringed harp I will play to You, who gives victory to kings, who rescues David his servant from the cruel sword. Rescue me and deliver me from the hand of foreigners, whose mouths speak lies and whose right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

"May our sons in their youth be like plants full grown, our daughters like corner pillars cut for the structure of a palace; may our granaries be full, providing all kinds of produce; may our sheep bring forth thousands and ten thousands in our fields; may our cattle be heavy with young, suffering no mishap or failure in bearing; may there be no cry of distress in our streets!

"Blessed are the people to whom such blessings fall! Blessed are the people whose God is the Lord!"

Communion

Dear Father,

First of all, thank You! Thank You for the promise of restoration, the promise of victory and the promise of one day being Home in Heaven.

Father, my burden is heavy today. Something has happened in this world and my burden is for those who will be caught suddenly and unaware of what is happening until it is too late. I see such utterly disgusting things around us, even just locally, which is not making the news. There are also things on the national news being covered that really have no place or purpose other than to subtly brainwash the public.

I have been on a quest ever since I received a large box of personal effects from my late father's widow. Incidentally, his widow is about nine years younger than I am, which was a bit of a surprise. The box she had sent contained items that would have been of no interest to her. There are photos, birth certificates, documents and on and on. None of this is of any real value to anyone other than 'ancestral record keeping'.

As I had received nothing from either of my parents upon their deaths, this pleasant surprise took me on a bit of a journey. I had asked about some items I had been promised from my grandparents, but there were no items and no answers. I have since learned to accept this as God's Will. Apparently, many things over the years were stolen, lost or pillaged. However, who really knows other than You, Father?

Antiques and collectibles all have stories, many of which are based in innocent and humble beginnings. However, many had been stolen, plundered and are therefore reminders of the spoils of past wars. Throughout the years, I was a collector of various items, including these. As I have been told many times years ago, I seemed to have a special talent for acquiring such valuable items for a good price.

I actually feel this is a God-given gift as it has been such a huge blessing and has bailed me out several times. When difficult times came up for me and my kids, a public sale of these items proved to be quite the blessing for us. Even though I knew these items were valuable, I had temporarily become discouraged when an auctioneer told me that he only felt a couple of the items were valuable.

While I did not agree with him, I kept my opinion to myself and worried whether or not he would have our best interests at heart. Well, my fear was soon diminished when the line to get into my sale was down around the block. Even though he was in shock, he started to issue numbers to each bidder. When the dust settled, the sale was a huge success and even exceeded my expectations.

Oh Father, I will never forget pulling away from this auction with my kids in the car. As I drove away, I glanced back at them and told them that this would give us a fresh start. Little did I know that I would soon need all of this money just to fight to keep them. These items had turned out to be a gift to be used at the proper time. Other than a few items, I was always able to sell them for more than I had purchased them.

I believe that this was a test to see how much I would trade for my children. Although it was difficult to see my things being pillaged and sold off, it allowed me to keep my children with me. Lord, though it did not get any easier, You promised us that You would restore all that the enemy has taken. I was worried about this recently and questioned how You would be able to do this to my husband as it seems impossible.

My husband's response to me: "Listen, Erin, if God can create the entire Universe and everything in it in six days, surely He is big enough to fulfill His relatively small promises to us. Just because He hasn't done it yet, doesn't mean He won't. Take a deep breath and know that this day will soon come. If He promises something, no one can stop Him from fulfilling it, right?"

Yes, I knew that he was and is right! Nothing is too big for our God! I am yet again thinking 'too small'. Father, You are amazing. You are gracious. You are merciful. You are above us in all things. You give good gifts to those who love You. As I had let go of 'my stuff' before, I realized that I could do it again if necessary. As life is more precious than diamonds and wisdom is greater than rubies, I would do it all over again!

Father, You are so precious to me! I love You! There are so many out there in the world who do not know You and this saddens me. They cry out in agony, yet they do not know the only One, You, Who can answer. They do not recognize Your Voice. I am so sad. Where would I be if I did not have You? I know...lost, angry and bitter.

Father, please forgive me. Please forgive me for not knowing you sooner. While I have lost time, I have gained 'Rubies of Wisdom' from You! Now, Father, the world has grown so cold and so quickly. If the world keeps descending into darkness like it has been, who will be able to endure it? You gave me a few dreams last night..

I was in a long line waiting for a train. Everyone, including me, was wearing dark clothing. I knew I was a child in this dream as I was the height of a child of the same height standing in front of me. This child had curly hair, a hat, a long wool coat and some lace up boots. She was carrying a little stuffed bear in her left hand and was holding her mother's hand in her right hand.

The walk of the group was more like a somber shuffle and everyone stayed quiet. I looked up ahead and saw a man sitting at a card table with a list of names. When the family arrived at the table, the man had them empty their pockets. He took everything of value or perceived value and then verified their address. He then pointed to their wedding bands. Once they handed the bands to him, he gave them some papers.

After this, they went into the line to board the train. The man noticed that the little girl still had her teddy bear, so he got up and took it. The girl immediately burst into tears. I saw him put it into a metal container that was now full. I saw it marked and labelled. It was then carried away and another empty container came to replace it.

I decided to leave the lineup to see where they were taking this full container. For some reason, no one saw me leave the lineup. This must have been supernatural as they were keenly watching to keep anyone from doing this. Leaving the lineup was not something they tolerated. I then watched as this full container was split into two piles: A pile of valuables and a pile of 'useless items', such as this little girl's teddy bear.

I then watched as the pile of useless items were dumped into a type of trash bin. The trash pile was huge. Wanting to sooth the little girl, I gathered the little stuffed bear that the man had thrown out. I was going to go back into the line for the train when I was stopped. To my surprise, I was not stopped by one of the guards, which would have been horrible, but by a woman that had quietly approached me.

Woman: "You are in the wrong place. Come with me."

She looked at the teddy bear, along with the other items I was carrying, including a bag of items I had taken from the pile but had not yet opened, but did not say anything. I nodded in agreement to follow her. The woman then took me to a church and took my papers away from me. I said nothing in return. I guess I was still in shock from all that I had just seen at the train station.

Woman: "Come with me. You will now be part of my family."

I then walked with her to where the rest of her family was. The people there greeted me with smiles and hugs. They were so nice. Within a short time, we started to travel. We traveled for many days until we then boarded a ship. Once on the ship, I remembered the unopened bag of items I had taken and decided to open it.

When I opened the bag and looked in, I saw small figurines. They looked like 'Hummel's', but I was unsure. I saw some porcelain birds and other similar items. While most were in good shape, some had broken due to the rough treatment of the bag by the guards at the train station.

As I looked over all of these interesting items, I kept wondering if I would ever see the little girl that owned the teddy bear again. The woman noticed me looking at the teddy bear and instinctively knew what I was thinking.

Woman: "No, you will never see her again."

Me: "But...but...I have her teddy bear."

Woman: "Then pray for her and remember her through that bear, as well as the others through the other items you now have. From now on, you must forget your family. You must forget your father's house, understand?"

Me: "Yes, I think so."

She smiled at me to try and comfort me. I knew that I looked sad about all that I had seen and about the little girl. Even though I was sad for the little girl and the others that I had left behind, I was glad that I was safe with my new family.

Sub-dream 2 "Skyrocketing Inflation" description begins...

I was in a higher end pawn shop with locked glass display cases. Inside of the refrigerated cases, I saw gallons of milk, cartons of eggs, sticks of butter and pints of cream. I also saw other glass display cases with bags of sugar, flour and coffee. One of the refrigerated cases was empty and had a note that read, 'Sold out of meat today!'

I then gasped when I noticed the prices of the goods being sold. For example, the price of a gallon of milk was $80 and a carton of eggs, some sticks of butter and a pint of cream were each selling for $100. People were standing in long lines to buy these items and were trading all that they had for this food. I felt sick to my stomach as all of this looked so real.

Communion

Dear Father,

I praise You for Your good works! While I do not always understand You, I do know that You work everything together for the good of those who love You.

Father, my friend's father went Home to be with You last night. I thought that You would miraculously heal him to strengthen our faith. Instead, he is gone. I have lost two parents in 2½ years and it is difficult. My mom was difficult to lose, but I took comfort in all You showed me surrounding her and how You spoke to her.

I believe that death never has the final word. You do, Father! You do! You have Your reasons to allow one thing, but not allow the other. You know everything, as well as the outcomes of this or that. Please comfort my friend as she loves You so much. Please comfort her and her family. As one family mourns at a Homegoing, another family celebrates at a Homecoming. Please, Father, show Your love to these families and give them comfort, perhaps by showing them their loved ones from a distance in Heaven. I had a short dream last night about a group of young men fly-fishing in Heaven. Perhaps one of these men is this man that had just died. However, You did not confirm this to me one way or the other...

Sub-dream 3 "Fly-fishing in Heaven" description begins...

I saw several men fly-fishing in a beautiful river setting. The water was crystal clear, the color of glaciated water. All of the men were young, handsome and strong. I could tell that they were all good friends as they were laughing and joking with each other as if they did not have a care in the world. I knew that this was a part of Heaven, but a part of Heaven that I had never seen before.

I was watching all of this from just above the trees and could see over the entire area. From my vantage point, there were the most beautiful rainbow trout I had ever seen in the water. The seasoned fly fishermen were joking with each other on how to get things done. The motion of the dance of the fly-fishing lines made an amazing musical sound.

In the woods on one side of the river, a different man was just learning how to fly-fish. I saw an angel instructing him there. When he was finished being instructed, the angel told him to go into the river to fish with the others. Once in the river, he used his new supernaturally incredible fly-fishing skills and soon caught a massive rainbow trout.

While the others were stunned at his quick success, one said good-naturedly, "Hey, wait a minute. I think that there was an angel in the woods teaching you." Just then, the angel walked out and took a theatrical bow, as if he was on a stage receiving applause after a play had just finished being performed. They all laughed at this wonderful sight.

The new fisherman then said to his other fishermen friends, "Hey, I have to run. I am going sailing with Jesus!" They all nodded. One of them then replied, "Oh wow, you will love it. Ask Him if we can join you both at dinner afterwards. We will even provide the fish." They all laughed, including the angel.

Sub-dream 3 description over...

Friend confirms that this was about her father: We had sent this sub-dream to our friend in advance of this dream being posted and asked her if she thought whether this could be about her father. Here was her reply:

"I have to say, absolutely yes. Not sure which one, but seemed like the new guy? My dad loved to fly-fish and would longingly talk about wanting to go and catch trout in the mountain rivers. He didn't do it much in his later years, but if I could imagine what he was doing in Heaven, fly fishing would be at the top of his list. He was very good-natured and would certainly be laughing and joking with his family and friends.

"Dad loved fly fishing. Since he didn't get to go very often, he was not really good at it. He would spend an afternoon sending the fly back and forth and would never catch anything. He said he loved the experience but I know he was disappointed that he never caught anything. Imagine his first time in Heaven giving it a try and landing the biggest fish! Now that is Heaven!

"As for sailing, I am not sure. He and my step-mother owned a Sea Ray boat for several years and kept it at the marina. I don't remember his sailing on a sailboat, but, since he loved being on the water, I could see him jumping at the chance to go with Jesus. Who wouldn't? Very cool that this was at a place in Heaven that you had not seen before, and with the angel joking around too."

Note on the "We will even provide the fish" part: A past dream once showed that there was hunting in Heaven, but without death. It was actually a game played between the hunters and the animals and they took turns hunting each other. No animals (or humans) were hurt in the making of that dream...smiles!

This is true for this dream as well. Though the fishing is real, the hook causes no pain and the fish is released. However, the 'rewards of fishing', the 'filets' of the fish, are then provided if desired as a meal for later, but all without death. How that works, I still have no idea. Yet another mystery.

Sub-dream 4 "The beast rises, a tsunami comes" description begins...

My family and others like us were called to a coastline to warn people at a certain resort that God was going to shake the ground and send a tsunami to wipe out the area. The beach was very beautiful and people were enjoying the sun and the water. While some people immediately heeded our warning, others looked at us in disbelief.

Once we were able to warn everyone there, whether they listened or not, the sky suddenly turned dark and the Earth shook. We were then instructed to stand in a long line, like a wall, against the ocean. We then saw a large beast rise up out of the ocean. It was quite frightening. We were not to fight the beast, but instead we were to hold back the tidal wave.

As we help up our arms, using strength that could have only come directly from God, the wall of water was held back. The beast then devoured all those who had decided to remain in the water. We were not to do anything other than hold the wall of water back until God told us to release it.

It seemed as if we were there for quite some time as the beast had time to call us many horrible things, as well as foul things about God. We then heard a trumpet. An angel of God then called us to release the wave. My family and others like us that were called here were instantly removed and taken to other places.

As for me, I remained and was taken up several hundred feet into the sky in order to observe the area. In the distance, I could see people that had heeded our warning and had now driven out of harm's way. The beast looked furious as he was not able to devour those who had been saved by our warnings.

I was then taken down a series of tributaries, but still looking down from above. I saw a light brown sandy surface that might have been a desert area before the wave hit. I saw fingers, or tributaries, of water flowing inland through this desert area. From above, it looked like the roots of a tree. The water was colorless and clear and looked refreshing.

I was then instructed to fly down to the ground. I landed right in the middle of this sandy area with the water channels. God instructed me to taste the water. I dipped my finger in and tasted it and was surprised at how bitter the water tasted. It was half salt water and half fresh water. While it was 'just water', it still seemed deceptive to me. I instinctively knew that this water would be bad to drink.

As I stood there, I noticed hundreds of large eels swimming up and down these estuaries. It was as if the beast had somehow sent them inland. There were some very large ones and they were hideous looking. Just then, something distracted me near the railroad tracks that were there. I saw a man with a young girl. He was holding a camera. The man looked evil and I knew in an instant that his intent was evil.

My daughter then appeared next to me and told me that we were to go over to where the man and the girl was. She had two cameras. She handed me one and kept one for herself. I turned back to look at the eels in the estuaries and witnessed as all of them disappeared into the sand.

Without words, the Lord then instructed both of us as to what to do next. We were to scuttle the man's plans by removing the girl from the area. We started off by taking photos of him with the girl. He became furious over this and was very angry that we were there. We then saw two beautiful birds appear. Even though they were peacocks, one male and one female, they lacked color.

Man: "Now see what you did? They had color. However, when you showed up, they lost their beauty. Wherever you people go, you destroy all of the beauty!"

The Lord then showed me what this man saw. It was a type of veil over the man's eyes and it showed the peacocks as being a dull brown. The Lord then showed me what God's eyes saw and the peacocks were absolutely beautiful. While the surrounding area was also beautiful in 'God's eyes', it was dull and lifeless in their 'veiled eyes'.

My daughter went over to the girl and touched her. This lifted the veil off of her eyes. You could see the girl smiling and in awe of the beauty of the area. My daughter motioned for her to stay quiet about what she was seeing. However, her smile disappeared when she then told my daughter what this man had been doing to her.

My daughter: In a voice loud enough for the man to hear. "You should see the beautiful water over there."

She then pointed towards the bitter water with the eels. The girl knew that this was a trick to get the man to go towards the water.

Me: "Yes. I also saw a male peacock in full glory over there."

While the man had no interest in taking photos of peacocks, he wanted to maintain the farce that this is what he and the girl were there for. He walked over to the eel infested bitter water. Just then, several eels rose up out of the sand and devoured the man. I will leave out the details of what I saw, but let's just say it was gruesome.

We then took the girl to where there were other captives. We set them free and proclaimed the Good News about Jesus and the Kingdom of Heaven being near. While the beauty was visible to us and to those with eyes to see, all was desolate to those blind to God and in love with their sin.

Father, this was definitely a warning, or Word, of things to come and how quickly things will change. I had a dream a few nights ago that was very ominous...

Sub-dream 5 "A Neighborhood of Abandoned Houses" description begins...

My husband and I were shopping for homes with a real estate agent in a different city. It was beautiful weather and the city was somewhat hilly. It appeared to be close to the west coast, but I was not sure. There were streets with homes that sort of all looked alike. The listings for these homes were very detailed and outlined their amenities and their associated values.

As the agent drove us, we started to notice that the majority, around 80%, of the homes were abandoned and unkept. There were notices on the doors. Some of the homes were destroyed and had even been set on fire. The grass was brown and all of the plants and flowers were dead. We then saw a home that stood out from the rest as there was a family occupying it and was keeping it up beautifully.

My husband: Asking the agent. "That house seems to be the only one well maintained in this area. What is happening there?"

Agent: Quite coldly. "The abandoned houses were owned by people that could not pay when the banks called in their notes. As for that family, they had no note with the bank.” She smiled, but with a wicked gleam in her eyes. “In other words, hopefully you have cash.”

My husband: “We do. However, I feel bad for the people who lost their homes.”

Agent: “Don’t. They should have known this was coming. Now, when you make an offer, I suggest you come in at 50% off for any of these luxury homes.”

As she spoke, we saw a large gang surrounding the family of the paid for home. The agent was ignoring what was happening. It soon became clear to us that this gang was plotting to kill all of them and take their property. My husband told her to stop the car and we got out. As instructed by the Lord, we walked together around the property of the family to create a hedge of protection around them.

The enemy could not get to them. It was like a Godly ‘forcefield’ around them. We then saw angels descend from Heaven over them. The family saw us do this. Instead of being angry about us being on their property, they instead smiled and waved at us. The gang tried to penetrate their property line, but was unable to. We walked right by them to get back into the agent’s car, but they were unable to come near us.

The Lord let us know that the agent was now upset because she sensed that we knew that she was corrupt and somehow in on all of this. Despite this, she kept it to herself and drove us to a different home. This home was beautiful, fully furnished and the yard was simply perfect.

Me: “What happened to the family that had lived here?”

Agent: Clearly upset at my question. “Nothing. They just didn’t like the neighborhood.”

The Lord then gave us a download. Even though these people had money, everything was stolen from them. Not only were their possessions stolen, they were then killed.

Agent: “Look, this house is perfect. For just half the price, this will be all yours. You are never going to find a better deal than this.”

Just then, as if in a type of holographic image, the entire story was played out about what had happened to these people right in front of her. She unwillingly confessed that she knew all about this and started to curse us. With a swipe of my husband’s hand in the air, he instantly closed her lips shut so she was unable to spew out any more curses. He then turned and looked at me.

My husband: “Well, Erin, I don’t think this is the area for us!”

We decided to walk back to our hotel as it was not far and we knew that we would be protected by angels. As we walked, the area was eerily creepy and we heard various ominous sounds that one would expect from an abandoned area. We then saw a distant area, like a massive detention area.

The Lord told us that this area was actually a prison camp for those unable to pay the banks back. It all seemed ridiculous, almost like something you would see in a 'B-Movie' plot. Though there were some nefarious people around us, and even some gangs, it was if we were invisible. We soon made it back to our hotel safely.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You, Father, for another day here! There is a fresh blanket of snow covering everything and it is beautiful. So much snow fell that our daughters had a snow day, no school! I slept in until 11:00am, which is very late for me. Thank You for a warm, comfortable bed. When I think of all that You have done for me and my family, I am overwhelmed. Well, I am really in awe!

Most of these years before You moved us here were spent with no hope whatsoever for a future good for my family. Instead, I truly spent ten years in slavery, punishing slavery. There were humiliating situations, many sleepless nights and many days seeing all hope and promises slipping away. I could do nothing. We had no options. I was bound by a stronghold which I had spent every dime I had to fight.

I always hated the elements surrounding seedy loan places and pawn shops. However, when I had been struggling to keep the electricity on and the rent paid, these places were the only option for me. While the owners were cagey and usually cold, I would be surprised when they would sometimes show sympathy towards me. I treated them with respect and knew that they would make money from the items I was pawning.

While I was often given more than I had paid for an item, I know this was You, Father. You granted me these items knowing in advance that, at one point, I would need them. I would acquire something at cents on the dollar at a thrift store and would keep it until the time I needed to use it. It was truly a miracle when these items would be used to buy me some more time, along with the ability, to keep fighting my main enemy.

While these times made me look towards You, there were also times that I did not trust You. These were the times that I would take horrible losses. In fact, 'theft' is closer to what happened to us. When I say us, I mean me and my kids in the middle of our battles. When my oldest son was eight, my youngest son was six and my daughter was four, my battles were at their peak and it was heartbreaking.

We had now scaled down from a large home of about 3000 square feet. I had sold my last business, but they did not want several items that I would have included with the sale. Because of this, I had everything I needed to relaunch another business in order to support my family. Our garage was packed with display units and inventory. I then watched as tragedy struck. Keeping my children then became my top priority.

After a few moves, almost everything was sold or donated. We ended up in a 1300 square foot townhome and barely had enough to keep the lights on. This continued until my main enemy never returned my boys as he had promised to. This was in November 2008. This was the beginning of the crushing of my world. This was the beginning of the journey of my daughter and me to the desert.

While I was away from the desert, I was protected. However, I was tricked by my enemy to move to the desert. I lost my protection once I moved there, Father, but You also allowed it. It was like the worst trap imaginable. I fell into it as I had been fooled into trusting him. I then became physically ill and was at Your mercy completely. This is when his horrible accusations and lies came against me.

He then used bullying tactics against those around me and people would not stand for me as witnesses as a result. After a while, I only had a couple of people I could call faithful friends. I was now in the most expensive unit and the smallest. I could not really afford it. It was $1450 per month for 800 square feet plus an extra $150 per month for a garage. At least the garage was cheaper than a storage unit.

My only other option for a larger apartment that would be more affordable was a unit in an area infested by gangs. No thanks! The custody suit was then launched by my enemy. Since I did not date, drink, take drugs, smoke or was handicapped, he decided to launch a campaign to claim that I was insane. It then cost me everything to prove I was sane and a good mom to my kids.

My enemy's campaigns against me never stopped. He then claimed that I did not make enough to support the kids. After this, he claimed that I did not keep a healthy living environment. The claims went on and on. Even though I was able to prove all of these claims false, it also wracked up incredible legal bills. Naturally, this then led my enemy to claim that I was 'financially unstable' again. He never won that one either.

After quite a long time, the case was finally closed. We were finally free and the kids were back. While I had won my case in October 2012, it cost me all I had. I was stuck. I was not paid any child support. I was now renting a home from my boss. This was scary as this man now controlled my source of income and the roof over my head. My main enemy then came back at me and found new ways to punish me.

All of this took a huge toll, especially financially. In the end, the legal bills and medical bills bankrupted me. I filed for Chapter 13 so I could pay all of it back. I also could no longer take the harassing calls, so this helped to eliminate this. I felt that this was unfair and that I did not deserve it. I did not do anything wrong. However, Father, You allowed all of it. While I did not do everything perfectly, it all seemed disproportionate.

Father, the punishment did not fit the crime. It is like stealing a pencil and getting 10 years of prison time. It is like speaking up against a crime and then being the one taking the fall for the criminal. That is what I did...I took a stand. While I would do it all over again, this time I would modify my choices and be tougher when it was required. The enemy took full advantage of my exhaustion and illness and I had a hard time standing.

It is like the story of the turtle and the scorpion. The scorpion asked the turtle to take him across the lake and promised not to sting him. The turtle listened to the promise and granted him a ride across the water. However, when they got across, the scorpion immediately stung the turtle. As the turtle was dying, he asked the scorpion, 'Why did you sting me? You promised not to and I had done something kind for you.' The scorpion replied, 'Hey, I am still a scorpion and scorpions sting!'

That was me. I trusted the scorpion and he would sting me every time I did. As for today, Father, please remember me and my family. Please do not forget about us. Thank You for delivering us here in 2014 to a place where the scorpion has very little power. Father, in just 11 months, the scorpion will no longer have any power at all. Thank You for all of this!

If not for the compassion You had on me, the turtle, I would have never been freed from my oppressors, my many scorpions. The price that I have paid is my health. I had such a bad headache on my left side yesterday that the pressure gave me an ugly broken blood vessel in my left eye. It looks as if I had been boxing. Father, I pray that we have not brought trouble upon my husband and his household by all of this.

You have instructed us in all of our ways and in what we should do to stand. It has not been easy for us, but, together, we have established a home with children who have witnessed miracles, signs and wonders. Father, Your cover, Your roof and Your foundation in our lives has been priceless. You have kept us close even though this year has been a very difficult one.

The news of my illnesses, along with the loss of my husband's employment, has made this year tough...scary even. When things like this happen, I find myself going to my 'box of repentance'. While these may be things I should repent of, perhaps they are there just for the thought of repentance. I say this as You have told me that some of the things I feel I should repent for are actually the way they should be as You designed it that way.

All I know is that I love You, Father. You are my Greatest Gift and my Biggest Discovery. You are the Lover of my soul and my Best Friend. I love You with all of my heart, soul and strength. I long to have others find You as the beautiful Jewel that You are. While it has been a very difficult road for me to get to You, perhaps it is because I made it so.

I have learned that all of this here is only temporary. It is only fleeting. You have made it so that we are separated here from the world. We instead find that only You satisfy. So, we now long for our citizenship in Heaven. Last night, I had a very vivid series of dreams. One of them was from a dream I had many years ago and I had never really understood it...

Many of us had come home to Heaven. There was a large parade. There was cheering, waving crowds, tickertape and people we recognized in the crowds. It was as if we were coming Home from a victorious win or battle! It was so fun! I was in the parade, along with several others. While we were all overwhelmed and humbled by the experience, we just loved it.

Sub-dream 6 description over...

The other dream I had was also a pickup from an older dream...

Sub-dream 7 "My mom gives me a quick tour" description begins...

A young woman was jumping for joy to see me. She was with a few others. Her hair was golden, long and wavy and she was calling me by my name. I felt so close to her. She could not wait to show me the record room library that she either oversaw or worked at. It all seemed to be part of the same celebration as my last dream as there was a huge party from mansions to streets and even at the library.

There were people waving, music playing, lots of food and joyous dancing. It was like nothing that I had ever seen before. There were people from all cultures on Earth. However, all of them were there because of Jesus. They were there because they found the Hidden Jewel, our Lord and Savior.

The atmosphere was beautiful, like the most beautiful day you could ever imagine. While hard to describe, there was even a wondrous fragrance that was coming from the distant palace of the King. In terms of the amazing lighting there, the closest I can come to describe the lighting is that it was similar to a Maxfield Parish painting from the 1930s, but even better.

As for those of us that this celebration was for, we were all wearing beautiful robes of white. The robes were also somehow modern, but it is hard to explain why. We were guests of the King and the celebration was for us. The woman that had been cheering the loudest towards me was now standing right there in front of me. I went over to her and she was so excited.

Me: "Mom? Mom, is that you?"

My mom: Smiling. "Yes, Erin, it is me. Because of your prayers, Jesus came to me. I met Him just before the end. I missed Him my entire life. I love you, Erin. I am sorry that I did not listen to you about Him before this. All of the people you see here are celebrating for all of you...we are all of those that are here because all of you fought for us. We are those who were unaware of Him or were ignoring Him.

"All of you fighting for us helped make it so that Jesus prepared a place for us here. We are so grateful for what all of you had done for us. Like all of you did for us, we now pray and intercede for you in the battle from here."

She smiled. "Well...I really think that God is finally tired of hearing our cries both day and night asking Him 'how long?', so this is a great day...a very great day! Now, there is so much for you to see here!"

I followed her as she took me on a short tour. She then turned back towards me and looked at me with a glowing smile. Just before I could reach over and hug her, I woke up to the sound of the snowplows outside...

Sub-dream 7 description over...

I was still excited about seeing my mom, so I got up for a bit and walked around. I soon got sleepy again though and went back to bed...

Sub-dream 8 "Biking up an impossible slope" description begins...

I was at the base of a ridiculous highway precariously cut into the sides of a mountain of bedrock. If someone were foolish enough to try it, automobiles would barely make it up or down due to the incredibly steep incline. I was looking at this while sitting on a state-of-the-art bicycle. It was white and light as a feather. It was a racing bike. A bright yellow sign there said, 'No Pedestrians or Bicycle Traffic Allowed'.

The rock outcroppings were all dark grey brown and like shale or flagstone. It looked like a line of tall buildings chiseled out of a lava field, but I have no idea what this was really made of. While I am not sure why, there was a man near the base of this steep mountain highway. He looked authoritative and angry.

Man: "Hey Lady, can you not read the sign? It is unlawful to go up this road by foot or bike. You simply cannot do it. It is impossible!"

I looked at him, smiled, but did not reply. I then drove my racing bike straight up the steep highway so fast that it could not even be possible on Earth for anyone, no matter how athletic. When I arrived at the very top, there was a fresh spring of water and some shade. I was not even out of breath at all.

Now that I was at the top, I could see that there was a different road you could take to get here. However, I noticed that it was just as steep and people had attempted it in their automobiles. There were many accidents and I knew this road would have been impassable as a result. I then looked over the valley and saw a massive eagle approaching me. It flew down to me and I climbed aboard. We then soared away!

Father, the dream I had a few nights ago about our family having to go up a steep hill with at least a foot of slushy snow and ice was so similar to this dream. As with this one, we were able to reach the top safely when others could not.

Oh Father, there are so many hurting right now. I spent all of Saturday in ER with my daughter. She had suddenly become dizzy, confused and had a very high fever. When we arrived at ER, it was very crowded. While we were there, we had interesting encounters with two people that could not have been less alike.

The first person was a sick Syrian woman refugee who had a difficult time speaking English. Despite this, she was very friendly. She was a widow there with her six-year-old son. She explained that she was glad to be here. The building she had been living in Syria had collapsed and their family had to be rescued from the basement.

Her husband had then sent her and her family here for safety. He would later die in Italy, either from a gunshot wound or illness (it was hard to understand which due to the language barrier). I found myself having compassion for her. Her son was shy, but spoke up for her as a translator when he could tell we were having difficulty understanding each other.

Bless her, Father! Please appear to her and lead her to Jesus. I am not sure why she initiated this conversation with me, but it had to be by Your leading, Father. My daughter and I prayed for her later on in the car when we were alone.

The second person we chatted with in the ER was a college boy on a basketball scholarship. He was naïve about the world and was far from his parent's home. He was a freshman and missed his mom's cooking. He was flying out the next morning. Despite the fact my daughter looked very sick, I could tell the young man was interested in her. However, she later told me that she had no interest in dating right now.

Well, thankfully, it turned out that my daughter just had the flu virus and nothing more serious. There were no accidents that we were at the ER though, as You, Father, had us there for a purpose. It was to show us that there are still hearts to harvest, those You will soon call us to. While we were not there to harvest...yet...we were there to show kindness to them.

So, Father, what is up next? What would You require from us? I will do whatever it takes. Well, as it stands today and without healing, I will try my best to do what You call me to. I am willing, but not as able as I used to be. Oh Father, all of us are looking so forward to what You will do with us next. We so want to serve You in a greater capacity soon! Please, Father, we are begging You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was at the base of a rugged mountain. I could hear the Voice of Jesus.

Jesus: "Erin, come up! Climb the mountain!"

I looked up to where His Voice was coming from, but I could not see Him. I was on the same racing bike as the bike in one of my sub-dreams. The mountain was so steep that, when I got onto the bike, I immediately fell over. I was in my current condition, so this was really no surprise. My body ached and I had no balance. I called up to Him.

Me: "Lord, I need Your help! I cannot do this without You!"

Jesus: "I am here. Try again. Climb on the bike and pedal up to Me."

I climbed back onto the bike and took a deep breath. It was a labored breath and I still had not even pedaled yet. I looked up to the top of the mountain and this time I could see Jesus waiting up there for me. I was discouraged as I knew I would never make it in my current condition. Just then, I suddenly felt a wave of healing come over me.

I had been changed in an instant. I was light as a feather, strong and had supernatural vitality. I started to ride up that hill with supernatural speed! I was going at an impossible clip from an earthly perspective. When I reached the top, I could not see Jesus at first. I looked around and there He was. He was smiling at me and waiting for me at the base of a beautiful tree.

Jesus: "You made it! Very good, Erin, very good."

Me: "This was so exciting. I could barely move at first, but then I could move so easily. Oh Lord, You will not even believe what just happened to me down there! I was so weak, but then I suddenly could..."

Just then, I realized Jesus knew all of it as it was Him making all of this happen. I cried with happiness. I got off my bike and ran straight into His arms to hug Him.

Me: "Thank You, Lord! Thank You, Lord! I needed this today. I really did. I am in pain. I was discouraged!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, you have done everything I have asked you to do. I am in you..." He pointed to my heart. "Horrible things were said of you, yet you stayed with Me. You waited on Me. You prayed for those who cursed you and did horrible things to you. I have prepared a banquet for you in the presence of your enemies and there I will anoint your head with oil and your cup will overflow with new wine.

"Oh Erin, I will show you goodness all of the days of your life as you will dwell in the house that I have prepared for you. Now that your cup runneth over, let us finish the race." He pointed to the water that was flowing from a spring. "Drink what refreshes and I will fill you with living water. Are you ready?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. However, I am both excited and scared. Your Gospel is peace, but the world only knows the gospel of evil. The fight will be difficult. The angels are holding back what is soon to come upon the land. Please send Your Army, Lord. Though they will be hated, they will also be welcomed by those who You love and those who look for You.

"Oh Lord, they do not even know who they are looking for. Please, Lord, for God sent You, His only begotten Son, because He loved the lost, that whosoever should believe in You shall not perish, but have eternal life. The war has changed. The world has turned dark. The lights here have gone dim. Your Name is now used as a curse instead of that of our Lord and Savior.

"Please, Lord, what about the Syrian widow, her children and the naïve basketball player. They have a heart to know You, but Your miracles are being taught as now being a myth and old news. Well, Lord, please do something to make every head bow and every tongue confess that You are God, our Savior, the King of the world and our Just Judge. How can someone believe if there is no longer evidence?

"Father, there is no lamp burning. Help us! Help us to share the light of Your Word, for You, Lord, are the light of this dark world. In comparison, we are made of dust and have no ability to shine without You. I love You so much and I cannot bear to hear the horrible things being said of You now. Please, Lord, this is so difficult now even though I know that 'they know not what they do'.

"Please help us, Lord! Please help us to look like You have sent us. Can You allow them to see that what I will do in Your Name is because You in me did this? While this is impossible for man, because of You, all things impossible are made possible."

Jesus: Smiling. "You plead a great case before Me. I know the desires of your heart. They are in line with My Will for the lost to find Me. Therefore, I am willing!" He laughed and smiled.

Me: "Wait...what? What, Lord? What? Really? Oh Lord, I am willing if You are willing. This is good, right? Right, Lord?" I was so excited, I was speaking clumsily. "What do You have planned? What happens next? Oh tell us, Lord, won't You please tell us? Pretty please!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Alright, Erin, calm down. Calm down. Erin, do not worry as I am going to do something in your days that you would not believe even if you were told. I have heard your pleas, your cries and your prayers. Your Will matches My Will as you have surrendered all to Me. Now, let My Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven, okay?"

Me: "Oh yes! Okay! I am excited! You are the Greatest Gift, Lord! Christmas is really the date of Your conception that we celebrate. Please, Lord, come again as the Gift to the world. The world has no idea just what they celebrate."

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, I have heard your 'subtle suggestions'."

He then laughed good-naturedly. I laughed too as I fully knew that He knew that I was being 'very blunt' and not 'subtle' at all.

Me: "I am sorry, Lord, but I just want the world to see the Great God that You are, my Savior and my Best Friend. Oh Lord, if they only knew!"

Jesus: "Do not worry. They will know soon as Heaven and the Kingdom will soon be visible." He reached over and hugged me. "Now, are you ready?"

Me: "As ready as I could be. After all, this all fully relies on You, Lord."

Jesus: Smiling. "Very well then, Erin, let's go!"

Dear Father,

Thank You for the Greatest Gift anyone could ever have...You! You found me because You already knew me. You designed me exactly as I am. I then cried out to You, but You were already there. I love You, God. I love You so much. Thank You for the words of praise from my lips and the song of exaltation from my heart. I could search all eternity long and find no one like You and Your Son! I had a dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "A City in Thick Black Smoke" description begins...

I was in a distant city and something like thick black smoke ran down the sides of a hill with homes on it. The day was beautiful and sunny, a day that started like any other day. Then the trouble came!

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, I am not certain where this was, but it was very real. Here we are, about to be moved from this area, yet, in this season, You have brought several people to me. You have then had them share their stories of illness and great trials to me. These are people of little significance, not remarkable and not accomplished according to the world's standards, yet the opposite in Your eyes.

You have led them to me and then kept them on my heart. This is not just a 'fleeting thought', but a very heavy feeling on my heart. Yesterday, I stopped off at two charity thrift stores and another place that said 'garage sale'. We do not have much right now, but my younger son loves certain collectibles and does not care if they are used, meaning that they are affordable to us.

The first of three people I met was at the garage sale, a man by the name of Doug...

I noticed an elderly man who had delivered our dining table to us a couple of years back. He came right up to me.

Doug: "Hey, I know you!"

Me: "I know you too. I am Erin and you delivered our dining room table to us. So, are you still delivering for the company?"

Doug: "No. I injured my ankle not long after I delivered your table. While at the hospital being treated, the doctors discovered that I had prostate cancer. I have been retired ever since. By the way, my name is Doug."

I felt led to share a bit of my story and struggles with him. After I finished, he asked if he could give me a hug. Since there were people around and I could tell he was not going to be inappropriate, I accepted his hug. It was a brotherly hug.

Doug: "You take care now. I have to wait on another customer now."

Me: "Okay, no problem, Doug. I will pray for you. I just know I will be back another day."

I had an overwhelming feeling that I would see him again soon. I had just learned about an hour before seeing him that I had a type of unusual hernia. God had told me that I did in advance, so it really was not much of a surprise. Once in my car, I prayed for Doug's healing. I felt in my heart that this would soon be granted.

The second of three people I met was at a type of value village, a woman by the name of Marissa...

People going to this store are incredibly competitive. When the employees wheel out the cart with new stuff, they literally get bowled over by these shoppers. It is just the oddest thing to witness. There are as many people shopping at this store than at TJ Maxx or similar stores. It is busy despite few things of real value there.

This day, I was on a hunt for 'baby seals' or 'seals' for my husband's daughter. She just loves seals. There, right in front of me, was a seal family carved in soapstone for only $2. I put it in my cart. I next found a beautiful porcelain figurine from West Germany of two blue jays on a branch, also for $2.

I put this in my cart too as I knew that it was worth many times more than what it was selling for. I was quite shocked that not one of the competitive shoppers had seen these bargains. I thanked God for my treasures and decided that my shopping hunt here was over.

I went into line to pay. The cashier was a sweet soft-spoken girl of about 18 years old. She had glasses on and a beaming smile. She was so polite to the customers. It was now my turn. She greeted me with a friendly smile. After chatting for a while, I asked her a personal question.

Me: "So, are you attending high school or college?"

Marissa: "No, I am not."

Me: "Well, I have to tell you that you are the best wrapper I have ever seen."

She had been carefully wrapping up each of my items. While she smiled at me, I could see pain in her eyes.

Marissa: "I will probably be here for the rest of my life."

Me: Trying to make her smile. "Oh, do you like it here that much?" I knew she didn't. She smiled and laughed. I continued... "Well, I think something much better is waiting for you. By the way, what is your name?"

She lit up. I somehow knew that no one had asked her for her name before.

Marissa: "Marissa. My name is Marissa."

Me: "Well, I am Erin. Thank you and I will see you again soon."

I smiled at her when she waved as I left the store. My heart was breaking for her. I imagined my two sons and how difficult things would be for them if we were not there to help them. The world is cruel and the cost of living in it is high. Groceries are so high priced now. I remember as a teen that my mom would complain that each grocery bag of food was about $10 to $15. Well, it now seems to be $35 to $50 per bag.

Anyway, first Doug, and now Marissa, was on my heart. I next stopped at a newly opened discount store for a couple of items. I found what I was looking for and for way less than I could have imagined. I went to the counter and there I met the third of three people, a woman by the name of Houston...

Me: "Hello. I recognize you from one of my son's classes." I looked at her name tag. "Your name is Houston. I just love that name. Are you from Houston?"

Houston: "No, I am from around here."

We continued to have a conversation as there was no one else in line. However, that didn't last long and it was time for me to say goodbye. As I left, I felt that the Lord wanted me to remember her and keep her in my prayers.

The whole day was kind of like this. It was a difficult day as I felt that everyone had been sent by You, Father, and that these were 'God Appointments'. I felt strongly that I would see each one of these people again soon. Well, Father, I now pray that our divine healing is before Christmas as what a Christmas present this would be.

Meeting all of these people was humbling, so much so that I was no longer worried about yet another pending surgery. I decided I would try to be joyful in spite of the way I was feeling. I was hoping for a soon miracle. You had told me to be thankful despite all of these tests confirming my health issues, so I did my best to do just that.

I now realize, Father, that Christmas is not about the timing of Jesus' birthday, but rather about the timing of His day of conception. Therefore, Father, for Christmas this year, how about conceiving a new thing yet again. Conceive something amazing that only You could do. I will take Your Heavenly Conception any day against the world's deception.

The world needs You, Father, and there are still hearts to capture for the Kingdom. If there still remains things I need to repent of, then I repent. I know this is a 'blanket repentance', but truly I know my thoughts have been 'judgy' before I knew a person's story. Please forgive me. Please forgive me for being judge over lukewarm Christians. I get it. I really do. I was once like them.

It is hard to knock down the barriers of the heart which satan keeps a lock on. Once that cold heart is taken over by the pliable vulnerable raw clay, then, Father, You, 'The Potter', can shape us! It is just that the attacks are great and over so many of us that it is just ridiculous. We are all getting hammered right now. Everything is a 'push pull' and I can literally see in the Spirit a massive tug of war.

This tug of war is between Heaven and hell and is a battle for souls. It is happening in the world right now as we speak. The tide of the battle flip flops back and forth. Now there is this storm coming from the south and everything here has been cancelled today based on the rain and the ice. I pray for those traveling. Remember us, Father, as we love You with all of our hearts.

Dear Father,

Thank You! I am overwhelmed by Your greatness. Your love, patience and mercy with us is only something that You are capable of. You have so much to offer the world, but the world has begun...well, really, is farther along than this...to turn completely away from You.

It has become so dark that darkness overshadows the light here. To those sitting in the dark, it is a place of comfort. Father, You sent Your Son, Jesus, so people could bask in the light of Your salvation, not sit in the darkness of death. I polished an old bashed up trophy from 1904 today. It had not been polished perhaps since the person had won the great victory.

It is a small trophy. I tried so hard to get this thing cleaned, but it wouldn't. I then became determined to at least find some of the beautiful original polished silver. As hard as I tried, along with a very black polishing cloth as evidence of my labor, it was becoming apparent to me that the little trophy would not polish.

While I found one area polished, that was it. I soon realized why my attempt to polish this trophy was futile. It turns out that someone, at some point, had lacquered the trophy when it was tarnished so that it would stay dark. I shook my head as I rinsed the trophy off with warm water and softly dried it off. It was a thrift store find and a bargain, but, to me, it was still beautiful.

I smiled when I realized that the inside of this trophy had not been lacquered and was polished perfectly. It was a glistening polished silver as if 114 years had not gone by. It looked brand new inside. I then suddenly realized that this was a great analogy to my life. The world had greatly tarnished my life, my exterior, and my outer body now shows great age. That is, until You grant a Divine Miracle from Your Throne.

Quite simply, I am here and my exterior simply will not polish up on its own. In fact, according to the insurance company and some insurance tables, I am no longer worth the investment of surgeries and life. In fact, I am not even worthy of shelf-life as a trophy. I am small and my tarnish has been lacquered to stay around. This means I am one of no significance as no one of the world looks inside a trophy to see how it looks.

Only You look inside of us, Father! Only You and You alone! To continue the analogy, I set this trophy next to a few others I own that are dented, chipped and damaged. They look like an earthly debacle, but, to You, Father, they are an 'army of worthiness' inside. So, Father, I come to You today as a broken, damaged vessel from the outside, a misfit and disqualified for Your use according to what other Christian's would think.

I even asked my husband just yesterday, "If this is my last Christmas as I am, or even here on Earth, do you think that I have done anything that has worth? Did my old stories of record really matter? Did my dreams truly show Heaven well enough? Did I do Heaven justice when I described the Kingdom of Heaven?" My husband's reply was simple..."Erin, all that matters is that you matter to God. You do." It was enough.

It has been a difficult last several days. I have had a strong feeling that we would soon be going from one state of being to a new state of being. This means that I feel a 'wrapping up' of our current state of being, the closing of a chapter and a very painful one at that. Once one state closes, another one will begin.

I now have the need for three surgeries and each one is ominous to me. If I have them, each could come at a potentially great price. There are great risks with all three should I move ahead with them. I can still mull two of these surgeries over as I am not in dire urgency, but the third one has to be taken care of quickly. Doctors need to see which organ is herniated in my back before something ruptures.

Oh Father, I do not want any more surgeries. As such, I will come to You daily to 'bother You' until You grow tired of me and turn and heal me. If You just healed me of these three problems then I can be active again. I would be so joyful if I could work, run, walk and play again. How great would aging gracefully be if I could just enjoy the body that You have given me?

What makes this all so hard is that my children do not understand why You continue to not heal us as so many would be witnesses to this miracle. There are so many Scriptures in Your Word where illness is contrary to 'a life abundant'. So, because You love us, I believe You are waiting for the perfect time to heal us and call us into Your service. You have tucked us away. You have hidden us in plain sight.

I was told by a woman yesterday that my mantel was one of joy and peace. It was an odd thing for a stranger to say in the midst of a conversation. After all, who uses the term 'mantle' unless speaking about a fireplace? Father, please consider all of us for a miracle soon. There was a day when Christmas meant something. However, there is now a massive push, really a war, on Christmas now.

While I now realize that Christmas was the approximate time of Your conception, not Your birth, so many could care less about either. There is a massive push to remove You from this holiday altogether. The Jewish people ignore it. Others have emphasized their own holiday to compete with this. The Catholics tend to focus more on the Virgin Mary.

The rest tend to only use Christmas as an excuse to party. They view this as a time of gifts, debt, drinking, eating and Santa Claus. In so many ways now, You have been completely removed. Oh Father, though most of the world has now forgotten about You, please do not forget about us. Please take our vessels and use us for Your glory.

Please do not leave us sitting on the shelf, polished on the inside but tarnished on the outside. We may be old, tarnished and dusty from the world's point of view, but we are on fire for You and love You so much. We pursue You, Father! We will continue to pursue You. I love You, Father! We love You!

Dear Father,

I cannot thank You enough for yet another day here. My pain has been so great that even small things seem like huge tasks. It seems so long since I have been here with You. I want You to know just how much I love You and that I am thankful for all that we have been granted by You.

We live like kings. Even though it is easy to compare what we have against those who have more when we struggle, there are so many with so much less. With the holidays, I had let my devotional area become my little 'she-cave'. It was my Christmas Wrapping Center as well and the paperwork area became a bit cluttered.

For Christmas, my husband purchased a lovely worktable/bench for me to work on. However, I would really like to use it to help me in my painting.

Once we put the table in, the room required some rearranging. In doing so, I yet again discovered a box of photographs. Like old songs that stir up old emotions and memories, these old photos did the same.

These photos took me back. It was like a broken record of painful memories. They came back to the surface yet again. Time is a brutal host. No matter what happens, time never stops. Someone could die and time still continues. Time stops for no man. God is the Timekeeper and, thankfully, He has compassion on us.

I found a box of photos in an unlikely spot. Not only that, but the photos were mixed in with other photos in a haphazard way. The photos were from several different years...1985, 1987, 1990, 1997, 2000, 2003 and 2006. This was an odd grouping and brought so many tears again. In a way, each photo froze me in a moment of past time.

However, all of the photos seemed to have a common thread. They were photos of me in perfect health and joyful. My children, even my boys, seemed so full of life and as if they were completely normal. Perhaps they were back then. I was the one behind the lens taking photos of my kids most of the time. This was more often than not because I would go on driving trips with just me and the kids.

There were so many trips. We went for the day to Canon Beach, a beautiful little town on the Oregon Coast. Our other trips took us to the Oregon Garden, the High Desert Museum and the Oregon Aquarium at Newport Beach, along with many other destinations. We were all happy and laughing. We had cares, but we could put these worries aside and enjoy the time we had. We lived in the moment.

This all changed when I became sick and my finances became much tighter. We were confined to parks and activities within walking distance to our home. We would still go though as I loved going places with my kids. It was a way of life and I embraced it. These moments of fun were a welcome break from the stress and heartache.

Father, You set up these moments of fun and then had me take a photo to solidify their place in our history. Despite my dire circumstances, there was still hope and dreaming. We imagined great things and still laughed together all of the time. With You, Father, there are no accidents. I believe that You do everything for the good of those who love You. If only I could once again be like I used to be.

Oh, the energy I used to have, along with the seemingly perfect health. Well, I cannot go back, but at least I can still remember my children's laughter from when they were little. I remember so many great things before the trouble came up. Sigh...time was soon to no longer be my friend, Father, but was it really ever my friend? I now think not.

However, things have now changed and we are safe. Each day is another day and each day offers more time. Another day is today and I am thankful to You for this day. All of my children are here with me and we are all safe. Yes, we are all older now, but we are still together. The childlike laughter we once had has faded. The children have grown and are now beginning their natural separation from me.

Oh Father, I feel robbed of time today. I lost so many of my 'good years'. I lost my strength and my ability to have 'normal'. Instead, the years have become jostled together. My circumstances from the past, my 'punishing blows', means time lost. The hammering from the blacksmith has been brutal on all of us.

Father, please heal us from the inside out. My heart is still broken. When I see old photos, especially surprise ones, my heart shatters again. Sometimes these distant memories are like they just happened yesterday. I then remember minute details that place me right there. I remember! I remember so many things and it hurts.

I remember times with my children. I remember the time of day. I remember the temperature that day. I remember what we did later that day. Still, I am thankful, so thankful, to You for this being on my heart today. I thank You for everyone here at our home and for our great friends on the Nest. What a great blessing this has been.

I am sorry if I have ever failed to give You enough time. Time is Yours and all I do is borrow the time You give us here on Earth. I do not want to waste a moment or let time slip. I love You and know that all of eternity comes one day at a time. Seasons change and time is like a great chisel upon our body, but not to perfect it. Quite the opposite. Yet we must embrace even this as this is how You have created it.

I have gladness on my heart and joy everlasting whenever I think of You and Your Ways. I look forward to my forever in Heaven with You when we can say goodbye to this planet that continually robs from us. Thank You, Father, for Your promises of a future time physically walking with You. Oh, what joy this will be when we walk with You face to face.

I had a couple of dreams last night. In my first dream, I was not afraid. However, I also knew that this had deep significance of something soon to come...

Sub-dream 2 "Crushing many spiders" description begins...

While I was in a room I did not recognize, I somehow knew that this was my bedroom. The room was dimly lit and had a beautiful Bukhara rug in deep reds, golds and blacks. As I looked at the rug, I saw something move. I quickly realized that it was a large spider that was bound up. It was way too large to leave alive in the house.

I believe that this spider was quite smart as it seemed to know that I was coming for it. Despite being bound, I lost it momentarily in the rug pattern. As I scanned the rug, I noticed a flash of a very thick web strand it was attached to in the light. Instead of finding the spider, I decided to track it using its web.

I grabbed onto the web and it was surprisingly strong. It felt like a guitar string and I knew it would not snap. As I lifted the web strand, I noticed the spider as it lifted with it. The spider tried to move to the floor again, but I kept it suspended in the air just above the rug. I finally allowed it to descend. I anticipated its speed of descent and crushed the spider as soon as it landed.

Just then, I noticed another spider of a different variety. It was going into a small Bonsai like tree. The spider was clever and was able to blend in to look like one of the leaves. Something distracted me momentarily and I turned away. When I looked back, it was gone. I looked carefully, but was unable to see this spider.

Two other spiders then suddenly appeared. I quickly and easily squished both of them. However, I was still bothered by the one that was missing, so I went back to my search for it. Just then, two of my children entered into the room.

One of them: "Mom, there is a spider on your shoulder."

Well, there it was, perched right there on my left shoulder. Since I was wearing a white blouse, I did not want to smash it there as I would then have to change my shirt. I instead picked the spider up with my left hand and pinched it in between my fingers. While this would usually gross me out, I was somehow fine doing this in my dream.

After this spider was squished, the light in the room became brighter. I could now see well enough to finish cleaning it all up.

I was observing an internment camp somewhere in the USA. The only form of payment was to barter. You needed to trade something valuable in order to eat and survive. The conditions were horrible. The entire situation was horrible.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for the fresh heavy snow that began to fall shortly after midnight. Every branch is covered with powdery snow. It is beautiful! Father, I must admit that I am very thankful that the year 2018 is finally over. It was in my top five of the very worst years of my life and I have had many bad years.

This last year was filled with so many troubles. When I think of all of the troubles, I truly just tear up. I cannot look back for long as it was horrible. I had so much bad news followed by even more bad news. It never seemed to let up. This last year, I was forced to face the reality of loss.

When I say loss, I mean the loss of things as we know them to be. There is the loss of physical ability, including the imminent possible loss of my eyesight. However, and more than anything else, all around us, there is the troubling loss of innocence and the rise of the wicked. It hurts my heart just thinking about all of this.

While I know that, for most, last night, at midnight, one calendar year ended and a new one began, with us, the old year has not really left. It is just an illusion. This month marks my husband's last paycheck. I have no idea what will happen next. Only You do, Lord!

While we have done everything humanly possible to find a position for him, the very fact that not one thing has arisen means that this is being supernaturally held back. Father, You are allowing all of this. In an instant, we both know You could change everything and there would be too many opportunities for my husband to even count.

Since this is clearly the case as there are very few as qualified as he is in his line of work and there are several hundred positions he is qualified for that has not been filled in months of the jobs being posted, this is clearly and supernaturally You! As a door needs to be opened, he continues to send resumes off to these many companies.

Some companies will later say they are still considering him, but others have already closed the door on him. While this is where I would normally rise up and come up with some way for me to earn a decent income, I can clearly not do this in the physical condition I am in. There are looming expenses that I just have to give to You.

Well, Father, today marks the first fresh day of a brand-new calendar year. Today is the 'first day' of the year. However, until You make it a new day, a changed and Transformed day, then it is not truly new. I thought about all of the things You have shown me in Heaven and I cannot help but well up with tear. Oh Father, please send some of Your provisions for us in Heaven down to us here on Earth!

In terms of what I have seen in Heaven, I cannot believe all of the contradicting things Christians think about this wonderful place compared to reality. For example, they claim that there is no food or water in Heaven as there is no need. Well, that could not be any further from the truth. While it is true that we don't 'need' anything in Heaven as all is provided, there is plenty of food and water. It is perfect and we love it all.

Seriously, how could we not? After all, all of the food and beverages there are prepared by the best chefs and bakers in history. In turn, they use the best and most perfect crops, grains, milk, honey and on and on. The fruits are void of any imperfections as there are no pests, infestations, molds or mildews in Heaven. Imagine bread rising by God's leaven instead of rising by 'the yeast of the Pharisees'.

Bread and other baked goods rise by the command of the Ultimate Baker, the fullness of God. God also loves the smell of roasting meat on Earth, so surely there are 'barbeques' taking place in Heaven too. I know there is barbequed meat in Heaven as I have smelled its delicious aroma in the air. Now, the critics will then claim 'how can this be if there is no death in Heaven?'

Well, the answer to that is... 'EASY'! Since God spoke life into being, why could He not create meat to eat with no death, without the need to prepare a dead carcass? This is a silly question as of course He can! He can create the joy of fishing without death. I know this as I have seen this too. He does this because He can. He can do all things because there is no one like God. He is not limited in anything that He does.

What about when God sent Jesus down to us? When He did this, He did so with planning and precision of execution, all in His love for us. He did not need to do this as He is God and all-powerful, but He did. He loves us so much that He chose to pursue us by first becoming like us so He could have a relationship with us. He also did this in a humble way. Jesus came to us first as a baby!

Think about that. He came to us, not as an adult, but first as a baby! This was a miracle, a virgin birth no less! Later, Jesus would speak of a Paradise prepared by His Father for those who loved Him and believed in Him. This means that a perfect place, free from the pain of this world, has been prepared for us. These are not paradises like those on Earth though. Earthly paradises still contain many hidden dangers.

In Heaven, His Paradise contains not one single danger, hidden or not. I cannot think of a single place here on Earth where there is truly a protected paradise like the Paradise in Heaven. Why? Quite simply, none exist. In Heaven, there are no sunburns, stingrays, jellyfish, sharks, corals, sneaker waves, bears or cougars. There are no thieves who prey on tourists, no rapists or murderers.

There are also no poisonous snakes or scorpions. There are no threats of a sudden storm. The list of dangers truly goes on and on and on. Absolutely everything we do on Earth comes with the threat of something coming against us. This just doesn't happen once in a while...it happens day in and day out.

In Heaven, there are no threats. Just think...there is no need for even a single lock in Heaven as there are no thieves, no enemies, in Heaven. Jesus Himself said to the thief...'Today, you will join Me in Paradise!' Why would Jesus lie? Well, of course He wouldn't. Heaven is Paradise and not the paradise from Sheol. The Paradise of Heaven is one that awaits us and is one that God has prepared for those who love Him.

Father, I know that You love those of us who chase You, adore You and long to be with You forever. As You see firsthand our daily struggles we endure here...the loss, the pain, the sickness, the poverty and the deep sorrow...I just know that You long to make everything right for us.

You long to heal us. You long to wipe our tears. You long to remove us from the chains of affliction. You long to remove us from our prison cells and give us a new set of garments. You long to grant us a seat at Your table, the table of the King. There, You will speak kindly to us and give us a seat of honor in full view of those who imprisoned us to begin with.

Oh Father, I just know in my heart that You are not finished with us! I just know in my heart that the Year of the Lord's Favor has not yet begun. Oh Lord, the Year of the Lord's Favor has not begun yet, right? If it has, where is it? If 2018 was the start of this greatly anticipated year, I am not sure if I can take much more of this in 2019. Please, Father, where is this? We need You now more than ever! Please help us!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I found myself in a beautiful meadow, a familiar clearing. I was up on a slope overlooking a beautiful crystal-clear lake. While it was like an alpine lake, it was warm and surrounded by meadows with pine trees. The meadows were full of flowers as well. They were so fragrant and beautiful.

While I had seen this place in a vision before, I could not place when or where this was. I was wearing a white linen gown and I could hear birds singing. I closed my eyes for a moment as tears streamed down my cheeks. At times, I really have no other response to God's beauty except for grateful tears. I sighed...

I opened my eyes suddenly when I felt refreshingly cool snowflakes falling on my face. The snow was not freezing like snow on Earth. I looked around and there was now snow on the landscape. The snow added to the beauty.

Me: "Lord, is this spring or winter?"

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. It was Jesus. He sat next to me. I reached over and hugged Him. Tears were streaming down my cheeks. Jesus looked me in the eyes and smiled.

Jesus: "Do not worry. Oh Erin, please do not worry!"

Me: "Oh Lord, my worry must mean that I lack faith. If I lack faith, will I lose Your blessings?"

Jesus: "Well then, if that were the case, there would be virtually no one here with Me. Now, when you say that you struggle with your faith, what do you mean?"

Me: "When I wake up in pain, I wonder if I have somehow lacked faith in Your promises and therefore missed opportunities. With each passing day, this 'Eighth Bridge' of my life has been a difficult one. I wonder if I accidentally 'lost You' somewhere. Did I fall out of favor? Did I miss out on faith 'like a mustard seed'? Did You grow tired of me? It is a New Year and things You told me would happen have either not happened yet or have happened in a way that I did not expect."

The whole time I spoke, Jesus was nodding His head in understanding for the way I was feeling. His empathy far surpassed anything I have ever felt on Earth.

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, how have I done so far? Have I fell short of your expectations or did I exceed them?"

Me: "Well, over all, You have exceeded them. You have done way more than I even asked for and in a far better way."

While I was referring to more distant events, such as first starting these dreams and later on meeting my husband, He then downloaded several things even from this horrible year that could only be from God. I began to cry for not being more grateful.

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. Please forgive my ignorance."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, I know that you are tired and in great pain. I know that you do not understand why I wait on your healing and that of your children. So, based on all you have come to know about Me, would you like My 'Very Best Plan' that I have for you that is soon to come or would you prefer 'Plan B', My 'Second Best Plan' for you, that can come immediately? The first plan is very special, while the other...well, here, I will show you..."

Just then, I could see a familiar game show stage. It was similar to 'Let's Make a Deal' combined with 'The Price is Right'. He then pointed to two boxes. We both laughed as He had made this quite comical. One box was small and the other box was very large. He turned and handed me two keys. One key was small and the other key was very large.

Jesus: "I will give you a clear hint. Let Me label them..."

First the small box, and then the small key, were both labeled 'Erin's Plan'. Then the larger box and the larger key were both labeled 'Jesus' Way via God's Plan for Erin'.

Me: I started to cry. "Oh Lord, I am sorry!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Why? I am giving you a choice here, Erin. Both boxes are still good. However, I labeled them so that you do not feel deceived here. I will even show you the 'contents' of the first box..."

I looked into the smaller box. I saw myself healed, but not Transformed. While I looked my current age, I was now active. I saw myself working on various things in modest surroundings. Our house seemed more like a cottage. While we had an older car, it seemed to have been made new.

While my children were also healed, they were also not Transformed. They had now left our home to seek their own lives. I saw Snigglet, but not Zoey. I somehow knew that Zoey was no longer around. My husband was at work. I had a small garden. It was a good life, but I could tell I was missing some important things.

Me: "Lord, do I no longer have You? Where is my other dog, Zoey? Why am I old?"

Jesus: "You were healed of your current ailments, but your current age continued. Zoey was growing old too. You still have Me."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but something else is missing. Your promises are missing."

Jesus: Smiling. "Hmm, so are you then choosing the other box, the larger box? I must say that it is better. Still, the choice is yours."

Me: "Oh yes, Lord! Of course, I choose the 'God's Will' Box! I am so sorry that I doubted and then hesitated. It is just so hard to keep waiting."

Jesus: "Erin, I did not say that you would never go through periods of doubt. You have never cast Me aside for the world even with all you know now. While you are discouraged, you are also ready for your dreams to come true. You are ready for the things I have placed on your heart to become reality. You are still waiting for 'The Year of My Favor' to commence.

"You have been in My service since September 2012. At times, you have struggled because people have been cruel. However, you have seen the supernatural and have experienced the fruits of your labor and faith. I know that you have had a difficult last year, but this time for you is coming to a close. Now, can you continue to trust Me with your life, you and your household?"

Jesus: "I promise you this...what I have planned, that which awaits you, is something that has never been seen since the Earth was created nor will ever be seen again. All that you have been through...all your troubles, all your schooling...will never have prepared you for what I am about to do. Still, all will come together and make perfect sense. Now, you were disappointed with your dream last night. Please explain."

Me: "Yes, I was. I was hoping for an epic New Year's dream about something wonderful. Instead..."

Jesus: "Hmm, go on..."

Me: Sighing. "Okay, here it goes..."

Sub-dream 4 "Designing for a young celebrity couple" description begins...

I was designing a home for a well-known young celebrity and her new husband, who was also a well-known young celebrity. This couple had sought me out based on a referral someone had given them. They were impressed that I was not star struck by them. While I would have been star struck in the past, I have now moved on from all of that.

Their home was in or near either Malibu or Orange County. While I was Transformed and therefore young in appearance, I was still 'old' in experience. I somehow had the ability to wave my hands and supernaturally design a space in minutes. The job was therefore extremely easy for me to complete. I was done in record time.

Jesus: "Now, there is something that you must understand. Am I to send you to only specific groups of people that you prefer or are you here to witness to all of the lost that I send you to? Who are the lost then, Erin? Are they not those who have bought into the illusion that Heaven on Earth is apart from Me? They now worship the material instead. As children, I knew many of them. However, many of them also no longer see or hear Me and do not want to. Therefore, I send who I send to minister. Are you up to the challenge or shall I send another?"

Me: Crying. "I am so sorry, Lord. I am so sorry! Of course, I will do as You ask. However, I just do not like those type of people that much. I am sorry, Jesus, but I want to come to You in truth."

Jesus: Smiling at me in a comforting way. "Oh Erin, are you now left picking and choosing? Are you Jonah?" He nudged me good-naturedly as He pointed towards a beautiful lake in the distance. "Hmm, where is that whale?" We both laughed.

Me: Still laughing. "I am sorry. I will try harder."

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, please stop saying you are sorry. You are in pain and emotional. I see it in your eyes. Now, are you able to wait for My Plan and My Will?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. Yes, I will wait!"

Jesus: "Alright, then trust Me. While sometimes you will doubt this, I will show you that I am with you. When this door then opens and you are changed, you will go wherever I send you. You will never doubt Me again. Now, rejoice, Erin, rejoice! I love you!"

He seemed excited for me and gave me a big hug.

Jesus: "Oh yes...remember that, here in Heaven, there can be two seasons together. Flowers can blossom in the snow!" He smiled again. "Erin, I have you. Do not worry. While you have experienced the fulfillment of some of your promises, the ones that will leave you speechless have not happened yet. Those who are with you in this season will experience this too and will witness it also.

"You will never doubt that the door, the 'Large Box'..." He pointed to the large box. "...you waited for was the right one. Now, rejoice, rejoice! Do not be afraid, Erin. You who are highly precious (Daniel 10:19). Now, peace be with you as your name means peace. Be strong and of good courage. Soon you will be strengthened.

"Do not worry for I am going to do something in your days that you would not believe even if I told you." He smiled and laughed. "I love you!" He kissed the top of my head. "Oh yes, one more thing...do not worry even though your medical reports will not be encouraging. I have you! All is not lost! You chose My Way, God's Will, and, for this, I will bless you all the days of your life. You are loved by the King!" He smiled.

Received on Tuesday, January 15, 2019

The following is from a personal word I had with Jesus. While I removed the personal parts, there is still plenty worth posting for research (and to be in the future books). In particular, the Scripture referenced at the end are particularly pertinent.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! I have so much to be thankful for. I have failed to focus on this sometimes as I have instead focused on all of my attackers and their endless schemes. So many of them are so incredibly nonsensical. I had quite a dream two nights ago on Sunday, January 13, 2019...

Sub-dream 1 description begins...

I was in a very large church that had no ceiling. This church was open to Heaven and the sanctuary was shaped like a planetarium. Instead of a regular church service, people would gather and sit in chairs which tilted back. This was done so that they could see Jesus when He comes. These people were watching for Jesus' return. The service was nightly. They would listen for the horns and wait for the signs.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Once again, I am on the path in the aspen grove. I ran to the Lord. He walked over to receive me. He knew how exhausted I have been and all of my struggles, so He met me there more than halfway. I started to cry.

Jesus: "I reconcile all things and make them new. You have told the truth. You have done everything I have told you. I will soon open the door for you. I have not left you to die. I love you, Erin, so do not worry. You reside here. You have learned how others turn quickly when given over to their pride, lust, greed and the like. They do not understand the true lateness of the hour. This is their choice.

"You must understand that I have kept you, your husband and your children together for My purposes. You are of no significance to the world where you are, but you soon will be. Everything you thought you knew will change in an instant. You have seen the world through the lens I have given you and the world is wanting.

"They do not look to God. However, they will soon know that I have sent you. They will not come against you with any success. You will stand for the weak and set the captives free in My Name. Remember, all of the things you thought you knew are about to change."

Me: Crying. "I am scared!"

Jesus: "Erin, this is a blessing as nothing will bring harm against you. This is 'The Year of My Favor', Erin."

Me: "Lord, I am old now. How can this be?"

Jesus: "Do you trust Me?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, with all that I am."

Jesus: "Then do not worry. Under My wings, you will find refuge. My promises are your shield and truth...your rampart. You will not fear the terror of the night or the arrow that flies by day. You will not fear the calamity that comes at noon. Though a thousand may fall at your side and ten thousand at your right hand, no harm will come near you.

"You will only see it with your eyes and witness the punishment of the wicked. However, and more than this, you will be guarded by angels as I will command them. You will be strengthened. You will tread on the lion and the cobra. You will even scale walls and leap over objects. And this I say about you, Erin...

"Because she loves me, I will deliver her (and your household and your friends). Because she knows My Name, I will protect her. When she calls to Me, I will answer her." He smiled and pointed to me. "I will be with her in trouble and I will deliver and honor her."

"Oh Erin, I have promised to deliver you and give you honor your entire life. I have promised to vindicate you because My recompense is with Me. Your life has mattered to Me and it is not your own. You, your household and your friends have been set apart and dedicated to Me. Therefore, I will not forget you. I will not forget them.

"Erin, people will be terrified at the sight of you because they will see My favor upon you. You are sent from Heaven and, when I do this as I have promised by My Words, where you step, the Earth will quake before you and the heavens tremble. When I say heavens, I do not mean Heaven, but rather the wars above you. The sun and moon will grow dark and the stars will lose their brightness.

"Because I am with you, right with you, many will flee at the sight of just one of you. Now, you have many worries. Do not be afraid. All you are enduring has been difficult, but soon you will walk and not grow faint. I put something on your heart many years ago. A Word. Do you remember it?"

Me: The Word was instantly downloaded. "Yes, I see and remember. I was with the dying man. You gave Me a Word from Isaiah 40."

Jesus: "I have given you much today straight from My Word on the pages of your journal. Be ready. It fits together. It is right there in plain sight. Erin, your life is not your own. I have prepared you. Now rejoice, Erin, for your time of trouble is almost finished. I love you." The following passages were then downloaded:

- Joel 2
- Isaiah 40
- Isaiah 43
- Psalm 45
- Psalm 46
- Revelation
- Psalm 91

"Now rejoice, Erin, rejoice as I am with you!"

Dream 317c – Excerpts from a Personal Word from Jesus

Received on Sunday, January 20, 2019

The following is from another personal word I had with Jesus. While I once again removed the personal parts, there is still plenty worth reading.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for all that You have done for us! Thank You for granting me another day, another day closer to being with You in Heaven. Thank You for keeping the power on in our home as this epic storm has come from the southwest. It is quite a blizzard. I am struggling to come to You today. I ache all over and the bones in my neck are grinding. This is something new and began in the last few weeks.

Father, You have always asked me to be honest with my state of being, as well as towards You in all that I do. I am just thankful You have not struck me down when I have expressed my hurt at the state of everything. You have heard me whining, but I am thankful that You do not give up on me and leave me here to live life without You.

Father, You are the Lifter of my head and the Lover of my soul. I love You, Father, with everything that I am. When I think of everything You have done from the beginning to the end, I stand in awe. I am only a few days away from the end of my eighth and most difficult bridge of my life yet. It is hard to believe that I will begin a new bridge soon. I am also now in the seventh year of the gift of these dreams in communion with You.

I am so thankful, Father. We have been trying to stay upbeat as a family, but it has been difficult. As the Lord told me a few weeks ago, I would have some unfavorable medical reports. He was 100% correct (as per usual). I have been severely discouraged as my condition is declining and there is nothing short of a miracle that will change this.

Several months ago, my doctors here told me that one of my surgeries comes with a risk of loss of sight. In response, I brought some items I love to look at out of storage just in case. Upon scanning the areas of my shelves, I often feel compelled to pray for the families of these items. I wonder about their origins and the generations that came afterwards. I just know there is a good story behind each of their origins.

My tiny devotional area is now filled with pretty things as a result. These are antique items, mostly from France, England and Germany. Almost all of the items are porcelain or earthenware and most are either chipped, cracked or not in working order. Many have no markings or history of the item.

When it comes to porcelain and pottery, given how fragile they are, it is always shocking that they have made it this far. I smile and think of my devotional room to God as lovely. Even though most of the pieces are broken, chipped and damaged, they are still lovely to me. I smiled as I realized that this is an analogy to how God loves us. I include myself in this mix.

He looks on all of us as His Creation, lovely in His eyes, but damaged from the world's perspective. Incidentally, I only keep these items in my small devotional area. The rest of the house remains free from clutter and antique items. These are relegated to my small area only. Anyway, if I were to give my own 'State of the Union' address, it would be like this...'I am still pressing forward in hope as I know that You, God, will fulfill all of Your promises!'

I have been so sad lately about all of the children dying. One child's death in particular, a brutal murder, bothered me to the point that I wept. Thankfully, the Lord reminded me that He has all of the children and I was not to worry about them. I still grieve for those that remain and mourn though. The Lord then gave me a vision that provided me with such comfort...

Vision description begins...

I was looking over a large park area. It was full of trees, flowers and butterflies. The weather was absolutely perfect. As I looked closer, I saw hundreds of beautiful toddlers. They were all laughing and playing. To my delight, I then saw hundreds of the cutest baby animals. The children were taking turns playfully chasing these animals and then the chasing would be reversed. There was so much joy and laughter coming from these children that I came out of this vision with a huge smile on my face.

Vision description over...

Oh yes, there is something that I have not described before. When I am in Heaven, everything is so vivid and with colors that I cannot describe as there is no earthly comparison. When I see a vision like this (or when I have a dream), it is so perfectly clear. It is always such a disappointment coming out of this as the Earth is just so...well...grey, for a lack of a better word, in comparison. Oh, we have so much to look forward to in Heaven!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Today, Jesus met me right where I was. We were at the archway between the vineyard and the aspen grove.

Me: Crying. "Lord, all of this is too much for me. I am sad. Lord, You bless us, but then the enemy pounces. A close friend of ours has treated me like a fraud and it hurts so much. Lord, ever since I was a little girl, all those close to me have eventually turned against me. Other than my husband, my children and my faithful friends on the Nest, I can count on five fingers those who have never turned against me and it hurts. My own family especially. What if You turn too? What if my children turn? I would be all alone. What if I hurt others? Lord, what if..."

He put His finger to my mouth to quiet me. He then held me.

Jesus: "I know, Erin, I know. It is okay. I am here with you and I will never leave you. Because you love Me and you stay here with Me, I will move Heaven and Earth on behalf of you. The judgment of the world will soon be far from you. Do not worry as you have done nothing wrong."

Me: "Lord, I am really scared! This is You here, right?"

Jesus: "Erin, if I was not in your life, your troubles would be different. By the world's standards, you would have been blessed materially. However, you would have had a heart condition. You would have been focused on material things instead of Me. Well then, how about you and I instead stay this course and you continue to give your life to Me as we proceed?"

"Now, I promised you long ago that I would care for you, remove your prison clothes and release you from your captors. I have placed you at a seat of honor at My table. I speak tenderly to you, giving you a regular allowance. I care for you as long as you are here in the world. This means that I will also shelter you from the wicked schemes of the enemy. They will not prevail against you.

"Now, I have not forgotten you, Erin. I know that you are anxious, but please do not be."

Me: "Lord, but we are in a frozen state right now."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, give Me your life, your finances, your children, your marriage and your health. Yes, give Me your animals too. I delight in you. I will shut the mouths of the wicked against you. I will not allow anything to harm you. Erin, I won't! This is a great time of change for you. However, it will be a joyful time for you. You have paid a hundred times more than those doing harm and you have not seen justice. However, you will and very soon. I have not forgotten all that you have been through and now My recompense is with Me. Erin, I am here."

Me: Crying. "Oh Lord, please heal me. My bones are broken and rubbing together now. I am so sorry, Lord. If You would, for my birthday, could You heal our household and grant my husband an amazing job? Please, Lord?"

Jesus: "I said I will and I will, but I will do even more. Those who have come against you will apologize. I have something for you. I love you, Erin. Now, rejoice! Rejoice! I am with you. No weapons formed against you shall prosper. I have you. Do not worry. The door is soon to open, as well as the floodgates from Heaven. There will be so much that you will be unable to contain it."

Me: Laughing and joking. "Oh no! Is it water as in a flood?"

Jesus: Laughing. "No, Erin, not ordinary water...Living Water! Living water, blessings and miracles! Your enemies will turn and be in awe. They will be terrified. Do you still not see what you are to Me?"

Me: "It is hard when I am in pain. I am sorry."

Jesus: "I have been with you for your entire life and your husband's. You were planned to be together for this time. Together, you and your children are with Me. Therefore, I will bless you. I have tucked you away here and soon you will be brought out." He lifted my chin.

Me: "Thank You, Lord!"

Jesus: "I delight in you. Erin, soon I will give you the desires of your heart. The wicked will be helpless against all of you. I love you. You are in My favor. The one called 'not in My favor' is soon to be elevated amongst men. Your enemies will be terrified."

Me: "This is You, Lord, right?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Yes, Erin! I love you!"

Dream 318 – Jesus and God Controls Time

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all that You have done. Thank You for this beautiful ministry and the communion with my friends who love You so. Thank You for my family and our lovely warm home. We are truly blessed by You as I have never had a home which I could truly call 'our home'. Father, I am now four days into my ninth bridge. These last few days have been extremely painful.

It is when I am in the most pain that I become overwhelmed by my condition. Comfort is fleeting. Instead of an open display of joy, I then choose to remain quiet. I then become introspective, reflecting on times over old bridges. We are facing some scary days ahead for us. I can scarcely write a word about it without tears. I am scared, Father. I could lie and say that I am not afraid, but I cannot fool You. You know me.

My husband has spent the last few weeks or so editing our Personal Words from You. Reviewing all of these has renewed his faith in You, as it always does. He sees all of the promises You have fulfilled and then knows in his heart that You will fulfill all of those still to come. When I am my most teary eyed, he is there to say, 'Listen, Erin, God has got this! Do not worry. It will be okay. We will make it!'

Editing these Personal Words is no easy task. There are over a thousand typewritten pages, starting from the beginning of these dreams in September 2012. What makes these private dreams different than the public dreams is that, especially when it comes to dealing with our many enemies, they have a much shorter prophetic timeframe. These private dreams can essentially be divided into three categories:

- Words of comfort that better times are coming even though I am in pain and have a hard time seeing anything getting better;
- Danger spots to avoid, particularly for me, my husband and our children; and
- Our specific enemies, their tactics and how to combat them. This is the category that excites my husband the most. He has seen at least a hundred of these Personal Words being given about our many enemies and each has unfolded exactly as God said they would...100% accuracy, each and every time!

Now, this does NOT mean that we are immune to trouble though. No, not at all! Far from it! What I lament to you all in the Nest dreams have been allowed and our family has many enemies and still do. What is unique is that the Lord gives us 'insider information' and then we know that, even when it seems like we have been defeated, it merely means that justice will soon be served (and now, and in so many cases, has already been served).

While I know these Personal Words contains gems of wisdom and guidance, I leave this to my husband to comb over and remind me again and again of just how powerful our God we serve is and that He is truly with us. The trouble is that, when I look back over these old written pages, it brings me back to places when I was in the furnace of affliction. This is because it deals with past enemies and current enemies, but especially my main enemy, an enemy that still looms in the background even now.

Seriously, why would I want to go back to a place where the furnace was on full flame and I was in the midst of it? Why? Well, while I do not fully know the answer to this, I do know this...the enemy fights us the hardest when we are about to gain ground in God's glory. The enemy does not want us to reclaim what God has promised us. Therefore, the enemy fights us, but only with God's permission and by His lead.

So, why is this allowed? I believe that I know at least part of the answer. It is because anything worthy of God, to bathe in His presence and glory, is worth every ounce of hardship down here on Earth. As a parent, what a wonderful feeling to know that Your child will return to you, not only out of need, but out of counsel and of provision. However, even more importantly, especially when they return out of love.

In return, we, as children, run after God, our Father, because we cannot get enough of Him. Down here, we want more of Jesus and more of God, His Father. When we cry out in pain and desperation, He answers us. Right now, Father, Your Words of comfort do not remove my physical pain, but they do soften my heart. In the last few days, I have relived something painful from my past.

I know there is a purpose to all of this as well. You are preparing all of us to go back to old battlefields. You are doing this as there is unfinished business there. This is all according to Your plans and to further our healing. Even though I understand this, it is still just so difficult. However, there are countless times in the Bible that You said someone 'returned from exile'. It is now our turn to 'return from exile'!

In this context, I just know that You are preparing our household for what comes next. However, it is difficult to imagine anything, any change, as I am now...but, really, as we are now as a family. However, Father, You are my Father and my Miracle Maker and I pursue You. I trust in You and Your ways, ways that are higher than ours. Most importantly, I love You with my entire heart, soul and spirit.

Father, You have answered so many of my prayers, especially those regarding children, the lost, the sick and the dying. I am so thankful. I am especially thankful for You keeping that little three-year-old safe for three days in North Carolina during freezing conditions. He was stuck in a briar bush and could not move.

The boy claims a bear came to visit him a few times and would keep him warm. Father, this is impossible in the natural, so I just know that this 'bear' was sent by You supernaturally to keep this toddler alive. What a miracle! Thank You, Father! Thank You also for the glorious dream I had last night...

Sub-dream 1 description begins...

I was in an orchard of fragrant trees blossoming. A breeze stirred up and the blossom pedals started to fly around in the air. They then started to make so many beautiful and intricate designs. It was stunning. I then heard the sound of a distant waterfall. I was walking in bare feet and the grass was incredibly soft. Even though the sun was just rising, it was already shining so brightly. It felt like the morning. It was a beautiful dawn.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, I love blossoms from trees. They are so beautiful. It is a promise from You that, even though we are in the cold winter months, soon, very soon, spring will come, along with those blossoms. We also know that, when we see this, we know summer is soon to come shortly thereafter. Oh Lord, thank You so much for such beautiful blossoms!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I started to laugh as I was in the same orchard as my sub-dream. It was such a beautiful orchard that it took my breath away. There were so many varieties of fruit trees there that I could not count them all. They were all blossoming. There were so many different colors, including whites, pinks, reds, purples, blues, oranges, violets and yellows, but also other colors with no earthly equivalent. I could hear birds chirping. There was soft grass under my feet.

I looked down one of the rows of trees and I could see the vineyard in the distance. Below this orchard, I could also see the aspen grove. It was stunning. I could also see the Heavenly Valley below. On the opposite side of the orchard, I could hear water flowing. I decided to walk towards this beautiful sound. There in front of me was a crystal-clear mountain brook.

This brook flowed down the hill in a type of stairstep formation. Next to the brook were several small stairsteps consisting of flat stones. I could tell that they had been beautifully crafted by a master landscape designer. I started to giggle with glee when I decided to walk down the small stairsteps to see where they led to. After I stepped down a few of these steps, I heard the Voice of the Lord call out to me.

Jesus: "Erin, where are you going? I came to meet you in the blossoms!"

Before I could utter a word in reply, Jesus was right there in front of me. He had a huge smile on His face.

Jesus: "Hmm, Erin, you are not an easy one to pursue around here." He started to laugh. "I brought you to where the trees are blossoming. Would you like to go back there with Me?"

Me: "Oh yes, I would love that! Please forgive me for stepping ahead of You. Lord, I was just so excited to see where You were in this new place."

Jesus: "Well, Erin, I am always with you."

I hugged Him tightly. I began to cry as I did not want to let Him go! I felt so safe in His arms that words cannot even describe His comforting presence.

Jesus: "It is okay. I am glad that you are here with Me."

Me: "Lord, time does not stop. It moves forward. Sometimes I wish that I could go back and make more out of the special times You had given me. Well, perhaps I would leave out the 'furnace of affliction' part though."

Jesus: Smiling. "If that was the case, what time would you have left to relive? What time was there apart from the furnace?"

I thought long and hard. After a while, I realized that there weren't any.

Me: "Hmm, how about just the snippets of time that I had spent with my children? They grew up too fast, Lord. I can no longer hold them on my lap and read to them. I can no longer hear their laughter as I read. I can't..." I started to cry. "Oh Lord, this is cruel. I missed so much. I miss what I can no longer have."

Jesus: "That is because God is the Keeper of Time. Time is different here. However, where you are, time waits for no one. Nothing is promised in relationship to time there apart from God. Time is a measure there on Earth. Here, there is no need to measure time. Time is never looked at here with a sense of dread. Time is different here. Sunrises and sunsets are much longer here.

"Each sunrise and sunset is important here, but the consequences of time are no longer of aging or death. Time is not filled with regret here. I know how much time you were robbed of from your enemies. I know how much you lost with your children at the hands of your enemy. While My Father could reverse time, He will not as this would not change the outcome. This is because all of this happened as He had planned. You must understand that this was and is My Father's Will.

"Now I tell you that I will make all things new again. I will bind up your brokenness and remove it. I bring My recompense to you, Erin. I have promised. You will be overjoyed. Please understand that time is not yours. No man can control it. While men can confuse it, remove evidence of history and recreate a new narrative, time belongs only to God, My Father.”

Me: “Lord, a long time ago, when I was not in pain and could move around like an athlete, time seemed to fly by. I never wanted the day to end. However, as I am now, time drags on and it is not my friend. While it is a great blessing to have my husband and children here with me, I cannot do much with them and that breaks my heart.”

Just then, I came out of the dream and felt that I should look at my clock. I noticed that the third hand on the clock had stuck and that the time on my clock had frozen at 11:40am as a result. It did this even though the pendulum of the clock was still going back and forth. When I checked the true time, I realized it was actually 1:31pm. I laughed as I went back to Him.

Jesus: Laughing. “Yes, Erin, I can stop a clock!”

Me: Laughing. “You are so funny, Lord. This clock has kept time perfectly for over three years. Why now?”

Jesus: “I decided to answer your prayer to hold time.”

Me: “Well, Lord, and, as You know, this is just one clock. The sun is still moving in the horizon. The Earth has not stopped rotating.”

Jesus: “Alright then, would you like Me to send it backwards? I can do this. Should I stop it? I can do this too!” (2 Kings 20:11, Isaiah 38:8, Joshua 10:13)

Me: “Forgive me, Lord. I know that You had did this for Joshua. He prayed for this and You did the impossible. Well, nothing is impossible for You!”

Jesus: “Yes, Erin, there was no day like it before this or ever since. However, Erin, there soon comes a day unlike any other day for you and those that I have called. Even though this day might not be the same as it was for Joshua against his enemies in that day, it will be a new thing that I will do. Do not fear this though. The light of day shall rest upon you and the splendor and glory of My chosen shall be changed.

“In the days of trouble that follow, evil shall be heaped upon the sinners, but the righteous shall triumph. Others will be made to see that the time to repent has come (Enoch 49:1-3). So, Erin, the tears that you cry right now are tears from lost time. However, the time has now come and change is at hand.

“Surely as you see the signs of spring, you know that summer is close.” He reached over and hugged me. “It is natural for a woman who has given birth to grieve for her children and pray for their protection over the cursed lands. However, do not worry as I will send for you and keep you safe in the times of trouble. Nothing shall harm you.

"Now, your prayers have been strengthened. God, My Father, hears your prayers in His Courts. You cry out for mercy and your prayers are answered. I will send angels concerning you, Erin, and they will guard you in all that you do. Do not be afraid, Erin, as your foot will not strike a stone."

I felt a nudge in my Spirit to reach over and touch my Heavenly hair. It was resting on the softest linen gown I have ever felt. My hair was long and felt as beautiful as strands of silk. Everything is just so incredibly perfect here in Heaven!

Me: Laughing. "When will I have all of this?"

Jesus: "You have already received it on Earth as it is in Heaven. Here, you already have it... there, just a little longer."

Me: Jumping up and down in excitement. "Oh Lord, Thank You! Thank You!"

Jesus: "Now, you let Me take your worries and burdens, okay?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, but I am still scared."

Jesus: "Do not be, Erin, as I am with you. Now, rejoice! Rejoice! Come, we have much to do!"

He held out His hand towards me. Once I reached for His hand, He started to lead me back to the blossoming orchard.

Communion

Dear Father,

I must start with a bold confession. I am quite concerned right now as I am still not sure what all will happen next. I know that You do, but I don’t and I am human, so I still worry. You tell me not to, but it is hard. You then showed me something that happened to me as a child and I knew that You reminded me of this event as this time right now reminds me a lot of how I felt back then.

Between when I was five to seven years old, we lived near Lake Tahoe, Nevada. When I was four, my birth father had abandoned us, so he was out of the picture. My mom then soon remarried. My step grandparents had a beautiful sailboat. It was large enough to have sleeping quarters below the deck. While I do not remember the exact year of this event, I just knew that we went to this boat almost every weekend.

On one particular day, we set sail across this beautiful lake. I remember loving the smell of Ponderosa pine and the clean crisp air. As I was small, this lake seemed to be the size of an ocean to me. I also remember that this lake seemed ominous to me as the adults would talk about how incredibly deep it was.

We began to set sail from a place called Zephyr’s Cove. I remember that my youngest brother had not yet been born yet. We had planned to sail from Zephyr’s Cove to Emerald Bay and then up to the Pine Forest Inlet. We would then go back across straight to Zephyr’s Cove. I remember that there was a lot of yelling, laughter, drinking and loud music on these excursions.

I also remember that, at least once per trip, some inebriated adult would jump overboard to retrieve something they had accidentally dropped into the lake. This person would then need to be fished out. As a child, I remembered the fear it brought to me when someone would go overboard into this deep lake. I was then always very relieved when everyone was back onboard safe and sound.

After what seemed to be several hours of sailing on this lake, we finally pulled into Emerald Bay. This bay had an amazing castle there. I used to imagine being in the castle as opposed to being with all of these drunken adults on the sailboat. Soon, my stepdad, mom and all of their drunken friends would start jumping into the lake. Without exception, they then complained a lot about how cold the lake’s water was.

After this, we headed up the shoreline into another area. It was either called Pike Pine or Pine Pike, but I cannot recall which. It was during this portion of this trip that we were approached by some wardens in a police boat. When they reached us, they warned us of a storm that was swiftly approaching. It was amazing! In an instant, all of these drunk, silly, inebriated people suddenly became sober and concerned.

Out of nowhere, the wind soon kicked up and the water became increasingly choppy. My brother and I were ordered down into the area with the small galley kitchen table below. I could hear the adults scrambling about above us and yelling words such as 'jib', 'boom' and 'duck'! I heard the sails whipping in the wind as they tried to zig zag back and forth across the water. Then the full force of the storm came!

Once this part of the storm hit, the sails were quickly brought fully down and the motor was powered up. At one point, while we were out in the middle of the lake, the motor unexpectedly stopped. My stepdad and his friend were able to start the motor back up, but the conditions they were working in made doing so difficult. Up until it started, there was worry that we would be stuck and in need of an emergency rescue.

It all happened so suddenly. My thoughts had quickly changed from 'being a princess in the castle' to 'what happens to us if this storm sinks us?' Thankfully, I did not need to answer this question as the motor got us moving and the storm finally blew over. While our boat was relatively unscathed, we then heard of how much damage this caused when we eventually got back to Zephyr's Cove.

Oh Father, this was such a scary day for me as a young child. I never forgot the feeling of being in a storm-tossed boat and becoming sea sick. We had no control and it all happened suddenly and without warning. They called it a sudden squall because there was no warning. Father, beginning March 2018, this has been 'The Year of the Squall'.

I had some dreams recently. While they have been very clear, they are still a mystery at the same time...

Sub-dream 1 "The 8' x 8' x 8' Shower Area" description begins...

I was in a room with white ceilings, walls and concrete floors. In this 'sea of white', I was preparing a meal for many guests. I had beautiful floral arrangements and table settings ready to decorate with. The owner of the facility soon found me...

Owner: "Erin, you have prepared for your guests, but you are not ready and dressed to receive them."

Just then, I realized that I had spent all of this time preparing without being presentable for our guests. The owner smiled at me and pointed in the direction that I should go to remedy this and get ready for the guests. Just as I was about to go there, some loud, uninvited guests arrived to disrupt my plans. I was now too worried to leave. The owner smiled at me again... Owner: "Oh Erin, do not worry. I will take charge of these people. They are uninvited guests and I own the venue. Please...continue getting ready." He waved me towards some signs directing me to a shower / changing room. When I arrived at this structure, there was no handle on the door. I decided to push my way through the door instead. When I looked in the room, I noticed that it was a cube of 8' x 8' x 8'. When the door closed behind me, it became completely seamless with the tile. The shower was tiled from floor to ceiling with beautiful 2" x 2" glass enameled-like tiles. The showerhead was massive and the water pressure was just right. It was so wonderful feeling that I took a longer shower than normal. While I was taking it all in with my eyes closed, I suddenly remembered my invited guests and became excited. I quickly finished getting ready and left the shower room to go back to my guests. The door with no handles pushed open easily and I rushed off to greet my guests. As I looked back through the door, I noticed that the tiles from the ceiling were dropping.

Sub-dream 2 "Cleaning up an excrement-filled toilet area" description begins...

I was indirectly providing services to the wife of an old client who had lost their daughter in a tragic accident. While I was no longer working as a designer, my friend that was also there was. She had asked me to subcontract for construction cleanup and I had agreed. She had been contracted for $5,999.50 and had offered me $1,000.00 of that for my assistance. When I accepted this, I still had no idea who the client was. My friend left at 4:45pm for a prior commitment, but not without first warning me that the client was going to arrive at 5:00pm. My assistance revolved around cleaning a bathroom floor and toilet area. When I arrived at this area to clean it, it was so disgusting that I would have never agreed to do this had I known. While $1,000 is a lot of money to clean a bathroom, just imagine the worst and why this wouldn't be worth it. Out of loyalty to my friend, I proceeded as I knew that she would not get her $5,999.50 if I did not do my part to clean up for the $1,000. The client arrived at 5:00pm and quickly came over to check on my progress with the restroom. Even though I was cleaning up at a furious pace, she knew that I knew that it would be next to impossible to finish cleaning this room by the agreed to time of 6:00pm. I only had an hour!

When I turned to negotiate more time, I suddenly realized that this client was the wife of a client I used to have. She recognized me at the same time as I recognized her.

Client: "Well, Erin, I see that you are still getting all that you deserve!"

I knew instantly that she was mocking the fact that I was there cleaning her disgusting and excrement-filled restroom.

Me: "How can you even say this to me? I worked hard for you and your husband when you were my clients. I put my heart and soul into your project."

Client: "And you should have! You made way too much money on our project."

Me: "No, I didn't. I actually ended up losing money on your project. Are you saying that you are able to decide my worth even though you had agreed to my wage and my services in advance? We signed a contract and I fulfilled it completely!"

Client: "Yes, but look where you are now."

I was still on my hands and knees scraping excrement off of her restroom. She continued her mocking.

Client: "Come on, miracle worker, do what you were paid for or you will get nothing..." She made an evil laughing sound. "...and neither will your friend." She gave me an evil sneer. "As you know, I am not a 'keeper of contracts'."

I knew that I would not make it. Time had passed rapidly and it was now close to 6:00pm. I couldn't go any faster!

Me: "I have to go now and get home to my family. If I spend even more time here with you, there is no guarantee that I will even be paid for cleaning up all of this excrement." As I got up to leave, I felt the Lord give me some compassion for her. "Oh yes...I am so sorry for your loss, the loss of your daughter."

I heard her begin to make strange demonic sounds. She pointed at the clock and started to cackle that time was out. With only minutes to spare, I felt the Lord direct me to wave my hand over the area. I did and, in an instant and still before 6:00pm, the entire area was completely clean. The smell associated with the excrement was also completely gone. I heard her gasp and begin to wail.

Client: Crying. "I hate God! I hate Him for taking my baby!"

Me: "God didn't take your child before the appointed time. He had known her and had determined her days when she was still within your womb. You are bound by bitterness and are now comfortable in this excrement. You must let go of this now. It is you that is now out of time."

"Now, I have completed the tasks you gave me within the appointed time. I will expect that my friend receives her wages as promised. In fact, I will collect them for her now."

I could tell from the expression on her face that she had no intention of paying my friend. An envelope suddenly appeared in her hand and the Lord let me know that it contained $6,000 of her money inside. She was stunned to see the envelope and somehow knew this too. She became scared at seeing all of this unfold.

Client: "Who are you? You cannot be the Erin that I knew!"

Me: "I am Erin. Now hand me over my friend's wages and repent. You are running out of time."

Despite all that she had seen, she was still hesitating. Her arm was then suddenly forced out towards me. It was as if her hand was suddenly pulled out by an invisible force. I knew that it had been. I took the envelope from her hand.

Me: "Release your resentment towards God now. It is God's Will that you release all of this immediately!"

Client: Beginning to breakdown. "I am sorry. I am sorry. I am sorry. I have lost everything. While I have wealth, I do not have my family."

Me: "It is okay. Release all of this. Now, would you like to come to dinner with me?"

Client: Hesitating. "Will it bring my daughter back?"

Me: "Who knows, other than God, whether she may be waiting there for you? I am sorry, but I do not know the answer to this."

Client: "Even if it is a small chance, I will go with you. Yes, Erin, I will go!"

While she was now desperate to go with me, the Lord let me know that she was still holding a great hatred towards Him.

Me: "It does not work like that. You must not hold anything against God. You are still blaming God. You are still hating Him. As such, you cannot go where I am now going."

Client: "I do not know how to do what you are asking me to do. Hating God is where I get my strength from. I will not stop."

Me: "Okay, that is your choice to make. I wish you were coming though. Please take care. At least your bathroom is clean and it is still just before 6:00pm."

Before I turned to walk to the door to leave, I handed her fifty cents in change ($6,000 in her envelope less the $5,999.50 as agreed to in the contract). As I walked towards the door, the woman became crazier with each step. After I walked through the door, I saw it shut behind me.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Oh Father, I repent for anything that I have failed to repent for. If I have failed to forgive those who wronged me or failed to keep myself cleansed, I am so sorry. The hour is late and I do not want to be neglectful of anything. Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a beautiful clearing. There before me was a perfectly shaped, magnificent tree with purple flowers. I smiled as I recognized this shape from a line of 'Love Pop Greeting Cards' I just adore. It was a Heavenly version of a Jacaranda tree. This clearing was filled with an amazing fragrance.

I smelled Eucalyptus trees, as well as a fragrance from these purple flowers. The tree was in full bloom. The grass was greener than green and as soft as the softest animal fur. I went to the base of the tree and hugged it. As I did, I began to cry out to God.

Me: "Oh Lord, I am young here. There is no death here. Please, Father, it is time! Father, please! The world has become frightening and much more so over the last three years. The madness is rising."

As I was hugging this beautiful tree, a lovely butterfly landed on my arm. As it rested there, it fanned out its amazing wings. I then heard the Lord's Voice speak to me.

Jesus: "Erin, come!" I turned and there was Jesus motioning for me to come to Him. I ran into His arms and hugged Him. "Erin, I accept your prayers. I have answered your cries. Remember, I never promised you an easy journey. I know you feel as if time has run out, but it has not."

Me: "Lord, I have nine (non-electronic) clocks in our house and not one works fully. It is as if You have stopped my ability to measure time here. I broke one, one just stopped, one is overwound, one has a broken hand, one you have to set the time and then it runs for twenty minutes and then stops, one went through some troubles and another keeps time but no longer chimes. Why? Lord, I know that these are antique clocks, but this is clearly supernatural. What are the odds?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Erin, time is God's. He controls His Clock."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but You are the Keeper of Time."

Jesus: "No, Erin. No one knows the day nor the hour of My coming except My Father in Heaven."

Me: Crying. "Lord, our household is out of time. I am scared. My health is worsening. My friends have children who are dying. Where are You, Lord?"

Jesus: "There is a River that makes glad the City of God. I am within you. Erin, you will not fall. I will help you at the break of dawn. My promises are true, Erin. I have not forgotten you. I am not angry with you. You have done everything that I have instructed. You have loved Me without conditions. You have loved others I have appointed to you without conditions. You have done all that I have asked."

Me: "Well then, Lord, I ask You, here from my chair, that You please well up in all of us. Please heal my friends and their sick children. Please heal the broken. Father, my Lord, You are the Good Shepherd and we are lambs in the midst of devouring wolves. Please strengthen us.

"Time waits for no man and my Father, God, in Heaven, controls time. Please, Lord, please let this be the great time, 'The Year of Your Favor', in our lives. We are at the end here and time is up for us by worldly standards. Everything has a deadline and we will be unable to meet them."

Jesus: "Erin, something else is bothering you..."

Me: "Yes, Lord. All of the evil. All of the evil is just so horrifying now. Someone split a child, a baby, in half. Another poured water over a sleeping baby simply because they thought it looked 'too cute'. Oh, there is so much more. What about 'late-term abortions'? Is this now the true root of who we are becoming as a nation? Are we really sacrificing babies now as they did during the times of Baal?

"At one time, and not that long ago, late-term abortions were only allowed if the mother's health was at risk. Now it can be performed in some places simply if it affects the mother's 'well-being'. The problem is that the term 'well-being' is broadly defined. It could be for financial reasons, physical appearance, mental capacity...but, really, any reason. One democratic politician has even recommended that infanticide be legalized.

"He described how a doctor would make the now-born baby comfortable and it would then 'simply slip away'. Here we have people who love You with all of their hearts that have children dying. This happens despite the fact they desperately want to keep these babies and children. Why, Lord? Please heal them! Please heal them right here and right now! Please, Lord!"

Jesus: "I have heard your cries, Erin. While I have answered many immediately, others must come into My plan and into My Father's timing. Those who are lost on Earth are found here, Erin. They are with Me here in Heaven. They are safe here. They are free and waiting for the day to see their loved ones again. Now, Erin, where is a child better off? Is it here in Heaven with Me or there?"

Me: "With You, Lord! Of course, with You!"

Received on Monday, February 4, 2019

Jesus: "There will be drastic changes to the world very soon. You need not worry. I will take care of you and your household."

Me: "Please make this soon, Lord, as I won't make it. I won't make it much longer as things are becoming worse and worse each day."

Jesus: "I have given you promises and these are even in My Word. Erin, I have not forsaken you and I will not forsake you." He hugged me. "While I know that you are scared, please remember that I am with you and I love you. Your heart is good and I know you press into Me. Heaven has collected your tears.

"You must understand that, as the world grows colder, there will be horrible events. You have only to understand the roots of Baal worship to know that this is occurring right now. While it is harder to recognize as it is with a different label and in a different context, it is still the same.

"A veil has gone out over the lands. One veil is that of evil. This covers half of those living in the land and they do not see the evil. While the other half sees the evil, they are in shock and fear. However, this 'other half' is also in denial about what has happened as all of this has come about so suddenly.

"Understand also that 'the cloud has risen in the west'. As surely as you see this, you can know the time is at hand. See, this comes quickly. Just as gathering storm clouds means a coming storm, just as obvious signs are now gathering telling of a different storm that is coming. Erin, the time of division, even amongst family, is here.

"I have told you about this already. This means a time of great separation. Remember that I am called the Prince of Peace even though I have brought division. Why?"

Me: "Is it to test the hearts of men? Is it to test who is for You and who is against You?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, yes, but I already know all of this. It is for the salvation of those who do not know Me and to strengthen the faith of those that I have called. Erin, many who call themselves a child of God will soon fall away. However, many of them will then return, but not until they are refined in the furnace of affliction.

"Erin, I sent the Red Bull in to stir up the wicked. Those hidden in plain sight are about to be exposed. Things will become worse. You have heard their lies and have seen the wicked prosper. Truth is now in question and lies are now accepted. Those who know who I am will press into Me even more and I will therefore bless them abundantly and carry them through the difficult times.

"As I have spoken in My Word, five in one household will be divided. Three will be against two and two will be against three. Father will be against son and son will be against father. Mother will be against daughter and daughter will be against mother. You already understand these things as you have seen these in your past bridges."

Me: "Lord, what do you mean by 'the cloud in the west'?"

Jesus: Smiling. "It is to illustrate that, when you see clouds gathering, you come to expect rain. You are then able to predict weather from these signs. Yet here we have sign after sign after sign, but no one knows the times that we are in."

Me: "Lord, though You tell me not to worry, in the condition that I am in today, I am still scared. While I know that You will watch over us, I am still afraid of all that is coming."

Jesus: "Do not fear, Erin. Remember that I have chosen you...you and your household. You should be encouraged because I am with you and because the times written in prophecies are now coming to pass. You and those that I have called were chosen for a time such as this." He smiled and nudged me. "Erin, be joyful as your clocks are winding down."

Me: Laughing. "Oh Lord, they are not working at all. That being said, I know that You are really referring to God's Clock and Calendar. All of these events seem to be coming and going so fast right now."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, but there is still time. There is an entire generation who does not know Me. They do not even know what to look for."

Me: "But, Lord, You are God and You know all of those who You have called. You know all of those who You have chosen. Why not call them all right now? Lord, please call them!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, My Arrows will go out and My Truth shall spread from My Flaming Arrows. Where you go...where I send you...nothing shall stand against you with success. I will shake the nations and many will be afraid. Just as I did not come to unify, you have not been called to unify. I came to give hope to the captives and set them free.

"I came to spread the Word of Truth. I came to let people know that I love them and that I have prepared a place for them. This time has come again. You will lead people to Me by displaying awesome deeds. You will cut down the wicked by your very presence as I will be with each of you. The scales upon the land are not balanced. Come, Erin, I will show you..."

He took me to the overlook. As I watched, I saw a large angel and a scale there. The scale was uneven and severely favored one side. I soon realized that this was not an angel I was seeing. It was actually a statue. There was a blindfold over her eyes.

Jesus: "This represents the justice that is now upon the land. It is blind and cannot see what is right. However, I see the imbalance. I see that the scales are left wanting. There is no justice for the innocent, only for the wicked..."

He pointed back to the overlook. I saw a large lineup of women moving in single file towards the Statue of Liberty. However, the statue did not look 'normal'. Instead, the statue was pregnant and her legs were separated.

Between her legs, I could see something like a furnace. The women were bringing their babies to the statue and throwing them into Liberty's furnace as a sacrifice!

Me: "Oh Lord, please stop this. I can't look at this. It is horrible. Please..."

Jesus: "Erin, this is being done in the same spirit as that of Moloch or Baal worship. It means nothing to Me that the laws of the lands allow this. They are still sacrificing My children to 'a different god' no matter what they call it."

Me: "Oh Lord, please tell me that You have these babies up there in Heaven with You."

Jesus: Smiling tenderly at me. "Oh Erin, yes, of course I do. I am just showing you the wickedness upon the land and what I am seeing. However, there are also people there who are selling their children as slaves for money. Just because you want to believe that this would never happen here does not mean it is not. Yes, Erin, I know that this is hard for you to understand.

"Now, on a 'brighter side', also understand that all who are in the land that I will soon call have been called here for just this time. These people, including you, your family, your friends and their families, as well as others, all were appointed for this time. This is for the benefits of the multitudes who will one day go down to the Valley of Decision."

Me: "Lord, I do not fully understand this. Is justice a blind-folded statue, stiff and made of clay? While this horrific version of the Statue of Liberty is in her usual place in New York, I see that this 'statue of justice' is standing between Illinois and Iowa right at the Mississippi. She is stiff and lifeless. Why is she standing so far away from what is happening at the Statue of Liberty?"

Jesus: "This is a very good question and was spoken with wisdom. Justice is stiff and easily toppled. It is blind-folded and far removed from what is happening in the land. However, My Father on the Throne administers Divine Judgments upon the wicked. Erin, no evil deed will go unpunished. Here, let Me show you..."

He pointed back to the overlook. I saw four angels going out upon the land. While I saw the massive Red Bull there, he was now shackled and bound by ropes. He was surrounded by enemies and they were spewing blasphemies against God and bearing false witness. I saw an increase in evil during this time. While the Red Bull was bound, I saw an open door. Foreigners quickly entered into this open door like locusts.

I then saw the rise of false witnesses against God's people. I then saw the angels shout and sound trumpets. The trumpets started off sounding low and melodic, but it rose until it sounded incredibly loud. This sound remained for quite a while. While it seemed to last around an hour or so, I am not really sure. I then saw the land being shaken like a rug from west to east and then from east to west.

The extremes then went back and forth. Two of the four angels were bringing cold and the other two were bringing heat. It was a massive push and pull. The rain, flooding, landslides and shaking earth then came. Heat, drought, fires, exhausted resources and massive storms, both by land and by sea, then came. These all came one after another, all without relenting. God was humbling the land even further.

However, I then saw something else...something fantastic! I saw something in the midst of this troubled land! I saw small embers spread everywhere. I then watched as these small embers turned into the Flames of God. It was like the appearance of burnishing irons. The appearance of just one caused great fear in many. These were like the divining rods of God. The presence of just one cause the wicked to confess.

These 'Flames' then displayed awesome deeds. They all moved in unison and not one could be bribed into anything contrary to God's Orders and His Will. I then saw angry people, but also healed, joyful and saved people. Those who spoke with tongues of evil were cutdown by God's Truth. They no longer had a bridal or bit over their own tongues and were forced to confess of their evil deeds.

God was now controlling their tongues. The wicked were exposed. In contrast, the 'Flames' were now a beautiful and bright Army of God. Those in isolation, those sick and with no hope, those grieving the land and those watching for Jesus' return...out of these, God had chosen a remnant, an army, a revival of hearts. I saw God breathe life into them!

Me: "Oh Lord, this is awesome! You are really going to do this, aren't You? I see this happening all over the world! When? Lord, when?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Now calm down, little warrior. I know you are ready. Do not worry. Press into Me. This time will be like no other time in history. I will wake up all of those who have been sleeping."

Me: "While some Bible translations describe this Army of God quite clearly in Joel 2, I then get confused by what some other translations show for the same Scriptures."

Jesus: "This was not meant to be confusing. Joel 2 describes that God's Army will be raised at the end. The problem that occurs is that, when a passage is read, some then conclude this or that as being an extension of the previous passage when it is not. In this case, Joel 2 took on some of the characteristics of Joel 1 when it was never meant to do this. Do not worry though as those with eyes will be able to see this.

"Now, a while back, you were shown the nations. You saw a swarm descending on the land like locusts and devouring the beautiful land, turning it from peaceful and lawful to disruptive and free from law. The 'sons of Haman' have now been 'reborn' and have advanced on the surrounding lands. Wherever their feet steps, destruction follows and fear reigns. They even declare land which is not theirs as their own.

"They then force the governing bodies to do their will. They pillage, rape, murder and steal. They then cry out for justice even though they were the ones who had committed the atrocities. Because of false witness, justice is blind. However, justice is now also deaf and dumb. These cross the seas and devour the land before them such like has never been seen before in history. These are coming from the north and the south. There are then others sent."

He pointed back to the overlook. I saw chaos wherever these people went. I saw a large buildup in cities. While they were all across the globe, I could see them building up more and more in the lands to the south and north of the USA. I found it interesting that I did not see any of them going into either China or Russia.

Me: "Are the people building up on the southern border of the USA different than the rest?"

Jesus: "They are still a tool to further weaken the land. However, there are also 'others' in the midst of them. Look..."

I saw part of the massive army of locusts plant themselves in the midst of those coming from the south. I saw the people that were coming from South America silently being forced to denounce Jesus in order to prepare them to follow the antichrist instead. Fear then set out as rumors of these silent persecutions of Christians spread.

Jesus: "Remember the strategies of warfare and that the enemy follows a pattern. You have seen this. The government is divided. The land is divided. Race wars are declared even though the previous cases were isolated and on both sides. Then there are other wars and rumors of these wars. This is due to the news now being controlled by a false narrative meant to advance the times of the antichrist.

"When this occurs, a nation or nations divided cannot stand. Look at the roots of all of this evil. There is a root to every one of these evils. I have sent out those that I have called to sound the alarm. However, many do not hear or their voices are squelched. Now, while the nations are in uproar, I will send those that I have preserved for such a time as this.

"This army will be one that the world has never seen nor will see again." He smiled at me knowingly. "Erin, the desires of your heart are good. I am soon going to do something in your days that you would not believe even if I told you. Those who have been silent will soon have a voice. As of now, and as you can see it, it looks like the enemy is overcoming and ravishing the land." He pointed to the overlook again...

I saw an area that I did not recognize anymore. People in massive 'group thinks' were attacking the innocent for no cause and for no reason. All that was good had now become evil and all that was evil had now become good. No one was thinking about God at all now. Everyone there were only thinking about themselves.

Me: Sighing. "Oh Lord, this is so exhausting. In reality, I am exhausted. While I want to fight and stand during the greatest battle the world has ever seen, I just can't..."

Jesus: Smiling. "Do not worry as the battle I just showed you happens later and will not be the same war that you will be a part of. Erin, you will do awesome deeds in My Name. While I will not reveal more to you today, just know that this will bring you great joy to see so many healed and thankful. You will also keep them focused on who I am and that I have prepared a place for them apart from here, a place where they will never have fear." He smiled at me. "Now, rejoice, Erin, rejoice. We have much to do."

I laughed and so did He. Jesus continued to speak as we walked.

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin, as evil will not prevail. Always remember that I have overcome death. The enemy is defeated and now they are grumbling. When I send you, they will have no choice but to squeal out truth. They will then either repent or run and hide. All those that I have called will give hope to the multitudes. Now, come, let's go back to that beautiful tree!"

He reached over for my hand.

Dream 320 – Jesus and the Locusts’ Spreading Colonization

Communion

Dear Father,

After a restless night’s sleep, I am thankful for yet another day. The pain I am experiencing is now throughout my body. It is a shooting pain. Some days are much worse than others. However, the pain in the last three days has taken my breath away. I can breakdown the source of my tears into three categories...

- Thankfulness to God: The first and foremost tears are those in complete thankfulness to God for the wonderful and beautiful things I see or experience every day...
 - The adorable small animals and birds that now ‘hang out’ around our home.
 - The beautiful words of love that come from those who normally would not be able to express such things. In particular, words from my two sons.
 - Sweet memories.
 - The notes of encouragement that I receive from the Nest.
 - Timely words from the Lord that are like honey to my lips.
 - Seeing my family gathered together at the table in prayer and thanksgiving.
 - The peace and laughter in our home.
 - A small chickadee on a branch by my window as if she is hoping to get a glance of my time with the Lord.
 - A breathtaking landscape.
- Mourning and sorrow: These include...
 - Empathy for those hurting around me.
 - Interceding for the lost and those hurting around us and in the world.
 - The cruelty of some that often brings me to my knees in petitions to God.
- Pain: This last one happens less frequently because I have found that focusing too much on myself and my current state just adds to my physical pain. These are ‘self-tears’ for things that are situational and physical, as well as grief, hurt and loss.

Oh Father, it hurts to move right now, and even sometimes just to put my feet on the ground. The bile in my stomach is now greater than ever because my body is reacting and unsettled. Since I am now finding some solid foods more difficult to digest, I eat some Arrowroot cookies and vanilla wafers to make up for it. Despite all of this, if I do not keep a daily routine of sorts, I then become depressed.

However, Father, I know that what I am experiencing is nothing compared to what so many others are. There are so many suffering right now. Please, Father, Your children love You and look to You for healing. Please heal us soon so that we may declare victory in Jesus's Name before the lost here.

The world has grown so wicked and so quickly! How can this even be? It is as if a tsunami of evil and lies have covered over the good and the wave is not retracting. Instead, this wave has settled in and is not retreating. It is actually now becoming even worse. We can no longer be certain of anything we hear, read or even see because so much truth is now being covered up.

We receive only a small picture of a much larger story. Instead of nightly news, we now receive a nightly editorial based on a narrative of lies. Father, You sent the President to draw out the wicked which have been operating right under our noses this entire time. The time of the great rebellion has come and many of us, unless You create a miracle, will not endure what more is soon to come.

It is hard to see all of this unfold. There are so many assaults against You, Father. There are horrible things said of Your Son, Jesus. There are so many attempts to draw us out of the places where You have kept us safe...and my dreams reflect this! A dream I had two nights ago scared me. I thought, 'wow, this really could actually happen in my lifetime!' Still, at least part of me does not want to believe it...

Sub-dream description begins...

Whole populations were being forced into colonies. Due to the sheer mass of immigrants converging into Europe, Canada, the USA and Mexico, the immigrants were now demanding safe zones for their people there. This would then be a place where they could practice and enforce their own laws, provide their own schooling and control their own media outlets.

While, at first, they requested just small sections of certain territories, it was not long until they demanded the entire territories themselves. They then started changing things so that anyone stepping foot onto their colony would be subject to their laws and punishment. However, they themselves would still be free to move about the rest of the land outside of their territories. It was very one-sided and completely unfair...

- In Europe: The locusts demanded:
 - France
 - Germany
 - Belgium; and
 - Finland

- In Canada: The locusts demanded:
 - New Brunswick
 - Manitoba
 - The southern portion of Ontario; and
 - A strip of land through Quebec that would serve as a highway for business between Ontario and New Brunswick
- In the USA: The locusts demanded:
 - Michigan
 - Northern New York
 - Vermont
 - New Hampshire
 - Portions of Maine
 - Wisconsin
 - Minnesota; and
 - North Dakota

I saw a large map with these territories in Canada and the USA labeled as 'Promised Land'. In this map, all of the Great Lakes became their property, along with any associated points of entry along the USA and Canadian border. This was now becoming one united and massive colony! I saw land seizures by force even as farmers tried to save their farms. Even the native Americans / First Nations people were now being forced to leave their assigned areas.

While what I saw was already evil enough on its own, what I saw next was 'Pure Evil!' The UN was being used by these locusts as a tool for securing their 'human rights' to do as they pleased. A proposal was then made to place Christians and Jews into designated areas as well. Even though the UN's various proposals were incredibly skewed, a veil had gone out over those signing the laws and they could not see it. To stop potential uprisings by their inhabitants, guns were seized from the people.

Laws were then soon signed that disallowed Christians and Jews from practicing 'collective prayers' at certain times so as to 'not offend Allah and the Promised Land'. If these were still then violated, then portions of the offending Christian and Jewish colonies would then become part of the locusts' colonies as payment for the offense. These restrictions became increasingly worse until all other religious beliefs were cut off from food, water and other supplies, including medicine and vaccines.

Sub-dream description over...

Father, this was an awful dream. This cannot be a real thing! How horrible! Please come quickly and save us from this mess.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I saw Jesus at the base of a beautiful fruit tree. He smiled as I ran to Him. I went straight into His arms and He held me.

Me: "Oh Lord, my pain is gone when I am here with You! I love You!"

Jesus: "I know that there is no pain here with Me. Erin, there is also no suffering, no worry and no fear. I love you, Erin, and I know that you cry throughout the night. However, joy comes in the morning."

Me: "I am ready to wake up here soon."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, but I still have plans for you where you are. Are you truly ready to come Home now?" He smiled and gently nudged me.

Me: "Well, Lord, now that I have seen what You have prepared for those who love You, why wouldn't I want to be here with You?" He smiled at me as He nodded in agreement. "However, Lord, I have not come this far to stop now. I know that You have great plans for us, so I really would like to see these come to pass. It is just that, without us being supernaturally strengthened by You, how will any of us endure this?"

Jesus: "You could not endure this without Me. I am with you. What you have seen in your dream are the plans of the wicked. However, Erin, this is not My Will. They will not prevail here."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but this is already starting to happen. We are not allowed to speak a thing about their practices even when Your Name is desecrated by the wicked."

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, Erin, but I am big and I can take it. They truly have no idea what they are doing. I did not appoint you to fight this part of My battle here. I showed you this so that you understand what is happening behind the scenes. 'Wisdom is proved right by her actions.'" He smiled and pointed at me.

"Now, this group believes that they are doing this by God's directive. Well, in a way, they are correct, as this is a fulfillment of prophecy. However, there is another plan in place and this will stun the nations. Do not be alarmed when the wicked seem to prosper as, in a while, they will exist no more. If you then looked for them, you would not find them.

"Now, what has come upon the land is the spirit of confusion and rebellion. The arguments of the wicked are easily cancelled out by their own actions. This is confusing to many. However, when you see this, you know that the enemy is behind this as you know that I am not 'the god of confusion'."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but most of what they are doing just seems so obvious to me."

Jesus: "While this is obvious to you, it is not to those choosing to believe the narrative of lies."

Me: "Okay, Lord, let's see if I understand this. While they declare 'freedom of speech for all', they then do not include anything they consider offensive.

Nothing pro-Jesus, pro-life, pro-family or pro-'The Land of the Free' are allowed. This means that half the country is forced to remain silent so that they will not offend the other half. However, at the same time, the other side is allowed to say whatever they want. This is confusing!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Oh Erin, have I not showed you that the scales are 'off-balance'? Has this pattern not repeated itself before?"

Me: "Yes, of course it has. Relatively recently with Nazi Germany!"

Jesus: "Well, sort of. Yes, it is similar as the target was, and still is, the extermination of the Jewish people. However, it is now more than this as it is not just the Jewish people, but Israel and all of the children of God. Erin, the same spirit you speak of has not perished. It is still alive and well amongst fools."

Me: "Why would they want to destroy all of the Christians? I do not understand."

Jesus: "It is simple. It is to anger God and call Him to account. It is to keep truth from spreading as mold cannot survive in bright light. This you understand. A small particle of a foreign matter can destroy an entire batch. This goes both ways. For example, if you remove all evil, you then have the Land I have prepared for you in advance here... Heaven!

"The enemy once resided here in Heaven. Now that he has been cast out, his quest is to create his own version of Heaven, but on Earth and just for himself. To do so, this consists of the slaughter of God's children. He does this first directly in the womb or at birth, then as they walk as young children. He then seeks to rob them of their innocence. As teenagers, he then seeks to rob them of truth and isolate them.

"Well, the list goes on and on from there. However, Erin, you know by this, along with many other signs, that the time is near. Just as the blossoms indicate seasons of hope and the fruit to come, its leaves indicate that summer is near. So, it is the same with what you are witnessing now. Erin, take a lesson from the fig tree..."

Me: Smiling. "Lord, can I take my lessons from You instead of the fig tree? As You know, I worship You, not the fig tree."

Jesus: Laughing. "Very good, Erin, very good! If you are against the wicked, then you are for Me. If you speak against their practices, then you are for Me. If you do the exact opposite of them, then you are for Me."

Me: Smiling. "Yes, Lord, but then I will be unpopular."

We both laughed as He knew I was just joking.

Jesus: "People no longer look for the truth. They prefer to be entertained. They follow what their idols tell them to follow. They do not like anything which would call them to stop their self-pleasure and the feeding of their appetites. However, soon, very soon, they will confess to their lying tongues as they have deceived many.

"Some claim that I love the sinner and the sin because, by definition, this would be the 'non-conditional love' of a Savior. What they do not realize is that the very deception they have fallen into will soon place them into shackles by their own words. The enemy has bound them as he is not 'the One who sets the captives free'.

"He instead takes the free and makes them captives, bound by 'the god of this world'. However, Erin, you reside here with Me and it is by truth that you have been set free. You are Mine. Soon, very soon, you will not believe what I have planned for you. Even if I told you, you would not believe what I have planned for you and those who love Me and that I have chosen."

Me: Laughing. "Why don't You try me? I would love to imagine this!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, be patient and find joy. I am here. My promises are true. I will not forsake you. Just as the enemy has set a course of destruction for you, I have commanded angels concerning you to guard you in all of your ways. They will hold you up so that your feet will not be tripped by a stone on your path, so do not worry. While it is okay to stand, do not argue with fools. I have a plan..." He smiled and pointed at me. "...for you. Now, come with Me!"

He reached over for my hand and we started to walk together towards the beautiful fruit tree.

Dream 321 – Jesus and Prayers after a Precious Baby dies

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for all that You have done for us! You are the grantor of miracles for Your glory. You are our Healer and the Great Physician over all. You are also the giver of the gift of life. You will carry us Home when our journey here closes. Though I am sometimes scared to let go when it involves my children, I trust You fully with my life.

However, Father, I am here today to make another case. I am looking over Matthew 27:52-53 in making this case. These are two verses that always get skipped over in church. It was when the graves opened and You led those 'sleeping' from the cemetery into the Holy City. This happened on the very day that You died for us on the Cross. Many dead were brought back to life on the same day that You died.

What an incredible miracle this must have been for those who had lost loved ones. However, this must have also been incredibly terrifying for those who saw enemies suddenly reappear, enemies that they thought were long gone. We also cannot exclude the possibility that this reappearance of the dead had also included children.

Father, You are God over all of us. You are the God Who holds my heart, determines my days and breathes life into me. I hereby declare blessings over Your saints. I offer up my heart, my soul and all of my strength to the One Who holds the keys to life and death. After writing this last sentence down, I decided to pray the Lord's Prayer. After doing so, I started to plea with God...

Oh Father, I cannot hide anything from You as You know everything. With that in mind, I pray to You that my petition is good. My heart is broken into a million pieces right now. I am in deep distress for my very dear friend who just lost her baby girl after a lengthy battle with lung problems. Well, Father, I am holding up this child to You right now.

Her mother had decided to not say a 'real goodbye' to her baby as she is holding onto the possibility that she will still be 'woken up from her sleep'. My friend does not believe that this battle is over. While only You know all, I personally am in agreement with her as I believe it is possible that this precious baby has been a part of a 'heavenly battle'.

How can I tell someone who just lost their baby to remain patient? You showed me that her child was playing in Heaven, along with a little boy. They were playing with baby animals. There was even a perfectly shaped elephant, yet only the same size as a medium dog. Super cute times a thousand doesn't cut it! I saw her and the boy chasing these animals playfully and then them chasing them back.

After showing me these images briefly, the vision was then shut. Father, did You show me this vision in order to prepare us for the possibility that my friend's beautiful baby will remain in Heaven? If so, what about the mother's dreams? She believes You showed her something different. She believes that You showed her baby being woken up and living again.

Well, I do not know the answers to these questions, Lord, only You do! What I do know is that I have seldom cried as hard as I did for my friend's loss. Oh Father, what can I say to get You to turn from what seems to be our continued punishment and have You bless us instead? Can I do anything? Oh Father, we need help! We pray for Your help, in Jesus' Mighty Name, Amen!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was there immediately to meet me. He smiled and looked so happy to see me. I smiled back, but quickly dropped my head and started to cry.

Me: "Oh Lord, my grief is so great. I stood in front of a school authority on behalf of the Christian teens at a Christian school. After doing so, I just knew I would then be under attack. Sure enough, we were. We were under attack all day. We were attacked personally, financially and physically. However, the worst attack came later that day. Oh Father, one of your little ones died on Monday.

"When I found out, I cried and could not stop. I then yelled at You. Oh Lord, I am so sorry for yelling at You. My heart broke into a million pieces. Oh Lord, please raise this child from her slumber. While I know she was in pain here, You gave me a vision of her playing with a little boy and some baby animals." I began to cry even harder. "Oh Father, this world is painful, truly painful!"

Jesus: "Yes, it is. Erin, your faith is good."

Me: "Thank You, Lord, but sometimes I wonder. I desire to move great mountains. Well, wait, that is not what I truly desire. What I really want to do is to use Your power to raise this little girl up. So many would then see Your miracle!"

Jesus: "Yes, I know this would be good. However, I prepared you for this by giving you three separate visions of Me carrying the child and the child playing here."

Me: "Yes, Lord. You have reassured me that she now resides here with You. However, will You not please consider the miracle of lifting her up from her slumber?"

Jesus: "I have seen you diligently studying the works of Elijah, Elisha and Peter, as well as Mine. I know your request and it is good. Erin, I have heard your declaration."

Me: "Will You not also change all of us?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, I have plans for you. I have plans for your children. I have plans for those I have called to you during this time...your friends and their families. There are no accidents that all of you have been brought together for such a time as this. Now, I have a question for you. As a parent, do you reveal all things to your children?"

Me: Laughing. "Absolutely not. I only share things that benefit them, instruct them or will add to their future. If I shared how I felt physically or the worry I sometimes have, it would not benefit them. They would worry. No good can come with sharing all of our plans with our children."

Jesus: "Okay, then can you trust Me when I tell you that I do things for your benefit and because there is a better plan in place? As you have gone further in trust for Me, things I withheld from you confused you as you had wanted answers with options. Do you remember not so long ago when I removed all of your options except for two options?"

"The first option was you staying where you were in the desert and losing everything. The second option was for you to trust Me fully and allow Me to move you away from the desert. You took the second option and then gave Me full control. Now that I had control, I covered the costs, I released your children and I sent you to a beautiful land far away from your troubles.

"I also gave you a helpmate, someone who would then stand and fight on your behalf and on your children's behalf. During this time away from the desert and in the land of the trees, I drew you even closer to Me. Your children now know that I am with you. They long to see My miracles. Since they have witnessed miracles already, they believe Me when I say that something great is soon to come.

"Now, everything I have done is for your benefit and those around you who love Me. At times, it seems that I give and then take away. While you praise Me most of the time, you also question your faith at times. Erin, all of this pushing and pulling is part of the process of building your faith. It has worked, Erin, as you are now fully reliant on Me for everything. This is a good place to be!"

Me: "Lord, I see a storm-tossed sea in front of me. I am becoming worse physically, not better. I rarely have any 'good days' now. There is nothing I can do but wait for You to appear on the water to call me out. I am scared, Father. I am an unused vessel."

Jesus: "Erin, the time of My arrows is very soon, but not today."

Me: "I am also asking You to please give me the very words I need to declare so that life is breathed back into my friend's daughter. Even the hospital staff was devastated at the news of her daughter's passing. Lord, while this would be the ultimate miracle to us, it would be easy for You to do as You are the God of the Impossible. Please, Lord! Will you please consider this, Lord?"

Jesus: "The grief I have seen is difficult. I know this as I was there. I personally carried the child Home in My arms. No war in the Heavens could stop Me. Always remember that she was Mine to begin with, she still is now and she will continue to be forever and ever. Erin, she is Mine, on Earth as it is in Heaven. I have heard your request and this is how I will answer you...

- If the child rises by the end of the fourth day (up until nightfall, Friday, February 15th, 2019), I have answered your blessings and declarations of new life on Earth.
- If she is not raised during this time, I have decided to keep her here with Me.

"Now, do you understand that there are good cases to be made for both sides? Do you understand that the miracle being requested would cause a very specific shockwave?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, I understand." I started to laugh after I finished my sentence.

Jesus: Smiling. "Why are you laughing?"

Me: "I found it funny that you would use that particular term."

Jesus: "Well, this is not an accident. Soon there will be miraculous displays and wonders from those I have called, as well as counterfeit miracles and wonders from the enemy. Now, if I was to raise the child, this would be a very 'public display'. Once this took place, trouble, both good and bad, would then descend on the child's mother. The mother and all of her children would then be marked as Mine and all of them would be the subject of trouble."

Me: "I now understand both sides of the issue, Lord, so thank You. However, my friend and her daughter both already live for You. If these four days are not the appropriate time to raise the child, then perhaps it could happen at the time of Your Army being raised. In Your Word, we are told that the 'dead in Christ' shall be raised first. I believe that this is us, the figurative 'dead', who are waiting for you. However, perhaps this could also include some of the physically dead coming to life, including this child."

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, you are wise in your bargaining. Yes, this alternative would be more beneficial for all, yet would still have the same effect, understand? This child would then be a part of a 'larger army' rather than a 'lone public spectacle'. Her family would then not need to hide in the shadows. This would be beneficial for all."

Me: "Okay, Lord, but why not wake the child up right now? What if we do not want to continue to wait until Transformation?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, I already told you what I am willing to do. If she is not awakened from 'sleeping' by the end of the fourth day (up until nightfall, Friday, February 15th, 2019), then you must accept My way as better for now. Can you do this?"

Me: Crying. "Yes, Lord, but I do not like it."

Jesus: "I know, Erin, but try to remember that the child is very happy here. She runs, laughs and smells flowers. She has family and friends. She plays with the little animals and they all love her. She never stops smiling. It is not so bad here!"

Me: "Lord, You are breaking my heart. I thought You had plans for her here with her mother. Almost a year of suffering and for what? My faith is being crushed."

Jesus: "Erin, I spoke to you about this before. Sometimes miracles are immediate and sometimes there is a process. Do you know why?"

Me: "No."

Jesus: "Because there are many factors involved. Now, take this..." He opened His hand. He was holding a plain looking rock. It looked uneven and broken. It seemed to have a dark, dirty, cloudy crystal. "Look closely. Do you know what this is? It is a diamond. However, there is much more involved to move it from this stage to this." He opened His other hand. He was holding a finished diamond that was cut with beautiful facets. It was flawless and had so much sparkle. "See, Erin, there is a process."

Me: Still pouting. "I do not accept this, Lord. After all, You can simply rain down as many faceted diamonds from Open Heaven as You want to."

Jesus: Laughing. "Yes, you are right. I can. I can also produce large perfect pearls. However, there is a process with making pearls as well. Erin, this child is My pearl. Her trials produced luster for eternity here. Her mother is also My pearl and she is not finished. Now, let's see what happens. However, no matter what happens, you must accept the outcome."

Me: "Yes, Lord. Since You have not shut the door completely, I now give this situation to You completely. I just wanted to make sure that I was doing all that You required. I was also wondering if my faith, petitions and prayers were needing a boost."

Jesus: Laughing. "No, Erin. If you needed a 'boost', I would tell you what to do. I would instruct you in the way you should go. Do not worry, My little arrow, as I will soon light your flame. I will then use you. Now, rejoice! I am the God Who loves you and answers your cries. I do what is best concerning you." I began to cry again. "Please do not cry. I will heal your brokenness. I will also bring joy to the heart of your friend again. I will bring life back to your heart too, Erin. I love you!"

He placed my hand over His heart and placed His hand over mine. He then placed my hand over my heart and placed His hand over mine.

Jesus: "I promise to heal your brokenness and breathe new life into you. I love you. I promise that I have never revoked my promises."

He kissed the top of my head as I wept. He lifted my head, looked into my eyes and smiled. He had such a sympathetic smile. His comforting love overwhelmed me to the point that I was able to smile back at Him.

Me: "I love You!"

Jesus: "Erin, joy comes in the morning."

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all that we have. Thank You for my family, friends and those who are lost, but soon to find You. With each passing day, the world around us grows colder. The news is difficult to digest as the evil is rising. Truth now seems unfashionable. I have always thought there is genuine good amongst people, but, really, this seems to be quickly fading.

There is no greater mystery than You. You are infinitely perfect in all things. Although we cannot understand Your ways, I know that running the opposite direction, kicking and screaming, is futile. I am sorry, Father, to sometimes question Your methods, even though I see that Your ways are always perfect. One small drop of water can cause a wide-spread ripple effect that can go on forever and ever.

I spent some time recently reading about one of my favorite artists. He has been one of the greatest influences on my creativity. He had gained the most popularity in what is called America's 'Roaring Twenties', the Golden Age between 1920 and 1929. America's wealth had doubled during this time. For the first time, more Americans lived in cities than on farms.

Chain stores were now bringing the same merchandise across the land. Radio and other advertising brought in trends for music, dancing and even slang. Some women bobbed their hair, wore short skirts, drank, smoked and became sexually free because of birth control devices now being readily available. These women were commonly referred to as 'flappers'.

It was now becoming fashionable to 'be free'. It was the dawn of rebellion and everything was changing. It was sad because fear then became widespread, along with hate. The sad part was that the Jews were being betrayed during this time by her allies. This was mostly kept a secret and most did not know this was happening. The USA was going through so many changes that world issues faded away.

I see that this rebellion is once again on the increase today. I can even see it in the checkout lines at the grocery store. I see impatient people hurling curses under their breath, but still just loud enough to be heard. I experience this quite often as people no longer know how to wait patiently. They are not understanding even when it is obviously not the fault of the customers ahead of us or the cashier.

What about those who drive cars as if they were weapons. There are so many people who should not be driving. They honk, swear and endanger others in their rage. While this behavior should be unacceptable, the enemy often uses these massive vehicles as a weapon. This happens so often that it is barely even covered on the news anymore. The news makes me so ill now that I just shake my head and pray.

There was also my recent trip to a hospital for more tests. There were so many people sick and coughing, yet not one put on one of the available masks to contain it from spreading. Clearly, these sick people were being empowered to spread sickness even to the most vulnerable, the little children and the frail elderly. I am just continuously amazed by the coldness of the hearts spreading across the land.

A question then keeps popping up. Why is truth so unfashionable these days? Well, I know the answer. It is because truth cuts to the heart of a matter, especially when facts support it. Evidence is then assembled that backs this truth. The trouble is that people no longer like truth. They do not like it as truth sheds light on darkness and exposes evil. Thankfully, us, God's soon to rise Army, will be equipped with the sword of truth.

I am so excited to see this and be a part of this. Oh, how I long to be in that number. I will need to be strengthened though as it is such a struggle to watch the USA crumbling. Father, You really did throw a wrench into things when You appointed Trump to become President. It is obvious that You put him into office as the enemies of the States have done their level best to destroy him and anyone who supports him.

The news media is truly biased against Trump and his supporters. He is mocked. He is falsely accused of things even when evidence clearly shows something different. All of the good things he does do is never mentioned. They only focus on fear-based tactics to instill fear and try to influence potential voters. Ironically, the very things Russia is being accused of, the mainstream news media is doing right here and right now.

When the President says statements that go against the left's agenda, it was as if the very gates of hell opened upon the land. We are now seeing wide-spread hypocrisy. The scales are ever tipping more and more to one side. While I used to love going to movies, I do not as much now. This message, really an 'Anti-God' message, is now not-so-hidden in the scripts of these movies.

No longer are movies an escape from everyday realities. I do not want to support the new agendas. I do not care for them anymore. Their public stance on politics, religion and sexual expression has truly ruined my desire to continue to participate. Father, I am sickened by Hollywood. I am so sad that a fun form of entertainment has been so incredibly tainted. The same now goes for television. It was not far behind.

Father, I am so disgusted by what is happening in America. I tried to look back to where this all started and I now believe that the root cause of a lot of this trouble was in the 1920s. There are just so many things related to rebellion which either began here, increased or was activated...

- The Mafia
- The resurgence of the KKK
- The beginning of feminism
- The beginning of easily accessible birth control
- Increased freedom to be 'sexually free'
- The list really goes on and on...

Then the Great Stock Market Crash hit in October of 1929. The Roaring Twenties, with all of its rebellion, was like a roaring lion calling You out. I visualize this crash to be like a lion taking a stand against You and losing. Well, here we are now, approximately ninety to a hundred years later, and all of these things seem to be getting even worse. The USA is making late-term abortions even more accessible!

Is infanticide next, the murdering of a newborn baby? Babies, and perhaps children next, being legally killed? What? What about the wall being built to protect our southern border? The left is calling to remove all borders as soon as they are back in office again. All borders removed? Seriously? To make matters worse, publicly saying anything against these things is now considered to be 'hate speech'.

President Trump was not the cause of all of this. He just happened to be the man to bring the dross to the surface of a boiling pot. He gets nailed for everything he says, yet a Muslim congresswoman is able to speak antisemitism and it is labelled freedom of expression. A student at Berkley is punched for wearing a MAGA hat and it is not covered. Imagine if it was the other way around. It would be internationally reported.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was right in front of me. He was smiling at me. I went into His arms and He hugged me. As He held me, I began to cry.

Jesus: "It is okay, Erin. I know. I see all of it. Where is it written that life will get better before I come?"

Me: "It doesn't, Lord. However, I thought that people were still getting married and being given into marriage. I thought that this meant some type of normalcy. I thought that, just like in the days of Noah, everything would change when You finally came to us on the clouds?"

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, and this is true. Have people stopped getting married? Did I miss something?"

Me: "No, Lord. Marriages are still happening. I know that You know all of this."

Jesus: "This is not an easy time nor was it ever meant to be. As one of those I have called to see these events, you see the injustice. You see the separation of a great nation. Though they try, this cannot be blamed on one man. This has been developing for a long time. Not only this, but it is not just this nation, but many are being called into account. This man was sent to stir up and shake the nations.

"Because of his demeanor, nations are outraged. However, this outrage is really due to his support of Israel, God's land. Erin, it is truly wisdom to pray about a matter right now as I will grant revelation surrounding this. Do not rely on reports from false narrators. Their agenda is not truth. The enemy is using this against the hearts of those I have called. This is also a time of division amongst family, friends and the laws of the land.

"This is being allowed because of the sins upon the land, including the laws set in place to support the evil practice of sins against Me. The land has been handed over to the women 'Liberty' and 'The Blindfold of Justice holding uneven scales'. While there is evil on both sides, one side in particular is the enemy's pawn in a wicked game to crumble the once blessed nation and portion her out, giving her wealth to others. Knowing that all leaders are appointed from Heaven for My purposes, the enemy knows that the time has come. The battle in the heavenlies is epic.

"Now, this leader has angered many. He has drawn out the enemy into the open. When the Spirit of Truth, My Arrows, descend, it will be unlike any other time in history. While I know that it is disheartening to see the waves of wickedness sweep across the land, until I have called you to march, you will continue to 'stand down'. In the meantime, I have provided for your needs and I will soon open the door."

When I heard the word 'soon', I became noticeably sad. The words 'soon' and 'very soon' were not really 'my friends'. Jesus smiled at me as He lifted my chin up.

Jesus: "Erin, I have you where you are in order to keep you in a holding pattern for now. I have many others doing the same. Other than one more medical appointment, you have finished your tests. Remember that you are already a witness to My Glory, but, soon, many will witness My Glory come upon you.

"While you will be feared by the wicked, those that I have called to you will be comforted by you. The wicked will call you out on your past mistakes, mistakes you made back when you were young. Remember that you will know the enemy by his patterns. If the enemy can get you to look back, he can trip you up there. There is a reason that I have you looking forward."

Me: "Is it because it is unhealthy to look back?"

Jesus: "Yes, as it can be used for evil. However, as it pertains to you, it is also because I am about to do a new thing in you. The enemy is always there to remind you of your dark beginnings. The enemy is always there to remind you of the later time when you became a victim of evil men. While you have experienced very little justice in your life, this lack of justice actually goes back generations in your family.

"However, Erin, I am your Kinsman Redeemer and My recompense is with Me. I will deliver justice to you and you will never doubt Me again. I have kept account of all of those who have bore false witness against you. I have kept account of all of those who wrongly let those guilty of harming you go unpunished.

"Erin, you will soon see this. You have been dealing with vipers, hypocrites who are far from Me. You will soon handle snakes and not be bitten. However, there is so much more than just this. Erin, I will vindicate you. I know that you are tired and in pain. I have not forgotten you."

Me: "Lord, I never forget You. You are constantly on my mind. I am forever grateful to You. I love You. Please forgive me. I repent because I have been hurt by Your promises taking too long for me. It is just that I am scared. Lord, please do not forget me. I need Your help. I have to see a specialist on Wednesday. This appointment came out of the blue and seemed urgent.

"Oh Lord, I am tired of doctors, tests and appointments. I am ready to live and breathe. I am ready for service. I want so much to be strong enough to stand. I am ready, Lord." I began to cry.

Jesus: "Erin, I know. I am with you."

Me: "Lord, there are so many people out there who are ready for Your great wave of miracles. I know You love us because, if You did not, I can see no reason to keep this world going. It is getting increasingly worse day by day. However, Father, Your promises always ring true. So many of us, despite the injustices, despite the things said of us, still believe that, if people only knew how great You are and how great Heaven is, they would drop everything and run to You.

"Time stops for no man. All the while, time continues. It continues. We need some miracles, Lord. I am scared. Please send this wave, really a tsunami, from Heaven over the lands to turn heads towards You. People will perish for lack of knowledge. Please, Lord, could I do something to hurry this? Please heal me. Put me in, Coach, I am ready to play! I had a few short dreams recently...

Sub-dream 1 "The Burning Map" description begins...

My husband and I were looking at a massive map hanging on a wall. The map showed the entire world. I saw pins marking locations on the map, but I had no idea what they meant. As we discussed where we had been instructed to go, the map began to burn up from the edges going in. We were able to stop the fire, but it still burned up more than half of the map.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

"I cannot imagine what the purpose of this dream was other than that we do not have much time before fire encompasses and consumes the world. Lord, I then had another dream that was just as mysterious.

Sub-dream 2 "The Wooden Bird Sculpture" description begins...

I was carving a beautiful bird from a block of wood. This was extremely easy for me as I could somehow see right into the wood. Inside the wood, I supernaturally saw both the shape and the form of the bird. As a result, I knew exactly how to carve the wood.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

"Lord, I have also had some frightening dreams of not being able to stop what is coming."

Jesus: "Erin, you cannot stop what is coming. Do you remember a vision of a massive machine from years ago?" As soon as He asked this, I remembered...

Vision 1 "The Unstoppable Machine" description begins...

A massive machine was eating up the landscape like a rototiller. Any path it took then became unrecognizable. The machine was powerful and it tore up the soil from the depths and brought it to the top. It was unstoppable and way beyond my control. It began at night and changed the landscape.

Vision 1 description over...

Jesus: "This is soon to come, Erin."

Me: "Lord, is this machine coming from You? Does this unstoppable machine represent Your Army? Does this represent us after we have been Transformed? When I first saw this machine in my dream years ago, I thought it was evil because it was changing the shape of all things. Now I am not so sure if this machine is evil at all."

Jesus: "Hmm...Erin, you are now a prophet." He smiled and laughed. "People will be terrified of what you said is coming. However, it is good that I send this upon the land because, without it, the landscape would not change shape and many would perish. Do not worry for I am going to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told." He pretended to look around as if to find a sound and then gently whispered. "Erin, do you not hear it?" He laughed again.

Me: Laughing. "Lord, are You kidding with me? No, I do not believe that I can hear anything."

Jesus: "Turn your ears to Me. Look at Me. Look into My eyes." I looked straight into His eyes and saw a curious reflection.

Vision 2 "The Lord's Army" description begins...

I saw a vast army. The people in this army moved quickly and gracefully. They moved like gazelles. Every person in this army was young, strong and vibrant. Each person was doing amazing things. All they did was for the glory of God.

Vision 2 description over...

Me: Crying. "I want to be in that number, Lord. My children too. Oh please, Lord, do not forget us."

Jesus: "Erin, you were raised for a time such as this. Please rejoice. Now, you also had another dream. It was about curtains. Tell Me about this dream." I instantly remembered...

Sub-dream 3 "Useless Curtains" description begins...

We had moved into a new house that had very large windows. I had some beautiful curtains that I was going to use to cover the intense light streaming in. However, when my husband and I went to cover the window, I realized that the curtains would only cover half of the window. We both laughed together when we then noticed that the curtains were also way too short.

Sub-dream 3 description over...

Jesus: "Erin, the light of the world will soon be coming to My Army. When this light comes, you will be unable to filter the window when looking out toward the world. You will see more than you want to. You will not be able to contain the light from coming in through your 'window to the world'. When the curtain from this window is removed, it will no longer cover that which once separated you from the Holy of Holies.

"In your dream, your curtains were useless. In this case, however, this is good news! This is good news as there will be no separation between you and Me. We will be together. While My light is already in you, it will burn even brighter. There will be nothing between us.

"You will ask a thing and I will answer. I will say 'go here' and you will 'be there'. You will touch someone and they will be healed. When I send you to a place, there will be great fear of you by the wicked. The wicked will be as terrified as if the very ground beneath them had split open. You will say to a mountain 'fall into the sea' and it will fall into the sea. Nothing...no thing...shall be impossible for you."

Me: "So that is what the short curtain dream meant? Wow, there was so much to this."

Jesus: "Remember also that, in the dream, the panel did not cover the window and the sun was very bright." He then pointed to Himself. "However, it was not the sun, it was 'the Son'."

One of the curtain panels suddenly appeared in my hands and I started to laugh.

Me: "Yes, the light from You was streaming in and it was so bright. 'The Son was streaming light in!'" Suddenly, a cartoon-like garbage can appeared next to me. I discarded the curtain into it. The garbage can and curtain then disappeared. "Oh Lord, You are so amazing." I was laughing. "As You just saw, I discarded the curtain."

Jesus: Smiling. "As well you should as it was not going to be useful." He laughed.

Me: Happily. "Thank You, Lord! Thank You for Your kindness, Your love, Your patience and Your gift of hope. I love You. I am so sorry for sometimes forgetting that Your plans are far greater and more far reaching than my need for personal comfort." I hugged Him. "I love You so much!"

Jesus held me and kissed the top of my head.

Jesus: "Soon, Erin, very soon. I promise you. I love you. I will not delay. Rejoice!"

He pointed to my hands. When I looked down at my hands, the wooden block I was carving the bird out of in my dream suddenly appeared. I laughed.

Jesus: "Soon you will see this block of wood fully take shape..." In an instant, the wooden block was a perfectly carved bird. Just as quickly, it went back to the partially carved bird. "...and you will fly, little sparrow!"

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your blessings. Thank You for this good fight. Thank You for the care You give me, my family and our friends. We look to you in all that we do. Father, thank You for two nights of deep sleep. Lately, pain has disturbed my sleep, so thank You for this reprieve.

Last night, I had two dreams. I also had two dreams the night before. I will start with the most recent first and work backwards. Father, please illuminate all of the details to my memory for Your Glory, Father, in Jesus' Name...

Sub-dream 1 "Artificial Ingredients / Car Trade In" description begins...

My husband and I had been Transformed and were visiting a distant city. We needed to waste time while our car was being serviced, so we drove our loaner vehicle to a store similar to TJ Maxx. While we walked with a cart, there was nothing in it.

Me: "There is really nothing we need. Nothing is standing out as worth buying."

As we were leaving, we noticed three packages of gourmet cookies. They looked interesting, so we decided to buy them. The three packages cost $16 and I handed the clerk a $20 bill. For some reason, I received nothing but coins back as change. As we walked back to our car, I decided to read the ingredients. I did not like what I saw, so I told my husband not to eat it just as he was biting into one of the cookies.

Me: "Stop! Don't eat it. I am taking this back. It is not real food."

My husband quickly spit out the little bit he had chewed off. We looked together at the ingredients and noticed the same thing. The package made this food look amazing, but there were no real ingredients in it:

- Package 1: These looked similar to Walker's shortbread cookies. For this type of cookie, the main ingredients should be butter, sugar and flour. Instead, the ingredients were something like 'xeno???'', 'revip???' and other things I cannot pronounce. None of the ingredients were food as we know it.
- Package 2: These looked similar to meringue cookies. For this type of cookie, the main ingredients should be egg whites and sugar. Instead, the ingredients were something like egg extract, sub powder, red dyes

#5, #9 and #13 and corn starch extract enhancer. Basically, it was made with dust and powder. It didn't make a lot of sense.

- Package 3: These looked similar to Voortman's vanilla wafer cookies. This was the package my husband had opened. Though he had spit out the chunk of cookie he had bitten off, the residue of the cookie was still stuck to the roof of his mouth like glue. Needless to say, there was no 'vanilla' at all in these 'vanilla' wafer cookies.

Husband: Smiling. "So, what are we to do with these three packages of junk?"

Me: Laughing. "Watch and learn, grasshopper!" (This was a saying from a popular television show back in the 1970s.)

I proceeded back to the same cashier that had checked us out. She seemed nervous.

Clerk: "Hello again. How can I help you?"

Me: "I need to return these."

Clerk: "Was there a problem?"

Me: "Yes. None of these packages of cookies are real food."

Clerk: Now whispering. "Look, if I return your money, I will be short in my sales and will not receive my bonus. I really need my bonus. Please!"

I could see that she was very desperate. At first, I thought that we should just walk away. However, I then noticed some odd demonic behaviors in her. The clerk began to sweat and was very nervous. She was having a difficult time focusing. A supervisor was close by and watching. I sensed that, not only was her bonus in jeopardy, but also her job. The clerk's expression suddenly contorted and she looked at me in an evil way.

Clerk: Hissing. "Why do you people need to come around? Can you not just stay away? Why do you need to come here?"

I decided to stand my ground.

Me: "Please just return my money and we will be on our way."

I was expecting to get my $16 back. However, she instead handed me two $100 bills, one $10 bill, one $5 bill and four quarters, or $216 altogether. She then closed her till and looked to the next customer. I tried to get her attention, but she just ignored me.

Me: "Excuse me, but you gave back way too much money."

I tried to hand her the two $100 bills back, but she would not let me. The manager came over and I then tried to hand her the money. Instead of taking it back, she opened up the till again and handed me a third $100 bill. We were confused and tried to explain that we did not want the extra $300. Before we could say anything else, both the clerk and the manager screamed at us to leave the store at the top of their lungs.

Husband: "Let's go. I do not feel that this here is to be our battle."

We then drove back to pick up our beat-up GMC Acadia. The service technician came up to us with a huge smile on his face. He seemed excited to see us back.

Service Tech: "Here are your keys. It is out there and finished."

Husband: "Are these our keys? They do not look like our keys."

Service Tech: "They are now."

Husband: "You cannot be serious." Laughing. "This must be a prank. Seriously, where is our car?"

Service Tech: "We decided to give you an upgrade. Your Acadia was not a safe car."

He took us to 'our brand-new car'. It was so customized that we were out of our comfort zone to drive it.

Service Tech: "Come on! This is a great car. It has everything you need and more. Here is the title."

We looked at the paperwork and it was now made out to us. We were in shock.

Husband: "But why?"

Service Tech: "The owner asked that, before you leave and in return for this vehicle, you bless our business and our families. Please accept this as a trade in. We would all be so grateful."

We asked the Lord and He told us that this was in His Will. We went over to the side of the showroom and started to pray. God then revealed to us each of the needs of the entire crew, the owner and his family. We walked over and began to pray over each of the dealership's areas. We prayed where and for what exactly as God was calling us to pray. We did exactly what He told us and He told us what to do 'step-by-step'!

To our delight, the entire lot and service area then transformed from old and dingy to brand new. God then paid the debts of all of the employees and the owner and healed each of them. There had been a spirit of oppression over the entire business. It was as if it had been shackled. These shackles were now removed and the sun now shined on the entire area. There were tears of joy and celebration.

Husband: Addressing all of them in an authoritative voice. "The Lord has told us that all of this has one condition. All of you are to come directly to Him with your needs from now on. You are no longer to bypass the Lord. If you do, your fate will be much worse than before. You are free now, so do not fall back into the enemy's schemes."

They all readily agreed to this condition. While the owner was not here, we knew that he was being kept up-to-date with each supernatural event. As we walked out to the parking lot, the man pointed to the car that they were giving us. He then took a call on his cellphone. He held the phone to his ear and then smiled at us...

Service Tech: "Yes, sir, I will." He then hung up and turned to us. "I am sorry, but the owner would like you to take his car instead of this one. If you don't mind, wait a few more minutes while we get it ready for you."

Husband: "We really should be going soon. Us just keeping our Acadia is fine as well."

The Service Tech held out the owner's vehicle's title and signature.

Service Tech: "We will need to change these papers to reflect your ownership."

As he said this, the papers changed over to have us on the vehicle title, signatures and all. The car would now be ready for us to take as soon as they drove it out to us.

Service Tech: "Oh wow! I mean...WOW! How can this be?" He looked scared and startled. "Well then, here are your papers, along with the keys."

He was clearly still shaken as we began to walk over to the owner's vehicle that had now been given to us. It was an extremely fancy and fully loaded SUV that would easily be able to seat our entire family. It had everything.

Service Tech: "Well, I am not sure what just happened, but this is even more fancy than it had been just an hour ago. I don't even know how to service a car like this. I am...I am...I am speechless."

Husband: Laughing. "Don't forget that we would still be fine with our old car."

Service Tech: "No, no and no. Your old car has run its course. This is a gift and the owner insists."

Husband: Sighing. "I guess I am just not sure how long we will really need it. What about if we borrowed it instead?"

Service Tech: "It is too late for that. It is in your name. The papers have already been prepared and signed. Not only that, but it is stamped as 'paid in full!'"

Husband: "Okay then, we will take it. However, when we are finished using it, we will give it back to you."

Service Tech: Noticeably confused by what my husband just said. "Well, that is up to you." He shook our hands and smiled. "Now, here, take the vehicle."

Sub-dream 2 "The Suspended Tidal Wave" description begins...

My husband, my three children and I were all in a paddleboat. My husband was steering up front next to me and the kids were in the back. As he was taking a turn around a bend, the tide started to rush in. The water was about seventy feet higher than the shore.

However, instead of crashing onto the shore due to the force of the tidal wave, the water suspended in place. My husband was then able to steer and paddle us over the waves and get us safely back to shore. The water then went back to normal and did not even crash onto the shore at all. As such, this huge wave did not harm anyone.

Sub-dream 3 "The Billionaires' Gala" description begins...

I was at a private resort where several billionaires were gathering for a meeting. There was a cocktail hour and the theme had been set for the period of the late 1800s to early 1900s. All attendees at this occasion were to dress in costume for this period of time. Since I was a server, I had to wear a black and white dress apron and a white hat to cover my hair.

I was not allowed to wear makeup, jewelry or anything else that could make me 'standout'. The setting was beautiful and elaborately decorated for the occasion. The tables were decked out with the very best crystal, porcelain and serving utensils. The waiters were all male and very formal. The female attendees, including me, were in the background. Our only duties were to replenish the banquet and the appetizers.

There were wine stewards there as well and they made sure that the wine glasses were always topped off. This soon created an atmosphere that made the billionaires behave worse and worse as the evening progressed. The alcohol loosened their tongues and some of the billionaires started to boast:

- One loudly boasted about his soon takeover of certain failing companies, several of which I recognized.
- One boasted that he sent out false information to his friend in a government agency, who, in turn, then ordered an investigation into a competing cellphone company for privacy violations.
- One boasted that they had paid someone in the FBI to leak information to the press about the current administration.

As they became louder and more drunk, they became more obnoxious. Before long, I was able to observe the demonic entities that were possessing them. I looked at one of the men and I could tell that he was worried about his pregnant girlfriend and the safety of their soon-to-be born baby. I saw a flash of what his girlfriend looked like and it was someone I had known in my past. He had good reason to be worried...

This woman was in a room next to this gala for all of them to see. She was now giving birth to her baby. She was in great agony, but was able to finish the process. The baby was fully formed and looked healthy, at least from my perspective. To my shock and horror, she then found a crowbar and started smashing the baby. She hit the baby so many times that she was no longer recognizable. The baby was obviously now dead.

All of this was so real looking. Since I was not there to stop it (that is, God did not direct me to), I was just one of many witnesses. I was not alone. All of this was in the open and not one person at the gala did anything. While all of the attendants began to vomit from the horror of what we just saw, not one of the billionaires cared at all. Not one!

From the billionaires' perspective, the evening continued on as if nothing at all had happened. It was not long before one of these billionaires approached me. He came right up to me and whispered in my ear. His breath smelled putrid.

Billionaire: "I know who you are. Say nothing about what just happened or it will be your undoing."

Sub-dream 4 "A Labra-doodle Guard Dog" description begins...

My family was on vacation somewhere west. We were staying at a vacation rental home and it was nice. All seven of us were now Transformed and we were having so much fun. In the room where the girls were staying, there were bunkbeds. In the corner, there were a bunch of stuffed animals, including one massive Labra-doodle. All of the stuffed animals were so cute.

Older daughter: "These are so cute! I wish they were real."

Younger daughter: "Me too. They are adorable!"

Once I got the girls all settled in their rooms, I prayed with them and said goodnight. I went to the main living room and looked out the window. The moon was shining brightly. I saw a flash of a dark shadow in the form of a line. I looked for it, but it was gone. My husband then walked in.

Me: "It is hard to have fun knowing that our time of fun is almost over."

Husband: "I know, but, hey, we are finally on vacation, right? We also don't know if our time of fun is 'almost over' as the Lord has never said 'this is it' to us."

Me: "Yes, but 'they' know that we are here."

Husband: "What do you mean?"

Me: "There is a shade and a watcher tracking the property."

Husband: "Oh Erin, it does not matter. They cannot do anything to us. Just try to not worry, okay?"

Me: "What if this is both our first and last vacation?"

Husband: Smiling and making a pretend exaggerated sighing noise. "We don't know what God has planned just yet. In the meantime, let's have some fun, okay?"

Me: "Yes, but this is all so new...all of it. When will we know that we are ready? How will we know what to do? How will we know where to go?"

Husband: Laughing. "We will all know together. Look, the kids are not worried and I am not either. The kids are so relaxed that they are all already sleeping. While I am ready to go to bed too, you are still up worrying. How come?"

Me: "Okay, I have a confession to make. I thought that, when we were Transformed, I would be healed of worry. This is clearly not the case...at least not for me."

Husband: "Rest easy, Erin, as Jesus has all of this."

Me: Smiling. "Okay, you are right."

In the morning, the sun shined brightly into our room and I could see that it was spring outside. I decided to get up and go for a brisk walk outside. As I walked, I could see that these two entities were still watching us. I decided to pray to Jesus to rid us of these and they were instantly gone.

Me: "Oh Lord, I am so sorry. I know better. I should have immediately prayed."

After getting rid of these entities, I could hear the songs of many songbirds. I walked back to our rental and started to cook breakfast. All of us were sitting around the table laughing and having a good time when a Labra-doodle suddenly appeared. I was in shock, but not our girls. The girls were giggling as the dog licked them. All five of our kids simultaneously asked if we could keep the dog.

Me: "Where did this dog come from?"

Older daughter: "We had prayed for the stuffed animals to come alive."

Younger daughter: "Well, we only prayed for the Labra-doodle to come alive."

At first, my husband and I were upset as we already have two dogs.

Oldest daughter: "We will look after him. He will not be any trouble at all."

Me: "Yes, but is he trained?"

I then started saying command after command. After each command, the dog did exactly what was asked of him and did so perfectly.

Younger daughter: "I believe that God allowed this and that he is here to help us."

Just then, the dog went outside and ran a complete circle around the property. After 'securing the border', he then stood guard at the front porch. We all laughed.

Me: "Wow, an adorable guard dog, trained by the Lord Himself to watch over the property. Okay, this is really cool! We are definitely keeping him!"

Dream 324 – Jesus and Dusting Off Our Louisville Sluggers

Received on Monday, March 4, 2019

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day. Thank You for the beautiful fresh snow.

However, the joy of such snow is often not as appreciated when in a vehicle trying to navigate in these conditions. I am sad today. I wanted so much for a miracle during the night last night. However, once again, the night came and went and I am still in this condition.

That being said, I know it could be worse, so I am thankful for my ability to continue to function. However, Father, each day is more difficult and now I am truly scared. Sigh...I love You, Father. Have I not proven that I will not run? Have I not proven that I am here? I sometimes now feel as if I am always bargaining with You or trying to prove my case to You.

There are so many of us suffering, Father. So many of us have daily struggles of personal affliction, but also have children or grandchildren with special needs. I know You know this as You are never unaware. In my brokenness, pain and tears this morning, coming to You in the whole truth, I have to ask 'When?' When, Father? When! You gave me a dream last night...

I was smashing idols, unclean statues. This was an easy task for me because they were visible idols of evil worship and dark arts. I then went to a room of things that were the tools of the enemy. I picked up a claw hook crowbar and destroyed them. However, I gave more thought to these as these were things from everyday life.

There were phones, Facebook and other social media, video games, bags of sugar and candy, magazines, caffeine and gluttony with foods. These were things that were time wasters or body destroyers. Then there were things that related to people's obsession with how they looked. There were Botox, plastic surgery, diet pills, weightlifting and workout equipment. I hesitated using the crowbar on these items as I knew that some of these could also be used for good.

Attached to these rooms was a separate room filled with the consequences of the excesses of these rooms. I then saw shelves filled with the results of removing God and indulging in one's self. I saw over-the-counter drugs in the last room, which then tied in to vast amounts of prescription drug abuse. I saw caffeine in the Red Bull drink mixed with alcohol leading to straight alcohol. I then saw the mixing of all of the above.

I then saw a shelf of mirrors in the last room. This room was used for exposing their bodies, which then led to porn abuse, both for young girls and boys and adult males and females. There was then a room for the results of being the loser of 'self'. This was a room of despair. Thoughts of suicide ran rampant in there. In summary, each room meant something and each had varying degrees of subtlety, all to deceive...

- The first room was easy. These were the 'easy to identify' idols. They stood out.
- The second room was tougher. These were the everyday idols which distracted us from our Godly purpose.
- The third room, along with the related sub-rooms, were the toughest. This was the room for trading God for the world, the giving over of leading by God to being void of God and the fulfillment of self-indulgences.

This last room was particularly upsetting to me. As I took the crowbar to these things, I knew the roots. I am certain that most did not intend to self-destruct when they used these seemingly harmless things, things such as Facebook. It is easy to ignore that Facebook posts can lead to envy, coveting and jealousy. This could, in turn, affect your schoolmates or neighbors, whether they are Christian or not.

I thought about my children and their friends. I thought about 'suicide challenges' on YouTube. I thought about things that take away from our lives. As I destroyed these things, I found myself repenting from being distracted away from God by these things myself. I became angry that these things were in full use right now. As I smashed the last shelf of items, I heard laughter coming from another room. I peered in and the idols I had just smashed were being replaced back up on the shelves by demonic entities.

Me: "I rebuke you in the Name of Jesus!"

The entities backed away as I smashed a few of the new idols they had put back on the shelves. They continued to laugh at me though even as I raised my crowbar against them in a threatening manner.

Demon: "Ha, we have permission. You cannot remove all of these. You just can't. We are too great in number and there are only a few of you."

Me: "Why are you not listening to me? Are you not afraid of the Name of Jesus?"

Demon: "Yes, but we have His permission to do this here. Go to Him and ask Him yourself. Now do not speak of Him anymore!" They then began to mock me even more. "Ooooh, big scary sparrow with her big crowbar."

They continued to laugh and mock me. Not expecting it, I used my crowbar like a Louisville Slugger and swung at one of the demons. It was a direct hit to his head. I hit his head so hard that it flew off of his body and hit the wall. His headless body then went over to his head and placed it back on his body. He purposely put his head on backwards as yet another mocking joke towards me.

I decided to leave the room as they were all starting to laugh at me even harder. As I looked around, I saw another room just like the second. I then saw another room just like the third. I heard the demons murmuring amongst themselves. My best comparison is that they sounded like a group of demonic laughing clowns.

Demons: Laughing. "Is she going to keep going? There is like a million more of these rooms. Oh dear, her arms are going to tire out. Hey, while she is wrapped up here, do you want to go see some of her friends on the Nest? I heard that one of them has some juicy secrets." They continued to laugh and mock me.

I finally had enough and quickly turned and again rebuked them in the Name of Jesus. This time, I asked Him to silence their foul tongues. The demons were immediately silenced. When I looked at them, their mouths had been sealed shut. They did not seem to be that upset by this and continued to mock me with their eyes (for lack of a better description). I started to cry out to the Lord.

Me: "Lord, this will take an army! You need to send Your Army!"

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Oh Father, please forgive me. While I give You 'my Temple' at times, I too am guilty of being easily distracted by things that do not satisfy. These are time wasters and body pacifiers. Please remove these in my life so that all glory is for You, Father. Please do not allow those You have called to be sucked in by the enemy's deceptions before You come for us. Please do not allow Your elect to be discouraged and fall away. Please, Father, call out to us, in Jesus' Name, Amen.

Sub-dream 2 "Beautiful Flowers on My Night Stand" description begins...

I was carefully arranging some pre-cut spring flowers. I also had two types of branches. One had cherry blossoms on it and the other had almonds on it. I also had some beautiful lilies of the valley. I also had some purple flowers that looked like trumpets. I also had some Easter lilies. I arranged all of these in a beautiful yellow glass cameo vase that was etched with butterflies and birds of spring.

I filled the vase with water. I then placed each branch carefully inside this antique vase. The fragrance was amazing. It was odd because I arranged them in my bed where I sleep. I then set the beautiful arrangement on my night stand. As I laid in bed, I could see just how beautiful all these flowers were. I thanked God for them and I fell asleep.

When, oh when, Lord? The world is becoming so much worse. This leader, our President of the USA, is even being blamed for causing the land to split. People have been 'driven crazy' because of him. There are lies being told that are not acceptable. It is as if the Gates of Hades were opened upon the land the moment this man was elected. You knew in advance that this would happen, Lord, yet You still sent him.

Well, I know that there is a reason for doing this. He is exposing the lies and deception of the left's agenda. The land is in turmoil as a result. You have sent so many things against the land, including storms, earthquakes, floods, freezing temperatures, new weather phenomena, avalanches, dust storms and the list goes on and on. The people do not see that Your wrath has come upon the land.

Finally, and in just a few short years, the 'cauldron of water' has now come to a full boil. At our girls' Christian school, Christians are now the minority! Children there are now being taught that it is okay to do what they want when they want. So many have been taught to hate Christians because Your Word does not support their sinful lifestyles. However, many of us still practice sinful things that are no different in Your eyes:

- How many of us are jealous, covet, envy or even curse their neighbors?
- How many of us are stingy or only show a generous spirit when people are watching?
- How many of us brag, boast or proclaim how great we are because God is performing miracles in our lives?
- How many of us gossip or feel higher than other members at church?

I sat in the pews when a beautiful young girl sang a song about her love for Jesus. I then overheard two skeptical 'Christians' say the following to each other:

Parishioner 1: "She sure sings a beautiful song about her love for Jesus. If only she knew that her dad was cheating on her mom."

Parishioner 2: "Yes. How much would she love Jesus then?"

I heard this horrible utterance being spoken shortly after I had become a Christian. I was a new Christian and this literally made me feel ill. I later found out that the family struggled for many years after that while striving to stay together despite this adultery. They managed to stay together, but there were horrible consequences:

- The girl's mother became very sick with cancer.
- The girl became a wild party goer at college.

Thankfully, the girl eventually came back to You, Father. However, I cannot help but believe that it was the curses sent over by these parishioners at that precious young child that somehow affected her unwittingly. The church is supposed to be a safe and supporting environment, not to be in the full operation of the negatives of the fruits of the spirit. This is a heart condition, but really more like heart disease. That is because God had no room to work there. He has not been invited into the pews. This is now where satan is doing his best work. This is why churches are today closing down faster than malls. Father, without a miracle from You, without Your Army, so, so many will perish. It seems as if evil is now winning on all fronts.

As a mom of two special needs boys, church attendance was often cut short for me as I would see the numbers of my sons pop up on the screen. They were not like the other kids due to being on the Autism Spectrum. Sigh! This created a lack of activity in a normal sense for all of the parties involved. I have missed out on 'normal'. However, I did find the Treasure that is Jesus in the midst of all of these troubles.

Father, the snow is heavy here today. A foot of snow has already fallen. It is the heavy and slippery kind of snow. Before the storm finally stops, we will easily have another six or so inches. It is quiet outside as a result. When the snow falls, it is very quiet.

My husband and I prayed for each other today. My husband even shed a tear. This is unusual as he is always so positive about what You are doing. However, today, the waiting finally got to him and he couldn't contain himself. Thankfully, once he let it out, he was back to his usually positive self again. I believe that he needed to be honest in his frustration with God's timing and he was.

Oh Lord, waiting is so hard. We fully realize now why You call 'patience / waiting' the hardest of all of the Fruits of the Spirit. When, Father, when will You heal us?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was at God's door. I reached up and knocked three times. It was a loud hammering as I was using His massive lionhead doorknocker. I turned around and surveyed the beautiful scenery as I waited for someone to answer the door. God's Valley was so beautiful. The trees were in bloom and the fragrances were incredible. There were animals and birds in pairs all over the place and they were chasing each other playfully.

This divine dance of spring is truly a mystery made by God. There is no fear here. All fear is gone. I heard music coming from inside His Home. I chuckled to myself and thought, 'hmm, He is taking awhile to answer the door'. The water flowed next to me in beautiful channels of hammered gold.

This 'mini-stream' went from His Home to the beautiful pools below. This was unlike anything I had ever seen here on Earth. Only the King of kings could have such an extravagant setting. I turned back to the door and was now wondering if He had heard my knock. I decided to knock again just in case. However, just before I could reach up to knock again, the door opened. An angel of God was standing there to greet me.

Angel: "Come, Erin, the Lord is expecting you."

I stepped into the beautiful large foyer. I looked up and there was the moving Creation painting outlining Genesis. As in the past, the painting was in motion and was telling the story of Creation. The stone columns were crowned with bronze pomegranates. I looked around and it took my breath away. Tears started to fall and I soon broke down.

I fell to my knees on His beautiful rug, a rug that had been handmade and custom fit for the Lord of lords. As I knelt there, I could hear the sound of approaching footsteps. I somehow knew it was Jesus. I looked up at Him. He seemed concerned for me so He met me by bending down to me. He dried my tears and hugged me.

Jesus: "Oh Erin, I am here. It is okay. I am here."

He hugged me as I continued to cry...well, really, wailed. My cries could be heard throughout Jesus' Home. The music stopped. The painting stopped moving. Everything completely stopped.

Me: "Lord, You are my Best Friend. God is my Father and Creator. Why do You delay in doing good, Lord? I am crying for help. Others have done the same. People are dying for lack of knowledge. Their children take their own lives. Living in these times is not an easy thing. Evil is winning against Your people, those You claim to love.

"You inviting me here to such a beautiful place is like dangling a carrot in front of a hungry horse. You told me to come boldly before You in truth. I do this now even though I fully know You could remove my breath from my lungs in a single motion, in a split second. Lord, Your people, those You have called, are at risk of being lost.

"Who can resist pacifying themselves when our wait for You goes by month-after-month and even year-after-year? While everything aside from You is not beneficial, what else are we to do? Endorphins from things we enjoy are only temporary pacifiers.

"Lord, I need Your joy instead. Only Your joy pumping through our veins can truly satisfy. Please, Lord. When will You heal us and call us for service? I fear that You will now be mad with me for all of my complaining."

Jesus: "Erin, stand up and come with Me." He helped me up. "You will now listen and I will answer. Erin, I love you unconditionally. I am not surprised by your reaction. You are disappointed that a date you thought to be good did not unfold as you had desired. I created you and I have been with you always. I am not immune to your cries. I am not unfeeling when you hurt. I take no pleasure in your discouragement. However, this I must now give you...not one has come into My House and wailed as loudly as you just did. Even the angels stopped their singing."

Me: "Oh Lord, please forgive me. I am sorry if I have angered You."

Jesus: "Do you think that I did not know that you would do this? Erin, I am always with you and I will never leave you."

Me: "Yes, Lord, You are right there with me, but..." He knew what I was about to say.

Jesus: "Oh yes, I do understand. This is about Me being with you, but not removing your pain that you continue to endure. See, I understand this. God, My Father, was with Me during My persecution, yet He did not take My cup from Me. You do not understand this because I seem to drag this on. Erin, do you believe that I do not have any flaws?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. You do everything perfectly. My tantrum on the floor in Your House did not provoke You to change. I was pouting and hoping You would relent."

I heard an uproar of good-natured laughter from the Lord and angels in attendance. It put a smile on my face and I was soon laughing with them.

Jesus: Smiling. "You delight Me, Erin. We will not soon forget this day. I even interrupted the moving picture of Genesis to hear the cries of My warrior bride, My little dove, My special sparrow. Now, look over here..." The Lord brought my attention to a small inlaid stone of gold etched with today's date and my initials. It read as follows: 'One little sparrow moves the Heart of God!' I cried.

Jesus: "You need to see what has been occurring since you were last here. Come..."

He brought me out to His Courtyard. There was a massive gazing pool next to God's Clock and Calendar. There were angels all around us. Their organization reminded me of something like a 'Security Detail'. There were four mighty angels overhead that were standing guard in all directions. This setting somehow seemed different than what I had seen during my previous visits here at His Courtyard.

Me: "Lord, why are all of these angels needed for security?"

Jesus: "Well, they are actually here for a meeting. Erin, we are in the middle of a conference of sorts."

Me: I was now really embarrassed. "Oh Lord, did all of them hear my wailing?"

Jesus: "Hmm, interesting question." He looked around with His palms opened. "Well, go ahead, did you all hear Erin's cries in My House?" He was smiling and laughing.

All of the angels in unison: "Yes, Lord." I was now very mad at myself.

Jesus: Laughing. "All is forgiven and now even forgotten." I nodded my head sheepishly in agreement. "Erin, it is now only you who continues to resurrect this incident. Not one of them are surprised, especially in light of what they have all been experiencing by My assignments. You represent the sentiments of the multitudes right now. See, Erin, look..."

Just then, I saw the reflection of current events in the gazing pool in real time. I saw the Earth rotating as if it were a globe spinning on its axis. I was then shown so many things:

- The lining up of missiles aimed at various targets all over the world

- That the majority of these missiles were aimed at the USA, especially from China and Russia
- Assigned angels holding back the wicked plots of evil regimes
- Other evil regimes pointing a disproportionate number of missiles at Israel
- Activities taking place in India, Pakistan, Venezuela and other South American countries
- Major turf wars taking place in Northern Mexico
- Wars between Russia and some European countries over access to water rights
- Upheaval in Europe, including something like both buildings and leaders toppling
- Europe then looked similar to a giant broken up map

As for things that were shown to me specifically about the North American continent:

- A shakeup in Canada and changes coming
- The Red Bull once again running through the land
- The Red Bull then being surrounded by several entities, all with capes and spears setup to take down the Bull
- While none of the spears worked at first, one in particular hurt him
- Because of the actions of only a few, many lived in fear and kept silent

- While he then seemed down and finished, I saw angels sent to protect him
- The angels saved the Red Bull at the very last moment
- Then, and suddenly, the silent rose up with loud voices
- The others then ran away and were afraid

What I then saw that disturbed me the most was a web that surrounded the world. There was a massive war between the angels that had been cast out who were trying to get to the Earth and the angels appointed to keep them there until the 144,000 were marked by God. I saw small lights in various places. These lights were hidden, but really tucked away in plain sight. They were waiting on God.

Me: "Lord, do the 144,000 now know who they are?"

Jesus: "Yes. Each one now knows or suspects. There is a push by the enemy to locate them by various means. However, it does not matter what method they use, the enemy will not know as this is all hidden to him until the 144,000 are finally sealed."

Me: "Are they only aware because You have been sending them signs?"

Jesus: "While some know, they remain quiet as they do not know their family's origin. Some are not practicing church goers because I have purposely kept them apart. Others are church goers, but are at odds with the message that the church has for today. I have stirred hearts. Those who have not conformed to the ways of the world, but have remained in obedience to Me, will find Me.

“They will hear My Voice in the desert and will know that it is Me Who is calling them. I will say ‘this is the way, walk in it’ and they will. I have called out to them and instructed them while they sleep. Although the world does not look for them, they are already there. They have not defiled themselves with the ways of the world, but by a heart for Me. Now, if you look there...” He pointed.

I saw something like packages being sent out to draw people’s blood. They were collecting these samples in order to build a massive DNA database. While they made it seem like such collection was for our good, it definitely was not.

Jesus: “Make no mistake...this is a census sent out by the enemy. All it takes is only one sample from one family member to know the history of a family. However, they cannot get all of the information as I will not let them. Do not worry, Erin, as this plot will come to nothing. They will soon force this test upon all citizens in order to hunt down just a few. While searches on the web are also being documented, these too will come to nothing.”

Me: “From the perspective of the world, the sense of freedom we had when we were younger, the 1980s and the 1990s in particular, are long gone. There are predators everywhere and they can come at us right through technology.

Jesus: “Yes, Erin, there is an epic battle in the Heavens and the web is involved. It is the quickest form of entry by the enemy. Here, look...”

He pointed.

I saw more angels of God than those from the enemy. It was very difficult to understand all that was happening.

Me: "Lord, this is difficult to understand."

Jesus: "The enemy seeks access through any open door. They are being held off right now. What you are witnessing on Earth is an uptick in evil from evil that was already present. These are now ground troops without reinforcements or knowledge of what has happened with their 'commander-in-evil'. The ground troops are holding the line by copying old patterns. As a result, they are constrained, not only by My rules for them, but by their own rules. Their main command center is momentarily out of service."

He pointed to something else that I should look at. I could see His angels cutting down the lines of communication to keep the enemy confused.

Me: "This makes sense. Because satan is not omnipresent, he is not available for direct orders when his command center is down."

Jesus: "Yes, but more importantly, these entities are bound to My parameters, My boundaries."

Me: "Let's see if I got this right. The enemy does not have permission to 'cut loose' as You continue to set out what he is limited to."

Jesus: Smiling. "Exactly. However, because this is difficult conditions for them to operate in, rogue spirits have been sent out to search for information. It is similar to them wandering in a graveyard with nothing for them to inhabit. However, you are not to concern yourself with these things. Do not worry, Erin, as I have you."

Me: "Thank You, Lord! However, You do not tarry. So then, when, Lord, when?"

Jesus: "Erin, as you can see, events are moving quickly. You are My servant and your household serves Me. Those who have been slain for My sake also cry out to Me with questions of 'when?' However, I tell you the truth, Erin...all has come into being just as it has been foretold by My prophets. My Word has taken shape in the physical. You are watching the scenes play out.

"Soon, very soon, all will know that it was Me Who sent out calamity upon the land in the hopes that people would turn and repent. However, just as you see one bombshell, another falls, then another and then another. Even though I call on My people to pray for discernment and turn to Me for wisdom, many now instead turn to a false narrative sent to manipulate those who want to believe a lie. For these, it is much easier to digest the food of this world. That is, until that food causes the poisonous sting of death.

"The stage is set, Erin. The quiet shall rise. They shall spread truth. They shall be unstoppable. For those who change before them, there shall be the promise of Heaven. For those who love the world more behind them, there shall be a barren wasteland of destruction. Where I send them, miracles, My miracles, will be visible. This is because their mantle is truth and their platform is the Kingdom of Heaven. They will be unlike anything the world has ever seen before or will ever see again.

"I do not remain silent. I do not remain idle while watching the spread of wickedness. They twist My Words. They change My doctrine and make My churches a place where sin is accepted and embraced. Anyone who stands up for My Words of Truth are now imprisoned, outcast, condemned or even killed. Well, the time of My silence has come to a close. Do not worry, Erin, in just a little while, while people consume their daily dose of lies, I will shake them. I will not stand for this.

"Now, I know you are ready. I know you want that 'Louisville Slugger'. I know you are eager. I know you have been faithful. I know I have said you will 'play this season'. Game-after-game, you sit on the bench and only have your dreams and My promises to keep you coming here to My ballfield day-after-day. Sometimes you just serve water to those who thirst, yet you remain faithful. Erin, I have prepared you for the upcoming 'World Series' your entire life. I will bring you up off of that bench.

"When I finally put you into My game on My team and I start you, there will be some angry players. They will be angry as you are no one to them and these players have already gotten rich by playing. However, others will be excited and will know you were Mine from the beginning. Some will be so furious, they will even quit and walk away. Others will just need to be benched for a few games until they finally say 'sorry, Lord (Coach), please put me in!', understand?

"See, Erin, I am not passing you up. If I put you out before the 'World Series' began, the enemy would see what I have planned and not as many would be on My team. This is about the losers, the forgotten ones, the ones I am calling to Me and the ones I want to give fresh water to. It is not only about you. This is because you have already given yourself fully to Me in service to be used for My purposes. While this is not meant just for your comfort, pleasure or stature, these will still come to you with all of this as well.

“You are also an example of My Bride. You come to Me because you love Me and you wait for Me. You do this because you know I love you and will come for you at the time appointed by My Father. You do not wait for Me because of what I do for you superficially or out of conditional love. You have not left your lamps low of oil.

“You have not become lazy. You instead wait for Me at all watches of the night, even the fourth watch, as you do not know when I will come. As for the game, the ‘World Series’, I am preparing you for this. However, for now, can you be content with observing and serving water while you wait for Me to call you up to play in the ‘Big Game’?”

Me: “Yes, Lord.” I was crying. I ran to Him and hugged Him tight. “I am sorry. Please forgive me. I love You because You are incredible. It is not because of what You can do for Me, it is because of what You have already done for me in spite of me. It is all so perfect. Yes, I will chase You! I will wait on You! I am sorry about being pouty at times. It is just that I am down there in the battle and so many things are coming against us.

"We are facing some major troubles and the pressure is adding to my illness. If You would consider fortifying our camp or moving us to a location where we can prosper while we wait, that would be helpful. We are now out of provisions and uncertain about our future.

"I am just asking, as one of Your 'ground troops', for You to set up an encampment so that we can either hold our positions or You move us. Either way, we cannot do this alone. We cannot do anything without You. Could You do this for us so that we can feel settled while we sit and wait for Your timing?"

Jesus: Smiling. "You make a very good case. Of course, Erin, I will send help. Do not worry. I have you. Hold on!"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I love You."

Jesus: "I love you too. Oh yes, one other thing...when you see things being stirred up, search for the root cause. Ask yourself 'who is stirring this up and from where?' You will see the enemy staying hidden in the shadows. Then watch as the story, filled with lies, spreads across the land to those vulnerable to lies versus truth.

"Those spreading Good News will be those that I have sent. However, be cautious as fear fuels all kinds of evil. While those I have called will see past this, they must remain quiet and in prayer. It will become worse, so continue to pray. I can see that you are still a bit worried. Do not worry, Erin, as you will not be on the bench for much longer."

Me: Laughing. "Good! My Louisville Slugger is getting dusty!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Hmm, are you not already using it against the enemy in your dreams?"

Me: "Well, yes, sort of, but it was actually a long crowbar. It was still fun though."

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin, as I will call you up soon and you will play. Now, this is enough for today. I love you!"

Me: "I love You, Lord!"

Sub-dream 1 "The Giant Boulder of Fake Freedoms" description begins...

I saw a massive boulder that the enemy had fashioned for destruction against God's people of all races. Before this boulder could be used, God sent an angel with a lightning rod to break the boulder up. It was like a video game from the 1980s called 'Asteroids'. It was first broken up into two, then into four, then into eight and on and on until the boulder was broken up into many tiny pieces.

I then saw several people trying to put the boulder back together. Since this was something that God Himself had separated, this was delayed until His timing arrived. He made the pieces behave in a similar manner as trying to put two magnets together in the opposite way.

I then saw the enemy change up his game and add in even more deception. His goal would now be to increase his efforts to convince people that God was evil and that it was God that had separated this 'great boulder of love'. Satan then explained to the people why he had originally fashioned this great boulder...

- It represented love for the good of all
- Only the 'force of unity' would be able to put it together again
- To not refashion this boulder would be a direct assault against fellowship and 'our mutual love for mankind'
- This boulder would be necessary to protect 'freedoms for all'

I saw that this boulder, once pieced back together again, would have a list of 'freedoms' attached to it. All of these 'freedoms' had something in common; it was implied that they were all part of God's Will, even though they definitely were not to those with discernment. The list of 'freedoms' was an extensive one...

- Freedom to choose death over life (abortion, infanticide, euthanasia...)
- Freedom to love who ever or whatever you please (homosexuality, bestiality...)
- Freedom to serve 'the god of true love' (one of satan's titles for himself)
- Freedom to take what someone else has, all in the name of 'equality for all' (socialism...)
- Freedom to sacrifice for the greater good of the Earth (population control...)

- Freedom to take care of those imprisoned by God's rules (sin is a myth...)
- Freedom to roam the lands and see the beauty (open borders...)
- Freedom to remove hate in any form (especially all of the 'hateful rules contained in the Bible')
- Freedom to say no to opposition (especially towards any opposition from the church)

I saw a plot that was in place from the very beginning of Trump's presidency. The plot was to remove any groundwork he had done to heal the land and give opportunity to all. The enemy had a secret plot to enslave the people, all under the lie that these new rules were part of God's Will when nothing could be further from the truth.

I then saw God create an Army of His own. This Army terrified the evil leaders of the lands as it was now destroying the 'Artificial Eden' that satan had secretly sought to create. Wherever His Army went, God's Truth was revealed. Wherever His Army went, the people in the lands confessed to their evil and were exposed. Despite the enemy's best efforts to destroy His Army, he was unable to.

Communion

Dear Father,

I love You! More than anything else, I love You! I am thankful for all that You have done with me from the beginning up until now and even my future. However, I am especially thankful for the gift of eternity with You. Please forgive me for being silent lately, Father, as the last ten days or so have been brutal. I removed myself from Your presence and others and went inward as wave after wave of attacks came.

While I cried at first, I think I then just went into a type of shock. In contrast, my husband remained so positive about everything that I sometimes wondered if it was to a fault. However, I should never complain about his great faith, so I will instead simply shake my head at all that had happened. This is where I sometimes fail. I go inward during attacks and search for a reason. I then go into 'self-inspection mode'.

When these attacks come one after another, I first try to determine where the initial breach was. What was the first entry point whereby the enemy had opportunity and with whom? Well, if they correlate with the dreams I am having, then, typically, they can, and usually do, involve me. I had a dream about ten days ago or so...

Sub-dream 2 "My daughter in bed with a wound" description begins...

I was sitting next to my daughter on her bed while I was arranging some flowers. We were talking about various things as I did so. We had not been sleeping there as we were both in normal clothes, not sleepwear. It was late morning, close to midday, and the sun was shining. As we were talking, I noticed that she had a wound.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

This was my initial warning from the Lord that an attack was coming...and not just a small one. I knew that this was also a warning, not just for my daughter, but also for me, as I was more than just an observer in this dream. This then affected my ability to rest or sleep peacefully.

Several days prior to this, while I was in a small antique shop in Maine, I had come upon a series of small, extremely old, spelt and bronze boxes. There was one in particular that caught my attention. It was very intricate with what looked like either Scottish or Irish engraving. The woman who owned the shop came over to me.

Owner: "What you are holding is from the late 1700s, early 1800s."

The age impressed me and I turned over the item to look at the price. I was surprised that it was only selling for $10. I could tell that the owner needed this sale, but I still hesitated a bit. I normally do not purchase things I know nothing about and I did not know anything about this item I was now holding.

As background, I have some small shelves in my devotional room where I keep antiques. On them are mostly small porcelain birds from England and Germany. Most are gently loved and have a great story despite the various small cracks or chips. There is usually a touch of damage as it reduces the price so significantly that I can afford them, yet the damage is also hard to notice unless you are really looking for it.

I keep all of these items in my devotional room as my husband is a bit of a minimalist and prefers 'clean, organized and uncluttered'. While he rationally and logically believed my finds to be 'cool' as he loves a great story, I believe he is quite happy that these items are best confined to the shelves of this one room.

Well...and to make a long story short...my empathy for the owner outweighed my hesitation and I soon handed the owner a $10 bill. I could tell that she was very happy to make the sale. She then started to pack the tiny item into a small beautiful box.

Me: "Wow, that is a beautiful box for packing! Where did you get these boxes from?"

Owner: "I purchased them from a man who got them from an estate. They were once used to contain ashes."

Me: "Do you mean ashes from a body?"

Owner: "Supposedly."

Me: "That doesn't make sense. They normally are in urns or much larger boxes. Perhaps these were animal ashes as opposed to human ashes?"

Owner: "Perhaps. I really have no idea."

I said goodbye as I left with my reluctant purchase. I said barely a word as we drove home. My husband attempted to start a few conversations, but I was in deep thought. I didn't take the small box out of the bag. Once inside the house, it literally stayed next to the entry. It stayed there for the next few days and was never far from my mind.

I finally told my husband about it and he said I should pray about it and perhaps toss it. This is where I then made a mistake. I forgot about it and it remained. This was my first mistake, a mistake made worse by my dismissal.

My second mistake, though one with great intentions, involved having my daughter's friend from her worship team come over to our house. At some point as we were driving my daughter's friend back home after the visit was over, she started to do something odd. She started to sing extremely loudly to the Christian music we had on. It was really awkward, so I discretely turned up the music to drown her out.

There also seemed to be an odd tension between my daughter and her friend. Once we dropped her friend off at her house, I was finally able to ask my daughter what was going on. While I will not give any details, it soon became obvious that this girl had a powerful demon. While it was all confined to this girl, the disturbing things that happened at our house had bothered my daughter greatly.

My daughter and her friend had hung out a bit on her bed watching television and talking, so I felt the Lord tell me that any remnants of this demon was there. As soon as we got home, we performed a spiritual cleansing. We felt better and the room once again felt at peace. However, the attacks on our household were still not over.

My husband and I then received some disturbing emails from someone. These emails were curses specifically against me and my relationship with Jesus in these dreams. I was so disturbed by these that my husband and I immediately prayed against this as well. However, I still had not dealt with the 'box of ashes' at my front door.

That night, I was in extreme physical pain. It felt as if someone was stabbing me in the left side of my torso. The next day was not much better either. My husband and I were both unusually exhausted...so exhausted that it was as if we should be in a nursing home. I even had to use my walking cane for the first time in weeks. I was in pain and was feeling unstable.

It was obvious that we were still in the middle of an attack. However, it seemed targeted more at me than anyone else as my husband and my daughter both seemed to now be sleeping well. Our cleanse seemed to have worked for them, but not for me. I could not sleep as I could not get comfortable. I finally dozed off and dreamt...

Sub-dream 3 "The Pale Witches' Putrid Milk" description begins...

I saw a group of normal looking people. They were wearing grey and were gathered in a circle. The ground they stood on was ashen and there was no green growth. Their faces were pale and sickly. They had no eyebrows and they had dark circles under their eyes. There was a flame of fire there, but it was a small flame.

The flame was so small that it could barely heat up the pot of milk that was sitting on top. As a result, the milk was neither hot nor cold. They were speaking curses and dipping their bread in this lukewarm milk. I was invisible to them, so I decided to go over and see the milk for myself. I leaned over to smell the milk and it was putrid.

When I woke up from this dream, I finally realized that witchcraft was being used against me. It was time to go to my devotional chair and find out what the source was. However, the enemy, anticipating this, was one step ahead. I was distracted by the sight of my dog Zoey shaking in the corner. There was blood on the floor mixed with her urine and she was not even coming up to me.

It was last Sunday and all the veterinarians were closed. I would have to go to an emergency facility. When I talked to the doctor on call on the phone, she advised that I watch Zoey's progress to see if she got sicker. She was and I phoned the doctor again. She told me that she would meet me at the animal hospital. She then warned me that an emergency call would be expensive.

As so many here know, when it comes to these furry family members, price is sometimes not seen in an objective manner. I agreed to this and we went. I quickly put Zoey in her crate and carried her to the car. When I went back to grab my purse, I noticed the bag that contained the little ash box. I had an 'Oh God' moment and grabbed the bag. Zoey was crying as I drove so I prayed to the Lord loudly in the Spirit.

I prayed for Zoey and asked God to forgive me. As I drove to the veterinarian, I saw a dumpster. I decided to throw out the ash box with the item in it right then and there. I first disguised it in a used takeout bag and prayed over it that no evil spirit would come out of it and that no one would find it by accident. I sealed off any unclean spirits to that box, rebuked it and disposed of it.

I then prayed for Zoey, our car, our household, our family, our finances and apologized to God for allowing this item into our lives. I was certain that this box, along with having my daughter's friend in our house, had allowed the breeches in our walls for the enemy to approach. The cost of warfare was high as the doctor ran test after test and found nothing wrong with Zoey. It was particularly upsetting to spend $700 that we do not have only to have nothing found wrong.

When I came home and explained the expense and throwing out the box to my husband, he agreed that what I had done were the right decisions. Thankfully, Zoey has been fine ever since. However, my attacks were still not over. Even though I had prayed over everything, the friend was no longer here and I had thrown out the box, another attack came the following day. It was a brutal one!

I started the car and immediately smelled an odd burning smell. I thought that perhaps it was only the heater as it was quite cold outside. I went outside and chipped the ice off the windows. When the girls and I got in the car together, the smoke smell was now quite intense. I immediately turned off the car. We then decided to use 'the clunker car' instead. I took them to school without incident and came back home.

I immediately called the service garage and they sent a tow truck. They did not think we should drive the car if there was the smell of smoke. This took a couple of hours though as the tow truck driver got lost trying to find our house. After later running a diagnostics test, the garage called us. There was a variety of things wrong with our car:

- The alternator had short-circuited and was causing the burning smell
- One of the fuel lines needed to be replaced
- The accelerator needed to be replaced
- The blower to our heater was not working properly
- There was a tail of a wood rat stuck in the engine

Technician: "Well, that was the bad news. Do you want the good news?"

Me: "Yes, I could use some good news!"

Technician: "I will send you a loaner car at no cost and much of this will be repaired under warranty."

Me: "Oh, thank God!"

Technician: "The bad news is that it will probably take us a couple of weeks to get all of the parts and fix it."

Me: "That's fine. Please just make it safe to drive again. Fire scares me."

Well, there was even more that happened to us during this week, but you now have an idea of some of the attacks we had to endure.

Father, the enemy never stopped and never stops. However, thank You, Lord, as, by the end of this last week, I started to again feel better. Zoey is also feeling better and my daughter has been happier. What did the dream of witchcraft mean? Oh Lord, please help me!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was immediately at the door of His Pottery Studio. I was so excited to be here again. Well, that is an understatement! I had visited here back in early 2017 and had always looked forward to my return:

- Dream 232 – The Race and the Potter's House (January 15, 2017)
- Dream 233 – Lord, what are You working on? Part 1 (January 22, 2017)
- Dream 234 – Lord, what are You working on? Part 2 (January 24, 2017)
- Dream 235 – The Final Glaze, the Bull and the Matadors (January 25, 2017)

In the last of these four dreams, Jesus had told me, "When you come back next (to the Potter's Studio), I will have put on the final glaze and they will have already been through the kiln." Yes, I was VERY excited to be back here again.

The outside of His Studio was beautiful. The landscape surrounding His Studio was like looking through a Tiffany Glass landscape window. The door opened and Jesus was standing right there with a huge smile on His face. I ran into His arms and gave Him a big hug. He took me over to a stool. His sleeves were rolled up and He seemed happy to be working on some vessels.

Jesus: "How are you today, Erin?"

I watched intently as He formed a beautiful pot from a lump of clay. He was so skilled, much more so than any artist on Earth.

Me: "Lord, You are amazing! Is there nothing You cannot do? I wish I could throw a pot like You do. My hands are uneven in pressure and my pottery was lopsided. Why do You not just command a vessel into being? Why dirty Your hands?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Do not worry, Erin, My hands are clean. This is the finest clay Heaven has to offer and it is good. What fun would there be in just commanding a piece of art into being? It is the thoughtfulness of the Potter Who creates such a vessel. As I form the shape, I also form the story. I become one with the clay in My hands and I create a unique vessel from the clay."

Me: Crying. "Lord, You allowed me to get through the fire so many times. This happened just last week. Will You not finish this soon? Please, Lord, I am tired."

The Lord looked at me with empathy and stopped spinning the wheel. In reality, this was perfect timing as He had just completed this particular pot.

He reached for a towel and then placed His hands in a washbasin. His hands were instantly cleaned. He then dried His hands and came over to me and hugged me. I cried even as I write.

Me: "I love You so much, Lord. People have said horrible things about me. I want so much to one day show them that my heart is Yours and it does not think badly about them. Lord, I was cursed and so was my family. They even cursed You and I can do nothing. I am just exhausted. Will You use me as You promised?"

"Will You heal me and help me so I can show others the wonderful Lord, my Potter, how great You are? Lord, the world is becoming much worse and quickly. The rise of evil has come. The first wave of locusts has come upon the land and many of us will be stripped of a voice soon. Please, Lord!"

Jesus: "Erin, why are you bothered by so many things?"

Me: "I don't really know."

Jesus: "I do. It is because I have placed these things upon your heart. I have also begun to download knowledge into you. Can you tell that you are experiencing this?" He smiled.

Me: "Well, yes, Lord, actually, yes. I thought I was having some 'lucky guesses' about various things, but now I realize that this is You doing this. Many times, I am not sure why or how I know, I just do."

Jesus: "Erin, I send people your way, both good and bad, so that your knowledge is complete and your wisdom is sharp."

Me: "My husband has been reading some of my dreams with You and I just know it isn't me. It is You, Lord, granting me wisdom. On my own, I only have wisdom gained from successes and failures." I began to cry. "I am afraid I have more failures. I am struggling, Lord. I am trying to paint and draw, but, without Your healing, I am struggling. When I was young, I took for granted all of my talents. I never imagined not being able to do certain things."

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, do not worry as your troubles will soon be removed. I have only a few more pots to finish from this batch of the finest clay of Heaven. I had to rework some dry dead clay. You showed up at My final time at the wheel with these pieces."

He drew my attention to a rack with a wide variety of pots in small to large sizes. They were about to be glazed and fired.

Me: "What an unusual batch of pots You have to glaze. I love Your work, Lord. Everything turns out so beautiful. When will these ones be finished?"

Jesus: "This group will require quite awhile in the firing process. The kiln is at high heat. It is not the same process as many of you have been through."

Me: "Yes, my firing was several years of heat and glaze then heat again. I am not sure if I have been finished yet."

Jesus: "Actually, Erin, I have finished your vessels. I have your vessels in a different room with others, but they need My final signature...or seal, if you want to call it this. As for these pots here, they are different and must go through some temperatures that will eventually perfect their finish. However, they will still be cracked, marred and imperfect until they finally come out of it. It will be a shorter process, but an extremely difficult one."

Me: "I don't understand, Lord. You are the Potter. You create each one. Can You not keep them from cracking under pressure?"

Jesus: "Yes, I can, but this is not how I have chosen to create these ones. You must trust that I am doing what is best. Do you trust Me?"

Me: "Yes, Lord." I let out a sigh. "It is just that I hate seeing them go into this 'scary furnace'."

Jesus: "They don't go into a kiln to become ashes here. If I didn't put them in the fire, they would not be useful. Erin, you know this."

Me: "Yes, Lord. It has burnished me. I just pray I will be used by You one day!"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, you will be. There was a firing schedule and a timeline for this. I told you that I have not sent any new troubles upon you. All that is coming your way right now is just residual permissions and nothing new. I have now finished My vessels to be used for My purposes. Would you like to see them?"

Me: "Yes, Lord!" I jumped up and down in excitement. He reached for my hand and led me to a door. It was a warehouse with glass shelves and a glass ceiling, an Open Heaven. I could see a massive wave of light. I saw Jesus wave His hand. I was in complete and utter awe. I saw the most beautiful vessels I had ever seen in my life there. The colors were incredible. Just then, a light shined like the sun and illuminated them. They were almost transparent, like glass, and the insides of each glowed like gold.

Me: "Oh Lord, they are so beautiful. They look like glass, even though I saw You throw them like pottery. How is this even possible?"

I was still in awe and began to cry tears of happiness as I walked down the rows. While each of the vessels were different, they were all equally beautiful. I saw one that stood out to me. It was golds, greens, blues, fuchsias and gold iridescent.

As I looked even closer, I could see moving pictures! I saw flowers blossoming, butterflies and little birds flying, clouds floating and on and on. The scene changed as I turned it in my hands. It was amazing. As I stared at it a bit longer, I could somehow see emotions in it...compassion for children, the lost, the poor and more. I gasped...

Me: "Lord, this is my vessel! This is mine, right, Lord? It is like the painting of Creation on the ceiling in Your Home that moves. I have never seen anything like this. It is beautiful. It is so beautiful." Tears of happiness were streaming down my cheeks.

Jesus: "Do you like it, Erin?"

Me: "Yes, it is perfect." I good-naturedly looked at the bottom of the vessel. "Well, almost perfect." I laughed. "You still need to sign this." He laughed. "Oh Lord, it is the most amazing piece of art I have ever seen in my life." I then looked at all the vessels that surrounded me. "There are thousands here." I did a quick mental invoice. "Perhaps there are over 100,000?"

"Lord, this is just so amazing! These vessels thrown by Your hands are not just pottery, but also have features like a movie, an autobiography and a painting all in one. This is a miracle!" I looked at Him and jokingly nudged Him. "With so many, I am worried that it will take You a long time to sign all of these, sealing them as Yours."

Jesus: Laughing. "No, Erin, it won't take long at all. This is the easy part and can be finished with just the wave of My hand."

Me: "Oh, please wave Your hand! Please!" I was jumping up and down in excitement again.

Jesus: Still laughing. "Do not worry, Erin, as the time of My Army is soon to come. As surely as I care for My sparrows, I will also care for these to pour out water upon a thirsty land. Do not worry."

Me: "Lord, each one of these vessels are so incredibly beautiful. Will You be giving us a copy of these for us to enjoy for eternity?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, this has already been done for you. Do not worry. Now, try to find joy. In just a short while, I will take you out of the quiver, My quiver, and use you. You will soon go from sitting on a shelf and waiting to displaying mighty deeds in My Name. All of you will work together and your presence will not be replicated by anything made by the hands of man."

Me: "This would be impossible for man."

Jesus: "Yes, but it is not impossible for My hands. I will also be with you. Not only will I be in you, but I will work through you in all that you do. However, you will not fully understand this until it is time. There will be no contrary thoughts to My instructions. There will be nothing able to break you. Everywhere I send you, they will say 'God has sent these by His Own hands for His Own purposes under Heaven'. You will display awesome deeds. Now rejoice, Erin, as this room is complete and there is now only My signature left."

I went over and hugged Him.

Me: "Lord, if people only knew how amazing You are and all You have done because You love us and have never given up on us. Well, there would be so many here. If they could see what You have done from the beginning to the end, they would know how great You are. If they saw what You have prepared for us, they would have no words. I love You, Lord. So many love You, Lord. You love us. Look at what You have done here. With Your hands, my name is written on the palm of Your hand."

Jesus: Smiling. "I love you, Erin. I love all those here that I have called and many more. Sadly though, not everyone looks for Me. Not everyone sees Me as you do. Do not worry about this as they will all soon know who I am, okay?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I was once like them until You called me."

Jesus: "Erin, you are not here to solve problems unless I call you to. You are here to see, learn and write that which I direct, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Lord."

Jesus: "Now, do not worry. Rejoice, Erin, rejoice, as your wait has come to a close."

He hugged me and kissed the top of my head.

Dream 326 – Uriel and the Prelude

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for everything! What a beautiful morning! This is the day before the Nor'easter, so I am making sure that I enjoy this. As I was driving home this morning after dropping off the girls, I listened to the Newsboys song 'Symphony' twice. I cried with joy as I listened. I want my life to be a symphony directed by the Greatest Orchestrator...You, Father! There is no composer like You in our lives.

You take all of these instruments and build Your masterpiece. I pray that, very soon, the greatest crescendo in history will descend on this dark land. As I was worshipping, the song, 'Come Fly with Me', came on. As soon as it did, and right there in front of me, there was a beautiful Bald Eagle soaring against the pink sky and the white snow. It landed in a tree across the field and I pulled my car over. I cried and praised You.

Oh Lord, there is no Father like You. You work all things together for the good of all those who love You and even for those who do not even know You yet. There is no God like You. You care about even the smallest of things. You love our hearts and souls. We long for the day when You will take us in Your loving arms and remove our pain. There is no Lord like You. You send gifts of love to swoon us. You send eagles at just the right moment just as a song says 'Fly with Me'. Oh Lord, there are no coincidences in my life when it comes to You. Everything You do is because You love us intentionally and with abandon. Because of Your love, Your continued care and Your promises, how can we be destroyed? Our bodies can die, but our hearts, our souls, are indestructibly Yours.

You can take everything from me and I will still chase, crawl or limp towards You. Jesus, I love You! You lavish me. You take hold of my weak hands and You walk where I am, right next to me, and I am never alone. I give all that I am to You. In all of my imperfections, in all of my uniqueness, I surrender myself completely to You, Lord.

I pray I am beautiful to You and You find me worthy. I am thankful that Your version of our beauty treatments is our hearts being fired in the furnace of affliction. Though it was painful, I now see why this was necessary. Lord, today is my 11th Anniversary of my second NDE on March 21st, 2008. While this day was Good Friday, it was also Purim, same as today. I pray for more time with You. I pray that You will call me to Your Altar.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a beautiful garden. The landscape was so lavish. There were fountains and the sounds of birds. The mourning dove was calling out for the one he hopes will come to be with him. The grass is soft like velvet and there are beautiful blossoming trees everywhere. I looked down a small path. This path was made of precious jewels, including emeralds, sapphires, diamonds, rubies, opals, beryl and aquamarine.

While the path glowed in opulence, it did not outshine the glow of the beautiful flowers on the blossoming trees. As I stepped onto the path, I suddenly realized that my feet were bare. My feet were beautiful and my toenails shined with a pearl-like glisten. I hurried my pace as this was such a beautiful sight.

As I rounded a corner on the path, I could see a beautiful Altar with garland at the end of it. I cannot emphasize enough just how beautiful this garland was. It was four feet in diameter or twelve feet in circumference. There were woven jasmine, gardenias and white roses. They all looked so beautiful woven in with the fresh vines and peonies.

I then noticed something on the Altar. I went closer to take a better look. There on the Altar was a beautiful goblet of pearl. The goblet was translucent like glass. As I stepped on the next stone, one that was made almost entirely of beryl, a beautiful kaleidoscope of butterflies suddenly filled the entire area. There were thousands of these beautiful butterflies and each shined like a jewel in the light of the sun. It was so beautiful that it even took away my breath for a few seconds.

Me: "Lord, where are You? This is so beautiful."

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned around and there was Uriel. He was in full armor and looked absolutely stunning. In reality, no earthly man can compete with Uriel or, and even more so, Jesus.

Uriel: "Erin, I am here to deliver a message to you...The King is enthralled by your beauty."

Me: Crying. "Oh Uriel, I don't feel that beautiful right now, so this is very good news."

Uriel: "Erin, do not worry as you will soon be with Him at His Alter. Once there, You will partake in the cup of communion with Him. This wine is made from the choicest grapes from His vineyard. This wine is part of an epic harvest. There has never been a harvest like this one nor will there ever be a harvest like this one again...that is, until you are all here running through these vineyards for eternity. Once you are here at the Altar of the Lord and partake in this communion from the cup, the two of you will be as one and there will be nothing that shall ever separate you from the love of God."

Me: "When will this ceremony be?" I smiled at him and laughed. "Uriel, I am here right now. Why waste any more time when we can simply call Him and do this right now?"

Uriel: Laughing. "Do not worry, Erin, as He will be calling upon you soon. While you have been watching and listening for the sounds of His party approaching, remember that He comes at a time you think not."

Me: I suddenly became sad. "Oh no, this sounds like this is still a long time away."

Uriel: "Do not worry, Erin, as how can it be a long time away? The Altar is ready, the flowers are in bloom, the wine has been poured and the Bride now waits for her Groom."

Me: I was smiling as I was still being persistent. "Yes, but don't we need the Groom now?" Laughing. "I think we should go get Him! Where is the Groom right now, Uriel?"

Uriel: Smiling and laughing. "A mystery...for now. Now rejoice, Erin, rejoice. The King is enthralled by your beauty. He had me bring you here to show you that He has prepared a place for you at His Altar. No one will rob this from you. He sends you a wellspring of living water. He has called out to you, His 'Dove', and He cares for you."

Communion

Dear Father,

I love You! Please forgive me for being anxious today. I am scared. I have been so exhausted recently, it is as if I woke up suddenly from a deep sleep and I cannot seem to awaken fully. While mornings can be especially tough, my time driving with my daughters in the morning is priceless. Every day is different. The conversations are sometimes funny, sometimes serious and sometimes just plain orchestrated by You.

We set off in the mornings with a prayer for protection and a blessing over them. I do this as I realize that, once they are out of the door of our car, they are away from me. Thankfully, Father, You are always with them. As per usual, we listened to Christian music this morning. I could tell the girls were enjoying the worship songs, so I purposely drove slower to allow for a longer special time of communion.

Lately, we have had some worries in our home. While we trust that God will provide, we have increased the making of pancakes, grilled cheese and hotdogs as they are more affordable choices for feeding a family of seven. Even so, everything is so expensive now. I never thought I would see the day when fruits, vegetables, milk, cheese, bread, eggs and meat were almost more expensive than eating out. It is ridiculous.

Things are so inflated now. I remember that my grandparents would read the specials for the week at the IGA, Albertsons and a few other markets. They would have conversations about a brown bag of groceries costing $5 and how expensive that was. I remember my grandpa holding up a cantaloupe and saying 'I refuse to pay more than 30 cents for this.'

I remember going to Albertsons when they had a fabulous bakery. They had the most amazing variety of cookies on the planet...at least for how it was in the 1960s. Cakes were different though. You had to make these yourself. One day, however, they started offering a baked cake, undecorated, for $2. My mom thought that this was ridiculously expensive compared to what she could make it for.

Flash forward to today. That $5 grocery bag now costs between $20 to $50, depending on the size of the bag and the contents. The prices are higher today...a bag of apples $8, milk, eggs, butter, bread and avocados $5 each and a cantaloupe $3. You can save some money if you drive to different places for their specials, but the high cost of fuel eats into these savings quickly.

Father, how are people going to survive out there without You? When money is not as readily available, adjustments are made. It is becoming worse. Prices are not decreasing. I remember when I was young, the difficulties my mom would have to feed us. We qualified for welfare and had food stamps, but people would treat us like dirt when we would use them. People would say horrible things about us.

Father, a time like this is coming again. I will need to bake my own bread and buy fewer and fewer processed items. When Zoey was sick two weekends ago, the veterinarian encouraged us to give her a vegan diet made of soy protein to prolong her life. I laughed and told her that this was bioengineered food and that I will not buy it if I cannot pronounce the first five ingredients. While I knew she disagreed, she stopped pushing.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for spring. Thank You for all You have done. We are blessed beyond measure. Father, I am scared about our future. My heart breaks for the horrible state of the world. It is so disgusting. There are Muslims silencing the world, yet they themselves are not silent. This is a scary time to have Christian opinions.

There are women fighting for the right to kill a child even if it is after a full pregnancy. They want to be able to decide to revive the baby or not just upon the birth. This is sickening and my heart breaks. Then there are those in the news that are forced to lie. The news then lies to the people. We are seeing an uptick in demonic activity. Simply bizarre and heinous things are happening, including the torturing of innocent children.

There is widespread hate. Those in Hollywood and other areas flaunt themselves. They are lovers of themselves and they display this openly. Their suggestive wardrobes are disgusting. Father, there is also one story of the torture of a young girl that made me cry. I cannot get it out of my head. If You do not strengthen us soon, I will surely not make it. I won't! I am undone, Father.

I don't want to leave the beautiful garden and the Altar. How can we ever make it here without You? Father, I am scared for all of those who love You. Our children, the vulnerable, all of us are looking for a hero...we have this in You! Evil continues to accelerate. It is accelerating so quickly, it cannot be ignored anymore. It is so bad now.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus met me at our path. He smiled at me.

Me: "Lord, You are not to see me before the ceremony!"

Jesus: "It seems the one I love needs Me. What wins...love or tradition?"
He smiled. "Erin, I know you are scared. I know your heart breaks for the lost. Grace is with Me, Erin. I have her. Do not worry, I have her."

Me: "Thank You, Lord. Thank You."

Jesus: "Erin, I love you. Now, let's speak about justice. I had you recently purchase a statue of blind justice. However, did you notice that her sword of truth is gone and so are her scales? The world does not want the reminder of what truth is and what is justice because there is neither right now."

Me: "Was it You that sent this statue my way?"

Jesus: "Well, yes, as this represents the true state of the world right now. Not one is looking for Me unless I have called them to do so. Erin, the moment of the raising of the dead dry bones, the hope of Jacob, the wonder of My majesty and the times of truth are here. However, there will be opposition as no one likes truth that exposes their lies. These things had to come first or else there would be confusion. By doing it this way, this will draw a clear line and picture of who I am...

- I am not passive and idle
- I am not weak and powerless
- I am not removed and uncaring
- I am not going to allow the enemy to prevail for much longer

"Erin, My saints are crying out to Me day and night, asking 'When, Lord, when? When will You avenge us?' I see the evil. It is perverse and continues to crawl across the hidden recesses of the land. Once there, it destroys everything in its path. It is like bacteria or mold. Not only do these individuals have this on their clothing, continuing the spread of the mold, but they do not see it or treat the problem.

"These spaces, or recesses, and individuals are unclean. There is no cure until the time this defiled land is made clean by fire. These conditions, if left untreated, destroys everything it comes in contact with, understand? Do not entertain this for a moment and be careful not to allow it to captivate you.

"If you do not let your dogs jump up on the furniture when they are muddy, why would you let your neighbor's dog do the same? Do not allow this, Erin. Do not even let the dog in! Do not be polite about it. They expect you to be passive because you are Mine, yet they would be the opposite against you. Do not give them your oil!"

Me: My shoulders drooped and I suddenly felt down. "Lord, this doesn't sound like You will be changing us soon."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, this is not true. I just wanted to instruct you to stand and not allow the wicked to make you downcast. Do not allow your neighbor access to that which I have made clean. You have prepared yourselves, your homes and your children...all for Me. However, the enemy seeks to destroy your joy. Your neighbor seeks your destruction and longs to rob you of your priesthood. Soon, Erin...yes, very soon...the wicked around you will flee at your sight.

"Right now, you are seeing the sudden rise of the wicked. There seems to be no organization or order. While it is predictable, it is still a shock to you when you see it. It is like a small spark that creates a wildfire. Do not worry, Erin, as I am God over all of this. The wicked will not prevail much longer. There is a war in the heavenlies and the angels of God are at war."

Me: "I really believe I can feel this now. It somehow feels heavy in the atmosphere. It is unnerving. There are natural disasters and manmade events. It is unpredictable."

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, this is actually predictable. Is it not written in My Word that there will be signs?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. First the earthquakes, famines, natural disasters, wars and rumors of wars, nation against nation, and then the 'Great Earthquake'?"

Jesus: "Yes, but think of the 'Great Earthquake' as perhaps being something else, something unexpected, something that will shake the world. Erin, I will send those I have called to shake the nations. What does an earthquake do? It humbles the heart of a man, but usually only momentarily. They then soon return to the business of wickedness because they have no fear of Me. They then declare with their lips, 'God does not see this and knows not of my wickedness.'

"This is why I will instead send another type of quake. Hearts and bodies will shake. You will say to a mountain 'fall into the heart of the sea' and it will be done by your faith. You see, Erin, the world has only had a glimmer of these miracles. Others have risen up and said 'follow me as I speak to those whom are dead. My powers come from the laying of my body on their graves.' They instead are speaking with the enemy.

"Others claim that I now endorse sin because 2000 years has lapsed since I was here last. They then claim that My words and convictions therefore no longer have any meaning. They claim that I now accept the marriage of men with men, the rape of children, the lust of the eyes and the coveting of your neighbor. Do not forget that there are also those who rewrite My Words to accept adultery, killing, lying and stealing.

"Erin, I am the same yesterday, today and for eternity. I do not contradict Myself. God's Commandments are good. These bring life. I came to set free those held captive by the punishers of the meek. These punishers have accepted sacrifices to other gods, 'gods' such as mammon. These punishers twist My Words and dishearten the weak.

"I came to give life eternal, raise the dead and cut down the wicked 'keepers of the law', the hypocrites. This is what you are now witnessing...the lies, the love of hearts that have grown cold and the evil manifested in man. Now, I have been instructing you while you sleep about what is to come and what you will observe. When you come upon certain people I send into your path, you will be instructed by Me to do one of three things:

- You will do nothing at all and leave
- You will stay and serve as a witness
- You will act with precision and allow Me to work through you

"I know it has been difficult to witness the accelerated rise of evil, but I am here. I have led you to witness it so you are aware of events. You will soon see evil and will know its works. I will then call you to stop it in front of witnesses. Erin, not all in the Bridal Chamber had their oil ready and waiting. Many had left to find some, understand?"

Me: "I think so."

Jesus: "Erin, no one will rob you of what I will do with you. I have called you. I will send help. You will have no worries. Your debts will be removed and you will dine at the King's Table. Now, rejoice, as I have you." He reached over and hugged me.

Me: Crying. "Soon, Lord. Please let this be soon! I have not been well. We no longer have any income from my husband. While he enjoys working and has tried many different avenues to find employment, nothing has opened up for him yet. We cannot survive on what I bring in. There are seven of us here and..."

Jesus: "Erin, I will take care of you. I will not allow you to fall. Erin, you are My Scribe and I will pay for your expenses and grant you a wage. You need only to wait on Me. I have always provided for you and I will not leave you now, understand? I send help and will do abundantly more for those who bless you. Those who bless you, I will bless. Erin, do not worry. Continue to worship Me with your whole heart. Sing praises to your Groom, your Lord who loves you. Your rejoicing makes Me rejoice too. Do not worry, Erin, as the shaking is about to begin."

Me: "Lord, why does it seem like earthquakes are occurring everywhere except for California? Earthquakes seem to happen everywhere but there."

Jesus: "There will soon be shaking there unlike anything the world has ever seen. I know the wickedness of the land. I do not turn a blind eye nor do I forget their deeds 'done in secret'. Just wait for it as I will soon send My Army to shake the nations." He smiled as He pointed towards me.

"One day soon, there will be a great celebration in Heaven for all that I have done from beginning to the end. Now, do not worry, Erin, as in just a little while...even in the blink of an eye..." He smiled as He looked into my eyes.

He then laughed when I blinked my eyes several times in an exaggerated fashion. "...and, yes, very soon...all will change!"
He reached over and hugged me.

My husband and I had corresponding mini-dreams with 'dates' last night:

My mini-dream

I was waiting for my 'date' (meaning both the date of the Transformation and my 'date', Jesus). I was in the most beautiful gown. It was intricately beaded and would cost a fortune on Earth. I looked around, but there was no one around except for a stranger I did not recognize. I went up to him.

Me: "Excuse me, but where is everyone?"

Stranger: "They are at the basketball tournament."

My husband's mini-dream

I had a folded piece of paper in my hand. I heard a voice tell me to unfold it and look inside. It contained a single sentence...

"The Hammer of the Agagites – April 9th"

Commentary

We did not know that these two mini-dreams fit into each other until we looked up the dates for the basketball tournament, the only one of which we could think of. March Madness, the huge NCAA basketball tournament, already began on March 19th and ends on April 8th, the day before 'The Hammer of the Agagites' on April 9th. Note that Haman was an Agagite and that Haman was a 'Hammer' and an 'Agagite'.

Prelude: A close friend of mine was preparing for demonic warfare. After telling me what was going on, I prayed about it and received an unexpected reply from the Holy Spirit. The following is my email reply to my friend.

Response (with edits): All of God's chosen warriors are currently in a holding pattern. This means that there are no great miracles nor are there any great troubles right now. The troubles remaining here today are only from those troubles based on old permissions from the enemy. However, there are also no great chains being broken either. Why?

This is because there is a great movement of the Spirit of God that will soon take place. As the demons and evil minions also know this is soon to come, there is a great war in the Heavenlies right now. The entities here know 'The Great Time of God' is at hand. So, what does the enemy do in war? They hold their ground no matter what.

There is also a huge uptick in suicides right now. Why? Because it's effective. However, killing the host causes a problem. The entities then have no place to go. So, right now, they are taking a stronghold position. A caged animal (or a demon in this case) kicks and screams and roars.

Given these limitations, how are we to stop this? The answer is surprising. Simply put it to sleep! Yes, I know it seems silly, but put it to sleep in its 'attic place'. In the times we are in right now, deliverance is both rare and ineffective. However, caging the entity by binding it also has its own problem. The entity still functions verbally in the host's 'upper room' (a person's brain).

So, what are we to do for right now then? We are to pray that the enemy be put to sleep. I believe that this is 1 Samuel 26. Right now, and until God's kingdom warriors are called for battle, we are not to engage unless God gives us specific instructions to do so. This means that it will be so clear that you will not question it.

There is a reason that we are to wait until activated. While we are now fully armed and ready to go, we are not to run ahead of our Commander, Jesus. If you do, the enemy will know your position and this will open the gates to trouble. Even then, you are not to worry as, thanks to God's power and love for us, this too will pass (smiles).

You are to pray for the enemy to sleep! This is working for a situation I am in right now. Just keep praying for the enemy to be 'drugged' by the angels with Heavenly tranquilizers to keep them asleep, rendering them tired and ineffective. Then when the shout of God comes, we will all take down these sleeping tigers. However, until then, we are not able to do anything else during this period of our 'holding pattern'.

This next part is personal direction from Erin regarding her close friend's dream on this:

While the Lord showed you this situation in your dream, He did not give you directives. What He did give you were observations on the way things are operating. I will pray for a deep sleep to come over the enemy's strongholds in your ...'s life. There is a repeating pattern to what you see. It is like an escalator going up and down in her brain. Be strong, my friend, and understand that, even though this seems to go against some of what we were taught in demonic warfare, it is still perfectly God as it is specifically based on the unusual times that we find ourselves in today.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day.

I immediately heard the Voice of God speaking to me as I sat in my devotional chair writing my opening prayer. As you can see, I wrote very little (seven words in total) before God started to speak.

God: "Be still, Erin, be still. I am with you. To the north of Galilee is Philippi. The angel appointed there will now be sent your way. I am shifting strategically. Do not worry as the time of My Kingdom is soon to come. The time of Heaven made visible on Earth is now. Do not listen to directives other than Mine. You will soon feel a shift in your Spirit. You will need to rest and I will instruct you there. You are only to engage the enemy when I call you to. Do not move outside of the perimeters I set. Now, I have given you markers to frame the time you are in."

Me: "Father, are You removing angels from the north of the Sea of Galilee, as well as from the Golan Heights? Is war coming any day? I heard Bad Moon Rising this morning (by CCR). You called me to look at the date of the release of this apocalyptic song. It was released in April 1969. We are now exactly 50 years from this release. Father, there are no accidents when it comes to You. What is about to happen?"

God: "Trust in Me, Erin. A long time ago, I showed you a Risk game board with troops. This is not unusual. This property in Israel is greatly sought after and the subject of debate. Nine princes have come after it. They will soon attempt to take it back."

Me: "Are You referring to the Golan Heights?"

God: "Yes, Erin. This is the wilderness...this is My land."

I suddenly and unexpectedly drifted off to sleep.

Sub-dream 1 "Five Glass Lilies" description begins...

I was looking over five long stem glass lilies. They were stunning and not of this world. I had a beautiful vase. At the base of this vase was a glass plate with holes specifically designed to hold these 'cut' glass flowers in their place. This vase with glass plate is referred to as a 'frog'. I very carefully, one at a time, placed the lilies in the vase.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

A gust of wind rattled my window and woke me up. I looked at the clock and noted that I had slept for 15 minutes. I instantly remembered that I was still speaking with God.

Me: "Father, what of these glass flowers? These were so beautiful and intricate. I have never seen lilies like these before!"

God: "Erin, I am giving you bits and pieces of a greater picture. Now, where was the Sermon on the Mount?"

Me: "Oh, where Jesus fed 5,000 people? The miracles...the Lord's miracles!"

God: "Yes. However, I am also giving you lessons in geography, time and patience. You dreamt of five glass lilies. These were fashioned after lilies that die after being cut. They are beautiful, but then they are gone. With glass flowers, they do not wither and die. You are able to enjoy them forever. Now, perhaps this is a greater mystery yet to unfold. There is the land of miracles, the birth place of these. However, there is more to this. I have called angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways."

Me: "The glass lilies...the five of them...do they represent something that is about to be broken?"

God: "Hmm, you did not break them nor were they chipped, broken or flawed to begin with. They are not about to be destroyed. They represent My splendor, My love for you. These are a gift and something wonderful you will soon display. Now, not all things are doom and gloom there. Spring is the season of restlessness, blossoming and new beginnings. The trees are waking up from their winter's sleep and fragrances now fill the air. Now arise, Erin, and rejoice, for I have given you a great gift."

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love, mercy and grace. Please forgive me, Father, for overextending myself with activity from Friday to Sunday. I failed to rest as You told me to several times. I kept going on my own strength and did not recognize the sabbath day of rest. As a result, I am now sick with the flu.

Well, it really began on Sunday. Today is the first day that I have been without deep pain in my lungs, so thank You. I believe it was so many praying for me that healed me. While I am still exhausted and weak, Father, thank You for letting up on the illness. It hit so hard and was quite humbling. You gave me a dream one week ago...

I was in a burned-out church that was in a one level mid-century style. The structure had been destroyed by the fire and only the walls and foundation remained. Two sides of the structure were made of brick or flagstone and the other two sides were made of metal. I was walking through the charred remains when I noticed someone had broken into the church. While I was not sure if I was there physically or in spirit, I was sure that this person did not know that I was there.

As I got closer, I noticed that this person was a woman. She was pillaging items at the altar. She had collected a communion tray, some candlesticks and other items. Not one of these items were things that edified God. I looked around and noticed that there was not one cross and not even a single reference to Jesus. The items this woman was stealing had absolutely no value. As I continued to look around, I determined that the church was too badly damaged to ever be rebuilt.

When I woke up from this dream, I was still deeply disturbed by this. As I prayed to the Lord about what it all meant, He put a vision into my head. While I am not sure if it was two capital I's or two number 1s, it was definitely two stick-like characters. I found this vision so unusual that I spent the rest of the day looking around for two objects standing side-by-side. The song 'Crushing Snakes' by Crowder then came into my head. I suddenly realized that the lyrics to this song are what we are looking for now...

"We`re not afraid, terrors of night, arrows that fly by day. Ten thousand may fall, but we will remain. We`re not afraid, a promise of God can never be torn away, walking on hands of angels, crushing snakes, safe under the shadow of His wings. Our fortress and our strength, our fortress, we`re taking back our freedom, our battle has been won. We have been liberated, back from the dead we`ve come, we`re taking back our freedom, our battle has been won.

We have been liberated, back from the dead we`ve come, we`re not afraid, a promise of God can never be torn away. Walking on hands of angels, crushing snakes, safe under the shadow of His wings, our fortress and our strength, our fortress. We`re taking back our freedom, our battle has been won, we have been liberated, back from the dead we`ve come.

Do you see Him, King of Heaven, Champion of all creation? Eyes of fire, voice of thunder, tearing through the sky in wonder, dressed in light, we see Him coming, on a horse that`s white like lightning. Do you see Him?

Do you see Him, King of Heaven, Champion of all creation? Eyes of fire, voice of thunder, tearing through the sky in wonder, dressed in light, we see Him coming, on a horse that`s white like lightning. Do you see Him? Do you see Him?

Do you see Him, King of Heaven, Champion of all creation? Eyes of fire, voice of thunder, tearing through the sky in wonder (racing through the sky), dressed in light, we see Him coming (breaking through the thunder), on a horse that`s white like lightning. Do you see Him? Do you see Him? We`re taking back our freedom, our battle has been won, we have been liberated, back from the dead we`ve come. We`re taking back our freedom, our battle has been won, we have been liberated, back from the dead we`ve come. Back from the dead we`ve come, back from the dead we`ve come, we`ve come, we`ve come, we`ve come, we`ve come, we`ve come!"

Later on in the week, on Friday, April 12, 2019, a series of amazing events occurred that fulfilled a prophecy that the Lord had given to me about my husband personally. This prophecy was given to us a few months back and pinpointed Nisan 7, which is April 12th. While I had forgotten this prophecy, my husband had not. Without me knowing it, he had quite a fleece to God on the fulfillment of this prophecy. How this prophecy was fulfilled came in such an unexpected way, we both are still smiling about it.

The story starts with me dropping our girls off at their school. I was driving home listening to the Christian radio station when they announced that they were selling tickets to a concert by an up and coming Christian band. I decided that I would take the girls, along with one of my daughter`s friend, to this concert. This was last minute notice as the concert was to be that same night. I went to the radio station selling the tickets expecting it to already be sold out.

When I pulled into the parking lot, the Lord told me to give a gift to the radio station of a certain dollar amount. When I enquired about this of Him, He repeated the specific amount again and told me to donate no more and no less. Okay, even though I thought the tickets would be sold out, I was now to stop and give a gift as well, so I did. I went in and told the receptionist that I wanted four tickets to that night's concert and that I also wanted to give them a donation.

To my surprise, not only were there four tickets available, but the manager, the disc jockey and the accountant all came out to greet me and thank me for my gift. They then gave me two free tickets to that night's concert as a token of their appreciation. While I did not want to accept this gift, they were quite persistent and I said okay. However, due to the gift I had made, the receptionist needed our information. As I was giving her our information, she looked up and said, "Wait, I know your husband. I used to work with your husband before I came over here to work."

She then proceeded to tell me all about the trouble the company was enduring and that his former company had lost a specific number of staff, an entire division that had worked there for years. One of the employees that left was a 22-year veteran. To our amazement, the number of people that left matched perfectly with the number that the Lord foretold would leave in a prophecy given to us personally months in advance.

The amazing part is that this information was provided to us on the exact date that the Lord foretold we would 'receive a report from a spy on Nisan 7'. Nisan 7 is also the date that Joshua sent out spies to Jericho. The information my husband was provided with was directly from someone that formerly worked 'in Jericho'. Since my husband knew her to be trustworthy, he knew that her report was accurate.

Had the Lord not have me donate that day, I would not have given my name and we would never have received the 'spy report'. As I said before, I had long forgotten about this 'spy report on Nisan 7' prophecy, but my husband had secretly been praying to receive this on that very date. That this happened in the manner that it happened truly once again shows that God's ways are truly so much higher than ours.

Even though I had been a touch worried about making this relatively large donation given my husband's current 'unemployment status', the Lord then replenished this within three hours and again in an unexpected way. He wasn't finished making this day special though. While we were told to show up to the concert at 5pm, we should have been told to arrive at 7pm. This miscommunication actually ended up working well for a number of reasons.

As we were now there two hours early, the girls were asked if they wanted to help the band set up for the concert. All three were excited to do so and gave a resounding yes. In return, they upgraded all four of our tickets so that we now had front row center seats. I felt guilty about getting such a prestigious upgrade, but they were so persistent that I just had to say yes. As we were waiting for the concert to start, I was not too happy to see a sworn enemy of mine walk in to the auditorium. While I have never done anything to this woman, she had decided to stop having my husband and his kids as friends simply because he married me. It was awkward as she was there to sell merchandise. However, when the band, the radio station people and the disk jockeys all came up to us to talk as we had donated and helped with the set up, it was as if we were being treated as 'royalty'. I glanced over at this woman and she was as furious looking as anyone I have ever seen. I could actually feel her curses coming towards me. After the concert, we went over to her table as we wanted to purchase some of their merchandise. I said hi to her and she then pretended to not know who I was at first. Because of the way the Lord had set this up (that is, us looking like royalty), I was no longer awkward, but she certainly was. Nobody can say that the Lord doesn't have a sense of humor, right? While the concert was fun, it was also exhausting and our Saturday also had activities. I also made plans for Sunday and this turned out to be a big mistake. I was exhausted and, by Sunday afternoon, I was sore and achy. I soon realized it was the flu. I decided to lie in bed and watch the Masters Tournament. My husband told me not to worry about supper or anything that day and he and the kids looked after me and themselves. Little did I know that this Tournament would give me such great joy. To make a long story short, I cried when Tiger Woods won the Masters Tournament. It was 11 years since his last victory (there is that II again). His victory was one of my biggest fleeces as I had prayed that his eventual victory would be a type of redemption for all of us who have suffered under curses and slander. I became injured right as Tiger Woods began to rise in status as a golfer. It was such a fast ascent! I watched him and followed his victories. He was so gifted and so amazing to watch. Then so many things fell apart for him at once. There were the affairs and the injuries. So much was coming in against him and so fast that he fell out of contention. He was no longer the talented clean-cut golfer. He was no longer the role model. I even remember the pastor of our church using him and Anakin from Star Wars as an analogy of Christians having so much promise then losing it all. This service was also 11 years ago and I remember praying for Tiger Woods to be redeemed. I prayed that God would call out to him and let him see a victory once again. I prayed that he would wear the Green Jacket for winning the Masters once again. I never stopped praying for him, even as he fell out of the top 500 rated golfers. I remember being so upset when I heard people talk about him..."He will never...", "He is finished...", "There is no hope", and on and on.

I would then pray to You, Father, to "Please shut the mouths of those who curse. Please vindicate us soon. Bless Tiger, not in a material way, but by bringing him publicly out of his trouble and restore him. Restore him like he used to be right before you come for us. Please do this as I long to see it!" I remember You then replied to me and said, "I have him, Erin. I will shut the mouths of old lions."

Well, when I saw Tiger win on Sunday night, it was a fulfillment of the Lord's promises to me...but also a type of fleece. As my husband and children will attest, I wept, "Praise, Jesus, as Tiger Woods just won the Masters again. After all the shame, I saw him have the Green Jacket placed on him, just as I had prayed for. Now I am complete!" While I know it is a personal thing, it was something I had hoped to see before everything in the world fell apart.

Something else happened this morning when I was driving the girls to school. As we listened to the radio, the 'Crushing Snakes' song came on again. They both said, "Mom, this song is about us and what is soon to come!" I smiled and dropped them off, praying for their protection before they left the car. I later received a text from my older daughter with a picture of what she had wrote on the classroom's chalkboard before class was rung in. It was from the song...

"Do you see Him, King of Heaven, Champion of all Creation? Eyes of fire, voice of thunder, tearing through the sky in wonder, dressed in light. We see Him coming, on a horse that's white like lightning. Do you see Him?" Hopefully she does not get reprimanded for doing this. Even though they attend a Christian school, you just never know in this day and age of secularism. Just writing about what she wrote brought tears to my eyes. Oh Father, there is no greater God than You in all of the Universe. You are our Creator, our Father and our Friend. Oh Father, how I long for the day when You rise up an Army and do all that You have said You would.

In Isaiah 53, You sent Jesus, our Tender Shoot, and He was trampled on. So many of us know what it is like to be trampled on, cursed at, lied to, falsely accused of and humiliated by the enemy of God. Rise up, Father, rise up and come as a Mighty Warrior and King. Vindicate us, Father. Restore us to what You intended for us to be. We can then say, "It is God Who has done this. Turn away from your wickedness and repent because the Kingdom of our Lord is upon you!"

Father, the world needs you, but they do not see it. Father, You have told me it is the time of the great fall from heights. Since You told me this, there has been the clock face falling from the clock tower, but there has also been a massive amount of people falling from high places. Some were accidents, others were crimes, some were pushed, others were thrown and still others slipped.

There are two II's in the word "Fall". It seems this is related. On "11"/29/2018, the clock fell from the tower at Purdue University. Since then, there have been people falling and even children being thrown. It just seems so extreme right now. You have told me that we are now in the 11th hour, so, Lord, please show us what we are to do.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was laying in a soft blanket of grass under a blossoming tree. The air was fragrant and I could hear a beautiful song from some little songbirds. I was in God's massive Garden. It is so beautiful and lush. There is nothing like it on Earth. In the distance, I could hear the sound of a waterfall. I sat up and quickly jumped to my feet. I felt strong and fully alive.

My arms were lean and so were my legs. I went to feel my stomach and there again was a lean body part. I could breathe easily. Tears of joy streamed down my cheeks over how healthy I am here in Heaven. I began to run. I was soon leaping from one boulder to the next boulder. I made my way supernaturally and had no fear of falling.

I arrived at the river. Even though I was right next to a massive waterfall, I was not in any fear here. While I felt that the Lord was here somewhere, I still could not see Him.

Me: Loudly. "Lord, where are You?"

Jesus: "I am here, Erin!"

I could hear His voice coming from downstream. I leapt up a large boulder so I could look down the river. To my utter amazement, I saw Jesus with thousands of angels filling Vessels with Living Water. I became so excited! The Lord waved and motioned for me to come closer. I didn't have to be told twice. I leapt from boulder to boulder and was soon right on the area next to His angels.

Jesus: "Come over here, Erin."

He motioned for me to come nearer to Him. He pointed to the banks of the River of Life. I became breathless and in awe as, right there, lining the banks of the River, were the beautiful Vessels He had made representing us. My mouth dropped open in amazement as I watched Him say a blessing over each Vessel before signing, or marking, the top of each of them.

His smile told me that He knew that I was curious as to why the tops were being signed, not the bottoms as is the usual case. I then watched as His hand individually wrote His Name, the Name of the Lord, in a visible way on the top of each one of these Vessels. 'Yes!', I exclaimed to myself, 'the Creator of the Universe was taking the time to sign each one of our Vessels!' I could not believe my eyes and I literally pinched myself to make sure I was really seeing this. I was!

Me: "Oh Lord, these Vessels are so clearly supernaturally beautiful, surely everyone will know they came from You. However, why are You signing the top of each Vessel instead of the bottom?"

Jesus: "Erin, while I rode in on the donkey before, I will now come on a horse. Why?"

Me: I paused to think about this for a while. "Is it because You came the first time, not as a king, but instead like 'a man with no majesty'? Hmm, I am not really sure why."

Jesus: "Because the world has had 2000 years of 'university' to study about Me, I will now come as a King on a white steed. I will not come at the rear or on the bottom, but rather as the lead on the head. Therefore, those I have marked will be marked clearly as there is no shame in believing Who I am."

Me: "Oh, I see. There is clarity now!"

Jesus: "Well, there always was clarity, but many chose to live in the fog." I watched as He then marked each Vessel, then filled it with Living Water. The assigned angels would then take the Vessel, jump on a horse with wings and fly up into the sky. This was not done in a chaotic fashion, but rather as a joyful celebration.

Me: "The angels seem so happy and so do You, Lord. It is so great to see You like this!"

Jesus: Looking up at me and smiling. "Well, Erin, it has been a long time coming. This marks a great time to come...a time and times like no other. My angel army has had to stand down quite often. It is a difficult thing for them to witness all the things done opposite to the Kingdom of Heaven and righteousness and have to stand down."

Me: "Wait...do You mean that even the angels are excited about this too?"

Jesus: "Yes, Erin. The battle has been long and many blasphemies have been spoken against God and His Kingdom. Now, this marks the beginning and I am clearly at the head of these." He pointed to the Vessels.

Me: "Where are the angels going with the Vessels after they have been sealed and filled?"

Jesus: Smiling and laughing. "Surely you know by now?"

Me: Smiling. "It takes the glory of God to conceal a matter and the honor of kings to search it out...or, should I say, a sparrow?"

Jesus laughed and splashed me with some of the water from the River of Life.

Jesus: Smiling. "Come, Erin, and drink."

Just then, He marked a beautiful iridescent Vessel with etchings. He then put the Vessel into the water, filled it and placed it to my lips. I drank and... I was suddenly taken out of the dream! I knew that this was on purpose. I cried for some time as I had hoped to know what it felt like...to know...what would happen next. I then felt the Lord's presence fill my devotional room. He spoke to me and I wrote down what He said...

God: "Erin, My churches may burn and crumble as My favor is not upon the structure. Instead, My church is in the hearts of those who accept My Son. One day, all things I created on Earth will be burned. As I promised Noah, I will not flood the Earth again. Then, from the fire, I will purify the land of all uncleanness and start anew. The land will be much better than before and there I will be with My people.

"However, Erin, My church has become a den of iniquity, a place of defilement, whereby the opposite of the fruits dwell within it. Oh Erin, how I long to dwell in the hearts of men; not in the ark, not in the tent, not in the tabernacle, not in the pews or at the altar, but in the tabernacle of the heart. Those who love Me with their whole heart, I have made My priests in the sanctuary of My Holy Temple.

"Erin, your heart is like a burning ember which does not burn out day or night. Your heart is the lamp. It is more valuable to Me than any structure built by man. Therefore, I am here to let you know that I delight in you and that I will not 'pass over' you. Your whole life has been a series of 'pass-overs', but I am here to let you know that I chose you and I love you. "I have not forgotten you and My promises are true. Now, you have been marked and your name is written on the palm of My hand. Now, rejoice, because I say to the one who was 'not loved', you are loved. I say to one who was 'a slave', now you are free. I saw to the one who was 'rejected', I chose you. Rejoice, Erin, for I have found your heart worthy."

After He said this, I knew that my visit was over for today. The Holy Spirit then immediately placed several Scriptures on my heart. This is just as written in God's Word, the whole chapters – 1 John 3, Psalm 11 and Psalm 91.

Communion

Dear Father,

I love you! It is Passover today. Yesterday was Good Friday. You represented the Lamb, perfect and unblemished. You, as the Lamb, were bludgeoned for our sins. No perfect lamb had ever been treated so horribly prior to sacrifice.

Early in the morning of Good Friday, somewhere between 4:30am and 7:00am, I had a dream. It might have been long or it might have been short, I just do not remember. I just remember that it was a very clear dream. Just like a sub-dream in the previous dream, it started off with two parallel lines. This time though, these lines meant something different...

Sub-dream 1 "The Groom stands with His Bride" description begins...

I saw two parallel lines in front of an incredibly beautiful altar. There were flowers everywhere. The green grass, or perhaps it was moss, under my feet was lush and even softer than the softest animal fur. The River of Life flowed behind the Altar. There, before my eyes, I saw Jesus facing a woman, a bride. I soon realized the woman was me and it took my breath away.

Jesus was on the left side and I was on the right. He took hold of my hands and we smiled at each other. I then saw a very large door with a wreath made of very small silver fish. It was like nothing I had ever seen before. I quickly counted that there were exactly 153 fish on the wreath. I then heard a Voice: "You are My Bride. I choose you!"

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, I know that I am just one of many brides, but I have never actually literally seen myself as one until this sub-dream. Even though it was from a distance, the sight of me with You left me speechless. Oh Lord, I thought for certain that today would be our 'Day of Change'. You are a glorious mystery, Father. Chasing after You is like searching for hidden treasure. Each day seems like 'the day'. Each day, at dawn, there is always a new hope that today will be 'the day'.

If You leave me in my current state, I honestly do not know how much time I would still have left here. It is truly only by Your Grace that I am still here at all. I am not sure, until You showed me first hand in Heaven, what significance I have had, if any, in my whole life. I am not sure that I have really lived. I have had so many things I wanted to share, places to explore and stories to tell, but many did not materialize.

I had personal desires, things that I had hoped for here, so many things involving impossible things, things way to lofty for one such as me. I went from wanting to be a professional golfer on tour to now only dreaming about being able to play just one round, one hole, just one swing. All of my dreams have been reduced down. I went from wanting to be a professional artist, painting and drawing several hours a day, to praying I could just paint one painting, even a small one.

I went from being in such excellent physical shape that I was unstoppable...until I was finally stopped almost altogether. I went from being envied about my health to being told that I am lucky I am not worse or even dead. I went from having a photographic memory, very sharp and clear, to not even remembering what You have promised me. However, I am grateful that I at least remember Heavenly places clearly. You have etched these in my memory until I am finally Home with You.

Oh Father, I am disappointed today. I had such high hopes for our Transformation today. Everyday, I wake up and check the state of my condition. Well, and as You know, so far and every day, I remain the same...inching towards the grave. Yesterday, while taking a shower, I heard You tell me in a clear voice, "Erin, there is a storm coming." I went downstairs to tell my husband, but there was no wind at all.

We discussed taking down our birdfeeders, but then decided to wait. Well, within about 45 minutes, the wind began to gust. My husband laughed as he knew we had been warned while it was still calm and went out and took the feeders down. While there were some strong gusts, the wind never became that 'epic'. We realized that what Jesus had said was meant as a warning of a figurative storm coming. That being said, our county has received several flood warnings as the rain continues to fall.

Received Sunday, April 21, 2019

Father, I am hurt, but mostly sad. I know Your hand has been over my life, but I long for more of You. In this life, we have had great trouble and it continues. Yet, somehow, I would even have fear without it. Trouble from the enemy always reminds me that I must therefore be on a 'Godly Course'. I then watch in relief as Your hand delivers us so very many times. That being said, this last year has been one of my most difficult seasons, if not the most.

First off, I am in dire need for medical attention. At least I am now on waiting lists and am in line for them. However, the system is somewhat overrun and there are waits. Father, You know that I will not make it without a miracle from You. You know this. Over the years, You have blessed me with Your signs, wonders and miracles. You have sent these and they have helped me keep my faith. In reality, no enemy has been able to come against us with any success UNLESS we stepped outside of Your Will. In 2007 to 2012, I made so many mistakes, most of them caused by my poor understanding of the Scriptures. My ignorance allowed me to be led by the incorrect preaching of others on what You have told us. I didn't know then, but I know now...yes, it is okay to fight back! Do not surrender to the enemy when God is with you in the battle. You are not to surrender until He tells you to. He will then give you tactical orders while in battle and will deliver the enemy into your hands.

While I was never alone in the world, I often felt lonely. I too often would listen to people who claimed to have been sent by You. These other Christians claimed they were from You, but clearly were not. No matter how poorly I fought my battles, You somehow always eventually delivered us from them all. Often times, I had no choice in the matter. It is painful to recall some of these and I have been humbled by all of it.

Soon, Father, my children will be far away, beginning their new lives. I pray that I gave them the proper tools to battle. I wanted so much to be whole again after all of these wars. I wanted to walk again in the land of my heart, near the base of the Cascades in Central Oregon. I cry when I think of it. Still, I was punished brutally there and this eventually led me to move to the Tri-Cities in Washington State. This was the 'desert place' where I went into closer communion with You.

Later still, You supernaturally brought me, along with all of my children, out of the Tri-Cities, the desert, to this beautiful remote place we are currently in. Here I learned to become Your friend and learned about Your love for us. We have seen miracle after miracle here. Each one of us have witnessed Your miracles. We have all also had dreams and visions of you, including my children...

My oldest son had a dream on Good Friday. A lamb walked up to him and it laid beside him. The lamb was then followed up by the appearance of three baby foxes. My daughter also had a dream of something supernatural on the day before that. Thank You, Father, that our household is stirred from our sleep by these small blessings. However, all I know is this...I give up my life to You, Father.

My heart is Yours. These are not idle words...I truly mean them. Your Words are a lamp to my feet and a light to my path. There is no greater journey on Earth than the journey orchestrated by Jesus, the Lover of our souls. I would do it all over again. I would have given up nothing other than a life filled with empty darkness and things which do not satisfy. This would be like a thirst that is never quenched.

I would give it all up just for a moment given by Your breath into my dead body. You determine our days here, Father, as soldiers of righteousness in a dark place. Some of us are even pulled from the battle before the fight and brought Home for Your purposes. However, others are trained, armored up and are now waiting for our General, Jesus, to call us into battle. Though I have been just a scribe, I feel as though my pen is a weapon and the paper that I write on is my battlefield.

Oh Father, I do not know if I have truly surrendered my life for Your purposes. I give this to You though as it is not for me to determine what course, battle or field I am to work. These are Your decisions alone. While it makes me uncertain of time, I am then certain of God. While it makes me uncertain of how, I am then certain of Your perfect plan. While it makes me uncertain of where, I am then certain You have a venue.

Sigh...I am tired, Father. Please strengthen me. If I am not to be healed yet, please allow me to live life more fully. I love You! You have given me everything. Please just allow me more time. Seeing myself Transformed ...I have no words. It is like every little girl's dream to be a princess. My gown was elegant. My hair was woven with flowers. I do not want to go on describing how I looked standing there with my Groom, Jesus, as I do not want to seem boastful. Thank You, Father, just thank You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again by the River of Life where Jesus was filling our vessels and signing them. Jesus was reclining and talking with His angels. Sometimes He seemed serious, but, at other times, He was laughing. While I saw more vessels, they had not been filled yet. I sat and watched them from a distance for quite a while. I was in awe at the beauty of this place, at Jesus' majesty and at how strong the angels were, the strongest warriors you have ever seen.

I laughed as I was witnessing the most awesome 'group of men' (really, Jesus and His angels) while they were taking a break after a long task in which they were delighted doing. What could Jesus and the angels be talking about? While Jesus is God and the angels are His army, they clearly were also good friends. As I drew closer, I could hear the angels telling their stories to Jesus of all that they were witnessing on Earth. Some of the things they talked about were serious, but other things were more lighthearted.

I then heard Jesus say to the angels in a loud voice, loud enough for me to hear, "Oh yes, where is Erin? Erin?" They all were laughing and so happy.

Me: "I am here, Lord."

I felt a bit embarrassed as, from their perspective, it may have seemed like I was spying on them from behind one of the boulders.

Jesus: "Well, hello there!"

He smiled and sat up. The angels smiled at me as well, but then went right back to their activities and preparations.

Me: "Oh, you do not have to breakup Your time because I arrived. While I was enjoying observing all of you, I was starting to feel more like a spy."

Jesus: "I knew you were there, Erin. After all, it was I Who had called you here."

Me: "Why did You not call me directly to this place instead of having me looking over all of you from over there?" I pointed to several boulders by the waterfall.

Jesus: "Why do you think?"

Me: I took a deep breath. "I know that there is a great reason for this as You do everything perfectly. Lord, there is nothing beyond You. As for me, I am not sure why."

Jesus: "I did this so that you could observe the fact that I...yes, even I...take breaks! I rest, Erin, and so should you."

Me: "I am so sorry, Lord, for not doing this until recently. Well, to be perfectly honest, I have had no choice but to rest due to my recent bout with the flu. In reality, I brought this upon myself."

Jesus: Laughing. "Oh Erin, there is a reason to rest. It is by My command. Why do you think this is?"

Me: "Our bodies need it?"

Jesus: "Well, yes, but this is only a partial reason. Now, let us look at these vessels over here. These vessels are still waiting to be filled and sealed. They do not fill themselves. Instead, I delight in filling them. My workers here, the angels, delight in their assignments as well. However, there is nothing wrong with taking rest to commune with friends and delight in this. This keeps our work joyful and worthy of praise, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, I understand. I have overworked myself by pushing myself to do chores when my body clearly was telling me I needed a break. I then became sick with the flu as I was then susceptible to illness. I have also been in a great deal of pain. I have cried a lot this week as well. I mostly do this when my family are unable to see me. Oh Lord, I have been discouraged lately. So many days go by and I feel so useless in my current condition."

Jesus: "Well, the enemy gains a foothold when there is no rest. While I have given you strength beyond normal in cases of emergency, you then must rest. You are not God, Erin, and even God rests." He smiled as He said this next part. "Yes, Erin, I am admonishing you right now. I do this because I love you. When your body is denied rest, your mind then thinks things not of Me. Your thoughts then run wild. The same is true in reverse.

If your thoughts run a wild race with imaginations and sinful ventures, so too will your body become weak.”

Me: “Am I doing this right now?”

Jesus: “No, Erin, I said this to illustrate that the reverse can also be true. Obsessive thoughts can lead to mindless activities. Once given over to them, a man is no longer stable. Now breathe, Erin, and do not worry. This is a teaching lesson on rest, not one on paranoia.” He laughed.

Me: Laughing. “I have never heard You use that term before. That was funny!”

Jesus: “Hmm, that is interesting. Well, I am fairly certain that I have used this term in My Word somewhere.” He looked in my eyes and smiled. I felt a download.

Me: “Saul. Of course, Saul. He had that!”

Jesus: Smiling. “Very good, Erin, but there is more. He was given over because of his sin, but also because he did not rest. However, even when he did, even then he was not without trouble. There is much more also. Today is a lesson in rest, not demon possession. This has no place here. However, I am only showing you that exhaustion can lead to trouble when a man is unstable.

“When a man is stable and chosen by God, but then begins to act contrary to My commands, all without rest, then expect that man to be humbled. My commandments are not ‘suggestions’ or I would have named them as such.” I laughed. “Could you imagine the world today if I had given them Ten Suggestions instead of the Ten Commandments?” He laughed. “Very few follow them as they are. Who would then follow the Law? Now, there are many things on your heart.”

He looked over at me and I was caught just staring at Him. I love Him so much that tears started to stream down my cheeks. I dropped to my knees and put my face to the ground as I wept. Jesus had such a beautifully compassionate look on His face as He looked at me. My mouth quivered and my body shook.

Me: “Oh Lord, how I love You. I am so sorry that I have been mad at You lately. I have been discouraged, tired and scared. I am at a loss for words.” He bent down to help bring me over to sit next to Him on a rock.

Jesus: “Erin, you are seldom at a loss for words. This is impossible.” He smiled at me with such compassion. “I know your deeds. In your dream, I placed an open door.” Just then, I saw the door, white like a pearl, with three panels and a massive wreath of 153 silver fish. “This door, Erin, no one can shut. While you have very little strength, you have still kept My Word and have never denied Me...” He smiled. “...even when angry or tired. Do you understand what I am saying here and what I have shown you?”

Me: "No, Lord. Who can know if You do not show them? Who can know if You do not grant them this? It takes the glory of God to conceal a matter and the honor of kings to search it out."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, for I am about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told. I have filled your vessel and sealed it, as well as others." He then pointed to some still empty vessels. "These too will be filled. Now, Erin, what is in these vessels is not just Living Water, but also new wine, the choicest. I have saved My best wine for the last, understand?"

"Though it seems as if I am idle, I am far from being idle, for I will now make My signs and wonders clear. All will then know that I have sent you..." He pointed to the vessels again. "...as well as all of these. The land has been stirred up and my fields have been tilled. The rains have softened the soil." Tears were still streaming down my cheeks. He reached over and wiped them away with His thumb. "Erin, why do you cry?"

Me: "I had a dream, Lord. Also, Your churches are being desecrated. Your saints are being persecuted and slaughtered. Children are dying horrible deaths in record numbers."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, but this is 'as is written'. Even though you have watched in wonder waiting for signs, you are now surprised as you did not realize that many of these signs would have you watching in horror."

Me: "While this is true, Lord, I also fear that all of this will become even worse!"

Jesus: "Well, the 'ball' is rolling now and I am not stopping it. While it is visible, soon it will stop being blamed on one particular individual. Instead, it will then turn into being blamed on Me. See, the enemy knows the course of time also as he was once here and knows what to look for. What you are seeing and experiencing right now is called 'posturing', as if in a game of bluffing. This is where being puffed up, lying and boastful becomes pervasive.

"This too has happened before. It begins small, but then, when two or more are gathered, it quickly gains momentum. During the week prior to My sacrifice, the posturing had begun. I knew the treacherous thoughts of those who desired evil. They were fearful of Me because they enjoyed their power and sin. They knew that, by their lies, I would be crucified. However, even that was not enough and they desired even more punishment.

"What they did not realize, at first, was that the way I came and how I died, as well as how I rose, was an exact fulfillment of prophecy. However, it was not long before they knew it. They knew it! They knew it, but they also had a way that they had expected, a pre-conceived unwritten way in which they had imagined their savior would come. While it was fulfilled in the way they knew matched Scripture, it was still not fulfilled in a way they thought it should have been.

"However, many others truly did believe. Many who did not know anything about Me knew that day that surely I was and am who I say I am. Since it seems like I have been relatively quiet for two thousand years, even though I really haven't been, many do not know Me and many more do not care to. Like the Roman soldiers, I speak to the hearts of those I call.

"The thief on the cross next to Me was found more worthy than those who served in the Temple of God. You, Erin, are not considered worthy by those who claim to serve Me. You are not what is expected. When this happens, there will be great anger. Erin, there will be gnashing of teeth when all of these are signed and filled."

Me: "Lord, when will this be?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, give yourself to Me. Surrender your ambitions to Me. Find joy and rest. Delight in Me and I will give you the desires of your heart."

Me: "I don't understand. I thought I have been doing this. Have I somehow delayed my own healing?"

Jesus: "No, Erin, no! If you were, you would not be here with Me. I am just letting you know to rest and to not worry."

Me: "Lord, what about my dream last night? What did this dream mean? I have a broken heart from it. I only knew a few people in my dream."

Jesus: "Tell Me your dream." I smiled as I knew He already knew it.

Me: "There was so much to this dream..."

Sub-dream 2 "A young girl has two months to live" description begins...

My body was young. I was young. I had befriended a woman at a prayer event. She had a little girl around the age of seven or eight. While my children were also somewhere at this event, they were now grown. The woman was a single mother. She was a larger woman and very kind. While she usually appeared to be a light-skinned Caucasian, her arms and hands would sometimes appear as a dark-skinned woman.

I somehow felt that this woman represented 'both races' or 'all races'. Her daughter was so sweet and very smart. She had a great sense of humor and said funny things. I somehow suddenly knew that she was terminally ill, but I was not certain with what. At the end of the prayer meeting, the woman and her daughter came up to me...

Woman: "Would you like to get together at a park sometime. It would be great to meet somewhere where my daughter could play with your children."

Me: To the woman: "That would be great." Now addressing her daughter: "So, what is your name? What do you like to do?"

Girl: "My name is Savannah and I love singing."

Me: "That's fun. Will you please sing for us?"

Without hesitation, the girl started to sing with an unbelievably supernatural voice. My children could hear her singing and came over to her. They were amazed with her incredible talent and sang along with her.

Woman: "Here is an address. Let's meet there tomorrow."

Me: "Sounds good."

The next day, I went to the address my friend had given me. It was a Children's Hospital. In the waiting room, there were so many children waiting to be seen and admitted. I could hear their stories as they talked with one another. Savannah and her mother came out of the hospital area about twenty minutes later than she had told me.

While they both seemed downcast, they said nothing as to why. Savannah hugged me. I could tell they didn't want to talk about what had happened. I walked with them down the sidewalk and we small talked. Savannah saw my kids up ahead and she ran to them. I turned to my friend...

Me: "Is everything okay with Savannah?"

Woman: She started to break down in tears. "She has two months to live. Two months...no more, but maybe even less."

I reached over and hugged her. I was in shock because her daughter did not look that close to death.

Me: "Well, maybe not. You never know what could happen."

Woman: "Once she dies, I will be all alone in this world. I will have no one. She will surely be in Heaven, but I will be all alone. My bright star, my only child, will be gone."

Sub-dream 2 description over...

"...Lord, I was overwhelmed by how clear this dream was. Why was it about a woman and a child that I have never met? Many of the children in the waiting room were all alone. How is this possible? I was young and thin physically, but my current age mentally. Why was I hesitating, by Your command, to heal her? Why, Lord?"

Jesus: "There are many neglected children throughout the land. Many have no home. Many have been exchanged for money for evil purposes. Many have become ill with incurable diseases. Many have been murdered by those they have trusted. Even though they all reside here with Me now, why would I allow such things?"

Me: "I don't know. You love the little children so much and they are Yours."

Jesus: "Erin, do you believe that I have a greater purpose for this? While the actions of man are senseless, God's actions are never senseless. These children are also My warriors, Erin. I have called them. Now, why? It is because I am preparing my fields for planting, for the rain. You were changed in your dream, yet not called to heal yet or display My awesome deeds until I said to. Erin, you will see difficult things and when I call you to serve, you will serve.

"All of you, these vessels, will serve new wine created from Living Water. However, until all of these are complete, you will only observe. Then, in a final moment, you will be called to heal the broken hearted and to protect those who cannot protect themselves. You will display awesome deeds, but not until I command it. When I do, you will be in unison and you will not hesitate. There has never been such a move of God in history nor will there ever be again, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Lord."

Jesus: "So now, rest, observe, pray and do as I have called you to. I love you, Erin. I know the desires of your heart and these are good."

He reached over and held me. I could feel His breathing. His calmness made me feel calm. He is powerful and simply perfect. I then felt Him laughing.

Jesus: "Erin, are you measuring My breath?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I feel safe here. It is so beautiful and peaceful."

Jesus: "I am alive, Erin. I have risen. I am who I say I am and I will do all I have promised, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Lord."

Jesus: "Now, Erin, rest and rejoice! This is good." He smiled at me.

Communion

Dear Father,

It is just after 6pm Saturday evening here and my heart is breaking! Something in me is restless and unsettled. Time keeps going, minute after minute, hour after hour, day after day, week after week and month after month. The state of the world is changing rapidly even as we are staying still. As one of our children said, 'things are changing, but we seem to be standing still'.

Personally, I have never seen so many closed doors happen for so many before. We normally succeed in all we do, smiles, but, this time, no major shift nor open door is being presented. I see divine delays concerning my medical treatment. Lost files and records, not by my hands, have caused a two-month delay. Then there is a delay with another specialist for similar reasons. I am yet again on a long waiting list.

My pacemaker unit needs to be changed and upgraded, but I am not yet at a critical level. I still have a couple of months before there is any urgency. Meanwhile, another hernia has appeared, now on the front of my torso. Sigh...then I was on another list for my brain tumor. This too, for some reason, I have been removed from. None of this is my fault, yet we now need to resubmit a new referral.

It is so obvious that this is God delaying it because I could see one being delayed, but all of them? Seriously? God just keeps us hanging in there as, by now, we really should have no means left. We come to the end of our resources in June, barring the unexpected, and after this, we will have very little.

This is on top of the worry I have that I have let people down. What if I've heard wrong, Father? Did I write everything as You have instructed? Was all of this for a different year? While it does not seem like it, only You know. Father, only You know! I have been watching for several personal signs from You and all have been fulfilled except for one. However, this one is close to being fulfilled and can happen really quickly. I would share what this is, but I have been told not to (so I won't).

Everyday, we check and watch. My husband is quite a date keeper and investigates Your Word, Your traditions and history concerning patterns and possible outcomes. With me, I am all about the signs, wonders, dreams and miracles. With every sign You send, I say, "Surely we are close! Surely God is great!" Father, we have placed all that we have before You.

We are not lovers of ourselves here, even with teenagers. We have worked on removing our sense of self and selfishness. We have been extremely humbled as a household, collectively. With our family, we share responsibilities and all of us help, but I find myself burning out. I am growing tired. Soon, all these children will be gone and starting lives of their own.

With my sons, the long-term difficulties will be such that, without complete healing, they will always live with us. I pray for their sakes as I want so much for each of them to live full, enriching lives. Here, there are few resources for them. So, Lord, if the plan is to live here 'as is', please make a way for them.

I look around and there is so much that I have been educated for. There are so many ways I could make a living, but, instead, I am getting sicker by the day. Father, on my life's path, did I miss a sign or a turnoff somewhere? I feel as if I have. Don't get me wrong, Father, I am grateful for my life with You. However, are You not yet tired of hearing my sorrows, my complaining, my petitions and my reflections?

If You are, please forgive me and perhaps just heal me since I know You can so easily if it was in Your timing. This is even more saddening for me as spring has been very late here. We had snow flurries just a couple of days ago, even though it then quickly melted. Well, at least the trees are finally starting to bud. My little Chip (the chipmunk) is back as well, awakened from his sleep.

Last night, I was in a deep sleep with an epic dream when the phone rang with a scam phone call. It was at 8:00am. I thought for certain that I would fall asleep again, but tensing muscles and an approaching weather system had other plans for me. Sigh...up for another day. It is hard sometimes as I now see our children beginning to worry. I see real worry in their eyes as we all know that we need something to happen at summer time.

It has been five years since my accident on May 8th, 2014 and still no treatment. Lord, I know that this is because of You, but it is still difficult to comprehend. It is really unfair. Father, this is really unfair. I have been robbed of time with my kids. Please have mercy on me! Please have mercy on all of us...and soon!

I am coming once again in truth. I do not want to minimize all that You have done for us. I do not want You to be angry with me singing the same song of sorrows. Adding to this mood is that there is torrential rain falling outside and our little stream is now not so little and raging so loudly.

Your love never fails and You love us in all things and during every storm. There was a thunderstorm earlier and I was thankful for being safe inside.

My Father loves us! He takes care of us. He knows our anxious thoughts and He never fails to show His enduring love. Thank You, Father! We love You so much and with all of our hearts!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was sitting on the bank of the River of Life. I then watched as, right there in front of me, Jesus took a vessel and filled it with Living Water. He was joyful and not at all consumed with any worry whatsoever. I could tell by His confidence that He has a plan in place and that I was just an observer. I sat quietly as I watched Him continue to fill these vessels with the angels.

Jesus: "Erin, you are quiet today." He smiled at me and continued to work.

Me: "Yes, Lord. I am not enjoying myself right now. I am not good company."

Jesus: "Well, if you are capable of giving yourself this evaluation of your current state, then chances are good that you are the kind of company that I enjoy being with."

Me: Smiling as I shook my head. "Lord, how could You possibly find me good company right now? Honestly, I cannot even stand being around myself these days. I am miserable and have so many worries now."

He reached down and splashed me with some of the water from the River of Life. I laughed as I just love His playful side. Without thinking, I scooped up some water and was about to splash Him. Thankfully, I stopped myself in time as it did not seem right to splash the Son of God. He started laughing in a way that brought me great peace.

Jesus: "Oh Erin, God has created all of this, even this Living Water. Do you think I can't take a splash from the one that I love?"

Me: "Of course, Lord, as You can take anything. It's just that I want to honor You, Lord. Without You, I would be dead a longtime ago. I would no longer have my children to raise." I began to cry and even as I write. "Who am I to splash the Great I Am? Certainly not this little sparrow. Oh Lord, certainly not me!"

Jesus: Laughing so hard. "Oh Erin, you are very serious today. This is a time of great rejoicing. Come into the River with Me. Come!" He took my hand and brought me into the Living Water with Him. "Now, hold this vessel and I will fill it. You can help Me with this entire group." He pointed behind me and there were hundreds, if not thousands, of vessels waiting there. "Are you up for the task? Just know that, if you are..." He smiled. "...you might have to endure some splashing by the King!" He laughed.

Me: Smiling. "Oh Lord, You are so very wise. You knew what I needed before I did. You lifted my head to keep going."

Jesus: "Come on, Erin!" He motioned for me to take a group of small, beautiful vessels and hand them to Him. "These won't fill themselves! Come, Erin, it's time!"

I suddenly had energy and a feeling of, well, renewed life. He brought back my joy and my heart was now glad again.

Me: "Thank You, Lord! I love You!"

He smiled at me. He then held a vase, pointed towards me, placed His hand on His heart and smiled. He then laughed as He playfully splashed me again. I felt such love from Him that I could not help but smile and laugh in return. How could I not? Truly there is no one like Him!

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your undying love. I am thankful that, despite what the world sees as a grim outlook for our household, You instead see something special. There are days in which my pain is so great that my walk is unstable. On other days, my brain does not seem to run at full capacity and my eyesight is blurry. Still, and despite this, my heart's joy is like a child's, full of imagination and possibilities.

However, on other days, I sometimes cry for no personal reason. Instead, I cry for the reason of the decaying state of the world. Things are declining right before my eyes and that is just what is reported. Much of this is hidden. When we look over the local news even now...scary! We used to be such a great nation. We did not tolerate and would not shelter criminals like MS-13. We are allowing them to get a foothold in our nation. In a dream a few years ago, You showed gangs taking over major cities.

At the time, I thought this would be impossible. It seemed farfetched and something not for my lifetime. Well, like so many things, I did not see this until it began to unfold right before our eyes. I am sorry, Father, for holding hope that this gang dilemma would not come to pass, but, and as always, You are right. Cities are even protecting these criminals as we speak. Quite simply, they no longer care about their citizens. However, it is not just gang activities...all crime is going up...and rapidly.

As for my husband, he has possible job opportunities. However, almost all of them are in cities where we do not desire to relocate. So many cities I loved as a child, like San Francisco, are becoming less and less safe. It was so much safer when I was younger that I was even able to ride BART (rail transit) to San Francisco's China Town with three of my 'just as young' friends. There was no real sense of evil yet and all four sets of parents said yes. So, with our tickets costing just 55 cents each one way, off we went.

Don't get me wrong, there were still areas that one dared not wander into. However, these mostly seemed to happen in certain areas only and we learned to stay away from the 'bad areas'. As for crimes outside of these areas, it was very rarely anything more than a house break in or petty theft. There were also the hidden crimes that happened near school yards, but this was in an era where such things were not covered by the news unless a dead body was involved.

We happened to live in one of those 'bad areas' where a lot of the crimes happened. My mom finally had enough and moved us. We went to a place where the crimes occurring were vastly reduced. She was right to be worried and I am so glad she took the brave step of getting us out of there. As for our current household situation, we are in a safe place. This means that our kids are not really that street wise. They have not really been victims of crimes other than something minor, like a stolen lunch bag.

The other trend I am noticing is that of empty churches. These abandoned churches, now just empty buildings, dot the landscape here. The pews used to be filled with those praising you, but now they sit hauntingly empty. The generation before me that filled these pews are now going Home to You. Sadly, the Word of God on their lips leave with them. Now there is a systematic movement to shut down the voices of those who stand for righteousness and truth, Your truth, the Gospel!

The world is now in a free fall. The world is falling quickly. Where are You, Father? Please do something soon. Vindicate those who have died in the pews. Show Your might. Father, please silence the mockers. Oh Lord, please send miracles! Lord, so many of us need Your miracles and not for later, but now!

As just one example of many of us needing a miracle, I received word this week from my Neuro-ophthalmologist. In summary, I now have three options for treatment. Two of these options involve a craniotomy of the left side of my face and head. This includes my cheek bone, forehead, brows and eye area. The third option is to do nothing. Well, I am opting for the third option, but also including plenty of prayer. The first two options simply do not work for me, but the third option, waiting and praying, brings me peace.

Thank You, Father, for the 'Do Nothing Option'! This option is the only one that relies on complete 100% faith in You alone. While I was saddened by the news I had received from this doctor, my daughter became excited. I was confused at first, but then she reminded me that I would receive two 'bad medical reports'. Well, this is definitely the second one. I had forgotten about this prophecy and I started to cry about it. I cried, yet felt at peace with my decision.

Even the doctor agreed with my decision to 'do nothing'. While my one eye is quite painful at times, I can deal with this pain. My eye is rubbing against the tumor when I look in certain directions. On my last visit, the doctor expected there to be no change. Instead, when measured and examined, there were indeed changes that he had not expected to see. It is interesting to see a doctor then go from being very casual and upbeat to suddenly being very serious and silent. Even his posture changed.

Anyway, I have really been struggling with a type of depression this week. I melted down and cried harder than I have in many years. I must have needed it. No one could console me. It was just a needed block of tears. However, on the very next day, I decided to choose joy for the entire day. I decided to smile and engage no matter how much pain I was in. While in this upbeat mood, I decided to go into one of the thrift stores that is similar to Value Village. When I walked in, the greeter pointed to an area.

Greeter: "We have teacups on display for sale for Mother's Day. These won't last long as they are only $5 each. I cannot stand them and anything left unsold will probably be then thrown out."

As his comments seemed so bitter and harsh, I had no reason not to believe that he would be throwing these things out at the end of this. What an attitude! I looked into the two rooms he had pointed to and I saw a sea of teacups and saucers. They were so beautiful that they actually looked like flowers. There had to be several hundred sets of these teacups, almost all different from each other.

Me: "Thank you, but I don't really collect teacups."

Greeter: "Well, try thinking of this as more like a gift to us as we don't want to wrap these back up for storage again."

Me: "Where are these teacups from?"

Greeter: "One of the ladies clubs just dropped them off. They had their final 'Transformation Tea' on Tuesday (April 30th, 2019) and no longer had any use for them."

I knew what club he was talking about as I saw a poster advertising people to come and attend the final 'Transformation Tea'. I had snickered as I knew God's hands were behind something as unusually named as this. I decided to gather a few sets of tea cups. I based my selections on one criterion; that I liked how it looked. I did not turn the tea cups over to see the makers as I just don't have any real knowledge in this area.

I continued to look around when I saw two familiar cars pull up. As they pulled up, I recognized them to be some pickers that frequent the area. I have since come to the conclusion that this was not just a hobby, but their actual fulltime jobs. One of the men that came into the store is a gentleman by the name of Gary. He recognized me as we had run into each other before and he waved hello to me. I waved back.

While I had already picked all of the teacups that I had wanted, a beautiful little blue teacup near the cash register caught my eye. It was in an unusual place away from all of the other teacups. When I lifted up the teacup and saucer to look at them, I received a mild 'rebuke' from the greeter.

Greeter: "I am sorry, but this has been put aside for someone else."

Me: "Oh, is this for Gary?"

Greeter: "Yes. Gary phoned ahead and asked us to set this one aside for him."

I laughed at myself as I now wanted this one more than the rest. Is it not just like our sinful nature to suddenly 'envy' that which we cannot have? Clearly the enemy was afoot and I prayed to the Lord to forgive me for my 'greedy attitude'. When I looked back at the two rooms of teacups, it was now as if a swarm of flies had descended on it. I placed my basket on the counter, but was still in shock over the 'feeding frenzy'.

Me: Smiling. "Well, I am glad that I got here early."

Greeter: "True, but these are 'just teacups'!"

He signaled to one of the volunteers to come and ring me up. After this volunteer, an elderly woman, had rung me up, she carefully wrapped each teacup piece in paper. She had such a peaceful look on her face that reminded me of 'the old days'.

Volunteer: "I am so glad to see these go to a good home. What will you do with them?"

Me: Smiling. "Well, I guess I will have some tea." We both laughed. "These are so beautiful. I even believe that some of these are hand painted. However, I am not entirely sure as I don't have my reading glasses on to check the bottoms."

Volunteer: "Did you know that many of these teacups are from two generations before me? I think any of them would be so glad that these are in your hands. You rescued them." She smiled. "You should take all of them. There are hundreds more. The 'final tea' is now over and their children have no use for them."

Hmm, this seemed prophetic. I held back tears at how profound all of this was. The Lord was using teacups as a lesson for all of us.

Me: "Do not worry, I will take care of these. They are special. However, I really cannot buy any more of these right now." The greeter must have overheard as he jumped in.

Greeter: "Don't come back later than Monday though as I will be..."

Me: Interrupting him. "You will be meeting the remainders with a baseball bat, right?"

Greeter: Laughing. "Okay, I must admit that I am all talk. However, what is true is that I really hate those things." He pointed at the teacups. "I want them all sold!"

Volunteer: "Oh hush now. Let her be on her way. These are going to a good home. The ladies would be so happy. However, so many of them have already gone Home."

I thanked them and took my box of teacups. More people were coming in the door and the two rooms with the teacups were now jampacked with people. When I got to my car, I prayed to the Lord and thanked Him for the 'Transformation Tea Ladies'. I felt sad though as I had a strange feeling that the final tea on Tuesday had been sparsely attended. Perhaps there was no one there other than the person packing up the tea cups into boxes for donation.

I then went to another second hand thrift store. When I arrived there, one of the clerks recognized me and was excited to see me. He pointed to an item off to the side that had not been put out yet. It was an Adirondack chair with matching stool and side table. These were usually so expensive, yet were on sale for only $38 for all of them. Brand new, these are usually worth a couple of hundred dollars, so I was thrilled. This would have normally been something I waited on, but this low a price was just unheard of.

However, my day got even better. When I got home, I decided to look up the value of the various teacups I had just purchased. Well, it turns out that the teacups I had chosen 'just happened' to be worth several hundreds of dollars. I was in shock. My $5 each teacup purchases were actually worth many times more than what I had paid. I thanked the Lord for His generosity as I just knew that these teacups, then the Adirondack set, were such wonderful gifts from Him.

However, and in an unusual twist, the enemy tried to make me feel guilty for getting such an incredible deal on the teacups once I got home. I was wondering if I had done something wrong here and went and told my husband how I was feeling.

Husband: "Why feel guilty, Erin? It is a gift specifically for you from Jesus. Is it better with you or one of the uncaring 'pickers'?"

Me: "I am not sure."

Husband: "Well, I am. They are much better with you! If I were the original owner of the cup, I would choose someone who received joy from it, not just joy from the thrill of reselling it again. I would choose a person who would tell the story of the 'Transformation Ladies Tea Club'. By you purchasing it, these will still have life and a good story to tell 'over tea'!"

I felt in my heart that he was right. Oh Father, thank You for Your wonderful lesson in joy. You not only gave me joy, but also a great story. You rewarded me with something I didn't even know I wanted. You gave me something I didn't expect, all with a great story to share! Thank You, Father. My dream last night was very unusual...

Sub-dream 1 "The Homeless Take Over" description begins...

An old client invited me to his home in a new development. When I arrived, I recognized many of the items I helped them purchase twenty years ago.

Client: "Hi Erin, I am glad you could make it. Would you like to go golfing?"

I readily agreed as I was in great health again and the weather was beautiful. I was Transformed, but operating in 'low beam' mode. As I was preparing my clubs and outfit, I heard a knock on my door.

Client: "I guess we will need to cancel for today. The course is having more trouble on the 17th hole. This is also 'Lot 17' of the development and is near the brook."

Me: "I don't understand."

Client: "Come, I will drive you there."

As we drove, I could see a massive amount of drug needles, human waste and other trash. It looked even worse than some third world countries I have seen in various fundraising commercials. I felt a bit sick to my stomach.

Me: "What is this?"

Client: "Well, they have decided to claim this land and none of us are allowed to stand up to them. Some of our children are even in the camp."

Me: "I am so sorry to hear this. Have you called the police? This doesn't even make sense. This golf course is private land. It is certainly not theirs to possess!"

Client: "I know this makes no sense, but, at this point, we are just thankful that they haven't claimed our property yet and come into our home."

Me: "How is this even possible?"

Client: "Oh, it's possible alright. We cannot use force to remove them. They can live wherever they want to now."

I then watched as a bunch of men from the camp started to run toward us. They were clearly coming straight for us, so we quickly turned the car around and drove away.

Dear Father,

Thank You for a beautiful day here, a calm day before the storm! It has been awhile since You called me up. It seems like I have not been feeling very well lately. I know You have heard this before, but this time it is different. I am trying hard to keep a joyful heart inside me, but I cannot hide from You, Father. You know me. My heart breaks for the world, the lost children who are hurting and the many with dreams unfulfilled.

Perhaps the idea for this life is to keep dreams small and attainable so we are always reaching them. However, Father, by Your very definition, by history and the miracles of Jesus and those who walked with Him, why should our dreams be small and the impossible never being possible? What a hopeless life without dreams! When I was a child, my dreams were my safe place. In my imagination, dreams were attainable and good. In these possibilities, I was not helpless and without hope. However, after being bullied at school, I would imagine being a superhero and coming back so no one could hurt me. I imagined a beautiful little cottage in the country with a stream, flowers and a white picket fence. While this was unimaginable to me as our home was small, dark and scary and a place of fighting, struggles, worry and trouble, I still dreamed. While our home was unsafe, sparse and depressing, I still dreamed. This is why we loved playing for hours outside and away from our home. When we later moved to a new and safer city, my mom was able to create a wonderful home for us. This seemed to be when our family life truly began. Unfortunately, this didn't happen until I was 15 years old and the experience was mostly lost to me while being a typical 'free willed teenager'.

I kind of chuckle when I think of my life as a child. My brother and I spent a lot of time outside of the home playing. I was, by some definitions, a type of 'street kid' (though not truly, as I had a home). I spent the majority of my time playing in the street or under the BART rail system tracks. Thankfully, playing sports back then involved little money and basically what you were wearing. All you had to do was sign up and show up. I was always signing up. With school, I was always there, even when I was sick. There was always something happening and I never wanted to miss one moment. In my dreams, I was going to be the greatest athlete in the world. I was going to be the most amazing reader of books. I had plans to read them all...at the library, that is. The world outside our home was my tablet, a place where I would sometimes even forget to eat.

I was all over the place and was often reckless. I can only imagine all of the times my guardian angels came to my rescue! Father, thank You for sending them to mind my careless ways. As a child, I looked forward to the possibilities. As an adult, I look back and reflect on what can never be again. I have memories of looking forward. As a Christian, I still imagine you, Father, doing something amazing, something so exciting.

I imagine being a beautiful Princess, a Bride in the Gardens of My Father. I imagine and dream of being young and alive again, hopeful of all of the possibilities. I imagine my own children having a real childhood with the same excitement I had as a child. I imagine my Prince, my Lord and Savior, coming to me on a horse, white like lightning with wings outstretched, a massive sword on His side and a beautiful crown of gold.

This is what I dream of now. I usually now cry during worship. I cannot help myself. I grew up never crying, but now I am always one praise song away or even one thought of You away from a salty downpour. Sometimes they are tears of joy, sometimes of pain, sometimes of grief for another and sometimes they are tears of awe of You.

Even certain secular songs are bringing me to tears lately as they seem written with You in mind. I am not talking about obvious ones like Crowder's 'Crushing Snakes', Jeremy Benjamin's 'Something broke today' or a classic like 'The Revelation Song'. This day, it was Chris Jones' 'Young Again', Rod Stewart's 'Forever Young' and I cannot seem to forget the haunting lyrics of Lionel Richie's 'Just for You'.

Father, it breaks my heart. How can I dream when I have seen what I have seen? How can I ever go back? My children, their childhood, the trauma, blocks their happiest of memories. All I have is photographs for evidence. However, these can disappear, be lost or damaged, and then all is erased. So, Father, I am asking for a miracle for them. I have really had a full life, but my children have mostly been without adventure.

While most of my superhero imaginations have not come true for me, my children still believe. Father, they fully believe in our greatest Superhero...You! So then, for Mother's Day, I ask for Your promises to begin to manifest in our children's lives. I have delivered three wonderful children and You, Father, have delivered all of us through Jesus. Could You see it in Your heart to now deliver Your promises today? Please?

Spring has finally arrived here and the trees are blossoming. Flocks of migratory birds are in the air. Our lawn is almost in need of a mow. The winter was long. Spring is late and short. Summer comes with a vengeance and the beauty of fall is fleeting. Then comes winter once again. When, Lord? When will You fulfill My dreams? I know You love me and even more than I can imagine, but I really feel that now is the time!

You have made me with the heart of a child again, but my body is that of an older woman. I long to be in Your presence with the breath of Heaven. I long to drink from the beautiful River of Life. However, I know that we must work for You here on Earth before we get there. Father, we are ready for the first step. Oh Lord, my vessel is aching to be strengthened for the next step. However, it is not just me, but so many others, here on the Nest and elsewhere...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was on the overlook in God's Garden and could see the beautiful River of Life past the meadows and flower fields. The abundance of animals and birds living there, all without fear of a predator, is too amazing to describe properly. It is the most peaceful thing you could ever imagine. I could see baby animals with their mothers. Heaven is truly a place of new birth and new possibilities.

A thought then popped into my head, 'Hmm, if nothing dies here, then how big must Heaven truly be?' While the City of God, the New Jerusalem, has a measure, Heaven seems immeasurable, at least from my tiny perspective. As I looked over the horizon and admired the size of Heaven, I saw a massive eagle flying in the sky towards me. I could see it soar. It was starting to circle down towards me.

The eagle was breathtaking and each wing seemed to be 14 feet in length. It then flew past me and out of sight. I sighed and so wished that I had my camera handy. As I continued to search for it across God's beautiful valley, I heard the ruffling of feathers behind me. I turned to look and was startled to see this massive eagle now landed on the ground right behind me.

His feathers shimmered of bronze. His white feathers on his head were like a beautiful iridescent pearl. His beak and talons were of shimmering gold. I then saw something I did not expect...his eyes were a stunning blueish black. I have never seen a bald eagle with eyes other than yellow and black. His blue eyes shimmered like jewels. The eagle turned from me as if to fly off.

However, the eagle instead stretched out his wings and motioned me with sound and a gentle flap of his wings to climb aboard. I didn't have to be asked twice! I knew it was time to mount up on the wings of this eagle (Isaiah 40:31). I giggled when I noticed how very small I was compared to this massive eagle. Once I was on, and in a heartbeat, he turned and soared off the overlook and over the valley.

The eagle flew westerly and then circled to the south. I was now looking over the river near the rocky outcropping and waterfall. I could then see Jesus there. He and the angels were still filling vessels with water from the River of Life. I found it curious that it was taking so long to fill these vessels and apply His signature. After all, could He not just do this with a simple wave of His hand like He said He could?

I became excited when I noticed that the eagle was circling lower to drop me off with Jesus and the other angel 'workers'. We came up to a clearing and landed. I quickly jumped off the eagles back. Before running to Jesus, I thought I would give the eagle a hug of thanks. I wrapped my arms around his head and kissed him. When I looked into his eyes, he seemed happy, even though he still had that serious look all eagles do.

As I thanked him for the fun flight, he stretched out his wings and went up into the air. He circled the area a couple of times, but he was soon out of sight. I quickly turned in the direction of Jesus to see what was happening. I looked down towards the bank of the River and there were still so many vessels to be filled and signed. Confession time! I was very disappointed as I really had wanted Him to be finished already.

Jesus smiled at me and waved for me to come over. I didn't have to be asked twice. I ran over to Him immediately. He signed a vessel, filled it and then handed it off to an angel. The angel then took the vessel and flew off as fast as the eagle just did.

Jesus: "Erin, where have you been?"

Me: "You know, Lord...not exactly 'to and fro' though."

He reached over and took my hand. He then brought me to Him to hug Him. He was so happy and upbeat that I could not help but smile.

Jesus: "I missed you. I am glad you are here."

Me: "I am thankful, Lord. I am thankful to be here. Thank You!"

Jesus: "It was a beautiful sight to see you soaring on the eagle."

Me: "Yes, it was wonderful. I only wish it was on Earth as it is here in Heaven with You. Nothing I write or say of what I see around me can adequately capture the wonders of You, Lord, or this beautiful place You prepared for us here." I began to cry.

Jesus: "What is wrong, Erin? Did you not enjoy the beautiful view of spring here? It is fall season on the southern part of the Garden. Perhaps you would prefer that?"

Me: "Oh wow, that's cool. I forgot that this Garden is in the four seasons at all times. Oh Lord, it is just that...well...I am just discouraged! I want so much to have all You have shown me come to pass. I want to live to see it. There are some days now that I even welcome death so that I can be here. However, I mostly want to begin our fight on Earth in our Transformed state. I want to live to see the miracles, but..."

Jesus: "Ah, I see...you are once again discouraged by time. Have I not even allowed the scuttling of time by your clocks so that you would stop focusing on that which you do not have control over?" He smiled and laughed.

Me: "Lord, this has been Your Will the whole time?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Tell Me about all of your clock troubles."

Me: "Well, I have five little clocks in my office. One is battery operated and is always behind about an hour. One is running too fast and moves ahead about five minutes each day. I have this 'eight-day clock' that is two hours and 20 minutes fast. The little hand painted porcelain clock keeps accurate time, but the chime is off. When twelve noon strikes, it only rings out five chimes instead of twelve. It is way off. I then have two that are overwound and look good, but do not move. One is frozen at 3:00. The other is buried with things in front of it."

Jesus: "Yes, but one day soon, all of those clocks will give the correct time. However, you are forgetting one of your clocks. What about the massive clock over your head that has been there for four years?"

Me: "Oh yes, I forgot about that one. I probably left this one out by accident as I now view it as only a wall decoration. One of the screws came loose and it has never been the same again."

Jesus: "Well then, Erin, don't get hung up on time or on what you perceive as a lack of it. I have not given you the limitations you have. However, you can only gain accuracy by what My Word says the days will be like. You are unable to guess all of this. Why?"

Me: "I don't know."

Jesus: "Well, I do. It is because only My Father knows the day or the hour. You can only conclude that the final hour is upon the Earth by the signs."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but I am not looking for 'that time'. I already know that this is a time of mystery. Right now, I am looking instead for the time of our Transformation, the time of the great harvesting of souls. This will be a time like no other in history, a time of Your miracles manifested, a time of Your arrows being pulled out of Your quiver. This will be 'The Great Day of Change', Your filling of these vessels. Will we not be like the mighty men of valor of old? Will we not be displaying awesome deeds?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Oh, you meant 'that day'."

Me: Smiling as I knew that He knew what I meant. "Yes, Lord, 'that day', that 'Great and Terrible Day' of Yours."

Jesus: "If I were to disclose the date of this to you, then Your enemy would also know. Erin, you must trust in how I am doing all of this, okay? In the meantime, have you not been sustained and cared for?"

Me: "Yes."

Jesus: "Have you been hungry or lacked clothing?"

Me: "No, Lord."

Jesus: "Have your flat tires been repaired?"

Me: "Yes, Lord" (We have had two flats in the last 12 months.)

Jesus: "Well then, Erin, surely you can let Me finish My good work here. Hmm, perhaps you would rather have Me skip out on the rest of these?" He pointed at the yet to be filled vessels as He smiled at me.

Me: Laughing. "Oh goodness no! Please, no! Please finish! I am sorry, Lord, so sorry! I am just impatient because of the pain I am in while waiting for Your timing."

Jesus: "Erin, this wait has been even longer for Me. Many of My saints have gone to the Courts of God, at His Altar, and cried out. I have just begun to unfold many mysteries in this final hour, things which have been hidden for a very, very long time. The evidence is mounting and each day brings another answer to prophecy. Please understand that you have been given some revelation, but not all of it.

"I have purposely only given enough to peak your desire to look and watch for it. I did this so that, when all things occur that I have told you in advance would come to pass and your King is glorified, you will then understand why I have done it in the way that I have. Erin, this is the perfect plan of God, a plan to capture the hearts of those that I have called, those who love Me.

"Though you love Me, Erin, remember that I loved you first. One day soon, you will be as you were in your youth, but much better. You will display awesome deeds. You will scale a wall, but even more than this and at the proper time. When all of this comes to pass, you will finally say, 'It was perfect for all those called by God.' These visions and dreams are a gift from Me. These dreams have been hidden in plain sight for those I am readying for My purposes."

Me: "Thank You for these dreams, Lord!"

Jesus: "Erin, I delight in your love for others and for your wonders like the heart of a child. This is a treasure to Me. Even the angels ask about you and inquire of the angels I have assigned to you and your household." He smiled and nudged me. "We all run together here and are close knit." The angels working around Jesus nodded in agreement and waved at me. "When you feel scared and wonder if you have been passed over, I call you to Me...

- First, by signs in your daily walk
- Then by wonders
- Then I send more and more
- I then send gifts of love
- Then more signs
- Then, finally, you are here
- Erin, by using these, I call you here."

He then downloaded a plethora of different signs He had sent to me. There were so many just in the last few weeks. In reality, there were almost too many to count. The signs that were provided came in such unique ways:

- By others, particularly those on the Nest
- By nature and by environment
- By songs, both secular and Christian
- By confirmation in my Spirit to all of these

Jesus: "I pursue you, Erin, and you pursue Me. This is a healthy relationship. Now, I know you become hurt when I don't do things according to your timelines. However, remember that I hurt when you don't run these timelines through the One Who created them. Perhaps it is not all about 'your time'." He laughed. "Perhaps this is why I confused your clocks...so you would consult Me."

Me: "Okay, okay..." I was laughing so hard. "Seriously though, You don't really become hurt, do You?"

He looked at me and then over at the angels.

Jesus: "Okay, all of you have known Me for a very long time. Have I been hurt? Have you seen it?"

He was smiling as the angels looked at each other and smiled. They then looked at Jesus and each answered in various voice tones, "Yes, Lord, of course". They were all smiling and chuckling. They all knew what He was referring to. He then pointed towards me and then to all of the vessels.

Jesus: "I took some stripes for all of you here, so, yes, Erin." He then showed me His hands and the scars. "How do you think it feels when those who claim to love Me don't even want to know Me? How does it feel when those who claim to love Me don't come to Me often? How does it feel when they finally come to Me on their knees due to some tragedy, but then do not come back to Me again even though I granted their request? How about those who come to Me faithfully, yet are cruel to those around them?"

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. I am guilty of expecting so much out of You. I never want to take you for granted. I am so sorry for doing this, Lord!"

Jesus: Pointing at the vessels still to be filled. "I am talking about why I have all of these here." He then pointed at me and hugged me. "I am talking about why I have you here. I have called many of you and now ask that you press into Me. Call on Me and I will answer you. You will hear from Me. You are My love letters to the nations. I have not forsaken you, but I have hidden you as an Arrow in My Quiver. All of these vessels are My Arrows and are soon to be released. The best wine is in these. Now rejoice, Erin, rejoice! I have heard your cries. I am here with you. I love you!"

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. I know I have hurt You. I love You. I am so sorry!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Do not worry, Erin, as I accept your apology and have already forgiven you." Laughing. "Despite having to forgive you many times before, do I not still have you up here in Heaven with Me? Do not worry as I do not even remember these. Look, Erin, you are now wearing a beautiful gown and are with no blemish in the presence of the King. Rejoice, Erin, as the King is enthralled by your beauty."

He then reached over and plucked a nearby flower. It was the most beautiful 'heart of Gold' rose that I have ever seen. He smiled as He handed it to me.

Me: Crying. "I love it, Lord! I love You!" He hugged me.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for a wonderful last three days with my family! We had a fun weekend. I know it makes You happy when we find joy, so we are working on this despite our looming circumstances. Running a 'tight ship' is draining. It seems that there are three times as many 'sorry, this isn't possible right now' to 'sure, we can do that'. Still, we thank You, Father, for You have sustained us and not abandoned us.

I worry less about the faith of my husband and me versus that of our children's faith since we are more seasoned to the times of struggles than they are. For example, I grew up hearing about money troubles on a daily basis. Everything was difficult back then. For us, a 'splurge' was just having meat during our meal. Now it seems as if even fruits and vegetables have become expensive enough to also be a 'splurge'.

In response, I am hoping to start a small garden soon. There was a frost a couple of days ago here, so I am praying I can begin in the next couple of weeks. Sigh...another summer looms and even more uncertainty. I finally received a phone call from a large hospital in Seattle. If nothing changes soon, I will be seen at the end of July by two different specialists. There had been a mistake in my processing, so I lost several months before I was placed on the appointment list.

Of course, this too was yet another divine delay. After all, it has now been over five years since my accident and no surgeries, not one, even though I need several and have done nothing 'on my own' to avoid them. I am sure that there are so many people out there just like me that are waiting without any real alternatives. While I know this divine delay has been a part of Your amazing plan, it has still been difficult for me.

In the meantime, and for the very first time, I have been able to be a mom and wife full time. Oh yes...and a child of God in thankfulness. This injury gave me time to do things I never had the chance to do before, but had always wanted to. It has not been easy though. My health has deteriorated rapidly, especially in the last year, and new problems have risen. It seems the world around me progresses while I seem to digress.

Thank You, Father, as my saving grace has been Your love. You care for me daily and show me Your love in infinite different ways. I have had time to pause and think about all that You have done around me. You have sent animals to keep me smiling. You have sent new birds to our feeders. You have sent eagles in the sky above our home. You have sent strangers who smile and hold open a door. You have sent beautiful sunrises full of colors. You have even sent rainbow coronas around the rising sun.

At the setting of the sun at the end of the day, You then bring a perfect painting in the sky. At nighttime, we can hear loons outside calling for its mate. After a few minutes, we hear a distant answer. After this, the two somehow then find each other. However, and most of all, You have also sent friends, many here on the Nest, to write notes with encouraging words. What a mysteriously wonderful Father You are, Lord!

Our household is beginning various fasts starting on Wednesday, May 22nd, 2019. We will continue these fasts for forty days as our resources will soon be on 'life support' beginning just before the end of June 2019. As such, we are believing and relying on You for a miracle. We are looking for 'The Open Door'! We are looking for an uplifting miracle after experiencing around fourteen months of extreme difficulty and uncertainty.

That being said, this has also been a time of great miracles. We have watched You work miracles, Father. Still, we ask that You continue to protect us and hold us close. In turn, I have watched the spiritual growth of our household rise. My children have become more mature in You, Father. None of us are perfect, but they are now a walking example of You in so many subtle ways. What a gift!

Every time I reflect on all of this, I just become overwhelmed with gratitude. Thank You, Lord...just thank You with all of my heart. I continue to see Your signs and wonders as You call out to all of us. You sometimes do this in such subtle ways, but not to those that are watching. Take the recent Preakness horserace as just one example:

- This was the 144th running of the Preakness
- The winner was a three-year-old horse (born April 17th, 2016) named 'War of Will'
- His father (or sire) is named 'War Front'
- His mother (or dam) is named 'Visions of Clarity'
- An extremely rare event also occurred during this running – a horse finished the entire race without a jockey (he fell off at the opening gate)!

Lord, You are funny as this seems to be You speaking to the world in a subtle way, but in plain sight to those of us who are watching for You. I am fascinated by horses and love them. Lord, it is obvious by how You made them that You love horses too. While I cannot ride horses in my current condition, I once loved doing this. I just know that You will allow me to ride a horse again, perhaps even here on Earth. Last night, I had several dreams. One in particular stood out to me.

Sub-dream 1 "My Daughter finds a baby" description begins...

My daughters and I went to a distant city. While I did not completely recognize the location of the area we were in, I believed the city to be San Francisco. As I looked around, it appeared that half of the city was now in ruins. This seemed to be caused by fires resulting from some huge explosions at some sort of an event. Those who were misplaced as a result of this destruction seemed to have set up tent cities.

These tent cities were set up in the Golden Gate Park, the Lincoln Park and the Presidio. I found this strange as most of the park facilities had also been destroyed. As I looked out from this devastated area, I saw that several massive iconic cathedrals were either burning or were still smoking. I walked a while to one of these burnt out cathedrals before going over to a man standing next to one.

Me: "Could you please tell me what has happened here?"

Man: Looking at me like I was crazy. "Seriously, Lady? Look around you!"

I looked over to where he was pointing and I saw charred human bodies in a park area. It seemed as if most of them had their clothes completely burned off. I had the sense that whatever had occurred here was very dark. I went over to a woman that was crying over one of the dead bodies.

Me: "Could you please tell me what happened here?"

Woman: Barely able to speak. "They burned the churches and stripped them naked. No one would help them because they wouldn't help us."

While I still did not fully understand all that happened, I suddenly realized, thanks to the Holy Spirit, that a devastating event first occurred and then churches were destroyed and people killed in retaliation for them being perceived as not doing enough after this devastating event occurred. As I was shaking my head at all of the destruction, I heard the sound of footsteps. I looked over and my older daughter was there holding a baby.

Me: "Whose baby is this?"

Daughter: "Someone left it here to die. However, God has called me to care for it. He told me where we are to go next."

We soon arrived at a home far away from these devastated areas. The house seemed to be a combination of three homes that I have previously lived in. It appeared that we were somehow now somewhere in Oregon, but I was not sure. Soon after arriving, we went out to get supplies for the baby, including bedding, diapers and other items. We then brought them to the home and waited for the rest of our family to arrive.

At one point, I had walked to the other end of the home. It was open to the elements. In this area, there were many tiny animals that had come for shelter. In addition to caring for the baby, we decided to care for these animals as well. We soon realized that, even though predators were still lurking and waiting for our 'guests' outside, they were unable to enter this part of the house.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, this is the second time I have seen (possibly, if not likely) San Francisco in ruins in my dreams. I do not understand what this means.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again on God's overlook gazing across the breathtaking Valley of God. The contrast of my 'smallness' to the huge God-sized abundance of spring here was obvious. I looked around and saw massive blossoming flowers and vines, perfect landscaping and other natural growth, all of which were perfectly in order. There were no weeds here to choke out the precious life of tender stalks and buds.

There were beautiful birds, butterflies and incredible combinations of these. This combination is hard to describe other than to note they were stunning, hardy and with beautiful songs. I could hear the sounds of water pouring from a spring nearby. I heard chirping and singing birds taking a bath. It was as if they had no fear of anything here...and they didn't. They were happy and confident.

As I looked over and studied these curious creatures, I felt a nudge on my arm. I looked behind me and there before me was the massive eagle again. I reached over and hugged him. He spread his wings and motioned for me to climb on his back. I did and we soon took off over the valley. I had no fear, none at all. When you are in Heaven, you have no fear at all, only a healthy 'fear' and respect that one should always have for God and His Son. The eagle circled and soared over the valley pastures.

I looked down and saw Jesus and the angels busy again at the river. Jesus looked up at me and waved. I was so excited to see Him again. The eagle soon landed on a massive rock. After giving the eagle a hug, he flew away. There were steps leading down from the large rock we had landed on. As I circled down the steps, I could see that there were still vessels sitting there waiting to be filled. I was disappointed. Jesus stood at the base of the rock smiling at me. I leapt into His arms and hugged Him.

Jesus: Laughing. "I am glad you came!"

Me: "I am glad You called!"

Jesus: "I see you have been busy."

Me: "No, Lord. As You know, I could be much busier."

Jesus: "You are disappointed. I could see your thoughts. Remember, I know you."

Me: "Forgive me, Lord, as You know what is best for all of us and I don't want to..." I began to cry. I sat at the base of the rock and began to weep. "The world is becoming worse, Lord, and so much so quickly. I was just discouraged. I had hoped for the vessels to be completed. Please forgive me."

Jesus: "I am pleased you are keeping up your hope. While this will still take a little longer, just know that we are more than half of the time to completion. These are all done with special care, Erin. Not only have I created these vessels, but I have filled them each with different wine and then My Seal. An angel cannot do that which God, My Father, has commanded Me to do.

"With each one, great care is taken. This has been foretold in My Word and planned since the beginning of time. This cannot be rushed. We will be finished on 'the perfect day'. I know you are discouraged. If I stopped, then these..." He pointed to the vessels lining the bank of the River of Life. "...would no longer be part of what God has planned since the beginning."

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. Please forgive me."

Jesus: Smiling. "You are forgiven. Now, I know you are worried and uncertain of the future. However, do not be. I have you. Do you trust Me with your life?"

Me: "Of course, Lord, of course. It's just that...well...I am scared. I don't want you to be angry about my worrying ways, even though I am anxious. What if I misunderstood You? What if I wrote down something wrong? What if..."

Jesus: "Hmm...well, Erin, then I have you right where I have called you to be. I did not call you in perfection. I called you in complete imperfection. I could then use you to write as you surrendered yourself to Me for My purposes. I chose you. You did not choose Me. I knew what I was doing. "I am not waiting until you arrive here only to completely destroy you in anger. I am not volatile. I do not move up and down like the waves in the ocean. Listen, when have you ever been scared of Me when you have been here with Me?"

Me: "Not once, Lord! Of course not! Although I am pretty sure that You have been irritated with me at times."

Jesus: "No, Erin, I have not. You have misspoken of Me."

Me: Crying. "Perhaps it is just that I am now even irritating myself. Oh Lord, perhaps it is just that I have grown tired of my position. I tire of my inability to be in full faith all of the time."

Jesus: "You are a vessel of God...My vessel. I will not break you. I took care in creating you. I made you to stand. You were made in My image. You are wonderfully made. You have given your life over for My purposes.

Therefore, trust Me with you. Trust Me with what I have given to you and whom I have sent to be with you.

"I love you, Erin. I have made you perfect in My eyes. My love is unconditional. There is a reason you have endured all that you have. There is a reason I have sent those into your life to help. See, all of these vessels are special. Each one is handcrafted by Me. These are soon to be completed as well. However, there is an order to all of this."

Me: "Lord, the trees are blossoming here. Summer is soon to come."

Jesus: "I know, Erin. You know by the signs that you are right. Take heart just a little longer. Be patient with God that His timing is perfect..." He laughed good naturedly as He then splashed some water on me. "...and I will then be patient with you."

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. Please be patient with me."

Jesus: "Erin, breathe deeply the rarified air of Heaven. Remember this because this is where your Home is. Nations will be shaken. Things will be in an uproar. However, you will not be shaken because I am with you. Now, take heart, for I have overcome the world, understand?"

He smiled as He reached over and hugged me. I felt such peace and to such a degree as to be indescribable. If only everyone knew what this felt like on Earth, every single person would be a devout follower of the Master of the Universe and the Lover of our souls. Even in our smallness, He loves us so.

Jesus: "Erin, I will send help for you. Do not worry. I have you. I know what you have, including how many loaves and how many fish. Now, give Me your basket. Trust Me to multiply all you have so you will have even more left over." He smiled. "Now, rejoice, Erin, for I have heard your cries and I will bless you."

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for dreams! Thank You for all You have done. Father, I look to You in everything. I look for directions, signs and wonders in everything You do. Nothing in this life has meaning for any of us aside from You. Everything is a chasing. A person could work their whole lives, do all the right things according to the world, could have the right investments and be fully insured...

...however, when that one tragic event occurs, or even a series of them, life can quickly turn. There are so many things that could occur to change the dynamics of a person's life, things such as an injury, an incurable disease, old age or dementia. At times, time moves faster than our plans can take shape:

- One family endures great loss, but they love You. Your Name is spoken in faith at their table. Still, they do not appear by the world as blessed or privileged by You. They have many tests allowed by You.
- Another household lives next door to this family, yet thrives with great material wealth. They have great status and have help grooming their grass and maintaining all outward appearances. Their children are given the best of everything the world has to offer. When the storms come, their houses are spared and they even prosper off of the losses of their neighbors. They do not seem to have any tests from You.

Father, these wealthy neighbors have no need for You. Their hearts are far removed from the things You offer. The wicked prosper. The wicked avoid, and often even mock, those who love You and serve You. While this doesn't always make sense to us, I know that You do all things for the good of those who put their whole hearts into loving You. I love You, Father!

Our blessings because of You are greater than the storms of life which seek to destroy us. You allow these troubles and losses in order to bring us in complete mercy to You. We then seek You in all things. You also allow our troubles as a measure of how others treat Your people. You call Your angel with the great plumb line to measure the level of man's love to those who experience troubles.

Here, I am mocked by our neighbors below us. I am tired of it. I know it is not just my imagination. I sometimes use a walking cane to stabilize myself, especially in the morning when I walk outside to feed the small animals. I have experienced the scoffing laughter in their cars as they drive by when they see me. They don't think I see them, but I do. I just turn away, but it also sometimes makes me cry.

Father, there was a time when that would not happen. I know there are others who wonder 'where is her God now?' However, I know, Father. You are here and You take every note. You see every injustice. You restore what was lost and You return all that the enemy has stolen.

The storms in the middle part of the USA are raging over all the areas of my family's roots. One house stands, another is gone. One college girl survives, another is gone. Oklahoma, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and other states are being hammered by unstable air. This is creating unbelievable tornadoes.

I read one of the horrible comments made on this. A person wrote: "Why would anyone with half a brain live in these areas? Why should the rest of us have to pay for it?" Wow, let their own words condemn them, Father. The judgments by the wicked here are so brutal. Father, You give and You take away. Blessed is Your Name and great is Your works...

- Some people who chase after You will never see Your blessings manifest here
- Some people have gained and lost and gained again and see Your blessings and miracles
- Some people You have raised up to be a blessing as they are fully aware that everything comes from You

These are Your people. You love everyone of us. We must pray for protection for each other. We must never become angry when we are passed over in favor of another. We must never become jealous over what someone else has. We need to remember that You are the Author and Finisher of our race. You are the Determiner of our days and the Lover of our souls.

In this world, there is a price, a cost, for living on this Earth. There is almost always a lender and a borrower, a landlord and a tenant. One thing is certain...the costliest investment in this life is You, Father. It is not an easy life for a follower of Jesus and it does not matter if you are rich or poor. Our reward is in Heaven and our reward is with You, Father.

We press on daily in full faith knowing that we are ground troops in the battle for Your Kingdom against all that comes against us. There are days when my physical body is not in sync with my mind. My mind has lofty plans, great ideas and a mission to fulfill. My body has its own ideas. My body wins against my will at times. Lately, even small things cause great upheaval.

I must admit I wonder if I will see Your promises in this life as I had hoped. I am scared, Father. I am surrounded by date watchers and I must confess that I am a date watcher too. I love a great date on Your calendar, as well as patterns leading up to them. So many align with the prophecies in the Bible. I stay looking for You even when the better dates come and go. Your timing has and always will be...perfectly Yours.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You! Thank You for another day. You have enriched our lives by leading us in Your way, not ours. The 'Way of Yahweh' is a difficult personal path, but it is also enriching, rewarding and even adventurous. A life of surrender to God's path is a journey of trust in something we cannot see. It is a journey where we know that He is there, despite the lack of 'visible and natural' spiritual manifestations.

Even so, we know that He is there, so we believe. No matter what happens, we believe this His good and perfect Will for us will be manifested through the trials, tests, storms, caves, deserts and dead ends in our journey. I love You, Father. I know how I came to You. I understand how this painful process of refinement was necessary to bring me here. I am just in awe every day about how You can take someone like me and gently guide me down this path of life...well, in reality, not always 'gently'.

I am still on a type of fast that I am anticipating to continue for forty days. Because of my health issues, I decided to create a different type of fast. For forty days, I am staying away from indulgent foods, fast foods, sweetened foods, grains and starches. I am also trying to avoid things that I partake in when severely under stress, things such as fats, sugars and other harmful ingredients. Today marks the 11th day of the fast.

While this fast has not been an easy one so far, at least I have felt clearer headed and have had more energy. I am joyful. I have also been praising God more often through worship and prayer. I am also believing for others who are burdened and suffering because I just know that You are the Father of all miracles and have them too.

On Thursday night, I had a very vivid dream. I then had another vivid dream, a shorter one, on Friday night. They were such awesome dreams that I remember them clearly.

Sub-dream 1 "A Stage Show Starring a Tree" description begins...

I was in a youthful body. My family, as well as my close friends, were all together in a large gymnasium with a stage. We were gathering there in prayer for 'The Night of the Great Reveal'. While we were gathering, some women that we did not recognize approached us to express a desire to join us.

Woman 1: "We are 'Friends of the Way'!"

Woman 2: "We would like to bless you with a positive prayer."

All of us were so confident and excited about what God was about to do with us that we did not question these women's request.

Woman 1: "We need you to form a circle and hold hands. Now, close your eyes."

The women then started to speak over all of us. At first, I could hear their words, but I soon couldn't hear what they were saying. I was now becoming sleepier and sleepier. I then heard the Voice of the Lord instantly stir me from my slumber...

Lord: Loudly and sternly. "Wake up. All of you, wake up now!"

Just then, all of us woke up. We looked over at the women again. While they looked kind and good when they first arrived, they now appeared evil. We now realized that we were clearly being placed under a sleeping spell. We stopped forming a circle and instead gathered together as a group apart from them. The evil women did the same. We were about to say something to them when we heard movement from the stage.

The curtain lifted and there, before our very eyes, was the most amazing sight that I had ever seen. It was a beautiful tree planted center stage. The entire area was lit in the most amazing of ways. The light came from within it, above it, behind it and even from its roots. At this point, the evil women had dropped to their knees out of fright.

As for us, we had now formed several lines facing the stage. More of us were arriving and we were now forming lines. We all continued to face the stage. Stunning! The tree had white leaves and the trunk looked like silver and porcelain. It was living. There was suddenly a thunder clap from above and we all cheered. Music soon started right after.

As we stood looking at the stage, the leaves broke away from the tree in the form of small white birds. The empty branches that remained then formed into the Cross. The Cross was then soon adorned supernaturally with 12 fruits, each a different kind. We all cheered and fell to our knees. God was giving us such a beautiful show that it would be absolutely impossible for man to replicate no matter how unlimited the budget.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Sub-dream 2 "Two Extremely Large Spiders" description begins...

There were two very large spiders. The first one just sat there and I crushed it immediately with a large book. While I had originally believed the second spider to just be the shadow of the first spider, it was still here. I looked more carefully and was horrified to realize it was a gargantuan spider on the back wall of this auditorium / lecture hall. While difficult to gauge, the sack of the spider seemed to be about two feet in diameter and the legs seemed to vary in length between 6 feet to 9 feet each.

I screamed for help to draw everyone's attention to this entity on the back wall. By the time they turned to look, the spider had jumped to a very large column and wrapped itself around it. The people quickly stopped looking as they did not see the spider there. All I knew was that this spider was not going to leave by 'the power of man'.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Since these two dreams were extremely clear, I just knew that they were notable and a message from You. Father, thank You for everything. You are so above and beyond amazing.

I also want to thank You for all of the encounters we are having with birds at our feeders and out and about. New birds are being sent by You and seemingly daily. We have had bright orange orioles, small 'nugget blue' songbirds, baby woodpeckers, hundreds of yellow finches, indigo buntings, grackles and now our hummingbirds are back. On a sunny day, these birds look like jewels in the sun.

When I was young, I used to think people who liked birds were either old or nerds. I admit I just wasn't a bird feeder watcher. That is, until I began to see how unique each bird is, how beautiful their songs, how amazing their feathers...well, the list goes on and on. However, at this point in my life, I look for God's signs in more things than just 'His birds'. I also look for His signs in the following:

- Weather events
- Geological events
- Astronomical events, especially the sun, moon and stars
- The activities of nature – animals, birds and all other living creatures
- The activities of man – both through His people and the enemy's children

Each year, I say, 'Father, You have to be close.' However, then another marker or date passes and I think, 'Well, surely we have another date that seems even better!' Oh Father, I just know that You delight in those You know are looking for You in wonder. We are like children here. We are small. We have only a small part of a bigger picture. You, Father, know all things.

You know the times and seasons. You know! You shelter us and keep us close. We doubt our abilities every day, but I never doubt Yours. You can do all things. Father, I pray that You would soon use us. We are at the end of our reserves. We have been given some disheartening news. No doors have opened for my husband. Without Your intervention, we have to travel to see specialists in July and it takes so much out of me.

Sigh...Father, You knew in advance that we would still be in this position. Please, Father, open that door for us. I am tired of saying to my children, 'I don't know. I am not sure. Keep praying about it.' In reality, I have no idea what Your timing is. You are God and I am Erin. I am small and You are big. I have no answers, no plans, no course...only You do. We, as a household, face an uncertain future and four of us are now fasting. Father, please help us. Father, we need encouragement!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was immediately in front of Jesus at the banks of the River of Life in Heaven. Jesus' sleeves were rolled up 'for work' and He was filling a vessel, blessing it and sealing it. He then handed the vessel off to an angel and off it went. He nodded His head towards another angel and the angel tossed Him a beautiful towel. He wiped His hands dry and came over to me with His hands out. He held me close as I began to cry.

Me: "Oh Lord, it seems as if I am always crying here now. I feel so weepy." I felt Jesus' laughter come from His chest as my cheek was against Him. He pulled me away slightly so He could look into my eyes. When He then smiled, I noticed that His teeth were perfect and white. His skin was medium olive in tone and radiant. His eyes were a glistening green / blue. His facial features were chiseled and strong. He is perfectly Jesus. He is perfectly God. His personality is amazing.

When I am here, He treats me as He would a daughter, a friend or someone really close to Him. He loves unconditionally. When He looks at me, I can sense His approval of me. There are times I have said the wrong thing about a matter, but His correction is always gentle. He is always relaxed and in control. He carries Himself with the confidence that One would have when You already know the outcome of a story.

His smile fills me with such joy as to be indescribable. He is quick to comfort. He is gentle, but firm to correct us. He is engaging, warm, funny and fascinating, all in one. He makes me feel as if I am the only one that matters when I am with Him, yet He makes each person feel the same way just because He can and just because He is God. His guidance and ability to see everything, past and future, is unparalleled.

Me: "Oh Lord, I wish that everyone could see You like this. You are perfect. So many would adore You like I do. You are my Best Friend. You are everything to me. You would never harm me. You are my Defender, my Counselor and my Rock. I love You!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, while I know you are enduring so much, please continue to hold fast. There is hope on the horizon. Look..."

He pointed to the two long lines of vessels that remained for Him to fill, sign and have delivered. I began to try and count how many were left. He laughed and shifted my focus back to Him.

Jesus: "You will be here a bit if you continue..."

Me: "I am sorry, Lord, I was just hoping...well, I was...well..." I let out a sigh.

Jesus: "I know, Erin. I know your concerns. I know all your dreams. I have heard your prayers and those you pray for. I plan on answering them all as they are good. Please be diligent and continue on the course you are on. If you wonder about something or someone, just ask and I will answer immediately. When you call out, I will answer. I will send help from the angels. See, one of the angels even threw Me a towel."

He pointed behind me and I turned to look. The angel that had thrown Him the towel was laughing. However, there was also an entire army of angels now behind me. What a stunning sight. They were all smiling at Jesus and me. The angel that threw the towel was now so mighty looking that I figured he had to be an archangel. The other thing that made me think this way was that he had different armor than the rest.

Jesus: "My angels are greater than any army known of on Earth or in Heaven."

Me: "I am glad he was throwing You the towel instead of You 'throwing in the towel!'"

They all laughed at my tongue-in-cheek joke. I now felt so comfortable with all of them that I decided to ask Jesus and all of them an odd question.

Me: "May I ask all of you what you talk about together when I am not here?"

They all laughed again. Jesus smiled and looked at me with such kindness.

Jesus: "Well, much the same as friends who have stories to swap and have seen many things that their enemies have attempted. See, all of us were present when the one-third (1/3rd) of the angels were cast out. There are things which we still talk about. It was a difficult thing for Heaven as we all had gathered together with My Father. We were close. There are things that are happening today, and even as we speak, that we also talk about. Erin, there is still much you do not understand, but, one day soon, you will. Just know that we are not just quiet up here while the world suffers."

Me: "Please, Lord, I still want to know more."

Jesus: "Do you not currently have enough on your plate?"

Me: "No, no, no, please, Lord, I am fine. Yes, I have enough on my plate."

Jesus laughed and so did all of the angels.

Jesus: "Just know that God, My Father, knows all things and has given Me charge over all. You are under My care. I will order angels concerning you to guard you in all you do. Now, there is much activity in the world. There are wars, rumors of wars and the like. However, do not worry as I have not forgotten you. I will help you from My Sanctuary. The doors will soon open in ways you think not. The way this will happen is much better than if you had stepped out on your own. I know what you need before you ask. I will even throw you that towel before you need it, but at the right time.

"Now, there are many out there who are declaring a matter to provoke Me. They are trying to do this by using manipulation. This is wrong. God cannot be manipulated. I know your need and I will bless you. However, to those who provoke Me to anger by putting out a fleece and making demands, they must repent and humble themselves. I am not conjured in ceremony. I show up when you call Me, as well as those I call friend. Where two or more are gathered in My Name, I also come. Erin..."

I became frightened and interrupted Him without realizing I had done so at first...

Me: Trembling. "Lord, Your face has become so serious..."

Jesus: "Erin, pray for the land, as well as the leaders I have placed in power. When the wave of truth sweeps over the land and the enemy of the people is exposed, there will be great anger in the land. This time is very soon. There are also several plots in place to destroy Jerusalem and those who support her. Continue to pray, Erin."

Me: "I was down by the water last night and, right there in front of me, a young eagle swept up a fish it had caught. It then landed on top of a 'Danger Sign' in order to eat it. When I saw this, I just laughed as I knew this had to be a sign from You, Lord."

Jesus: "When I send signs, look at the conditions. Perhaps the young eagle represents those I have called, those who are catching fish while perched on a 'Danger Sign'." He laughed. "Perhaps instead the harvesting will continue in the midst of danger and, during this time, you will be like that young eagle."

Me: "I would like that! The eagle had no fear of me. He was big and strong."

Jesus: "You encountered something else on the way to the place of eagles. Tell Me about what happened."

Me: "Oh yes...a fox ran across the road and, a second or two later, there was a skunk."

Jesus: "So this occurred before the young eagle sighting?"

Me: "Yes. This happened within minutes of each other."

Jesus: "About twenty minutes, right?" He smiled.

Me: "Yes. Are the timing of these sightings also a sign?"

Jesus: "Erin, you could spend an eternity reviewing signs. Be at peace instead as, when a sign comes that is clearly from Me, you know it, right?"

Me: "Yes. That was all a sign."

Jesus: "Yes, but so were the eight eagles, the oriole and your other discoveries. I am the God of signs and wonders. It is written. You will see so many signs in the news, signs like never before. Why? It is because I have called My vessels to ready and prepare themselves for service. There is a war in the heavenlies and the fall out is now visibly manifesting in events on Earth.

"Even though I will often make these signs so clear that there can be no mistake its from Me, yet still so many are blind. There are flood waters across areas that have never seen flooding before. Levies have been breached. Bridges will be thrown down. The land is being portioned up and humbled. The arrogant lands will be shaken. Fire will strike from Heaven, all as the enemy is stirred. Still, Erin, please do not be afraid."

Me: Sighing. "Thank You, Lord, but I had hoped..."

Jesus: "Stop, Erin. For now, you cannot know with certainty the timing of all of this. This is good and by My design. Now, there is a reason that the land is being prepared. These things are already occurring right now, not way out into the future. As such, please do not be discouraged. While the enemy has a plan in place, My plan is much greater. Now, do not worry about this unless I place it on your heart at the proper time. For now, rejoice, young eagle, My Bride, and let's find some fresh fish."

He smiled at me with an infinite kindness (hard to describe) as He reached for my hand.

Communion

Dear Father,

The weather has been incredible! It is beautiful out. Not too hot and not too cool. Thank You! Father, I am overwhelmed at all You have done for me. It has been seven years since I was called by You. I was so very broken, so hopeless and so scared. I had friends, but I was so afraid of oversharing with them. I was afraid because I had an enemy with money that was waiting for a chance to take my children away in court.

I never wanted my friends to compromise truth. I knew that, if I shared, when asked questions like, 'Does your friend have conversations with Jesus?', well, they would have to tell the truth. The problem with court is that they don't allow for 'buts'. You cannot say, 'yes, she talks to Jesus, but...' Objection! Please, just a yes or a no. As a result, I kept this to myself and did not share what was happening with those closest to me.

I look back and You were there with me every step of the way saying, 'Erin, this is the way...walk in it.' You became my Best Friend and my greatest Confidant. You knew I was treated unfairly. My main enemy wanted one thing of me...to not have to pay a penny in child support. His desire was to have custody of the children to accomplish this and he hoped it would happen via my death, but not until after I was shamed.

He did not really want the kids. He just wanted the appearance of being a good father to his family and friends. He did not want the mess of that 'love relationship' thing that fathers are supposed to want. The hard part for him to get me in court was the fact that I was a good mom, a mom whose only sin to the world was not having that much money. He could not use drug, alcohol or obsessive issues as there were none.

He could not say I was dating as I was not. He even tried using the fact that I was a working parent as a tool, saying that I had no time to be a parent. He tried to use my love of Jesus and my church attendance as a problem, trying to paint me as a religious fanatic. In the end, all of his efforts, of which there were so many, ultimately failed.

Seriously, how does a man with felony abuse charges against his kids have a favored standing in court? How is this man favored over me even though there is documented abuse of me and the kids, including a police record and police evidence? Well, I will tell you why in one word...Money! Our justice system has an uneven balance and scales based on who can pay. Justice is blind, but really means no justice.

Quite simply, anyone in America can file a lawsuit in court against you at any given time. You had better hope that, when they do, you have the money to prove your innocence. If you don't, you will be out finessed in court and found guilty by some clever attorney caveat or procedural error. This has happened to me. Too many are determined to be 'guilty' simply because they had 'no money' to defend themselves.

While this doesn't happen 100% of the time, it seems to happen 80% of the time based on me and my other friends experience with little money in similar situations. In the end, I lost everything in order to keep an attorney to defend my ability to be a mom against my children's abuser. It is a matter of public record. My enemy was even allowed to later seal the documents and pay to have his record expunged. Thankfully, this only applied for his county of state, not federally or in other states.

Yes, I had a crash course in skewed justice. I felt the aftereffects of the financial losses even after I was proven a fit mother. My enemy had robbed me of seven years in all of these court battles. He robbed me of seven years of not being able to afford activities with my children. There was no normal during this time. There was no athletics for the children. There were no vacations for them with me.

My health then began to fail me as I was now a broke, but also a broken, person. I had lost all I had except for a piece of paper that confirmed I was still a custodial parent of my children. I had to sign away child support as he was clever in hiding his actual income when he knew that he would eventually lose. Because I received nothing in the way of support of any kind from this 'man', I was now facing bankruptcy round two.

This happened because I could not afford my now mounting medical bills. There was nothing left at the end of each month. I was not only broken, but the fights had made us broke. The choices I then made were the only choices left. Thanks to 'Obama No-care', my $300 a month was essentially thrown out the window as they didn't cover any of my medical bills. At this point seven years ago, Father, I had become mad at You.

I had not lived a lavish lifestyle. I had not taken elaborate vacations. I had not spent the money on frivolous items. I did not have the kids in private schools or expensive sports. I went through seven years of hell and I felt abandoned. This hell all came to a head and even amplified more when I went to my older son's eighth grade graduation at St. Joseph's Catholic School in the late spring / early summer of 2012.

At his graduation, I sat off to the side of the auditorium and was very near to a huge, beautifully carved cross. Since their father had made the school believe I was a nutcase with his continuous lies, there was no reserved spot for me with the other children's families. I felt shamed and the handout of diplomas seemed painfully slow.

Finally, when my older son came up for his diploma, my name was not even mentioned as his mother. The dozen roses that were handed out to each child's mother instead were given by my older son to his stepmother. My younger son noticed this and was outraged. He stood up and yelled out, 'Hey, that's for our mom! She is over here!' My enemy looked over at me with a smug smile. His glare was so evil.

I kept my composure and smiled and waved as I did not want to give him any further satisfaction. My older son then came over and gave me a hug and a single rose. Everyone was looking over at me as I blushed a thousand shades of red in embarrassment. Was it not enough for him to try to steal my children? No, it wasn't. The enemy also wanted me crushed and publicly humiliated.

Father, thanks to You, I would eventually have all of my children together under my care. This was, and continues to be, a miracle. For the most part, the enemy now remains far from them. He has shown his true 'snake' scales and motives, so much so that all of the children now see it. We have been careful to not say any negative things at all about our enemy so we could stay clear of all charges of swaying their opinion. However, it soon became obvious to them what he stood for as snakes are snakes.

So, Father, here we are. As a dear member of the Nest pointed out to us, seven years have passed since I began to publicly speak of my time with You on Pentecost Sunday, May 27th, 2012. If we use Pentecost Sundays as our measure, today is therefore my seventh anniversary. I have travelled on such an amazing journey with You. You have taken me through the fires, the storms, the crashing waves and the swarms of locusts.

Even when I was being hunted, really haunted, by jackals, You have taken us from strength to strength. Father, I love You even more than I thought possible. You were my Kinsman Redeemer all along. You took me as Your Bride...

- You have promised to give us hope and a future (Jeremiah 29:11)
- You have promised to keep us and our children safe in a home near Your Altar (Psalm 84:3)
- You have promised to cover us and shield us (all of Psalm 91 is amazing!)
- You have promised us that You would do something in MY days which we would not believe even if we were told (Habakkuk 1:5 and Acts 13:41)

Father, there is no God like You. No one has heard or perceived by ear. No eye has seen a God besides You, a God Who acts for those who wait for Him, for You, for hope. All our hope is in You (Isaiah 64:4 and 1 Corinthians 2:9). Father, You have set the stage. To borrow a line from Kungfu Panda...

"Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery. Today is a gift, that is why they call it the present."

Oh Father, nothing is guaranteed in this life other than Your promises. We have faith in You. You have fulfilled so many of Your promises and will fulfill all of Your promises. Please consider this day to heal and Transform us, Father. The only gift that I have to give You is all that is already Yours...that which beats within me and that which matters most to You...my heart.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a beautiful grove of blossoming trees. This grove was similar to a grove by our home that I was in yesterday taking photos. The branches of the trees were low to the ground. There was no formal path other than the velvet-like grass. It was beautiful out and the sun shined brightly. As I stepped forward, I suddenly realized that I was still in my earthly damaged body. I was disappointed as I felt so frail.

The only thing physically different from Earth was that my sight was completely clear here. It was not fuzzy at all. Since I can still walk in this body, that is what I decided to do. As I walked through the grove, I began to cry. I cried as I had never seen trees so beautiful together in one place. As I looked down the rows, the grove appeared to continue for miles ahead of me.

Me: "Lord, are You here?"

I then heard a wind blowing gently through the trees in the distance. The blossoms were now gently swirling in the air like a light snowfall. It was so incredibly beautiful.

Me: "Lord, is that You?"

I then heard something like an orchestra in the distance. It was soft and beautiful. I picked up my linen dress and began to run towards it as best I could in my earthly shape. I ran one way towards the music, but then it seemed behind me. I turned and ran, but then it seemed beside me. I suddenly realized that the music was all around me. In the midst of this perfect music gently swirling around me, I heard God's Voice...

God: "Erin, I am here with you. Do not worry or be afraid. I have not forgotten you. I have not left you in sickness. I will do as I have promised."

I dropped to my knees, bowed down and started to cry. My tears wouldn't stop. I felt something on my cheeks. I opened my eyes and there were two tiny angels with small vessels collecting my tears. I was quite surprised to see them as it has been such a very long time since I had seen these cute little angels. As I continued to cry, they gathered every drop of my tears.

God: "Erin, I accept your gift. It is finer than a basket of fruit from a good harvest. I too have a gift for you. Rejoice for this is unlike any other. Now rise up!"

I immediately stood to my feet. I looked around and the trees were now scattering so many blossoms that it was like a blizzard, only beautiful and comforting. I could feel the Spirit of God moving through this divine grove of trees. I looked around and was now smiling. I saw a deer, a doe, in the distance.

I somehow could see her clearly even within the 'blossom blizzard'. How things like this happen here in Heaven is impossible to describe, but so fantastic. I felt that she wanted me to follow her, so I did. We soon came up to the base of the mountain where the dirt path and forestry board were. I instantly became alarmed...

Me: Crying. "Oh no, Father, it has been 14½ years since I was first here. I was hoping for Transformation, not a repeat of this path and..."

I saw the deer on the dirt path ahead of me go through the gate. She looked back and somehow told me to do the same with her kind eyes. While I was about to step through the gate of this familiar place, I had something to say to God first.

Me: "Father, as I am now, I will be unable to make it another seven years. Please, Father, I need Your divine help."

I felt Him say He would do this in my Spirit without actually hearing a thing. Again, hard to describe. I took a deep breath and stepped through the gate. The deer stood there and watched me as I did this. I was again at the base of God's Mountain. I took another deep breath and exhaled.

On faith, I stepped forward on this intricately geometric stamped path of sand. I did this even though I knew my footsteps would ruin the perfect patterns. I did this because I knew that God wanted me to. I placed my foot down onto the path. The sand on the path instantly started to blow away. It was not long and the sand had now completely disappeared.

My body had been instantly Transformed at the very same time that the wind had kicked up. I was now changed and completely healed! My breathing felt effortless and my body strong. While the path was still there, there was no longer any sand. It was even more beautiful though. I looked over at the deer and I somehow knew she wanted me to race her. I ran as fast as I could. I laughed with glee as we raced down the path together. I felt so wonderful.

Communion

Dear Father,

I need Your help! I am scared. Please grant me revelation and direction. Please do not be angry with my lack. This waiting is scaring me, Father. Each day that comes and goes without movement scares me. I am responsible for scribing Your Words of 'soon', 'In just a little while' and 'the time is upon you'. People trust that I hear from You, so they stand firm. However, here, to me, the weight on my shoulders is immense.

I am being truthful. Father, I know it is Your Will over my life, not mine. However, I am just becoming more broken and emptier every day. I have so many empty buckets that I am overwhelmed. You must fill them as I cannot. Please don't be mad. Please have mercy on Your daughter as I come to plead with my Father, the King, my King, our Creator and the God over all things, the Great I AM.

Father, You have kept me alive. You have kept giving me Your friendship, Your love and gifts through it all. While I feel undeserving of all of it, God, You know how grateful I am for You every day. However, I am overwhelmed. As the days grow, I am missing my child-like wonder. I am missing living, Father, for I often feel as if I am dead now. Let's face it, I feel dead in myself, yet want so much to live.

More than anything else in the world, I desire for all of us to be healed. I love how You delivered us and all that You have done for me, but I am scared now. I never want to move ahead of You. When You say, 'Erin, it is time, the time is upon you', what does this mean? Oh Father, please help us. I know that I did not think up these things as You put everything in me. As we are, we cannot plan and we cannot move.

We are frozen. My heart is troubled. We should be enjoying a wonderful life, but I instead have to contend with our neighbors below us. I still contend with L&I and, behind the scenes, my former employer. I have become very ill. You know all that I have happening and that I am in pain. I am overwhelmed and heavy laden. Now my two youngest are about to leave for my greatest enemy's house.

Father, You have given me other hobbies that keep me in contact with those You have a plan for. However, to me, time is running out. Father, I am hurt with each morning that passes. Are You mad at me? Did I anger You? I am sorry, Father. Please forgive me! Please don't leave me to die without seeing Your promises fulfilled, my friends and family healed and our youth restored.

Suddenly, and without warning, God started to talk to me as I sat there in my devotional chair. His Words were so clear, it was as if He were sitting there with me. Of course, He couldn't literally be sitting with me as no one can gaze directly upon God's brilliance and live...

God: "Erin, I brought you up and I chose you. It is I who have taken you through the Valley of the Shadow of Death and it is I who will deliver you. How could I forget you? It is not possible. I have declared that your 'seasons of punishment' are over and My promises reign true. I know you would like an exact day or time because you would like to plan or hope.

"However, you also have a great enemy watching over all you and your family does day and night. He knows you though you have only heard of him. The enemy is rising. So too are those I have called, including your household. This enemy and his army track your every step to look for movement. However, their true desires are for your death. So far, you have given them nothing 'solid' other than grand stories of Heaven.

"He too would like to know how many vessels are left. If he can slaughter the vessels before use than he can wipe out My plans...or so he thinks. However, do not worry as I have sent an army of angels to guard you in all you do. I will tell you no more concerning My plan's details because this would be a gift to the enemy. Right now, I speak to you through other tongues, signs, wonders and revelation. However, this will soon change to miracles, signs and wonders.

"I know you are discouraged as you thought last year was the time and season. This is understandable as all things seemed to present themselves as good. As the markers of the prophecies have been reached, the enemy has ramped up in the land and the war continues in the heavenlies. As a result, your dreams cannot be published until the Great Move of My Spirit fills each and every vessel.

"Erin, this Great Move will come on a day which is important to Me, but will be of little regard for man. Remember, and as you know, I have given prophecies of things to come even thousands of years in advance. The event, the sign or the wonder then comes to pass, right? However, when these prophecies are given, how long after this unless I have specifically told you?

"However, I can tell you this...for the prophecies that are specifically for you, your family and your friends, the timeframe will usually be within three earthly years, but can also be as much as seven years. Now, why would I do such a thing with you? It is so those who waiver, those who talk with their lips but in their hearts are adulterous, will drop off like a wandering bride.

"However, you have continued to be a Bride carefully watching and anxiously waiting for her Groom. Erin, you have matured in your faith and love so far beyond what would be expected. I am proud of you. While you believe you are now broken, you are really love sick. You hear rumors that your Groom comes and you watch all hours of the night and day for Him. Your household never sleeps as there are watchers at every hour to witness."

Me: "Father, I had seven years of punishment and now seven years of Your dreams of hope. For me personally, my heart has been crushed by all of this waiting. I am afraid I don't have much wait left in me. I love You so much. I did this so others could know You...how awesome, smart and kind You are...how generous and protective of us. Oh, how great is our Lord and worthy of our love!

"How incredible is Heaven and where we will reside. What a jewel, treasure and priceless gift You are. No one, not one, can ever perceive all of You. I cannot measure Your love, a love which never ends for those who love You. All I am is a scribe of Your love letter to us. That is all...just that. Besides this, I have done nothing truly great in my life other than I bore three children. However, even my children are just more gifts from You.

"I am so grateful that they have also learned to love and know You. Other than this, I have done nothing in the way of earthly accomplishments. I failed at most things, even when dedicating great amounts of time in pursuit of mastering them. However, I have friends. I have my husband. I have my children. I have a comfortable pillow on which to lay down my head. We have food to eat and a roof over our heads. We are blessed."

God: "Erin, I have heard your cries. I know the desires of your heart. I am the Owner of the cattle on a thousand hills. I will not let you be defeated. I will not send you into poverty or slavery. I will open doors. I will rain down blessings and so much so that you will not be able to contain it.

"Now, I will not give you the day nor the hour. However, I will answer your prayers because you love Me. My plans are that you will live and dance as you did in your youth. You will, Erin, but even better. Trust in Me and I will make your plans, which are Mine also, succeed. Now rejoice, Erin, rejoice. I love you."

Dream over...

WORDS OF COMFORT: I felt no indication from God that our wait was going to be 'years', just that He has ALREADY told us what would happen years in advance! I just wanted to make sure that no one panicked that there were still 'years of waiting' left.

Dream 337 – God and the Great Gift before the Rapture

Received Sunday, June 16, 2019 (Happy Father's Day)

Communion

Dear Father,

I am so thankful for You! In Your Words, You are the Father to the fatherless and the Defender of the widows. You ride upon the clouds (Psalm 68:4). When I see eagles soar, I think of You. When I hear the sounds of songbirds and mourning doves, I think of You. When I see the colors and details in each blossom on branches of trees or flowers springing from the dirt like fountains of color, I think of You.

When I see new life, I think of You. When I see the elderly, I think of where many will be with You and young again. I praise You. Father, a walk with You is like an exciting journey. There are so many twists and turns. There are scary moments and grand events which delight our hearts. You take us on the journey of Your Will even if it means painful times and crushing moments.

We may enter the furnace of affliction, but You are there with us so we are not consumed. Each day here with You is a gift, the present to be unwrapped. While blessings from You seem far away on some days, on other days, You give us so many delightful signs and wonders. You show us that You are present and, so much so, that we are overcome with joy and our hearts feel as though they will burst.

My greatest fear as a child of God is that I would stumble or fall from Your Will, wandering so far off Your path for me that I could not find my way back. Another great fear is that You would not call out to me while I was lost and say, 'Erin, this is the way, walk in this' (Isaiah 30:21). Just as great, that You would no longer call me up to You. Well, actually, all three fears are equally as horrible to me.

My personal fear is that I would have gone through these fires and then have all of these years of writings not matter to anyone. I fear that my life would be worth very little to others, my footprint lost and far removed after I have left. Or perhaps those closest to me, those who have witnessed the fulfillment of Your promises time and time again, would turn from You and would not realize just how truly amazing You are.

Father, is the veil over this world so great that no one sees what You have done from the beginning to the end? Many people think of You only as 'the father of wrath and punishment'. Others think of you only as 'the god who removes fun, inflicts harm and allows bad things to happen'. These same people then enjoy referencing Old Testament stories, trying to prove You are evil by then not describing the full events.

These evil ones then pull out quotes and events from history in order to accuse the Living God Who Saves. They then try to convince those who love You that the only reward for following You is to have the furnace of affliction be prepared for us. In the end, these evil ones are fools who choose a foolish and evil narrative. You alone are God, our Creator! You alone make the Earth quake when You speak.

You speak life where death is in the valleys. You breathe new life into dry bones. You cause an army to advance and a victory to ensue, no matter the odds. You are complex in all of Your ways. I do not have enough pen strokes to adequately describe all that You are capable of or have done from beginning to this day and for eternity.

Man worships idols and things of this world for fear that Your Will would be difficult. They do this as they need to take control over themselves. They are self-seeking, but some would call them 'soul searching'. This is done inwardly and is a mistake that takes them away from You. When You call us, we must surrender everything; including ourselves, our idols, our abilities, our motives, our possessions and our great plans.

Everything must go and there can be no hold backs! You may allow us to do this slowly, but often You make us take a painstaking crash course through these barriers to You. When we finally remove ourselves, You then throw our clump of clay on the Potter's Wheel in Your House. You then shape us into the vessels which suits us, that which represents the Potter's touch as the artist.

This is not to be that which bends to the clay, but that which suits the Potter. It is best during this process to say nothing contrary to the Potter's Will. When I have done this as 'the clay', it has never gone well for me. The clay should not have lips to speak back in protest as the Potter will instead use another more pliable piece of clay. When we give all of ourselves to You, Father, You then throw a beautiful vessel.

Once a vessel, You then glaze us and place us in the kiln or fire, sometimes at high temperatures, other times at lower ones. You then let us cool down. You then decide that some are finished and others are not. We are then glazed again and put yet again into the fire. Sometimes, as it was like in my instance, it seems I have lived a lifetime in that kiln. I would often get mad at You when others I knew did not have to do this.

It was so difficult. I could see them while I was in the furnace and watched as You used them for great things. I finally realized one day that I lacked patience and true faith in all You do, Father. Oh, make no mistake, I absolutely hate the furnace of affliction. It hurts. It is really difficult. My heart broke. It felt so broken, I believed it had even shattered. I felt abandoned and alone.

I felt I had made a mistake somewhere. What it really boils down to are three major mistakes I made when I trusted my enemies to do the right thing in return. While one mistake will cause a massive ripple, three causes a tsunami of trouble. The mistakes I made were so naïve and silly, I even believed that I deserved the resulting time in the furnace. If nothing else, I certainly learned that the enemy never 'plays fair'.

The feeling I deserved this eventually passed though as the punishment soon greatly exceeded my silly mistakes. It was so disheartening. I watched as my Christian friends, some who I had brought to the Lord, told me, 'Obviously, you are secretly sinning. Repent and be saved.' I looked at all I did and honestly could not find any 'secret sin'. However, I believed there must have been some there, so I repented over and over and over again for all I had done.

I smile about this now, but I even repented for being born. I went through fasting and prayer. I went down front in church on my knee over and over, trying to change my course. To make matters even worse, I then started to lose credibility with my friends. They soon started to treat me just like Job was treated. They avoided me after that and I learned not to speak about my troubles. While my children didn't turn on me, the rest of my family eventually did as well.

However, Father, during this lowest of times, You came for me. You saved me from even more harm. You called to me and I answered. You soon became my Best Friend. You breathed new life into me. You called me a 'flower in the desert', not a 'desert flower'. You called me in love and set my feet upon solid rock. I then continuously praised You for all that You have done. I still do so today and I will do so tomorrow!

You gently showed me where You were during my times of trouble. Well, You were never far. You were never far from me. You found me. I then found You in the process. Oh Father, I just cannot thank You enough for all of You. I am small, Father, a tiny sparrow. However, You Father, ride on the clouds of Heaven. Earthly fathers may fail, but Your love never fails. You are the Father to the fatherless. I love You so much. This is Your day, Father, in Heaven and on Earth!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was called up to a beautiful 'secret garden' in God's Garden. I had never been here before. There was a small meadow with wildflowers and sweetgrass. In the center of this meadow was a beautiful tree unlike any tree I had ever seen before. It was perfected shaped. While I somehow knew this tree was ancient, it still looked young and beautiful. As I approached the tree, I could see two types of leaves together.

One type of leaf was a shiny silver and white and the other type of leaf was a vibrant green. While I could hear birds singing from the tree, I could not see any. I whispered, 'Father, are You here?' As soon as I spoke this, all of the silver and white 'leaves' started to fly off the tree branches, leaving just the beautiful green leaves. It turns out the silver and white 'leaves' were actually thousands of birds! It was one of the prettiest things I had ever seen.

I could then see the beautiful fruit on this tree. I counted twelve different varieties of fruit on the branches. The branches were high and I was unable to reach the fruit. I turned and sat under the beautiful tree in the canopy of its shade. I decided to wait for the Lord there. I could see the surrounding area and it was so vivid that there is nothing like it on Earth. I smiled and thanked God for all of this. I closed my eyes and took a deep breath. Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. It was Uriel. I sprang up to greet him.

Uriel: "God requests your presence."

He reached out his hand and we were immediately at God's door to His Court. Uriel put salve on my eyes and led me through the door into His presence. I could hear the choir of angels. They were far superior to even the best choir here on Earth. They were singing the Heavenly version of the Revelation Song. They sang in layers upon layers, all in unison, a choir not like any choir in creation, but one whose sole purpose is to edify God in His Throne Room.

My heart skipped as the music completely filled and consumed my whole being. It was the all-consuming love of God in my heart. Uriel brought me up until my body fell down (really, it was my very cells) in the presence of the King of Glory. I lifted my eyes, but all I could see was the Glory of God's presence in emerald, like perfectly cut crystals in the sun. It was a million beams of colored lights.

As per usual, I could not make out the Glory of God to describe Him adequately. However, the sheer volume of power coming from the Throne of God is more than the power of the sun, probably several million suns, but I had no way to measure. I realized how very small I was at this moment. I began to cry as I write and the Holy Spirit told me, 'What you are writing is good. Continue. I am with you.'

I listened as the choir sang 'Holy, Holy, Holy' with hundreds of layers of voices. I felt wave after wave of joy from God as this was pleasing to Him. When my eyes faced the floor for a moment, I could see that the blue sapphire 'Sea of Glass' was moving with the music. The Sea was alive as even the rocks were crying out for the God who lives and breathes new life.

My tears fell as I sobbed. I began to apologize to my Father God for my great lack of faith. I apologized for my fear and uncertainty.

God: "Erin, I have heard your cries. I have removed your inequities. You are emptied before Me. Allow Me to fill you with My presence."

Me: "Thank You, Father."

God: "I have not forgotten you. I have sent angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways. I have saved your children from your enemies and removed them. I have brought them to you and they will also be My children. Do not fear the flaming arrows of the enemy as their fires are soon to consume them. The sons of Haman will one day be no more. I have accepted the gift of your heart. It is My treasure.

"Now, I am about to send you a 'Gift'. When it comes upon you, I will give you instructions. Do not be afraid. I have heard your cries. Those who have been slain on behalf of My Name plead in My Courts for justice day and night. They cannot rest until My promise is fulfilled. You do not understand all of this right now, but you soon will. I know you are anxious and so are your children. However, be anxious for nothing instead as I am your Father and I am the Giver of good gifts to My children.

"I have prepared you for these times, yet you, in your state of being, ask, 'How is this possible?' as you have limitations from the punishment of the enemy. However, Erin, I am the God of all Creation as it is I Who made you and chose you for My purposes. So too have I chosen others. All of you have come through the fires and have not been consumed. Your hearts have instead remained on Me. I will therefore reward you. Now, take heart as I accept your prayers and petitions."

Down before the foot of God's Throne, I saw thousands of martyrs praying to God for justice. They must have been there all along, but it was only now that I could see them. As I looked some more, I realized it wasn't just thousands, but hundreds of thousands. There were probably even more though. I really didn't know as it was too hard to count.

God: "Erin, I have assembled a special group of branches directly from the roots of My Throne."

In the distance, I could see roots going to the blue Sea of Glass. This was somewhat hard to describe because His Throne and His Footstool was also made of precious metal at the same time. I saw branches of light resembling that of a massive tree.

God: "These will be filled with the wisdom of scholars, yet with the appearance of youth...tender shoots. They will be as mighty men of valor with great skills and strength. The world has never seen such a display. This will be My 'Final Gift' to the world, My 'Final Call' before that 'Great and Terrible Day' when My Son comes to remove those I have prepared a place for here in Heaven (the Rapture).

"No eyes have seen, no ears have heard and no minds have imagined the things I have prepared for those who love Me. Erin, write this plainly. Do not fear, but take courage, for all of My promises will prove true. I am going to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Father. Oh yes...Happy Father's Day! I love You!"

I then heard His thunderous laughter. Though His laughter is awesome and mighty, it is also somehow very comforting. It shook the entire Court. The floor acted like a 'wake' from the water when something fast moves through it. I could see bursts of light accompany His Voice, but I was still unable to behold Him.

God: "I delight in you. I love you, Erin. Now go and display mighty deeds in My Name, for I am with you and I will greatly bless those who bless you. Now remember to be strong and take courage as I am with you."

I felt Uriel come to take me from God's Throne Room. The choirs of angels continued to sing, 'Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty, Who was, and is, and is to come!' As I was going through the door, I turned to wave goodbye. I then saw a flash of light that I somehow once again knew was a wave back from the Father.

Uriel: "Take heart. Do not be afraid or discouraged. God is with you. He has sent an army of angels to take charge over your comings and goings. Rejoice, Erin, as the King is enthralled by your beauty. He is with you and is mighty to save. You need to rest from your worry." He smiled at me as if he knew more.

Me: "There is something really great coming, right, Uriel? I see it! I see it in your eyes!"

He did not answer the question. He instead smiled, which he very rarely does.

Uriel: "All of Heaven watches, Erin. Do not worry as more are for you than against you." He smiled again. "God is pleased with you!"

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here serving You. Thank You for a husband who loves You and these journal pages I write as a scribe of Your love. Without him, I am not sure if any of these would be available for the Nest. Thank You for the gift of our children, children who pray to You. What a blessing they are. Thank You for friends all over the world, friends who send love and prayers often. I feel so very blessed by them.

I am tired today. I am in an uncomfortable state as my body is adjusting to this new foreign object in my body. My eldest son joked that I had a 'Cybernetics Upgrade'. Well, he is probably right on that one. It just sounded funny to me. As I was looking through some papers this morning trying to find a certain document, I noticed my wound was bleeding where they had placed the new unit.

I just took a deep sigh and began to cry. I was tired. I wanted to be done. Just then, I heard a loud boom on our window. A black iridescent grackle had hit very hard. It was taking its last few breaths. I tried to get to it, but it was too late. A small baby rock chuck came over and started to circle the bird. The most curious thing then happened when she then tried to nudge the bird awake. She tried to turn it over.

I had a small towel and picked it up. I then took it over to some thick brush away from our house. As I walked back into the house, I looked back and saw the little rock chuck run to the door. It was acting a bit odd, then it ran off. I went back upstairs and decided to write down a dream I had from last night...

Sub-dream 1 "The Diorama of David" description begins...

I was in an antique shop with my younger daughter and one of her friends. We were having fun looking around when I noticed an antique diorama. This was an unusual site in the natural. There was no price on it. I turned to the shop owner.

Me: "Excuse me, but what are you asking for this diorama?"

Shop owner: "Oh, that? That is very old and rare. It is one of the battles of David."

I turned and looked at the diorama again. The arms of the young David had been broken off and his slingshot was lying on the ground. The place where Goliath was standing only had his ankles and sandals. It made me laugh.

While there were other scenes that were intriguing in this diorama, this battle stood out to me despite the flaws.

Shop owner: "So, what do you think? It's amazing, right?"

Me: "Well, I guess you could say that. However, all the significant people are completely without limbs or heads. Many are completely gone. In reality, this diorama is in really bad shape."

Shop owner: "Even though it is worth way more, how about $33?"

Me: Reluctantly. "Okay, sold."

Shop owner: "Hey, I have Noah's Ark over there. You should take a look."

The girls and I went over to a very large display of the Ark. There was a long line of animals entering the Ark. However, I laughed yet again as not one animal had its pair.

Me: Laughing. "Some kids must have taken one of each pair."

Shop owner: "Yes, but you still get the general idea, right?"

Me: "Well, I guess the world just ended after the flood on this diorama. With only one of each animal, there would have been no hope to carry on life and populate the world."

Shop owner: "Look, it still has potential, right?"

I looked at the girls and we all started to laugh. After a short while, even the shop owner could not help but join in with our good-natured laughter.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

As soon as I finished writing this dream, I heard the Voice of the Lord where I sat. As I sat there in my devotional chair, I could hear His Voice as clear as clear could be.

Jesus: "Erin, Erin...feed My Sheep."

Me: Crying. "With what, Lord? What do I have?"

Jesus: "Erin, Erin...My fish are jumping...they are ready to be caught."

Me: "With what do I have to fish with?"

Jesus: "Erin, Erin...My fields are ready for harvest."

Me: "Lord, how can I harvest Your fields? Please show me. I love You, Lord, with all of my heart. I am still here. Show me. Equip me. Train me. Strengthen me. Heal me. Please, Lord, for without this from You, what good am I?"

Jesus: "I give you the world, Erin, now step in to receive this."

Me: "Lord, I don't like this world very much these days. However, I will find those You send to me. On my own, I can do nothing. With You, I can scale a wall. Without You, I am lost. Show me what to do. So many people need You, Lord."

Jesus: "I give you the world. Will you take it?"

Me: "I am not of this world, but only a foreigner waiting for You, my Lord, to come for me. I am a citizen of the Kingdom of Heaven, daughter of the King and Bride of my Lord, the Groom. The world hates me because it first hated You. The attacks I receive from the enemy are daily and often too numerous to count. However, none of this is close to what You had to endure, Lord.

"I don't have anything to give. I have been in the furnace for 19 years since my vision with Enoch and Elijah. I have spent these 19 years, or 33.3% of my life, 'dying to myself'. This has left me tired and worn. I have very little means to care for others as I would like to. I would take in orphans without thinking twice, but I am not able. The pain of this often overwhelms me. Lord, I long for the day when You will rise up in us."

Jesus: "I am here, Erin. Ask Me."

Me: "Lord, I'll ask once again...no, wait, please forgive me, I have not asked before...Lord, the sheep, Your sheep, are hungry. Take me to Your storehouses of food to feed each one that which is good straight from Heaven. Lord, the fish are plentiful and some are now even trying to jump into the nets on their own. Please grant me the knowledge and ability to bring these fish, Your fish, into Your nets and boats.

"Lord, Your fields are ready for harvest and Your vineyards are ripe with sweet grapes, late grapes. Help me, Lord, as I have no abilities aside from You to capture this harvest window and to yield a record crop from Your fields. However, I am willing. Still, this seems impossible to me as I am, as my family is and as my friends are. While we are not capable as we are, we are willing and able through You. So, Lord, please help us.

"Please help us. Please help us and heal us. Please send miracles, bind our brokenness and fill our ready vessels with Living Water. With You, we can do all things. Apart from You, we can do nothing. Lord, please help me with this commission. Without Your healing, I am like David with no arms or even worse. With You, all things are possible. I love You."

Jesus: "I love you too. I Am Who I say I Am. It will soon be done for you there as it is here in Heaven."

Dear Father,

Thank You! Just thank You. Thank You that, when I am with You, You are always safe to be with. Unlike my main enemy, You were not sent to destroy me. Father, I am struggling right now and I need Your help. My children are under attack while visiting this ongoing enemy of mine, their father. The very first thing he did was begin his nonstop interrogation of my daughter and younger son, but mainly my son.

He pulled my son away privately and said all sorts of horrible things about me. He said lie after lie after lie and these are everchanging. In the meantime, I have not disparaged him nor have I made up any stories. My son was quite upset as his dad claims to have court documents that I am 'things too horrible to repeat'.

He also found out that my husband is not working. Smelling weakness, he then told my son that there were grounds for him coming after us legally. Of course, this is all unfounded, but their father is a master manipulator and my sons have Asperger's. They simply don't stand a chance against him and have trouble seeing his lies as a result.

Father, this enemy has done horrible things to me and his own kids. However, the statute of limitations has now expired on his crimes. I am not sure if I can even go back and press charges for his crimes even if I wanted to. Let's just say it would be difficult. Oregon introduced limitations into their laws just two years ago. Prior to that, there were no limitations.

Father, the very heart condition I have today stems from the drug he snuck into my food. It is on record. It went to the Grand Jury. The evidence is in police storage. It is all there. Father, help! Why didn't I stand against him years ago? Why is he still being given an audience? Where is my voice or the voice of my children? #voiceoftruth!

Father, I have not asked point blank before, but I am asking now. Please administer Your justice. We were forgotten. My sons have special needs. This was caused when their father was secretly drugging me during both their pregnancies. My daughter would have been the same, but You supernaturally protected me so that he was unable to do this during my pregnancy with her.

I know this to be true as You have specifically told me that the very afflictions my sons have are related to what their father did to me when we were still together. Father, please rise up and help us. Please help me. While I know I did stupid things as a child, in my youth and while in college, I had limited understanding back then. I was not a Christian. What is my crime? Why is he allowed to continue to spread lies about me?

While my enemy claims to be a Christian, there is no evidence other than he sometimes attends church. With him, there is no modesty, no wisdom and no bridled tongue. Here I am with my children and the enemy is there at every turn. Even though we took no child support from him except for a tiny amount for a very short period, this enemy lies and tells everyone that he is paying me a fortune. Just more of his lies!

Father, I went through all of the papers. So many people came forward to help us while I endured the courts. There were counselors, case workers, friends, childcare workers and teachers. All came to my defense with court declarations. However, in the end, the person with the most money can destroy the other person, regardless of innocence. My enemy, thanks to his rich parents, have the deep pocketbook.

Father, You allowed me to be desecrated. I even had to prove that I was a good mother. I had to do this, not just in the court, but also in the court of public opinion and beyond. The evidence was overwhelmingly solid against this man, but I still then had to watch helplessly as none of it seemed to matter to the judge. I was so disheartened.

This man's abuse soon made it so my boys had behavioral issues at school. Various teachers reported signs of trauma to the authorities while the boys were in his care. I then would find out much later that he would then secretly threaten and attack anyone who wanted to help our kids. He would then cover this up with well-crafted lies.

Father, there is no limits to this person's evil. In Scripture, You say that 'wisdom is proved right by her children'. Well, Father, I need You to show me this. I have lived a difficult journey in an unfair world. Father, my children love You and their hearts are upon Your ways. They pray for help and You send help. How blessed am I?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I saw the Lord at the end of the path. His arms were open wide. I was standing at the edge of a massive vineyard. I turned back to look and saw a record number of harvesters and angels. There was joyous music. There was a great celebration of saints and angels harvesting the vineyard.

I wanted to join them and have fun too, but this was not 'my time' for this. I turned to Jesus and He had now come closer to where I was. I picked up my linen dress and ran. Tears streamed down my cheeks. Even though my heart felt like it was breaking, I still felt joy in the Lord. I still felt so glad that He had called me. I ran straight into His arms.

Me: "Lord, did I do all of this for nothing? Evil continues on its course and I have no ability to stop it. I need You, Lord. I am tired of being slandered. I am tired of being trounced by this man and so are my children. Will You not help us?"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, do you not understand who you are to Me? I know all you have endured. I know the mocking, the ridicule and the lies."

Me: "Lord, I love You. I do not feel like I have done enough. Have I not done enough?"

Jesus: "By My Words to Simon (Luke 7:44-47), 'Do you see this woman? I came into your house, you did not give Me any water for My feet, but she wet My feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. You did not give Me a kiss, but this woman, from the time I entered, has not stopped kissing My feet. You did not put oil on My head, but she has poured perfume on My feet. Therefore, I tell you, her many sins have been forgiven as her great love has shown.' Erin, it is I Who has allowed this to come."

He reached for my hand and brought me to the beautiful pool. There was a waterfall on one entire wall. There was also a shallow end. There, the Lord took a pitcher of water and poured it into a basin. He then placed the basin under my feet. Tears were now streaming down my cheeks. He then poured water over my feet. He then washed my feet with His hands. He looked up at me and smiled.

Jesus: "Beautiful are the feet that bring Good News."

He wiped my feet with a small linen-like cloth. He then reached over to a beautiful small bottle that had incredible carvings and a stopper. He took the lid off and poured oil over my feet. The fragrance smelled like myrrh, white ginger and jasmine. I remained completely silent as I was having trouble comprehending all that He was doing. He poured some more of the oil in the palm of His hand and poured it over my head.

Jesus: "You did not first choose Me, Erin, I chose you. I have never forgotten even one moment of your struggles, not one. However, in everything, you have come to Me as you are, in all of your lack, as well as all you have gained. I pour out on you the oil of joy. However, and much more than this, I have declared that you are ready and that My favor is upon you.

"I will now send calamities on those who have set an evil course against you. Their evil deeds will come to nothing. However, since you have placed your trust in Me to deliver you from your enemies instead of pursuing your own course against them, I will now honor you above your enemies."

Me: "Lord, who are my enemies?"

Jesus: "My Father's Courts are filled with those who entertain evil in pursuit of their self-edification. However, and even more so, evil is proved right by their actions. While they will soon cry out and declare their holiness, My Father will instead say, 'what have you done for My servants?' Now unable to lie, they will confess and, by their own lips, will condemn themselves.

"Now, you are a royal priesthood, My chosen, those who I love. It is I Who possess your hearts. Erin, I love My 'possessions.'" He smiled and pointed at my heart. "Do not worry when men seem to succeed in their evil ways. I tell you the truth...they will one day be no more. You will look for them, but they will be gone.

"Erin, it has been 14 years since justice in the courts of the world wronged you. Perhaps you will see this all corrected very soon." He smiled at me in a way that I knew that the word 'perhaps' did not need to be there. I laughed. "Remember that I am with you wherever you go. I will not leave you nor will I forsake you. When evil comes as a strike against you, you will not be harmed because I am with you.

"What they do not know is that, when they strike you, they are also striking Me. Cursed be the man who comes against Me. I will protect you. I will save your children. Are you ready for what I have planned for you?" He smiled again. "I promise it will bring you joy. The harvest is ready and the workers are few." He nudged me good-naturedly.

Me: Laughing. "Yes, Lord. Hey, perhaps in honor of 14 years, You could give me a big John 14 speech?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh, I see, you are ready for the 'divine send off into the world of miracles.'"

Me: "Well, yes, please, Lord. As You know, I am no longer in 'designer PJ's'!" We both laughed. "Say, how about John 15, 16 or 17. Jesus, yes, please, John 17 too!"

Jesus: He became quiet as He thought. "While you are asking of that which is good, there is much more to this. I have shown you your place with Me today. While this is similar, it is a different application, a different time. I will not hand you over to be persecuted. I will instead use your beautiful feet to bring Good News, good food, clean refreshing water and medicine to heal by the power I give you. This will not be by the hands of men, but by My hands. You are a chosen people, a royal priesthood."

Me: "Like the 'Secret Service', but for Heaven? On Earth as it is in Heaven?"

Jesus: He smiled and chuckled. "Well, yes. You cannot be apart from Me. Once joined as a Bride with her Groom, they cannot be separated. My Words you speak of were warnings about the world, instructions about remaining in Me versus operating apart from Me. However, this is different for all of you, understand?

"I am in you and you in Me. You are not a citizen of the world, but that of Heaven. Therefore, Heaven will be visible in you to those who dwell in darkness. Now rejoice, Erin, as I have washed your feet and anointed you with the oil of joy. Now come with Me and let us enjoy the 'Great Harvest Celebration'. Come!"

He reached for my hand and we walked together towards the vineyard.

Erin 340 - Jesus e a Grande Divisão

7 de julho de 2019

Comunhão...

Querido Pai,

Eu Te Amo! Obrigado por outro dia, um dia mais perto do céu. Eu te agradeço em todas as coisas. Você nos sustenta através dos seus milagres. Nós deveríamos estar sem meios até agora, mas, dia-a-dia, Você envia ajuda; o suficiente para durar mais uma semana. Você está nos alimentando como filhotes e nós confiamos totalmente em você. Meu marido nunca passou por isso antes. Ele sempre teve trabalho e poupança.

Comigo, sou um veterana experiente no fluxo e refluxo de contas e na compra e venda. Bem, pai, eu não gosto disso. Não é um passeio agradável para mim. Não sou eu pessoalmente, mas é a minha família. Agora há mais 'não' do que 'sim', mais 'talvez' do que 'definitivamente'. No entanto, existe isso ... através deste curso intensivo de humildade, toda a nossa família aprendeu que Deus está no controle total de nossos destinos.

Não posso dizer quantas vezes fizemos planos e oramos por esse trabalho ou por essa oportunidade. Toda vez, pai, a porta foi fechada sobrenaturalmente. Meu marido enviou centenas de currículos, mas recebeu apenas pequenos petiscos. Nossos filhos são os mesmos. Portas se fecharam. Foi apenas recentemente que finalmente vimos algum movimento. Pelo menos tem havido muitos sinais e maravilhas durante a espera.

Para meu marido, surgiu um número perfeito relacionado a uma transação importante (888). Ele orou por isso com antecedência e, em seguida, os números vieram. Nós então vimos um arco-íris duplo no mesmo dia. Vários de nossos filhos também receberam sonhos proféticos recentemente. Então, na manhã seguinte, havia uma flor branca no meio do capô do nosso carro. Nós dois rimos e levamos a flor para dentro do carro conosco.

Depois disso, nos dirigimos para a cidade para fazer alguns coisas. Foi um dia muito quente. Após cerca de seis horas de estar fora de casa, voltamos para casa. Por esta altura, a pequena flor tinha sido completamente esmagada e murchada. Eu levei-a para cima pensando que talvez iria conservá-la ou preservá-la de alguma forma. Nesse meio tempo, coloquei-a na minha pequena taça de comunhão, que ainda continha uma pequena quantidade de água.

Bem, você não sabe? A flor logo ficou completamente cheia, perfeita e de volta em plena floração. Eu tirei fotos e liguei para o meu marido para ver o que eu vi. Ficamos em choque, pois a flor estava definitivamente na "porta da morte". Foi verdadeiramente um milagre. Houve outros também, mas este foi super especial para nós dois. Você também nos abençoou financeiramente. Eu tenho me preocupado cada vez que gastamos dinheiro, mas você então envia um alívio.

Esse alívio geralmente vem dentro de uma hora e no tempo que acabamos de gastar. Isso me proporciona tanto conforto, então obrigado, pai. Vou colocar 50 dólares de gasolina no tanque e depois você nos envia uma quantia similar de volta. Eu sinto que você está nos alimentando como passarinhos. No entanto, ainda estamos esperando por uma porta significativa para abrir.

Bem, agora parece que uma porta se apresentou. Meu marido encontrou um emprego para o qual ele é perfeito e a posição é aquela que essa empresa criou especialmente. A entrevista preliminar é na tarde de terça-feira, então estamos orando a você, Pai, que esta é a posição para ele. Se não, oraremos para que seja pelo menos o começo de muitas outras portas abertas. A procura de emprego sem qualquer resposta positiva pode ser tão desanimadora.

Embora esta lição de humildade tenha sido valiosa, é um estilo de vida difícil a longo prazo. Eu nunca quero desejar minhas experiências com meu marido e seus filhos a longo prazo. Pai, você conhece nossos corações e sabemos que o fogo refinado é precioso para você. A fornalha da aflição é o seu modo de dizer: "Sei que isso é extremamente desconfortável, mas confie em Mim, eu estou com você e vou tirá-lo dessa fornalha". Então, pai, por favor, por favor, nos tire daqui.

O nosso mais jovem filha foi para o Acampamento Bíblico hoje. Ela se foi pela semana. Estamos tão animados por ela. Jeff e eu tivemos uma viagem planejada para a Nova Escócia na semana passada, mas, com minha cirurgia e outros fatores, nós simplesmente não nos sentimos justificados em fazer esta viagem. Suspiro ... algum dia, pai. Enquanto isso, minha filha e meu filho mais novos ainda estão no estado de Washington com o pai deles.

Depois de todos esses anos e todas as evidências, meu inimigo ainda tenta mudar a história. Ele sempre afirma que ele tem provas novas e convincentes contra mim, mas ele nunca realmente produz, mesmo quando solicitado mais e mais e mais. Ele me enfureceu tanto na semana passada que decidi ligar para o Gabinete do Procurador do Distrito em Oregon.

Oregon é onde nós experimentamos a maioria dos nossos problemas. O promotor levantou nosso caso enquanto eu estava no telefone. Depois de olhar para o caso, eles decidiram abri-lo de volta e está em revisão. Embora eu tenha certeza de que isso ainda será uma "porta fechada", rezo para que eles, pelo menos, dêem uma longa olhada na velha evidência em sua posse e me dêem alguma conclusão. Meu inimigo já admitiu que ele fez isso comigo com o meu filho mais novo na semana passada.

Quando contei ao Procurador de sua confissão, ele achou de grande interesse. Ainda assim, e honestamente, parece que apenas pessoas verdadeiramente más parecem estar livres de processos criminais nos dias de hoje. É o inocente que tem que provar seu caso. Pai, você sabe o que aconteceu há 14 anos atrás. Por favor, cale a boca desse mentiroso ou pelo menos coloque o medo de você em seu coração. Felizmente, esta é a última vez que minha filha tem que vê-lo por lei.

Depois disso, finalmente estamos livres! Até lá, por favor, Pai, tenha misericórdia de nós. Por favor, considere o meu pedido. Meu filho até se encarou ele pela primeira vez esta semana e minha filha também. Eu estou orgulhosa e assustada por eles. Meu marido tem que me lembrar constantemente que você está no controle de todas as coisas, incluindo a segurança deles. Eu então me lembro de Maria como ela teve que assistir sem poder fazer nada com o seu Filho, Você, foi espancado e açoitado.

Imagine então ter que assistir Você andar com a cruz e depois ser pregado nela. Ela testemunhou tudo isso e o fez até o seu último suspiro. Como ela suportou isso, eu não sei. Eu não sei. Pai, você deve ter fortalecido com Sua força, sobrenaturalmente. Eu sei que realmente não há comparação disso para o que eu estou passando. No entanto, isso ainda me lembra que somos pequenos e que você nos tem.

Eu sou um vaso usado para o seu trabalho. Estou no prazer do seu serviço, não meu. Foram necessários muitos anos de tentativas para finalmente entender que entregar a vida a você não garante nosso conforto pessoal. Longe disso. No entanto, o que faz é garantir a nossa libertação. Quer o vejamos aqui nesta vida ou não até chegarmos ao Lar no Céu, seremos libertados. 'Nesta vida, teremos problemas, mas tenha ânimo, eu venci o mundo (João 16:33)'.

Um outro sinal que tenho observado e esperado é os terremotos na Califórnia. Pai, isso é imenso. Por favor, protejam o seu povo, Senhor, aqueles a quem chamam, mas abalem o resto. Perdoe-me por pedir isso, mas estou lutando contra a rebeldia deles contra você e outros cristãos, bem como com suas leis. É horrível.

Pai, eu estou com o coração partido agora sobre o desaparecimento da mamãe rock e seus bebês. Um grande macho com uma cara negra já tomou conta do seu território. Não tenho certeza se ele os matou ou apenas os afastou, mas eles se foram. A última vez que os vi, os dois bebês estavam tremendo. Os dois correram até a bandeja de alimentação e me procuraram por proteção.

Quando o grande chuck chegou, os bebês se espalharam e eu não os vi desde então. Parece ser algo análogo ao que meus próprios filhos estão experimentando. Suspiro ... tudo que sei é que sinto falta deles. Eu procuro por eles, mas eles se foram. Sua alegria, segurança e inocência foram todas tomadas. Embora eu saiba que estes são animais selvagens e, portanto, não são os mesmos, eles ainda são Seus, Pai, e ainda é difícil.

Eu sinto falta deles, tanto dos meus filhos quanto do rock. Os bebês eram pequenos demais para deixar a mãe permanentemente, então eu rezo para que você os proteja dos muitos predadores. Talvez você pudesse até tê-los voltar aqui algum dia? Eu sei que meus filhos estão voltando e eu sou muito grato, mas eu quero a família Chuck de volta também.

Felizmente, eu ainda vejo filhos de Patch de sua pequena ninhada. Eu posso dizer que são eles, porque a pele deles está em manchas, assim como a mãe deles. Eu sei que estes são apenas esquilos vermelhos, mas eu simplesmente os amo. Sinto falta da alegria desses animais estarem contentes em me ver. Mesmo que eu saiba que eles apenas olham para mim como uma fonte de comida, eu ainda sinto falta deles. Eu sei que estou sendo um bebê nisso, Pai, mas eu só encontrei muita alegria nessas pequenas coisas.

Eu não posso esperar pelo Céu, o único lugar onde não há mais preocupação, não mais insegurança e não há mais medo. Nós viveremos no Paraíso com Você e nossa alegria será completa e inesgotável. Eu não posso nem imaginar o quão perfeito será. Embora eu tenha descrito os Lugares Celestiais nesses sonhos, sei que só vi uma pequena fração de tudo o que Você tem reservado para nós quando finalmente chegarmos em Casa.

Jesus: "Erin, suba."

Eu estava nas vinhas novamente. Era a manhã e o sol estava nascendo do que parecia ser o Oriente. Os grandes cachos de uvas das videiras brilhavam como jóias coloridas no nascer do sol. A fragrância era inebriante, incrível e diferente de tudo na Terra. Notei o leve cheiro de fumaça de madeira no ar. O ar parecia cair por algum motivo.

Olhei mais uma vez para as videiras da vinha. As folhas de repente se transformaram em cores cheias. Havia belos roxos, dourados, laranjas e vermelhos. Eu estendi a mão e arranquei uma linda uva cor de rosa brilhante da videira. Era tão doce como doce e tão suculento, novamente diferente de qualquer coisa na Terra. Aqui, a fruta não precisa ser lavada antes de comer. Esta uva foi uma uva tardia, a colheita tardia da uva.

Eu olhei ao redor em busca do Senhor, mas não pude vê-lo. Peguei a bainha do meu vestido e comecei a correr pelas fileiras. Eu podia ver trabalhadores colhendo com os anjos à distância. Eu vi o belo arco desabrochando para o bosque de aspen. As folhas haviam mudado, mas ainda estavam totalmente vivas. Nada estava dormindo. Corri o mais rápido que pude em direção ao arco. Eu chamei pelo Senhor.

Eu: "Senhor, meu Senhor, onde você está?"

Enquanto eu chorava, lágrimas escorriam pelas minhas bochechas. Eu me inclinei e caí no chão para chorar mais um pouco. Logo senti uma mão nas minhas costas.

Jesus: "Eu estou aqui, querida, estou aqui." Ele me levantou e me segurou. "Por que você está chorando, Erin?"

Eu: "Senhor, você já sabe antes mesmo de eu responder. Nada está longe de você. Nada. "

Jesus:" Não tenha medo, Erin. Não tenha medo do que seus olhos vêem. Não tenha medo porque eu sou quem eu digo que sou e não há outro. Isto não é lindo aqui? "

Eu:" Sim, Senhor, mas a promessa da primavera se foi. Agora é verão e o que estou vendo aqui no Céu parece muito com o outono. Senhor, estas estações vêm e vão, mas suas promessas permanecem. Quando, Senhor, quando esta colheita pode começar? Quando finalmente veremos Seus milagres na Terra se manifestarem? Já começou o 'Grande Tremor'? "

Jesus me tirou do peito para poder olhar nos meus olhos. Em seus olhos, eu podia ver o verde azul profundo. No entanto, e mais do que isso, pude ver uma grande separação, uma divisão, uma ravina, feita por um rio poderoso. De um lado, vi abundância, uma colheita de proporções épicas. Havia tanto para colher que não havia trabalhadores suficientes para colher toda a colheita.

Do outro lado, eu vi fogo, queimação, decadência e todas as coisas estéreis. Não havia vida verde, só fome. Eu vi punição, mas ainda nada. Eu vi raios, mas ainda sem vida. Eu vi o chão tremendo, mas nada.

Nenhuma pessoa, apesar de todos os ataques, se voltou para Deus em busca de respostas.

Eu: "Senhor, o que estou vendo? O outro lado me lembra quando uma pessoa tem um ataque cardíaco e paramédicos colocam remos elétricos no corpo para reiniciar os batimentos cardíacos. Tudo o que vejo aqui é uma linha reta. Não há batimentos cardíacos. "

Jesus: "Erin, o que eu mostrei está prestes a acontecer. Ao avisá-lo antecipadamente, você não ficará surpreso quando vir Me chamar e não houver resposta. Embora mande greve após greve para ver se há alguém que gritaria, em vez disso haverá apenas maldição, depois silêncio. No entanto, do outro lado, há abundância, aqueles que fizeram a grande travessia ... "

Foi então mostrado 'o perdido' cruzando a grande divisa através do rio caudaloso. Do outro lado, eu via trabalhadores de Deus ajudando aqueles que atravessavam a praia. Uma vez para cima e para fora da ravina íngreme, eles foram recebidos com uma celebração maciça.

Jesus: "Erin, veja, esta é a 'Grande Colheita'." Ele trouxe minha atenção de volta para os vinhedos atrás de nós. "Você é um dos meus colhedores. Lembre-se, com estas uvas, o tempo é curto. O proprietário da vinha verifica o estado das uvas muito cedo todas as manhãs. Silenciosamente, e nos bastidores, os planos são feitos. A chamada é então feita e os colhedores são chamados.

"Eles são o grupo escolhido pelo proprietário para ser enviado para realizar um trabalho difícil. Quem é escolhido? Nem sempre quem você esperaria. Em vez disso, seleciono as colheitadeiras que podem trazer Minha colheita enquanto suportam condições extremas. Haverá mudanças de temperatura, umidade e terreno em todas as horas do dia. Estes são os que são adaptáveis a todos os diferentes graus de circunstâncias. "

Eu: " Bem, Senhor, como está hoje, não posso fazer isso. Embora meu coração queira e eu esteja disposto, não sou fisicamente adaptável a diferentes terrenos e circunstâncias, muito menos ao calor e à umidade. Enquanto me sinto inadequada como sou, suponho que ainda posso alegrar os outros. "

Jesus: Sorrindo. "Oh Erin, não, não, você será um Colhedor, não se preocupe. No entanto, e ainda mais, você vai executar toda esta parte da Minha vinha, juntamente com alguns outros que eu chamei. Você ainda não sabe quem você é e para o que eu chamei você? "

Ele me olhou nos olhos e eu mais uma vez me vi em Seus olhos. O que eu me vi fazendo foi impossível. Como eu me vi agora aparecendo era impossível. Eu era jovem e forte novamente. Eu não tive medo. Eu, juntamente com aqueles a quem Ele me colocou, eram protegidos sob a autoridade de Deus. A princípio, pude ver grandes porções sendo colhidas e muitas chegando a Deus. No entanto, com o passar do tempo, era cada vez mais difícil encontrar aqueles que se voltariam para Deus.

Eu: "Eu vejo um final muito difícil para a colheita. Há videiras colhidas em grandes feixes de uvas no início, mas depois não sobra muito. Eu vejo que nós então vamos e voltamos pelas fileiras até que cada um seja descoberto e trazido. "

Jesus:" Agora você entende! Erin, você não está qualificado pelos padrões do mundo, mas, comigo, você é bem qualificado. Aqueles que eu chamei para missões como esta tiveram sonhos desde cedo de serem abandonados sem esperança, ninguém para vir para eles. No entanto, Erin, eu vou procurá-los. Eu irei por aqueles que eu chamo. Eu irei para aqueles que clamarem. Eles serão ouvidos por mim. Eu envio ajuda do Meu Santuário.

"Erin, seu coração está pronto. Você tem expectativas que eu coloquei em você. Isso é bom Você está agora mais uma vez desanimado por coisas como as estações, como os dias continuam a ir e vir. No entanto, tenho planos. Eu completei um longo e bom trabalho. Só sei que mantenho meus planos discretos enquanto examino as uvas. Todos os dias, eu os examino por sua prontidão, sua plenitude de coração. Eu irei, então, falar no momento perfeito para que ninguém fique perdido nas condições ou elementos que o cercam.

"Você entende, Erin? Primeiro chamo Meus anjos, então chamo Meus gerentes ou capatazes e então os trabalhadores são chamados. Todos são chamados muito rapidamente, pois são colhidos em um período de tempo mais curto e sob condições extremas. Agora se alegrar, Erin, como eu não atraso. Eu faço estas coisas conhecidas para você, então você será abençoado por conhecê-las. Erin, eu escolhi você, sua família e seus amigos, por isso regozije-se. "

Eu:" Senhor, eu sou chamado a você e, realmente, eu choro e chamo você ou você me chama, eu não sei, mas Eu estou aqui com você. Eu me lembro de um dia em 19 de setembro, quando meu coração se rendeu completamente a você. Eu lutei contra Você porque eu tinha uma maneira diferente que eu pensava que a rendição seria. Achei que a rendição me impediria de problemas, mas isso me colocou em apuros. Por causa disso, eu lutei.

"Eu não gostei dos seus planos para mim e meus filhos. Isso quebrou meu coração completamente. Foi a sua vontade para me esmagar. Demorou muito tempo, muitos anos, até que finalmente não tive escolha senão finalmente dar-lhe o controle total. Isso aconteceu há sete anos.

Senhor, acabei de me lembrar de um sonho que tive há sete anos, em que vi tendas com camas. Homens e mulheres estavam livremente tendo relações para todos verem.

Sorri para ele enquanto solto um suspiro exagerado.

Jesus: sorrindo. “Eu sei, mas você deve confiar que Meus planos como dono de tudo isso, a vinha, as uvas e a colheita, é um plano melhor. Cujo interesse é maior aqui ... o proprietário de tudo isso ou o trabalhador? ”

Eu: “ Claro, o proprietário. Enquanto o trabalhador estaria desempregado, o Proprietário ainda tem o maior interesse em uma colheita bem-sucedida. ”

Jesus: “ Bem, a última uva na videira não vai perceber quão importantes são as Minhas decisões até ele chegar na colheita e todos vocês vêm e entendem a importância dos Meus planos. Ah, sim, e não se esqueça... ”

Ele bem-humoradamente me cutucou. Eu de alguma forma sabia exatamente o que eu ia dizer. Nós olhamos um para o outro e rimos.

Eu: sorrindo. “Sim, você ainda é Deus, meu senhor e o controlador de tudo!”

Jesus: rindo. “Sim, Erin, então tenha coragem porque eu venci o mundo. Não se preocupe, eu tenho você. Ele me abraçou.

Sonho acabou...

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for this period of rest before the great storms come. Thank You for the gift of faithful and kind friends. Thank You for our children and the house You have built for us. Thank You for this open door for my husband. I pray that this then leads to offers from many different areas. It is scary and the 11th hour for us as we now have very little left.

I am beginning the process of placing a dollar amount on various items to sell. This area is a depressed area and items sell for pennies on the dollar. This means I will need some other plan than selling around here. Still, my husband steadfastly reminds me that I am lacking faith in the power of God to make a way where we see no way. Please forgive me, Father, as I am used to going into survival mode.

The items around me are expendable as my family's needs are first and foremost and take priority over my personal comfort. I have learned to become unattached to items. Perhaps it is because the moving company destroyed so many of our things when we moved out here. Had I known this would happen, I would have sold a lot of my things prior to our move. No matter what, life is now just one giant label saying 'depreciated'!

Father, I am thankful for You that You consider us assets which appreciate over time. You consider our usefulness as good and You invest in what matters...our hearts. I know that, beside a few collectible antiques, most of what I have has no value to others. This means its value is essentially only for the holder or owner of the items. I remember struggling to buy furniture and knowing its value cut in half once taken from the store.

This is the same with purchasing a vehicle. A vehicle is worth substantially less the minute you pull it off the car lot. Even so, you then are stuck with payments that include interest that can amount to much more than the sticker price. While this is not always the case, it certainly applied for my purchase of my Pacifica. My old Pacifica now sits in our driveway, a painful reminder of making car payments at an excessive interest rate.

When I was naïve and younger, I had been taken advantage of. Some of these items make these painful memories fresh. However, because You are there and always with us, You take us through the fiery furnace safely. Each time through the furnace, although difficult, makes us smarter, wiser and more seasoned. I smile as I feel You, as God, would refer to this as a good return on Your investment as we have appreciated.

Father, You saw something in me that was worth all You had to do to get me to surrender my life to You. Sigh...I am just sorry, Father, as I know I was a tough case. You see things in me and all You have called that we do not see. It is hard. In contrast to my worry in all of this, my husband doesn't show worry and has rock solid faith. As for me, I often run a mental spreadsheet of various scenarios, worst case to best case.

I know that Your plan is to give us hope and a future, but things seem so dark ahead for us right now. I am worried. My children ask questions, but I have no solid answers. This is all You, Father, as I don't have any idea how we will make it. I have been here before many times and You have always come through for us, so, even though I still worry, I know that You will do this for us yet again.

You have instructed us in the ways we should go. Very soon, I see my husband and our two eldest sons moving out west until the time we are all able to move too. We will have no choice as my husband will need to go where there is work. There are no opportunities for our sons here, so they will leave too. So yes, I am scared about all of this as this, and so many other things, all need to line up by September 1st, 2019.

We have exhausted all of our other options. This means our only option left is You, Father. While I know You are always with us and will take care of us, I still find it difficult to live with such uncertainty. The minute I cry out to You though, I here You tell me, 'Erin, I am here and I have you.' So, Father, please give us peace as I am struggling. I know that so many others are also struggling right now.

I even received a suicide note from someone I do not know overseas this weekend. This is now the seventh such note that I have received over the years from various saints who are struggling. Father, I have no answers, just deep sorrow. This hit me particularly hard because of my loss of my stepdad to suicide when I was 12. The signs were there. My son just lost a friend a couple of weeks ago. It is painful.

The letter I just received accused You of ignoring this person. She said You did not even know her name. This person said that she should be the one You talked to, not me, as she has had a much more difficult life than me. Well, I agree that her life was most likely more difficult than mine. There are a lot of people all over the world who have had much worse lives than what I have endured.

Still, Father, I know that this person is in Your hands and that nothing I can say will change her heart towards You. Therefore, I pray that You come to her, in life and her dreams, and sway her to the side of knowing just how awesome and worthy of our praise You are. It seems like most of the lost are now struggling with either being self-lovers or self-haters these days. Both of these extremes are horrible places to be.

The world has fallen, Father. Please help us. My husband and I recently watched a video of Jonathan Cahn, a Messianic Jew, calling out Obama for betraying Israel in their UN Security Council vote where the USA abstained. He then pointed out all of the other 'anti-Christian' things he had done to America. Well, all I can say is thank You, thank You and thank You for sending a new leader (Trump) that supports Your ways.

Last week, I had dreams on three different nights of an angel of the Lord instructing me on the future course of things to look for. These were the signs and what will then follow. All three times, I was awakened out of my sleep with no recollection of what was said. Please help, Father. Please illuminate these instructions if this is Your Will for this time. We love You, Lord!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again in the vineyard in Heaven. It was dawn. The grapes were ripe and seemed to be weighing down the vines. However, I knew that the vines were not burdened by the grapes as there are no burdens in Heaven. I looked behind me and, for the first time, noticed a massive hill in the vineyard. On the hill, I saw a very large group of angels gathering. They were in a large circular formation.

I then saw Heavens open over them. Beams from God's Glory then enveloped them. I stayed still and quiet as I did not want to disturb any of them. I looked around and noticed two other things for the first time. First, there were no workers here anymore, just angels. Secondly, the angels were now only meeting and were no longer doing any picking. I then saw the beautiful archway of flowering vines that marks the entrance to the aspen grove. I decided to run to the entrance to hopefully find Jesus there. Just as I was about to reach the archway entrance, I heard the sound of a mighty shofar...ta da ta da ta da ta da! It was an announcement. As I stood there, I felt something flying over me. When I looked above me, I saw horses in flight. There were thousands of horses flying in formation over the vineyard. I became excited as they were going towards where the angels were meeting. I heard the shofar sound again. The sound was so powerful that tears of joy started to stream down my cheeks.

Me: "Lord, Lord, where are You? What is happening?"

As I looked down the path, I saw a flash of light. Immediately after the flash, the Lord was standing right there in front of me. I cried as I ran into His arms.

Me: "Lord, what is happening? The angels are coming! Are You coming with them?"

Jesus was calm, sympathetic, patient and loving with me, all in one moment. He continued to hug me. As He did, a torrential downpour started at my earthly house. It was a powerful rainfall and seemed perfectly and appropriately timed.

Jesus: "Erin, I have you. Do not worry. I have told you to be strong and courageous and to take heart. Even though you have witnessed the lands being humbled, still very few cry out to Me in their hearts. They instead curse Me with their lips. The enemy's course is to divide and conquer. He wants to separate all which has been done as good and focus and amplify that which is evil as good.

"Only those who have no veil, those who have My Spirit in them, can see clearly. This also includes those I will call to witness, those who will soon know Me. See, I told you that these signs would become more pronounced and now you are seeing this. I am the Lover of your soul. I am the Refiner of hearts. I do not judge by the color of skin, I judge the heart, understand? "For those who call on Me with their whole heart, I will answer 'here I am' and I will rescue them. They are my people and I am their God. As for those who choose the path of the unrighteous, the crooked path, I will not answer them. Even so, Erin, know that I am not cruel in this. I do not ignore anyone who cries out to Me with their whole heart..." He smiled at me. "...or even half-heartedly. While I am not limited, I will not be crucified twice. I came once to die on the tree to set the captives free.

"I carried with Me the keys to Hades and there too I went into the belly of the Earth to save. I came as a living sacrifice to atone for sin. However, and even more than this, I conquered death and prepared a place for those I love here in Paradise. How do you know if this vineyard here is not owned by the thief on the cross who asked Me to remember him? Even though he had disqualified himself, I found his heart worthy. However, I cannot say the same for the other thief who cursed me.

"Now, Erin, do not engage with the enemy. Do not be upset when things do not unfold as you planned. While people assume that I can sway and change, I do not. This is a fallacy. As solid as the rock you stand on now, well, I am much more solid than this. I am unchanging and unwavering. I relent only for the sake of those I love, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Lord." I looked down at my feet. "Lord, You are talking with such finality that I am scared."

Jesus: "Erin, the fear of God is good. You understand the parable of the boiling pot. Well, now that the fire has been stoked, the water is now coming to a boil. I am about to call up My chosen servants into service. I have readied their hearts. See, Erin, I have spoken of this day.

"I will assemble the lame and gather the outcasts, even including those I have afflicted. I will make the lame a remnant and the outcasts a strong nation. See, there has been a threshing floor and I have gathered up, one-by-one, My sons of Israel. A great trumpet will soon blow and those who have been scattered will gather with Me on the mountain."

Me: "Lord, I do not fully understand what You saying. When will this be?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, you have been instructed in your sleep and so have your sons and daughters. You will not have full knowledge of the events until they are right upon you. While you can see evidence of a storm in the distance, you have no idea of the strength of the storm until it is over you. Only once it passes will you see the magnitude of the physical effects of this storm."

Me: "Are You in the storm, Lord?"

Jesus: "I am the Voice calling out. However, Erin, do not miss My point. I will keep you where I have you until the day I call you and, on that day, you will be changed. Now, do not fear as I will take care of you. I have not abandoned you. I will bless you as well as all those I have called. You work for Me. Do I not take care of My workers? Of course I do, so please do not worry.

"Now, the enemy will try to appeal to your vulnerable side. Do not entertain them. Their desire is to snare you. You are not speaking to a person, but instead demons and there are many of them. Be wise in your choices. If you have a question, stop what you are doing and ask Me. I will answer. If you hear nothing from Me, then do nothing, understand? Put this into practice as I will answer immediately." He smiled.

Me: "Yes, and sometimes painfully so..."

I laughed as I remembered a harsh tongued athlete who received a 'Golden Boot Award' for her sports achievement. This person had said harsh things about Trump and refused to go to the White House as invited. As I was venting my frustration about this person, I heard the Voice of the Lord say, 'Don't worry, Erin, as I have a 'golden boot award' for her too.' While I laughed, I was also sad about her ignorance.

Jesus: "Erin, I make multiple attempts to call on people all over the world, from the most remote places to the most populated. Do not let the enemy try to convince you that I am uncaring and heartless. The very thing the accuser of evil accuses you of is the very thing he is doing, understand? Those without the veil can see it. Now, let the wicked feel as if they are winning. Let them have their victory laps.

"Just remember that your race has a wonderful finish line and, from there, it is not over. You reside here, Erin. You are the daughter of the King and one of My Brides. While the wicked keep running around the track, they are going nowhere. For some, it will be too late, even if they had understanding. Now, please take heart, Erin, as it is dawn here. Rejoice! I love you." He nudged me. "Remember to not worry!" I hugged Him.

Dream 342 – Jesus and the counterfeit army of the enemy

Communion

Dear Father,

Today would be an excellent day for change! Can this day please be 'the day'? It is not over yet. There have been many doors around us beginning to close. It is sad actually. However, something interesting happened yesterday. It all started after I dropped off my oldest son at the dentist. I then drove to a thrift store a few blocks away. It was there that I saw one of my enemies.

This enemy was not a small one either. This person turned me into a lender when she took my things to sell in her shop under consignment and did not pay me. Even so, I was still kind to her because I understood the struggles of being a business owner. What made this even more uncomfortable though was that she was also the worship pastor at the church we attended, the place that our children were baptized.

The hard part is that she and her husband had claimed You spoke to her about things concerning me buying their business. I knew this really could not be the case as You subsequently told me, and in no uncertain terms, that I was not to buy their business. All of this was four years ago and, although I had reached out to her a few times since, she chose to avoid me and even acted as if she was mad at me.

Well, when we ran into each other yesterday, it was as if we had forgotten the former things. We ended up speaking for over an hour. It was healing. It seemed as if she had become humbled by the whole ordeal. Father, I know though that what she did to me, she really did to You, because these were really Your items. You had given me these items and it was not my place to judge or condemn her.

I have been on the other side and it is difficult and painful. While she eventually paid me something, it was still just a fraction of the value that we had originally agreed to. During their later liquidation, an event that I was not told about and accidentally came upon while driving by, a crisis erupted. My antiques were marked as being on 'hold' and were selling for way less than what we had agreed to. I phoned the woman and told her I was reclaiming my items. Thankfully, she did not fight me on this.

We loaded the items that were left into our car parked outside. It was a tight fit, but we loaded all of the items. I was relieved we got everything into our car. In the same month of September and just three weeks later, my mom died. This was such a difficult September four years ago (2015). Even when receiving final payment, insult was added to injury. This woman paid me, but then inferred that I should have instead wiped their debt clean. She was obviously trying to paint me as ungodly.

While I would have forgave the debt if You had told me to, You did not. Her resulting arrogance and righteous indignation that ensued was truly unfair. Anyway, it was now four years later and she no longer seemed to harbor any bitterness. We even ended our great discussion with a sincere hug. Thank You for this, Father. This reconciliation was very healing. I am now praying for my physical healing.

Father, I am worried about something concerning my health. You said that I would have no more tests, but I see doctors again next week. What is happening? I am worried that there may be some that may think I am false if I disclose that I still have some more tests coming. Someone close to us, a long-time reader of these dreams, has been treating us in an odd way ever since finding out about my pacemaker surgery. I am just nervous that there may be others who could view these upcoming tests with disdain.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was immediately in the aspen grove. I looked over at the vineyard and I could not see anyone there. The angels, the workers and the horses were no longer there. I cried out to the Lord. Jesus appeared before me at the end of the path. He smiled at me with such kindness that I immediately wanted to run to Him. I picked up the hem of my linen dress and ran. I was smiling and laughing as I ran into His arms.

Jesus: "Why did you pick up the hem of your dress?"

Me: I thought about it for a moment. "Hmm, out of habit. I guess I did this to avoid tripping up and falling." I started to laugh. "Well, I guess that's silly."

Jesus: "You do not need to worry about tripping and falling here. Now try this again, but this time without picking up the hem of your dress. Go ahead, Erin, it is okay to run." I turned toward the path and, out of habit, reached for my hem. "Uh uh uh." He laughed as He shook His head.

Me: "Oops, yes, sorry! Okay, here I go!"

As soon as I started to run, my dress automatically picked up to the perfect height for running. I looked down and could see my feet. As I ran faster, the cloth automatically adjusted some more in order to meet my expanding abilities. When I reached the vineyard, I yelled out in glee.

Me: "Woooo hoooo! This is awesome, Lord! Wow, how cool is this!"

He was laughing as He waved for me to come back to Him. I turned to run back and, just for a split second, I reached down for my hem again. I instantly stopped when I saw Jesus smile at me and shake His head. I laughed so hard that I was bent over in laughter. After getting a hold of myself, I left my hem alone and began to sprint again. When I arrived, I jumped into the Lord's arms. We were both laughing.

Me: "It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks."

Jesus: "Well, you are not a dog nor are you old. However, I agree that habits are difficult to break. Erin, it is good to see you laughing again."

Me: "You make me joyful, Lord. I discover something new here every time You call me. You are amazing. This fabric..." I looked at it and felt it with my hands. "...is living and breathing. It feels like the very best of cottons, linens and silks, but all at the same time. I have no idea what this is, but it is like nothing on Earth."

Jesus: "Yes, but not only that, this does not soil and always remains clean. There is no need for laundry here."

I thought about what He said for a moment. We both laughed together when I finally fully realized what He meant. No more laundry! How awesome is that!

Me: "Of course, Lord, there is no laundry in Heaven as nothing ever soils or becomes unclean."

Jesus: "When it is time for you to reside here, this will still take some time for you to wrap your thinking around it. There were saints who arrived here that washed their linens on the rocks at the River of Life. The angels then explained to them the heavenly technology of no more uncleanness. Even though I am telling you this in advance, do not be surprised if even you still wonder where your laundry room or dishwasher is.

"That being said, some saints still wish to wash their already clean clothes. However, they should expect the head shaking and smiling of the angels. When I asked one of the saints why she still washed her clothes, she said, 'I bathe in the River of Life, therefore I bathe my clothes here too. I can then hang them up in the light of the sun to dry. They are then fragrancd by the rarified pure air of Heaven.' This was a good answer, so I blessed her thinking. Even the angels now smile about this."

Me: "Oh Lord, You make me so glad to be here with You. You make me glad. The world is going mad right now and I mean crazy. It is very scary."

Jesus: "The time is upon them. The enemy's armies are in full battle armor. As occupancy is now at capacity, you are now witnessing all manner of evil and rebellion. There is an order to it, but it is difficult to see amidst the strange behaviors you are witnessing. Look at the underlying advancement of the army of the enemy.

"It is clever, but I have activated the wise to see it. Those I have called wise are soon to shine as bright as the sun in this great time of trouble and darkness. This will be unlike anything the world has ever seen before.

Those who bring the Good News will turn many to righteousness. Those under their care will be saved because I am with them.”

“Yes, Erin...” He smiled. “...you are part of this, My dove and sparrow.” He laughed. “In the meantime, you will observe the patterns of the wicked as I divide them amongst themselves. Do not concern yourself enough to engage the enemy as I will soon strengthen you and direct you in the ways you should go.

“Now, you are concerned about your upcoming medical appointments. Why? Go back and read specifically what I told you, but do not jump to conclusions this time.”

I took a short break to find the quote that I was concerned about. I quickly jotted it down and then went back to Him.

Me: “Okay, so, in a dream on February 25th, 2019, You told me, ‘other than one more medical appointment, you have finished your tests.’”

Jesus: “Well, it is easy to assume I meant one thing, but, if you are not sure, all you need to do is ask Me instead. If you look at this again, I told you that, other than an upcoming appointment, an appointment that has since occurred that seemed to bring you bad news, your tests were over. Now, what do you think I meant by ‘tests’?”

Me: “Well, I had assumed You meant ‘medical tests’.”

Jesus: “No, Erin, it is greater than this, a much greater blessing. What would you prefer for Me to say...‘your medical tests are over’ or ‘all of your tests are over’?”

Me: Smiling. “Of course, all tests!”

Jesus: Laughing. “Oh Erin, your thinking was too small. I told you that your vessel is finished. This means I am no longer sending you back through the furnace of affliction. Your refinement is complete. I am pleased. I have no need to test your capacity to be able to hold living water and pour out as I call you, understand? Your trials are finished and My testing for various weaknesses in your shell is over.

“Now, personally, I know that you were thinking ‘healing’, so you are greatly discouraged. However, do not be. Your evidence will speak for itself and the witnesses will be too numerous to count. This is good news, very good news. Here, with Me, are the prophets of old. Their names are written in My Word.

“Erin, there are great celebrations here as their prophecies from Me are finally being fulfilled on Earth as it is in Heaven. Saints here are watching this too. There is much excitement and preparations, but, for now, I can say no more...well, except to add that ‘I love you’. I love your heart of reconciliation. You hold nothing against anyone and this brings Me joy.”

Me: "Thank You, Lord. However, I do hold things against those who have wronged me and my children. I know that I do this. I am sorry."

Jesus: "Erin, you have given these people to Me. Your vessel will not be fractured under pressure as I am in you. Being wise and anticipating the moves of an enemy is not holding charges against them. You have released them to Me, but wisdom does not remove your memory of events. Holding charges against your enemies would mean you are judge and jury instead of God on the Throne. Therefore, be encouraged."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but I sometimes imagine their trouble and even their demise."

Jesus: "Yes, but how does it make you feel?"

Me: "I actually feel sad for them. I want justice, but it is still such a difficult emotion."

Jesus: "Well, this is good. This means your vessel will not be compromised under the threat of evil as you are trusting Me..." He smiled. "...even when I say run and don't pick up the hem of your dress." He laughed.

Me: "Lord, there is no one anywhere wiser than You. Please fill me with Your living 'wise' water. Oh, and please add some healing too. Please?"

Jesus: "I will, Erin, I will. All of My promises are true. Beautiful are the feet who brings this Good News. Those who I place near My altar will not be harmed. Those I have called will be under My wings, understand? No enemy will harm them. Now find joy today. Soon your wisdom will shine forth like the sun at dawn."

Me: Smiling as I pointed to Jesus. "You mean shine forth like 'the Son of God'."

Jesus: "I see that wisdom is already shining forth in you." He pointed at my heart.

Me: "Only because of You."

Jesus: Smiling. "One other thing...do not be dismayed when it seems evil is succeeding. I tell you the truth...I see everything and they...well, their outcome...one day, you will see them no more, so pray. The Great Harvest of Souls is written and the time has come.

"However, so has the counterfeit approach of the enemy's harvest of souls. This will be the great separation, the great divide. Do not worry though as those I have called will cross over on a dry river bed, understand? It is I who parts the seas. Now rejoice, Erin, for this is good."

He hugged me and smiled.

Dream 343 – Meeting Jesus before our upcoming medical trip

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for the relief from the heat! Father, I have been so thankful for You these last few weeks. You are a hidden treasure, more valuable than gold and diamonds. Your works are incredible from the beginning, yet You receive very little credit. You must love us a lot because almost all of what You do gets very little praise or credit. If people only knew how amazing You are.

You are precious. No man is greater than You. No other 'gods' or idols can do what You do. They cannot save us. They can do nothing. Even so, they are so easily worshipped by man these days. You are infinitely patient with us. I am not certain that there would be any man that would remain patient like You do while enduring the criticisms and curses You receive just in a single day.

Clearly, Father, You are patient with us. You see treasure in us that we cannot see. I hope that I become more and more filled with the light of Your presence each day, so much so that Your light is also on the outside, not just the inside. I pray that, when people see me, they see You reflected in the light of Your presence upon me.

Oh Father, I have been so depressed lately. The world has taken a serious downturn. It has been quite alarming to see. Just as You told me, the enemy came to the nations to begin race wars within each nation, thus weakening the structure. The veil has been so thick that leaders in Europe are saying things like, 'there is nothing to see here, no problems.' This is the case even though they know that young girls and boys are being raped and even sold.

Very few, if any, criminal courts there convict these crimes as all are in great fear of these 'Ten Sons of the Spirit of Haman'. While You have sent voices to proclaim what is happening, they are quickly silenced. Koome Ministries reaches out to the Muslim community, yet they are extremely critical of him in return and work to silence him. Jonathan Cahn is the announcer and prophetic voice on behalf of Christians and Jews, his voice sounding warnings as harbingers, yet very few listen to him at all.

Father, You then send calamities upon the nations as You give warning after warning. Is anyone listening and repenting? I know there must be some, but I believe very, very few. You shake the land, Lord. You flood the land. You send the winds and the supercells. You divide the land. You send fires to the beautiful creation You made. You then send infestations, parasites and even flesh-eating bacteria.

You send sharks to once peaceful shores. You drop airplanes out of the sky. You toss homes off of high places with mudslides. Whole homes are taken off of their foundations by earthquakes, storms, floods, mudslides and gas explosions. Even so, does anyone repent and cry out? All we see in the news from all of this is references to 'mother nature'. They then say that all of this fury is not due to God, but due to 'Climate Change'. Some then even blame Trump for being the cause of all of this.

Other than us watchers, does anyone see this? Does anyone see Your shouts to us? You have turned up the heat. However, You made a miracle in this for us. Even though it was very hot and we have no central air conditioning, You kept our home cool. We took the kids to a movie to avoid the hottest part of the day, but was then pleasantly surprised to come back to a still cool house. Thank You for answering our prayers!

My husband and I are traveling this week for more medical stuff. I have been so discouraged and afraid about this. I don't want to leave as I am. I wanted to be healed first. Father, I love You. There is not one person under our roof who does not see that You are about to do something. You are gearing up and we can feel it.

All of us feel it, including me, so I must then apologize for showing impatience. I am sorry for my discouragement. If You are a longtime away, could You at least heal our children? I can live with what I have as long as I can see our children receive their promises from You. My heart would just be so complete once this has happened.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was standing at the arch to the vineyard when I spotted the Lord. I looked back over the vineyard briefly and noticed that the beautifully ripe grapes were 'frozen in time'. I looked back to the Lord and He was smiling at me. I went to reach for my hem to run, but stopped myself just before doing so. I saw Jesus shaking His head and laughing. I was laughing too.

When I looked down to see that my hem had come up to allow me to run as fast as I wanted to, I noticed that I was standing on etched stones. As I ran, I saw names engraved on the stones. As I stepped on a stone, it would illuminate, but then slowly fade as I moved to a different stone.

I soon became puzzled when I noticed that there were now many more stones and names than when I had seen this before. There were now so many that it was impossible to count them all. I decided to take off my sandals. When I placed my bare feet on the stones, I felt warmth. The stones somehow seemed alive to me.

Jesus: "So, are you just now noticing the additions?"

Me: "Lord, whose are these? Where are they from?"

Jesus: "They represent many different saints, each with their own stories. However, the new stones you see represent those saints that are yet to come. Erin, while you see yourself as small in My Kingdom, you are bigger than this to Me. You do not see what I see. I delight in you. I know you worry about many things, but do not be. The minute you are afraid, I will send comfort. The minute you are worried, I will send relief.

"I want you to take comfort wherever I send you as you need to understand that I am with you and your tests are complete. Just as you quickly retreat to the habit of lifting the hem of your gown to run here, you quickly take up the mantle of wondering where your next test will come from and how long this will take.

"While you are afraid of running out of time, you fail to remember that it is God Who has created you and determines your days. Erin, I am here with you. I am the Lover of your soul and the Keeper of your days. You see things around you and you say, 'surely, Lord, this is it.' You then quickly resort to tears and disappointment when nothing comes of it."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but I am part of the Bride waiting for her Groom. We have been waiting for seven years, 2557 nights, since the start of all of this and my Groom still has not come for me. What kind of Bride would not weep as she grows older and still does not see her Groom? Not one who loves You as much as we do! We have hopes in our Groom coming and it then hurts when each promising day comes and goes."

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin, as the Groom is soon to come for His waiting Bride."

He reached over and hugged me. I cried in His arms.

Me: "Why not now, Lord? I see You and You are so wonderful that I want to shout it out. I meet You here and I have fallen in love with You as my Lord and my Savior. You are real to me. You are not 'just a metaphor'. You are not dead. You are alive and perfect and I want so much to let everyone know. I am nobody to the world, but to You, well, so many Brides are waiting for You. Oh please, Lord, do not forget about us!"

Jesus: "I could not forget. I am in you..." He pointed at my heart. "...and you with Me." He pointed at His own heart. "I send My Bride messages and gifts ahead of My coming so that she is not discouraged, but continues to watch. Oh Erin, I promise you that I will do something in your days...yes, in your days...you would not believe even if you were told. Be encouraged. This is for the good of those who love Me, understand?"

"Now then, though the earth gives way and the mountains fall into the sea, though the waters rage and foam, though the mountains quake with their surging, do not be afraid or be fearful. There is a river whose streams make glad. My streams are in you. I am there and you will not fall. Erin, you will not. I will help you at the break of day. As you see, the nations are in an uproar. Kingdoms will fall."

Jesus: "Then be still and know that I am God. I am with you. If I am with you, then who can stand against you?"

Me: "No one. Still, Lord, please heal and strengthen us. We love You."

Jesus: "Erin, do not worry. Do not be afraid, understand? I am with you. Now be at peace. Enjoy the trip I am sending you on. The places I send you are void of Me. You will not always be liked, but you will not be easily forgotten. I will send you joy on your trip and I will take care of you. I will be with you. I will also be the cover over all of you, so do not fear. I will send angels. Now rejoice. Rejoice. I love you."

Me: "I love You, Lord, so very much!"

He reached over and hugged me.

Dream 344 – Jesus will now light our paths with truth

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for getting us home safely. A series of events, truly by Your hand as an answer to prayers, got us home by delaying our last flight long enough to enable us to board in time. If we would have missed this flight, we would have been stuck in the airport until an early morning flight the next day.

Thank You also for keeping our children safe in Washington State. The adults involved in a planned rafting trip were going to be drinking a lot. Well, You stopped their plans at every turn. They had a large cooler of alcohol disguised in plastic liter bottles. Somehow the bottles were all mysteriously emptied even though several people were always there and the cooler was never left unattended.

Disappointed in their loss, they still decided to go in the water for the long and normally easy-going rafting trip. This trip is usually so tame that they were going with some very young children. One of the women is even pregnant. There were a total of five children five years old or younger.

Well, as they went down the river, they met up with some unexpected rapids. To make matters even worse, there were also some downed tree branches and other troubles. As a result, several of the rafts flipped and one raft was completely destroyed. Every single person lost something as a result. Well, everyone except for my two kids. They lost cellphones, keys, speakers, their food and other things.

I knew this must have been Your divine protection for my kids as they were the only ones free from loss. Thank You also that the adults were not drinking. If they had, they would have had a difficult time helping the others and keeping all but one of the rafts safe. Thankfully, not one of the children were lost or injured.

When we were on our trip, my husband and I decided to take a daytrip over to Bend, Oregon. While we only spent about 1.5 hours driving around town, it was an emotional trip for me. I cried as I remembered so many hopes being dashed there. While there had been so many attacks there, I still felt more joy and safety there than any place else. This was also the place where I met God and began my 'refiner's journey'.

While the air was hot, we still rolled down our windows in order to take in the fresh smells there. Especially scent wise, it was still the same place I remembered. My husband was finally able to see it himself and he too just loved it. Sigh...Father, how can a place trigger so many emotions? The only other place that really does this to me is Sandpoint, Idaho. However, in that instance, the memories are of my mom.

Now, I assume that, if I lived in Bend or Sandpoint, I am sure it wouldn't be a big deal after a while. Given that I spent 10 years in Portland, Oregon, you would think that Portland would do the same. However, it does not...it is just Portland. Yes, I know a lot of people there, I know my way around and it is where my children were born, but it is simply 'just Portland' to me. I don't experience the same emotions.

Then there is the Tri-Cities, WA. Ugh, this was a desolate place. My thoughts of this area as being a place of great punishment has not changed. My crippling injury happened there. I have had other injuries, but the one that took place there on May 8th, 2014 was the one which stripped me of my health. It was the final blow. Still, I am grateful for this place, but only for one thing.

The Tri-Cities was where my dreams began. This was the place I spent more time on my knees in prayer than any other place. These were the times of great tears and quivering. These were my times of brokenness. These were my times of the desert, five years almost to the day. While I lived in Bend for one more year than my time in the Tri-Cities, it feels like I spent double the time in the Tri-Cities.

In the Tri-Cities, I watched as hope after hope had been dashed time after time. Still, I believed. I was abased and then became quiet. I withdrew from sight. Still, I believed. I heard rumors of what people were saying about me, most of which were untrue, and I could do nothing. Still, I believed. In my belief, You then sent someone to rescue me from this desolate place. Lord, You sent my husband and I was soon able to leave.

Still, many things remain on hold. I still wait on You to send a publisher for these dreams. However, I know why You have not done so yet (or so I think). Why would anyone who doesn't know God look at me and my dreams as credible if God has never healed me or done as He has promised? Right now, only my Nest friends have seen the miracles and subtleties of our loving Father, all with hopes of what is soon to come.

As I am now, I cannot do normal things without great difficulty. I also just discovered that I have cataracts in both of my eyes. While they need to be removed at some point, I am grateful that this is relatively minor surgery. However, I remain full of faith that Your miracles will heal this, not a surgeon's knife. Father, I look to You as my Heavenly Surgeon. What You can do is infinitely better than any earthly physician.

Oh Father, please consider using us soon. We long to be used. The girl's school starts in just five weeks. Thank You also for opening a door for my husband. Thanks to Your continued provision, we have enough to live until the end of August. However, after that, trouble begins. Our lives are clearly in Your hands. By Your hands, please make a way for my husband to find work again and soon.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was right in front of the archway to the beautiful vineyard. I looked around to see if there were any angels or workers. There were none. The grapes were still there though and it was as if they had remained frozen in time. The grapes were neither more or less ripe than before. The vineyards were beautiful. There was also hill after rolling hill. There truly is no place more beautiful than Heaven.

Me: "This is so incredibly beautiful, Lord. Even the place I love, Bend, Oregon, pales in comparison to Heaven! Oh, how I long to be here soon. Lord, where are You?"

I sighed when I then smelled the slight hint of woodsmoke in the air. I ran through the archway to the aspen grove. As I looked towards the end of the stone path, I froze in place and gasped. At the end of the path, surrounded by a halo of light, was Jesus mounted on His beautiful horse. He had a crown on His head. It was difficult to see Him clearly as the light of the Son/sun and His glory shined so brightly.

I ran to Him as fast as I could. In the short time before I arrived, tears had been streaming down my cheeks. His beautiful horse nudged his nose towards me. I laughed and kissed his cheek. The Lord looked stunningly handsome on His horse. He looked like an unconquerable action movie hero, but so much more. My heart skipped a beat when He dismounted from His saddle to greet me.

Jesus: "Erin, you are worried about many things, but do not be. I am here with you."

Me: I curtsied and He laughed. "My Lord, I have never seen You like this on the beautiful path with Your crown and Your horse. Surely we must be close!"

Jesus: "I am the truth, Erin, and this is the way..." He pointed to the path of stones. "...to truth and everlasting life. Here, on My side, where I was pierced, is now where the sword of truth rests. It will soon cut through the lies of men. While the world cannot overcome Me or My truth, I can overcome the world. My promises are true. I love you, but it is not you who first loved Me. It is I Who first loved you.

"Now, I can assure you that I am not weak and I am not far removed from those who love Me. You are not forgotten. How could I forget you?" He held His palm out and my name illuminated. "Erin, your name is written on the palms of My hands." He smiled. "However, and even more so, look at what I can do with My hands. I will use the sword of truth to cut through the lies of wicked men. Erin, I have not forgotten you."

Me: Crying. "I am sorry, Lord. Our lives are blips here and time goes so quickly. So too does my memory fade and even becomes selective over time. I am not storing memories as I once did. It appears that my brain's capacity is much lower than it once was. I am hoping You will fix this in the Transformation."

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, do you not know Me by now? If I desire you to recall a memory, then you will recall it. If I want your children to keep their memories from a resurfacing trauma, then it is My Will. However, I am so much more than all of this. You are never removed from Me. While the enemy wants you to believe that I am dead or do not care, he also truly understands that I am alive and he never overcame me.

"I have the keys to life and death and it is I Who set the captives free. Since he has not had the authority he had hoped for, his time over the land is now coming to a close. Wherever you go, My light is with you. See, truth exposes darkness. A lamp lights a room and darkness flees. It is by God's design that you shine because I dwell in you. While the enemy hates you and your children, he also hates all that is around you.

"While there is an uptick in negative opposition to positive light, you still remain on My path. This path is My way and is well lit and free from darkness. There are many names here also. As you can see, this path leads to the vineyard and there is the late harvest, the greatest the world has ever known. I have no intention of sacrificing My lights to the darkness or allowing them to be extinguished.

"Erin, this is as written in My Word, understand? I delight in truth. I despise wickedness and lying tongues. Even so, you have noticed that lies are now prevailing and that you are hearing more from the narrative of negative reporting by the liar-in-chief over it. This is not your imagination as I am allowing this. Now, why would I allow this?"

Me: "I am not sure."

Jesus: "It is the Great Separation; lambs from goats, the pure from the sinful, the darkness from the light. See, the enemy has tried to create a neutral gray area as truth to deceive. You have been given warning of this as you have seen gray ash. Well, in history, gray ash reflects death and uninhabitable areas. Gray ash also represents these 'gray areas'. However, to Me, there are no 'gray areas' as it is either one or the other.

"Erin, not one person is perfect. Not one. If I were to save only the perfect and sinless, Heaven would be empty. However, it is not. Remember, I see the heart. I can even cut through the tongue. This is how one thief was saved and the other was not. I see through to the heart. There are saints here you would never expect and there are those who are not here that you would expect. Why? Because their lips condemned them. They were not humble. In fact, they caused many to stumble.”

Me: “Lord, You are very serious today.”

Jesus: “Erin, do not let the enemy tell you that God has disqualified you. Do not become discouraged. My promises are true. I do not judge a man by the shade of his skin. I judge only by his heart and love for Me. Do not listen to the wicked as the enemy has stirred them up. Remember, I came not to abolish the Word of God and His Laws, but to shed light on it.

“I also came to set free those who had been bound by the chains of the Law instead of being set free by it, understand? It is an evil man who says ‘ah ha, look, see, this is evil...this man should be punished’ when he is guilty of far more. I came to fulfill prophecies and to shed light on the words of the prophets. I did not come to replace and denounce them.”

Me: “Thank You, Lord, for all that You do, both seen and unseen.”

He smiled at me and then hugged me. He then mounted His horse again.

Jesus: “Erin, I am here. Do not worry. Rejoice. While I must go for now, remember that I am always with you.”

Me: “Lord, where are You going? May I go with You?”

Jesus: “Not yet. I am preparing a way for you where there was previously no way.” He smiled. “Do not worry as there will be much for you to do. Now rejoice. You have waited for this. Remember who I am. Do not be afraid.”

Just as I looked up, the sun shined all around Him. His horse then made an awesome neighing sound as he leaped to his hind legs. Neither painting nor photo has ever beheld a more majestic sight as what I was seeing. The Conquering Hero is on His faithful steed! He is truly the King of kings and the Lord of lords. I could see the Lord’s hands on the horse’s rein. Even more importantly, I could see His shining crown.

Communion

Dear Father,

I am anxious about so many things. What is my life about here? I know others out there are blessed by the dreams and visions You have gifted me with and I am so thankful. At least my struggles have helped others in their 'Jesus Journey'. I would not give this up for anything. As I sit here today though, I am afraid. I am afraid of being stuck here alone.

The winters are harsh here. We live in a remote location. If my husband goes with our boys to the west, how will we manage? Even though one will most likely stay behind, it will still be hard on all of us. If they all go, which I don't think will happen, who will shovel the snow? Who will carry heavy things? What if I become worse? While I know the Lord has us in His hands, it is still worrisome to my earthly self.

Lord, my older daughter is a senior in high school, while my younger daughter will be a freshman. I will have to drive them to school daily, at least until my daughter gets her license. Even if she had her license, there will only be one car. I will be lonely here. As it stands right now, I am scared. I feel that I will soon be alone, possibly for the rest of my life. As I wrote this, I had severe abdominal pain in my herniated area.

When it passed, I was able to continue. I thought of my grandparents. I remember mocking them that they had no mobility. Well, now my health is as bad as theirs, but I am at a much younger age than they were. Still, I know You are with us, Lord, even when we are sick, perhaps especially when we are sick. I feel low today as I just feel no closer to healing and no closer to help here.

Lord, I am ready to live. I want to run and have energy. I want to be productive and do things spontaneously without pre-planning every move. I am in prison in this painful aging body. Much of my 'temple' issues are my own fault. However, I also know that this has been allowed by You. Please, Father, I can't do this alone. I know what it is like to be alone and it is not easy.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I saw Jesus standing next to His horse. A halo of light was over them. He was smiling as He held the reins of His horse. For some reason, Him holding the reins seemed curious to me today. I ran over to Him and hugged Him.

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. My burden is great. I have many worries and these don't add to my days."

Jesus: "You just noticed Me holding the reins. Now, why would I need to do this?"

Me: Thinking for a moment. "Well, You are one with Your horse. You are the perfect rider on the perfect horse. There is nothing in Heaven contrary to You or in need of leading as You are head over all things here. In contrast, there is rebellion on Earth, but not here in Heaven."

After saying this, His horse did something unexpected. He playfully started to buck to make it seem like he was no longer listening to Jesus.

Jesus: Turning and addressing His horse. "Hmm, okay, finally, My friend, the rebellion here starts with you."

Me: Laughing. "You are both funny. Okay, so the reins are here to show me for my benefit that You lead."

Jesus: "Very good, Erin, very good." Just then, the reins disappeared.

Me: "Wait...where did the reins go?"

Jesus: "Hmm, were they ever really here to begin with? Does it matter? This was to show you, Erin, that I lead. Or perhaps you would like to?"

He put His hand on His chin as if to ponder the thought.

Me: "No, Lord, You are better. Think of this though...I am an old horse out in a distant pasture, the ground is uneven and each day brings new challenges. There are gopher holes, heat, storms, arthritis and loneliness challenging me. There is no rider. After a while, hope becomes an issue. As my eyesight diminishes, I become scared. What if I am left in the field and no one calls me into the stable at night? Predators will come and trouble follows. I know that You love me and Your horse, so please don't bring me this far just to leave me alone."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, what you see in the natural is only part of a grand plan. I understand and your illustration parable has moved Me." Just then, His horse nudged His arm. "Apparently, My horse has also been moved by your story." He smiled. "However, there is many moving parts to the story. Erin, you are part of My story and there is many of you. Consider this day for instance and check it for yourself. A proposal of peace has officially begun in Israel."

I did as I was asked and found the following in the Jerusalem Post: 'Jared Kushner meets with Netanyahu in Israel as U.S. doubles down on Peace Plan: Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu met Wednesday evening (July 31, 2019) with senior White House adviser Jared Kushner, who is on a tour of five Middle East countries before Washington decides on the next step following June's economic workshop in Bahrain.'

Me: "I just looked this up. This seems more important than in June as this proposal of peace was made on Israeli soil as opposed to Bahrain. Lord, I looked at CNN, MSNBC and other sites, but nothing is mentioned at all about this. Why is the mainstream media not covering this important story?"

Jesus: "Erin, you must always look to who owns the ability to scribe or testify to a story or news. I hold the reins to all of this by My Father's authority. However, you must understand that these omissions, half-truths and lies are not from Me. One day very soon, not one lie will be unconfessed and the guilty will be humbled."

Me: "Thank You, Lord, but, for now, it just seems like a daily struggle just to find any good news."

Jesus: "I understand. Evil has increased. Lawlessness and rebellion have multiplied and the love of most will grow cold. Because of the increase in lies and the spreading of these lies, those who entertain the media or take in the material and write these false narratives and teachings on the tablets of their hearts...well, hearts will turn to stone and what is written there will be the dialogs of self.

"The heart is a living organism and is the muscle that moves the flow of blood. However, hearts will one day fail as the veil lifts. I have called my servants to die to the things of this world, but, more importantly, to die to self and the idol worship of self. Those whom I have prepared will be great witnesses for the Great Harvest.

"Now, I know that you are waiting and there seems to be nothing. To you, it seems like there is very little movement. Because of this, you doubt your position. However, think of yourself as part of an invading army instead. The enemy clamors, gets drunk, has unlimited resources and, night after night, you have to listen to their lies and bold claims under the cover of night from your hidden position.

"For now, your Commander and Chief..." He pointed to Himself. "...and the Holder of the reins has said, 'wait, stand down, only observe the wicked.' However, day after day, you hear them defile God, defile your Commander and defile you and your children by their words and displays. From your position, you then wonder, 'how much longer must we hear this? How much longer must we endure this abuse?'

"Meanwhile, the enemy camp believes you are useless and not a significant threat. They even say 'look, God has abandoned His children.' Now, what is better...to be silent until the day My trumpets sound and My mighty army descends from on high or to reveal your position, thereby exposing your rank, prior to the perfect day? Erin, let them celebrate and continue on their course. They do not see that this time is like that time of the days of Noah and that day of Lot, understand? While they make their foolish plans, look to the hills. Who then is there over and around the valley?"

Me: "Do You mean the angel armies?"

Jesus: "Correct, Erin. Now, please understand that this is My plan. I see what you cannot unless I allow you to see it. Please be encouraged. I protect you in the storm and I call you there in the midst of it. Now, do not worry. Even though you see and hear all that the enemy sends and the sound of the enemy is loud, do not worry. While it is difficult to keep yourself from it, change your thinking and instead observe.

"Erin, change your perspective and observe the wicked. As you do, ask Me to reveal hidden things. Do not judge as some of these will be redeemed. Some have severe strongholds and demons, some are offended by others and some are even victims with open wounds. These could be some of those that I call you to, so pray for them."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but why would You not instead call me to all of them?"

Jesus: "This is because not all are chosen. Remember that I am an active living God and Savior. I call out to each one multiple times and some even more. However, at some point, enough is enough and I give a man fully over to his appetite for evil."

Me: "But as God, You really already know who, right?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, but this too is a mystery. Remember, observe and I will speak to you as you pray."

Me: "Okay, Lord, but I have a long list."

Jesus: "Well, I am a big Savior. With that being said, as Commander over a large angel army, I believe I can handle your list, right?" He smiled.

Me: Smiling. "Please don't leave anyone behind."

Jesus: "Let Me be God and you be Erin. I love and care for those I call. Do not worry. Now rejoice as these are good days." He reached over and hugged me.

Me: "I love You, Lord. Thank You!"

Jesus: "Yes, and I first loved you. I have the reins."

Dream 346 – One Long & Fun Sub-Dream

Received Friday, August 2, 2019

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another cooler day! Thank You for protecting our children. Thank You for sustaining us. Father, I had a long, but exciting, dream last night...

Sub-dream begins...

My husband and I were in a city with a series of street roundabouts. It seemed like Bend OR or Portland OR, but I was not sure. While we were Transformed and very active, I had the feeling that our 'official time of service' had not yet begun. We were in 'low-beam state' and waiting for the signs and call from the Lord into greater service. The weather was warm, but fall was in the air. School orientations were beginning.

My husband and I were riding in a car that I did not recognize. We were driving along a ridge area similar to the Skyline Drive in Portland OR. However, the city below us did not look like Portland OR. There was a lot of new construction, including parks and roadways being built or upgraded.

As we were driving, we came upon what looked like an accident on one of the roundabouts. There were firetrucks, paramedic vehicles and police cars. I recognized an elderly woman there who was having her heart worked on and asked my husband to stop the car. I had a tough time getting to her because there were so many emergency crews. I saw that one of the cars in the accident was on fire.

Since it was a convertible, I was able to see into the backseat of the car. There were three items: A small stuffed bear, a book and a small plastic snack container. Based on this, I knew to look around for a child. Sure enough, there on the side of the road, was a little girl crying. While I went over to her, my husband reached in and grabbed the stuffed bear and the book. The little girl, around seven years old, was sobbing...

Little girl: "It's all my fault. My nanna is dead."

Me: "Your nanna will be fine. She will live. I have it on good authority."

I already knew God was about to heal her. My husband picked her up and her sobbing started to subside. It stopped when he gave her the stuffed bear and the book.

Husband: "Are these yours?"

Little girl: "Yes! Thank you."

Me: "Don't worry. I will go check on your nanna."

Little girl: "Wait, Miss Erin!"

I froze. I had not given her my name. I turned back towards her.

Little girl: "Enoch and Elijah are coming."

The little girl then pulled out a type of round replica of the Earth. As she held it out with her hand, the replica changed from the Earth into a flower. Moments after turning into a flower, it withered. The girl became visibly sad about it withering.

Little girl: "The Earth and the peoples will grieve because they will now know what they have done to the Lord. The Wailing Wall will fall and the people of Jerusalem will understand. Thus, says the Lord!"

As soon as she finished speaking, she started to suck her thumb. I could hear her grandmother call out her name in the distance.

Nanna: "Abbey? Abigail? Where are you?"

Abbey: Shouting back. "Nanna, I am here! Nanna!"

Husband: "Abbey, do you remember what you just said to us?"

Abbey: "Yes. An angel came and sat next to me in the backseat and told me this. Nanna then crashed the car."

Me: "Don't tell anyone what the angel told you, okay?"

Abbey: "I won't. The angel meant it for you."

We walked Abbey over to her grandmother. My husband and I prayed and her vehicle was restored. The emergency crews were baffled as there was now no evidence of the car being in flames. Abbey and her grandmother held each other as they waved goodbye. My husband and I went back to our car. We were both in shock.

Me: "I don't believe that this was from an angel of the Lord's. What do you think?"

Husband: "I agree. The Lord would have told us this directly, not through this little girl. I believe that this is part of the deception."

Me: "This must be part of our training as the Lord is not outright confirming this. Since He is being quiet on this, humorously so, I just know that He will send another confirmation."

We both smiled in agreement. We then drove to a church that doubled as a private Christian school. We were there to get some information on their teaching doctrine and other beliefs. The school was in the process of orientation for the elementary age children and their parents. As we walked in, we were directed to wait in a reception area.

Although we then realized we were somehow now in an entirely different city, we recognized a 'unifying demonic spirit' in the people here that we had seen before where we currently live. We soon found out that this church was based on a very strange Baptist, Dutch-like, Norwegian doctrine. We have encountered several of these 'type of people' here, as well as a few girls that our daughters go to school with.

In summary, they do not recognize that miracles are for today and don't believe that Jesus can speak through His followers. This group of people seemed very unhappy to see us. The room was dark and I heard whispering and murmuring. I excused myself to go to the washroom. As I walked down the hall, I was approached by a little boy. He had a name tag on that read 'Matthew'. The boy smiled at me and came over to talk.

Matthew: "Hello, Miss Erin."

There was my name again. I smiled as I immediately knew that this was the Lord's confirmation that these messages were coming from the enemy and not Him. I also knew that this was not the boy's fault, so I treated him like I would any other child.

Me: "Well, hello, Matthew."

Matthew: "The times of the beginning of the end have come. Enoch has told me. Look, there is a chart!"

The boy pointed to a chart on the wall of moon phases. However, the chart was incomplete. It consisted of three waxing moons turning into a full moon and then three waning moons after it. There were seven moons in total. Obviously, in this chart, there was no new moon or the other waxing or waning phases.

Me: "Who told you this, Matthew?"

Matthew: "An angel. I am to tell you that the time of great mourning is coming. The angels are warning you. Enoch told me."

I thought this was strange. How could this be both an angel and Enoch at the same time. It suddenly hit me...

Me: "Hmm, was the angel called Enoch?"

Matthew: "No. The angel spoke for Enoch."

Me: "Oh, I see. So, is Enoch around here somewhere?"

I kept my composure, but I was not happy that these fallen angels were giving deceiving messages to these children. The demons were clearly baiting me and my husband to engage them. As we knew that this was part of our training, neither of us took the bait.

Matthew: "No. He said that he is too powerful to be around you."

Me: "Hmm, so he is too powerful. Interesting." I shook my head. "Matthew, I am going to walk you back to your parents. However, can I give you a little tip first?"

Matthew: "Sure."

Me: "Always stay with another person, even to go to the bathroom." I then looked on the wall and saw a toy shield and a toy sword on display. "Do you believe in miracles?"

Matthew: "Oh yes!"

Me: "Good! Now, here is your shield."

As I handed the shield to him, his name appeared on it. There was more. It now read 'Matthew, child of God'.

Me: "Now, here is your sword too. While this sword cannot kill a person, it is still powerful."

I pointed to some wording on the sword's 'blade' and it now said 'Jesus, the Truth Bearer'. I then pointed to the handle of the sword and it now had Matthew's name on it.

Me: "Now, this is a special sword. When you see a person or an angel that you are uncertain of, hold up your shield and wave your sword. You will then know instantly whether or not they are telling the truth."

Matthew: "How cool! May I try this on my parents?"

I nodded yes. I chuckled as I thought this might be entertaining. When I arrived in the room with Matthew, the parents looked alarmed.

Matthew's mom: Looking at Matthew's sword and shield. "Now, who gave you these?"

Matthew: Pointing at me. "Erin did. Miss Erin gave me these for my protection!"

Matthew's mom: "Well, I will have to take these away from you now."

Matthew held up his shield and sword. My husband had his arms crossed and was shaking his head in amusement. We knew this would be a good 'God show'. Just then, all of the parents began to say very harsh things against everyone else in the room. They began to rattle off how they really felt about each other. I quickly went over and brought Matthew out of the room before the parents could turn on him.

Matthew: "Even though that was awesome, it still hurt. At least I now know, right?"

I looked over at his sword and shield and noticed that a button had now appeared on his sword.

Me: "Here, see this button on the side of your sword? Press this button in front of the person who you want to tell the truth. This way you aren't hearing from everyone."

Matthew shook his head in agreement. Matthew, my husband and I were now laughing so hard.

Me: "When the truth becomes too hard to hear, simply hold up your shield and it will stop. You also need to know that, when you don't know what to do, call out to Jesus for help. He will then send others like me or my husband or His angels. He will also speak directly to you at times as well."

Matthew: "While I love Jesus, I don't like what the parents in my church say about Him."

Me: "What do you mean?"

Matthew: "They say He doesn't hear us. They say He doesn't care about us because He is too busy for us."

Me: "Well, even though they must believe this, just know that they are wrong."

Matthew: "Thanks for the shield and the sword. However, they will want to know why you didn't give me the full armor, like it is in the Scriptures."

Me: Laughing. "Well, you now have the full armor of God." The Lord instantly put it on him. "Now, just for fun, let us go back in with the full armor lest they say that I am sent of the devil because I gave you only a sword and shield."

We were both laughing as we went back into the room. Based on the looks of shock on the parents' faces and my husband's laughter at seeing the full armor, I knew that this was exactly what they had been talking about. The parents were now saying all kinds of nasty things to us even though they now knew that God was fully in control. Matthew addressed them all in a very loud voice.

Matthew: "This armor is hot and is making me sweaty. Jesus just told me that all I need to carry is my sword and shield and the rest will be with me invisibly."

Matthew's mom: Looking over at me with such hate. "You are a vile woman. You caused my son to rebel. You are evil. You are such a..."

Just then, and before she could finish, my husband waved his hand. Her lips were instantly sealed shut. She had a look of sheer terror on her face.

Me: Addressing my husband. "Let's go. There is just too much leaven in this room."

The other parents were now yelling at us. My husband waved his hand again and now everyone's lips were closed. My husband addressed them in an authoritative voice.

Husband: "Make no mistake...God even sends children to humble the proud. You have very little time to make changes. However, don't wait as the time to do this is right now."

After saying this, we noticed that a whole bunch of shields and swords had arrived 'God-express'. We equipped all of the children with their own shields and swords. These were instantly customized with their names as they were handed out, just like Matthew's sword and shield had been customized with his name.

Me: Addressing the children. "Do not worry. Your parents will be able to speak again in a few hours. Now, do not believe the lies that God no longer does miracles as you now have seen that He still does."

The children nodded their heads in agreement. As we left the school, my husband and I laughed and thanked God for these children as, without them, their parents would have no relationship with Jesus. As we walked over to our car, both of us felt the confirmation of Jesus in us...we were 'as one body' with Him. We both knew that the enemy was now intently watching us and even using children as his vessels.

My husband and I prayed for the protection of these children. God confirmed that He would block the enemy's attempts that so many of us had encountered. I just knew that all of this was meant for our Divine Training. As my husband and I walked hand in hand, we professed our love for the Lord and all that He was doing with us.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for my children. Thank You for our home. While nothing is perfect here on Earth, it is perfectly Yours, so thank You. The kids come home from Washington State on the weekend. I am relieved as their trip out west has not been a happy one for them. Father, I am struggling right now. The doctor in Seattle prescribed a special pain drug that has had some horrible side effects.

While, yes, my pain is almost gone, the side effects are numerous and daunting. This medication makes me feel exhausted, hungry, depressed and irritable. Father, I hate to say this, but I prefer my pain over these side effects. There is just too much of a cost. Even with the pain lessened, I could still not work as this causes me to fatigue very easily. I also would not have the attention span that a client would expect and deserve.

Father, I am petitioning for relief from You and not from man. I prefer meek, joyful and in pain over this alternative. Sigh...I have been here so many times with the same requests. One day soon, Father, I just know that You will deliver me from my afflictions. You are not a cruel God, so I also just know that all of this, yes, even the pain vs the side effects, is all allowed by You as part of Your plan for me.

On a brighter side, my husband's interviews, two of them so far, have went well. Lord, I pray that this door opens wide for us. You continue to sustain us and we are so thankful. Please continue to keep the enemy from us and please continue to bless us. I had a disturbing dream last night...

Sub-dream description begins...

I was considering donating my set of golf clubs. When I found them in the garage, I was upset that I had left the top of my clubs uncovered. They had now been like this for a few years now. They had been uncovered ever since my injury. Just as I was about to pick up my bag of clubs, I discovered a small opening at the base of the bag. Since this hole was not there before, I was just too curious not to look inside.

I soon became horrified as, right there before my eyes, was a massive pile of dead gray mice. The mice were stacked up one on top of each other and in every size imaginable. I jumped back when I saw one of the mice starting to move. It seemed barely alive and very weak. Next to this pile of dead mice, I saw an odd metal device with a bunch of screws. It was clacking and making some really creepy sounds.

Even though this device was not living, it seemed to now be frightened of me. It ran out of the golf bag and headed for the open door. To my surprise, the weak mouse suddenly gained strength and ran right after this contraption. I looked down the street and could see the mouse running with the steel device. I was relieved to have both of them off of my property.

Sub-dream description over...

After I woke up, You gave me a download of a type of demonic spirit that has been prevalent my entire life. This spirit has been stripping me of provision at every turn. It was there when I injured myself and even seemed to be responsible for the fall. It seemed to be at the root of so many of my troubles. If nothing else, it kept me from realizing my potential at anything and everything.

In the past, this spirit had convinced me to be comfortable in my lack. Whenever You would send abundance to me, it would immediately begin to strip us of all that we had. If we were instead cautious with our money and bought lesser quality, this spirit then went to work to have it breakdown. It then will try to convince you to hoard and store away for trouble. Even so, it then sends contaminants to destroy your stockpile.

Father, I am guilty of storing food for emergencies. I have fortified my supplies in order to prepare for possible trouble. I do this instead of trusting You in all things. I have an impoverished mindset. I have been deceived into believing that this was wise thinking. Please help me, Father, as this entity is extremely evil and powerful. It is horrible.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I saw Jesus at the end of the path in the aspen grove. He was again holding the reins to His horse. I reached down for the hem of my dress in order to run into His arms. When Jesus noticed that I had reached down, He exaggeratedly took the palm of His hand and placed it on His forehead and shook His head. He was laughing.

I quickly dropped the hem of my dress and ran to Him. Before I reached Him, the reins in His hands disappeared. With both of His hands now free, He was able to catch me as I jumped into His arms. We were both laughing as He spun me around in the air.

Jesus: "Well, that was quite the entrance today!"

Me: "Lord, thank You for everything!"

Jesus: "Erin, you are welcome. Now, I know you have questions. Come with Me."

He helped me climb up onto His horse with Him. In an instant, we were flying in the air. I looked down and could see the aspens, the vineyards and the beautiful valley of Beracha. We were flying over the beautiful lakes, fields and estates. It was like no other place on Earth. It was uniquely and perfectly Heaven. We soon set down beyond a field of flowers. As He helped me dismount, I realized that we were now at the base of the Seven Pools from past dreams.

Me: "Lord, it has been a longtime since I was here. It feels like years even."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, but I have brought you here for a different purpose this time."

The pools were beautiful. The rocks in each of the pools shined like jewels. I noticed that the lake at the bottom was larger than the one above it. As the pools progressed up the hill, they became smaller and smaller. This somehow made sense to me.

Jesus: "Erin, these are representative of your 'faith journey'. We are now here at the largest pool as this is the point of your greatest faith. All of the above pools eventually flow into this one. Now, look over there..."

There was a small stream that flowed forth from the large pool. This small stream then watered the flowering fields and orchards of fruit trees. The area of these fields and orchards were massive. There were gardens and beautiful places surrounding each of them. The walking paths and parks were much more beautiful than any on Earth.

Me: "Lord, is this all supplied by the largest pool at the bottom? I guess it easily could be given that this is Heaven, right?" I laughed.

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, yes, Erin."

I was overcome with emotion from all of the beauty surrounding me. I plopped down on the ground and started to cry. I soon put my head to my knees as I started to weep. It was not long before I was also weeping as I was writing.

Me: "All I ever seem to do is cry, Lord. I am overwhelmed. I am frozen. How do I make a difference? I can do nothing apart from You. I long to be with You. I long to be used by You and not just as a scribe of my failures and Your miracles in me. I instead long to be living proof of Your power of healing.

"I long to show Your power of the physical manifestations of Your healing. I am tired, Lord. I am tired of the stripping and gnawing locusts. I am tired of mice, dead or alive. I cannot stand worms or flies. Please, Lord, remove these and cutoff their supplies. Show me more of what I must do to stop them."

Jesus: "Erin, look up." He was smiling at me with such empathy. "Please stand up." I did. He looked me in my eyes. "Now, why did I allow you this dream? Are you not relieved that sources of your trouble have now died and have been removed? In your dream, there were mounds of these dead spirits. These entities were thieves and extremely unclean. They spread diseases. However, look where they were in your dream. They were at the bottom of your golf bag. Do you remember when this was?"

Me: "Yes, I remember! I was living in Portland OR. I had just had my second surgery on my neck. I believe it was the summer of 2002, but I am not really sure about that or if it really matters. My mom had decided to treat me by buying me a new set of irons. The set of irons I already had back then were too difficult for me to use as they were for professionals. It was extremely heartbreaking. Yes, I do remember..."

Jesus: "Ah, but you are forgetting some key things. Please continue with your story."

Me: "My mom decided to gift me these because she knew I was coming against severe opposition from those closest to me that wanted me to quit playing. While golf had brought me a lot of pain as I ultimately failed to use it as my career, I still loved to play the game. I loved being outside. Each time I played, I felt happy and felt like I had learned yet another life lesson. "Two pros worked with me to fit me with the new irons. They knew about my background. One of the pros in particular saw potential in my future, either as a club competitor or teaching pro. As for me, I was just happy to be playing again. They first tried several men's senior sets as women's clubs were not that great back then. Since nothing was working, I decided to ask them to find me some heavier clubs instead.

"They were still having trouble finding them when I decided to excuse myself to go to the golf shop's washroom. There in front of me was a set of Titleist DT tour blades meant for professionals. I took out a 7 iron and a 5 iron and walked back to the range to test them out. The pros were concerned and told me that even they could not use these advanced clubs successfully.

"Well, I didn't listen and ended up hitting each ball absolutely perfectly. I was so happy that I had tears of joy streaming down my cheeks. The pros could not believe it, but saw the proof right there in front of them. They brought out the rest of the clubs and I proceeded to hit each one perfectly and with precision. I was even able to generate backspin on the 9 iron. We purchased them and I left a happy person.

"Little did I know that I would never really golf again for both health and financial reasons, all caused by the enemy. There was stuff with my children, the divorce and my heart and the clubs were left unused as a result. Yes, I hit some balls at a driving range every now and then, but otherwise these clubs simply collected dust. What this was for, Lord, You know, as nothing escapes You. Still, why, Lord?"

Jesus: "While these clubs were a blessing, they also increased the attacks against you. The enemy stopped you at every turn from having any hope.

Yes, I know that you will now say I was still in control of this and allowed it, but I was still with you every step of the way.”

Me: Crying. “Lord, I remember. Yes, I remember. While I gave away the woods from my golf bag, I never could force myself to give away those irons. They were made for me. They were from my mom. It was a promise of someday and I held onto this. Please forgive me, Lord, as I held very tightly to this.”

Jesus: “Oh Erin, I am not here to admonish you for holding onto your dream or this golf bag. I am instead revealing to you a particular group of very evil spirits. These spirits kill dreams and invade and destroy that which is good. While I did not send these, they were still part of your refinement. In your dream, one was barely alive, but it then fled and will not return. However, something else was there. What was that? Any guess?”

Me: Shaking my head. “Well, yes. It looked like a larger version of the titanium hinge with screws that they removed from my neck. I believe that this was in the fall of either 2002 or 2003, but I don’t remember.”

Jesus: “Yes, it was part of an enemy plan to keep you from realizing your dreams. This spirit has constantly stripped you of your dreams, your art and the gifts given to you by God. Erin, the goal was to strip you of each of your talents. Still, it only had permission to torment you for only certain venues and certain time periods. It was restricted.”

Me: “Yes, I know this to be true as I could never be as creative as I knew I could when I was painting or drawing. That being said, I was then able to illustrate with precision when it came to technical drawings. After a while, even this too stopped.”

Jesus: “Now that we have identified this, let’s now break it down and remove its power over you. It was sent to burden you by removing anything that brought you joy, even if it had to break your neck to do it.

Me: “Oh wow, Lord, that was a ‘lightbulb moment!’”

Jesus: “Unfinished projects are now heavy burdens and failures ruined by time and guilt. While shame then follows, this is not by My design. This is the group of these evil spirits working together. Here, look...” He reached for my hand and walked me over to the pool. He picked up a small pebble and dropped it into the pool. This then caused a uniform ripple. The water soon calmed itself and everything was clear. “Now, come with me...” He then took me to the very top pool. “Now, look at this.”

He picked up a medium-sized stone and dropped it into the small pool. This not only caused a huge splash, but it even disrupted the flow of all of the pools. He then took this stone and rolled it down through each of the pools. When the stone hit each pool, the pool spilled over and was no longer clean. The stone finally came to rest in the largest pool at the bottom.

Jesus: "Okay, Erin, it is time to go down and remove that boulder."

Me: "Wait...what? Boulder? It was just a medium-sized stone."

We walked together to the bottom pool. He then reached down like a superhero and picked up the stone. However, this stone was now the size of half a car and would have weighed several tons. With a smile and with no effort, He then tossed it behind His back as if it was a light piece of crumpled paper. When the boulder landed, it made a huge crashing sound. I was now laughing so hard.

Me: "Lord, that was awesome. You are so strong. I wish I had just a small portion of your strength. You are amazing."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, you are here in the seventh pool. Your faith is good. While the enemy longs to destroy you, your tests are over. You have finished. Anything coming against you now will come to nothing. The enemy is trying to attack you from all angles, but it will not succeed. This has come to a close. I have closed this door. You are now to recognize the patterns of the advancement of the enemy in the lives of others."

As He said this, I began to feel healing in my body on Earth as I stood in the pool with Jesus in Heaven.

Me: "Oh Lord, this water is so wonderful!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, it is."

Me: "Lord, I believe that, when the enemy knows you are marked by God at birth, it sees and observes your course and then devises schemes against things which are good and bring you joy. He then strips you using things such as money and health."

Jesus: "Well, try to think of it this way instead...the enemy either strips you of wealth or gives you too much wealth. If it is up to the enemy, this will be a scale that will never be balanced. Now, let's first look at the man in poverty. The enemy seeks to keep him in this state. Now, look at the man who is wealthy. The enemy tries to keep him there by making him a lover of more and more wealth. Understand?

"The enemy then introduces things that bring great loss to both. For the wealthy, this is the sin of power, lust and adultery, along with the dangers of each of these. Whether rich or poor, it is, in ways, essentially the same types of dangers. Where ever you are, the enemy is there to send more trouble. However, there is good news here, Erin, as I am there to deliver you from all of it."

Me: "So, Lord, why do I worry when I have as much faith as You say I have?"

Jesus: "This is because I have now brought you out of your troubles. The enemy is unhappy about this and is now trying to call you back. These tactics are like an old habit, a learned behavior or a familiar bad 'friend'.

While you have now been removed from these, circumstances surrounding you make you fearful of letting go.

"This is like you not wanting to let go of the hem of your gown. This is like you not wanting to let go of the reins of your horse. Remember that I have the reins and I am in control, okay? Your anxiety and worry are not moving your 'faith result'. It is not advancing My Will. I am here with you and I have not forgotten you.

"I am not here to make you feel guilty. I am not calling you to repent for things you are not responsible for. However, you must still repent if you choose to jump in the cesspool and participate." He smiled and nodded. "Right?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, but You are now protecting me from all of this, right?"

Jesus: "Very good, Erin. Yes, I am. So, Erin, understand that I send revelation in dreams and visions. I also send confirmations. Now, you cried out and I came. However, since I am already with you always, I am there immediately whenever you cry out. I am there! Erin, I am the Voice of Truth."

Me: "Thank You, Lord. However, I feel as if I am still afraid of my own garage. How many mice are out there?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Well, whenever there is an 'elephant in the room', there will be a mouse. Remove the fear. Remove the worry by making it so that there is nothing for the mice to get into. By the way, there are multiple layers to what I am saying here."

Me: "Okay, Lord. Please show me what to do next and I will follow. Please go before me and I will follow You."

Jesus: Smiling. "Okay, we can get out of the healing pool now."

He walked over to the side.

Me: "Okay, Lord, but I like this place and would like to stay here all day."

Jesus: Laughing. "Oh Erin, your faith has healed you. Erin, come!"

He splashed me and held out His hand. I reached for His hand and He led me out of the pool. He smiled at me with a confidence and warmth that defies descriptions.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for getting all of us through one more day! While my pain is back, I am more relieved that the horrible symptoms of the medication is gone. My two youngest are coming home from their father's house this weekend, so the attacks there have ramped up. Even though we were attacked, nothing prevailed to strip us from our joy. The day ended with my husband receiving some good news about the door You have opened.

My daughter and youngest son had an unbelievable attack from the enemy last night. Their father went back on several promises and then became aggressive when he was confronted on this. The things he said to my youngest son as a result were curses and lies. These cannot be walked back as the damage was already done. One of the arguments was about my son asking to mail the gifts he received there.

These are gifts he received for his birthday that now will not fit in his suitcase. Even though his father promised to do this for him, he is now saying, 'No, if it doesn't fit, you will just need to leave it behind.' Well, when I heard this, I quickly made some phone calls and found a mailbox service place. When I talked to them, they indicated that they would package the items for him and I could make a payment over the phone.

The children were relieved. This will take some stress off of them. This is a father who has not had to pay a dime of support, yet receives the tax credits for them. Even so, he then does not send them gifts or anything, not even cards, for birthdays or holidays. He says horrible things about me to them, all lies, and it is awful. He has spread false lies and continues to torment us. Father, I just ask that You get these kids home without incident as this will be their last mandated trip under the courts that the kids will have to take. This will be a huge burden taken off of me. I then received an odd personal attack in the early morning hours today. This related to my pantry, which is good timing as You spoke to me about my pantry just two days ago.

I was awoken at 5:00am today by a panicked knocking from my oldest son. He explained to me that we were having an invasion of large black ants in our pantry. When he showed me, I was grossed out. There were literally a hundred large black ants. However, this is the most bizarre thing. They were all confined to a box of Froot Loops. We could not find them anywhere else.

Getting rid of this problem was just as easy as putting the offending box in a garbage bag and tying the top. We continued to look for more of them, but there was not one to be found. Making this even weirder was that there was no sign of a trail. There is usually a trail, so just how did they get here?

I then knew that this just had to be supernatural as I have never seen nor experienced anything like this before. Hmm, I will be keeping my eyes open today for trouble. Yes, while I know that the enemy's attacks will no longer 'stick', I am still to observe them from a distance. Anyway, this waking up suddenly by my son helped me remember two of my dreams quite vividly...

Sub-dream 1 "Grounded for two more days" description begins...

We had been away for five days at a distant city. On the morning of our checkout, a horrible disaster occurred and all flights were cancelled and airports closed. I went to the ticket counter and they said that we would need to seek alternative arrangements for at least two days. We drove back to the hotel that we had just checked out of. I walked over to the hotel clerk at the front desk.

Me: "There was an incident keeping flights grounded. Is there any way we could get back into our previous room? We would need the room for at least two more days."

Clerk: "Unfortunately, we are completely offline right now. However, here are your old keys. Let's pretend that you didn't check out. This will work because no one can check in right now with our computer system down. As far as I am concerned, you had continued your stay with us and are still our guests."

She then found our earlier paperwork and smiled. We then chuckled together when she then ripped all of the associated paperwork in half. She then handed us the room keys. While we were relieved, I was not sure how we would be able to afford it. My husband saw this in a different light.

Husband: "Don't worry, Erin, this is a divine delay. God has this! When has He ever not made a way when something like this has happened?"

Sub-dream 1 description over...

After trying to go back to sleep for a while, I dozed off for about 45 minutes. During this short time, I had another dream. I was then awakened to another sound. I had a very amusing dream. I was being interviewed and followed around by a journalist. While I am not sure who the journalist was, he looked almost identical to David Muir from ABC News. While this person wasn't David, I will address him as 'David' just for fun.

Sub-dream 2 "A Journalist wanting to deceive" description begins...

I was sitting in a restaurant in a distant city that I used to work at. I had now been Transformed and had the appearance of someone in my twenties. I was being followed around by 'David' as he had wanted to do an interview with me. I was not interested and was trying to get away from him. I went into an elevator and he saw me from a distance. As the door shut, he tried to get to me, but it was too late. Just as the elevator door closed, I shouted out to him...

Me: "Why don't you chase violators of plastic straw use instead."

It was not until the elevator door closed that I noticed I was not alone. A woman was standing there holding her baby girl. The baby looked about six months old. While she looked healthy and happy, the mother had a dead look on her face. As we exited the elevator, there was a crowd there waiting for tables in the restaurant. Off to the side, I noticed another baby, a boy, also around six months old, tied to a chair.

This second baby looked to be in great distress. He was facing the corner walls while an older child was attempting to feed him. I was confused as to how they thought this would even be possible as the baby's mouth had been gagged. In disgust, I went over to this baby boy and untied him. Now freed, the baby reached up for me. I picked him up and held him. He looked so happy to be in my arms.

Since this baby boy looked so similar to the baby girl and they were both the same age, I just knew that they had to be twins. I set out to look for the mother. I soon found her in the distance with a blank stare on her face. The mother was still holding her baby girl. As I got closer, I no longer had any doubt that these two babies were twins. They just looked too much alike. I approached the mother...

Me: "Is this not your baby boy?" I then pointed towards the baby girl that she was holding. "Is she not his twin?"

Mother: "Well, yes. However, will you please take him. I don't want him. I keep trying to kill him, but he just won't die. No one will take him. Please take him or I will throw him in the river."

I thought she was just joking at first, but then quickly realized she was serious. It was also obvious to me that this boy was scared of her as he was clinging to me tightly.

Me: "Why did you turn on him, but not his twin sister?"

Mother: "I only wanted one baby. Well, I actually didn't even want one, but I can handle her. I just can't handle two. No man will take me with twins." She then got up to go to the elevator to try and escape me. When she got on the elevator, she positioned herself in a way that I could not get in with her.

Me: Calling out. "I am not sure you can even handle just one of them."

Holding her son, I decided to follow her on the next elevator down. When I reached the main floor and the doors opened, she was there being interviewed by a sympathetic looking 'David'. She was telling him a series of half-truths to make me look bad...

Mother: "People need to understand that, if I had to keep both babies, I would need to kill one just to survive." She then pointed at me as 'David' nodded his head in agreement. "That woman tried to give me back my baby boy, even though she knows that I would then be guilty of killing him."

'David': "That is terrible." He then looked at me. "How can you be like this? Do you not have any sympathy for this poor woman?"

Me: "Look, I will take this child, but..." 'David' interrupted me in mid-sentence.

'David': "There you have it, folks. You heard it here. Erin has agreed to the adoption of the baby."

Me: "Well, hold on. I still need to talk to my husband about this. This is a baby we are talking about, right?"

'David': "Oh, I see...you are saying that God doesn't want you taking care of His children. It certainly seems there might be a chance that you will give up the child and go back on your word if your husband says 'no'."

I felt the Lord tell me that He already informed my husband about what was happening and that he was fine with us keeping this baby and both of them if necessary. The Lord then told me that 'David' was trying to trick me by making me seem unstable. He then downloaded how I was to proceed.

Me: "While I agreed to keep this baby so he won't be harmed, you must still first legally waive your rights to me. We must do this with God as our witness, as well as 'David', okay?"

'David' seemed pleased that I had made him a witness, as well as the entire country. However, he was still looking for ways to trip me up. I heard the Voice of God give me further instructions...

God: "Take the child and do not engage further. There is an adoption form over there on the table. This form is legal and binding."

The woman agreed to this and signed her baby over to me. 'David' was then going to witness and notarize the papers, but became enraged when he found out that God had already notarized the document. While this notarization by God makes little sense in the world as we know it today, it somehow made perfect sense in the dream. I smiled as the twin girl and twin boy waved goodbye to each other. I then smiled and whispered to the little baby girl...

Me: "Do not worry. You will be protected. There are angels all around you."

Both babies suddenly started to giggle as they looked around. I could see mighty angels all around us, each with flaming swords. I realized that the babies could see what I was seeing. The Lord told me that I would soon have the baby girl too.

Me: "Don't worry, little one. I will come for you too. You will soon be with your brother."

As I was leaving with the baby boy, the mother became attracted to one of the camera crew that was with 'David'. There was an instant mutual attraction. This man first looked towards me and then whispered something to her. She nodded in agreement and walked over towards me. She handed me her baby girl.

Mother: "Here you go...two for one. Take them both. I want to be completely free."

I sighed deeply as I had not expected God to move so fast on this and was unprepared. 'David' saw my apprehension and tried to make it seem like I did not want the baby girl even though I did.

'David': Announcing in a loud voice. "Erin hesitated. We all could see it. Is she now going to deny this woman her happiness? Is she now going to keep these twins separated? Would this really be God's Will for His children?"

Me: Laughing. "No, of course not." I then addressed the mother. "Here, this is just a simple modification of the contract." We changed it. "Now you just need to sign it."

The woman immediately signed the contract. She had officially given away both of her babies. She did not even shed a tear. She did not even blink an eye. The twins looked delighted and so happy about this.

Me: Laughing and turning to 'David'. "Hey, aren't you going to film us happily walking into the sunset?"

'David': "Don't worry about me as my entire next segment will be all about you. It will answer the question of, 'how will Erin continue to do God's work for Him without neglecting her new baby twins?'"

Me: "Listen, your tricks won't work. I was sent here by God to save these two babies from evil. While I have adopted them to be a steward of them, they are God's children."

'David': "Well, God doesn't seem to care about so many people. He needs to do more and I am here to expose that 'truth'."

Me: "All you are doing is exposing half-truths with lies."

As I walked towards the parking lot with the twins, 'David' was still following me.

'David': Addressing the camera with me in the background. "So, folks, will Erin obey the law? Does God even recognize our laws? Time will tell."

Me: Addressing the twins. "This is all for show. They are trying to trip me up."

Just then, God arranged to have a brand-new minivan waiting for us, complete with regulation car seats. I laughed as I buckled the twins in. They were cooing and looked so happy to be with me and under the care of angels. I looked over at 'David' and rolled my eyes about his continued antics. He shook his head in disappointment.

Me: "Oh Lord, I would love it if you sent calamity upon these people."

I then saw the twin's mother with her arms around the cameraman. She looked so happy, it was disgusting. Not even a second thought about her twins. I sat in the driver's seat of the minivan and buckled in. As I was adjusting the rearview mirror, I saw that there were angels in the minivan with us. I laughed as I put the car into drive.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

What an odd couple of dreams! Is there ever a dull moment when You are in charge? You are so worthy of ALL our love and praises. I can hardly wait until we are all Transformed and can start doing such amazing things in Your name. Oh Lord, I pray that we will soon, very soon, be doing just that!

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for today! Thank You for a full house of laughter and joy. Thank You for delivering our children home. Father, my daughter was only ten years old when these dreams and visions began. I became injured when she was just 11.5 years old. For most of my time with her during very active years, I have been disabled. I have been inactive. It is a very difficult thing to promise something, but then have to walk it back due to pain and injury.

As a result, I stopped promising a long time ago. I truly live day-to-day because each morning dictates my plans to carry out tasks or stop my plans altogether. I never made promises because I knew the enemy loves to dive in and cause trouble when we do. He does this whenever one of Your children has plans. For the entire time my husband and I have been together, he has endured my disabled state.

Still, I know that this is all due to the Lord's 'Furnace Refining Beauty Treatments'. They serve a purpose, of which I will now try to list as follows:

- Your outward appearance ages as your inward appearance changes. The fire of your heart for God gives you a glow. People see this, but usually do not recognize why you have it. Those who have been through it will often recognize the similarities to what they have been through. Children and animals will often stare at you and smile. Unfortunately, the enemy also sees it too.
- The refining beauty treatments give your personality a lift. You have a little more grace and salt. You have a better sense of humor. Salt brings out flavor. This is the ability to have humility with humor. This is all part of 'God's Spice'.
- The furnace beauty treatment is the salvation 'Botox'. This treatment allows you to surrender to God's Will. You truly have no idea what all of this refining will look like until you go through it. Truly recognizing God as He is and as you are not can only be achieved by the injection of Jesus and the surrender of your life to Him for His purposes. While doing so on the very first furnace visit is very rare, this helps avoid having to continuously go back.
- The furnace refinery beauty treatment forced me to truly look at myself in the mirror. This led to seven distinct and somewhat humorous stages:
 - The first time, I looked at myself and sighed
 - The second time, I shook my head

- The third time, I ducked and avoided it all together
- The fourth time, I slapped the side of my cheek, stuck out my tongue and looked under the lids of my eyes for any signs of life
- The fifth time, I disguised myself as a Christian, wore a cross and bought some cool accessories
- The sixth time, I took out my Louisville Slugger baseball bat and shattered the mirror
- The seventh time, I picked up a broken piece of the mirror and saw my reflection of myself as being small. This was the final time. I now saw something different. There was wisdom from Jesus as I had now died to myself. I became small so that Jesus could become my God over all things. I finally let God reign completely

Perhaps you are someone in the furnace right now and are looking for tips on having a better 'furnace experience'. I say this with humor as the furnace experience is not meant to be easy, but is difficult for good reason. Still, if only I knew some of things I now know back then, I could have hopefully lessened the time and painfulness:

The first tip is to 'stay calm'! You are here because God sees something in you worthy of His great efforts to deliver you through it. He loves you.

The second tip is to not try to exit early. This has different ways of being put... 'turn and go back', 'bargain', 'climb out', etc. If you don't 'go with God's flow' on this, the flames will become hotter as the heat is turned up until you let go. Tears are okay though as they tend to bring down the flame's intensity. Just know that God has heard it all, so bargaining usually never works with God.

While bargaining is a method used to lessen your immediate circumstances, there is always a price to pay if granted. When I was young, I gave a girl who wanted to beat me up after school fifty cents to leave me alone. Well, it wasn't long before my $5 of birthday money was all gone as I kept having to pay this girl off. The lesson...you can't bargain without a cost.

God could then say, 'okay, out of mercy, I will stop right now, but these are My conditions...' Well, let me tell you, go through the furnace the first time instead because the enemy is the blacksmith and will do all he can to make sure you are unable to meet God's conditions of release. If you don't meet these, can you guess where you will end up? That's right...you will be right back into the furnace for a super-hot flaming timeout to eat a nice big slice of humble pie.

The third tip is to call out to Jesus in the midst of your furnace experience. This is awesome and recommended. It took my going through this a few times to figure out Jesus was right there with me. He gave me relief and sheltered me during my experiences. He was a tall glass of ice water in the hot furnace. The more of Jesus you have, the shorter and more fulfilling these experiences become. Just remember that these are still refining furnace beauty treatments and are not meant to 'feel good'. However, God is there in the fire to listen to you and instruct you.

The fourth tip is to come as you are and bring nothing with you. Anything taken with you to bring you comfort aside from God will go up in the flames. This includes a nice bed, your favorite pillow, special blankets and even stuffed animals. Everything but God is destroyed so that you only rely on Him and Him alone.

The fifth tip is to not invite your friends. Inviting your friends to suffer with you on your journey is just mean and a good way to lose them. This is selfish and could even get you five to ten years in the furnace. This journey is between you and God, period.

The sixth tip is to not declare a thing and break it: This is a surefire (pardon the pun) way to sign up for a lifetime of beauty treatments, God's 'Gold Edition'. This is usually entered into by way of absolutes (James 2:10-12, Matthew 5:33-37, 1 John 2:5, Numbers 30:1-2). Don't make promises you are incapable of keeping. Don't appease others with your tongue by saying something.

Don't make a contract for something you doubt you can fulfill. Do not use words such as 'never' or 'always'. Surely you will be tested and tripped up by these. Any vow, contract, covenant, declaration or absolute will be put to the fire. The tongue is foolish when apart from God. In business, I would make promises on things that I had no control over, especially on shipments.

I would tell my clients, 'it should be here in two weeks' or 'by so-and-so date' when I was in no position to make such declarations. After some time, and over many hard lessons learnt, I then would instead say, 'I make no guarantees on dates, only generalities. It could be as little as two weeks, but could also be up to twelve weeks depending.' Customers hated this though as they really wanted to hear it will just be 'two weeks'.

I especially made these promises when I was a new Christian as I wanted to be a people pleaser. There are so many ways that a shipment can be delayed. One time, a shipment was delayed two months because a storm blew the train carrying the furniture into a ravine in the mountains of Montana. How could I have stopped this? I truly have hundreds of similar stories. Just recently, I told the Lord I would start painting again, but I haven't. The pain has been just too great.

The seventh and final tip applies to those who are married, the 'Ultimate Personal Contract': In a marriage, you take a vow before God to declare a union, a contract, between a man and a woman. You are joined together in Holy Matrimony. You invite witnesses and they sign a guest book. You then sign a Marriage Certificate with the officiant to solidify your marriage with the laws of the land.

You even drink wine in communion and perform various numerous contracts together all in one day. These vows are taken together and sealed with the exchanging of rings. This is further solidified in the marriage bed that evening. There are also people usually at every ceremony who have cursed your relationship (but that is a different subject for a different time). Sadly, not always does a marriage last.

This is because the enemy is always there to take notes. Every marriage under God is tested and not every marriage survives. Broken contracts are common. A marriage God blesses, no man can put asunder (Matthew 19:6 and Mark 10:9). I bring this up as cheating, or even flirting, with someone outside of your marriage will bring consequences each and every time (as just one example). As another example, not treating your spouse as Jesus would want you to is another open door.

Now, here are some lessons I have learned 'after the furnace':

- I pray with all of my heart that God is finally finished with me being in the furnace. I do not want to go back, so much so that I try to reflect Him in everything I do.
- God promises to be with you and deliver you and His promises are true.
- There are some resting or cooling down periods. Learn to recognize these so you are not too quickly back to status quo. Let God lead and instruct you.
- Wisdom and knowledge are increased. It took a while to realize absolutes and declarations were the openings for the enemy to go before God in Court to charge me. The enemy then asks for sifting and trials, having full rights to do so. Never forget that God is fair in all and, yes, even in granting this.
- So, you have now gone through this furnace, perhaps several times. Now what? What is next? Well, it is time to let go and allow God to open doors. He is always working on your behalf, so try to be patient.
- One last thing...always remember that the Ten Commandments really are commandments and not 'suggestions'. Keep these commandments as it is important to God. God is there to help as we are too weak to do this on our own.

Father, my dreams have been disturbing lately. In the morning, they leave me with a pit in my stomach. I heard Your Voice instruct me throughout this dream, but I could not remember what was being said when I was writing this down. Even though I did not recall all of the details of my dream last night, I knew it was disturbing to me...

Sub-dream description begins...

There were some extremely angry men searching for me. They were not a group of men, but rather each man was coming at me individually. You supernaturally concealed me and brought me from place to place until the news proclaimed that Hurricane Erin had made landfall.

After this, You then brought me out into an open space. People's expectations were not realized until You did something. Once You did, many scattered in front of me, but I did not know what around me caused it as I could not see it myself. Perhaps there were angels around me, but I am not really sure.

Sub-dream description over...

Note: Erin is to be the fifth named storm during the 2019 Atlantic Hurricane season. While Andrea and Barry have already come and gone, both Chantal and Dorian must still come before Erin is to be used. The names of a hurricane are repeated every six years unless they are retired due to extreme damage or loss of life. Erin was used in 2013 and formed a relatively mild tropical storm (and was therefore not retired). If Erin is not retired in 2019, the earliest time the name of Erin will be next used is in the 2025 Atlantic Hurricane season.

I have been so troubled lately. There are so many troubling displays all around us now. The media is spreading horrible lies and they are truly responsible for much of the resulting unrest. It is horrible. Things once 'taboo' are now considered common place. Things once immoral are now considered 'upright'. Things once illegal are now legal. We are not allowed to speak out against it for fear of being put on a 'hate list'.

I was with my kids at the Target store in Portland ME on Sunday after we picked them up at the airport. We decided to use the washrooms, but they were really crowded. Right before our eyes, a man with blue hair came out of one of the stalls. As he exited, he said, 'I didn't even know I was in the wrong washroom.' The poor washroom attendant waited off to the side.

I asked her if she had any stories about similar things happening and she said many, but also that she was not allowed to say anything. When I asked her if men can come and go as they pleased, all she could do was nod yes and say 'something like that'. This was deeply disturbing to me. That man was a pervert. He was a 'normal' person, not with special needs or an old man with dementia that truly didn't know.

What has happened here? How do we protect ourselves and our children? We are all under attack here. If I see something bad happening, I must be careful. I must first protect foreign religions' ideologies. I cannot speak against Islam or other religions. While I can't speak against others, they are all allowed to speak hate against me.

We are not able to have the means to protect our household against enemies without violating the rights of those who want to enter illegally. They tell us 'if you see something, say something.' However, if we then do this, we could be labeled. Is it really okay to fill out a report or accuse someone of something if they dress or appear to be in one of the 'new society's protected classes'?

It is truly scary out here. The reports are disturbing. Things are so bad for so many. We are even now being taught that police officers are evil and racist. While my sons are interested in this profession, I would be so worried for their safety. Police are vilified now. A few bad decisions by a few officers have put all of them 'on notice'. I have no answers. While I had a healthy fear for their position in society, I remember being scared when my mom would stand up to them. We need a healthy respect for them.

I see the enemy operating in the world, Father, and it is so disheartening to not be able to do anything about it. Oh Lord, I wanted so bad to take that smug smile off of that man that came out of the woman's washroom. Surely, Father, things will soon be worse than the days of Noah, but probably already are. While I believe they already are, most of it is now done in secret on the internet. Still, much of it is also done right in the open.

As just one example, my youngest son and my daughter saw things during a rafting trip in Washington State that neither should have seen. They saw people having open sex on the banks of the river and in the water in plain site of families. They saw people smoking marijuana and drinking alcohol in excess. Just because these have been legalized, does it make it right if they then perform unthinkable acts in front of children?

Oh Father, no one is able to say anything anymore. Morals and modesty are now gone. While we need to protect our children from this pervasive evil, our hands are tied tighter together day after day. Oh Lord, please raise up Your children. We need You more now than ever. How can we cope without Your power and glory working through us?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was on His horse at the end of the path. He was enthroned in light all around Him. I could barely see Him. I cried out to Him in a loud voice. My voice was filled with emotion. I felt that my voice even somehow reflected a great need to see justice and soon for so many who are suffering!

Me: Crying. "Oh Lord, we need help! Lord, please help us! I am scared!"

Jesus: Speaking boldly and with the confidence of a Great Commander. "Do not worry! I am here! I am with you!"

Dream 350 – Jesus and our enemies become desperate

Dear Father,

Thank You for this beautiful fall-like day in summer! I don't thank You enough for all You do. I am so thankful for You. My daughter and I went to prayer service last night at a local church. A former nemesis was there and gave us a sincere hug. It was so healing, so thank You for this moment. Father, my enemies have ramped up again. My former employer contacted L&I about my claim and now say they have light-duty work.

I felt in my heart that my main enemy was pulling out all the stops this trip, including joining forces with my former employer. I am just so disgusted. I am scared, Father. In the age of fake news, who knows what they could do. My name, and even the memory of my name, has been smeared, but really annihilated. I gave up on pride long ago, but this still hurts. What do I do now? Oh Father, I am so tired...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was standing next to His horse. He was once again holding the reins. He smiled as I ran straight into His arms.

Me: "Lord, why will they not leave us alone? Why does time not just erase all of it?"

Jesus: "You will have trouble in this world. Do you remember why? It is because of who you are and what I created you for."

Me: "Yes, but I thought my tests were all over? I thought everything was finished?"

Jesus: "Erin, you are not being tested. This is one enemy staying in contact with another. They are now joining to try and stir things up. While they would like your complete shame and destruction, it is frustrating for them as nothing they have tried has worked. Now, why do they hate you so? It is because they didn't have the opportunity to shame you publicly and destroy you before you left."

Me: "Lord, we are at the end of our income. Please do something soon, Lord, as I am scared. Could You please give us the means to help us? Please grant us part of what we have in Heaven so that we can pay all of our debts and be free from troubles. We could survive on virtually nothing if we had no debt. Better yet, please heal us and our debts. Please grant us hope and a future. Please grant our children healing and the desires of their hearts. Please help us, Lord. Please help!"

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin, as I am with you. I am with all of you. When I open a door, no one can shut it. When I close a door, no one can open it. I am in control even though, at times, you wonder if I am truly aware of all that is going on. Well, I am. Now, can you just hang on a bit longer with Me?"

Me: "Of course, Lord. Where are we to go? What can we do without You?"

Jesus: "Watch for Me and see what I am about to do for you. I have not left you defenseless, injured and without hope or means. I know you are discouraged and you have endured a lengthy time in the refining fire of affliction. Even as you have gone from strength to strength, the enemy is there and never relenting.

"However, Erin, I am stronger than the enemy and I am in you. Other than a few distant shouts and worry about what might be, what, if anything, has really succeeded against you or your children. Well, for that matter, what of your friends also, those whose hearts are on Me? I call those to assist and they are blessed far beyond what is given.

"Why? Because all that you have is Mine and, all that you see, I have granted to those I love. A loss today is a thousand-fold gain tomorrow with Me. Do not worry! You have sewn seeds into the Kingdom of Heaven. All of your hope is now in Me and I will not fail you. Erin, the seed you have sewn on My behalf has been part of the greatest love story ever told.

"It is My love for those who cry out to Me and know who I am. This is even to those who don't have a close relationship with Me, but know I am who I am, understand? There will be no one who can touch those that I call. The seeds have been planted and the crop will yield a record number. Because the crop is large and the workers are few, I will strengthen on high the harvesters. See this vineyard..."

He pointed behind me and there was a massive vineyard. Each harvester had a section, but there were two together working side by side to cover the area appointed. It was so organized and unlike anything I have ever seen.

Me: "Lord, will You have enough?"

Jesus: "Yes, but it can be nothing like a normal harvest. Just as you have seen an increase in wickedness in just a few short years, there too will then be an increase from the Kingdom of Heaven. There will be an increase of Heaven on Earth through awesome deeds. You will be part of this, Erin. I have not forgotten you. Please do not worry. I love you. You have answered My call. You are My Vessels. I will pour into you all that you need. You will both be loved and hated, but really more like feared. Do not worry or be afraid."

Me: Hugging Him. "Oh Lord, I love You so much!"

Jesus: "I love you, Erin. Now, remember that I have the reins here. I will not let any evil succeed against you, understand? Evil will flee instead. Now rejoice! Erin, are you ready?"

Me: "Oh yes, Lord, I am ready! When, Lord, when?"

Jesus: Smiling as He asked me again. "Erin, are you ready for what comes next?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, I am ready for the harvesting. I am ready for people to know just how awesome You really are. Lord, You can't be measured. You are lovely and all inspiring. I am awestruck in Your presence!"

Jesus: Hugging me. "Now, you are not to worry. I have you. I own everything. Nothing will prevail against you. The former things are far removed and the glory of what is to come will remove any doubt about any trouble. Now rejoice and see what comes next." He smiled at me.

Dream 351 – Jesus and the Great Tsunami

Received Sunday, August 18, 2019

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You! I am so thankful for You. I am thankful that I am surrounded by lovely family and lovely surroundings. Thank you. I am grateful. Thank You for lovely Sparrows and great friends. Without this beautiful Nest, where would we be? Thank You for building this Nest at Your Altar. You, Father, are awesome!

I have been struggling. The girls start school here very shortly. This means my time of flexible days is rapidly coming to a close. Thankfully, there is some promising activity surrounding this possible job for my husband. I just pray that this is the open door that we have prayed for. While the job is over 3000 miles away, thankfully modern technology will keep us close.

I pray he gets this position as, without it, we will be in trouble. While we are in trouble to a certain extent already, I have a hard time imagining what it will be like thirty days from now. Well, God, everything is in Your hands. Please do this for my husband. Even though it has been a year of great humility and surrender for him, he still has had great faith in You and Your promises.

Last night, all seven of us (plus Zoey and Snigglet) watched the movie, 'The Impossible', together. This movie was about the 2004 Great Tsunami and the miracle of the survival of the Alvarez family of five. It was remarkably well done and realistic. When I woke up early this morning, I thought about this tsunami. While I read some other miraculous stories, I could not believe the amount of people who died.

The story depicts the mother being separated from her husband and three kids. She is shown tossed around in the massive waves as if she were in a washing machine loaded with dangerous and sharp objects. She had no control. All the while, she thought her family was probably dead. She felt helpless and alone.

Well, this was a reminder to me, Father, that truly each day here is a gift from You. Life here, along with each day, is not guaranteed. The Earth, and even Heaven, may pass, but Your Words will NEVER pass. Who are we, Father? Who are we that You should put so much time and care into us? We are so easily laid to rest. Our bodies wear out, our hearts shrivel and die, but, You, Father, Your love never fails.

Oh Lord, You never fail! Nothing is meant to last here on Earth. Only our Spirits are called Home by You. I am sorry I complain. I have no right. You are in complete control over all things. We are small, very small, and who are we to think ourselves able to do anything aside from You. Father, how does a human survive such a disaster and fail to see what You have done? Throughout the ages, one is taken and another remains. A storm comes. An entire mountain falls and buries a town. An earthquake comes and shakes objects and foundations. The grounds shift as if they were weightless toys. Father, the world grows colder each day...not the temperature, just hearts. Still, You long to be with us. You long for us to cry out to You. You long to see us soften and give our hearts to You.

Father, You know the numbers of our days. The day we were conceived, You declared it. Our days were numbered the moment You conceived and knit us in our mother's womb. Even though the Impossible movie was void of Your name, Your hand was upon this 2004 event.

While I do not know what life truly has in store for us, what I do know is, whether I am to remain here or You take me Home with You, I am ready for what comes next. Apart from You, I am lost and facing the impact of a hundred-foot wave. Oh Lord, I see this wave approaching and I know that, without Your help, it will most certainly consume me.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was in front of me on the path. The sun shined all around Him. He stood next to His horse and He was holding the reins. With tears, I ran to Him. I did not even so much as motion towards the hem of my dress to lift it. As a matter of fact, I paid no attention whatsoever to what I was wearing.

Jesus smiled at me as He dropped the reins of His horse. As soon as He did, the reins disappeared. He stepped towards me, picked me up and held me. My arms were around His neck and my head rested on His shoulder. I started to quietly cry.

Jesus: "I am here, Erin, I am here. I have you. I am here. I am not leaving you. Do not worry. There is more to the story, Erin. There is also more to your story, which is also Mine." He brought me down so He could look at me. "Do you know there were events leading up to this wave?"

Me: "What do You mean, Lord?"

Jesus: "Those sons of Haman had ordered all those who worshipped in Spirit and in truth to celebrate their holy day outside of the area. I then lead them to the mountains. When the wave then came, they were all safe." I felt prompted by the Lord to look this up. Sure enough, 400 Christians that should have been in the direct path of the tsunami were instead in complete safety worshiping on a mountain.

Me: "Surely this was You, Lord!"

Jesus: "Yes, but, before this, My people had been harassed and killed, their places of worship burned. There was no justice as the laws there protect the sons of perdition."

Me: "But, Lord, so many people died or were injured that day who had their hope in You."

Jesus: "Well, those who died did not really die. They are here with Me eternally in the beautiful Land. For those who did not die, many are still using this event to testify to the lost. Erin, there were many more miracles than tragedies that day and many lives were changed. When you watched this movie, you noticed that there was the Muslim 'call to prayer' in the background. During this part, all was silent and you heard nothing else. The tsunami then came shortly after."

Me: "Oh, so the movie concentrating only on the tragedies is a form of 'fake news'?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, truth, but void of God. Just remember who tells the story and what is omitted. However, there is much, much more. Remember that there is nothing new under the 'Son'..." He smiled and pointed to Himself. "...or under Heaven. For those whom I grant wisdom, I also grant knowledge and a heart to seek out truth."

Me: "Yes, Lord, as it takes the Glory of God to conceal a matter and the honor of kings to search it out."

Jesus: Smiling as He pretended to think about what I had just said for a few seconds. "Hmm, yes, that sounds about right. Now, I led you to watch this movie as a reminder of what you are up against. Do you understand?"

Me: "Yes! I am up against a hundred-foot wave..." He shook His head humorously in agreement to my response. "...and we are facing difficult challenges that we are unable to navigate apart from You. Apart from You, we have no hope."

Jesus: "While this is true, there are multiple layers to this. You are about to face difficult people. While most will hate you, most will also want you dead and tortured. This is because of who you are and what you stand for. While the world will hate you, remember that they first hated Me...and even more so now as I am rarely visible on Earth.

"Now, I tell you this because the things of Heaven will soon be manifesting in the natural and the miracles will be visible. While you have seen the increase in evil, just know that I am always with you. If something has been lost, it is because I have removed it. If something has been found, it is because I have exposed it.

"If a door closes, then I have shut it. If a door opens, then I have opened it. If an opportunity comes, then pray on it and I will bless it..." He smiled and nodded, and then added. "...providing it is good. If something evil comes against you, I will remove it. I will then grant you abilities and strength to endure...even to hold back a hundred-foot wave.

"Now, please do not carry burdens! See..." He reached over to His horse and the reins instantly reappeared in His hands. "...or don't see..." Jesus Himself suddenly 'disappeared', yet was still there as the reins stayed in the same position. "...either way..." He then reappeared, still holding the reins. "whether you see Me or not, you know I am here right next to you and I have these." He nodded towards the reins.

"So, Erin, understand that I am in control of all things around you. Remember this and stay with Me at all times. So, Erin, will you stay with Me?"

Me: Lightly crying, but with joy. "Yes...of course...oh Lord, I will not go anywhere! Where would I go to except for trouble if not for You?"

Jesus: Reaching for my hand as He smiled. "Now this is wisdom. Erin, I will heal you and your children. Many are soon to be healed."

Me: "Please, Lord, soon. Our resources..."

He stopped me by gently touching my lips with His index finger. He then completed my sentence for me...

Jesus: "...are in My control, okay? Now, do you hear Me?"

He smiled when I then jokingly knocked my head a few times. He knew I meant this as a gesture that I was having trouble finally getting all of this into my 'thick skull'.

Me: Laughing. "Well, I can now, Lord, thank You!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Perfect...so...shall we continue?"

Dream 352 – Jesus, Uriel and His Great Protection

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for an abundance of laughter with our kids yesterday. Thank You for a household full of peace and love. It seems these days that the only unrest in our family is the unrest that remains within me. Yes, I know I should know better, but being in pain is like being followed by a dark cloud. Pain wakes me up at night and so often even determines the state of my being.

I truly don't remember the last time I was completely free, flexible and strong. Without Your miracles, I see things becoming progressively worse. This pain shortens my sleep and dictates the length of my dreams. It is so frustrating at times. So, Father, I look to You as my Healer, my Adonai Rophekha. Since You are here with me and present, You are also my Adonai Shammah (which means 'the Lord is there').

You therefore know all things. You give me dreams and you wake me up. You place them on my heart to write down or you remove them from my memory. Either way, You are the Author, my Author and Finisher, of my faith journey. My affliction comes because I am in a state of unrest. My dreams are often frightening and sometimes my body reacts accordingly to them. Last night was no exception...

Sub-dream description begins...

We were living in a distant city where the port was western and American. This is all I know about the location. I must have been Transformed as I had an assignment that would require this. However, there were also many people in my care or that I was looking after. We were all united against a common enemy. I was staying in a dwelling which was historic. It had a French country type décor and was very lovely.

However, I was now unattached to 'things' and more attached and concerned for others. I appeared young and strong. I was also very smart, which means this was all supernatural and in a future time. Smiles...as of right now, I am the opposite of all of this. As for my children, they were around also and they too were strong and smart. While I was young looking again, they still looked a bit younger than me.

While there, I had been awakened by an angel of the Lord and taken to one of the ports. I then found out that this angel and several other angels had been tracking a shipment from overseas. It was in the middle of the night and the shipment had just arrived.

Angel: "This shipment is extremely dangerous. If fully released, this would wipe out the entire region. We need to warn the people and remove the threat."

Me: "Alright. Are you going to take me down there?"

The angel reached for my hand and we were instantly at the loading docks for the ships. He then showed me some large containers. In these containers were some large white propane tanks. To my surprise and as I stood there, the angels were suddenly called away to deal with a crisis.

As I stood looking at all of these containers stacked one on top of each other, I became overwhelmed. As I looked closer, I noticed that they were just empty propane containers. There was nothing in them. I opened one just to double check and it was completely empty. I decided to pray to the Lord about this. Jesus spoke to me in the Spirit.

Me: "Lord, what are these if they are not what they appear to be?"

Jesus: "While most of these containers are empty, there are three buried in the midst of these that are not. Look..."

I then watched as I was supernaturally able to see through the empty containers as if they were not there. In the middle of all of these containers, I saw three of them glowing in a supernatural orange color.

Jesus: "They are planning to release these three containers in the morning. However, these containers will not destroy any buildings, only the people around here. These containers are filled with an odorless toxin that, when released, will destroy over half of the population."

Me: "This is a daunting task and I don't know what to do. Lord, what can I do?"

Jesus: "I will help you. While the full plans of the enemy will come to nothing, some will still be lost."

I was deeply disturbed by this. I went and gathered a few of us to go down to the docks. It was just before dawn. We removed the dummy empty containers, revealing the three really large ones. We could still see them glowing in a supernatural orange. We took these three containers and loaded them on a type of metal pontoon boat. We secured them by putting up the boat's metal rails and headed out to the water.

Once far enough out, we sunk two of the containers. However, before we could sink the third container, we came under attack by an enemy vessel. They were soon then fortified by the arrival of a few more vessels. While we should have been killed, the Lord gave us the supernatural ability to turn all the ammunition being fired at us into harmless feathers. The enemy looked so frustrated as none of their plans to kill us were succeeding.

We were then able to set the third container out. However, before this container was able to fully sink, one of the enemy boats rammed right into it. The container spilled some of the contents into the air. Before we could be in contact with the toxins, the Lord immediately removed us to the city. Once there, we removed and protected those that the Lord had called us to protect. None of us were harmed.

While only a small amount of the toxin had reached the city, what we then saw was quite devastating. We literally saw boiling skin falling off. People were in great pain. Putting cool water on the skin only served to make the boiling even worse. The angels had now come back and were working with us to help with the crisis. Despite our best efforts, many people still died. Still, it was a just a fraction of what it could have been.

Sub-dream description over...

Father, this was a very dark dream. Please help me to make sense of all of this.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I found myself at the Heavenly Valley of God. I sighed as it was so beautiful. Dawn was once again just breaking. As I observed the valley, I felt a hand brush my shoulder. It was Uriel! He was in full armor. I looked over at his horse and he was in full armor as well. I was excited to see him.

Uriel: "This visit will be brief, Erin. I am here to give you a message from God. The feelings you have of uncertainty and vulnerability are soon to be removed. However, you must try to understand the times that you will then be in. Many conspiracy theories have a seed of truth. The seals of the scrolls are soon to be broken and you will see much destruction.

"However, you are not to worry as you will be protected and will not be in your current state. The dream you had last night was a warning about the plans of the enemy. There are tests and experiments occurring now in preparation for the day of the invading armies. You were shown this on a map. The plan is to weaken the sovereign nation within the borders and from the core first.

"You are seeing a web of lies, untruths, half-truths and omissions. They are now only spreading bad news. This is done to create fear. Race conflicts are being created into something large by using inuendo and rumor and turning it into a weapon for the purpose of division.

"There is also now a call to disarm the public. Once disarmed, they know that there would be no ability to defend your family or property from invading forces. You have only to look to see that rumors of wars and wars of a different kind are already occurring. This is all as written. Just know that there is a more sinister plan in place and people will not see it coming until it is right upon them.

"They will be unable to do anything once these strikes. One nation, along with many others, believe that they are 'more sovereign'. Most do not even see that they are pawns in a greater scheme. Now, do not worry as these are just plots and plans of the enemy right now. These things are given to you only as warnings so you understand just what is coming against you."

Me: "All of this is so frightening. I saw my brother, his wife and children right in the middle of all of this. I was scared for their safety."

Uriel: "Erin, this was only meant to show you that you will have vested interests in those God has sent you to. You are to be a 'non-traditional field harvester' and are being sent to protect your 'crops', understand? These serve as warnings and to let you know things around you won't always be joyful. As you reach the end of the harvest, the grapes will be jumping off the vines to be harvested, understand?"

"Things will turn as the enemy resists any attempts by God's army to prevail over darkness. Just know that all of this will mean so much to so many. Still, and at times, just know that it will be difficult to witness all that you will be exposed to. In all things though, God is with you and He will direct you in the ways you should go. I must go now. Be encouraged, Harvester!" He smiled at me as he jumped onto his horse. In an instant, they disappeared into the sky.

Me: "Oh Father, please strengthen us supernaturally and heal us. Our hearts are willing, but our flesh is weak. In my case, my flesh is literally physically weak. Please, Father, let us help You bring in the Greatest Harvest soon. I so want to be 'in that number' as a harvester of the Kingdom of God. I love You, Father. Help me to be strong and have courage. I pray for this in Jesus' Mighty Name, Amen!"

Dream 353 – Jesus and the Bowl of Plums

Received Sunday, August 25, 2019

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for the cooler temperatures outside! Thank You for a house full of laughter and joy. Thank You for Your promises. I cling to these. I love You! I had a dream last night, Father, which was disturbing to me. Prior to reading this dream, some background is in order...

We once had a plum tree that we lost in our backyard in Portland OR back in 1996. This happened during some horrible storms with freezing rain. We had called this tree 'Papa's Tree' because it had been planted by my grandpa-in-law when the home had first been built. When this tree fell over, I grieved over it.

I loved that tree, yet I really had no vested interest in it. Quite simply, it was lovely and I liked it. A storm came and it fell under pressure. It was now gone and only a stump remained. The other thing of note was that 'Papa' was a very kind and Godly man. From what I witnessed, he consistently produced 'good fruit'.

Sub-dream begins...

We lived in a massive orchard that contained multiple varieties of fruit trees. Our entire family was traveling down the lane to our home and the blossoms on the trees were so beautiful that it took our breath away. However, amongst all of these beautiful, blossoming trees, there was one tree with no blossoms and no buds.

While the trunk and branches of this tree were beautifully shaped, I somehow knew that there was something wrong with this tree. In terms of maturity and growth, this tree was way behind the other trees. In addition, this tree only had twelve fruit, all plums and all unhealthy looking...

- Three were black, shriveled and dry
- Three were beginning to shrivel and were deep purple
- Three were purple and blue, but rotten
- Three were moldy

My two sons in unison: "Hey, it is 'Papa's Tree'!"

Me: "While this looks very much like 'Papa's Tree', it isn't. I feel bad that I hadn't noticed this sooner as I would have picked the fruit while it was still good."

Older son: Good-naturedly. "Well, mom, why didn't you?"

Me: "I suppose we already had so much, I just overlooked these twelve. Perhaps they were hidden behind leaves and things. Making it even trickier is the fact that these twelve plums are hanging on branches really near to the main trunk. However, I don't think that we are to worry about this as this making us feel bad would not be of God.

"Still, let's give this tree another chance to blossom. If it doesn't, the bottom line is that we will be cutting it up for firewood. However, let's first pray and wait to see if God does something with it during the next seven days."

Sub-dream over...

Father, I need Your help with revelation on this dream. The setting, the details and the timing of this was very clear. Once again, we were all together as a family. Please let not one fruit be left behind during the harvest. Make it so that, in the spring, all the trees blossom. This was an unsettling dream and I feel as if I had forgotten something about it. Father, please grant us continued hope.

There are so many events in the news that are extremely unbelievable. The reporting seems manipulative and organized as propaganda. The massive visual of a fire being stoked at the base of a cauldron is truly for now. However, it is no longer a slow boil, but now a rapid boil. There is so much news geared to taking down our leaders that virtually none of the rest of the news is even covered. It is all 'agenda-centric'.

What is hard is all those apart from You hear all of this false news and believe it. It is stirring up and dividing the wicked left against the wicked right because the news is only focusing in on extremes meant to scare us. The heartbeat monitor of our nation seems to be the Stock Exchange. There are so many ups and downs right now, it is like there is a 'heart condition'.

However, there is a massive story that is not receiving any coverage at all. There are massive amounts of Christians that have been persecuted and murdered world-wide these last three years, yet none of it is being reported. There is only one protected group right now and they seem to be given all earthly powers. This is the followers of Islam, the Muslims.

It will only be a matter of time before all of this increases to critical levels in the western hemisphere. This situation reminds me of a book I used to read to my children when they were little. It was titled, 'If you give a mouse a cookie!' In this story, you keep giving the mouse the things that he asks for and it eventually comes full circle. However, in the instance of the world, their demands take an extreme pattern.

This is the biggest threat to our world and peace. If you look at conditions in the Middle East, it is mostly a war-torn land. Their lands are also filled with anger and hate, two 'negative fruits' that are now being imported through immigration to the rest of the world. It is now to the point that just saying the name of Jesus is blasphemy to Islam. The name of Jesus is now so offensive to so many, you only hear His name in curses.

Do we have to establish sanctuary cities and safe-zones for different groups within our own borders? There are compounds near us in Maine, New York and New Hampshire. It is now so that the U.S. authorities are not even allowed to enter there. Why? It is because they are setting up independent 'countries' within our once united country, complete with their own laws and justice system.

I am deeply troubled by all of this. Fear has now become a part of daily life and it has all happened so quickly. As a helpful distraction last night, we watched the movie 'Breakthrough'. It was awesome and is based on a true story written about in a book titled, 'The Impossible' (not to be confused with the movie, 'The Impossible', that we just watched). Well, let's just put it this way...there was not a dry eye in the room.

Oh Father, just when I think something is over and finished, You do something amazing. You add to Your story an addendum of miracles. You even back it up with science and through medical experts. Nothing and no one are removed from You. I am in awe of You. Nothing is 'impossible' for You, Father.

Yesterday, I came to You broken. I learned some news about a personal dream that Jeff and I have believed in for about four years now coming to an abrupt end. I was crushed and I pouted to You in a personal visit. I went to You immediately and You told me the following...

Jesus: "Erin, I know about this. However, there are details that you don't know. Please remember that I am the One in control. It is not over until I say it is over and I have not said that this is over."

So, Father, I turn to You as You are the God over all. You not only determine our days here on Earth, You also prepare a place for us near Your Altar. You care about what we care about and You delight in us even in the small things. I look at myself and now realize that I have not made peace with myself. I am not always 'good for me', so I give myself to You and ask You to help me make peace with myself.

Oh Lord, You have done so much for us. However, I also know by Your promises that You have barely started, so we hold out for the 'Big Dream'! In the movie, Breakthrough, the mother refused to speak anything but life to her son in the coma. She also did not allow others to speak anything but life. Well, through her faith, the boy was not only brought back to life, a true miracle, but restored to 100%, an even bigger miracle.

Father, this all was impossible, but You are the God of the Impossible. Please consider us! Please breathe life back into us soon. Please breathe life back into our dry bones. We wait for You, Lord, because we know You can do anything and You are not finished yet. Your promises are true and we look forward to seeing them being fulfilled one after another. Thank You, Father, for sending Your Son so that we may live through Him.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was under the archway dividing the beautiful vineyard from the aspen grove path. The air was cool and had a slight smell of woodsmoke and sandalwood. These smells reminded me of fall. Jesus was at the end of the path and He was holding the reins of His horse.

The aspen trees were turning gold and they shimmered in the light of God, Jesus. I ran to Him across the paver stone path. I smiled and laughed when I noticed that He was also holding a bowl in His hands. I laughed even harder when He tipped the bowl slightly to let me see what was inside. It was twelve ripe and juicy plums!

Me: "Oh Lord, You don't really have to keep hold of the reins of Your horse, do You?"

Jesus: "Well, yes, I do, as it appears that You still worry about many things."

Me: "Yes, I do. I am sorry, Lord."

Jesus: "I called you to come to Me immediately today. However, what did you do instead?"

Me: "I took my jasmine tree outside to get some sun."

Jesus: "That is fine, but what else?"

Me: "I noticed those dumb mealy bugs are back. I have worked so hard to bring this little tree back from death and rid it of these pests. While I have been using some eco-bug spray to kill these, they are still coming. It has been about 23 days now. I am sorry I didn't come to You right away, but I was trying to save this little tree. I don't want to give up. It seems to be working as all the leaves have now come back. I discovered their hiding places, but they kept coming. They keep coming and I keep trying."

Jesus: "While I understand, you left out some important things. Who has these?" He lifted up the reins to His horse. "Who answers prayers? Have you prayed?"

Me: "I thought I did. When I came back from Seattle, I discovered that all the leaves on this plant had dropped off. I was going to toss it, but I instead prayed and began to work at bringing it back to health."

Jesus: "Well, Erin, speak life into the tree and speak death over the invaders." He paused before continuing. "Hmm, I just felt your hesitation. Do this and don't feel guilty about it. I can tell your hesitation."

Me: Smiling. "Well, Lord, why did You even create these irritating creatures to begin with? For that matter, why did You create flies, mosquitoes, poisonous spiders, locusts and scorpions? Actually, I have a long list of other creatures. Should I continue?"

Jesus: Laughing and shaking His head. "Well, in this life, you will have trouble. However, you are to rejoice and take heart as I have overcome the world. Erin, it is by and through these things, both pests and predators, that you can understand the patterns of trouble in which your enemies move. Now, what did you discover about these 'creatures'?"

Me: "I discovered that they are very diabolical. They find places to hide and thrive even with anti-bacterial soap being sprayed on them. They hide in places you never suspect and thrive there until the threat has passed. After this, they then invade with a vengeance. While doing so, they hope your initial sense of relief has made it so you do not pay attention that they are now back.

"After ten days, I could not figure out where they were coming from because I had already removed the plant to a different location. Then after another diligent spray, I noticed the white fuzz coming out of the bamboo pole which held it up. I then went to remove it only to discover that the ties which held the stick had massive colonies hidden underneath the ties that bound it to stand up straight." I sighed. "These then attacked the joints of the tree and all of the new growth. Oh Lord, all of this is so exasperating."

Jesus: "Hmm, interesting. This sounds like a larger lesson in spiritual warfare. So, little warrior, what are you to do now?"

Me: Laughing. "Okay, Lord, You are right. I have been battling this enemy solidly for almost thirty days now. Why didn't I think of this? Why are some enemies gone immediately and others just reposition themselves?"

Jesus: "Well, they are never really gone as the spirit of these continue. As in the case of a wasp, you can kill the nest hive, but what of those who were not there when you killed it? What do they do? Well, they redirect their attention to a new target and set up a new basecamp. Remember that the pests you just named don't have a complex brain mechanism.

"The wasps do not have a long-term plot to kill you and your family. They only know that they need to make a shelter, get food and multiply. However, they will attack if threatened. With your bugs, their goal is to eat, thrive and multiply. Their goal is not to kill the plant, but only invade and take what it needs before going to the next plant.

"Do you see this? These things were created so you understand these are a living, breathing manual of war on a small scale. In the case of locusts, they can be devastating to crops and farmers, but also to consumers of these crops. These are all to show you that all living things on Earth have an enemy.

"Here in the Kingdom of Heaven, there are no enemies. On Earth, there are enemies of God and His Kingdom everywhere, people that hate all of His 'goodness'. These types of people were brought forth for another purpose.

They are blacksmiths and enemies of My people. They seek to rob, kill and destroy all that is good.

"Some of these know no other way as many have been raised this way from birth. This too is no surprise. For some, I will call them, but, for others, they were never Mine. It is all about hearts, Erin. Now, you saw something in the little tree that made you want to fight for it. What was this?"

Me: "Well, the leaves had mostly dropped off despite being watered well. I isolated it for three days by taking it outside and setting it all by itself. On the third day, I noticed a jasmine blossom and took a photo. It was the sign of life that I needed to see in order to continue to fight for it."

Jesus: "Okay, then also fight by prayer and by speaking life over death. The power of life or death is in the tongue. Your tongue is the Sword of Truth and authority in Me if used properly. Now, this brings us to a certain bowl of twelve fruit."

He smiled and laughed as He lifted up the bowl for me to look at.

Me: Smiling. "Ooh, plums! May I please have one?"

Jesus: "Yes, Erin. Go ahead."

He took out a plum and handed it to me. He then took one for Himself. I bit into it. Well, I can't even begin to tell you just how amazing it tasted. It was the perfect combination of tart, sweet and juicy. It was unlike anything on Earth.

Jesus: "So, what do you think? Very good, right?"

Me: "Oh Lord, this tastes amazing. I can't wait to be here in Heaven with You!"

Jesus: "Well, you are here now. So, what did your tongue just say? Are you saying that you are done with the world today? Right now?"

Me: In shock. "Oh Lord, no, there is more to do. I haven't lived yet in Your plans and I am excited for all of the souls You will be calling us to in the harvest. I am sorry that I just misspoke. I didn't mean that I wanted to come Home now, but rather 'after'."

Jesus: Nudging me good-naturedly and smiling. "Relax, Erin, I was just playing. This was meant only as a small reminder, a small and gentle rebuke, about the power of the tongue. The tongue is a weapon to wield properly and with wisdom."

Me: "I am guilty of flippant words and nonsense at times."

Jesus: "Then pray! Pray for this too. The power of the mother's tongue speaking life over her son's dead body brought life back to him. In this instance, had she given up and called it a day, I would have had a difficult time turning this story into an even greater miracle, understand? Now, these plums and your dreams...this is a message for you about phases. The orchard signifies that the seasons continue forward.

"Time does not stop. The harvest will continue, but there is an effect on all that remains. There will be four phases you witness in those who remain. Those who are apart from Me will display stages of decay as in fruit until they finally fall from the branch altogether. You will begin to also know them by their fruit. In the beginning, in the Garden, there were fruit trees and an abundance of fruit.

"Well, there is the same now, yet, apart from God, the fruit is bad. You will see the stages of decline and death. Remember that, at the harvest, you do not fail to harvest these fruits or overlook them even though they call out to you, as it is I instead who calls you to harvest. You will not be like you are now. I will instead direct you in all that you do.

"Here in Heaven, the fruit is good and there are no invaders. Here in Heaven, there is no need for analogies or parables. Here in Heaven, all things are reconciled. Now, the enemy will know you by your fruit and, through this, he will know that I am with you. Now, while there is more to this dream, just know that I will be directing you."

Me: "Yes, Lord. It takes the Glory of God to conceal a matter and the honor of..." Smiling at Him. "...a 'sparrow'..." Now laughing. "...to search it out."

Jesus: Smiling and laughing. "Oh Erin, you are much more to Me than a sparrow and even much more to Me than even a king. I will soon begin to well up in you in greater ways. Those I have called will begin to have supernatural wisdom and knowledge. Your family and others will have dreams and visions. I have begun, so rejoice and remember that the power of life and death is in your tongue. Pray and speak life.

"Now, please do not worry as I have you. I will provide for those I love. When your plans seem to fall away, remember that they are not finished as I have them. I delight in you and your dreams and your hopes are good. Do not worry as the cattle on a thousand hills are Mine. You are under My care and I have called My angel armies concerning you to guard you in all you do."

He looked into my eyes as He lifted up His hands. I laughed as both the reins and the bowl had now disappeared. I somehow knew in my heart that these were only meant as examples to signify He knows my every hope, worry and need. Yes, He even controls our dreams.

Me: "Blessed be Your Name, Lord. You are so big and I am so small."

Jesus: "All of this is to show you that I am fully present and that I know all things. Erin, I am always with you. I have even placed your desires on your heart and have found it good. I love you. Call on Me. I am here to wipe away your tears. Now, let's continue. I have some great 'stuff' planned!" He reached for my hand.

Dream 354 – Jesus and the Mansion with Hidden Rooms

Communion

Dear Father,

I am thankful today for You! It is beautiful outside. It is bright, sunny and in the fifties this morning. The leaves on the trees are beginning to change again in preparation for the eventual sleep of winter. This is my favorite time of year. I love the cool temperatures of the morning followed by warm and perfect in the afternoon. We can now even keep our blinds up as we don't have to worry as much about the heat.

While I have been searching for hummingbirds, I have not seen any for a couple of weeks. Many of them have already begun their long voyage to Mexico for the winter. It is a sad time for me because I truly miss these little flying jewels now that they have left. I am also missing our wild turkeys that used to come and visit us. This time last year, in September and October, a large grouping of them would hang out in our yard.

Sadly, ever since the turkey shoot on Mother's Day last year, we have not seen any of them. It seems like these amazing birds will not be making a return unless You grant a miraculous recovery of their numbers. Yes, it seems the change of season is now here. The smaller animals are now scurrying to stash nuts and fatten up for the long winters here. Our girls are also back to school, along with all of their activities.

Sigh...my time of summer rest is over now. Still, I would rather take this any day than to not have the opportunity to be a mom anymore. Our older daughter is now in 12th grade and our younger daughter is now in 9th grade. While it seems like time moves so quickly, I remain stagnant. In my own power, there is no remedy, no cure, no help. Only You, Lord, are my remedy, my cure, my help and my hope. I love You!

Sub-dream 1 "The mansion with hidden rooms and the spider" begins...

While my husband and I were living in a massive home, we were still unaware that it was massive. We only used the kitchen/dining room, a small living room, a bedroom and a bath. This seemed to be all we knew about. On one particular day, we looked out the backdoor and noticed that there were many stories above us and that the building extended backwards for many yards.

I noticed that the parts of the building that we were not aware of (really, the vast majority of it) seemed in disarray. This was because we didn't know it was there, so we didn't maintain it. I went back into the house and noticed a massive wood door that blended in with the walls. It was a double pocket-like door which disappeared into the walls when opened. Once opened, we discovered a huge family/living room.

Over the entry and into the room was a large thick cobweb. It looked like a massive spider was in the center of the cobweb, so I gasped. This alerted my husband and he went over to take a look. We both laughed when we realized that it was not a spider, but rather a plastic R2D2 figurine wrapped up in the center of it. We both laughed as we speculated how this children's toy would have ended up there.

I then looked up at the ceiling and noticed it had a popcorn textured ceiling that used to be so popular. I then noticed a buckled section of ceiling and wall. While it was now dry, it was obvious that it had been damaged by a previous storm. It seemed like the storm damage was at least a year old. Everywhere I looked, I was overwhelmed at the amount of dust, dirt and grime.

As I looked around some more, I noticed more things that I didn't like. This massive house was old and musty. The overall décor had a horrible burnt orange and brown theme to it. The popcorn ceiling reminded me of my past. When I was in rentals, I remember spending many a night looking up from my bed to see patterns in the popcorn as I tried to sleep. All of it was just not the style I currently look for.

I suddenly was sad that all of this new space was discovered. I missed not knowing about the real size of the home we lived in. I missed only knowing about the manageable space that we had. This room, but really the whole house, needed to be completely remodeled. Neither me or my husband had the energy. There was no way we could do this unless we were healed and strengthened greatly.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Note: When my husband and I later discussed the significance of the R2D2 figurine, we thought that perhaps it was a clever reference to the R2B2 'spiritual warfare formula' I have spoken about before as a way to remember it. R1 = Rebuke. R2 = Repent. B1 = Bind. B2 = Bless. While not sure about this, I thought it was worth noting.

Father, I must be full of anxiety right now as this dream reminds me of being enrolled in classes at school, but not discovering this until right before the final exams and being completely unprepared. This is an awful feeling.

Sub-dream 2 "My friend will not see us" begins...

I was a young mother again and was sitting with my oldest son at a restaurant. He was only about eight years old, so I would have been in my early forties. I told him that we should see if my old friend was nearby. We finished eating and went to her condo. She was in unit #123 on the ground floor. We were bringing her some food from the restaurant as a surprise.

When we knocked, no one was there to answer. I decided to phone her and she picked up. I let her know that we were there and would love to say hi to her. She then came up with several really bad excuses for not being able to see us, so we decided to not pursue it and went home. We were both disappointed.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Note: In real life, this friend never lived in a condo nor did she live in a 'unit #123'.

Sub-dream 3 "BFA Reversed" begins...

I had earned my Bachelor of Fine Arts in the 80s and had not given it any further thought. However, I was contacted and told that the university was reversing my degree because I never finished all of the required class credits. Apparently, they had just noticed it and were just now contacting me. I became extremely bothered by this as I don't like finding out about something I had no idea I was responsible for.

Sub-dream 3 over...

All three of these dreams were so sad. Father, I am very happy that these were 'just dreams'. Please illuminate via the Holy Spirit the meanings or warnings here in these dreams. My stomach now feels ill because of these three dreams.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was once again standing next to His horse. He was smiling as He held the reins high enough so that I could see them. He waved me towards Him. I didn't have to be asked twice! I ran straight into His arms and He hugged me.

Jesus: "I am here, Erin. I am still holding the reins. My horse is not trying to escape Me. While the reins have slack, I can tighten them up if My horse becomes unruly."

The horse turned to look at Him. He then snorted and shook his head as if he were laughing. Jesus nudged His horse and the reins disappeared. The horse suddenly went on his hind legs and landed back down in a completely controlled way. Jesus leaned towards the horse and they touched forehead to forehead. Jesus turned back to me and had such a huge smile that we both laughed.

Me: "Lord, I understand Your point. The horse, Your friend, will be with You when You come on the clouds. He is not unruly and clearly does not need reins. You are in control of all things." I began to cry. "However, Lord, I am only human. I am human and clearly each day seems to bring more hardships. I am scared. What about the dream of the massive house with hidden rooms? Have I neglected things?"

Jesus: "Erin, if there was doom and gloom in your life, I would tell you. In this case, you and your husband are content where you are. You are living and thriving in your space as you are. However, one day, you discover you have more, much more, and it is attached to the house you live in. This would mean an extension of what you are currently doing.

"As it stands on your own...that is, the two of you in your current state...are not able to tackle any more. You then open some sliding doors and discover a room you find in disarray. This room is old and in the past. There is water damage in one of the sections of the ceiling and wall. There is also a large cobweb from a spider that no longer lives there. You think you see a massive spider, but instead it was a plastic toy. Erin, what do you believe this dream means?"

Me: "Well, I always look at rooms in a home in dreams as spiritual symbolism. To me, this seems to be a spiritual warfare dream and that I clearly need to do more work."

Jesus: "Hmm, while the enemy and his soldiers know you, did I not tell you that your tests are over? Think about each of the elements in this dream as they are all important. For example, did you actually see a spider?"

Me: "No, it was just a large dusty old web."

Jesus: "So, no threat, just the perception of threats past, right? No spider, no current threat. However, the web showed that it was once a powerful threat." He smiled. "Big spiders build big webs meant to trap prey." He laughed as He added... "This spider was not too bright as it trapped a toy in its web rather than real food. It therefore appears that this spider left, but, more likely, it died. In other words, this threat is in the past. Now, what about the water damage? Tell Me about this."

Me: "Well, clearly there was a great storm that caused water damage. However, this damaged area was now dry. The damage seemed mostly internal, so perhaps this means it is hidden?"

Jesus: "So, the storm came in the past, a year ago or a bit more. It was a big one and caused some damage to the roof. This damage then travelled down the wall. However, there was no other damage. Hmm, what do you think?"

Me: "Well, about 18 months ago, we had quite a storm. The evidence of the damage remains, but the structure is sound."

Jesus: "So, the foundation is solid?"

Me: "Yes. However, what about the hidden damage? Is there any?"

Jesus: "Erin, every storm in life brings upheaval, then change, then strengthening for the next storm. This is so that, when the next storm comes, because they do come..." He nodded towards me and I nodded in agreement. "...your structure will be sound. So, spiritually speaking, I gave your household rest. For one year, you have rested."

“However, you are now worried about what those around you would say of you now that the storm has passed. Were they so upset with you that they now seek revenge and will use this time to destroy you?” I again nodded in agreement. “Well, the best way to find out is to just ask. Remove the stronghold of fear in what you think is possible versus that which is real. Even though the storm is in the past, it still left damage.”

Me: “Okay, Lord, then please heal us!”

Jesus: “You and your husband, but really your whole household, has been resting. No doors have opened because these were all closed by Me. You see that doors have now been opened and you are worried about some perceived threats. While this is understandable, remember that I am Who I say I am. Remember that I hold the reins. Erin, understand this. While the enemy has plans to destroy you and your husband, I will remove this threat.”

Me: “Wednesday, September 4th, 2019 marks the first anniversary of this period of rest. Oh Lord, could this please be the end of our time period of rest? Please say it is so and grant us the Great Gift we all have been waiting for!”

Jesus: “Erin, I began the gift of closer relationship with Me and your place near My Altar seven years ago. During this time, you have remained faithful even when others encouraged you to stop. Even though you were called horrible names and angered many who felt more deserving than you, you continued with Me.”

Me: “Lord, I truly feel that there are many that are more deserving than me.”

Jesus: “Perhaps I called on them in other ways or perhaps they could not hear Me. Perhaps they did not like My plans for them. While there are many factors, in this instance concerning you, I found a willing heart. Your heart was, and continues to be, able...” He smiled at me. “...even though it still needed some adjusting.

“Erin, you sought Me. You took the narrow gate. Wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction. Many choose the wide gate. Small is the gate and narrow is the path that leads to Me. Erin, you found the narrow path! You heard Me call to you, ‘Erin, this is the way, walk in it’, understand?”

Me: “Yes, Lord.”

Jesus: “Now, while you tried to run other routes at times...” He smiled. “...I was there to bring you here to Me.”

Me: Crying. “Oh Lord, I am so scared. I am really scared. Please hurry! Please!”

Jesus: “I will not delay, Erin. I come at the perfect time. Call out to Me and I will answer. There is a vast angel army in front of you and all around you. I am with you, Erin. Be strong and courageous. Remember to be strong and courageous. Look to the hills and all around them as there are My angel armies.

“I am the General and King over them. You are My Bride and the one I protect. You are the daughter of the King and a jewel in My Crown. Now, I will not let harm come to you. Rejoice. Erin, rejoice! I am about to release you from your oppressors. Now, be strong and take courage. God is within her and she will not fall. God will help her at the break of day!” He hugged me.

Dream 355 – Jesus and the Wayside Altar

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Fall is in the air here. It is cool and rainy. After having the dream about water damage, I discovered that we have some leaking in the window off our dining room. The baseboard was rain soaked. Clearly, the damage is coming from the wall. Sigh...I know we can't afford to fix this problem right now, so please, Father, heal our window and wall. Please do not allow permanent hidden damage to our home.

This is the home You have prepared for us. It is a blessing to us. Please protect us from harm. Today, I give thanks to You, Father, for all You have done from the beginning. I am so thankful for Your love, Your gifts of dreams and visions and my family and friends. I feel so blessed by all of this. You heap love upon us and I am so grateful. I had a dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "The Dioramas of Wayside Shrines" begins...

I was shopping and had two dioramas made of porcelain in my cart. The dioramas were of children praying at a wayside shrine of Jesus. A wayside shrine is a place of remembrance or a place where there is an altar. In this case, the altar was to Jesus. These are often situated at a place of beauty and usually along a path or trail.

One of these two dioramas was more catholic in nature and had a depiction of the Virgin Mary. The condition of this piece was perfect. Both of these porcelain dioramas were a hundred or more years old. This one was quite valuable.

The other diorama seemed more special to me and like it had a story. However, unlike the other one, this one was broken, cracked and had repair points on it. While the resale value of the perfect one would be around $500, this one's resale value would probably only be around $5. Both of them were stamped, signed and numbered.

The broken one had the wayside altar broken and repaired, but Jesus was intact and had a kind face. The little children were missing limbs. One child was missing a leg, another an arm, another an ear, but they all had sweetly painted faces and they were smiling. It is interesting that I liked this broken piece more than the one with little damage that was valuable and pristine.

I still wanted both, so I took them both up to the cash register. After purchasing them, the clerk carefully wrapped them. I then went out to my car and placed them in a safe spot in the trunk. I was just about to close the trunk when a woman approached me. She startled me.

Woman: "I noticed that you purchased the porcelain pieces in the window."

Me: "Yes."

Woman: "I used to own these pieces."

Me: "Well, no worries, they are going to a good home."

Woman: "Do you understand what they represent?"

Me: "I thought I did, but perhaps you can tell me."

Not certain if she was going to do something strange, I kept a safe distance and clutched my purse. She must have sensed this.

Woman: "Don't worry, I am not here to harm you."

Her sincere smile let me know that she was telling the truth and I relaxed.

Woman: "These pieces have been in my family for many years. They represent two different journeys and eventually one path for some. In the instance of my grandmother, her family came through wars. They had very little and they lost everything in Germany. They kept that broken and repaired piece because it mattered to them. The reason they were able to keep this broken piece is that even the thieves did not want it.

"The other diorama came from my grandfather's side of the family. They were very strict Catholics. His parents died in the war, so there was no one to protest his marriage to my grandmother. This family heirloom was a shrine to their beliefs. They both eventually became close to Jesus."

Me: "Oh, thank you for telling me all of this. This brings even greater value to these items. Now that I know the stories, I would like to give these back to you. They are yours if you want them."

I turned to retrieve the first one from the trunk. When I turned back to her with it, she was gone. She had vanished as if she had been a ghost.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, I know this dream was a type of parable about two different journeys. Since they both found you, they are both good stories. Sigh...it is just so sad. The thrift stores around here have some extremely old, but damaged, antiques on sale for only fifty cents. If they were not cracked or broken, they would be worth so much more. However, here in the world, broken items have no value. I am like that now...

- I am broken
- I am cracked...and not just hairline fractures
- I am repaired in places...but still no longer able to perform
- I am missing body parts
- I have taken heavy losses

While I was at the bottom of the heap...

- I was passed over
- I was humiliated
- I have been abandoned
- I have been forgotten

- I have trembled
- I have cried...and not just little tears
- I have been robbed, especially while in my low state
- I have then been humiliated even more
- I have been exhausted
- Sigh...I have been abased

'Self' has failed me over and over. There is no manual on how to get back what was lost. Restoration is for homes, old stuff and plastic surgery. However, true restoration can only be done by God. You, Father, are my only hope. The Bible is my Manual for abasement. This all reminds me of a conversation I had a long time ago with a non-believing friend I was close with outlining what she thought about us Christians...

Friend: "Born again Christians need their belief in Jesus because they are misfits and losers who no one likes. What happened to you? You used to be fun. Now I don't enjoy being around you. You do 'churchy' things. Jesus has taken away your fun."

Me: "No, Jesus didn't take away my fun. He took away my desire to sin while having fun."

Friend: "Well, I don't like how you are now. Stop it and come back to me."

Me: "You stop it. This is me now."

Friend: "Well, call me when you get out of this phase."

Dial tone. That was it. No more phone calls. My friend left me because I had changed course. This was in the early nineties and it hurt me. Oh Father, sin has a course. I have lost friends, so many friends, over the years. However, I have not just lost non-Christian friends, but also Christian ones. These Christian friends claimed that I was going through my troubles, my trials and bad health because I was not in God's favor.

They implied that I must still be in sin or God would have already delivered me from my troubles and illnesses. In fact, when I needed references that I was a good mother to my children, one friend said no. When I asked her why, she said it was because I had made bad choices and that I needed to lose my kids to learn a lesson. Many people felt the same way and spread many wicked lies.

These people believed the lies of the enemy, yet they still had no problem taking things from me and thanking me. It was not fair. I was not a drinker, a drug taker or crazy. Still, my medical bills cost a fortune and eventually led to my bankruptcy. This was yet another thing these Christian 'friends' judged me for. Amongst Christians, this is a disqualifier for any future ministry.

I soon became even sicker and, in the end, it just didn't matter. The nice thing about abasement is that there is usually a door out and a staircase.

Thanks to Jesus, we can even have daylight in a basement. Thank You, Father. Thank You for my brokenness. Thank You for my abasement. If You hadn't done this, well, I am thankful You did.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

The leaves on the aspen trees were shades of gold now and looked so beautiful. I then saw Jesus. He was standing with His horse. He was smiling as He held the reins. While His horse was in armor with a type of headdress, Jesus was wearing His crown. I ran to Him and leapt into His arms. He laughed as He hugged me. It suddenly hit me that He was dressed for battle. Even though this defies logic as I know nothing could harm Him, I suddenly became extremely worried for His safety.

Me: Crying, but really weeping. "Oh Lord, are You going into battle?"

Jesus: Smiling with such compassion. "Oh Erin, this is endearing! However, do not worry as nothing will harm Me." He looked me straight in the eyes as tears streamed down my face. "I am Who I say I am. Be still, I am here. I am not to be harmed as that day is over. The day of My persecution is finished. I am here. I am with you."

Me: Still crying. "It's just that, well, it's just that I love You so much. The thought of You being beaten makes me physically ill. While I am so glad that You did this for us..." I hugged Him tightly. "...please never allow this again. I love You too much!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Thankfully, there is only to be one physical persecution. Even so, I now receive daily verbal assaults instead."

Me: "Lord, if people knew You, they would love You."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, your heart is good. However, and unfortunately, even when I send blessing after blessing and do good, there are many who still curse Me. They do not see Me in anything. It is easier for them to curse Me on their lips in passing words than to turn and recognize the source of their success and be thankful."

Me: "I am sorry, Lord, You are right. Why is Your horse in armor? Why is he in armor while You are not? Where is Your armor?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin...always asking questions."

Me: "Well, yes! After all, it is Your job as the Son of God to follow and be interested in seeing Your Father and to know His comings and goings. This is all part of doing His Will, right?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Yes..."

Me: "So then, Lord, what do I have to lose if I do the same and follow this example You have set. You have already told me that You won't let my, but really Your, ministry or my love for You be taken away. With this as background to give me confidence, may I ask You a question?"

Jesus: "You may..."

Me: "Soooooo..." Using a dramatic pause for emphasis and then smiling.
"...whatcha up to?"

Jesus: We both laughed so hard. "You delight Me, Erin. You are funny. To answer your question of what I am up to...well, I am doing the Father's business." He smiled.

Me: "Oh Lord, there is truly no one as wise as You. Though I don't like it, this truly is the perfect answer."

Jesus: Smiling. "I know, I know...you would like to know more and, one day very soon, you will. Now, your dream...do you realize that your forestry board and box represented a wayside altar? Well, it did. You came as a child there and you opened the gate into My presence. You then used this to enter into the presence of God."

Me: "Oh, I never thought of this. I never put any of this together until now."

Jesus: "Well, I am here to help you. Every time you walked on the path to the forestry board and stepped through the door, you entered into My presence. It is your wayside altar where you remember Me. Erin, I love you and I delight in you. Yes, even My horse enjoys your company. The angels also ask when you will come for a visit...yes, even the serious ones." He smiled.

"You have taken many losses and some heavy blows on your journey to be here with Me. I know it has been a long time. Many years have come and gone and you still have not realized all that I have planned for those who love Me. You still feel the sting of defeat, the agonies of loss and the abasement of yourself. However, Erin, I am with you in all of this and I promise you that I do not forget what has happened to you.

"While you might forget some of the things, God does not forget. I forget your sin and remember it no more as you have been redeemed. This means you must also forgive yourself and give those who have harmed you to Me so that I can impose justice. You need to do this as you are in no position to hold them accountable and be judge over them, understand? Now, who is better to vindicate you over your enemies...you or Me?"

Me: "You, of course! I am in no position to do anything."

Jesus: "So, give your enemies to Me. I have them and I promise they will not go unpunished."

Me: "Lord, I did not come to seek revenge. I was humiliated and crushed and it hurt because these people turned against me. It hurt so much."

Jesus: "Pray on this, Erin, and, one day soon, you will receive an apology from several. Others will be a bit of a struggle. I have this though, so do not worry, okay?"

Me: "Yes, I already have too much to worry about and I don't need any more."

Jesus: "Hmm, I don't like hearing such things." As soon as He said this, I felt something very heavy land on my shoulders. "So, Erin, can I remove that heaviness from your shoulders or are you deciding you can live with this?" He smiled.

Me: "No, I hate this. It is too heavy. I cannot function with this weight."

Jesus: "So, are you saying you are ready for Me to take the weight off your shoulders? Oh yes...and your back too?"

Me: "Could You? I also have some excess weight on my midsection You could remove as well." We both laughed.

Jesus: "Erin, I will remove it. Just ask and this will be done, okay?"

Me: "Oh Lord, please remove this."

Jesus: "Done." In an instant, all of the extra weight was gone. "Now, Erin, I am calling you to come out of your basement."

Me: "Yes, Lord, thank You!" I hugged Him.

Communion

Dear Father,

It is a beautiful day here today! Thank You. The hurricane will be arriving sometime tomorrow morning. My older daughter's class trip was cancelled due to the uncertainty of what this storm may bring. Sigh...I spoke with both of my daughters about storms on the way to school this morning. Father, You have told me many times that You use these storms to draw attention to Your power and to humble the proud.

My daughters and I then started to discuss different ways God could use this storm and different ways we could pray for all of this to unfold. We talked about whether it was better to pray for cover over our household or to have the storm be diverted or even dissipated completely. Yes, I know You have the power to divert the storm. You can move it out to sea. If You wish, You can stop the storm in its tracks.

Simply stopping this storm would be wonderful for all who know You and love You. However, this does nothing for those who fail to see You at work in the world today. Knowing that all is done in Your Will and, given the uncertainty of the track, but really Your track, we will prepare for the storm and take down things that could become airborne. I pray that this storm passes over us or, better yet, misses us completely.

Today, Father, I feel as if I have very little value to our kids. They look to us for evidence of Your miracles and often ask us 'when?' I understand this as I do this with You too. When I was their age, it seemed like the days just dragged on. Road trips seemed to take forever to get there and holidays couldn't come soon enough. When things are not going well for one or more of our children, the questions on God's timing tend to ramp up. Yes, I fully realize that my husband and I also do this with You.

When I was driving home today after dropping off the girls at school, I stopped to take a photo of some Holstein cows that were resting near some beautiful sunflowers. This made me happy. I then drove a bit further and noticed a beautiful tree with orange and red leaves shining against the bright blue sky. This made me unhappy...smiles! 'Argh!', I cried, 'Fall is here! Oh no, fall is here!' While I usually love fall as it is my favorite season, I am simply not ready for it to arrive yet.

With my husband's interview on the horizon, I have been worried about his suits. We literally dusted off the shoulders of his suits as they have been sitting there unused for so long. After trying a bunch on, we finally found a couple of suits that would work. I recently won an auction for some white dress shirts that have yet to arrive, but I pray they will fit. While some may frown on us for this, we are also going to look at consignment shops to see what they may have. Nothing wrong with 'gently used'!

Oh Lord, please help us as we look to find the perfect suit, tie, shirt, socks and other items. I would really love to find this in an unlikely place for 'cheap', but high quality, because a men's suit store can charge up to $200 for just a tie. This is obviously out of our realm right now. I also pray that the seamstress can adjust my husband's suit pants for one of his suits. I pray we supernaturally find all that we need at a very low price.

Better yet, I will take a lesson from my older daughter's 'direct prayer approach'! Father, we need healing today! We look worse for the wear now and could use Your supernatural transformation prior to this big day. Father, we need some miracles at every turn. I pray this in Your Son's Mighty Name, in Jesus' Name, Amen!

Sub-dream 1 "My husband's new pair of shoes" begins...

My husband came home and showed me a brand-new pair of shoes that he had just purchased. Anyone who knows my husband knows that this had to be part of a dream as he simply does not go shopping for himself...ever...smiles! He was preparing for a new adventure and he wanted to kick it off with some new shoes.

Me: "Wonderful! You will be able to hit the ground running in those!"

We both laughed. We then held hands to say a prayer...

Both of us: "Father, we pray that this is a blessing as beautiful are the feet which bring Good News!" (Romans 10:15 and Isaiah 52:7)

Sub-dream 1 over...

Oh Father, please bless my husband with supernatural confidence, strength and joy. May he be a blessing to others as he has been a blessing to all of us. Please let this huge open-door lead to this wonderful opportunity. Please forgive me for my worry!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was laughing. He was once again holding the reins to His horse. The horse bayed as if he was laughing. He then struck his front hoof in a front to back motion on the ground in what seemed to be a comical fashion. I laughed. I then could not wait to run into Jesus' arms. At first, I reached down for the hem of my dress, but I then quickly dropped it with a laugh. I ran straight into His arms and He hugged me.

Me: "Thank You, Lord, for dreams. I believe this was a good one."

Jesus: "Yes, but this still seems to be your month of worry. Why?"

Me: "Right now, I see more going out than coming in. There are big changes coming and things seem to be up in the air." As I said this, I threw my hands up in the air in an exaggerated motion. "I just wish we were all changed already, Lord. As a household, we are ready for whatever adventure comes next. I feel in my heart that a door will soon be opening for my husband and I am thankful.”

Jesus: “Hmm, but why are you so downcast?”

Me: “I don’t want to be alone again. I will miss my husband. While I am not thinking this separation will be for the long term, I just don’t know right now.”

Jesus: “Well, Erin, where are My hands?” He was laughing as He was now holding the reins with His hands held behind His back. “No matter where I am or what you are unable to see or witness, you now know that I am in control, right? Your home is now prepared for service. Your dream revealed that your husband is the head of your family, but that I am the head of your household. This is also correct, right?”

Me: “Of course, Lord. ‘Yes’ to both.”

Jesus: “So, your family is about to begin a spiritual adventure, a new adventure, together, Erin, and I am with you. This dream was a good one. Do you remember having a dream not long ago about purchasing new shoes with your friend and then going out to do My work in them? Before that, your feet were bare as you walked in My presence. However, I am now calling you into greater service. New shoes mean a new state of being and this is good. Now rejoice. Remember to be strong and take courage for I am with you. Now, what am I holding here?” He smiled.

Me: Laughing. “The reins to Your horse.”

Jesus: “I might have to show you this a few more times until it is etched on your heart.” He laughed. “Erin, I love you. I am here and I am with you. Oh yes...and I am who I say I am. New Shirt, New Shoes, New Service...done!”

I laughed so hard as I knew this was a play on a common restaurant sign that tells people with no shoes or no shirt that they cannot come in. Replacing the slogan ‘No Shirt, No Shoes, No Service’ with ‘New Shirt, New Shoes, New Service’ was just so humorous to me that I am laughing as I write this down.

Dear Father,

Thank You for this beautiful day here! The leaves are changing. While it is not fall quite yet, the temperatures have been very cool lately. I am so thankful today, Father. I am thankful for You. We went to church service last night and listened to the new pastor of the church. This new pastor is actually the son of the recently retired pastor. It was hard for me. As I listened to the message, I felt it barely scratched the surface of who You really are. Hmm, quote time...

“Because You have been preparing us for the extraordinary, we have now been ruined for the ordinary!” – SparrowCloud9

You have taken me to many places. You have granted me access to places I never thought were possible. While I had imagined Heaven in my mind before these dreams began, it is so much more than our mind is even capable of imagining. You have extended the pegs to my tent and stretched me. It was only possible because I had emptied myself of my own presumptions and expectations. I allowed You to fill me.

I remember that late spring/early summer day in 2012 after my difficult weekend when I went for a drive alone. I opened all of the windows of my car and put my arm out the window so that I could feel the wind as I drove. I said to You, Father, ‘What good has my life been? I never accomplished my dreams. I did a lot of things and worked in many different jobs, but I never quite got there.’

Yes, I knew a little about a lot of various things, enough to carry conversations with almost anyone, but this was just not enough. As I drove down this desert road on a Friday night as the sun was setting over Snake Mountain, so many thoughts came into my mind. Does any of this matter? If I died on this road tonight, would anyone, other than my children, really miss me? I continued to drive, playing my music loudly. I then heard You call out to me...‘Be Still!’

Me: Instead of ‘being still’, I replied to You. “Yes, Lord, but I have been stripped of everything. My dignity, pride, friends, money and social status are all gone now. All I get now is criticism from other Christians. I am like a leper to everyone else. What was my crime, Father? What did I do?”

I then got on my knees and started to pray. I wept until there were no more tears and I could not sleep. My grief made my heart skip and even it was now failing me. I then heard You again call out to me...‘Be Still!’

I then went home and walked my dog Zoey. After coming back home and doing some organizing, I sat in my chair and felt so lonely. My children were at their dad's home this particular weekend. It was so quiet in the house without them. I would then attend Saturday night service at Bethel Church. I would then go home.

However, on this particular Saturday night, a series of prophetic dreams would begin. While I did not write them down at first, I felt prompted to start journaling them as they became clearer. I still soon became even more concerned...'Father, after all this time, now people are going to think I am delusional.' As a result, I was very careful to keep these dreams to myself until I finally found a safe venue to share on the internet.

Yes, I was extremely careful, and for good reason. People are unkind to Christians that are doing anything other than 'Standard New Age Practices'. In some ways, Christians are even worse. I simply did not share much with my Christian friends as I knew the backlash would be very difficult. I kept all of these dreams to myself until I finally felt that 'gentle nudge' from You to finally have these posted.

Father, I am closing in on the seventh-year anniversary of You saving my life. I now wanted to know, and I mean 'really know', what it means to love You. While I heard so many people acknowledge their love for You and claim it, some didn't seem believable and I felt a void in my heart. I just didn't have this greater love relationship with You. I had now given up my personal ambitions and I wanted to know You.

I wanted to know this mysterious, elusive God, the Father. While I knew that He was 'always there' back then, I just did not believe that He was 'always available'. I had come through the fiery furnace by Your Grace, but now what? Well, He began talking to me directly on September 30, 2012. Here I am, seven years later. This is what You have done with me and I can't thank You enough...

- You have given me a deeper personal relationship with You
- My journey now has meaning because I surrendered my way and chose Yahweh
- You were patient with me and I longed to be in Your presence
- You changed from being a name written on paper to Your signature written on the tablet of my heart
- When I was overwhelmed with troubles of this life and avoided You, You chased me and said 'wait, Erin, I am here...come to Me'
- You became my best friend
- There is nothing about me which is hidden before You
- You have me, but You already had me at 'Erin, come up'
- When the world treats me as old and feeble and I begin to then reflect what I see in the mirror, I see what You reflect in me...young, strong, beautiful and without blemish...and I cry with thankfulness

- When I am with You, I can scale a wall, climb a cliff and leap over an obstacle, all with ease
- I can even fly on the wings of an eagle
- When I start to think that perhaps I am just a delusional woman, You give me confirmation that Your Words are truth and Your promises remain
- When my enemies ramp up against me, You shut them down every time
- You make my enemies schemes come to nothing
- When I have been struck with grief so deep that I can barely catch my breath, You are there with loving arms to hold me, speak tenderly to me and carry me through the pain
- When I have worried about something, You still my heart and reassure me of Your goodness and kindness
- When I have been afraid of the fire and heat in the furnace of affliction, You stood with me and held my hand through the flames
- Who is like You, Father? Who? No one, no god, no man. You are great and mighty!
- You found something in me
- You found a broken woman with a broken heart
- You came for me
- You let me know You and I am forever changed
- I am forever ruined for the ordinary because I now chase the extraordinary through You
- Oh Father, I just love You so much

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was holding the reins of His horse in His hands. The reins disappeared as I ran to Him. He was smiling. This time, I was running full speed. I jumped up into His arms and wrapped my arms around Him.

Me: Crying. "I love You so much. Thank You."

Jesus: "I love you, Erin."

Me: "Lord, it has been almost seven years. You have given me a massive gift, a large diamond, on my path. You have unfolded a hidden treasure. I can't thank You enough for everything."

Jesus: Smiling. "I was always with you. I was there in every one of your dark moments. I was right beside you. I saw what had happened, along with things you did not see. However, through all of it, even when you did not know to call on Me, I was there to see you through it all." I hugged Him again.

Me: "All of this...the dreams, the visions, my writings...it is a miracle. Even if the world rejects it all, it doesn't matter. They just need to see a glimmer of what I know about You and what Your heart is like. Lord, I only know a very small part of Your heart and it is more than enough. I grieve for the lost, Lord.”

Jesus: “Erin, I did not make you responsible for the lost. I am the Good Shepherd and I go after those I call, understand? Not one is lost...not one. I did not appoint you to be responsible, but it is I who controls these reins, understand?”

Me: “I just hope that people see more of Your heart. I just hope they see Your heart in the same ways that children do.”

Jesus: “My Words are living water to those who choose to drink from the cup. Some read them once or take a sip and that is enough. Some drink a glass and spend some time reflecting on the historical significance of the text and go no deeper. Some read it over and over, gulping down the water in the cup, but never truly tasting it. Then there are those who read My Words in order to pick up the cup to throw it in the face of others.

“However, there is yet those of you who read My Words and seek deeper understanding. They pray for illumination. They pray for My Words to have life. They then keep going deeper still, uncovering the veil from the surface and seeing the revelation within. This is the fullness of taking a vessel to the wellspring of life and filling this to overflowing and drinking and drinking because you are thirsting for more.

“This is a hidden door presented first by a key, a story, My story. Once this desire is placed on your heart, the Voice of the One calling in the desert is then in you knocking. The invitation is the key. The key then unlocks the door, understand? You took the path not knowing where it would take you, but, trusting in the Father’s plan, My plan. You then saw the door. However, you did not enter until you saw the invitation.

“You were then given a key. This key unlocked the door...” He smiled. “...to My heart, My tablet, My table, My dinner. I then gave all of this to you. You were not just My guest or My friend, but you were even more. You sought Me as a Bride running after her Groom. There were days I wished that you would come, but you did not. There were days in which you did come, but you were speechless.

“Yes, being ‘speechless’ is a difficult thing, right?” He laughed as He lovingly nudged me. “There were days when you came broken and battered, but you still came. My love for you is unconditional. I love you and I am always glad to see you. While you judge yourself harshly, I do not. While you still do not see what I do, I see a finished vessel. You will see, very soon, all that I do and your joy will be complete.

“Erin, I have filled your vessel with good things and I have not left you. You have put My Words into practice. You have been broken for the lost. You have prayed and interceded and I have answered your prayers. While some of these have been answered in a way you think not, others are still continuing. However, know this...what I have given you is more of Me.

"In turn, I have sent others who I have called, those who want more too. I have given keys to them to unlock more of Me through My Words. Those who seek Me with their whole heart will be found by Me. I am here." He smiled. "The invitations have gone out. Who will come to My dinner banquet? Who will walk through that door?"

"Will it be those pastors that are more concerned about filling their pockets with silver? Would they throw away their selfish desires to humble themselves before Me? Which one of them believes themselves most worthy? I will tell you...all of them believe they are more worthy than you. While I have sent the invitation out, they do not bother to open them. I even signed them. They therefore do not have a key to walk through My door"

Me: "But their hearts appear to be good."

Jesus: "This is different than what you think. Yes, Erin, they believe their works will unlock the door. Do not worry though as most of these are Mine. They just won't have deeper knowledge of Me until more is revealed. However, some of these were never Mine and are tools of the enemy. They are tools of the blacksmith. However, even these are used for the good of those who love Me.

"Now, I have given you much to uncover here and perhaps even some answers to the questions you might have. However, know this...I have something wonderful prepared for those I have called...or sent invitations to. That is, those who actually opened the envelope." He laughed. "So, we must celebrate at the banquet."

Me: "Wait? What? Lord, are we being raptured? I thought the wedding banquet was for the rapture."

Jesus: Laughing. "Well, Erin, think of this banquet as more of an 'engagement' dinner."

Me: I jumped up and down in excitement. "This is even better! Thank You, Lord! Yes, our 'engagement' dinner is finally almost here! 'Engagement' seems to be referring to our assignments finally beginning. Perhaps 'engagement' could also be used as in 'activate'? Oh wow, this is awesome! I can't wait!"

Jesus: Still laughing. "Hold on, Erin, hold on. Don't fly ahead of Me, little warrior sparrow. Let Me..." The reins again appeared in His hand. "...have this. Rejoice, Erin, as I find your words pleasing and your vessel is obviously overflowing." He then smiled, shook His head, crossed His arms and put his fingers on His chin in a quizzical manner. "Now, does it seem like seven years? Hmm, seems like only a week has gone by."

Me: Laughing. "Oh no, Lord, please don't add another week to this!" He knew that I was just kidding.

Jesus: Smiling. "Did you mean 'please don't add another seven years'?"

Laughing. "Do not worry, Erin, as My promises are true and I will not forsake you. Now, come, we have a banquet to plan for our guests."

He turned towards me and reached for my hand.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for providing a safe journey home! Thank You for protecting our children while we were away. Thank You for Your continued provision as this is a miracle. I cannot thank You enough for all that You do. So much seems up in the air right now.

My husband has not heard from this prospective employer yet as it is still too soon given their protocols. We still drove around the area though and it was beautiful. Father, if it be Your Will, please grant my husband this position. Better yet, make it so that we are changed and do not need to do anything apart from You.

Father, the first day of fall was yesterday. It was also the fourth-year anniversary of mom's homegoing. It has been lonely without her. I still miss her laugh. Father, it looks like my favorite time of the year has come. It is beautiful, so thank You. Lord, please make an easy and direct path for all that we are soon having to do.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was right in front of me smiling and standing next to His horse. He held up the reins in His hand. I reached over and hugged Him.

Me: "Lord, I can't wait until the world sees You. Every knee will bow and every tongue will confess that You are God."

Jesus: Laughing. "While not everyone will fully appreciate Me at the time, there will still be many who will. Now, there are many balls up in the air as you mentally juggle different scenarios. However, you need not worry as I am the One Who holds these..." He held the reins up towards me. "...and I have a plan. Erin, the world is like a stage, a stage with both good actors and bad ones.

"Even though the former ruler of the land seems to set the stage for 'his show', he does not. He can only set the stage according to God on the Throne and it is I Who writes the outcome, the story, and I do not veer off of My plan. Now, there is a global stage with various acts and, again, some with good actors and some with bad. However, yet again, who holds these?" He held the reins up.

Me: "You do, Lord."

Jesus: "Erin, since all that you have requested is good, I will therefore grant the desires of your heart. Your prayers, Erin, are about to be answered and prophecy fulfilled. Your name will be remembered as a 'storm', but this storm (a supernatural 'Hurricane Erin' that begins with our Transformation) will be different than what the world expects. Now, all of your hearts are turning towards Me because..." He held up the reins to His horse again. "...well, what am I holding?"

Me: "The reins."

Jesus: "Yes, so do not worry here. All of you must have confidence and patience and not let the enemy gain a foothold even for a moment. This is because..." He smiled as He held up the reins for a fifth time, obviously for added emphasis. "...I have these. I will take care of you and your children. I will fulfill all of My promises. I will even grant the desires that some of you reserve as silly as no request you could make is too much for Me.

"Soon there will be much to do as your time of rest is coming to a close. Your vessels are ready and My quiver is full. Joy will come in the morning as the storm at night is short lived. You must press into Me and I will still your hearts. Many want to know Me more, but their fear is that I am too far away to hear them or that I do not care. I do care. I am with them.

"While they will soon no longer be disqualified, to Me, they are already qualified. Now, the stage is set and you will soon be fully dressed for the first scene of My final show. So far, this has only been done by a script on paper. You will soon be as stars on My stage. You will be fully dressed and beautiful in My 'God'-produced show."

Me: Smiling. "God's Production Company!"

Jesus: "Yes, but much more. You won't believe how I will use you. Now, enjoy this rainy fall day. I am working with angels on the massive set design." He smiled. "Oh yes...and, Erin...everyone who works on My set is paid a King's Wage, so do not worry. I love you. I am with you." He hugged me.

Me: "I can't wait. For the sake of my husband, our kids and our friends on the Nest, I really can't wait."

Jesus: "Then do not worry as I have you."

Dream 359 – We are 'special ops' viewing events from His horse

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for all that You do. Thank You for my family and for my friends from all over the world. I am truly blessed. Father, I am also scared right now. I did some things on faith and by Your direction, so I know You called me to do so. However, right now, it is way beyond my comfort level.

I know that, every time You have done this to me historically, it is because You are lining my words and actions with my beliefs that I preach to others. In some ways, I feel as if this was the first week You poured into my 'new vessel' to test the sustainability of what You created. It seemed You did this in order to see if there were any weak spots in my structure.

I pray that I passed. I felt I did everything You had instructed me to. However, it was a personal paradigm shift. It seems like, every time I become comfortable with one direction or place and settle in, You take me to a greater and more difficult and demanding situation. I believe I had a dream about this last night...

Sub-dream 1 "The almost overflowing fountain" begins...

I was looking at a large fountain with a bowl underneath it. The bowl was full of round rocks and had plenty of space for the water to pass through. The bowl was taking in the water like a type of spillway. While the fountain appeared to be functioning perfectly, at least from a distance, I decided to keep a watchful eye on it. This is because, if it overflowed, it could become damaging to the things resting outside of the bowl.

At one point, I walked up to it right before it was about to release the overflow over the spillway. Just as I was about to do something about it, people would ask questions in an effort to distract me. I could tell it was the enemy sending these distractions, so I went forward and drained the excess water before any damage occurred. I then refilled the fountain and reset the pump to make sure that the perfect amount of water flowed.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, I believe that this dream was straight from You. I feel like I am this fountain. I am afraid of personal malfunctions. I am exhausted. I am busy, which keeps my mind off of the 'what-ifs', but I am still scared. I was hoping that You would be practicing with my new vessel by now, not this old one with all of its issues. Father, as a reminder, this vessel of mine is cracked, patched, duct-taped, grafted, sun damaged and spotted.

It is also failing in many areas, so I am praying for a soon renewal. I am praying for, not only the renewal of my mind, but also a new physical vessel, either healed or new and improved. I have so many dreams and desires. While I sleep, You turn me into a God-appointed super heroine who shuts down the lies of the enemy and gives hope to the hopeless, all in Your Name.

In my dreams, I can call mountains into the heart of the sea. I can dodge fire. I can scale a wall and leap tall objects, all in Your Name. I can heal the sick and strengthen the weak. I can perform mighty deeds of all sorts. However, when I wake up, I am still old and weak. I am here in pain and old. While my body comes out of these awesome dreams thinking it is now young and powerful, I soon feel as if I was hit by a train.

So, Father, will You not please consider me? Please let the woman I am in the dreams You have given me soon be 'that woman', the woman You have trained and instructed while I sleep. In my dreams, I have no worldly cares. I do not worry about provision or where I will sleep or eat. You provide everything. So, Father, why then do I worry about these things upon awakening?

In my dreams, I am no longer wearing prison clothes. I dine with the King of all Creation. I wear beautiful gowns and I am like royalty. I then wake up and I am again in the snares of debt from the things of this world common to man. While You own the banks, the banks control Your people, all with interest...hmm, compound interests.

It is common for a man to hold a mortgage, an auto loan, have medical bills and pay taxes. However, in my dreams of Heaven, You, Father, have cut out the oppressors and released us from debt. So, Father, I ask this of You...please...on Earth as it is in Heaven...set us free! Your promises rein true. I already know they do, so please!

Could You please also grant my husband this job? However, could You also make it so it creates freedom from worry and a release from oppression? We have had a year of structured rest, but now, Father, please set us free from trouble. Fall is here. If my husband gets this position, our family will then be separated for several months three thousand miles apart.

The winters here are difficult, so I ask You to make this one a mild one. I also ask for strength and provision from my husband's hopefully soon new position and that there be enough to sustain two homes and another vehicle. Sigh...I feel in my heart that You are about to do something amazing, so we will cling to this. I know one thing for sure and that is that Your promises are true. While always true, I just pray that they are for now!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was under the archway with beautiful, flowering vines. The leaves had turned to oranges, purples, reds and yellows. The fragrance was beautiful. There was even the slight smell of wood smoke in the air. The sky was a vibrant blue and the temperature, as always, was perfect. I looked over at the branches in the vineyard and the grapes hung from them like jewels.

The grapes were huge and obviously ripe and ready. While I could see distant vineyards that were still normal green vines, this vineyard reflected grapes on vines as in fall. Hmm, this was fascinating. There are different seasons in Heaven depending on the field or harvest here. However, I have not noticed this before anywhere else in Heaven but in God's Garden. I decided to walk towards the aspen grove to take it all in.

The trees were stunning, with stark white trunks and golden shimmering leaves which made a humming tune in the breeze like delicate wind chimes. Suddenly, and in the distance, I saw Jesus holding the reins of His horse and holding His arms out towards me. He picked me up as I ran into His arms. After hugging me, and to my surprise and delight, He placed me on His horse. He held the reins as He walked beside me.

Jesus: "Erin, I know your worries, your deep longings and your dreams. I put the latter two on your heart, but your worries...well, I am not the orchestrator of these. Now, why do you worry?"

Me: "Well, Lord, You know better than anyone. It is part of the human condition. If we are to be like children, then what child doesn't cry when they are uncertain if their parents know they are awake in their crib? What child doesn't cry when they cannot visibly see them? It is a child's desire to be where their parents are. Lord, I look to You and pray. When I don't know if You hear me, I cry out to You. You then answer, but not always on my timing."

Jesus: Nodding His head attentively as I spoke and then laughing. "Oh Erin, I am very pleased with the wise case you just made. However, there is still a problem with this. I am always there with you. Even though I answer when you ask, you still cry. I come to you, Erin. So, where are you now?"

Me: Pouting. "In Heaven...sitting on Your horse."

Jesus: Laughing. "Yes, but Who is holding the reins to My 'unruly animal'?" Just then, His horse stopped to make some 'menacing' neighing sounds. He then scraped his front paw and shook his head. He was obviously pretending to soon 'break free'. Before he 'bolted', Jesus exaggeratedly started to reassure His horse.

Jesus: Still laughing. "Okay, okay...calm down. This is for illustrative purposes only."

Me: Reaching down to pat the neck of His horse. "It's okay. I understand. However, you are not the 'unruly animal', I am!"

Jesus: Laughing together. "Okay, Erin, that was funny. However, do you understand why I use this?" He held up the reins again. "Erin, I don't need them for My horse as there is really no need for reins here in Heaven."

Me: "Forgive me, Lord. You have had so many lessons for me with You holding the reins, you would think that, after ten or more of these, I would have finally figured all of this out."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, you are not being tested on this. It is natural to step out in faith and then look around for Me to be there. It is when you focus on your condition, your placement or your 'self' in the midst of these situations, rather than focusing your eyes on Me, that troubles can come. Do you remember about Peter walking on water in the storm? Well, he did everything right...at first.

"Peter's heart felt called to have him do this, but his head soon was telling him that this was impossible. When he took his focus off of Me and realized 'whoa, I am standing on water', he then became self-focused. While he stepped out of the boat with great zeal and with his faith believing in the miracles of doing what I could do, his self-awareness soon brought him into the dark waters. He was then in need of a rescue."

Me: Crying. "Oh no, Lord, please don't take me backwards. I had hoped I would have figured out Who is in control by now. I have died to myself. I am reduced down. I have no lofty plans anymore, just hopes and dreams."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, your heart is good. I have refined you in the fires of affliction and found your heart to be good. I have prepared your vessel and tested it. I found it good. I have poured into you for seven years. During this time, you have grown and increased your storehouses up here in Heaven. Your treasures are here, but you also have earthly treasures waiting for you there.

"Your earthly heart has been overflowing this last week. I have shown you what is good and I have increased your tent. I have even given you a spillway. Erin, I love you. The desires of your heart are good. I delight in what you delight in. As I have increased your commitments, will I not also give you the abilities to meet and exceed them? Your requests are good. I am here to let you know that I have granted your requests. These have been placed on your heart by Me.

"You have stepped out of the boat into the storm. Your eyes are locked upon Me. Do not worry about the impending storm, the threat of high waves or the dark waters. Instead, fix your eyes on Me and these will all come to nothing. Since I hold these reins, I also control the magnitude of the storms. I control the rise of the tides, the depths of the sea and the clarity of the waters. Now, Erin, please understand...if I am with you, who can stand against you?"

Me: "Well, no one...yet many still try."

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, answering this will have to wait for a different lesson...one on truth. However, for these purposes, please remember that nothing is greater than He Who holds these reins, understand?"

Me: "Yes!"

Jesus: "When you see the increase in evil in the ways in which you are seeing it now, you must instead view this like a group of special ops in an ongoing war. I have called all of you as a special force of saints. Right now, you are observing from hidden locations all over the world. All of you call out to Me in unison: 'Lord, this is disturbing...are You seeing this?', 'Lord, this is wrong...where is the justice?', 'Lord, there is so much evil...will You please do something soon?'

Me: "Yes, Lord, that is exactly what we are all doing right now!"

Jesus: "Well, do not worry, Erin, as, when I finally do this, I will do this at the perfect time. Until then...'Prepare! Prepare! Prepare ye the way!'"

Me: "What do You mean, Lord?"

Jesus: "Well, Erin, let's just say, for better or for worse, all of your dreams will soon be answered and all of this will then come to pass. Until this finally happens, the enemy continues to taunt Me on this...and not just Me, but all Heavenly Hosts. However, soon, very soon, there will be a storm unleashed upon the lands which will scatter the wicked and bring comfort to the broken.

"Now, take heart, Erin, for I have heard all of your cries. I have not forgotten any of you. I am with all of you. You will soon be in awe at what I am about to do. Now, rejoice, Erin, for I have not forgotten you. I love you, now rejoice!" He smiled as He gently squeezed my hand.

Dear Father,

Thank You! Thank You for allowing me to have life. Thank You for this gift of dreams, visions and prophecy. It is a miracle and one still every day. I am in awe over You. I pray that, with all of this, with all of these written pages, You would turn the hearts of cold people towards You. I give all You have done for me back to You as an offering of thankfulness and love. My cup runs over with gratitude for all You have done.

Father, You have increased our tent and stretched it out. We have adjusted the pegs You have given us. Today, I present all that You have given me, every bit of my story. All of these chapters are, to me, the greatest love story of You, the heart of Jesus. I thank You for my story, a story that really is not mine. I am imperfect. I am of this world because I reside here, but I am not of this world because my eternal Home is Heaven.

You have been patient and gentle with me. You have seen something in me that I do not see. I must therefore trust You because my thoughts fall infinitely short of Your divine wisdom. You, Father, have shown me that You are about to do something in our days which we would not believe even if we were told.

You have shown me that a force sent from You is coming upon the land. It starts small and then gains momentum. This then comes upon Your people in wave after wave. You then restore hope and strengthen those who have been humiliated and disheartened. As I reflected on this, You gave me the following Word. This was a bit unusual in that I was to simply listen and write, not interact.

Lord: “Erin, you are standing today in the presence of the Lord, Your God. You are standing here in order to enter into a new covenant with the Lord, Your God. You are My warriors. You will be called out upon the nations in which I bring you. There, you will declare that, as witnessed by Heaven and Earth, I am God. You will then display awesome deeds.

“Each man and woman, both young and old, will be given a choice of life and death, blessings and curses. For those whom I have called, they will choose life and live. Others will flee, yet some will return. Others still will run in defiance. Do not worry about these. In harvest, the chaff is winnowed. So too do I winnow hearts.

“Now, you must not be afraid. It is I Who gives and it is I Who takes away. It is I Who gives blessings and it is I Who allows a curse. It is I Who sends the wind. I am in the midst of it. I have prepared you and, today, I take hold of your right hand and I am here to say, 'Do not fear. I will help you. Your redeemer is here, the Holy One of Israel.'

"Here, I will make you into a threshing sledge, new and sharp with many teeth. You will thresh the mountains and crush them. You will reduce the hills to chaff. You will winnow them and a wind will carry them away, a gale will scatter them. However, you will rejoice in Me as your glory is in the Holy One of Israel, your Redeemer.

"The poor and needy will thirst for water and search for it. I have heard their cries and will not forsake them. I will open rivers on the barren heights and fountains in the middle of valleys. I will turn the desert into a beautiful pool and the dry land into flowing pure springs. However, Erin, and even more, I will plant cedars and trees of all types in barren places.

"Why? So all that see and know may consider and understand that only the Hand of the Lord has done this and that the Holy One of Israel has created this. Please take note and understand that the waters flow from Heaven as I pour into you. I will plant you like mighty trees, strong and unyielding to man, but comforting and plentiful for those who run for cover in the great time of distress.

"Do not worry or be afraid as you are My oaks of righteousness. Erin, this is the Year of My Favor. Do not fear for I am Who I say I am and My promises are true. Now, rejoice and celebrate today. Joy comes in the morning! I love you."

I was now crying. Tears, tears and more tears. I suddenly tasted honey in my mouth. It tasted Heavenly. I love You, Father! I love You, Jesus! I now felt ready for whatever He has prepared for us. I also felt that I was to now insert Isaiah 61 in its entirety...

Isaiah 61 – The Year of the Lord's Favor

¹ The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me, because the Lord has anointed me to bring Good News to the poor; He has sent me to bind up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to those who are bound; ² to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all who mourn; ³ to grant to those who mourn in Zion—to give them a beautiful headdress instead of ashes, the oil of gladness instead of mourning, the garment of praise instead of a faint spirit; that they may be called oaks of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that He may be glorified.

⁴ They shall build up the ancient ruins; they shall raise up the former devastations; they shall repair the ruined cities, the devastations of many generations. ⁵ Strangers shall stand and tend your flocks; foreigners shall be your plowmen and vinedressers; ⁶ but you shall be called the priests of the Lord; they shall speak of you as the ministers of our God; you shall eat the wealth of the nations, and in their glory you shall boast.

⁷ Instead of your shame there shall be a double portion; instead of dishonor they shall rejoice in their lot; therefore in their land they shall possess a double portion; they shall have everlasting joy. ⁸ For I the Lord love justice; I hate robbery and wrong; I will faithfully give them their recompense, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them. ⁹ Their offspring shall be known among the nations, and their descendants in the midst of the peoples; all who see them shall acknowledge them, that they are an offspring the Lord has blessed.

¹⁰ I will greatly rejoice in the Lord; my soul shall exult in my God, for He has clothed me with the garments of salvation; He has covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decks himself like a priest with a beautiful headdress, and as a bride adorns herself with her jewels. ¹¹ For as the earth brings forth its sprouts, and as a garden causes what is sown in it to sprout up, so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to sprout up before all the nations.

Dream 361 – Jesus and hope even in disappointment

Communion

Dear Father,

It is cold here! Thank You for this beautiful fall day. Father, I am thankful for all that we have. I am thankful for Your love and sustaining power. I just love You! Last week was filled with crushing blows. Our hearts are broken. The last forty days since August has been a time of great build up. It has been both exciting and scary at the same time. It has also been costly. A door was presented and, as You instructed us to, we stepped through it. When the bad news came, I had this vision...

Short vision begins...

We were walking down an endless hallway after stepping through this open door. There were no doors open to step into and no turns to the left or to the right. We could only go forward and backward. We then met the end.

Short vision over...

Clarifying comment: In this short vision, I wanted to elaborate on what I meant by "We then met the end". This meant we could no longer go any further without the Lord doing something miraculous. We were at the end of the hallway, but it was a wall without a door. In other words, the next move is God's to create the perfect door. We are at the end of the hallway. At the same time, we also knew that we were not to go back and try a different door. We were to wait on Him. I feel that this is where we are today.

Oh Father, this has been so hard. I witnessed my husband with a look of defeat and tears, a rare sight. It was devastating for us. We then had to break the news to our kids. Two were not fazed and they quickly went to comfort him. Two were noticeably upset and crushed. One was in shock. There were questions. There were things said in frustration. All in all, we got through it.

I reminded our children that You, Father, have fulfilled our promises, just not in the way or the timing any of us expected. Father, please show us what we should do and how we should do it. Please open more doors for my husband so that he remains hopeful. If it were just me, I could manage wherever You would lead me, but this whole thing has been brutal because there are now more questions than answers.

It is hard to rest and be at peace in the midst of uncertainty and disappointment. Add all of this together with the severe cold which hit the area suddenly and it is a bit overwhelming. I began to question if I missed something. While there are to be no new tests, this felt like an all-out war. Father, please help. My body hurts, but also my heart as well. Father, I am scared!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I saw Jesus at the end of the aspen grove path. His horse was next to Him and He was holding the reins again. I noticed that He was standing at the end of the gold paver path today. The path was lined with aspens. He was in a beautiful robe with a glorious crown. The light of God shined all around Him. His horse was dressed in royal regalia and his mane was braided.

I looked at what I was wearing. I was in a linen smock and pants, not a dress fitting for the occasion. My eyes then became fixed on Jesus. He smiled at me with His beautiful, perfect teeth. He had a sash of deep blue velvet with tassels. The color was simply amazing. As I drew near to Him, I decided to stop and curtsy.

Me: "If it pleases my King, may I approach?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, Erin. I called to you."

I didn't have to be told twice. I ran and jumped into His arms. He held me as I cried.

Jesus: "I am here, Erin, I am here. I am with you, so do not be afraid. You will suffer no shame. I know that you have had a difficult time recently. Well, as you see it, really for most of your journey. However, always remember that I hold these to My horse." He held up the reins. He then smiled. "Now, he could go rogue at anytime here. Look at him."

His horse looked at Him out of his right eye and moved his head up and down in agreement. I could tell they were joking around with each other. It was amazing to see.

Me: Smiling. "Are You trying to make me laugh, Lord?"

Jesus: "Yes. Did this work?"

Me: Now laughing. Being in His presence removes all burdens. "Well, yes, it did!"

Jesus: "Hmm, I am still not convinced. Erin, I know that you are discouraged, but do not be. I once called the man your husband is interacting with 'a type of gatekeeper' (He was referring to our contact at the recruiting firm). This is still true. Your husband would not have entered into the presence of this gatekeeper without being called for a reason. Now, what did you discover there?"

Me: "More opportunities."

Jesus: "Yes. Even though one door has closed, see if more do not present themselves."

Me: "Lord, this is all well and good, but the process is long. I have no idea if three more months of another process will amount to even more disappointment."

Jesus: "Hmm, okay, so does all of this hurt so much that it is better not to try?"

Me: "No. We will keep going as, ultimately, you are in control of all things. I just..." I struggled to finish my sentence. I sighed instead.

Jesus: "Erin, I understand. All of you were excited."

Me: "Yes. Everyone was excited about new opportunities and all of us being in the northwest again. I had hoped to be nearer to my doctors. There was so much joy and laughter. Now there is tears, silence and shock. On top of all of this, a close friend has decided that she no longer wants anything to do with me. This hurts as I tried my best in my limited capacity to be a friend to her and comfort her."

Jesus: "I know, Erin. It has been difficult. I know what it is like to be rejected by friends. While this is true, Erin, remember that I am still here. I know it is difficult to understand My ways, but know this...I have not failed you yet. When you were at your church service last night, I gave you a vision. It was a promise to prosper you and give you hope and a future.

"You will look back at all of this and stand amazed. However, for now, I am fulfilling the plans of My Father. There are more hearts at stake, understand? I have you. Now, I have sent help. Those who bless you, I will bless abundantly more. Erin, you must not worry." He smiled as He good-naturedly nudged me.

Me: "Lord, why are You dressed so formally? Your crown is beautiful."

Jesus: "I dressed for you."

Me: Smiling. "What? Really? Look at me. I am 'underdressed'?"

Jesus: "No, you are not. Not to Me. Very soon, you will know more, but, for now, do not worry when evil men seem to succeed. Their success will be short lived. Do not become discouraged by the bad news and reports. Much of this is untrue. Soon, Erin, very soon, I will show My splendor and make right the wrongs of the wicked. I came to set the captives free and I will soon come to judge the nations. Every knee will bow and every tongue will confess. You will see this and be amazed. Now, continue on your course."

He smiled. "I am with you!"

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for the beauty of fall and the sea of colors outside of our windows. I just wish that this was not so short lived. One tree of yellow leaves seemed to drop its leaves within one day. They turned color and then dropped that fast. It is so sad when this color parade ends because we then know that winter is almost here.

It has been a difficult time for all of us here. Disheartening really. Good news seems to be just as fleeting as the colorful leaves on the trees are. I was not feeling well yesterday. I have been experiencing heart flutters. When I have them, it makes me unusually tired. I am thankful for my pacemaker. Without this, and Jesus too of course, I would have been gone eleven years ago.

I was tired and stayed home from church service last night. My husband still took our kids to service though as they have great messages for young adults. They were greeted at the door by our 20-year-old youth pastor, someone who has become friends with my older daughter. Apparently, he had been walking right behind them when he went into cardiac arrest.

Not wanting to draw attention to himself, he asked the staff to say nothing during the service. The paramedics came and took him to the hospital to be checked out. My older daughter did not see him during the service and did not become aware of this until the lead pastor's wife told her what had happened. Father, he is only 20 years old. I pray for supernatural healing for this young man, in Jesus' Name!

Oh Lord, there are so many sick people right now who need miracles. Father, there is nothing beyond Your knowledge or reach. All healing, and even the raising of the dead, are within Your capabilities. Please, Father, please! I love You. Please transform us so that we are able to heal the sick, raise the dead, save the lost and grant all of the hope they desperately need. I want it to be obvious that the love of God has come down to help and save!

Please, Father, let it be so. As it stands right now, there are no Jews jealous of us Gentiles. There is no child of Yours performing great miracles aside from one or two in remote outreaches. What good are lanterns if they are kept hidden under the bed? What good is a quiver full of arrows if they are never used? Please, Father, for surely we are on the verge of something miraculous! When I went to sleep last night, I prayed for an amazing dream. It was granted. This dream was long and very detailed...

Sub-Dream 1 "The Parade of Show Homes" begins...

I had been instructed to drive to a big show home production in a large development. The show was opening soon. There were to be seven showcase "Street of Dreams" homes in total. One of the builders had their designer quit, so they needed me to come in and take over. I quickly realized that I might have to work with two of my enemies behind the scenes.

Apparently, these two enemies of mine had referred the builder to me out of sheer panic and desperation. When I arrived at the property, I realized that it was literally just sheetrock and floor boards. There were no cabinets, lighting or plumbing. There was essentially nothing. I went over to where the worried looking builder was standing.

Me: "Has anything been ordered yet?"

Builder: He was reluctant to answer at first. He responded after a few seconds. "Well, no...not yet."

Me: "Oh...okay...well, it is better to not have to work around someone else's style. I'll get started. How much time do I have? I will need to order cabinets, fixtures, flooring and tile immediately."

In my mind, I thought that I still had a couple of months to get this completed. My two enemies stood there with their hands in their pockets looking everywhere but at me while the builder replied.

Builder: "You have just one week."

Me: I could not believe what I had just heard. "Excuse me? What? One week? For which portion?"

Builder: "All of it. All of it."

Me: Shaking my head. "This is impossible! Well, I will see what I can do. I will call in as much help as I can. Just realize that there will be no time to order custom anything. You will also need to trust me completely. Do you understand?"

Builder: "Well, I really don't have any choice. We will be sunk if we don't have your help."

He grimaced over at my two enemies. I could tell that it was their fault. They must have been really desperate to call me as they hate me so much as to want my death.

Me: "So, I will need a contract written up. However, it has to be a 'no fault' one just in case I am unable to meet this impossible deadline. I will need installers. I will also need immediate access to the means to do this impossible project. The first day is almost over and I will be unable to get much accomplished in seven days. In reality, this is not a whole week, but six days, as it is already 4:00pm and most suppliers are already closed."

Builder: "No, wait. Look here. You also have an extra day. This would be the eighth day."

Me: I was somewhat relieved, but not by much. "Okay, I will get started. I will first go see what others are doing here on the street so that I know what we are up against."

Builder: "I believe in you. Thankfully, my home here has the smallest floorplan."

Me: "Okay, that is good news. However, I will need to use various suppliers. I will not be able to use just one if I want to get this all done on time."

Builder: "I no longer have any loyalties to my previous supplier." As he said this, he pointed towards my two enemies. "I need a miracle, so please do whatever you need to do. I will send help in the way of installers, carpenters and electricians. I have made sure that all of these tradespeople are on standby for you."

Me: "Oh wonderful!"

Builder: "I will also be personally available to assist you in any way possible."

Me: "I will walk through the space and double check the electrical before I allow the sheetrock to be finished."

I looked over to where my two enemies had been standing, but they had now disappeared. The electrical work was of good quality, so I made very few adjustments. I could tell that this builder was a very good one.

Me: "What exactly happened here to make this project so far behind?"

Builder: "Well, it is a very long story. My trust was taken advantage of and all that was to go into this house was sold out to another on the street. The authorities are now involved. However, in the meantime, I must go ahead and move forward. If I get wrapped up in issues of future judgment and possible recompense that I have no control over, I will lose sight of that which I can do something about. I am holding on to these next seven days and the possibilities of a miracle."

Me: Smiling. "Well, I pray I am able to do this for you. I will do all that I can for you."

Builder: "Thank you."

Me: "Don't thank me yet. Anyway, I am off to see what our competition is doing."

Builder: "Okay, but please don't get discouraged at what you will see on the street."

Me: "Good advice. Don't worry, I will remain focused."

I set out to look at the other show homes. The first one I entered was very confusing. It was overdone with so many different styles that it hurt my brain. The designer appeared to be a man dressed as a woman. He/she had a fabric patterned tattoo on his/her face and it matched perfectly with the garment he/she was wearing. As I left, I could hear him/her shouting out bizarre demands to the workers.

The next house was massive. The ceilings were twenty feet high throughout the house. It was literally a palace. There was a large live tree inside the house that was there for the children to climb on. The layout and order were confusing. The floors were white marble. The walls and ceiling were white as well. With the exception of the green tree, everything was white, white, white.

I then noticed a young couple in a seating area. I approached them. She had just given birth to a little baby. I could tell that the baby was only a few weeks old. The young father was holding and doting on the baby in his arms. The mom was around twenty years old. The father seemed to be around the same age. The woman seemed to be either the owner of the home or the child of the owner of the home. I couldn't tell which.

Young woman: "Come over here and sit with us."

Me: "Wow, you look so small for someone who just gave birth to a baby."

Young woman: "Yes, I am so excited about being able to once again fit into the outfit I had purchased for the Stagecoach Festival. I can hardly wait to go!"

Unlike the father, I could tell that this woman was extremely self-absorbed and had no interest in her baby. She stood up and looked at me.

Young woman: "Come with me. I am so excited about my order. Did you pass it when you came in?"

Me: "No. I came in the back way near the kitchen."

She was so excited as she took me out of the front door of the house. The front yard was full of lovely trees, flowers and bushes.

Young woman: "Oh no, these vines keep growing over it. I have them cut, but then they immediately come right back."

The vines were as large as snakes. They were alive and seem to be behaving as if they had a mind like a snake. The vines would not allow her to get to this item. As I looked closely, I started to laugh as this item was a large six-foot-tall hollow bronze large buddha statue. She was in a wrestling match with these 'snake vines' to keep them from covering the buddha's belly.

Young woman: "Here, I will hold these vines back so that you can rub its belly. Come on, you will get whatever you wish for."

Me: Trying to hold back my laughter. "I am fine. Listen, I have to run now."

Young woman: "No, you really have to rub this. This is how I have what I do. You will need this!"

Me: Sternly, but still friendly. "No, I don't. I have something so much greater. He is not only in me, but right beside me, over me and under me. The Power of God is much greater to me than the fat belly of a manmade statue."

Young woman: Becoming increasingly angry as these snake vines were now wrestling her to the ground. "You will regret your decision. This has true power."

Me: I could not help but now smile as the vines were no longer letting her stand up. I called out to her... "Just reach up and rub its belly. You will be fine. You can then take it with you to Stagecoach."

I left her house and scanned the four other homes remaining for me to look at. I could now hear the young woman screaming out in frustration about the vines she was wrestling with. I then realized that I just did not have the time to look at these remaining homes. I saw that each of these four other homes also had an idol on each of the front of their landscapes. Each were different and none of them were attractive. I didn't recognize most of these 'gods', other than one seeming to be a massive Hindu 'god'.

Me: "Sigh...okay, Lord, I need miracles here. I have seven days to put this together. Well, if this is the first day, I have eight days. Help!"

Sub-Dream 1 over...

I then fell into a deep sleep after writing down this dream. I then had a second dream.

Sub-Dream 2 "Elderly woman in an antique shop" begins...

I was looking around in an antique shop. There were beautiful things displayed in cases and on shelves. The owner was an elderly woman.

Elderly woman: "Do you realize that everything before you was created by someone who is now in Heaven? Do you realize that all of the first owners of each one is there too?"

I somehow knew that what she was telling me was the truth.

Sub-Dream 2 over...

Lord, everything has a back story. Last week was a brutal week and the week before that was even worse. If it were not for the love, prayers, encouragement and support of our incredible Nest family, we would have been with little hope. Thank You, Father, for our amazing Nest family, our incredible 'cyber family' that we love so much! Seriously, in today's age of people growing colder, the warmth of the Nest could only be from You!

As I looked around me, I realized that generations before us all paid the price for all that we see around us. However, there was no price greater than that of Jesus. I finished my seven Hebrew years of dreams recently and Jesus is deservingly the true focus of each of them. The Lord has been preparing us for changes. While You have never said You would stop these dreams and visions even once, I know that You are now preparing us for something else, something more...the gifts of healing and miracles.

These have come in my dreams first. I have been getting glimmers. I have seen people during my waking hours who need miracles. I have prayed that God would grant us this ability to heal others in Jesus' Mighty Name. While I don't know when or how God will do this, I know that He loves us and has this planned for us. We have grown very tired of this world and we are no longer comfortable here. Father, we are ready and willing to be called into Your greater service. Please do this soon!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I found myself in Heaven walking along a familiar path. It was a beautiful day. I could hear music in the distance, so I decided to run towards it. I then noticed a familiar side path to my left.

Me: Crying out with joy. "It's the Potter's House! Jesus, where are You? Lord, are You here?"

I went up to the door and knocked, but no one answered. I tried the latch on the door and it immediately opened.

Me: "Lord, are You here? Yeshua?"

I giggled. He didn't answer. I soon realized that He wasn't there. I went outside to the beautiful garden. There were rocks with water springing out of them. The water then led to a small stream. I called out to Him, but again got no answer. The springs looked so refreshing that I began to drink water from one of them. I felt a warmth, like a ray of sunshine, go through my veins. I then decided to go inside and wait for the Lord.

When I went back inside, I could hear the Potter's Wheel whirling. I was curious about this as I thought this Wheel could only function at the right speed by the Lord Himself. As I got closer to the Wheel, I noticed that there was a lump of clay in the middle of the Wheel. I felt called to place my hands in a bucket of living water. I felt the clay move through the palms of my hands. Unlike the Lord, I clearly had no idea what I was doing.

Me: "Lord, I don't know how to do this!"

I again dipped my hands in the living water. I then felt the Lord in me, via the Holy Spirit, directing my hands. However, the minute I tried to do anything on my own, the clay toppled and I had to start over. I decided it would be easier to just close my eyes and allow God to work rather than allow my 'self' to get in the way again.

I dipped my hands in the living water and put them back onto the clay. I could tell that the lump of clay was turning into a lovely vase, but I refused to open my eyes for fear of having it collapse. Finally, the Wheel stopped and I opened my eyes. There before me was something I could not believe. The piece was so beautiful that I gasped. Just then, the door opened.

Jesus: "Hmm, do I have a new potter in My midst?"

Me: Replying without thinking. "Look, Lord! Look what 'I' just made!" As soon as I said the word 'I', the vase imploded. I became sad. "Oh no, Lord, I just ruined this beautiful little vessel!"

Jesus: Smiling. "What do you think went wrong?"

Me: "It was You using me to make this little pot. However, in my joy because You used me, I said look at what 'I' just made instead of look at what 'You' just made."

Jesus: Laughing. "Very good, Erin. You recognized that you, on your own, did not produce this. It was instead I through you Who did. This is a common error, but also your first lesson. There is no 'I' except the Great I AM Who works through you, understand? Now, let's start putting this vessel of yours to good use. Are you ready?"

Me: "Yes! I am so excited. I feel as if I was born ready."

Jesus: Laughing. "Yes, perhaps, at times during your life, but we first had to remove your 'I', 'I', 'I' so that there was less of you and more of Me. Now, come with Me." He had such a happy look on His face as He reached over for my hand.

Dream 363 – Jesus and an Open Vision Recap

Communion

Dear Father,

My heart is heavy today! You have been speaking to my Spirit, my Soul and my body in a greater way. You are preparing my heart fully for surrender to Your plans. I have a pacemaker here that keeps a steady rhythm to my heartbeats. However, since last Saturday, my heart has been experiencing unusual fluttering. It cannot be explained as I am not over-exerting myself. I have plenty of nutrients, water and potassium.

We have now just lost power due to a sudden blast of wind during this storm. Father, please restore our power and do not allow darkness to stay upon our home. You have been revealing mysteries to me and I am not sure what I should do with all of this information. Last night, during our prayer session at church, I had a full open vision from You in Heaven...

Open Vision while at church prayer service last night begins...

I was running down a path in God's Garden. I was running toward a light as bright as the sun. As I came closer, I saw the form of Jesus bathed in the light. As soon as I knew for sure that this was Jesus, I ran even faster. I then noticed that the clothes I was wearing had now turned into a Bridal Gown. When I reached Jesus, He took my hands in His. He then took me through the highlights of my encounters in Heaven...

I saw the darkness and the canopy of angels with swords sheltering the path to the ladder that leads to Heaven. I saw myself as a toddler, barely able to walk, but with my arms out stretched to Him and calling out 'Hayah'. I saw Him pick me up and how safe I felt in His arms. As I rested my head on His shoulder, I could smell Him. His hair was like woven silk. I knew He loved me. I felt His heart beating.

As I became older, He took me to the tree with fruit by the beautiful river to instruct me about faith. As I became more knowledgeable and 'able', He shared deeper mysteries with me. He taught me the back stories of what we read in His Word, but rarely stop to consider. He taught me the deeper meaning beyond the letters written on the Pages.

He then took me for communion with Him. He showed me the fields of flowers and the beautiful vineyards. He shared with me why He allowed the blacksmith. He showed me how he was permitted to burn off the dross in my life and shape my heart to the Lord's Will, not for my personal comfort.

He then shared with me the City of God, the Golden City. This beautiful City of Great Mystery remains forever illuminated by the sheer magnitude of God's power. This is the City on a Hill that never ceases to shine, day or night, like a Beacon of God. I was even shown the Courts of Heaven where God sits on His Throne. Although I could never see Him directly, I felt His presence through lights of emerald. This is hard to explain.

The flashes of light coming from Him illuminated the Sea of Glass below Him. Man has no cause against God here in His majestic Courts. A man is reduced to humbling himself on the floor because every cell in his body knows to bow to God's Throne. There is no choice but to be humbled in the presence of God. Just one breath of God can send out a shockwave. Just one laugh from God can make the ground roll.

There is also the Courts in which the enemy pleads his cases against us. The enemy wants to charge us for our sins and it is here where Jesus, our Kinsman Redeemer, our Lawyer, defends us. However, for our good, the good of those that God chastises, a verdict is rendered, complete with parameters, exclusions and permissions. A certain timeframe for all of this to occur is usually included in this by God.

Since God loves us and is fair and just, He promises to send help when we call on Him. Many more times than not, the enemy is then defeated and Jesus has the victory when pleading our case. As we come through tests and trials, very few are later allowed by God as we become humbled and contrite, yielding to God's Will and not to ours.

This is also where I saw those who have wronged me and my children being lined up for charges against them before the Throne of God. When my name was called, there was a sound of great moaning. I noticed that many there were in the same chains, or wearing those same chains, that they had put us into while on Earth. It was comforting to know that God is just and His judgment is righteous. However, this was bittersweet to me and I soon became sad for these enemies that had done so much against me.

Jesus then took me to the Valley of Berach or Blessings. There, I saw the mansions of my friends and the places in which God has been preparing for us. Things that we did not even know we had wanted are there waiting for us. There are so many gifts, both big and small, all contained there. There are water features, trees, including lots of aspens and birch, along with little sweet birds and animals.

What really surprised me was that there were things I liked as a child that God remembered also contained there. Quite simply, He knows every little detail. He fills to overflowing every empty bucket we have ever had and even some we did not even know about. Angels have recorded every tiny detail of our lives. There were even pets I had as a child who were there waiting for me to come Home. There were friends and family and great celebrations.

Even though I was very cautious about writing about this at first, God then showed me nighttime in Heaven. Trees and bushes were illuminated with living lights. There is no need for cords in Heaven as God provides power directly. The stars twinkling in the sky are so beautiful, each one shining like a diamond. At one point, You showed me fireworks and even pictures made by the stars.

You had me write about this by reminding me that Your Word has never declared that there is no night sky in Heaven. The Bible only states that it is the City of God that is constantly illuminated, no matter the time of day or night. You then indicated that having no night would deprive those who love beautiful lighting. This includes me and so many I know. Lights are awesome! Who doesn't love an amazing light display?

You showed me many things that are there in Heaven for our delight. There are so many cute animals and birds. There is a baby animal zoo for the kids. We still eat and have wonderful food and drink, but without the cleanup. There is so many things there waiting for us, each perfect and so much better than anything here on Earth. I was then reminded that all that I have seen is only a tiny fraction of all that is waiting here!

Open Vision over...

There were so many things shown to me in this vision. It was a wonderful reminder of how much He loves us. Please, Lord, raise up Your Army soon! We are all so eager to serve You in a much greater capacity. Only You can strengthen us enough to give us the ability to do such a great feat. Please do this soon, Lord, as we are so ready!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was in front of me. He smiled at me as He reached over to hug me.

Jesus: "Look into My eyes." I did. "Now, all of My promises are true. I will do all that I have promised. I am about to do something in your days that you would not believe even if you were told. Now, rejoice. I delight in you. I will bless those who show kindness to you for My Namesake. You are Mine. Remember, what Father wouldn't show kindness to those who show kindness to His Son. There is no difference. Now, rejoice, Erin, as I am with you!"

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for my family and our friends. If You took me Home today, I would feel whole and full of love. I can't thank You enough for the hearts of friends and the love that I have experienced over the past seven years. I am thankful. I live each day with great expectations and hope. On some days, this is crushed by the world. At other times, this is elevated because of signs and wonders that line up with Your Words.

Lord, we feel that something is going to happen soon, our Transformation. However, this day, today, has gone by so far and nothing has become of it. You are a mystery, Father. I am not a date watcher, but I am married to a date watcher. When he comes up with a great date or time frame of dates, I listen, nod and usually say 'interesting'. I secretly hope and pray, but I try very hard just to live a normal life.

I try to live a normal life because You, Father, have commanded me to. However, Father, right now, it is affecting me. There are so many events in the news here and abroad, along with events in my personal walk. I am seeing things that I haven't before. You are giving me 'hyper-knowledge' about various people around me and even strangers. You are speaking to me in new and different ways and it is both wonderful and frightening all at the same time.

You have recently called me back to church on a regular basis. We went from just attending Wednesday night worship prayer service (which I love so much I could have it every night) to attending several different events. This is mostly because our daughters are so excited to see their friends. My husband and I also attend Alpha on Monday nights. While I know You have called us to do this for a reason, I am exhausted.

It is just so difficult to see people who want more of You going through the fire. It is difficult to have supernatural knowledge about the coming storms, knowing what I know, but being unable to speak about it. My husband and I have extensive information, but we are unable to share. My husband knows so much about Jewish history and traditions and how they fit into today's events, but knows others would not find it interesting at this point in their walk.

Oh Father, we know You on a deeper level only through our long suffering. I find myself longing for my devotional chair or my prayer closet, the car. There is a reason You have called us out right now and I have to believe it is because You are about to do something huge. Church has not changed much over the years. The services are seeker-sensitive, not deeper. That is okay, but we find it hard not to go deeper.

My older daughter has been asked to do more in service to the church because of her knowledge of media and editing. However, last night, she learned that she could not be involved with the ministry until she completed a program they call 'Growth Track'. While I am fine with this, it just seems like another way of plugging potential members into unpaid staff positions. I am sorry for sounding cynical, Father, but this is true.

When I attended Graduate Seminary, my course design was spiritual formation as a branch toward my Masters of Divinity degree. The vetting process to be considered for admittance was extremely difficult. All personal references and background checks had to be investigated and interviewed. You had to take an extensive psych evaluation, even though they didn't call it this.

Spiritual gift inventories, as well as other related ministry strengths, were also tested. After completing all of this, I was thankful that this vetting process was there as it weeded out potential trouble and made sure that the ministry was truly a good fit. Unless you have been through this process yourself (or know of someone who has), it is hard to have any idea of just how difficult it is to become a part of the ministry if you decide to get there through the route of academia.

In the end, it mattered not. The troubles from my main blacksmith came in wave after wave soon after and I then had to remove myself from contention. I was in no position to continue. My heart wasn't in it anymore and I felt it would stop my child-like wonder and turn me into something else. Everything was against me here and, Father, this was not to be 'Your Way'. I would much rather learn from You instead...sigh...

Father, You have ruined me for the normal mundane Christian church activities. All I see is hurting people and a real deep need for You. Father, I believe in miracles. I believe in Your healing power. I look for signs and wonders and You speak to me through dreams and visions. However, none of this is what I see here. It could be, but I don't see this at church today.

I am intrigued though that the pastors have felt You calling them to expand and prepare for that which is coming. The trouble is that no one but us really knows what this will look like. No one knows. No one speaks of Transformation and the time of Joel 2 and other similar Scriptures. Oh Father, please reveal what this is all about. Help...but more than this...I want You to work through all of us in a greater capacity.

Right now, I am a vessel here on Earth that is truly disqualified. I am cracked, patched and motley from outward appearances. My inside linings, my heart and my mind, are not much better off, but at least they are ready and willing. I am longing for more of You. However, until You heal us, how are we to heal others. I have no credibility. My mouth declares faith about the Kingdom of Heaven and Your Courts, yet I look broken. Oh Father, they will look at me and say something similar to the following...

'Why would I want that? Look at what God's miracles have done for you. You have a brain tumor. You have heart issues. You are disabled. You have a large herniation on your back. You have no job. You have cataracts in both eyes. You are overweight. Why doesn't God heal you? I don't want you to lay a hand on me until He heals you first. If being like you is what He is offering, I don't want any of it.'

Well, Father, they would be right. How can I heal others if I am not healed myself? How can I declare miracles if I am not 100% certain You will do it as I have prayed and believed for it? It is not a matter of unbelief that You can, it is a matter of whether Your Will is on Earth as it is in Heaven. Even if Your Will and my will are the same, we may not meet up in the timing. However, I fully submit to You as You have a bigger and better plan in place. I had an incredible dream last night...

Sub-Dream 1 "The Eighth Pool" begins...

I was at a beautiful resort like no resort here on Earth. While it may have been on Earth, it could have also been a type of Heavenly training ground. I am not really sure, other than that this resort was beyond a five-star resort. I was walking down a hallway with windows on one side and beautiful stone on the other side. The construction and finishing work here were simply out of this world.

A man who worked at the resort soon approached me. He had a huge smile on his face and seemed excited to see me. It was as if he had already known me. In my heart, I suddenly knew that there were more workers here than guests and that they all knew our names. This was world class service 'on steroids' (a compliment), unparalleled by anything I have ever seen here on Earth.

Man: "Erin, the Lord asked that you meet Him in the healing pools. Walk straight down this hallway of glass and stone and then turn right. You will see an open door. Walk through the open door."

Me: "Oh, okay, I will. Thank you."

I was so excited and did exactly what the worker told me to do. When I went through the open door, I walked into a beautiful outdoor patio area with stone floors. It was lined with palm trees. The sun was bright and the sky was blue and crystal clear. At the end of this patio area was a massive water wall with a beautiful channel of water. It followed the channel to the right and there, in front of me, were seven massive pools.

These seven pools were all with square corners and various sizes. Some had water cascading over the edges like infinity pools. Some were large, some smaller. Some were square, some were rectangular and at least one was L-shaped. The pools were beautiful and their water was various shades of aqua blue depending on the depth. Some were shallow and lighter and others were deeper and darker.

There was no one anywhere to be found. I walked a bit further. I decided to follow the channel of water. Whoa, there was an eighth pool! It was perfectly round and about eight feet in diameter. It was surrounded by palm trees in beautiful planter vases. I felt that this pool was the one I should wait for the Lord. I dipped my toe in to try out the temperature and, of course, it was perfect.

Just then, jets of water bubbled up. This was so inviting that I stepped down into this beautiful pool. I felt welcome and waited for Him here. While the wait felt long at first, it really didn't bother me at all as it was so pleasant to be here. The surrounding 'porch area' was so beautifully lit that I decided to climb out of the pool to rest on an inviting reclining chair that was set up there. I soon fell asleep in the plush cushions. As soon as I feel asleep...

Sub-Dream 1 over...

...I woke up in real life! The next dream I had would be a dream of 'three prominent women'...

Sub-Dream 2 "Magog and the Three Prominent Women" begins...

I was at a convention center / hotel mezzanine in a large building in a major USA city. I was at a merchandise table with my older daughter. The event had ended and the attendees had left. They were talking to the employees from the hotel when I heard a door slam. I looked towards where the noise had come from and could see a lot of commotion coming from a conference room. I could hear a worker on her walky-talky.

Worker: "Magog is on the move."

Replying Worker: "I will alert the others."

I then saw a bunch of staff begin to run around in a bit of a panic. They tried to look composed, but were not doing a great job covering up their emotions.

Worker: "Attention, Magog is on the move. Attention, Magog."

Just then, I noticed that Michelle Obama, Oprah Winfrey and Gayle King had emerged from a conference room. The worker kept talking into her walky-talky.

Worker: "Magog is on the move."

I went up to a clerk that was working there.

Me: "What are they doing? Is everything okay?"

Clerk: "No! Magog just received some bad news."

Me: "What do you mean by Magog? Is Magog some type of anagram for Michelle, Oprah and Gayle?"

Clerk: "No. However, you don't need to be concerned here. You have a Bible. Pull out your information from there. As for these three ladies, they just received some bad news. They now have to plan their attack."

Me: "Hmm, well, Magog is Turkey, right?"

Clerk: "Stay out of it and go back to your room."

Just then, the three women came down the hallway again. Each of them looked extremely upset. I could hear them vowing that there would be retribution!

Sub-Dream 2 over...

Night before last, I had yet another dream...

Sub-Dream 3 "The White Snake" begins...

I watched as a white snake with black eyes was trying to approach my older daughter. While it was unable to get to her, it was still frightening.

Sub-Dream 3 over...

Father, all I can do is cry. I have no idea what any of these dreams mean. Please protect my family, both here and on the Nest. When, Father? When will You deliver us? We love You so much! We love You with all of our hearts!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I heard the Voice of the Lord. His Voice seemed to come from all over the place at the same time. This is impossible to describe in earthly terms.

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin. I will take hold of your right hand. I am here. I am with you!"

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for pink and blue sunrises. Thank You for the fresh promise of the breaking dawn. Most of the leaves have fallen off of the trees here as the trees begin to fall asleep for the winter. The small animals and birds are fortifying their nests in pine trees and are preparing for the changes that cold weather brings. It is beautiful here. Thank You for our place that is like a tiny slice of Heaven here on Earth.

Last week was an extremely disappointing week. So many things which had promise either never came to pass or, more accurately, doors failed to open and some were even slammed shut. On my way to take the girls to school on Wednesday morning, the front passenger tire went flat. Because of the volume of cars switching out to winter tires right now, we had to wait a while for 'our turn'.

We then discovered that all of our winter tires were very worn, so we ended up switching out all of them. Thank You, Father, for new tires! We also needed a new inspection sticker, which we easily passed once we had the new tires installed. While waiting, we had to rent a car for two days. Well, it wasn't a car, but rather a massive truck. It was all they had left. It was difficult to drive and hard on me physically.

I have never understood rental car places. There are often dozens of cars there, yet 'only one is available'. I later drove by this same place several times and all of the same cars were still just sitting there. This felt dishonest to me. This all happened the day after we had torrential rains. It rained for eight hours and never let up. I was soaked several times and it seemed like I could never get dry.

On the same night of the rains, I was called to pray on prayer night at the church. When we were finished, I witnessed a few people looking at each other with a disapproving glance at my prayer. I know it is because they do not know me as I haven't gone through the church's 'Growth Track' program. This is their vetting process. This made me remember how church has always made me feel unqualified. I didn't like it.

Thank You, Father, for vetting me in the fire of affliction. I find that, with traditional churches, if they don't know you, they tend to initially embrace you, but, in order for them to get to know you, you must complete a series of programs to see how you will best serve them. While not all churches are like this, it seems as if the majority are. Father, You have called us back to regular services again, even our children, so please protect us and keep us from the fiery darts the enemy uses other Christians to send.

My older daughter has had an extremely difficult week. She has been interning at a ministry. She had two teacher service days with no school and she went to help them out anyway. Normally, no school means no intern day. While there, she experienced a violent outburst by the leader of this organization. He yelled at the other workers and then stormed out, slamming doors as he left. This is a prominent local public figure.

She texted me while I was in town to ask for prayer, so I phoned them and we prayed together. It was a difficult day, but You still had the reins. Her 18th birthday is on Wednesday and several of her friends are throwing a birthday party for her at the youth pastor's fiancée's home. Last night, however, she was dealt a crushing blow. The young man she had hoped for asked if he could bring a date to her birthday party.

This was a young man we had prayed in agreement for. It was made worse by the few stories we know about this girl, along with her poor attitude towards my daughter. I am quite sure that this young man is purposely turning a blind eye to this as some of his girlfriend's posts on social media are not exactly modest. However, my daughter's faith is great and she brushed herself off nicely knowing that You, Father, have a greater plan in all of this than what we can see.

I have not been feeling that well over the last several days. I have been very weak and not myself. While we had a fun birthday for my husband, the elephant in the room was the fact that we still had not heard about this other job prospect. I hurt so much for my family, Father. These crushing blows after crushing blows are just so difficult to bear. Surely, Father, this is the time for us and 'The Year of the Lord's Favor' is soon to come.

The news being reported these days seems to always be bad. In my whole life, I never thought that I would see such lies, deceptions and propaganda. These are playing out in our everyday lives. Corruption is everywhere and, after a while, it seems a person can just choose the narrative of lies they are most comfortable with. Speaking of which, I was laughing about the irony of a situation recently while shopping for a pair of pants.

There were two mirrors in the changing room I was using. One of the mirrors was the 'skinny mirror' and it gave the person the illusion of being thin. The other mirror was the 'reality check mirror', the 'mirror of truth'. I wonder which mirror sold more, the illusion of lies mirror or the reality of truth mirror. Depending on which mirror one used, I am sure it made a difference in whether a sale was made or not.

In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God. All things were made through Him and without Him nothing was made (John 1:1-3). And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us and we have seen His glory, glory as of the only Son of the Father, full of grace and truth (John 1:14). Father, You are our Father of Truth and You sent the Word in flesh, truth as Your Son, our Lord, Jesus.

Jesus is all things good amongst men. Still, lies and darkness hate truth and light. Darkness flees because the light consumes it. Father, You sent Your Son, the Light of the World, to us. His light is a bright and all-consuming fire which can never be extinguished. Today, I am so thankful for Jesus. Thank You, Father, for truth. In all things, You are with us, so thank You!

When we receive disappointing news, You are still there and always are. You are never surprised and never shocked. However, I feel Your patience for this world is waning. Everyday is more bad news, but You continue to care for Your children with grace. You show mercy to the lost. In my heart, I believe You are about to do something incredible. When You do, our disappointments will segue into something we can't even imagine.

As we wait, we continue to press on and go from strength to strength. Father, all of my recent dreams have consisted of me being in a new strengthened state. This is not as I am currently, but rather my renewed self. In these dreams, I am renewed, young and strong. When I wake up from these, I can't help but feel let down. Oh Father, may our waiting soon be over. Lord, please use us as Your arrows soon.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was either up in Heaven or in a Heavenly Training Area, but I was not certain. I was sitting on the shores of a glass-like lake. In the distance, walking on water toward me, was Jesus. Next to Him was His horse. Jesus was once again holding the reins. I jumped off the rock I was sitting on and ran towards Him at full speed. Everything was going great until...I noticed that even His horse was walking on water.

Me: "Look, Jesus, I am walking on water!"

Oops, I had become self-aware. I looked down and went straight into the water. It wasn't very deep though, perhaps four feet at most, so my head was still out. I felt discouraged as I looked up at Jesus and His horse standing right there in front of me on top of the water.

Jesus: Extending His hand towards me. "Come up, Erin!"

I was suddenly walking next to the Lord and His horse. We were all now on top of the water. Once lifted out of the water, my clothing instantly dried. So far, this 'immediate drying' has always occurred (unless allowed to linger for a specific lesson).

Jesus: "Do you understand what just happened?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I took my focus off of You. I am a bit disappointed in myself."

Jesus: "Yes, but more than this...you ran to Me on water, but then became aware of the magnitude of the miracle. You then lost focus of what I was doing and became self-aware of your 'impossible state of being'. I called you to Me, but you soon became aware of your inability. Now, why do I soon come with a sword from My mouth (as per Revelation)?

Me: "You will be cutting down the nations?"

Jesus: "Partly, but this is a surface response. However, and more than this, the Earth is filling up with darkness. Darkness spreads like wildfires fanned by great winds. You are warned to be careful of what you see with your eyes. All of you need to be careful of what you see and discerning about what you hear.

"It is not just because false prophets are arising during this time right now, although there are many, it is because the enemy has sent a fire line of confusion, distraction and lies. He does this in order to completely remove truth from your daily lives and replace it with a new narrative. The enemy knows the times are coming. He knows. He and his army are in full force and now it is no longer subtle or hidden.

"Now, remember the tongue. My tongue is the sword of truth which cuts through the lies. In My presence, they will be unable to lie. This will be unmatched by any technology. You recently encountered a realistic game that your sons play with their friends. This is an illusion of war that is so real that the head experiences all of it. The heart is then..."

Me: "...desensitized? Oh no! Lord, are the hearts of my sons growing cold? Oh no!"

Jesus: "No, not for your sons or for those I have called. They instead recognize this and are not allowing it to harden them to Me or against others. For others though, this is a weapon. Erin, if you knew everything that comes against you daily that have been averted by the angels I have commanded to guard you, you would be severely humbled and thankful." He smiled.

Me: "Lord, I am so sorry if I ever fail to recognize all You do for me every day. I can't even imagine all of it."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, I am not here to chastise you. I just want to let you know what the enemy schemes against all of you. Continue to pray that your armor be fully up daily as this is wisdom. I am here to show you that I am over all that you do. I am with you. I take hold of your right hand..." He gently squeezed my hand. "...and you walk beside Me as I am with you. Remember, Erin, you can do nothing by yourself.

"As I see My Father Who does these things, I too do them. The Father loves His Son and shows Him all He does and, to your amazement, He will show Him even greater works than these. Now, Erin, believe Me that I am in the Father and the Father is in Me. Truly I tell you, whoever believes in Me will also do the works that I have done and continue to do.

"However, you will do even greater things than these because I go to My Father and My Spirit, the Counselor, is in you. I will do whatever you ask in My Name so that the Father may be glorified in the Son." He pointed to His chest. "This means that, if it glorifies what the Father is doing through the Son to the benefit of My plans in accordance with His Will, then anything you ask for in My Name, I will do, understand?"

Me: "This doesn't seem confusing to me. I will try and summarize...if I ask something that glorifies You and the Father Who works through You, putting my 'self' aside and giving all of my 'self' to Your Will, then all plans will succeed according to Your Will."

Jesus: Smiling. "Well put, Erin. Now, this is why a lump of disobedient clay is of no use to the Potter. Your obedience is a pleasing sacrifice to Me and My Father."

Me: Laughing. "Well, who would want clay with a negative mouth having a say in the Potter's work? While this would be funny, it would also be horrible."

Jesus: "Erin, the minute one tries to have a say in how they will surrender or how they will be used, they are then found unyielding or disqualified for greater use as a vessel."

Me: "I am sorry, Lord, as I have done this so many times. In all that I have done, imagined or dreamed, who knows all that I have done?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Now, the last few times that I have called you here have been short. Even though you expected or wanted more, you still accepted this. Now, this is surrender...accepting what I am doing for My glory, for the glory of the Kingdom of God. Do not worry about this though as I am training you in the way that you should go. Erin, I love you.

"I have given you My divine 'Growth Track' of affliction. Who would even sign up for this? Very few, as you will soon see. The Army who is called for service yields to the Commander. There is no 'I' in 'Army', 'Team' or 'Plan of God', understand? You will look back and see that, when you have been meeting with Me, you were either walking, running or leaping on water the entire time because of Me."

Me: "Of course, Lord! This is an 'Ah Ha' moment! Come to You first in all things!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, Erin. Now, we still have some more to do. Come with Me."

Jesus reached for my hand. He was now holding the reins of His horse in one hand and my hand in the other. We continued to walk on the water together.

Dream 366 – Jesus and the Raising of the Dead

Received Thursday, October 31, 2019 (Halloween...Hallomean)

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all that we have. Thank You for my family and friends. I feel so blessed. I feel so blessed by my family here at the Nest. It is pouring rain and cold today. This next week, we are to receive our first snowfall. My health has not been so great lately. I go through spurts. My body is rebelling against my mindset. When I need to do something, my body wants to go another direction.

In my mind, I have so much I want to do, and really need to do, but my pain dictates my course and orchestrates my ability (but really, inability) to reach my goals. Lately, I have had uncharacteristic electric charges in my arms, neck and heart. I then become really tired immediately after. However, I am still thankful for each new day.

My husband inquired about his new job prospect yesterday. The company rep then responded with news that he is still being considered, but also that the company is still interviewing others. I pray that my husband gets this job. The feeling of sadness in our home has been hard at times. If it was only my husband and me, we could manage. However, our home is filled with birds wanting to soon build their own nests.

My older daughter turned eighteen yesterday. It is bittersweet for me. She grew up so fast and so quickly. I am not sure where time went. Yesterday, on October 30th, at midnight, marked my complete freedom from my main enemy's stronghold over me, but really all of us. I was freed yesterday. I am free and so are my children. I no longer need to worry about courts because of this man and my children.

According to the courts, my daughter turning eighteen has now set us free...prayerfully, that is. We went through years of suffering for no reason other than the enemy wanting to punish me for reporting to the police what he had done to the children and me. In the end, the enemy received the victory of his freedom without financial obligation, no child support at all. I had to negotiate away support to keep my children.

If he had to pay any child support, I would worry for our lives. Now, on the 30th day of the tenth month, in the 14th year, we are free. The fight began when my daughter was only four years old. Materially, it cost me everything. It cost me even more in lost time to enjoy my children. Even worse, it caused my health to deteriorate. I can never get this back, Lord, unless You restore what the enemy has stolen from us.

I could never post on social media. I could never take trips or vacations. I was a prisoner. Everything I did with my children was under scrutiny and anything I did was twisted and used against me. It was a nightmare. Father, all this time, You have kept us safe and close. Thank You. Now we are here. What would You do with us, Lord?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in a place that I had never been before. I was next to the side of a massive stone mountain. There were chiseled stone looking rooms with massive stone doors or seals. These were ancient tombs. It was early morning. There was a path that led up to a landing area in front of several of these tombs.

Me: "Lord, is this some Halloween-type dream I am in? What is happening?"

As I was looking, the sun suddenly highlighted one of the tombs. I ran down the path towards this tomb, then up on the landing, to look for Jesus. When I peeked inside the stone room, all that was there was a stone slab.

Me: "Lord, where are You? Lord?"

Jesus was suddenly right in front of me. He was smiling as He showed me that He was still holding the reins to His horse.

Jesus: "Erin, I am here. Do not worry. I rose two thousand years ago. You will not find Me here."

I ran to Him with excitement and jumped into His arms. He hugged me.

Me: "I am so glad that You are here, Lord. I love You so much. Why are You here by these tombs?"

Jesus: "Erin, these tombs are all empty. Now, come with Me."

He reached for my hand and we walked past the stone tomb area. After walking a short while, we soon came up to a field with large rectangular holes in them.

Jesus: "We have now come from the burial place of the wealthy to being at the burial place of the poor."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but where are all of the dead?"

Jesus: "They have risen. They are busy."

Me: "Busy doing what?" I started to laugh. "Do You mean, like, 'Zombie-stuff'?"

Jesus: Laughing. "No, Erin, they are young again and, yes, still quite frightening (to those who do not believe)."

Me: Crying. "But when will we be raised up, Lord? What about us?"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, do not worry. These empty tombs were for those who I raised up, those who were sleeping."

Me: "Are they here or in Heaven?"

Jesus: "There are no graves in Heaven."

Me: "Yes, but where are the people?"

Jesus: "They are waking up...some stretching, some in shock."

Me: "But, Lord, this looks ancient. Was this just after Your resurrection?"

Jesus: "Erin, do you believe that I can raise the dead?"

Me: "Of course, Lord, as there is nothing You cannot do. Really, this is the miracle of all miracles...rising from the dead. Why have You shown me this? I believe, Lord, I believe!"

Jesus: "I am showing you this because beautiful are the feet who bring Good News. Erin, do you remember the dream you had years ago...when you came out of rooms carved in hills...you awoke from your slumber and came out after the trouble?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, I remember this dream very vividly. Was that a tomb?"

Jesus: "Erin, you will soon learn to do as I have done, but even more, understand?"

Me: "Lord, I can't even heal just one of my many ailments. How could I...?"

Jesus: "Hmm, there are a lot of 'I's here. Remember, it is not you, but Me working through you. Now, you have been very discouraged and worried for your family. Understand that it is My Father Who controls time and season. However, I have been given these..." He raised up His reins. "...so do not worry, understand?"

"Be less interested in the miracle and more in the task and the ultimate goal. Show them My glory. Tell them the Great News. Do not worry as I have not forsaken you nor will I. Now, I have placed a Word on your heart."

Me: "Yes, Lord. It is Isaiah 26."

Jesus: "Then study this. Erin, these tombs are open. There are no dead here. Only My truth remains. The remnant, or evidence, of what was once buried is now gone. Yes, Erin, only My truth remains. Now, be encouraged that there is no death here..." He smiled as He lifted up His reins. "...and that I hold these...and even more. I love you." He reached for my hand. "Now, come, as I have even more for you."

While all of Isaiah 26 should be studied as directed by the Lord, the following are verses 19 to 21. These verses seemed to be particularly applicable to what the Lord had just spoken to me about in this dream:

"Your dead shall live; their bodies shall rise. You who dwell in the dust, awake and sing for joy! For your dew is a dew of light, and the earth will give birth to the dead. Come, my people, enter your chambers, and shut your doors behind you; hide yourselves for a little while until the fury has passed by. For behold, the Lord is coming out from his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity, and the earth will disclose the blood shed on it, and will no more cover its slain."

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! I am alive and my heart beats. We have power / electricity, running water and heat as the cold sets in. What more could we need? Well, Father, You know what we need before we even ask. Just three weeks ago, we received devastating news about my husband not being selected for the position he had applied for. Well, You know how disheartening this was. Our house felt defeated.

However, during this time, we watched how You have blessed my older daughter. She had been introduced to a new ministry involving broadcasting. She was with a local Christian Radio Ministry. There she went from being considered just someone to run errands and emptying garbage cans to someone who was on the radio. She put programs together and designed production of radio commercials and social media.

Listeners were giving her great reviews and looked forward to her amazing prayers. This was such an encouragement to me. Oh Father, I had been so encouraged. Unfortunately, something then happened, something that was of no fault of my daughter's. I had been asked to pray over all of them via speakerphone when the manager of the station abruptly stormed out after making a violent threat.

I then wrote a letter at the request of the other employees to the board to outline the events that my daughter had experienced, but also from Your perspective, Father. This ministry has struggled to make ends meet and can barely pay their staff. Well, once this letter was sent, my daughter was immediately removed and her things put in a box. The head of the board then contacted me.

He then told me of some false accusations made against Amber by the manager in retaliation of these true allegations from the staff against this manager. Father, please protect the people that have to continue to work under this volatile man. When I went to You on this, You revealed that the false accusations by the manager were to divert attention away from his sinful behavior.

Now what, Father? I am frustrated, God! As a parent, I want to protect my child. For them to remove her immediately after the complaint seems like victim shaming. This comes on the heels of our losing our food in the refrigerator due to a power outage. We easily lost around $1,200 in food. We also needed to reschedule our plans around this as we needed to re-plan our meals.

We are now facing snow flurries outside our window as a storm approaches from the south. After seeing the doctor on Monday, I am facing a new set of potential medical problems. Oh Lord, I am just exhausted from all of it. I even yelled at You, Father, so please forgive me! I had no right. I only see a small part of a larger picture. Your plans are huge and I am selfish and only think about what is happening right now.

Father, almost every one of my friends are under attack right now. It is extreme too. I am receiving the emails and it is all over the world right now. It seems the enemy is ramping up everywhere and we can see an increase in horrible evil. I have been so disturbed about the Mormon women and children recently slaughtered in Mexico. They were literally hunted down like dogs and either shot or burned alive.

The news from the mainstream media claims it was purely an accident between two rival drug cartels. However, I just know that it was not. I felt that the Mexican government would produce a suspect within 24 to 48 hours as a cover up. Sure enough, supposedly just one man carried this attack out. Well, Father, and as You know, this is a lie. They claim to have caught him on the border of Arizona. What lies!

Then there was the buried news piece involving Amy Robach from ABC News. She was caught on a recorded 'Hot Mic' moment that ABC News had refused to release the story of a billionaire child rapist. They did this so that they would have continued access to the Royal Family for interviews. This was three years ago. How many young girls were hurt over the last three years because this information had not been released?

Father, ABC News is a Disney owned corporation. How does keeping this information a secret match with their supposed love for children. Father, I am deeply disturbed by the state of this world. Are You seeing all that we are seeing here? Well, I know that this is a dumb question as clearly You see everything we do, but also so much more. We just love You, Lord, and we can hardly wait for our calling into greater service.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was right in front of me. He looked me in the eyes as He lifted His hand. I could see the reins of His horse. His horse was slightly behind Him. I ran into His arms and began to cry.

Me: "Lord, those Mormon children recently killed in Mexico were innocent. They were good children. My daughter is also innocent, but falsely accused. She didn't do anything but work for You. These are Your children, children who were raised to share the Good News of You to a dark world. They all have been harmed. Why?"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, thousands die senseless deaths every day."

I stopped and decided to look at the world's death rate. It turns out that about 150,000 people worldwide die each day.

Jesus: "Many of these are children. However, they are now here with Me. Heaven, the place I have prepared for them, is large. The Baby Animal Garden is particularly popular." He hugged me as I continued to cry. "Erin, who do you think I am?"

Me: "The most amazing God, the God of all Creation. You are loving. You are strong. I could write about You for hours, days, weeks and more, but I could still never write out all that You are. This is because there is not enough ink in pens or paper in trees to declare Your majesty."

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, there is more to what I am asking. When you experienced trauma, was it easier as a child or is it easier now that you are older?"

Me: "It was easier when I was young."

Jesus: "I was there with you, Erin. I am with the children. I calm them. I appear in the midst of them and send angels on behalf of them. They do not suffer needlessly. Those who inflicted harm might be haunted by sounds, images and even smells, but it is I Who brings these children to Me. Now, do you remember when your heart stopped? Did you feel pain?"

Me: "No. While I had pain leading up to it, I then went to sleep."

Jesus: "Well, would I not also do this for these children? They call to Me, Erin, and I answer. I delight in them. I created them. I knew their course before I gave them the breath of life. They are here in the Garden where children laugh. The mothers of these children are also here with Me. They cried out to Me and I answered. See, you must understand...they called out in distress and there they could be found by Me. Sometimes there are also 'new understanding moments'."

Me: "Do You mean reprogramming?"

Jesus: "Well, when I meet you at the end, you either recognize Me and are humbled, casting off that which contradicts My Word, or you refuse Me and I know you not. I tell you the truth, Erin, not one bitter word was spoken about Me by any of them. Their faith was wholly on Me and I delivered them here.

"On their pleading and petitions, I then sheltered the children who remained. See if any of this contradicts My Word. It does not. Erin, as you know in My Word, those who call out My Name, I will save. However, I am not referring to those who call Me out in demands and cursing. I examine the heart, Erin, as this is the wellspring of life."

Me: "Lord, I am just struggling with the state of the world right now."

Jesus: "Over time, others have come before you with the same grievances. You are not alone. Now, why did I recently show you the opened tombs?"

Me: "I am not sure."

Jesus: "The tombs are empty because they are here with Me."

Me: "I still don't understand, Lord."

Jesus: "Do not worry, Erin, as they are here with Me. Soon you will see. Be encouraged, Erin, as I have not forsaken you. I have not sent you to a place I plan on destroying. The home I built is over you. Now, come with Me."

He reached for my hand and we were instantly on the overlook. I saw angels of the Lord measuring the land and weighing the justice within. I saw the scales unbalanced. A plumb line was marked and, once again, the weight was off-center. I then saw something like a tape measure, but I did not understand it enough to describe how it worked. However, I still somehow knew that the measurement was lacking and short.

Jesus: "I have begun, Erin. I am weighing and measuring. Every area of all you see must be measured and found on the scale."

I saw an angel with a scale checking various samples from each area. I saw dirt and dung on one side far outweighing the honey and fruit on the other side. I then saw angels recording all of it at each point in a type of book.

Me: Sighing. "When will they be done?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, I know that you are ready for them to be done. However, I have sent the angels to weigh that which is good versus that which is bad. You have experienced troubles because the enemy is being measured. His evil deeds are being counted. As you can see, the scales are left wanting." I suddenly saw the scales tip dramatically to the left, towards the dung side. "However, Erin, you are not to worry as your time of being used as a measure has come to a close."

Me: "Is this the final shaking?"

Jesus: "No, this is the measuring. The shaking then comes after this. Now, I want you to understand that, even though it seems as if I don't care at times, I always do. Erin, I always know what is occurring. The Judgement Seat is being prepared. The Courtrooms, My Courts, are ready. I have heard the cries of the saints both day and night and night and day.

"Next to Me is My horse and here you see the reins. I hear your cries, your prayers and your petitions. They are never far from Me. What seems like victory for those who harm the innocent, including both children and the elderly, well, you will quickly see that evil will not go unpunished.

"Now, I know that you are weary in doing good and that it seems like your rewards are few. However, as I Am Who I Am before your eyes, I will protect you from the fowler's snares. I will keep you, but, even more, I am about to do something in your days which you would not believe even if you were told. I am Your Savior and My Father sits in the Courts of Heaven. It is He Who renders judgment against the wicked.

"I am Your Advocate, Erin, and I love you. It is I Who plans, not man. It is I Who determines a man's steps. I am holding the reins. Erin, hold on a little longer. I have you. I have not forgotten you. I will answer your prayers and I will grant you the desires of your heart. Now, find joy! I love you."

Dream 368 – God to soon breathe life into us (Ezekiel 37)

Communion

Dear Father,

I am thankful for You and my heart is glad! It has been a busy morning of animal and bird activity. For the second day in a row, I have seen something unbelievably rare. The first time was yesterday after I had dropped my older daughter off for an event. I was driving down the highway to the gas station before going home and there, flying directly at my car and only about eight feet off the ground, was a bald eagle.

That in itself is remarkable, but not 'that' remarkable. What made this 'that' remarkable was that a small bird was riding on the eagle's back. I gasped! As it approached my car, the eagle changed direction and shot up straight into the sky. When it did this, the small bird separated from it. The little bird then flew after the eagle. I couldn't believe my eyes. I just know that this was a sign! Thank You, Jesus, as how could it not be?

Okay, now here is the really, really awesome part! This morning, it happened again. While out in my yard, an eagle was flying straight towards me. Once again, I looked in complete amazement when I saw a little bird riding on the eagle's back. I had a huge smile on my face as I watched it flying past me with this little bird passenger. I was absolutely floored by this and still am!

I am just so happy that Heaven has a place for all of these magnificent birds and animals. In particular, I am even happier that our precious pets are here as well. Zoey and Snigglet have brought us so much joy, why not continue doing so in Heaven? One precious family we know lost seven animals a few weeks ago, one to a snake bite while protecting the house. Please bring them comfort for their losses.

Even though there is loss on Earth, we still thank You, Father. We thank You that You delight in what delights us:

- Matthew 10:29: God's love and care for the lost
- Ecclesiastes 3:18-21: God's fate awaits both
- Psalm 50:10-11: God's Creation
- Hosea 2:18-20: God's Covenant with His Creation
- Psalm 36:6: God's preservation of us and animals
- So many more...too many to write down

Father, thank You for sending these little ones into our lives. Please restore our hearts as the losses I have taken from pets over the years still hurts my heart. I just know that these beloved pets of ours are at Home in Heaven. I have seen them here as You have shown me. However, I cannot wait to see all of this. Thank You, Father. Also, when Transformation comes, please heal our pets, both big and small, at the same time.

The area we live in has a lot of elderly. While there are also quite a few people our age, the younger generations are few and far between here. I now understand why Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maritime Canada and other regions have such amazing items in their junk stores, salvage yards and antique / pawn shops. The younger generations just have no use for any of it today, no matter how great a deal.

My husband and I have been using his time off to streamline what we have in our house. We have been using each other's opinions to decide what to keep and what to donate. It is hard to believe how much 'stuff' a family of seven can accumulate in such a short time together. After the power outage, we had to start fresh on our perishable foods. While it was quite a loss, Father, You restored all that was lost.

Thank You, Father, for our amazing friends here on the Nest. Without their love and support, I am not sure where we would be, but I do know that it would not be pretty. While the power outage was expensive, it did make it that I got rid of condiments that had slowly crowded our fridge. It is now so clear that it is easy to instantly see what we have and don't have. This is definitely a bright spot to all of this.

One of the places that we have been donating to is a small thrift boutique. When we donate here, all of the proceeds go to hospice care and to those at the end of life. When I was there, I noticed a beautiful small bowl made to hold flowers. It was a posy bowl and unlike anything I had ever seen. Even upon researching this particularly neat pattern, I was unable to see anything similar. I spoke to the manager about this...

Me: "Why would a family member not want to keep something like this. It really could go with any style. In fact, all of the beautiful things I see around here are of such high quality and well cared for. Someone must have worked very hard for things like this."

Manager: "Yes, it is sad, isn't it? The younger generation currently thinks that all of this is ugly. They could care less about the stories of how they were acquired or how much it is worth. Instead, they just want these out of their sight. Just the other day, after a funeral, a son of one of the hospice patients dropped off a box on our counter. In the box were items the family had when they fled Germany.

"There was a treasure trove of items. It was an appraiser's dream and was easily worth $5,000. Had he just taken the time to care, he could have pocketed a mint. He went on to say that he kept the gold jewelry to sell it by weight. When I mentioned that the other jewelry in the box was also worth quite a bit, he just shrugged and said 'oh well'. Who knows, maybe he didn't get along with his mother and just wanted to get it out of sight."

Me: Sighing. "It is just so sad. Our grandparents were poor, so they held onto things. A pair of jeans would be patched multiple times because the quality made it worth patching. Now a days, you buy cheap jeans and get a few washes out of them. They cannot even be patched as the material is so cheap. Well, anyway, I will be glad to pay $6 for this cute little bowl."

Manager: "Thank you! Don't be surprised if you see these selling for around $100 to $150 online."

Oh Father, many in this new generation are cold. They are indifferent. There was an entire shoebox of love letters from the war, but they were given away without a second thought. They were historic. Why would you not want to keep memories like this? You then reminded me that everything will eventually go into the fire. This will happen when You reshape the Earth. Really, though, who am I to judge?

Soon after this, I overheard a story that made me sad. Two young people were saying to each other how boring it was to have to visit their grandparents. I then started to self-reflect and realized I shared my stories with my kids. I talk about the old days to use it as a learning lesson for them so that they did not make the same silly mistakes that I had. Hmm, I wonder if they find these stories helpful or boring?

When I look back to when I was a little child, I loved listening to my grandparent's stories. I would often ask them to tell me the story over and over again. I thought it was cool to imagine my grandfather being in trouble at the age of eight. He was then made to paint a picket fence white to 'atone for his sins'. As a boy, he had saved a dime and his mother used this to buy the bucket of white paint.

When he was finally finished, he realized that it was both a gratifying, yet humbling, experience. His mother told him to sit down as she went to inspect the finished product. She was happy with it. She then put a plate of cookies and a glass of milk in front of him. When he lifted up the last of the cookies, there was his dime. His mother had returned it to him and he was surprised by this. He asked her why.

His mother: "I did this so that you would see a difference that you made. You will walk by this picket fence everyday and will remember why it was now painted white. In terms of the trouble that caused this, I bet that you will never do this again."

We are now living in a time where hearts are growing cold. It is so sad, so sad. That this is happening is also a fulfillment of prophecy. Father, You have promised us that You would renew our strength and that we will soar on wings like eagles. We will run and not grow weary. For now, I am struggling, Father. Another storm is approaching. Father, please keep our power going. Please supply us with our needs. We love You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was just outside of the door to God's Court. The door was open. Uriel soon appeared right next to me.

Uriel: "God requests your presence."

Me: "Uriel, it is so good to see you."

It was then that I noticed that he was in full armor. Though hard to describe, even his wings seemed to be in armor. I could see battle scrapes and parts of his armor seemed dented. I became very worried about his safety and started to cry.

Me: "You seem so serious today. What is happening right now? Oh Uriel, I don't want anything to happen to you."

Uriel: Smiling. "Oh Erin, do not fear for me as I am doing the Will of God. I am not only His messenger, but I am also a part of His Angel Army. I am a commander of a regiment. We often come under attack. In terms of what is happening, I will let God tell you this. It is my job to bring you here." He motioned towards His open door. "Now, God requests your presence."

Me: "Yes. Please. I would be honored."

Uriel reached over and put salve in my eyes. I was now holding back my tears.

Uriel: "He knows about your eyes, Erin. You will not go blind. Do not fear. Now come with me into His presence."

He reached for my hand and led me through God's door into His Courts. I could hear the voice of His choirs of angels. With the same concept as a pipe organ, each angelic voice was striking a perfect chord. It was unimaginable. There is nothing on Earth like it. I have searched for this, but have only heard glimmers of it in certain songs. I tried harder to see God in His Court this time.

However, the sheer power of the area of the Throne made it very difficult for me to understand what I was seeing. It was like the light of the sun surrounded by the Aurora Borealis. To top it off, there was also the beautiful living sea of blue glass stone. Everything, even the stone columns, were God breathed and worshipped God. I know that this doesn't make a lot of sense, but it does when you are here.

With each 'Holy, Holy, Holy', my heart leapt. Tears were streaming down my cheeks as my body became weak in the presence of God. His presence and His breath went through me. I was surrendering to God, not in part, but fully in His presence. I could only go so far before all of the cells in my body desired to bow down before Him. Uriel patted my back.

Uriel: "It is okay, Erin. God is here with you. You are safe. Nothing can come against you in the presence of God."

I wept and fell down onto the beautiful Sea of Glass. Kneeling was not enough and I was soon prostrate. I laid on my stomach before God on His Throne. As I laid on the Sea, I felt a warmth and vibration in waves as the tides moved over me. Again, this is hard to describe, but it was as if I felt the breath of God moving over me. It was amazing.

I then got on my knees and confessed to all of my lack. I confessed to my personal fears, my failures to recognize Him in all things and not always trusting in Him to do a good work in a timely manner. Often times, I fall into the trap of looking at God as 'The Punisher', not the loving Father Who cares for us. I worshipped God for some time and, as I released everything to Him, I felt the rush of healing water go through my veins.

It somehow felt like something similar to God's embrace of love. It was like a warm and comforting blanket all around me. While it was not Him physically, as no human could be that close to His power, even in visions, He seemed to wrap His arms around me via His Spirit, the Spirit of God. As I was taking all of this in, He started to speak. His voice was unimaginably powerful, yet loving at the same time.

God: "Erin, the land is being measured. The hearts of men are growing cold. As the angels were called to measure the lands, I will now activate My Army of thousands. My power will come upon them and they will perform mighty deeds. Though they will bring terror and fear to the corrupt, they will also bring justice to the land. I will not tolerate injustice, sent in My Name, to punish the weak.

"My Name is on the lips of evil men as they lie and perform blasphemies against Me in full view. My Army will come to shake the land. They will bring truth and justice to where lies and injustice were proclaimed. You see, it is I Who changes the times and the seasons. I give wisdom to the wise and knowledge to the discerning. I reveal the deep and hidden things. I know what lies in darkness.

"I know what light dwells in you, Erin, and in those I call. For I am the light and, in Me, darkness cannot be found. I will also then breathe the Breath of Life into those I call. Where you go, darkness will flee. While evil will try to hide, it will be found. It will be found as I will be the breath in you. When you declare a thing, it is actually I Who declares it and it will be done, understand?

"When you lay a hand on the infirm, they will be healed. In the same way, the darkness of death must also flee. When you hear the lies of the wicked declare false testimony against the innocent, your motion will cause his lips to confess the truth of the matter. In this way, and by his own lips, the lying man will be condemned. Remember that there are six things which I hate, seven of which are detestable to Me:

- Haughty eyes
- A lying tongue
- Hands that shed innocent blood
- A heart that devises wicked schemes
- Feet that are quick to rush into evil
- A false witness who pours out lies
- A person who stirs up conflict

“So, then, I will send an Army:

- Those who have not committed adultery in their hearts
- Those who hate what they do and long for justice
- Those who love me and keep My Commandments
- Those I have raised up for such a time as this

“When I send My Army:

- They will be strengthened and nothing will come against them
- The world will see Me through them
- The world will know that I am with them and have sent them
- They will have been refined in the fires of affliction
- They have been found in My favor

“You are favored by Me, Erin. You will be healed. You will be strengthened. I will dwell within the midst of you and nothing can stand up to you. Those I have called you to care for will be in your care and under your protection. Nothing will come against those who you care for.”

Me: “Father, when will this be?”

God: “A time planned from the beginning. It is important to Me, but not to man. Now, you have been discouraged because nothing is happening as you had hoped. However, this too is for My Glory as what I have planned for you is much greater. As you have seen in the case of your daughters and your sons, I will move quickly concerning them to guard them in their ways.

“I do this My way so that My plan occurs as written, not as the enemy would like it to be written. You will be overjoyed at what is to happen. I have not forgotten you. I love you, Erin. I have chosen you to be a Scribe of My Love. You have written a love letter unlike any other. You are now like a pregnant woman in labor and you are about to give birth to a massive movement of My Love.

“I have heard the cries of those in mourning. I have heard the cries of the saints who have been slain. Erin, I will now send an Army of My Love to bring justice to the land by force. Now take heart, Erin, and do not worry. Do you not know the time? Do you not know the season? Soon you will see and understand.

"When My breath comes upon your dry bones, you will know. You will know and you will be healed and be as you were in your youth, but even better. You will run even better than you once did. You will dance even better than you once did. However, there is more...much, much more."

I was in shock. Tears were now streaming down my cheeks. I was suddenly able to shout out in happiness. It was the first time that I was able to stand up, strong in my body before God. I realized that He was supernaturally strengthening me. I suddenly had the strength to jump up and down on my feet, my arms held up in submission towards Him. I felt the ground shake, roar and quake with God's laughter.

Me: Shouting in praise as I jumped up and down. "Praise You, Father. Praise You, my God, my Creator! I love you."

God: A deep laughter was still rumbling through the Court. "Very good, Erin! No one has ever stood before Me in My Courts like this. You delight me."

I felt Uriel's hand on mine.

Uriel: "Come, Erin, it is time to go."

As I was leaving, I turned back towards God's Throne. I waved goodbye to Him.

Me: Shouting with glee. "I love You, Father!"

God: "I love you too...this much!"

I then saw streaks of lights which had no end. I then witnessed a massive display of power. Though I could still not see Him, the light show was like a giant wave back. It filled my heart with a love that cannot be measured. Uriel guided me out the door.

Uriel: "Come, Erin."

Me: "Wow, that was amazing! What just happened, Uriel?"

Uriel: "You will have understanding soon. Now rejoice, Erin, as God has heard your cries. He has heard your cries and His power will soon fall upon you and the thousands of others like you. Now, rejoice." He looked into my eyes and smiled. "I must go now, but do not be afraid. God is with you!"

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family, my husband and our children. Thank You for the sound of laughter in our home. It warms my heart and it is what I longed for from a very young age. Thank You also for my awesome friends on the Nest, those who love me unconditionally and say kind things meant to encourage me when I am down.

Father, another door closed for us this week, yet one remains open. Because of the one closing, it seems that You then presented some smaller opportunities to keep up our hopes. Oh Father, we press on with full faith, hope and love in You. I know that 'all of Your promises prove true' (Psalm 18:30). However, so many things seem to be hanging in the balance right now. We need You more than ever.

None of our children are experiencing success with their dreams right now. My husband and I recently stepped in concerning a situation that occurred surrounding an attack against my older daughter. This was while she was apprenticing at a local ministry through her school for credit. Because of some issues with management, her school pulled her coop program.

This was very sad as my daughter really loved what she was doing there. I am guessing that she was so successful that the enemy was angry and wanted it stopped. The decision on whether she goes back or not revolves around a board, so it will be up to them. What they do with the ministry will determine whether they have her back. They are supposedly doing this to 'protect' her, but it doesn't feel like it.

It is truly heartbreaking to see a child go from sadness to watching God opening door after door to then watch it all taken away, none of it her fault. This all happened unbelievably fast, over a sixty-day period. It looks even worse that some may feel it was her fault, but her arrival there just happened to coincide with some changes that the board had already set into motion before she even joined there.

Father, there seems to be little or no truth these days. Since the enemy was granted permission on December 23, 2012, he has been on a non-stop campaign against the land. There has been an unbelievable number of events that have happened during this timeframe. If someone had told me ten years ago that these kinds of things would be happening, I would have disagreed with them.

Well, it is! Yes, here we are. Father, where are You in all of this? I know that You do not dwell in the midst of evil, so, where are You? Are the angels finished weighing evil and measuring the land? Please do not forget about those who love You, Father. You are the God of Truth. However, from an earthly perspective, the father of lies appears to be prevailing over the airways, radio, internet, television and even print.

Does anyone see what is happening anymore unless You reveal it to them? Our freedoms are being taken away by a false narrative of fear meant to eventually strike down Your people and close Your churches. Father, my heart is breaking. The news is truly horrific, locally, nationally and globally. The churches have dumbed down the Gospel and have made Your altars a place for 'milquetoast' sermons.

Your people will soon be silenced. I see it happening so fast right now that it is in real time. It seems that the only media outlet exposing the enemy's schemes against Your duly elected Red Bull is Fox News. How can it keep up though when this is combatted by thousands of hours of bashing our President? With this nonstop barrage, how can the typical person that believes the mainstream media see through it all?

Even the internet has been corrupted. When I search for something, it cannot be found. I am instead inundated with a narrative of lies. The 'freedom of speech' my mom had fought so hard for in the sixties and seventies are now being taken away. We are losing our freedoms daily. It is so disheartening. I look at all of the innocent children growing up in this filth and untruth and worry about all they are soon to face.

I remember what it was like to be a little child in the 'old days'. We could go out and explore. We could make new friends and invite them over to make forts. We would lay in the freshly mowed grass and look up at the clouds. We would hunt for worms and chase butterflies. Well, flash forward to now. Predators now stalk our parks. Friends stay at home because of all the wicked that is happening where they once played.

What is happening, Father? This is now happening in my lifetime and I am watching it. What can the new generation look forward to? Yes, technology, but now they are just caught up in an ever-expanding world of CGI fantasy. What about artificial advances in genetically modified food? We are now ingesting what the world is feeding us. Many are thinking what the world wants us to think.

Many are drinking what the world tells us to thirst for. Many are doing what the world says we were called for. Many are worshipping what the god of this world decrees. What if we don't? Well, you have to do this now 'or else'! The threat is now always there, even if somewhat hidden. If you don't conform, you will be destroyed. Oh Father, many believe what they are told and are void of You. Please help us.

Yesterday was an interesting day. I have been searching for something I lost many years ago and it finally arrived yesterday. It was an item that I once had, but had to sell. However, this was a type of needle in a haystack moment as it was even in better shape than the item I had sold. I was hoping that this would bring in the miracle of our healing. Well, this didn't happen, but I take comfort knowing that we are one day closer.

I took a break here to drive my older daughter to the church for an outreach program. The bus is waiting for everyone there and will then go on a three-hour journey to their destination. This was not to happen for my daughter, however, as I will explain now.

As I was driving my daughter to the 'Outreach', I felt a strong uneasy feeling inside of me. I began to pray out loud as I drove her. As I was praying, You downloaded my dream from last night that had woke me up at 3:00am. I awoke to the sound of a phone ringing, but the phone wasn't actually ringing. It turned out that the phone ringing was actually part of my dream...

Sub-dream description begins...

My daughter was sitting on the driver's side of the bus. She was more towards the back and was looking out the window. Suddenly and without warning, a type of large wooden pole shot through the window of the bus. The pole hit her directly on the right side of her head and she was instantly killed. I saw this as if I was another passenger sitting a few rows behind her. It happened so fast and she was gone in an instant.

It was after this that I was then back at home instead of on the bus. I received a call. I already knew that the call was to tell me that Amber had died. I woke up suddenly as the phone was ringing.

Sub-dream description over...

While we were driving to the church, my daughter noticed that I had a panicked look on my face. I was in a type of pain in my stomach because the Lord had just downloaded my recollection of this dream.

Daughter: "Mom, what is wrong? Are you okay?"

Me: "I have never had such a strong feeling. You are not to go today. The Lord wants me to ask you 'why are you going?'"

Daughter: "But, mom, it is because I want to go."

Me: "I know. This is probably silly, but I was just downloaded a dream from last night."

I then went on to explain the dream I had of her as summarized above. I could tell that she still wanted to go when something amazing happened.

Daughter: "Mom, the Lord just told me not to go. He confirmed it. I first saw an accident and then there were trees."

She then went on to explain some other details of what the Lord had downloaded to her. We both knew it was from the Lord as our corresponding details matched perfectly. As we sat there thinking about what to do next, we received confirmation. Several flocks of geese, four different groupings, flew directly over us. Having geese flock over you is a symbol that the Spirit of the Lord is upon you.

We then mutually agreed that she was not to go on the bus. When we approached the drop off point, we kept driving instead of turning into the church parking lot. While she was sad about not going, she perked up when she discovered that two of her closest friends there had also decided not to go at the last moment. Without them there, she would not have had nearly as much fun.

Me: "So, are you disappointed?"

Daughter: "No. The Lord told us what to do and we listened. I am glad that I didn't disobey Him."

Me: "Me too!"

We then decided to go into town together. We had so much fun and she was happy and laughing. I was having so much fun laughing with her. While my stomach was feeling queasy before the decision was made not to go, I now felt fine. Thank You, Father. Thank You for caring about us. Thank You for sending protection. Thank You for being clear when we needed You.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up at God's door. It was slightly ajar and a bright light streamed through. I decided not to enter as I knew that I needed salve for my eyes. I decided to wait. I didn't have to wait long. I saw Uriel coming through a type of door of light. From his appearance, I knew that he had been in battle.

Me: "Uriel, are you okay?"

Uriel: "Yes, I am fine. There is an epic war, Erin. You have seen this. Do you remember?"

Me: "Yes. I remember the web and the spider with strong tentacle-like legs."

Uriel: "Michael, the angel of the Lord, has been leading God's Heavenly Army against a stronghold of the enemy. Earthquakes, fires and various troubles are now increasing. The web of lies has been a difficult battlefield. Whenever we have breakthrough, the enemy then quickly reinforces and repairs the break. This battle has been long and systematic as we have been commanded by God to hold our positions right now. As we are not yet to advance, we therefore send reinforcements and ground troops to the saints."

Me: "Uriel, when will God send His 'Thousands' to combat on the ground?"

Uriel: "At the 'Appointed Time', Erin. You have to understand this about the One Who loves you, the One Who created you and the One Who keeps you.

This is a three-strand approach that cannot be broken. Because He has called you, He will care for you, even if it is uncomfortable in the witness of those who do not believe. I am commanded by God and I serve Him. I do not serve man, understand? Therefore, because I serve God, I am faithful only to God, not to man, unless God commands me to. However, even then, I would still be under God's commands."

Me: "Uriel, what did God save my daughter from today?"

Uriel: "I am not commanded to reveal these things. However, I can tell you that the enemy is breaking the parameters set forth in God's Courts. The enemy does this little by little every day. Because of this, you must put on your full armor in order to guard against the enemy's schemes."

Me: "I do not understand. God knows all things. He will watch over us. He will not let us fall. He will not let us be beggars. He will strengthen us and keep us. His face will shine upon us in our comings and goings. He will heal us and grant us the tools we need to wield supernatural weapons. He will say 'go here' and then we will go. He will say 'stand' and then we will stay. With God in us, working through us, is nothing impossible for God? If we are fighting on the ground and you are fighting over us, then what evil can prevail?"

Uriel: "Well, it seems you have suddenly become confident in God's promises."

Me: "Do you mean that all of this was a lesson in obedience?"

Uriel: "Yes. However, understand that God has not heard you declare such things in a while. Erin, He is sharpening your tools."

Me: I laughed. "Do you mean my tongue?"

Uriel: "Is it not written by the Lord and declared that, truly, truly, whoever believes in the Lord, will do the works He did. He will do even greater things than these because He goes to His Father." Uriel then pointed to God's door. "He will do whatever you ask in His Name so that God, the Father, will be glorified through the Son. If you ask the Lord anything in His Name, He will do it." He then pointed to God's door again.

Me: Laughing. "Well then, Uriel, I must see God immediately and ask for His help!"

Uriel: Smiling. "When looking back, you will understand the importance of what has been done for you. Now, come, and I will take you to God."

He placed salve in my eyes and took me through God's door into His Throne Room. He brought me as close as he could before my legs grew weak. I dropped down with my face on the Sapphire Sea. I could hear the choir of angels singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy!'

Me: "Oh Father, please forgive me my trespasses. Please continue to do a good work in me. I know all of Your promises are true. I love You so much. I love You with all of my heart. Thank You!"

God: In a great rumble. "Erin, you spoke the words I had longed to hear. With great faith, you declared the promises I have given you. You did this instead of simply writing them and then not revisiting them because you fear they will not come true. You also fear that I will give them to another or that they are too wonderful for you.

"Well, Erin, how can this be true when you are now here with Me today? Remember that you answer to Me, not to man. You have shown me a great thing today. I will heal you. I will pour out an extra portion of My Spirit into all of those I call. This is so I am glorified through My Son, the One I sent to save the world.

"You are about to see many things as I will reveal even more to those I have called. Now, take heart, Erin, for you delight Me. You have proven to Me that you will obey My commands. First, you love Me and My Son and, second, you love others as you do yourself. Even though you know that many do not know Me, you still do this knowing that I have also created them."

Me: "Father, I am scared. Some of these people around us are truly wicked. How can I send the Good News of Your love if they hate me for Who I represent? As an example, I have been speaking on friendly terms with a woman at a shop for over two years now. However, I came in recently and her face had shingles and one of her eyes were shut. Even though she was in pain, she was still friendly to me.

"This all changed in an instant when I offered to pray for her during prayer service. She became really angry with me and told me that I could if I really wanted to. She was skeptical and looked at me with such disdain. Well, really, she now looks at me with hate. What can I do if I can't perform the miracle of healing in Jesus' Name? On my own strength, I am no one. However, in Your strength, I can scale a wall with ease."

God: "Erin, your question is wise. I haven't called you to be a savior to the lost. They have One already. You are only to confirm and glorify Me and My Son. You are to do this so they can witness Me working through you. Understand that they thirst and that, as I call you to, you will pour out water upon them."

Me: "Father, please then grant me the ability to heal this woman completely in Your Name. Even though she hates me right now, I still see the good in her. I also see so much pain and hopelessness in her eyes. I know that You have put her on my heart. Father, can I do anything without You except make a mess? Please help me!"

God: I felt His thundering laughter. "Well, it seems as if my little sparrow has now become a warrior! What you ask is good, but I will do even more. Many, many more will know that I have sent you. I will call My 'Thousands'. I love justice and hate inequity. You will stand amazed while the wicked are destroyed. Do not let your heart be troubled when you see the plight of those who shed innocent blood.

"I hate injustice. Those called to testify as false witnesses will be forced to confess truth. This will happen because I will be present, their tongues as My bit like that of a horse and a rider. They will be in shock as they will confess in your presence and in front of witnesses. Erin, this will be a time like no other, yet still like that of the Days of Noah. I tell you this so you understand and can know that it is here."

Me: "So, Father, it is this time now?"

God: "Erin, you need only to look at the evidence to draw a verdict. What do you think or conclude from all you see around you?"

Me: "While I don't see everything, I do see a pervasive increase in sin. Even horrible sin is now called good. Little animals are set on fire. Children, even babies, are being tortured. The unborn are aborted and their bodies then experimented with. It is unsafe to allow children to play outside without adults watching. Even then, there are kidnappers that are crafty. Children are stolen and then sold for horrible things.

"So, Father, yes...yes, I believe this is the time the prophets had spoken about. The laws are becoming lawless. The people are being silenced. The enemy seems to be winning. Yes, I have concluded my verdict. The time is now. Oh Father, please help us now, but as in now in our earthly time. I know You love Your children more than I can ever love those You have given me. While I am not sure how, I know that it is true because You are so much more wonderful than we can imagine.

"Your love and patience are beyond our abilities to even conceive. So, Father, please strengthen us. I surrender all that I am to You. Without You, there is nothing that we can do. Please shake the lands. Please send Heavenly Blessings to the nations with an amazing outpouring. Please show them that You are the God of all things. Please show them that You are our Father so that everyone will turn and be saved."

God: "You have made a good case for this time period. There will be a great move of My Spirit. Now pray. Pray for the nations. Pray for the hearts to be ready to receive. I am with you. I love you. Now, this is enough for today. I will continue to protect you and to provide for you in all you do. Do not worry."

Me: "Thank You, Father. However, and better yet, why not just fulfill all of Your promises right here and now? Oh yes...I should say that I mean 'Earthly Time Now'!"

I felt the ground roll with God's laughter. I was smiling with joy as I felt Uriel reaching for my hand to lead me out of the Court. As Uriel led me towards the door, I turned back and waved goodbye towards God's Throne.

Me: "I love You, Father!"

God: "And I love you too! Do not worry. What you have said is good. Now, rejoice, for I have found favor with you, your household and all of those I will call."

Uriel and I stepped out of His Court together. He then turned towards me and smiled.

Uriel: "I must go now, but do not worry. You will soon be strengthened by God. All He has promised, He will fulfill. The Scripture just placed on your heart can be trusted (it was Psalm 37). Now, I must go. The Lord is with you, Erin, so rejoice!"

He turned away from me. As I watched him walk away, He was suddenly gone in a flash.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for one more day! Thank You for all that we have. Thank You for my family. Thank You for all of my friends on the Nest. It is about to snow outside. It is very cold here. I have been struggling with pain the last few days. While I struggle with pain in general, the changes in weather on some days can have a crippling effect. It is hard because I have to deal with my disability in the shadows of a corrupt organization.

It has been five years, six months and fifteen days since I fell at work. Since then, I have wished that I had worn more practical shoes instead of the dress shoes required that day for client meetings. I have wished that I had not been so impatient unloading my car that day knowing my client was almost arriving. I have wished that I wasn't so distracted that day by my upcoming appointment with this client.

Yes, I could've, should've, would've! I knew I was in trouble the moment I fell. This neck of mine had already caused so much heartache, but this accident magnified the pain. I wasn't careful and I paid for it. I have now been paying for this mistake for all of this time. I can tell you that I had many big plans for myself, but none of them included becoming disabled. In reality, all of my personal plans and goals ended that day.

Dreams of owning my own business again someday was over. Golfing or working out, perhaps even instructing on golf or anything related, was over. Painting or drawing in my old age was over. With waiting for help comes stagnation and depression. My dreams of greater feats die every time the alarm clock sounds in the morning and I am still in pain. I then don't feel like a very good housewife or mom as I struggle.

I want to do things, but I can't always do them. There are days when I push myself too hard or do some light lifting I shouldn't. I do this as I don't want to always call for help. I still want to do things on my own on occasion. I want to have value. I want to hike or take a brisk walk. I would love to dance. There are so many things I want to do, but it is not happening. Without fail, when I push myself, I am then in pain for days.

This is my older daughter's last year and my younger daughter's freshman year. I drive the girls to school every day. When we drive, I like praying for them. I love the drive even when I am sore. I am afraid to miss a moment with them. I try to etch each day in my mind. After dropping them off, I then decide if I should run another errand or just go home. I have a lot of things left undone. I have good days and bad days.

I once had so much energy, so much life and so much promise in me. I decorated the Christmas tree a few days ago and I have been paying for it ever since. However, this isn't the only problem I have. While waiting for this broken system, so many problems have begun to surface. This includes other illnesses related to an inactive lifestyle and on and on. I love You, Father, but I am feeling frozen and need You to heal us.

Oh Father, please heal us. Our household is frozen here. Please heal me so that I can be free again. I want to be young again. I want to live. I have enemies who still continue to believe that I am an imposter. Well, how could I fake getting onto Social Security disability? SSDI is probably the most difficult program to get into, but I am in their system. It is not possible to fake this. I had a mountain of papers that proved it.

I have been struggling with myself today. I am sorry, Father. I love You and I will trust in Your plans for me. While I know that Your promises are true, I am amazed at how often I fail to remember how much You love us. It doesn't help that so many things seem to be going wrong lately. My friends tell me that they are also under attack, so I know that it is not that we have been singled out.

Even our Nest site itself was attacked on November 20th. Lord, please protect our Nest and, of course, our Nest family. Please keep us all free from attacks. I have had some interesting dreams lately. I had two dreams recently that really stood out...

Sub-dream 1 description "five-foot-long sword" begins...

I was sleeping in my bedroom when I suddenly woke up. I felt like I should get out of bed and walk to the end of it. Even though the room was still dark, I noticed a large object under the bed. I reached down underneath the bed and pulled out a five-foot-long sword. It was heavy to lift. I also noticed that it had no shine. This was because the sword had been stored under the bed. I then heard the Voice of God.

God: "Erin, polish your sword."

I found a large cloth and gently swept the cloth over the sword. As soon as I did this, the sword was perfectly polished. It was so bright that the light of the sword illuminated the entire room. It was brighter than if it had been a lamp.

Me: "What was the sword for? Why was it shining so brightly?"

Jesus: "I have sent you dreams while you slept. I gave these to you in truth. You then wrote them down. I have now called you to pull this sword out and ready it. Gird your sword on your thigh, in your splendor and majesty. And in your majesty, ride out victoriously for the cause of truth, meekness and righteousness. Let your right hand teach you awesome deeds. My 'Dreamer Scribe' will now go forth in victory."

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, You are mysterious and Your ways are beyond ours. There is no way I could even hold a five-foot-sword as it is nearly as tall as I am. However, I know that You know why You had given me this dream. It was a beautiful sword. It was perfect for a strong angel or a strong, but tall, man. As I am today, I would most likely accidentally drop the heavy sword on my foot. That would hurt!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was near God's door. I was on a path leading to His door. There was a beautiful pond to my right. There were springs of fresh water bubbling up and sprouting like fountains. The sound was wonderful. The grass was soft like velvet on my feet. There was a beautiful weeping willow tree hanging partially over the water. It was the prettiest weeping willow tree I had ever seen. It had small fragrant flowers hanging from each branch. This could only happen in Heaven!

I decided to sit under this tree for a while. The place I was now viewing was so amazing. There were small baby animals playing with each other. I watched as I saw a bunny being chased by a tiny fox. It soon changed to the tiny fox being chased by the bunny. This was so cool as I knew that the bunny was not in danger here. They were now playing and rolling around with each other.

I then heard a choir in the distance. The volume increased until it felt like it was all over me. It was delightful. It was like a comforting blanket...impossible to fully describe in earthly terms. This was God's 'Music Streaming Service'. I laid back in the grass under the willow tree and soon felt sleepy. It was just too relaxing here to keep my eyes open.

Me: "Thank You, Father, for all that You do, for all that You have done and for all that You are about to do. This Is a gift, a gift only You could give."

I soon fell asleep and had a dream within this dream...

Sub-dream 2 description "An Epic Battle" begins...

I could hear an epic battle taking place. I could hear the clamoring of swords. I could hear horrible sounds. I could see God's Army and they were not being harmed. The enemy fought and fought until they were so exhausted that they could fight no more.

Sub-dream 2 description over...

I woke up and opened my eyes. Over my head, the weeping willow tree was now illuminated. Every branch, twig, leaf and flower were illuminated. It looked like a firework plume in a 4th of July fireworks display. I then noticed something was on me. I looked down and laughed at what I saw. The bunny and the little fox were now curled up and sleeping in the crook of my arm. I stayed still so as to not disturb them.

I was so comfortable. I continued to look up at this beautifully illuminated willow tree. Suddenly, thousands of small illuminated butterflies flew under the tree's canopy and rested by the blossoming flowers. Tears streamed down my cheeks as I gazed at this amazing beauty. I thanked the Lord for all that I was witnessing. I was so secure in God's love that I could have laid there for days...that is, until Uriel suddenly appeared in front of me without warning...

Uriel: Smiling. "So, Erin, how was your 'God-Forced Rest'?"

Me: "Amazing! If only everyone could be here. How could you not enjoy this?"

Our conversation soon woke up the bunny and the little fox. They both yawned as they looked over at Uriel. I could tell they already knew him as they were not scared at all.

Uriel: "Go and play. Go on now." He ushered off the little animals with a smile.

Me: Laughing. "Are you being tough on them?" He knew I was kidding around.

Uriel: Smiling. "Since they are important to God, they are therefore important to care for. However, as for right now, I have been called to give you a message from God."

Me: "Can't I just see Him today instead?"

Uriel: Laughing. "Not today, Erin. I instead came from an epic battle today to bring you this message. Sometimes God sends me instead so that you can enjoy the place here that He has prepared for those who love Him. Sometimes you need the reminder that you have been given a place here and that He is not upset with you."

Me: "Please tell God that I love Him and that I am sorry for my continued worrying at times. I know that He keeps these little ones close to Him. I know that He loves us. However, I just struggle with what I see around me. The evil is ever increasing. The crimes against the innocent are so prevalent and everything is now suppressed. What has happened has become so bad and so quickly. It is awful."

Uriel: "God knows you and He has not forgotten you. He has not forgotten one thing done against you. From an early age, He sent a slew of angels to guard you in all of your ways. Now, He is soon to deliver you to a place prepared for you in advance. This is good as you will learn how to wield this sword and use what God has granted you to serve Him in the fullness of His glory. This will happen through you and through those He has called. His clarion call went out many moons ago and He has prepared the hearts of those called forth."

Me: Smiling. "Hmm, so...while all of this sounds great, when will this be?"

Uriel: Laughing. "Ah, the question you never fail to ask. Erin, there are some things better left a mystery until the day and hour is upon you. God will not let you, your family or anyone called by Him to be harmed. Though right now many are discouraged and feel abandoned by God, they are not. The enemy loves times like these and continues to feed into an alternative narrative. This, in turn, then harvests insecurity and isolation.

"He longs to take lives. Sometimes things then occur and some wonder 'have we been deceived by God?' Well, no, as deception is Lucifer's tool and his lies are an instrument in his band of the cursed. Do not play along or listen to his headset upon your ears. It is better to sit in silence before God than to be entertained by an orchestra of evil. There is a legion of fallen angels who are manipulating the heads of men.

"Once a man becomes curious enough to entertain by bending an ear to the enemy, the enemy enters into the open door. Once inside, he can direct by commands one who is easily led. This then leads to depression, paranoia, lack of sleep, lack of appetite and being open for exploration of all things evil. The enemy is recruiting an army right now as he recognizes the clarion call upon those that God has called.

"Both sides are advancing and training armies for battle right now. However, the battle is the Lord's, so do not worry. Though the season seems stagnant, it is not. Like this pond, what flows in it is the wellspring of life at the center. The water is life giving and quenches those who thirst. They then drink of it and are given life and healing. Your vessel will soon be filled with refreshing waters.

"You will then be used by God. You will then follow His pattern of working. You will work for six days and rest on the seventh day as commanded by God. You will welcome this as, on the seventh day, God will fill you with water once again in order to go forth again for six days."

Me: "Uriel, do you know how many hours there are in six days? There are 144 hours!"

Uriel: Smiling. "Hmm, while this is true for you there, I am on a different clock than you are. Just know that you are to advance for six days and then retreat to rest on the seventh day. Now, I must go. This is enough for today. Erin, look over there. You have many little friends here."

I looked behind me and there were so many little animals playing. There were also many beautiful little birds bathing in the water. When I turned back to speak with Uriel again, he was already gone. I couldn't help but smile and laugh.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family, friends and a warm home. There is so much to be thankful for. My eldest son turns 22 on Tuesday. I am truly at a loss as to where the time has gone. Time waits for no one and continues despite our circumstances. When I was young, time was long and dragged on. When I lost a pet or a loved one, time was frozen.

When I was in school, I asked for more time to study and complete projects. When going through a traumatic event, I have asked for a reversal of time. When I was sick with a temporary illness, I longed for sleep and to wake up healthy. Now that I am older and disabled, I try to recall time, but especially the good times with my children. I wish I had cherished my time more when my children were still little.

I had plans, so many plans, but none of them came to pass. Yesterday morning at church, I took a spiritual gift inventory. I tried to answer questions as I am today, not as I was and not as I would like to be. I am so different today than I once was. I could do so many things back then. My heart still wants to, but my body now has limits. Oh Father, my children are young adults now.

When these dreams began, my daughter hadn't turned 12 yet. She was still 11. My younger son was 14 and my older son was still 15. Oh Father, I was just given a clear memory of taking my eldest son to the Pittock Mansion in Portland OR to see the Christmas decorations. He was only three days old (it was on December 5th, 1997) and I could easily carry him. He still had that wonderful 'new baby' smell.

My most favorite times with my children were in Bend OR in 2005 and 2006. It was a time of joy and fun adventures with them, but it was also the beginnings of great sorrow. I remember the home we lived in at Cloud9 Estates. I remember the smells of the high desert in the winter and spring. I remember the warm sunshine, the kid's laughter and their hugs. I remember their love and trust. They were safe with me.

My heart hurts now whenever I remember these past times. My mom is now gone, as well as my dad. There are so many others, as well as pets, that we once had. Father, perhaps in Heaven, you will give us the gift of reconciliation of time lost. This would seem particularly just for those who were robbed of a normal life. I wish I could have just one day back when my daughter was three and my sons were five and seven.

However, I would want this with me being whole and with no fear of financial hardship. I would want this with no looming court battles or threats from my enemy. It would just be one great, great day. Now that I am injured, the cold weather stiffens my muscles and joints. My children now also have other things that they would rather do than hang out with me. Gone are the days when we would go off on a drive to great adventures.

Gone are the days we would go to parks rivers, lakes and beaches. These are all gone. Oh Father, I just want to be young again. I want my body to line up again with my heart and mind. I want to feel alive again. On Friday night, my daughter and I went to the hospital to visit our friends that just had a baby boy. It was an extremely long labor. At one point, our friend asked me if I wanted to hold the baby.

Friend: "Erin, would you like to hold the baby?" I hesitated because I knew I wasn't very strong. It had also been so long since I had held a baby. He pursued it with a smile. "Come on, Erin, this isn't your first rodeo."

He then placed the baby in my arms. He was such a beautiful baby boy. Just as I started to cry, I handed the baby off to my daughter. She sat down with the baby and seemed to be in awe. New life is such a miracle. However, this was bittersweet for me. I missed so much and was longing to capture something lost. In this case though, this really cannot be found again. Instead, it is time for new wonderful memories.

Sub-dream 1 description begins...

I was waiting a long time in drab surroundings in order to play a game. When I finally was about to leave because I was waiting too long, the owner showed me an adjacent room that was far greater. There were many amazing areas to play there. The owner could not believe that I had waited so long in this drab area. As I scanned my new surroundings, I just knew that my wait would be worth it.

Sub-dream 2 description begins...

I was invited to a large beautiful home in a historic part of a city. While it seemed similar to Portland OR, I was not sure. An event was taking place in order to raise money for a local arts organization. There was a grand entrance with a porte-cochere to a staircase and double doors. The double doors entered into a foyer. The foyer had a large table in which to register guests.

Upon entering, the woman knew me. She then handed me a program packet and told me to enjoy the exhibit. The floor was made of white plank wood. The room had white woodwork throughout. The walls were painted grey and had colorful art with specialty lighting on them. This made the art stand out and was actually very beautiful. Adding to the elegance, there were ballerinas dancing all around us.

The food they served was also amazing. When I asked about this, I found out that a famous chef was here to serve this food. I took my time looking throughout, but it was now time to go as I had explored everything. Once I left the building, I began to walk down a slippery iced up slope. I was cautious though and did not slip.

I eventually arrived at the base of the hill. I was relieved that it was a level area. There was a large church to my left and several people were going into the building. The front of the building had a banner that read, 'Welcome to Clever Church!' A very kind woman in her late sixties soon approached me with a flyer.

Woman: "Welcome to the Clever Church. Have you been here before?"

Me: "No, I haven't"

Woman: "Well, it is unlike anything you have experienced before. Please join us."

There were many people still entering, but I found myself feeling tired of church.

Me: "Well, not right now, but thanks. I will think about it though."

Woman: "Don't wait too long. I am serious now. Do not wait to long."

Me: "Don't worry, I am already saved..."

I was going to say more, but the woman seemed to be done with me. She had now moved on, so I decided to do the same.

Me: Praying in the Spirit. "Lord, why was this church named 'Clever Church'? The sign was written in the same font as the Cleveland Indians. It was mostly navy and had a similar red outline to the letters. This just seemed so peculiar."

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Father, a storm is forecasted to hit late tonight. We could be stranded here for 24 hours. Please keep our power on during the heavy snow and ice. My husband had another interview on Friday. I pray that he gets this one. He is qualified and knows so many of the people on staff. This would keep us here for a while and take away quite a bit of our worry. Please forgive me for my continued worrying, Father.

This is the time of year that I am usually cut off from L&I. This is very nerve-racking for me. Please make things so I am no longer bound by them. Please heal us and set us free. I could do so many things. We have a lot of irons in various fires, but nothing is sparking. Everyday, I continue to believe that anything is possible. So, Father, please let this job for my husband come to pass. Please do this so that we are not fully reliant on this faulty system.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was standing at the end of the aspen grove path next to His horse. He smiled and raised up the reins to His horse once again. Tears streamed down my cheeks as I ran towards Him. I sprinted. I ran into His open arms. He held me as I cried.

Me: "I am scared, Lord. It has been over seven years since these dreams began. My son turns 22 tomorrow. I thought... I thought..."

Jesus: "Erin, you worry about many things, things which are common to all men. However, see these...I hold these reins. Remember My horse? Although he is surely unruly..." We laughed as His horse looked at Him, snorted and shook his head as if to pretend to be unruly. "See, this is what I am talking about right here."

He laughed as He patted His horse. He turned back to me. Just then, something odd happened. His horse turned and licked Jesus' robe. We both laughed so hard. Jesus is so calm and funny. He never puts anyone down as if to ridicule them. Even when upset at my enemies (well, really His), He is clear and direct. He is very much always God over us. Jesus had a smile on His face as I pondered all of this.

Jesus: "Hmm, Erin, you are studying Me."

Me: "Yes, Lord. You are like no man. You are so kind, yet strong to the point of nothing standing against You. You are amazing. I love You..."

Jesus: "...and I love you. Now, by your own description, who am I? Am I able to handle your burdens once again or am I only capable to do this a few times?"

Me: Laughing. "If I fill in a 'Burden-Lifted Punch Card' from You, what will I get?"

Jesus: "Oh, do you mean one of these?"

He handed me a card that looked similar to a business card. It said 'Erin's Burdens - Complete this and redeem for a free gift!'

Me: Laughing. "Have I ever filled out one of these?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Well, actually, you have. However, you have never redeemed any of them with Me yet. Now, look over there..."

Jesus pointed towards His horse. There were now two large saddle bags hanging on both sides of His horse. I somehow already knew that each of them was filled with fully punched 'Burden Cards'.

Me: Crying. "Oh no, Lord, have these cards now expired?"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, of course not. I didn't show you these to make you cry. I did this only so you would know that I have taken away your burdens many times. However, these are just the ones you allowed Me to take. These are the ones saddled on My horse."

His horse suddenly started to act unstable, as if his load of 'Burden Cards' were just too heavy for him. We both laughed as He talked to His horse.

Jesus: "Hmm, I had better heal you of your burdens, old friend. After all, you have some important engagements coming up where I will be relying on you. Are you up for this or should I call up another?"

We both continued to laugh. Just then, Jesus' horse was strengthened and had full armor put on him. He was now prepared for battle. He lifted up his front legs and made a powerful neighing sound. He now looked and acted so incredibly majestic!

Jesus: Smiling at me. "Whew, what a relief! I was a bit concerned there."

Me: "You are both so funny. I know that both You and your horse are trying to cheer me up. Lord, Your horse doesn't need reins and You don't need saddle bags. I am so sorry, Lord, as I take up these burdens so readily and fail to pass them to You. Your shoulders are strong and You always care for us."

Jesus: "Erin, I have removed thousands of burdens from you. I know what you are facing. I know what you have endured and I am here. I love you. To Me, your heavy burdens are like this small card in weight. However, Erin, remember that it is also a punch card. Every punch taken out of the card makes the card even lighter. Erin, you have filled many of these here."

Me: Smiling. "May I redeem them for my prize someday?"

Jesus: "If you would like to, you can redeem them now."

Me: I smiled as I joked with Him. "Oh, but I thought that I was already redeemed?"

Jesus: "Well, who is the funny one now? The two are not the same. This is not a 'Redemption Punch Card'. Even though holiness comes with it as My redeeming power grows, that would have only one transaction, one event, but no holes in it.

Me: "So, what are these punched out 'Burden Cards' good for? What is the free gift?"

Jesus: "Well, the gift was not free as your burdens were the original price before you handed them over to Me to handle these for you. Erin, you are dealing with many variables which are out of your control. This truly means that this is My battle. Your troubles are My battlefield.

"I know the enemy and I have more information. If you knew all of the things that were occurring to come against you daily, you would be frozen and afraid of that which is unseen. However, giving Me everything takes the burden off of you and places them in My capable hands. I am the holder of the reins and I control all of it."

Me: "Lord, is the enemy breaking ranks?"

Jesus: "Again, not your burden and not your cause. Yes, while the enemy is clever, I once again hold the reins. Heaven is not shocked or surprised by any of this. My Father in Heaven knows the times and seasons in which He will move Heaven to overtake the enemy's authority on Earth. Right now, it is a difficult thing to see. I too long for the day when I am visible on the clouds with My friend here..." He turned to His horse. "...along with the Army of Heaven."

Me: "Do You mean both saints and angels?"

Jesus: "Yes. However, it will be much greater than you can imagine. Now, let Me redeem these cards for you."

Me: "But, Lord, there are thousands...even tens of thousands."

Jesus: "Well, perhaps they aren't all just yours." He smiled.

Me: "I love You, Lord!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, I will continue to take hold of your right hand. I will lead you on the way that you should go. I will provide for you and will send help as you wait. I will heal your brokenness and answer the cries of your heart. I will answer your prayers for your husband, children and friends.

"I am with you and I will have compassion for you. My promises are true. Please stand on them when you worry. Just call Me as I am always with you. Please do not let your heart be troubled. Be strong." He smiled as He pointed to my feet. "Beautiful are the feet that brings Good News."

I looked down at my feet. I was in shock as they were now perfectly shaped and without blemish. My toenails were also perfect and reflected like pearls.

Me: "Oh wow, how beautiful. I never noticed before how strong my feet are here."

Jesus: "Now rejoice and dance like you did in your youth, but even better. It is easy for Me, Erin, because I know the plans I have for you and that I am with you. This means that I will pour into you the Good News, the healing and My miracles. Since I am already fully aware of My capabilities, I therefore know what yours will be as I will be working through you.

"So again, Erin, why worry? Is your former employer making Me want to run and hide? No. Is your greatest enemy bigger than Me? No. Are your debts too great? Will they bankrupt Me? No. Will evil men chase Me and demand payments? Oh, quite certainly, they will not. Do you understand?"

Me: "Well then, Lord, please rise up in me in a way only you can. Do this now so I no longer think like a woman attacked, chased and harassed by evil men. This is what I have come to expect. While You see the end from the beginning, I see trouble at both ends. While You see freedom, I see chains. I have trouble even imagining freedom, so please help me."

Jesus: "Is this to be one of your 'Ticket Prizes'?"

Me: "Okay...yes...whatever You give me is much greater than I can give myself."

Jesus: Smiling. "Your wisdom is rising. This is good. I agree with you. I agree. I say yes to this."

Me: "Thank You, Lord."

Jesus: "Now I have much to do. My lists just increased and now I must call in more angels." He smiled.

Me: "Yes...or You could just completely remove my troubles in a single day, but without death. Yes...I like this one the best!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Okay, now rejoice. I have agreed to the case you make and there is no appeal needed. Now, laugh today. Rejoice and smile as you are loved by Me."

He hugged me and I never wanted to let go of Him. His horse, my friend here, licked my hand. It was a pleasant feeling and not at all 'disgusting'.

Jesus and I both smiled and laughed together as this gesture from His horse was just so endearing. Quite simply, I never wanted this dream to end.

Dream 372 – Uriel and the Demonic Orders Attack

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for caring about all of those who love You and place their hearts upon You. I am so sorry that I have been struggling. I have been communicating less on all of my devices. I have been withdrawn. I have had more tears than normal. I have pressed into You more through prayer than I ever have before. Oh breakthrough, where are you?

Father, the state of this world is becoming worse. Things around us don't seem promising. The last few months have been crushing. Disappointing news is followed by even more disappointing news. I am looking for help. You say 'hold on', but for how long? You say 'help is on the way in a little while', but what is 'a little while'? So, we wait. We wait, hope and hang on. We cling to the life preserver of Your promises knowing full well that You have us. I don't ever want to let go of You. Father, when can we expect breakthrough? I have denied myself. I have changed patterns. I have redirected my focus back to You. I have taken all the steps. You reassure me that I have done what is right in Your eyes, but am I doing enough?

I have been pressing into You more. My prayers have been deeper and my sessions alone with You are longer. However, things are not becoming easier like before. Things are instead becoming more difficult. The longer the time goes with difficult news or no news, I wonder if I am doing something wrong. Who knows, perhaps I am doing something right and the enemy hates it?

Father, my eldest son had a severe relapse after a long phone conversation with his dad. Something happened to him and he is now unable to use technology or screens of any kind. Numbers torment him and he is hearing voices telling him to open a link. He feels as if 'they' can see him through any screen. We recently prayed for him and anointed him with oil. While this helped a lot, he is still not 100%.

My greatest enemy has practiced Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP) for more than 25 years. While he is not licensed, he has used this in the past on my children and me without our knowledge or consent. This is witchcraft. While I thought he wasn't doing this anymore, I now realize he still is. You told me that this was still happening over the summer. I continue to fight against it with prayer and anointing oil.

This practice is far more difficult to detect until the results manifest. It is like carrying an illness prior to displaying signs of the illness. However, once it manifests, it is too late. On the positive side, my prayer life over the kids have really kicked up several notches. While sleeping at night, I often have dreams where I am battling various forms of evil in my sleep. I am assuming that this includes battling the kids' father.

Based on what You have revealed to me, including the angels battling in the Heavens over us and on the web over the Earth, I now no longer take this as 'just an illustration' or 'like a parable'. Yes, this war above us is far more significant to us here than I originally thought. Father, please forgive me for perhaps taking this all too lightly. Speaking of attacks, I had an unsettling dream last night...

Sub-dream description begins...

I saw something like a millipede or centipede crawling into people's sheets and mattresses. They did this as the children and young adults were sleeping. These 'creatures' would then go into the thoughts of its victims. This is just one type of demonic entity that is just one part of a larger evil army. Without constantly fortifying our spiritual firewalls, these know how to find a way in.

It was now time for me to destroy these entities. I knew this would take a lot of work. When I went to kill it, it would curl up and act as if it was dead. It didn't fool me. I went the extra mile and finally knew I killed it. How was I sure? Well, it was now mashed up. It was only then that I realized just how much damage it truly did. While it seemed to be 'just a worm with legs', it was an order of the demonic, one I hadn't dealt with before.

These things were entering into ears, mouths and nostrils. They were killing off all good thoughts. Anything positive was removed. I walked over to a computer screen and saw that several news stories involved this entity. I saw Obama, Hillary and others there. The leader of the order would then make a command via a key word or phrase. The words used were unassuming, words like 'change', 'resistance' or 'buddy'.

The watching army would then allow this to absorb into them. This army would then begin to react to this. The attacks were then spreading out from there. I saw inexplicable deaths from first time drug use. I saw suicides with no pre-warnings. I saw anxiety and paranoia over things not seen. I saw lucid memories of nightmares, all retained in frightening clips. Hearts were now beating faster than normal.

Even the thirst for clean water was now decreasing, being replaced for ever increasing desires for caffeine and energy drinks. There was now high-volume use of these. I then heard a horrible sound coming through our cellphones. It sounded like an early warning system. This suddenly activated a massive army of young people...mostly teens and children. Their hearts had now grown very cold, even against their parents.

They began to follow the orders of these beings. These were dark, dark beings with even darker powers. I was soon very disturbed by this. While I can't remember what it was, I was then given a prophecy of something that is happening right now. I finally couldn't take it anymore and called out to God...

Me: "Help me, Father. Please help me! Please help us! Help us to stand against this evil army. Our young people don't even know that this exists. Our children are unable to see this coming."

Sub-dream description over...

Oh Father, this dream was too real to dismiss. Yes, please help us. Better yet, strengthen all of us. Please finalize our healing so that we are readied for battle. Use us for Your glory. Guide us and help us to stand against this!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was standing on a Heavenly version of the road we live on. I could see the pond in the distance. The landscape was cloudy and overcast. There were no cars to be seen. As I walked, I started to notice a common Heavenly theme to the signs around me. There was 'Michael Angel Construction', 'Arch Angel Road', 'Painting by Raphael', 'Uriel Street', 'King's Lake', along with other signs.

There were so many signs that I soon started to laugh. I kept walking down the road toward where our house would have been. I saw a sign that pointed ahead to a 'lighthouse'. This seemed funny to me because there is no lighthouse where we are, just a cell tower with a couple of blue lights.

Me: "Lord, are You here? Where are You?"

Just then, I felt a tap on my shoulder. I turned and there was Uriel. I could tell that he had come through some battles.

Uriel: "God has sent me to let you know that you are not going mad. The Lord has filled your vessel with good. When you have a very strong sense you need to go here or there or you need to pray, then this is God working through you. There is an epic battle occurring right now. While I cannot frame time for you, you must know that what is occurring has been foretold. "The warnings you have been given is not your imagination. Do not forget that your greatest ability is realized through prayer. Yes, even the Lord's Prayer. Over a period of time, you have learned about the schemes of the enemy against the children of God. All schemes are meant to provoke the Lord and make you fearful. Do not be."

Me: "Uriel, how do I fight against this to protect my family? As I am today, I am useless."

Uriel: "God has given you wisdom and knowledge about that which comes against you and your house. You are the lighthouse keeper."

Me: "Forgive me, but I don't even feel much like an inn keeper, let alone a beacon of hope or light myself."

Uriel: "Well, Erin, you are. Now, think about what function a lighthouse serves. Does it not warn those who are on rough seas to turn away from the impending doom lest their ships be dashed against the cliffs in the darkness? Will you not better understand the schemes of the enemy by encountering them yourself so you are better able to assist those in need? See, the signs of the beginning of the sorrows have begun.

"Many have been deceived by other gods. There are wars and speculation of impending wars. Nation is rising against nation and kingdom is rising against kingdom. There are famines, pestilences and earthquakes all around in various places. These are the beginnings spoken of by God. However, Erin, something is about to occur in this time. Many will hate you and be offended. Brother will turn against brother, even children against parents and parents against children.

"The rise of rebellions is occurring and, in the midst of this, the enemy is like a conductor of an orchestra with many different instruments. You have been warned to guard your heart as it is the well spring of life. However, you must also guard your other senses as, just like you have been shown, the enemy doesn't come only by the front door. No, the enemy also comes as a thief in the night in order to mimic, mock and provoke God. He comes to rob, kill and destroy."

Me: "This seems scary to me. This seems so unexpected."

Uriel: "No, Erin, this is not unexpected. While many believe that the enemy only attacks one way, I am here to tell you that he uses many methods. However, and more than this, I come to deliver you good news. The good news is that God is revealing this to you. God will then protect you and your household from any attacks. Now, look at all that is around you."

Just as Uriel turned, I could see an army of angels over us. While all were tall and very muscular, some were amazingly tall. I felt such comfort having them around me that I started to wave to them. Uriel laughed and so did some of the angels surrounding us. A few even smiled and waved back at me. I suddenly felt overwhelmed.

Me: Crying. "Oh Uriel, I am scared...really, really scared."

Uriel: "Remember that more are with you than against you. This includes you and your family, but also your friends. Erin, while I only send you messages of good news, you do not see it this way."

Me: "While I am always grateful to receive good news, would it not just be easier to heal and strengthen us instead? Now that I am aware that the enemy is busy with new schemes every day, I guess I am just growing tired of all of it."

Uriel: "I am here to let you know the good news, Erin. We have been assigned to protect you and your family. I am here to bring you into God's presence at His request. I am also to send you a message from Him. Here is the message from Him that He wants me to deliver to you as you are still worried..."

"...Erin, I know that the hour is late. You are to remain steadfast and diligent. You are to be aware of shifting landscapes and trouble building all around you. Though you see it, and even are there at times to witness, until you are called by Me to act, you are to do nothing other than pray. There is also a growing enemy alliance against Israel and the USA. There is a force coming to attack the USA financially. The siege ramps are being constructed.

"...The threat against Israel is great, but this is as it has always been. However, it is now more so than ever as enemy armies now have a vested interest in wiping out both regions. They want to do this to both by first destroying their economies and opening up their borders. There is a select group, a few with no country, who are making these decisions. The enemy is also weakening the leaders of both countries so that there will be a hostile takeover. No country will stand out of fear."

Me: "Oh Uriel, when will this be?"

Uriel: "The times are upon you. The enemy's armies have recruits who have no idea they are working for the enemy's side. They have no knowledge. There are many orders to the enemy's armies..."

- There is an order that governs 'the sins of Sodom'. They confuse and weaken. An example of this are men that wear women's clothing. Another example of this is a four-year-old boy wanting to change his sex to a girl.
- Another order pushes for the right to kill children and sacrifice them to the god of Moloch. An example of this is the pro-choice movement.
- Another order is there to convince socially by any means necessary that we are to no longer eat meat. This then leads to the ingestion of genetically produced food proteins. Over time, this weakens the body. An example of this is vegetarianism.
- Another order teaches that laziness, lack, loneliness and isolation is desirable. In this case, the only fighting men would be those who are exhausted and addicted to technology. This can then lead to suicidal impulses.
- Another order teaches men that leading a household spiritually is ridiculous and a waste of time. In an unevenly yoked house, this then leads to the women having to lead the household spiritually. In the end, the true goal is to emasculate all of the males under their very own rooves.

- Another order leads people to take distinct marks and receive genetic testing. This group is also into body and skin mutilation, extreme tattoos, piercings and other worldly marks. This will soon lead to increased pressure to have DNA registered trackers 'installed'.
- Another order wants to track everything we do. Once registered, marked and located, all devices are able to track everyone. Any behaviors are then marked, registered and studied. This is used as a 'trojan horse'. Their desire is to have things in your homes in which the enemy can even listen, record and see all you do. A huge database is to be used to track the daily footprint you give off by your comings and goings.
- Another order constantly tells everyone that social media technology is to be trusted and used at all times. This technology primarily attacks females. They try to make women, but mainly young girls, feel like they cannot live up to the idealized woman. This leads to being 'lovers of self', overuse of makeup and sexualizing even young girls for later grooming.
- Another order demeans humanity by selling human parts. This includes DNA tracking, harvesting organs, blending genetics and attempting to mutate humans in order to create a stronger race and satisfy demand.
- Another order worships other gods through cults. This includes witchcraft and conversing with the dead. They also use false miracles to convince others to follow their evil practices.
- Another order takes away the rights of others by false testimony and accusations. They try to silence God's people by calling them haters of the other groups. Having an opinion that matches the Bible is now considered hate.
- Another order elevates drugs to the status of 'another god'. It convinces those who don't use them that they would feel better if they did. This is a broad group as it is often intermingled with prescription drugs, alcohol, prostitution and the like. Once addicted, the subjects are under them by need.
- Another order tries to get into church leadership. Their goal is to silence those who follow the Bible. They use intimidation to stop and silence the elect from speaking up about the consequences of sin. This then renders churches into silence. Only a select few megachurches will be seen, but their message will often be without the power of God.

"There are many, many more orders and these are just a few examples. Often each category will compliment the other, working in conjunction with each other. These orders are highly organized. Even though this is true, remember that the Kingdom of God is near. This is why you are seeing such bizarre behaviors. This is the evil manifesting within them. The times are now nearing to when the spirit of rebellion will become wide spread."

Me: "Hmm, this is all very dark to me. Please forgive me, Uriel, but this doesn't really seem like that 'good news' to me."

Uriel: "Well, it is, Erin. The times you have prayed for have come. This is also the time when Heaven will be visible. Now, rejoice, as God has an army around you. He is about to do something in your days that you would not believe even if you were told.

"Remain joyful in the midst of the trouble. God has sent help and soon much more. Your good news has come and God is about to answer your prayers. Do not worry, the children's story you have seen on the news, those who lost their lives, are in the arms of our Lord. They are enjoying the safety of Home in Heaven."

Me: "It has been so difficult to see so many children being killed by loved ones in such horrific ways."

Uriel: "They were called for this time. Do not worry. They are martyrs and measures against the wicked. They are part of the army of God. I know it is difficult. It is for us too. Many times, we want to ask God if we can stop the enemy. However, for now, we are to stand down until God says 'now'.

"We see so much more than you do and we then talk amongst ourselves and before God. We know the enemy because he once resided in Heaven. We know the others too. We know who is behind each order, as in a general. We know each order that I have listed, along with all of the others. These are the ones we battle against. We then uphold God's commands and His plans."

Me: Smiling. "Oh, this all makes sense. Thank you. By the way, do the angels eat? Should I buy more food?"

Uriel: Laughing. "There is no need. We work for God and the Kingdom of Heaven. We are well cared for. Now, be encouraged as the 'good news' is coming. As commanded to by God, I will see you again soon. In the meantime, I have my dear friends and associates over all of you.

"Oh yes...about the exhaustion you are experiencing. This is all part of the battle. In your sleep, you battle. Pray for peace in your sleep. Pray for Jerusalem and the USA. Stand on the Word of God and Truth. This will set you free. That is enough for now."

He turned and, in an instant, he was gone. I looked around, but could not see any angels. However, I just knew that they were never that far away. I suddenly heard the audible Voice of God...

God: "I am with you. The angels I have sent to guard you in all of your ways are mighty. Do not worry. I love you, Erin."

Me: "I love You, Father."

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all You have blessed us with. We have a home, heat and lights. We have food and a car that runs. We are alive and breathing. I have pressed into You more lately. I have spent time at prayer services. I have stepped up my praying for others. I have been trusting You more to deliver us through our troubles.

Yesterday was such a brutal day. ‘Friday the 13th’ strikes again...smiles! We were saddened to learn that my husband did not get the job. There were other seemingly small problems as well, but they mounted into one big stress ball. For a frightening two hours, my heart raced. The ‘what ifs’ began to mount. It all happened so quickly. Then, on top of all of this, our secondary vehicle has been in the shop.

With the weight of all of this, I broke down. Father, I openly wept during prayer service Wednesday night. I have not done this in front of so many people before. Later, on the drive home, my son and daughter both felt a shift in the atmosphere. I felt it too. The night sky was clear and the almost full moon had a halo around it. The landscape was so bright and beautiful. We could see herds of deer grazing in the fields.

I remained mostly quiet as I gazed upon the beauty of it all. Father, something seemed to happen on December 11, 2019, but it felt peaceful. The three of us somehow felt Your love, power and grace, all of it at the same time. While at the prayer service, the three of us believed for miracles for Your children and sparrows all over the world. We interceded for those who have lost their way.

We also prayed for miracles of healing for the sick. However, Father, when will our miracles come? Finding a good job for my husband, a hard worker, should not be this difficult. He is unable to find the right match for his employability. Why should we have to be dependent on worldly institutions when we have You?

I also found out that my doctor is deciding on whether or not they can do anything for me at all. I spoke with my neurosurgeon last Friday and he said he would present my case during a spine conference to see if he or his colleagues would be willing to do anything. So, I wait. Sigh...5.5 years of waiting for something. I am exhausted. My eyes are becoming worse. My heart races.

Father, I am scared. Is this all there is from all of this? Good news is few and far between. What is Your timeline for ‘soon’ or ‘a little while’? I am at a loss. What is being said of us? Where are You? While I know You are in control, I just don't understand. We site Scriptures and cling to Your promises. I love You so much and feel I have done all that You have asked. Please help us.

Please send some good news. If changes are not for a while, please give some encouragement on the job front for my husband. However, I am struggling too. Though usually short-lived, I even find myself doubting all of this at times. I am scared and uncertain. I kept things together for a long time, but now I am uncertain of what is coming. I see the news and I am not encouraged.

Both our leader here in the USA and the leader in Israel are in the middle of smear campaigns. So many lies. There were historic events happening all over the world over this last week. Surely, the time of Your miracles are soon to come. The news is now filled with such demonic darkness that it is so difficult to find the good. I had a dream last week. This dream was a very vivid one...

Sub-dream description begins...

I was on a trail going up God's mountain. It looked like Mount Everest. It was steep and snow covered. At the base, this steep incline came where there were makeshift vendors in tents. These vendors were clearly there to try and distract me.

As I was climbing, a young couple approached me. They were Jewish and newlyweds. While they seemed familiar to me, I somehow knew that we had never met in the natural before. They smiled at me before pulling me aside...

Young Bridal Couple: "We are very excited for you. Would you please give us a blessing and see if the Lord would have a word for us?"

They were so kind and loving, how could I refuse? As we were saying farewell so I could continue on my journey, they handed me a plate with a sandwich on it.

Young Bride: "This is my love's world-famous Rueben sandwich. You will love it, I promise. It will give you nourishment for the journey."

I smiled at her and then looked over at her groom. He was beaming at her with so much love. I could tell that this was a beautiful love story.

Young Groom: Smiling. "Well, it is not really world famous, but thank you. No one really knows who I am." They laughed, held hands and kissed. "I wish that we had more to offer you."

I realized that I needed to take a bite of the sandwich so as to not offend them. I am glad I did. The sandwich was far from a typical Rueben. It was not grilled. It was neither on Rye or Pumpernickel. Instead, the sandwich was on white bread. On top of this was a type of thousand islands dressing, some swiss cheese and a massive clump of pastrami. They smiled at me. I could tell they were waiting for my response.

Me: "Oh my, this is wonderful. This will give me food for the journey."

I could tell that they were so happy and joyful that I liked their sandwich. I hugged them and took the rest of the sandwich on my climb. The vendor tents began to become fewer and farther between. I finally came up to the very last vendor. As I was walking by, he called out to me.

Man: "You need what I have. You need this."

I turned towards him. I laughed when I noticed that he was holding up some sort of plastic replica of a valuable antique he was displaying.

Me: "How much are the old water jugs?"

Man: "These are not for sale."

Me: "Okay, then how about those old canteens?"

Man: "These are for display only."

Me: "Well then, what of what I am seeing here is something I need?"

Man: "What? Seriously! You question me with your righteousness? This! You need this!"

In front of me was a plastic replica of a water jug. However, there was no open hole in the top spot. It was truly a useless fake.

Me: "No, I'm good. If I become thirsty, I will go to God for my Living Water."

Man: "Really? God? He makes you jump through hoops, climb mountains and even do battles in endless wars. Good luck with God, you hypocrite."

Me: I refused to take the bait and remained calm. "Thank you."

The man became furious at my non-reaction. He began to kick around his antiquities. He was kicking them so hard that he was breaking them.

Man: "He has taken everything from me. Everything. All I want you to do is buy what I am selling. How hard is this, Erin? Seriously, how hard?"

Me: Laughing. "There is nothing here that I am interested in. Anyway, I have got to go to God now."

I started to run up the hill further. When I looked back, I noticed that the things he was throwing directly at me were somehow becoming frozen in mid-air. I then began the steepest ascent up the mountain. The path was very narrow and my visibility was limited to about ten feet. I instinctively knew that I was to trust in God to find my way.

Sub-dream description over...

Father, while I know You gave me this dream to prepare me, it is difficult. It is hard and it is lonely. While I even want to quit at times, I know that I must press on instead.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in Heaven in God's Garden near His Arboretum. I was on an overlook looking down onto a grid of trees in various seasons or stages of life. The grid was divided by four rivers, each with a name. They met in the very center of the garden. Where they met was a massive tree and, next to it, a well spring and fountain. I could see snow covering trees in one area and fall colors in another area. In the other were spring blossoms and the other were lush green trees with an abundance of fruit.

It was all so beautiful. My eyes went back to the center portion where each river met. The force of the rivers meeting each other caused it to form a beautiful fountain / spring. This would have been impossible on Earth due to the overflow on its banks, but it was perfectly perfect here in Heaven. The tree next to this was feeding from all four rivers. The canopy of this tree was massive. It also contained an abundant variety of fruit.

Me: "Who is like You, Father? Who can make something like this? No one as there is no one like You, Father. Who am I to You, Lord? I am no one. My life is a battle. I am exhausted. I can barely do anything with ease on Earth anymore, but here, in Heaven, I can do anything because You are here and, here, our thoughts are always good.

"A man's life is but a blip. In just a short while, generations have gone past and our lives are soon forgotten. Blessed is the man whose memory is remembered by generations. It somehow must make our struggles and labor bearable to know that these produced something. That being said, I still don't know what. While men forget men, You, Father, never forget Your children."

I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned to see that it was Uriel in his armor.

Uriel: "God requests your presence, Erin."

Me: I was worrying. "Yes...okay...well, Uriel, am I in trouble right now?"

Uriel: Laughing. "No, Erin. Come."

Uriel took me to God's door. It was already open. Uriel rubbed salve on my eyes. He then took me through God's door. I could hear the angels singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord God Almighty, Who was and is and is to come.' They were overlapping verses. These continued to raise higher and higher. Tears began to stream down my cheeks.

I suddenly felt so awful for thinking as I have been. Uriel brought me closer to the Throne of God than ever, yet still so far away. As I dropped to my knees, I could see the impressions of motion from the winged angels around His Throne. I bent forward and emptied myself of the charges I had essentially laid before God, but really mostly for myself.

Me: "Things have not been working out as I had prayed they would. I feel like something is very wrong with me. I thought angelic armies appointed by You were coming to protect us, our homes and our properties. However,

I must have gotten this wrong as it still feels like we are under just as much of an attack from the enemy as ever. All I know is that I am still feeling very uncertain about so much. I am sorry for feeling this way. Please forgive Me, Father!"

God: "Erin, almost every vessel for My Temple is complete. Once these vessels are completed, they will be brought before Me to be inspected, approved, blessed and sealed."

Me: "Father, I thought these had already been finished and were being filled by the Lord."

God: "Well, yes, this too is correct. He is your Potter and the Overseer of your journey. He is your Redeemer and Savior. He pleads your case before Me. He also presents the Vessels He has prepared for service. The time of presentation doesn't occur one at a time. These ready Vessels instead wait for the day in which all of the Vessels are ready."

Me: "Father, why are we all under various attacks right now?"

God: "This is because the father of lies understands the lateness of the hour. You are a target, as are all of My children. Erin, this is a confirmation that you are Mine. Those who I have called have stories, but really journeys, similar to Job's. I allowed Job to be tested.

"In fact, I suggested it because I knew that My plans through Job would help so many. Job is reconciled to his family here. All that he lost on Earth was returned, but, here in Heaven, all was revealed and made whole. Through all of you, Heaven will soon be revealed. All will be revealed on Earth as it is in Heaven through My Vessels."

Me: "How, Father?"

God: "While (physical) vessels have been prepared for service in Jerusalem by man, these Vessels are different. These Vessels have been sanctified and prepared for My service. I have given you dreams about things I have called you to do. However, My Vessels are unlike the vessels on Earth. The vessels on Earth can be stolen, burned and destroyed. My Vessels cannot be stolen, burned or destroyed.

"My Vessels are prepared by My Son. They have become humbled by affliction and with the luster of suffering. They have been refined in My fire and found to be without blemish while in the flames. They do not fail to recognize My Sabbath rest. Now, what does My Sabbath rest mean? This means that they work six days, but, on the seventh day, they are to rest and consider Me. While your heart has already been redeemed, the last frontier for your enemy is where I will seal you."

Me: "Will this be on our foreheads...our minds?"

God: "Yes. I look for those who keep Me in their thoughts on the day of rest and do not go their own way. This means that you are not to defile your thoughts with the wickedness of the world. You are to instead think of what I have done from the beginning to the end and spend this day in My Word, remembering Who is before you now. When the times were like the days of Noah, there was pervasive evil. There was no good left because all good had become evil and all evil had become good.

"Evil is prevalent and never rests. It is similar to the dream of the mountain I gave you. While there were many distractions, you eventually continued and here you are. Your Temple has been in preparation for twenty years. For seven of those years, you entered into the Holy of Holies with Me. This is where I have instructed you and prepared you for what is soon to come. I asked you 'what would My Army do to shake the land?' I asked you 'what would all of this look like?'"

Me: "Yes, Father, this has been in my dreams in small blocks. While I know what my carnal voice wants to declare, I do not want to seem arrogant. Over the years, You have allowed me so much trouble, I could write a book on it. Still, it doesn't mean that I went through these troubles well.

"However, it does testify that I must have come through my trials and tests well or I wouldn't be here with You today. I still pursue You even when I am tired, exhausted and discouraged. I still don't know how to answer these questions fully except to say 'I wish I could', 'if only I could' and other similar type things."

God: "Do not be afraid, Erin. Now, tell Me your heart's desires."

Me: "Oh boy...well...okay..." He could tell I was hesitating.

God: "Don't worry, Erin, I will keep you in line. Go ahead."

Me: "Well, there are so many things..."

- I want to testify about Your Goodness to the lost
- I want to not be owned by any man, bank or institution
- I want my debts removed and to no longer have these as worries
- I want my children healed and strengthened
- I want to be healed and strengthened, along with my husband and friends
- I want to be able to help others who are suffering, either by illness or oppression
- I want to help the blind to see and the deaf to hear
- I would like to see the liars confess, the guilty be charged and the innocent set free
- I would like to help little children and the elderly escape from their abusers
- I would like to be able to do so many things, things like speak various languages and read the thoughts and plans of the wicked so I can stop them

- I would like to topple buildings onto evil men who curse You
- You know...stuff like that"

While I smiled at my list, I was still a bit embarrassed by the length of it.

God: Laughing. "These are big plans for such a tiny vessel."

Me: "Yes, but You, God, my Father, are bigger than anything. Even though some may try, Your power cannot be matched by anyone. Since I am one of Your children, what is impossible if Your Spirit is in us? Father, many years ago, You told me You would build a house for me near Your Altar. You have done all You promised. You promised me that You would one day heal and bless me and my children so that we might be a blessing to others. Why, then, should I question Your abilities as You have already done such great things? It is just..." I stopped myself.

God: "It is okay, Erin. Please...speak from your heart."

Me: "Well, if I am being completely honest with You, I get hurt when my prayers aren't answered when I want them to be."

Thunderous laughter rolled throughout God's Court. It was not at all a belittling laughter, but instead was so comforting.

God: "Well, this is brutally honest."

Me: "While I fully realize You could remove me in an instant, I needed to confess to You that I am like a little child when I don't get my way. I cry and pout. Actually, I sometimes do many of the 'negative fruits'. Oh Father, I am so sorry."

God: "Oh Erin, you delight Me with your honesty."

Me: "Thank You, Father, but I still get mad at myself for doing this. However, when I am in pain, everything is a struggle. I felt a breakthrough last Wednesday during prayer, as did my daughter and older son, but then nothing happened."

God: "I have heard your grievances. I remember that you, as one of My lamps, occasionally need fresh oil. Just know that I have never forgotten you. I remember that I have promised you many things. I know that you are an outcast among men. You must remember that those I have called for My purposes are usually not elevated unless they are being crucified. However, I will do as I promised and My Seal will be on the foreheads of My elect.

"When the original sin began, it was started by the snake first planting doubt, then confusion of My Words and then the illusion of something equal to Me or greater. The focus then changed from obeying My Commands to the desirability of the taste of the forbidden fruit. Sin is a result of rebellion. It is a bruised head, one which is double-minded or focused on other gods of the world. The troubles of men began there.

"You have seen the increase in evil come across the land. It is everywhere because it comes through the screen doors of both the back porch and the front porch. Whatever is told to so many by once trusted sources are now full of lies. Things heard or seen can no longer always be trusted. You are also seeing an increase in the persecution of My Saints. Do not worry though as they are near to My Altar.

"Now, I have heard your descriptions and these are good. However, and just as temple vessels vary in size and purpose, the same is true for those I have called. But more than this, with Me, you will have great knowledge of the schemes of the wicked and they will be unable to come against you. You will declare a thing and it will be done.

"The enemy's army will then rise up and display counterfeit illusions of miracles. Crowds will witness these false miracles and many will be deceived. As for you, those under your care and those under My care as they are those I have called, you will all have safe shelters."

Me: "Father, when will this be?"

God: "I cannot disclose this. Just know that this time is near. Erin, the time is near. When immediate plans don't work out, people are unkind and disasters seem to strike, just know that it will come to nothing as My time is right at the door."

Me: "Thank You, Father, but this is already happening right now!"

God: "Then prepare accordingly. Get your houses in order. Be worthy of My Seal of Approval. If anything needs to change, then turn and come to Me in repentance. I am here to listen and extend My Grace and Mercy. This is enough for today."

Me: "Thank You, Father. I love You."

God: "I love you too, Erin. Rejoice. Rejoice, My child, for you are in My favor."

I smiled and gave Him a deep curtsy out of respect. The Court's floor seemed to roll with His laughter. I knew that this had pleased Him. Uriel reached for my hand and guided me out of His door.

Uriel: "Take note of what God told you. Your journey began when Enoch and Elijah spoke to you in the Open Vision from almost twenty years ago. Your dreams and time in God's presence are now just over seven years ago from the start."

Me: "So, what does this mean? I get concerned as my troubles started in 2004. Is that significant?"

Uriel: "Yes. However, God is speaking to you about the Temple and Building. You are tired as this journey has been long for you. However, stay encouraged as God is with you. He has blessed you with good oil. He will not abandon you. He will send help, so do not worry. He has sent angels concerning you to guard you in all of your ways.

“He has kept you in His Quiver and you, your household and your friends are Arrows. Do not worry!” He smiled. “There is an epic battle. You are loved by God. Erin, soon, very soon, Heaven will be visible on Earth as things will manifest on Earth as it is in Heaven through His Vessels. Be encouraged.”

Uriel turned and he was gone in an instant.

Dream 374 – A Great Light has come to the world

Received Sunday, December 22, 2019 (Kislev 24)

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family, friends and our Nest Sparrows from afar. Thank You for giving us the Nest, a place near Your Altar where we can all gather together. Thank You for keeping this up for us. It is truly a miracle. It has been a long seven years, Father, and yet a fast seven years. I was injured in May 2014. This injury ended my career. Shortly thereafter, my children and I moved across the USA so we could be with my husband and his children.

Just as promised by the Lord, my children were released by my main enemy without any court. After all of this time, we still marvel at this miracle as if it happened yesterday. Other than my older son in the first year of the seven years of these dreams, all of my children have been residing with me full-time ever since. Shortly after moving, I was married, something very unplanned. I lost both of my parents during this block of time. I also discovered my two brain tumors and a lump between my ribs on my back.

While the tumors and the lump are not currently life threatening, I also discovered that I will need eye surgery sooner than later. My children are now adults. This still brings me to tears as my time with them has come and gone so fast. What brings a smile to my face though is that all of our children love Jesus and believe in His promises. While my husband is still unemployed, we pray everyday that this will soon be reversed and he will be given a great opportunity.

The winter's solstice passed last night. From here on out, the days will become longer and brighter. Each day will be just a little longer and each night will be just a little shorter. We are in the Hebrew month of Kislev right now, a month considered to be 'The Dark Month'.

According to the Talmud, Adam also noticed that the days were shortening, leading up to the winter's solstice. According to this source, Adam noticed that the days were gradually becoming shorter. This scared him, for good reason, as he did not know about the winter's solstice. In fear that he would soon live in non-stop darkness, Adam cried out to God in anguish...

Adam: "Woe is to me. Because I have sinned, the world around me is being darkened. It is returning to a state of chaos and confusion. This must be the kind of death which has been sentenced to me from Heaven."

He then took it upon himself to pray, fast and look inwardly. During his eight days of doing this, the winter's solstice passed and he then saw that the days were becoming longer again. He once again cried out to God, but this time with joy...

Adam: "So, this is the way of the world!"

After this, Adam decided to celebrate this time of light lengthening. He celebrated this for eight days in a row around this same time (Avodah Zarah 8a). To me, this seemed to be an obvious prelude to the future institution of Hanukkah, the Festival of Lights. It is also worth noting that the Hebrew month of Kislev is also called 'The Month of Dreams', as well as 'The Month of Hope'.

Hanukkah begins tonight with the lighting of the first candle and lasts for eight days. Christmas day will be the third / fourth day of Hanukkah, with the lighting of the fourth candle in the evening. In Your Word (Haggai 2:18), Father, Kislev 24, 'the 24th day of the 9th month', You tell us to 'consider this day, from this day on, even all the way back from the day the foundation for the Lord's Temple were laid.'

Father, when Jesus died on the Cross, there was an eclipse. There was also a great earthquake. This earthquake was so great that it tore the Temple in two. Three days later, Jesus rose. It seems like we should once again consider these signs for today. We are the Bride of Jesus. We are the lights, the flames, in lamps filled with oil. We keep these lit while we wait in our chambers for our Groom to come for us.

Yes, we are the special lights / flames of the Lord. We are to keep watch for our Lord and keep the oil in our lamps from running out. However, the other things these lampstands represent are the Two Witnesses, with Jesus at the center. As for this Hanukkah, the Festival of Lights coincides with the Christmas holidays. In the midst of Hanukkah is Christmas, the day most of the world sees as Christ's birth.

Speaking of which, many Biblical experts believe that Jesus was actually born during the Feast of Shelters (usually in late September / October). If so, this means that Jesus was conceived during Hanukkah, which also sometimes coincides with Christmas. Regardless, whether it is His conception or His birth, He is worthy of being celebrated every day, including Christmas (and so we do). While some still view Him as a 'powerless baby', we know Him as being The Light coming into a dark world.

This Flame was lit by You, Father! It was most likely during Hanukkah that the Holy Spirit hovered over the Virgin Mary. She would then be infilled with the Light of the World, the baby Jesus. After being on Earth for but a short time, He would later reside in us, making our bodies the Temple of God and the Temple of the Holy Spirit. In return, this makes each of us a type of 'Holy of Holies'. For those of us viewed in this manner by God, we are then called into His higher service.

Oh Father, I am not a Bible scholar. In reality, some of the above is just my best guesses based on all that I have studied over the years. Years ago,

You showed me the Earth from the overlook. You showed me the lights of those You have called into service for a times and time such as this. Father, we have waited a very long time for this calling to actually occur and, as a result, many of Your lights are growing dim as hopes fade. Please, Lord, rise up in us soon and Transform us into Your Army.

As for me and this month of December, my light has grown dimmer as troubles far beyond reason have come upon our home and lives. This is not just us though as I know of many Nest sparrows experiencing the same. Please, Father, renew our Spirits and breathe life into our tired bodies. We love You and watch for You. My eyes are on You and I press forward despite my broken heart caused by our continued troubles.

Father, please continue to protect us and sustain us because we believe You have a greater plan! Lord, I recently studied Matthew 24. There is so much to study here. In Matthew 24:1-12, You, our Lord Jesus, instructs us to be careful that no one leads us astray. You warned us of so many things in this amazing chapter...

- That many will come in Your name and say they are You, leading many astray
- During this time (that is happening now), we will hear of wars and rumors of wars, but we are not to be alarmed because the end is not yet
- Nation will rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom
- There will be famines and earthquakes in various places
- All of these things are the beginning of birth pains
- Because of our love of Jesus, we are hated by all of the nations, but so are the Jewish people
- Many will then fall away, betray one another and hate one another
- Many false prophets will arise and lead many astray
- Lawlessness will be increased
- Because of all of this, the love of many will grow cold

While, at first, I thought that all of these things were speaking of the Great Tribulation, it now seems that all of this is happening right now. I am not sure though as, once again, I am not a Bible scholar, just someone who loves You so much and wants to know You more in as many things as possible. However, the proof seems to now be right in front of us. I know for a fact that I am seeing manifestations from demons in various people. These include...

- Faces contorting and twisting in an unnatural manner
- Bodies shaking uncontrollably
- Bodies jerking in strange ways
- Unusual changes in personalities, behaviors and/or routines

- People being uncharacteristically flagrant
- Bold lies being manifested
- Veils going out over so many in order to have them simply accept these new behaviors without questioning any of it

It even seems that the President of the USA, Your Bull, has been bringing these to the surface. You now see it in politicians, the media and in famous people, but really so many other places. No matter which party one supports, it is hard to deny that there is an extreme uptick in corruption. Evil has increased so rapidly in the last seven years that I am still in shock and disbelief. Please help us. Father, please strengthen us!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was in front of me and in full armor. It was obvious to me that he was still fighting in an epic battle. While awe inspiring in the physical, he was also somehow comforting to me at the same time. Just knowing that he, along with all of God's mighty angels, will soon be both guarding us and fighting with us gave me such peace. He looked into my eyes. While he was serious, he also had the confidence of someone that knew that God would soon win this great battle.

Uriel: Smiling slightly to comfort me. "Hold on. Erin, hold on a bit longer! God has heard your cries and has sent help. Though it seems there is a delay, the Army of God is already in battle. You know this as you have seen the effects. Now, be encouraged as, very soon, you will see an end to these storms and a Great Light. Yes, Erin, the dawn will soon break into a Great Light.

"Erin, He did not say these things to you in folly. Please hang onto His promises. Stand and take courage for soon you will not be subject to wicked men or their wicked schemes. Though the wicked will still curse you, they will also be afraid of you. Greater are those who stand with you and with the Lord in you than those in the world. Now, I must go. Rejoice! Rejoice, Erin, for a Great Light has come to the world!"

He turned away and was gone in an instant.

Dream 375 – Thousands of Lambs grow to be Sheep

Received Thursday, December 26, 2019 (Kislev 28)

Communion

Dear Father,

I am thankful for You! I love You. We love You so very much. Thank You for sending Jesus to save the world. During the last two nights, I have had disturbing dreams involving enemies from my past and present. I don't really talk about them much with my family as I don't want to have to think about these people. That being said, since You had me review this in my dreams, so I will pray for them...

Sub-dream 1 "An Enemy's Tiny House" description begins...

I was standing in an auditorium not that far from a particular woman who had caused me irrevocable harm to my reputation, my business and my heart. She deceived me during a time that I was very vulnerable. She soon noticed me and came up to talk with me. I pretended to not be hurt by our past...

Woman: "I would love to have you come to my house and see it."

I agreed to come with her and we started to walk there together. After a short while, we came upon her house. She was living in a tiny home. It seemed to be about the same size as my home when I was 4 or 5 years old on Bell Street, a home with just under 600 square feet. After entering her house, she told me to wait for her in the kitchen area. While waiting, I looked around her kitchen and soon noticed something odd.

There on her Formica counter were about twenty cards on stands. Each card depicted a different demon. For some reason, some of the stands were plugged in so that the cards could somehow be recharged. This made no sense to me as I don't believe this even exists. Each 'demon card' had a description and, behind each of them, were stacks and stacks of more of these cards. These cards made me feel very unsettled.

I then noticed that, over to my right, there was an old electric stove with grill burners and drip pans. I could hear water dripping onto the stove, so I looked up. There above me was a hole in the ceiling that was allowing this water to drip. Wherever the water dripped down, the stove had become rusty. This told me that this dripping had been occurring for a longtime and had been left unchecked.

After waiting a bit longer for the woman to come back, I just couldn't take it anymore. I finally left and it felt great! I walked away and didn't look back even once.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, I had even more of these types of dreams recently and they deeply disturbed me. I have been quite bothered in my Spirit because of them. Please remove this horrible feeling from me so that I can have a joyous time of celebration with my family.

I missed my parents today. I visited their obituaries. It has been eight Christmases since my dreams began, five since my mom died and three since my dad died. Years, months, days and hours begin to strip memories and lessen the initial blow of loss. However, the sting of death is never gone. So much time has passed since the beginning of all of this. My punishments have spanned two decades now.

This is the first time that we have never had a plan in place, such as a back up plan, a nest egg or an emergency protocol. While it may seem like we have nothing, I know that, with You, God, we already have everything. Father, You are our Plan, our First Order, our Hope and our Last Defense. Please consider using us soon. Lord, we have all committed to putting our 'earthly lives' on hold in order to be in Your service!

We had a wonderful Christmas. Our children were all home together. Presents were opened. While it was a lean Christmas this year, every one of our children were so very happy. I try each time to study these moments and burn them into my memory bank. I am so thankful for this time together. Thank You for one more day, Father! I must admit that there are days in which I wonder if I will see these promises fulfilled in my lifetime. I wonder if these are for us now or perhaps these are for our children.

I really don't know for certain. However, what I do know is that I am very thankful. While I don't know what everything will look like when it all comes together, I just know that it will be perfect and that the world will be in awe. Father, may I ask for a special gift from You? If it would please my Father, could You bless my children, my husband and my Nest Sparrow Friends, along with their families and children?

Could You also please protect them and bless them abundantly more so that I could see this in my lifetime? Please, Father. If this is the time and birth is a result of first conception and growth as a fetus knit by You in the womb, then conceive us, knit us and prepare us for the birth of Your Great Army. Please do this soon, Father. Please don't forget us. We love You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

This was very odd. I was immediately put into a similar setting as my vision / dream that I had from over fifteen years ago. This was on November 22, 2004 to be precise. This was a painful place, but I knew God had me here again for a purpose. While this dream seemed to start in a place that did not seem like Heaven, it soon Transformed into something that was definitely in Heaven. I will now write this as it unfolded...

I woke up in a dark hotel room. The only light in the room was from the outside street lights and the flashing neon signs. I soon realized that I had already been here before in a previous vision / dream from long ago. This was a hotel room above a movie theatre. It was around 3:30am. I noticed a small suitcase and my clothes draped over a chair. In getting dressed, I put everything on that was laid out on the chair.

After I finished dressing, I decided that I would leave the suitcase behind this time. I realized that taking stuff was pointless as anything I took on this journey would only create extra baggage. I dressed in the darkness, so I was not sure if I was putting on my clothing properly. Finally, I put a coat and scarf on and bounded out of the hotel room. I looked back at the door and flipped the 'Do Not Disturb' sign to 'Service Please'. I laughed as I did this.

I ran down the stairs into the theatre lobby. There was no one there. I ran out a rotating circular door out onto a city scape freshly wet from rain. There were odd noises that surrounded me. I could hear something like steam from underground. I could hear the distant sound of a street cleaner. There were street lights and flashing neon signs from different businesses all around me.

The wet cement sidewalks were like mirrors reflecting the lights. I knew that this was another place I had been before in my vision / dream from long ago. I looked over at a street clock and noticed that it was now 4:00am. This was an old iron clock with a lighted face and Roman numerals. Hmm, you certainly don't see many of these kinds of clocks anymore.

I walked quickly toward the north end of the city. I am not sure why, but I knew this is where I was to go. Even though I walked with more confidence and less baggage since I had left this behind, I still wondered why I was doing this and why I had taken a hotel room so far away from my destination. After an hour or more of walking briskly, I eventually reached the edge of the city.

The edge of the city was now the beginning of the base of a tall mountain. There was a park ahead of me. I shook my head and cried in joy as right there in front of me was the familiar Heavenly Forestry Bulletin Board. I broke down and fell to my knees. There was also the familiar gate with the 'outhouse door'.

Me: "Oh Father, the pain...the great, great pain...of being here again is so real. Please forgive me as I can barely breathe. I had great hopes and dreams here before. However, they were instead the beginnings of the worst time in my life. It was Your Will to crush me...and my children too. It was also the beginning of some of my best times as well.

“However, when I gave birth to my first child, this marked a type of captivity period for me with my blacksmith. A yoke was placed upon me and me and my children were then bound. Still, and although I regret many things, I have never regretted even once the gift of my children. They have been a great blessing from You, Father God.”

I walked up to get closer to the bulletin board. I laughed when I saw that it now had the park hours listed. I tried to remember what these hours were in order to write them down, but God kept this from my memory. There was also a warning on the sign to enter at your own risk if you were entering outside of the posted park hours.

I smiled as I turned towards the wood door with the moon and star cut out. Stepping through it was, in a humorous way, similar to walking out of an old outhouse door. It was similar to a place that I lived in for a few years without an indoor bathroom, but clean and perfect. The latch had lifted up and the door opened towards the park.

As I stepped through the door, I noticed that there was a massive herd of lambs there waiting for me. These were baby lambs, not sheep, and were so cute. They were also all over the place though. I became worried for them and decided to look around for their Shepherd.

Me: Calling out. “Hello! Hello! You left Your Lambs here. They need You! Hello!”

I looked around and behind me. The city was now completely removed. There was only a gate. However, resting on that gate was a Shepherd’s Hook. I decided to take the Hook and began to round up all of the little Lambs.

Me: Again, calling out. “Hello! I need help here. I don’t know anything about keeping these Lambs together. I am feeling overwhelmed here!”

Holding the Hooked Staff, I began to walk down the path to look for the Shepherd in charge of this Flock. I looked behind me and noticed that the Lambs were all staying on the path. They were all walking together and following me. I laughed. I continued on for another mile. When I looked back at the little Lambs, they had now become stronger and greater in number.

I turned to face them and saw that their number had now increased into the thousands. I panicked and threw down the Shepherd’s Hook. I ran as fast as I could, but knew from their sound that the Sheep were keeping up. I looked ahead and saw a small cave in the side of an outcropping of rocks. It was as tall as I was and could fit my outstretched arms. However, it was only about ten feet deep, so not a great hiding spot.

Me: “This is scary! They could overtake me at any moment. Lord, where are You?”

I hid in this crevice until I could not hear the sounds of the Sheep anymore. When I then thought that the coast would now be clear, I peeked my head out. To my dismay, I discovered that they were all still there and had laid down to wait for me to come out. Just as I started to panic again, I heard Jesus there laughing.

Jesus: "Erin, come out of that cave. You have all of Heaven laughing right now. This was quite an enjoyable scene."

Me: "Lord, what is happening?"

Jesus: "Well, come on out first and then we can talk. Yes, that's right...come out of your cave and off of that cliff."

I noticed that there were now Sheep above me and around me standing in the crevices. I just shook my head in laughter at the sight of Jesus standing there in the middle of the Flock carrying one of the Sheep. He was still laughing.

Jesus: "Oh Erin, is this not better than what you had expected?"

Me: "I guess so. Well, actually, yes. Yes, Lord, it beats the years of punishment."

Jesus: Reaching for my hand. "Come with me."

He took me back to the powdery path with the complex stamped pattern. As there was fog over our head, I could not see that far ahead.

Me: Crying. "Oh no, I knew that this was coming."

Jesus: Laughing. "Oh Erin, I am the Light of the world, not 'the ghost of year's past'. I am your Savior, the Lover of your Soul, the Creator of your path and your Friend. I am also your Lawyer and Kinsman Redeemer. I pleaded your case and shortened your trials, understand? Now, this is good. I am here to give you hope and a future. Let's see. Oh, I see you have no suitcase with wheels this time. You have left your baggage behind."

He pretended to search for my suitcase as He laughed. He was trying to cheer me up.

Jesus: Smiling. "Now look at what you are facing here."

Me: "Sigh...yes, Lord, I see it. That intricate stamped pattern. As I step through it, the fog will stay at the same rate as my climb. This means I will still have no idea where I am going, right?"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, are you so defeated that you believe I would start your time of refinement all over again? Even though there was a lengthy furnace period with many glazes, did I not tell you that your Vessel is finished? I have to tell you that it was touch and go for Me a few times there."

Me: My mouth was wide open in shock. "What? Really? Lord, really?"

Jesus: "Erin, I am just making light of your seriousness."

Me: Crying. "Oh Lord, I know that I am acting like a baby right now, but it seems as if nothing is going right. Our hopes are fading. This is why, when You brought me back here to the beginning just now, I thought You were going to start over with me."

Jesus: "Does this mean that you do not trust Me?"

Me: "No, this is not the case. I trust You, Lord, but I just don't always trust myself."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, I love you! I am not your punisher. I am your Deliverer and Friend. I am the Good Shepherd and this is My Flock."

He turned my attention to the Sheep. There were now several thousand.

Me: "Whoa, where did all of these come from? At first, they were cute little baby Lambs, but now these are strong beautiful Sheep."

Jesus: "This is because they went on quite a journey with you. Let's just say that I am glad I arrived when I did as they would have surely not fit into that small cave with you." He smiled. "Now, let's look at what we are facing here. We have a very complex path ahead of us. What does your wisdom tell you to do?"

Me: Laughing. "Turn and run!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Now who is being funny? So, what is it that you want to do next?"

Me: I thought for a moment and then giggled. "Okay, really?"

Jesus: "Yes, whatever it is, please go ahead."

Me: "The pattern on that path has always annoyed me."

He nodded His agreement with me, giving me permission. I then took a deep breath and blew air out of my mouth towards the path. The air from my mouth then mixed in with a brief powerful wind and completely made the sand and dirt of the path disappear.

Jesus: Laughing and clapping. "Very good, Erin. Now what?"

Me: "I am tired of struggling to climb. I want all of us to be made strong so that we can all run up this mountain with ease."

Jesus: Smiling. "Okay, Erin, go ahead."

I could feel Jesus right there with me. I began to run with ease. I leapt without effort and even did some fancy flips. I tried a bunch of things that I could never do before even in my best shape and did them with ease. I paused and looked back at Jesus with joyous laughter. It was only then that I noticed that Jesus' Sheep were doing the same things as me. Each of them was running, climbing, leaping and flipping with ease.

Me: "Okay, since I am on a role, I must admit to You that I also can't stand the fog. Lord, I would like to know where I am going and how long it will take to get there."

Jesus: "You ask a difficult thing. Still..."

He smiled at me as He then lifted the fog. The sunlight made the path much easier to see.

Me: "Wow, that is quite the journey up ahead."

Jesus: "Yes, it is."

Me: "Why has this fog always been here?"

Jesus: "I am not convinced you would have yielded to My Will for you if you knew the length of your troubles in advance."

Me: Crying. "You are right, Lord. What You did was right. Now, why is it that You are lifting this fog now?"

Jesus: "Because you are here to stay with Me."

Me: "Thank You, Lord. I am still scared though...I mean really scared! However, You are here. I will promise to stay only if You will promise to never leave me."

Jesus: "This I will do. I am here with you, Erin. Now, are you ready to finish this climb with Me and My Crew here?" He pointed to the Sheep behind us.

Me: "Even with the fog lifted, I still can't see all the way. However, with You, I can do anything. Apart from You, nothing is possible."

Jesus: Smiling as He looked into my eyes. "Erin, the time of conforming to the things of this world, this pattern, is now removed and gone." He refreshed an image in my mind of where I had just blown the sand and dirt, which had included the pattern, off of the path. "This is Holy Ground you are stepping on. Look ahead. Heaven is visible to you. Heaven is evidenced in you. Now, rejoice, Erin, for this is not the old path. This is a new climb and I am with you until the end of the age."

Me: "I pray that You will be with me much longer than that, Lord."

Jesus: "Very good, Erin. You have gained wisdom. Yes, I am with you and will always be with you. Now, rejoice. Look ahead at what I have for all of you. Look!"

I looked ahead. All I could see was a bright light!

Dream 376 – Enoch & Elijah: Prepare your houses

Received Monday, December 30, 2019 (last day of Hanukkah)

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love. Thank You for dreams with warnings. I had a very intense dream early this morning...

Sub-dream 1 "Two very different trees" description begins...

There were two massive trees. Between these two trees was a raging river. Over each of the trees was a lampstand. While one of the trees was very healthy, the other tree was quite sickly. The healthy tree produced beautiful blossoms and then leaves. This tree then bore amazing fruit. The branches of this healthy tree fed into the three branches of the lampstand. In turn, the three lights of the lampstand burned brightly.

In contrast, the sickly tree produced very little. The blossoms were few. When the leaves came, they were curled and dry. When the fruit then arrived, it was scarce. What little fruit this tree did produce was bitter, small and rotten. The lampstand over the sickly tree produced very little light compared to the lampstand over the healthy tree. I was then given the supernatural ability to see under the ground.

This was like x-ray vision, but with much more detail. I was then able to see the beautiful roots below the ground of the healthy tree. Below these roots was a massive rock. However, this rock did not hinder the tree. The roots were instead resting on this rock. The rock was the foundation for these roots. I then saw that the roots of the tree were also being fed by the river. The water here was good and the soil was rich.

My attention was then drawn to the roots of the sickly tree. The tree roots of this tree were dry and brittle. I could see that there were three massive rocks impeding the roots from receiving good, pure water from the river...

- The first rock crushed the roots
- The second rock blocked the roots from living water
- The third rock was very hot and scorched the roots

Because of what was at the foundation of the sickly tree, at the very roots, this tree was dying. It was unable to produce enough to bring light to the lampstand. While one of the lights were brighter than the other two, it was still dim. The other one was even dimmer and the third had no flame at all.

As I stood looking at the sickly tree, a massive flame from the healthy tree's lampstand shot up into the sky. It looked like a column of light shooting up straight to Heaven. I walked over to the healthy tree to get a closer look. When I looked into the center flame of the lampstand, there was Jesus! He was right there in the very center of the healthy tree's lampstand! I then heard the authoritative voice of the Lord all around me...

God: "Get your houses in order."

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, this dream deeply disturbed me. I tried to go back to sleep. I thought about the three rocks that blocked the sickly tree's roots. In contrast, the healthy tree was firmly upright and its roots were firmly established on the solid rock of Jesus. As for the sickly tree's roots, the three rocks were standing in the way of the watering of the tree. As a result, it was producing poor fruit. Well, really nothing but rotten and bitter fruit. I said a short prayer before I got out of bed...

Me: "Father, please reveal to me what we must do to prepare our houses. Please also show us what we can do to help the sickly tree."

I then went to my chair and prayed. I took out some oil and presented this to God.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

The beginning of this dream was once again very odd. Just as in my previous dream, Dream 375, I was immediately put into a similar setting as my vision / dream that I had from years ago. However, this time it was from a dream almost twenty years ago, February 23, 2000 to be precise, not from November 22, 2004 as in Dream 375. In this dream from 2000, I had met with both Enoch and Elijah.

At the time of this 2000 dream, I was far from ready and even was wearing designer pajamas. February 23, 2000 was the very beginning of my dreams and visions and I was still very much 'a part of this world'. Just like in Dream 375, this dream seemed to start in a place that did not seem like Heaven, but soon Transformed into something that was definitely in Heaven. I will once again write this out just as it all unfolded...

I was in the small area of Multnomah OR. This is a small town in the southwest hills area of Portland OR. This was not far from one of the houses I used to live in. I was riding a small motorized scooter. I laughed as this was in stark contrast to the superfast motorcycle I was riding back in my dream from 2000. My motorcycle was all black back then and I was dressed in black leather racing gear and wearing gloves.

This time, I was wearing normal clothes, certainly nothing remarkable like my black leather racing gear. Seriously, I could almost walk faster than this scooter performed. I was now going with traffic this time, not against it like I was in my dream from 2000. Back then, I was racing against one-way traffic, weaving in and out, travelling at over 80-mph in a 15-mph zone.

I was now going frustratingly slow instead. It took a ridiculous amount of time to even go one block. I eventually got through the area after quite some time. When I finally got to the familiar, dangerous twist in the road, I looked up and saw an alpine-looking mountain in the distance.

Me: Laughing. "There is no way I am getting up there on this scooter."

As I started going up a relatively small hill leading up to the mountain, the scooter kept slowing down. I soon realized that this tiny motor would not even get me over this small hill. I decided to pull over to the side of the road to plead my case to God...

Me: "I want to see You, Jesus, but I have no way to get there..."

Just then, I was supernaturally translated to the very top of this craggy alpine mountain. There in front of me was a type of train station platform. I ran up to the platform. Just then, I could hear the sound of an approaching train. As it got closer, I noticed that it was the same tram from my dream in 2000. It was super hyper speed and heavenly modern. The tram pulled up in front of me. The doors opened and there was Enoch and Elijah!! I was so excited to see them again!

Unlike the 2000 dream where they looked so serious, they both smiled at me...yes, even Elijah. I could tell they were excited to see me again too. They were both holding staffs and clothed in beautiful linen robes. The robes had a leaf-like pattern with branches woven in as if the cloth itself had been handloomed. It was similar to a subtle Jacquard weave, but still unlike anything on Earth. Their hair was as white as snow. Enoch's hair was long and wavy. Elijah's hair was short and he had a small cap on.

Elijah: "Yes, Erin, we are also glad to see you." He smiled. "Hmm, no designer pajamas this time?" They both laughed.

Me: Smiling. "No, not this time!"

Enoch: "No fast motorbike today either?"

Elijah: "Not only that but she was driving under the speed limit. She was traveling by the laws of the land..." They both laughed again. "...a true miracle."

Me: "Yes, it would be wise for me to slow down."

Enoch: Smiling. "We are not here today to critique your driving habits. We are instead here to tell you that you have exceeded our expectations. When the Lord called you and God sent us to instruct you, we did not have much hope for you. While many were called, few came."

Elijah: "So, now, here you are. Not an easy journey, I know."

Me: Crying. "No, it wasn't. It was my fault too. I could have made it shorter if I understood all that I know today."

Enoch: "Well, if you knew all that then, I am not sure you would have a full understanding of what the furnace of affliction is like."

Elijah: "Over these last twenty years, you have overcome many things. Your mistakes were good as these drew you closer to God. If your foundation had been weak, you would have run to the world to seek help instead. I instructed you..."

Enoch: "...and I warned you...actually, we both did. However, I believed that you would make it."

Elijah: "I am sorry to admit that I did not believe that you would make it. It's a fact that I cannot deny. Let's face it, you were completely in this world. While your heart was willing, your flesh was the opposite of willing to yield to God."

Enoch: "What he means, Erin, is that you were on a path which leads most to destruction, understand?"

Elijah: "Yes. Your 'self' was on high volume and was screaming for more. However, all of that started to change when you began your journey."

Enoch: "The Lord called us to warn you after your fast of no food or water. He knew what your deep longings were and He sent us to tell you to die to yourself before you could be used of God for the purposes He has planned for you."

Elijah: "You were displaying no character of God in your daily walk. You were walking in rebellion instead of yielding to the Will of God."

Me: "I am sorry. I was awful. I am so sorry."

Enoch: "We are not here to condemn you. We are here to encourage you. Erin, you have done all that God has asked of you."

Me: "Well, I still don't feel like my house is in order."

Elijah: "You have spent many years preparing your house. This holds true for all of those that God has called. Your house must be free of the things that separate you from realizing all that God has planned for you. A Bride who is wise has a Lamp full of oil and waits day and night for her Groom. While many claim to be a worthy Bride, waiting has caused them to seek other things."

Me: "Oh no! Have I done this?"

Elijah: "No. God is about to do something in your days that you would not believe even if you were told. Erin, stay alert and do not grow complacent."

Enoch: "Many of those who have turned cold or those whose lights have grown dim have fallen into..."

- Sexual immorality
- Impurity
- Debauchery
- Idolatry
- Witchcraft
- Hatred
- Discord
- Jealousy
- Fits of rage and anger
- Selfish ambition

- Pride
- Dissensions
- Factions of haughtiness
- Envy
- Drunkenness
- Orgies

“However, some of these are more subtle than others.”

Elijah: “So, this brings us back to your dream of the two trees. The healthy tree symbolizes those who are ready and are waiting for God. The sickly tree symbolizes those who were waiting and have now instead become lovers of self. They serve the false gods of this world and even sacrifice themselves and their children to these.”

Enoch: “Many years ago, you were given a dream of lights all over the world. However, many lights, especially those in larger cities, have begun to go dim. This is what is happening today. We are able to see this happening from Heaven.”

Me: “What can I do?”

Elijah: “Understand what is at work here. Get your houses in order. Turn away from...

- Bitterness
- Boredom
- Laziness
- Anger
- Envy
- Jealousy
- Pride, including the pride of self-righteousness

“Do this or...” He laughed. “...the Lord will flip tables.”

Enoch: “These are in full operation in God’s churches today. You must stand against these and practice the good Fruits of the Spirit instead. The practice of all that is abhorrent to God leads to even more perversion. These are manifesting at a greater rate in the world today as the hearts of many are quickly growing colder.”

Me: “I am overwhelmed. Please pray for me. I am growing tired and my strength is fading. My heart is willing, but I need healing.” I began to cry. “How can any of us remain sin-free in a world full of sin? Sin is constantly flooding us.”

Elijah: “Stand against it, Erin. The gods of this world know who you are and are constantly at work to destroy you. However, God will go before you.”

Enoch: “Yes, Erin, the Lord is with you. He is with you. When you call, He will answer. He called on us today to meet with you. Please do not worry.”

Me: "What can I do? Elijah, can I use your staff to call down fire? Enoch, can I use your staff to cut down these gods? What can I do when I can't even heal myself?"

They both looked at each other. I could tell they knew things that I didn't.

Elijah: "Erin, God is about to shake the nations. You will be in the midst of this. You will soon be called into greater service and far beyond your imagination. You will call down fire and topple idols. Now, we are here to prepare you. Prepare your houses, but not just your physical houses, your spiritual ones as well."

Enoch: "Remove that which is unclean and replace it with that which is holy and worthy of the Lamb of God."

Elijah: "A sure test is to write down all that you would be willing to give up for God at the Altar. In return, see what God will then do for you at that same Altar."

Enoch: Laughing. "Hmm, which altar though?"

Elijah: Laughing. "No, not the altar of idols, the Altar of God. Come to God and bring your burdens and your inequities. Bring all you are to God."

Enoch: "He will do something you would not believe even if you were told. Now, rejoice, Erin!"

Me: "I am trying to rejoice."

Elijah: "The Lord has a great plan in place. He has not forgotten you. He has blessed you. He has healed and sent blessings to others on behalf of you. Look, you have even traded in your designer pajamas."

I looked down and noticed that I was now wearing a white linen tunic with pants.

Me: "Hmm, I like these 'pajamas' much more. They are of much higher quality too."

They both laughed.

Enoch: "Actually, they are. They are from Heavenly Looms."

Me: "Thank you, both. Can I hug you?"

They both said yes and opened their arms. I cried as I hugged each of them tightly. They then prayed over me, anointed me with oil and prayed a blessing over me.

Elijah: Smiling. "Do not worry, Erin, as you will see us again soon."

Enoch: Smiling, yet serious too. "Yes, child, you will see us again soon."

Me: Crying. "I am scared and I mean really scared. The times are becoming worse."

Elijah: "Yes, Erin, the gods of this world are at war with God's Elect. However, since God is with you, do not worry..." He then added with a laugh. "...and do not run."

Enoch: Laughing. "Do you mean 'into a cave'?"

Enoch was teasing Elijah about his time hiding from Jezebel in the cave. He was probably also teasing me for my recent incident of hiding from the sheep in a cave.

Elijah: Smiling. "Yes, especially not 'into a cave'! My personal experience tells me that God will find you no matter where you try to hide. Yes, He will even come to you at the foot of a Broom tree."

Enoch: "Do not worry, Erin, for He is always with you."

Dream 377 – God & Uriel: Our cake is ready

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You! Thank You for another year. Thank You for Your promises. We cling to these. Last night, I had two more sets of dreams of two enemies each. This brings my total to 32 separate enemies in just eight days, four per night, in this particular pattern of dreams I have recently been experiencing. I don't really understand why this pattern is happening. The one dream last night centered on a couple that I barely know...

Sub-dream 1 "A barely known couple" description begins...

I was in an area that looked like the Northwest Crossing subdivision in Bend OR where we once lived. I was unsettled and was searching for my purse everywhere. The purse I was looking for was similar to the mini-backpack purses I am fond of in real life. I eventually found myself outside of a type of orgy club. This was odd as Bend OR really doesn't have these kinds of establishments.

I was then distracted from finding my purse with an image of a boy about five years old being kept captive in the kitchen of the orgy club. While I am not sure if it was my younger son as a child, this boy looked quite similar. He was in a one-piece pajama set and had bare feet. He was being abused and held captive there. I was unable to find him, but then noticed that a chemical spill was coming from the kitchen.

When the emergency crews came to clean up the spill, I told them that there could be a boy in the kitchen that needed rescuing. After they were there awhile, they came out and told me that no boy was found. I left the disgusting club to look for my purse again. I found it in the club's parking lot. What was odd was that there was an identical purse next to mine that someone had put there for some reason to try and fool me.

As I was standing there with my newly found purse, a couple I barely knew from my past came up to me to harass me. Even though I had not worked on their home, they started accusing me of using shoddy materials. I asked them for proof, but they ignored my request and continued to antagonize me. I finally lost them and went home. When I arrived home, I discovered that my older son now had a pet monkey the size of a squirrel. It was cute and was wearing a matching t-shirt and pants.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Father, these dreams are disturbing. They leave me feeling empty as they make me recall the humiliation and fear of those times. In this dream, I was back in the time where my life was beginning to implode brick by brick. I had many more enemies than I ever thought. The waves of locusts swept over us and stripped me of all credibility and all standing. The next wave then stripped me of all of my money and means.

The next wave then attacked my health. My heart was broken. I was then stripped of my sons. There were so many calamities that fell upon me. The enemy was winning. I fought and fought and fought my enemies, but especially my main enemy. I fought from the time I arrived in the desert in August 2009 to the time I left the desert in August 2014. While the fighting has continued, it has not been as brutal out here.

Even though we had all arrived in a new area far from my captives, blacksmiths and cursers, there were still more troubles with little rest. It has been just over 22 years since my oldest son was born. This is when I truly became a captive of my main blacksmith. It is so painful to look back. I love You, Father. Your hand is in my life, my children's lives, my husband's life and his children's lives.

Your hand being in our lives is so obvious when looking back. Still, Father, I turn 57 years old this month and my desert period has now been for over forty years. In reality, my troubles have been with me my entire life. So many have cursed us, I cannot even count them. Please forgive them as they clearly did not know me. Have mercy on them as I was never their enemy.

I tried to make amends for every wrong, but, even so, they still cursed us. They curse all seven of us in our household. Our Nest friends are also being cursed. However, Father, You are greater than their curses. I believe the prayers from our lips should prevail in cutting off the curses of others. I know that curses came out against us financially because of all of the dreams my husband and I have had where we lose our purse or wallet. There are curses that placed my family and friends in bondage.

I need Your help to break these permissions forever. Please break the chains that have kept us captive. I pray for this in Your Mighty Name, in Jesus' Name, Amen. The dreams from you have continued for over seven years now. You recently told me that this is the year of the Lord's favor, Your favor, in our lives. In looking at the Scripture from Isaiah written about 2700 years ago, this day has clearly not come to the world yet. This means that this day spoken of must be soon to come...

- Isaiah 61:2: This is the Year of the Vengeance of the Lord.
- Isaiah 61:3: All of us who mourn will be given beautiful headdresses instead of ashes. We will be given the oil of gladness instead of mourning. We will be given the garment of peace instead of a faint spirit or diminishing light. We will be called Oaks of Righteousness, the planting of the Lord, so that He may be glorified.

- Isaiah 61:6: We shall be called priests of the Lord and the Ministers of our God. We will eat from the wealth of nations.
- Isaiah 61:7: Instead of our shame, there shall be a double portion of blessing. Instead of dishonor, we will rejoice. In our land, we shall possess a double portion and shall have everlasting joy.
- Isaiah 61:8: The Lord loves justice. He hates robbery and wrong doing. He will faithfully give us His recompense, compensation for all that was lost. He will make an everlasting covenant with us.
- Isaiah 61:9: We, along with our offspring, shall be known among the nations. All who see us shall acknowledge that we have been blessed by the Lord.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up at God's door. The door was open and the light was streaming through. I suddenly heard the sound of wings behind me. I turned to look and there was Uriel. He was coming through the Heavens. He looked embattled. Even though it was obvious he had been in battle, neither he nor his horse were wounded.

Uriel: "I have come from a great battle. Troubles have come across the nation to the south. The enemy has set it ablaze. We have been over this area of affliction with enforcements for three months now. This has been a major stronghold. Pray for the burning to stop and for the strength of God's people."

Me: "Uriel, is the 'nation to the south' Australia?"

Uriel: "The entire region. When one enemy is taken out, two more crop up. When one fire is put out, two more come. The losses are heavy. I was delayed."

Me: "Why does God not rise up and remove these threats?"

Uriel: "God has commanded us to hold our ground. We are not to advance until we are called by God to do so. We are being held back until our Commander in Chief tells us differently, understand?"

Me: "Yes. I am so sorry."

Uriel: "Erin, God requests your presence."

Me: "Yes. I will go quickly so that you can get back to your position."

Uriel: Smiling. "Oh Erin, you do not control the time of God's conference with you. While your heart is good here and well meaning, God controls all things."

Me: "Yes, of course. I am ready to see Him."

Uriel placed salve in my eyes and brought me into God's Throne Room. The choir of angels were singing 'Glory, Glory, Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord God Almighty, Who was, and is and is to come.' Tears streamed down my cheeks and my legs grew weaker as Uriel brought me towards God's Throne.

I soon could not help but drop to my knees. I put my face to the beautiful sea of glass and wept.

I thought about my selfishness. I truly live like a queen compared to so many. In my trials and tests, I complain, yet, through it all, You are there. You are my Father, the Lord God Almighty, Who was with me, still is with me and is to be with me. Why should I worry or be afraid? I felt a need to confess to God on the Throne.

Me: Speaking in a quiet voice. "I am so sorry, Father. Please forgive me."

God: "Erin, I am here. I hear you. I accept your admission and will remember this no more. While it is okay to question Me, please remember that you do not have the full understanding of a much greater picture. There is a larger plan in place. The angels do not question Me as they understand that My ways are higher. They are on the frontlines of the battle. They fully trust Me.

"From your position on the ground, you do not see My greater works. You most likely will not even hear of them because of corrupt information. Now, Erin, I agree that your desert period has been longer than forty years. You plead your case according to My Word and this is good. However, you were always in a sturdy dwelling with lights and warmth. You did not wander in the desert."

Me: "This is true. You are right, Father. I am sorry."

God: "I am not condemning you here. I am pointing out that I provided for you as you were like a wife deserted. The enemy's voice was louder at times so you were prone to wander off. You were prone to going your own way because patience was a luxury you did not afford yourself. The enemy pulled your puppet strings.

"You are not to worry though as angels were appointed by Me to cut these strings. I know that there was a very long time of wrestling with the enemy and even with Me. Still, in all of this, I was there. Erin, I was there waiting. I met you on your knees. I was there. I love you. My plans for you are good. No new permissions have been granted."

Me: "Father, can You please stop and close off any of the old permissions too? My family and our friends on the Nest are tired of fighting things we cannot see. Could You please expose these so that we can stop these punishments?"

God: "You are not under test or trial, none of you are, as My Courts are now preparing for those who seek mercy. While you came today seeking mercy, this has already been granted. You have come to ask Me for forgiveness for being a grumbler because you expected your promises and gifts by now and these have not arrived."

Me: "Yes. I guess that is exactly right."

God: "You are also tired and weary from all that you see happening around you. You are looking for Me to heal you and grant you the desires of your heart."

Me: "Well, yes."

God: "You become worried when days go by that look like good Biblical days, all based on events, signs and wonders."

Me: "Yes, I do."

God: "You then think 'perhaps God has forgotten me', 'perhaps God is mad at me', 'what if I sinned', 'what if I am delusional' and 'has the enemy tricked me'?"

Me: I giggled then laughed. "Yes, that is exactly right. I think this when..."

God: "...when things don't happen as you expected? Erin, I have given you much. Do you not then believe I would therefore expect much from you? If you are to be My workers, like priests, then what would I then require? I would require that you be set apart, even if this means many miles from where you first started.

"Now, let us talk about these dreams I have sent you recently. These are from those who have cursed you. When they come before Me in My Court of Mercy, I will aptly reveal what they have done to My Elect with their lips. By their tongues, they have sent chains to bind you and weakness to your body to render you ineffective.

"The dreams that you have had reveals that you and your family have been the subjects of curses for many years by those who claim to be My children and even 'Chief Anointed Rebukers of My Elect'. Well, when they see and understand that their sacrifices to Me were boastful and their photos of their ministries were meant to make those of you I have called look like those undeserving, well, how will they be when I place a robe and headdress on you to show I have called you.

"The marks of those I have called will cause many to anger. However, I have remodeled My Court here, expanding My tent pegs, as it is written, to prepare for those who will say 'but Lord, did I not do this or that in Your Name, but You choose a sinner who...' I will then shut up their words until they either see their own inequities and repent or they do not and then I will say 'be gone...I do not know you.'

"I know that you do not understand fully why you spent so many years in the midst of calamity. However, there were many reasons. They were not only for your benefit, but for the benefit of others, and all to My Glory. So, Erin, did I choose the wrong sparrow here?"

Me: "Oh no, Father. I am so sorry. Please forgive me."

God: Laughing. "Erin, would I so easily do such a thing as remove My favor from you? No, I would not. I have made a lasting covenant with you. I have made promises and these will be fulfilled and you will see it. You will not see this from a distant hill either. I will do this because you love Me and sought Me even when others questioned what you were doing.”

Me: “Yes, but they also questioned my sanity.”

God: “So, Erin, your cake is finished. Your work has been completed to My satisfaction. Are you ready for what comes next?”

Me: “Oh yes! Are You talking about the frosting? Yes, the frosting. I love frosting!”

God: Laughing. “I know you do. Now, let’s complete a good work. We can then enjoy all of this together.”

Me: “You had better make this a big cake!”

God: Still laughing. “Done!”

Just then, I felt Uriel’s hand on my shoulder. I stood up.

God: “Oh Erin, you will see troubles come upon the nations. This is a sign of the times as written by My Prophets. These things are coming because of the nations turning away from Me and going by way of demons, serving other gods. These are the gods who do not save.”

Me: “Father, please protect Your people.”

God: “I am with them, so do not worry. However, much will soon change and a great wave will temporarily silence the enemy and give those with no hope renewed strength. All will be as I have promised. Erin, you will dine before your enemies. Their cursed lips will be sealed and they will watch as I raise up My people. Now, rejoice, as I am Who I say I am and I love you.”

Uriel took me to the door.

Me: “I love You, Father. Oh yes...I also like extra thick frosting!”

God: I heard laughter like thunder rumble the floor. “Well then, thick frosting you shall have! The best dressing on the top and layers in between, all fitting for a daughter of the King.”

After I waved in happiness to God on the Throne, Uriel brought me out God’s door.

Uriel: “I hope that He answered your questions.”

Me: “Yes, He did, thank you.”

Uriel: “Now, remember to live. Do not put anything on hold that you are called to do. He is with you and has sent angels concerning you. He is pleased with you, Erin, and is about to fulfill His promises for you. Please rejoice. You will be honored in front of your enemies. You will dine at His table as a daughter of the King.

“Now, there will be complaining...” He shook his head and smiled as he said this. “...there always is concerning you. Oh yes...you can praise and give thanks as the curses of your enemies have been released from you, your children, your husband and his children, as well as your friends and their children.”

Me: “When will we know this?”

Uriel: “It has already been declared by God. Pray, believe and receive the orders. The chains will break. Every chain will break. While some will see this immediately, others will be slower, mostly because the chains have become a part of them and they know no other way. When a slave is set free, it can take a long time to fully accept freedom.

“After knowing only one way, adjusting to a new way can take getting used to. Now, even though you will experience some pharaoh like behavior while the enemy pursues you, do not worry as God is there. He will part the seas and you will cross over onto dry land.”

Me: “Uriel, I had a dream about the ocean at extremely low tide. I walked out and picked up a ton of sea treasures, such as pretty stones, jewels and seashells. They were precious, like gold and silver. The colors were amazing. I had a hard time focusing on the details though as my eyes were blurry for some reason.”

Uriel: “Well, you have had God clarify your sight today. It is okay to ask questions of God, but never question His way as He is sovereign and His ways are higher. All that He does is perfect. He does everything because He loves you and all of His children. He does things His way so that not one of you is lost, understand?

“Now, Heaven has been rejoicing and the saints go before His Throne day and night for what comes next.” He smiled. “I must go now, Erin. Pray for the nations that are burning. Pray for the nations that are in unrest. Pray for the lost to be found. Be joyful, Sparrow!”

Uriel smiled as he climbed up onto his horse. He turned and was gone in a flash.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all that You do for us. Thank You for sustaining us. Please forgive me, Father, but we need Your help. We need a big miracle. There are so many troubles mounting that I am not even understanding it all. Father, we have been faithful. We love You with our whole hearts.

Our house serves You. We do our best to stand against the powers and principalities who seek to steal our blessings and rob us of our hope. Well, Father, I feel like the enemy is robbing us of our joy. We are trying to understand how to combat that which has come against us. I wrote a note in prayer service just before Christmas...

The Impossible made Possible in 2020!

Well, we are now being faced with the impossible. What do we do? I asked for miracles at Wednesday night's prayer service, our first of 2020. I am now at the end of all that I can do. I can do no more. I prayed in the Spirit and cried after communion. The band was playing a song called 'Way Maker'. The lyrics have been stuck in my head ever since, even when waking up in the middle of the night...

You are moving in our midst, You are here working in this place. We worship You...Way Maker, Miracle Worker, Promise Keeper, Light in the darkness, my God, that is Who You are.

Please, Father, make a way for us where there is no way. Work all things together for the good of us who love You. Please remember Your servants as we cling to Your promises. Although we grow tired and the worry of darkness seems to overtake us at times, You keep our lights burning within us.

Your light shines in the midst of our troubles. Father, we love You! Please show us what to do. Grant us supernatural wisdom and knowledge. The snow is falling here and it is so beautiful. Thank You for fresh snow.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

In front of me was a massive field. It stretched out over hills and in valleys. I looked across a river to the other side. There were beautiful fields, abundant crops and a lush landscape. In contrast, the massive field in front of me consisted of rich soil, but small shoots. While there was great potential, I knew it would take many years before it would yield the types of crops that were across the river.

I soon noticed a path that led to the hills. I decided to walk up there in order to see across this great landscape. I walked up the steep incline and smiled when I realized the crops on the hills were grapes. The wires were all set up and the tiny vines were just sprouting.

Me: "Lord, this is sad. Whoever has these fields will have to wait a long time to realize wine."

I soon came across a rock at the top of the hill. I sat on the rock and looked across the beautiful landscape.

Me: "Lord, are You here?"

Just then, some sort of sprinkler system began to water the tender shoots. The sun was shining and the mist created some incredibly beautiful rainbows. I was smiling with joy when I suddenly felt a hand on my shoulder. I looked and it was Uriel with his horse.

Uriel: "Erin, I have a message for you from God. Look across this great land. Look to the north and to the south and now to the east and to the west. What do you see?"

Me: "I see a beautiful landscape. Across the river, I see lush fields, orchards and vineyards. On this side of the river, I see new fields with fresh plantings."

Uriel: "Erin, all of this is yours. To the east of the river, this is what you have been sowing all of these years. There is an abundance stored for you in Heaven. This is your Promised Land, the Home that God has prepared for you, along with the Property that is awaiting you. Here from the north to south, there is a great divide by the River of Life. Now, look closely to the north..."

I looked and there was a bridge. The bridge linked the east side to the west side.

Uriel: "You can cross from one side to the other. Nothing can stop you. You can walk freely."

Me: Tilting my head in a bit of confusion. "So...this new area here to the west of the river is Earth? Hmm...I don't think I understand?"

Uriel: "Erin, these will be ripe for harvest in three years. These are a special planting from the Lord."

Me: I began to cry. "What does this mean, Uriel? I need help."

Uriel: "Calm down, Erin. Do not be discouraged. You have always mistakenly looked upon your own fields as barren wastelands or desert places and as nothing fit for planting and uninhabitable. You avoid your old friends as you look at yourself through the lenses of their world views. You see their expansive ministries and their great accomplishments and you feel great loss.

"You look at this field on the east as their great ministries and as an example of God's great favor upon them versus you. Well, Erin, those are your fields. These people who have looked down upon you and have said 'the Lord is not happy with Erin...see, her field is a wasteland and we are blessed' are wrong. It is you who must pray for your friends.

"Erin, they have not accomplished as much as they think they have in the sight of God. This is because of their boastful tongues and haughty eyes. Now, look at what you have here. These are tender shoots and vines. These need a good farmer to tend to them for three years."

Me: "Yes, Uriel, but I know nothing about growing crops."

Uriel: "From an earthly perspective, agreed. However, from a heavenly perspective, you have. Now, look across the bridge to heavenly places. What do you see?"

Me: "The Impossible. The Unbelievable. The Beautiful. The Perfect Way of God."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, but He is here as well. He is here. When you complete your good works here, there will be a great procession across that bridge to your Home in Heaven. Now, God has given you this. He knows that you will need help. Since the bridge is open both ways to you, help is always available. However, there is something else."

Uriel pointed to a tiny field with little sprouts. We walked over to this through the rows. This field was an odd field. There were rocks and uneven surfaces. This seemed to be a poor field for planting.

Uriel: "No one wanted this field, Erin, as they felt it was too risky for them. The Lord is instead giving this field to you."

Me: "What about all the rocks? These rocks are in the way of the growth of the crop."

Uriel: Smiling. "Well, then, shall we move them? God wanted you to have this one."

We rolled up our sleeves and began to move boulders. I was delighted as my strength was now great. I moved the boulders with ease. However, I soon came across a boulder that I was unable to move.

Uriel: "Here, I will help you."

Uriel moved the large rock with ease. Under the rock was a type of marker.

Me: "What is that?"

Uriel: "Hmm, interesting. The poor farmer has found a treasure hidden in the field that no one wanted."

I dug up a box. I was afraid to open it.

Me: "What is in this?"

Uriel: "Open it."

I opened it and there was so much provision inside of it. I was speechless. I cried as I handed it to Uriel.

Uriel: "Why are you handing this to me? This is your field." He laughed as he nudged me. "I even have the paperwork to prove it." He pulled out a scroll. "This means anything you find buried is also yours."

Me: "What do I do?"

Uriel: "Go, Erin, pay your debts and come back and tend to the crops you have been given here on your fields."

Me: "But how do I..."

Uriel: "Do not worry. Now, rejoice, Erin, as you are loved. Do not worry."

Me: "Uriel, can I run across the bridge and see what is over there?"

Uriel: "Yes, but come back, right?"

Me: "Oh, of course." I was now laughing so hard. "I am staying here to work these fields. I am just really excited! Three years...okay...three years...yes, I can do this. Uriel, will God heal me?"

Uriel: "Was this not one of His promises?"

Me: "Yes."

Uriel: "Then you have your answer. Now, He will also take care of you so that you can grow these." He pointed to the shoots. "Now, rejoice!" He smiled.

Communion

Dear Father,

We need Your help. Please send us hope. Our family and our Nest family need a lift from You. Many of us are at a standstill and have no open doors. We have no real excitement. As for my husband, there continues to be no opportunities opening for him. We need for him to work soon or we will need a financial miracle from You.

Father, I have had unusual dreams the last few nights. One involved bits and pieces of a chess game, but I cannot remember that one. Perhaps You did this on purpose? I did remember some of my dreams, but they were so odd...

Sub-dream 1 "Meeting old friends while crossing a bridge" description begins...

It was nighttime and I was traveling over a bridge. It was a massive bridge, similar in size to the Bay Area Bridge. There were toll booths ahead. As I was sitting there, I saw two old friends walking on the side of the bridge. While it did not make sense for them to be here, I was still excited to see them.

After saying hello with a friendly hug, I soon got back into my vehicle to continue crossing the bridge. I then noticed someone else standing there. He looked similar to a handsome actor that starred in a Nicholas Sparks' movie we watched recently. He was so handsome that I was not sure if this was an angel or a person. I woke up just as I was about to finish crossing the bridge.

Sub-dream 1 description over...

Sub-dream 2 "Birthday gifts at a deluxe golf resort" description begins...

I was staying with my family at an extremely deluxe hotel. I was supposed to meet them at the restaurant at the hotel. The restaurant was situated under the hotel in a basement room. All of the booths were small. The atmosphere was similar to an English tavern or inn, except the hotel was modern. It seemed an odd mix to me.

Hostess: "Welcome, Erin! We have been expecting you. Please take a seat at any available table."

Even though she said they were expecting me, there were no empty tables to be found. I could not help but laugh as there was exactly one person sitting at each of the tables. I was also slightly upset at the hotel as the restaurant had been instructed to hold a few of these tables open specifically for my birthday party. I then noticed that there was a massive box of gifts that had tipped on its side.

Hostess: "This box of gifts is all for you. You might as well just sit on the floor and begin to open them. If you don't, you will be here all day. None of these people are ordering. They came to make sure you, your family and your friends had no seats at these tables."

Me: "What do you mean?"

Hostess: Laughing. "Oh, never mind. It doesn't really matter. Just go ahead and start opening your gifts. Sit on the floor and dive right in."

I shook my head and laughed. I sat down on the floor and began to open all of these gifts. After a while, I went back to the hostess. It didn't feel right to open these gifts without my family around.

Me: "I am to meet my family in the hotel lobby. How do I get there?"

Hostess: Pointing. "See those crates? You need to climb to the very top of them and then go through that tiny opening."

I looked over and realized that this was a dangerous shortcut. I decided to instead go back to where I started and went outside around the back of the resort. In front of me was a flooded golf course. My husband and kids were playing up the back nine and were now on the ninth hole. I went up to the course attendant.

Me: "Excuse me, but could I please go out there to greet my family?"

Attendant: "No. You will have to instead start at the first hole and play as fast as you can until you catch them."

Me: "That's impossible. They are already on the ninth hole."

The attendant didn't acknowledge what I said. He instead pointed to a party of six that was just starting. I watched as the players hit their balls straight into the water hazard at the back of the green. I decided that I would instead lay up my ball into shallow water at the front of the green and then chip onto the green from there.

I am glad I planned it this way as the water at the back of the green was starting to become turbulent. However, where I had hit my ball was in very shallow and calm water. The water was so shallow that it barely covered the bottom of my ball. I went up to my ball and chipped it near the cup. I then tapped it in for a birdie.

Attendant: "That was clever playing. I have seen enough. Go ahead and skip to the ninth hole to meet up with your family."

Sub-dream 2 description over...

Father, these dreams don't seem to make a lot of sense. I also had other dreams that involved me opening gifts. I am just so confused right now. While I feel totally connected with You, I still also feel somewhat separated from You at times. I don't understand this and it is hard to describe. Lord, what is happening to me?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was in front of me. I could tell he had just come from battle. He was with his horse. However, what made this unusual is that Uriel did not get off of his horse. He instead remained mounted on his horse during the whole time he gave me this message. While not sure, this seemed to hint at the urgency of what is soon to come.

Uriel: "Erin, I have a message from God for you! The enemy, your enemy, the enemy of God's people, has served a contract using a silver platter. The contracts were signed by those appointed for the enemy's purposes."

Note: Since Uriel spoke of a 'silver platter', I believed he was referring to the Impeachment Articles signed by Nancy Pelosi and delivered to the Senate yesterday on Wednesday, January 15, 2020. She used a bunch of different pens to sign the related documents, wherein each of these pens were sitting on a silver platter. These pens were then given to various democrats as gifts.

Uriel: "The enemy uses instruments symbolic of lies. While some words are true, their basis is a foundation of untruths. This very same pattern has been used against God's people. You are beginning to see the unveiling of the wicked during this age of lawlessness. What you are witnessing and experiencing are events that shock those who understand that these things are contrary to God and His Holiness.

"Erin, you are witnessing the manifestation of evil. The news will become increasingly bizarre, like you are witnessing a mad woman swinging on a chandelier. You have felt unsettled in your Spirit as these have been occurring so rapidly. Those who are tormented and tortured by evil will see an increase, but only for a very short time. The enemy has begun to pursue the elect with even greater intensity.

"However, when the enemy does so now, you will then witness strange muscle twitches and outward displays of uncontrolled actions. Almost all of these strange twitches and uncontrolled actions will be unexplainable. Now, you are being told this because you have been asking for specific confirmation. Erin, when you see these strange twitches and uncontrolled actions, know that these have been done for your confirmation."

Me: "I have already noticed this. It seems to happen every time someone evil begins to speak. As just one example, I saw this in the mouth of the Speaker of the House just yesterday. However, there are many other examples as well."

Uriel: "Yes, but this will happen with more and more frequency. While this will help you identify your enemies, you are not to engage them until you are instructed by God to take a stand. You must always remember that God is the Author of Truth and knows best. His ways are higher in all things. There is truth in His Word. There is also wisdom, knowledge and a key to unlocking prophecy.

"Erin, you will soon be given this key. However, this key will not be just for you. This key will also be given to all of those that He has called.

This fits in with the chess game dream you have had trouble remembering...

Sub-dream 3 "Gold Chess Board Pieces" description begins...

You first saw a chessboard made of black and white clay. There was only one side with chess pieces and all of them were made of iron. While it appeared that evil had no opponents, this was not so. The gold pieces then arrived. One side of the chessboard had chess pieces made of iron, while the other side of the chessboard now had chess pieces made of gold.

While iron is normally stronger than gold and can crush it, the gold pieces had been supernaturally strengthened to be much stronger than the iron pieces. As you watched the game, you noticed that the gold pieces were never subject to the iron pieces. You also noticed that the gold pieces never succumbed to the iron pieces. Even when the clay chessboard seemed to be cracking, the iron still could not overtake the gold.

Sub-dream 3 description over...

Uriel: "Erin, the gold pieces all belong to God. Each has its own purpose. These are holy and have gone through the refining fire. There has never been anything like them in the past nor will there be anything like them again in the future. Those God has called for this time are represented by these gold pieces. They have been called and are now ready to serve Him in a greater capacity.

"Now, Erin, remember that hindsight is 20/20. Stop reliving your mistakes. The enemy likes to keep you on his field wallowing in your failures. However, you have been given new fields and your failures are behind you. When God's promises are delivered, you must not look back. Don't look back even when the enemy says 'Hey, isn't that Erin? Wait, hasn't she...?'

"The enemy accuses you in order to bring you low. Remain in God instead. Look up to Heaven and cross only His Bridge, understand? Now, take heart. While it is always darkest before the dawn, this is especially so now as you have awakened to many of these. However, God is within you. You will not fall. God will help you at the break of day (Psalm 46).

“The signs around you are the ones you have been waiting for. I must go now as there is an epic battle. Remember that God is with you and that He will not let you fall. God will help you at the break of day.”

He turned the reins to his horse and was gone in an instant.

Dream 380 – Jesus and Time to Forgive Yourself

Received Sunday, January 19, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for keeping our electricity on during this massive blizzard today. I went out briefly this morning to put some seeds and nuts out for the jays, squirrels, doves and crows and the snow was already up to my knees. It has not stopped and that was four hours ago. I placed a secret small tray of nuts by our front door for the tiny red squirrels. I do this as they usually get bullied by the grey squirrels.

Father, I had a dream last night. I was trying to get back to the place I love. How can someone miss a place so much? The smells, the drives, the hikes and the weather were almost always perfect for me there. However, this was also the place where my heart was broken and where You repaired me. When I woke up from this dream, I felt sad and empty. While I like where we are, I truly love the northwest so much.

Father, for my birthday, please heal my family and Nest friends. Father, I just feel broken. Even Job experienced recompense. I want this even though I know that I don't 'deserve' anything. I only want to work for You, Lord, as it is You Who created me. You are my Father. You are everything to me. Father, a life serving You is a difficult one. I have no one to talk to locally other than my immediate family.

There is no one near us like us. Our Nest friends are scattered all over the world. This is all by Your design. This is all for Your purposes. While I don't understand everything, I just know that I place my trust in You. Please do something special for us on my birthday. Please! Could You please make it the greatest Gift for all of us?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was on the forestry path. The beautiful pond with the fountain was there to my right. There were swans and ducks. It was a beautiful pond. I began to cry as I sat down under the weeping willow tree. Two little rabbits came over to me so I could pet them.

Me: "Oh Father, this is such a beautiful place. Thank You."

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and it was Jesus with a big smile. He sat next to me and hugged me.

Jesus: "Erin, I know that you are troubled. I know that many events have been a shock to your faith and to your household. I know that you often ask why and then you question your ability to understand everything. I sent you to your husband. I built this house for you. I removed you from trouble, but then took you back into differing degrees of trouble. I understand that you are scared and your dreams reveal this. Now, why would I do this?"

Me: "I am not sure. Lord, You claim to love me and You show me that You do in so many ways, yet You still don't heal us. You are capable. You put limbs back to work and even those who are blind now see. I want my family and friends to all be healed. I am going to try to ask for this on all of their behalf. You are my Best Friend. Lord, You are the greatest Miracle Worker of all time. Please heal my house and my Nest friends. Please show us how to do this. Please show us what to do. Please help us."

Jesus: "Erin, all of My promises are true. I have not forgotten you or your friends. All things will change very soon for My Glory. For you and your friends, this will be for good, Erin, not evil. I did not bring you here to hold you captive and destroy your life. You sometimes live in fear. As a result, it has become difficult for you to come to Me at times. This is also because you are tired of asking for My promises for you, your family and your friends."

Me: Crying. "I feel frozen and unable to do anything. I am in chains. I cannot forgive myself. I am unable to heal my children. However, and even more than this, Lord, I have never felt good enough, deserving of anything, worthy of pursuing or anything else."

Jesus: "I know. You are also one of the ones who needs healing."

Me: "Yes, Lord, but this no longer matters to me. I have adjusted to what I am and what I am not nor can ever be here. While I had hopes and dreams, perhaps these are not meant to be for me here. However, if You could restore my family and Nest friends to better than they are currently on Earth, ideally even as they are in Heaven, Lord, I will do whatever You ask. I will do this as best as I can even though I will not be able to do much in my current condition."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, you will be healed too, along with your household and friends. I love you and I delight in you. I have heard your cries in silence and I know the deep longings of your heart. However, I am now asking you for one thing..."

Me: "What, Lord? To follow You all of the days of my life? To give away all of my earthly possessions? What, Lord? Anything. Just ask. I will do anything You ask of me."

Jesus: "I created you and I love the work I have created. I love the vessel that I have made. Your life has been a grand testament of love; My love for you, your heart turning to love Me and your sharing of all of these troubles with the world. The divine love story for My Bride is written on the tablet of your heart. Even though your heart has been broken, I have restored it. However, you still will not forgive yourself. You will not forgive yourself for your mistakes. You still hold yourself in chains. I am here with you today to set you free from this. Do you want to be free?"

Me: "Oh yes, Lord, so much, but..."

Jesus: "Hmm, I thought I would hear that word. This is a conditional clause..."

Me: "Lord, I need to be set free. However, I ask for the voices of those who have cursed me, scarred into my memory, keeping me shackled by their words, to be erased and for You to grant me the ability to not give these any volume. I overheard a lot of things said about me when I was little and it hurt my heart. I heard horrible things said of me.

"These kept me from feeling I was capable or deserving of good things or blessings from You, Lord. These voices came from my family, those closest to me, and even my friends. I grew up with being gauged and measured for my failures and successes. I will now finally forgive myself. I am sorry that I questioned Your craftsmanship, Lord. I am sorry I questioned Your plans. I am sorry..."

Jesus looked into my eyes and then gently hugged me.

Jesus: "Oh Erin, all things done or said of you shaped you and made it so you are here with Me today. I know you did not accomplish what the world expected. You instead accomplished something so unique, so rare and so beautiful. Do you know what that is?"

Me: "You, Lord?"

Jesus: "Well, thank you, but this is not what I am referring to. It is that you have continually pressed into Me and the Kingdom of God. You realized your low position, but you still made your case. You quoted Scripture. You gave historical accounts. You said 'why not me?' Well, My Father has found your case compelling. He chose you before you were even born. While the journey was long and difficult, I was with you through it all. I never left you. "Erin, your life is not your own. You sought Me with your whole heart and there you were found by Me. You never stopped. You believed. When your heart raced and even stopped, you still believed and never fell out of love with Me. While you may have been upset at Me quite a few times, you still remained with Me. You lost yourself. You lost your ambitions and your pride. You lost your material wealth. You lost your worldly status. Erin, you did all of this for Me."

Me: "It is hard to believe that I did all of that."

Jesus: "Well, you did and I witnessed it. I was there. Release yourself now, Erin. When I come for My Bride, I do not want to find you chained to the door with only you having the key. I do not want to find any of My Bride like this. Who can then loosen you but you? Erin, it is time to forgive yourself."

Me: "Yes, Lord, I want to be free. Please take the keys. I think there are multiple chains and locks. I want to be free. I want to know that I am good enough. I am a child of God. I was created by the Potter's Hands."

Jesus: "Your name is written on the palm of My hand. Erin, I declare you free this day."

I suddenly felt lighter as I was writing this down.

Me: "What comes next, Lord?"

Jesus: "Well, anything is possible." He smiled and laughed.

Me: "Lord, do you mean that, this whole time, I could have..."

He gently stopped me. I looked into His eyes and felt such comfort.

Jesus: "Please stop, Erin. You were about to condemn yourself with your lips."

Me: "Yes, I was." Now laughing. "Do You mean for eternity?" I was just kidding.

Jesus: Laughing. "No, Erin, not for eternity. Now, the enemy does not want God's children roaming around free from chains, loosened by Heaven. Erin, you will be like the sons of Jacob and the enemy will be unable to hold you down. Now, Erin, rejoice! I love you. I delight in you. I did a great work in you."

Me: "Thank You, Lord. You are my Treasure. You are my Priceless Pearl. My heart is filled with love for You."

Jesus: "Come, we have much to do. Are you ready for what I will do next?"

Me: "Could I have some hints as to what this will all be like?"

Jesus: "Yes, Erin. I am going to..."

He then paused, smiled at me and gestured for me to finish the sentence with Him. I knew just what to say. We spoke the words out together in perfect unity.

Jesus & Erin at the same time: "...do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told."

Me: Hugging Him. "Oh Lord, thank You for cheering me up!"

Jesus: "You are loved, Erin. My promises are true." He smiled.

Final note: I felt strongly that we need to forgive ourselves now. Do not wait. Do not hold yourself hostage any longer. This is the enemy's desire, not God's. If you believe that you have done something so bad that it can't be released, you must let go of this. The enemy wants you to believe that what you did was unforgivable. Whatever it is that you can't forgive yourself on, please change your mindset now. It is time to be set free.

Dream 381 – Jesus and the Year of the Rat

Received Monday, January 27, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You! Thank You for another day here. Thank You for all You do for us. Father, I really need Your help here. A few of my family recently went on an extreme fast to press into You more. There were four of us in our family that did this. Each of our fasts were slightly different:

- Our fast started at 8:00pm EST, January 23, 2020, right after we finished eating my birthday cake
- We then broke our fast last night, January 26, 2020, at 8:00pm EST, exactly 72 hours to the minute
- My husband stopped all eating and drinking.
- My oldest son and my daughter stopped all eating and drinking. Other than watching a bit of television, they also stopped using all technology. My daughter is also in the process of not using social media for a month
- Other than a minimal amount of bread and water that I need for taking my medications, I stopped all eating and drinking. I also stopped using most technology other than limited television (as did my husband)

Please note that the main reason we are outlining our fast in detail is because Jesus later talks about our fast in this dream. It should also be noted that everyone who fasted did so voluntarily and are all over age 18.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was right in front of me. He was standing next to His horse. He smiled at me as I reached up and hugged Him.

Me: "I love You so much, Lord!"

Jesus: Smiling. "I love you too. I am glad you came."

His horse moved his nose toward me and gently nudged me. I reached over and hugged him too.

Me: "Lord, what is Your horse's name?"

Jesus: "It is a special word meaning faithful and true. You have heard this before."

Me: "I have? Is it 'Amen'?"

Jesus: "Hmm, well, similar. It is a name which means faithful enduring friend and witness to truth. I have given you a similar name here."

Me: "Can I know it?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes. You will have your new name here as it is written. Your name is written on the palm of My hand."

Me: "Is Your horse's name 'Emeth'?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Do you ever stop in your quest for answers, My sparrow warrior inquisitor? Well, yes, very similar. However, and more important than his name right now, what is in My hand right now?"

He raised the reins to His horse with His left hand. I began to cry.

Me: "The reins. Oh Lord, I had hoped for answers. I had hoped for healing." My lips began to quiver. "My heart is breaking, Lord. Some of my dreams are about the world's wickedness right now and it sickens me. Lord, these dreams sicken me."

Jesus: "I know that this was a difficult fast for you, your husband and your children. I will honor this. My promises are true, Erin. I will soon turn your mourning into dancing. Your grief will only be for those who do not stand on truth and are deceived. You are beginning to understand that their difficult road is soon to come. You have seen this in your dreams. Now, how do you feel today?"

Me: "Strengthened again. I had a good night's sleep. While I actually feel quite good, I was really hoping for..."

Jesus: "Erin, I know that you were looking for an experience like you had years ago. However, understand that I am always here with you now. I speak to you. I have a relationship with you as My Bride. I trust you. Now, I sent angels to speak to you years ago. While you are aware of two encounters, there were more. I then honored your extreme distress after your fast. I awoke you by My voice and said 'Erin, get up, drink.'

"I then sent a vision to you as if you were surrounded by it. You were then visited by My Two Witnesses. They told you what must occur before you could be used for greater service, the service I have called you for. Remember, to whom much is given, much is expected. I have called others also throughout history. I do so in the manner I choose, that which is best for circumstances which was and is and is to come.

"In order for Me to get you to where you are now, you had to complete the 'was' portion. When I called you, I knew that I was not calling a priest or scholar. Erin, I knew that I was not calling a masterful preacher or a professional writer and scribe. I instead called a broken sparrow, a woman after My heart. I called a woman who hates injustice and stands up for those who have no voice.

"However, and even more importantly, you have sacrificed all of your personal ambitions to follow Me. You did this not knowing where I would take you, but still trusting in Me fully to do a good thing. This is love in a rare sense. As far as the world is concerned, they do not see you as blessed by Me. In fact, the world looks at your circumstances and scoffs and laughs. "However, Erin, I am here with you. I tell you the truth...there is no wealthier woman than the woman who has found Me and has been found by Me. You have fought through the thickets of worldly thorns to find Me. Well, here I am, Erin! I have given you a key to unlock even greater mysteries."

He put His right hand up and opened it so that I could see the palm of His hand. There on the palm of His hand was an illuminated key. However, it was not loose, but formed a part of His hand. While indescribable, I will try my best to describe this using earthly terms. It was as if He had a key tattooed on His hand where the ink was pure illumination.

Jesus: "Come and take My hand, Erin. While your presence will bring comfort to those that I send you to, it will not always be that way. Even though your name means peace, your presence will instead bring fear to the enemy. This is because the enemy will know that I am with you. The enemy will also know that they will be forced to correct with truth all of the lies that they have spewed forth.

"People will either be for Me or against Me. Those who are for Me will take comfort as they will know that I have sent help from My Sanctuary and that I am here in the midst of you. See, I unlocked those in Hades and those Satan claimed he had. He does not have the final word. I hold these reins. He holds many as prisoners as they believe his lies that I do not see them or that I do not care about them.

"He whispers to them...'Yes, Jesus died and rose. Yes, He even appeared a few times. However, He then just left. While His disciples then did some minor miracles in His image, they then met a horrible fate because Jesus abandoned them. Why would anyone want to follow a God like this?' Erin, this is one of the enemy's favorite lies."

Me: "Yes, Lord. This is exactly what the enemy has been doing for 2000 years."

Jesus: "Well, he has actually been doing this much longer. However, you are right that he has had 2000 years here to change the narrative for those who do not seek Me. Still, My Word remains true even when it was whittled down. He has changed times, calendars and seasons. He has removed certain Holy Days dedicated to Me. He has raised up counterfeits. His ways are exhausting to so many of you there."

Me: "You are right, Lord, as You always are. It is confusing! Calendars, Sabbath days, feasts...all of it can be quite confusing."

Jesus: Laughing. "Well, Heaven is not amused by the enemy. God's calendar remains steadfast and unchanging. The enemy does not control signs in the moon. The enemy does not control signs in the stars. The enemy does not control events which occur due to My Father's orders from Heaven. The enemy has no control over any of these. However, there is a war being waged in the heavens above you right now.

"This war is about erasing truth, history and the hope of Heaven, the place that I have prepared for those that I have called. Now, during your fast, you took a break from your (electronic) devices. These are instruments used for both good and evil. While it appears that evil is prevailing right now, this will only continue to be for a short time. Remember that I still have these." He held up the reins to His horse.

"Now, very few people go directly to My Word anymore. They instead rely on false information, false news and false narratives. Among so many other things, the enemy is also guilty of 'omission'. He is continuously leaving a portion of the story out or removing it completely in order to change the way an event is seen. You are wise to weigh carefully the information that you read.

"Now, many have been captivated, manipulated and deceived by false promises. These seek to steal, kill and trap, understand? This can cause many to sacrifice their own lives in the process. However, I am here. Satan does not have the final say, I do. I Am Who I say I Am and it is I Who holds the keys."

Me: "This is so heartbreaking as the veil of darkness has spread throughout the land. Lord, are Your angels fighting and standing against them?"

Jesus: "Using a term used in warfare, they are 'holding the line'. This means that the enemy is being kept from advancing. Permission was granted just over seven years ago for the beginning of the birth pangs (December 23, 2012). There has been a steady increase in trouble ever since.

"As this evil continues to permeate the lands, so too does it manifest in the natural. To those I have given eyes to see and ears to hear, let him come out and understand what is before you. The angels have weighed and measured the lands. The portions have been found to be uneven. Erin, I am about to send My Remnant."

Me: "Oh Lord, this is so exciting!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, but this excitement is not just there on Earth. It is also this way in Heaven. Many who have been received in Heaven, those who lay at the Altar of God day and night, those who have suffered because they stood for truth, are pleading and asking 'when?'. So, little sparrow, you are not alone. In addition, there are saints who have gone before you who intercede for you and do not stop.

"All here in Heaven have now come to know that the times of the prophets are coming and have come. One key I will give you is this...observe a man and his intentions by his name sake. There is wisdom here. You were born 'Erin', which means 'peace'. However, it also means 'high mountain'. Your last name, by birth, is 'Andrews'. This means 'warrior', but, more specifically, 'manly warrior'."

He smiled and nudged me as He said the last two words as He knows that I am anything but 'manly'.

Me: "Hmm, I didn't know about the 'warrior' part or the 'high mountain' part."

Jesus: "There is always something in a name. These are also important to God, My Father. While much more about names will be revealed to all of you very soon, I will tell you in advance that the enemy is working very hard to find that which God has concealed...My Remnant!" He smiled. "The enemy is currently confused as to exactly who are in the Lost Tribes. Who do you think they are?"

Me: Smiling. "I believe that the Lost Tribes did not just go to Africa. I believe they were scattered into all seven continents. Hmm, I guess I really don't know, Lord."

Jesus: "A mystery for now. Just know that they were scattered and concealed. Some were even hidden in plain sight. The enemy has tried to wipe them off the face of the Earth many times. The enemy is also trying to overtake Jerusalem again. However, I prevail as My Words are true and I hold these..." He held up the reins to His horse. "...as well as the key over life and death." He showed me the illuminated key on the palm of His hand again.

"Now, you have many questions to bring before Me. You have requests and petitions. My promises hold true. I will do everything I have promised and much more. I know that you have grown weary as your troubles do not seem to stop and the doors you had hoped for have not opened for you. However, you are not to worry as I am with you. I have not forgotten you.

"Erin, your prayers are not delayed from being answered. You are not being rebuked. You are not being punished for sins. Please be encouraged as the times you have been praying for have come at the proper time. You have seen the signs in the Heavens and on Earth. Nothing is far from you."

Me: "Lord, You gave me the sign of the corona around the sun on January 18, 2020, followed by several other signs. This makes me believe that the dream You gave me several years ago about the ring You held up over the 'Ring of Fire' was not just for earthquakes and volcanoes, but also for the 'Corona Virus'.

"Lord, this virus is spreading rapidly and seems to also be forming a ring. I drew these obvious conclusions years ago and looked for only those signs of earthquakes and volcanoes. I realize now that this could be much more than this. This sign of the Rainbow Corona we saw around the sun is also called the 22-degree corona. Seems like these things are all adding up to now."

Jesus: Smiling. "Erin, you are telling the truth here. Now, are My signs coincidences or are they something else?"

Me: "Well, You don't do anything randomly...nothing. Lord, please protect the Chinese people from the virus."

Jesus: "Erin, when looking to understand My ways, you recognize that My ways are higher, agreed?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, of course."

Jesus: "So then, why would I allow this? What is the root cause? While you can research this, it is simple. What did this also cause?"

Me: "Fear and the canceling of their festival."

Jesus: "Interesting. I don't see a problem with canceling a festival that honors rats that spread diseases."

Me: "Oh wow, that is simple. This seems so obvious to me now."

Jesus: "Erin, do you remember the dream I gave you two nights ago?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. It was just downloaded to me by You to refresh my memory..."

Sub-dream description begins...

I saw several very large pregnant rats consuming unclean things. Most of them were also eating the carcass of a huge rotting pig. There were also people there eating this same rotting pig with these rats. The rats then boarded various methods of transportation. They left excrement everywhere they went. Some of the rats then went onto various ships and gave birth to many smaller rats. These rats soon grew. They then continued to scatter all over the place.

Sub-dream description over...

Note: The Chinese Year of the Pig just ended, ushering in the Chinese Year of the Rat.

Me: "Lord, this dream was terrible. What did it mean?"

Jesus: "It takes the Glory of God to conceal a matter and the honor of kings to search it out. I will not let My people, those I love, those who have had to hide My Word of Truth, be subject to these festivals. My Bride is also there. I will send punishment upon the lands, those who have punished My people. The enemy will not prevail."

Me: "Lord, this is not like you! You sound so..."

Jesus: "Angry? Yes, Erin, I am angry. How long will My people continue to bow to Baal worship? How many children are sacrificed to this altar daily?"

Me: "Lord, I do not know. I am sorry."

Jesus: "Erin, I am not an idle God. I am active. I send signs, wonders and miracles. I send love letters and gifts, all ahead of My coming. I will now even send more. I will send more so that they will see that I am not passive. I am present, Erin, and even in the midst of them."

Me: Hugging Him. "Oh Lord, You are loved by so many of us. Please use us. Please call us soon."

Jesus: Smiling. "Okay, Erin, I will. Now, I am about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told." He smiled again as He gently nudged me.

Me: I was so excited. "I can't wait, Lord. I love You!"

Jesus: "I love you, Erin!"

Dream 382 – God, Uriel & Groundhog Day

Received Sunday, February 2, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Today is Groundhog Day. Thank You for giving me one more day. Thank You, thank You, thank You! Today is also a 'Palindrome Day', meaning that today's date is the same backward as it is forward. That is, February 2, 2020 = 02-02-2020 = 02022020 and is the same forwards and backwards. The fact that today is both Groundhog Day and a Palindrome Day makes me smile as I had used the 'Groundhog Day' term with You recently in a personal dream...

Note: What do I mean when I use the term 'Groundhog Day' as an expression? It means that each day seems the same, much like in the movie Groundhog Day. Groundhog Day is a 1993 fantasy comedy film starring Bill Murray as a TV Weatherman named Phil. When covering the annual Groundhog Day event, Phil gets caught in a time loop, repeatedly reliving the same day of Groundhog Day. However, what makes this particularly funny is that he is the only one who knows that the day is being relived. While I quite like this movie, I should warn you that there are a couple of scenes that kids should be refrained from watching.

Oh Father, I feel as if there is nothing else I can do...no sacrifice I could make, no time I could spend, no testimony I could give and no pages I could write...to thank You adequately. I have no gifts to give that would be valuable to You except my heart.

Well, You now have my heart. So, how do I tell my story? How do I shorten these pages of all You have done? I can't. I can't. All I can do each day is come to You willing to receive anything You choose to give me. Sometimes I am quiet and I wait in silence until You call me. Sometimes the silence is broken when I take seeds out to the birds and little animals like I did earlier this morning.

When it snows, the landscape is quiet. Flurries have been falling for twelve hours even though there was no forecast of accumulation. As I spread seeds, I suddenly heard a little deer. I must have startled him as he started running through the trees. It was the little guy I have been calling 'Steve'. He has been hanging around our place for some time now and his mother is nowhere to be found.

As I began to come to the end of my seed supply, a flurry of activity began. It went from complete silence to many different sounds. There were grey squirrels, red squirrels, Hairy Woodpeckers, Downy Woodpeckers, Blue Jays, chickadees and Society Finches. They all seemed to come to life with the sound of seeds. It was funny. After experiencing this beauty, and with the house asleep, I went to prayer.

As I sat in my devotional chair, I welled up with gratitude for such a safe place. While we are in uncertain times, at least we are in a safe home. Each day to me can sometimes feel like 'Groundhog Day'. It is the same routine unless my pain is just too great for normal goals. Unfortunately, these days seem to now come quite often. In this last week, I have also had troubles with my sleep.

It also seems that I am often restless and can't get comfortable. My stomach then turns, either from an over abundance of bile or from maxing out on my pain threshold. Sometimes both. It seems as if I have done a lot of battles since January 22, 2020 and this does not help my situation. Some of these are unreasonable battles and they have not stopped. They also do not appear to be ending either.

I take comfort in Your Word, Father. You tell us there that, 'in our weakness, You are made strong.' Your power then shines in our inabilities. Father, please strengthen us physically for these battles. These battles are Yours. Please take our bodies and prepare them adequately for battles. As for me, and as it stands right now, You have rendered my heart 'able', but my body 'dis-abled'. Please heal me by Your power, Lord. Please heal my family and friends so that we are all able to battle!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up on the path in the Garden of God. I looked ahead to my right and there was the beautiful pond with the fountain. Instead of going to sit by the pond, I decided to go to the Bulletin Board. There were no signs on the board today. I had hoped. I turned toward the door. Before I could knock, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and it was Uriel on his horse. As he dismounted his horse, I noticed that he had his full armor on.

Uriel: "I was to meet you sooner, but our army was held up in battles over seven regions. Now, God requests your presence."

Me: "Uriel, are you okay?"

Uriel: "We are the Army of God. The enemy has limited resources compared to those we possess. God has granted us the abilities to know the enemy and his army. This means we also know his every move. The enemy makes advances off of old battlefield history. He studies the past to gain his knowledge for current battles. In contrast, God's Army already knows the enemy's plans and that he is defeated.

"This does not mean that the battle is easy for us. It is not. Delays are also in God's plan and work together for the good of those He loves and has called. You have been under attack because the enemy wants you destroyed by any means possible. However, please know this...God is in complete control. He records the lies spoken about you. These will not prevail.

"Be encouraged to know that we have been holding the line until we are called to advance. God has not yet begun the next stage of this fight. We are told to stand and not advance until He gives us directives to. When He does this, you will witness God's miracles unfold. You will not just see this with your eyes though...you will also be a part of this. The wisdom God has granted you is the beginning of knowledge. Erin, all of this is to prepare your mind for the battle.

"If your enemies are advancing using old patterns, old techniques and old weapons, you can then know precisely what will happen next to head them off. You have been given this ability from God. This is the beginning. Study these things and write them down. You will then understand all that is occurring. Do not worry though as you will be successful in all that you do. This is because God is with you. Hold your line!

"Remember that God will do all that He has promised. While there may be delays, God never delays as all is within His power. While these 'delays' are hard for you to understand now, you will understand this after you have been changed. Just know that God always comes at the proper and appointed time. God is no respecter of a man's hours, but He sees the hearts of those He loves. He sees your tears. He will therefore not delay. Now, God requests your presence."

Uriel placed salve in my eyes. He then brought me into God's Throne Room. I could hear the choir of heavenly hosts singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy'! I dropped to my knees and wept.

God: "Erin, rise to your feet before Me."

God gave me the strength to do so as I am normally unable to rise without Uriel's assistance.

Me: In shock, but grateful in His presence. "Thank You, Father."

God: "I Am your God. I Am the Great I Am. I Am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. I created you. Yes, it is I Who knitted you in your mother's womb. I have taken you on a long journey. It started when you were thirty years old. I called you. I refined and shaped you into a child after My Own Heart. Like a baby bird, I found you.

"I handfed you and I prepared a Nest for you at My Altar. Here, you could raise your young and be close to Me. I have never forsaken you. Although at times you thought yourself deserted and forgotten with your young, and even prepared to die when you became sick, you were always protected. Although you witnessed troubles for your children at the hands of your enemy, they too were always protected by Me.

"Though all of this was hard for you to see, these battles strengthened your children and turned their hearts also to Me as their Father. Erin, I love you and I am here. I am not finished. I have you. Here at My Altar, there are other's Nests, a multitude of those I have raised by hand and fed. These are also protected. For what purpose do you ask? Well, for something I have planned since the beginning.

"As for those the world has disqualified, I have found them worthy. I have raised them and soon, very soon, you will understand what I have done. Now, rise up, child, and know that I Am God. I Am your Father, the Creator and Lover of your soul. Do not worry as I am always with you."

Just then, Uriel reached for my hand. I was in tears.

Me: "I love You, Hayah! I love You, Father God!"

God: "I know, Erin! I love you too! It took awhile for you to turn to Me and see that I am good. Now, rejoice, Erin, as you, your family and your friends will soon fly as eagles!"

Uriel took me outside of God's Door.

Uriel: "Erin, God has found favor in you, your family and your friends. Do not worry as He has all of you."

Me: "When? When will this all happen? Many of us are anxiously waiting now as we have been waiting for a very long time. Oh Uriel, when? When will this finally all begin?"

Uriel mounted his horse and turned to go. He looked back at me. While he was as serious looking as ever, he was also smiling at me...

Uriel: "Soon!"

After saying this, he was gone in an instant.

Dream over...

Dream 383 – Jesus and the First Three Bridges

Received Friday, February 7, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

I am thankful that I am able to come to You in truth and that You accept me as I am. I had something happen to me a few weeks ago and a series of dreams then followed. This helped me realize that I had not forgiven myself for my mistakes from years ago. I have looked backwards at times and wondered if my journey of troubles would have been shortened had I just made some personal changes.

Father, if I would have had Godly understanding from the Holy Spirit, perhaps I would have made better decisions. I am now realizing that I had left something open, an open door, on my first, second and third bridges. In one of these dreams...

Sub-dream 1 "A Cold Draft" begins...

I felt a very cold draft of air on my back. It was coming from behind me. It was nagging on me. I looked everywhere to find out where the cold was coming from, but I was unable find it.

Sub-dream 1 over...

In the natural, I have a large lump on my back. The lump is about the size of a baseball. It is a hernia that has pushed out between my ribcage. The area above it has been so painful to touch that it is even difficult to sit and be comfortable at times. Father, I am struggling because You revealed to me what I need to do in a dream last night...

Sub-dream 2 "A Sad Day as a Child" begins...

I was back in my small home in Nevada. It was only about 540 square feet. I was about 4.5 years old again. I could see people gathering in the living room. They were talking about me, saying that I hear and see everything and that I know too much. They were laughing about me. I crawled up the stairs to my little bunkbed. Once alone, I began to hurt. I felt hurt that my parents would say such hurtful things about me. Despite this, I loved my mom. She sewed my clothes.

Sub-dream 2 over...

I remember being sent to the yard or down the street to the corner market when my mom was busy. This continued for many years. We could never go to babysitters or relatives' homes because mom was worried that I would tell people what I saw. They said hateful things about me that were not true. When I cried, they would tell me to stop. All of this made me feel 'inconvenient'.

While there were many other things that happened to me as a child that made me feel this way, I will not be going into this in detail. These things included denial of medical care, being stuck in awkward spaces, being around loud music and so many other things. This was no way for a young child to be brought up. While this helped to make me the way I am now, it was still painful.

Oh Father, I need help. I realize that I am still holding bitterness towards people who misbehave and then blame it on their addictions. This poor behavior would often lead to dangerous situations, but they just couldn't see it. The addictions would also make their tongues loose and I would hear terrible things be said about me and others. Father, what has happened? Why can I not just stop all of this? Please help me.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was standing across the field at the base of a bridge. I was up in the vineyard. I saw Him wave to me in the distance for me to meet Him. I began to run towards Him. Before I could go too far, something grabbed me from behind and put my back flat on the ground. This did not hurt at all and I laid there laughing. Just then, Jesus was kneeling down next to me to help me stand up.

Me: "Lord, what happened?"

Jesus: Smiling. "You became caught on a branch."

Me: "It drew me backwards! To me, I was running so fast that I should have had enough momentum to pull the branch off." I looked at the branch and it looked fine. I put my head in my hands and wept. "Lord, please help me. Please take me across this beautiful bridge into God's Garden."

Jesus: Hugging me. "Look around you. Look at your fields, your vines and your orchards."

As I looked at them, they were all growing supernaturally fast.

Me: "It is hard to believe that this field is the same one that barely had any growth not that long ago."

Jesus: Smiling. "Well, they are. Now, before I take you over this lovely bridge, it is time for us to first go backwards. Come."

He reached for my hand and we walked to the top of the hill in the orchard. When I looked into the distance, I could see many hills, valleys, rivers and bridges. We were standing on the closest bridge. The land in the distance was thick wilderness. It was an ungroomed landscape. The land slightly closer was a parched and dry landscape. There was then a field with no crops at all. There was barely any fruit and whatever was there was rotten. None of these fields 'looked happy'.

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. How did I miss this?"

Jesus: "Well, you didn't. You remembered at the right time, Erin. There are no accidents. Come, let's go to the first bridge."

He squeezed my hand and we were instantly there. I immediately felt so much sorrow. I saw things that I remembered. I hugged the Lord as I cried. This bridge was stone. It was heavy and full of moss. The river below it raged, bubbled and foamed. I had no choice but to use this bridge. The bridge itself had an open railing. The path was wet and slippery. The stones were randomly raised in spots and it was easy to trip.

Me: "Lord, how did I make it across this bridge?"

Jesus: "You could not have done this on your own. Erin, I was there. I walked you across. You then learned to walk across using your feet. I was still there though. I saw everything. Now, we must shut down the enemy's abilities to call you back here. You are free. Sheep, hear My Voice and follow me. The evil enemy desires to drag My sheep backwards. He is behind you. He whispers in your ears and calls you back. Now, let's remove this. Let's bring this down."

Me: "But, Lord, is this not a part of who I am?"

Jesus: "Erin, your life is recorded in your book, the story that I have created, now My story. You are not defined by this bridge. This bridge is not you, Erin. You crossed over this bridge. The bridge was part of your journey, your path to find Me. You were found by Me here. However, it began even earlier than this."

Me: "How could this begin before my first bridge?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Come!"

He reached for my hand and we were instantly at the mountain north of us. God was there. I saw God creating me. While He was also knitting me in my mother's womb, I was also a child before God and a citizen of Heaven. I was there with an army. We were all like children in this army. God was talking to us about our lives that were soon to come.

Jesus: "This is a good place, but also a mystery!"

Me: "I have seen this mountain before. I recognize this as the same mountain that I had met Elijah and Enoch almost twenty years ago (on February 23, 2000)."

Jesus: "Your life did not begin your troubles. Your troubles began at your birth."

Me: "But why, Lord?"

Jesus: "Erin, there is so much more to your lives than what you see on the surface. You were thrust into battle from the very beginning. Although you may not see it this way, you were called and it is an honor." He smiled.

"Erin, you are wanted. Now, let's tear down these bridges." We were immediately back at the Stone Bridge. "Erin, how would you like to do this?"

Me: "Lord, let's crush it. Let's kill those voices and stop the lies. Please help me close this door. Better yet, create a prison cell for these lies out of the stones. Let's break rock, Lord."

He reached for my hand. I suddenly could hear familiar voices calling out to me. I then saw a 3D reel, similar to an old movie playing back scenes. It had a 'ghostly' quality to it.

Jesus: Laughing. "Erin, I am here. It is time to command victory over this."

Me: "How?"

Jesus: Pointing to my hand. "I am here with you. Take this down."

As He said this, I began to hear things that I remembered. My fist clenched and I slammed it down on the railing of stone. The bridge instantly started to crumble. I could hear screams. Jesus removed all of it in an instant. The bridge was gone.

Jesus then moved His hand and the stones formed a tomb in the raging river. I then saw several things crawling into the tomb. With a wave of His hand, the water calmed and the tomb was sealed. As He did this, the land around us sprouted. It was now Heavenly.

Me: "Wow, I wish I had begun my life with this Heavenly atmosphere instead."

Jesus: "Erin, you needed to address what happened to you and face your accusers. This no longer has any power over you at all. However, we still have two more bridges to take out. Come."

When we came up to the second bridge, it looked old and rickety. The wood it was made of was rotting. The entire bridge looked unstable and was leaning left. There were holes in the wood. Worms and other things were eating away at it. There was once again a raging river. The water was black. I began to cry at the sight of this. This was oh so painful for me. It was awful.

Me: "I am not sure how I made it across this bridge."

Jesus: "Well, you did not make it 'on your own'. Yet again, I was with you, as always. Erin, I was with you. I carried you across this one."

As we stood on the bank, I finally noticed that a very large serpent had coiled itself around the wooden bridge. The scales of the snake blended in perfectly with the rotting wood. They were almost the same color. I also noticed there were hands sticking up through the holes. I saw other things as well. The serpent then began to speak in human form. He was lying to me about who I was in Jesus.

Me: "Lord, I hate this."

Jesus: Smiling. "No worries, Erin, I have this one."

While hard to describe, the snake looked shocked that Jesus was going to handle him personally. The snake tried to bargain with Jesus at the same time as he was trying to get away. In his panic, the snake had lodged his body in a hole in one of the planks. His head was sticking out. Using His foot, Jesus stomped on the serpent's head and crushed it. The hands that were sticking out instantly disappeared.

Jesus: "There, done! Now, how would you like to remove this second bridge?"

Me: "Fire! There is nothing salvageable here. Everything is unclean."

Jesus: "Call it down. Call fire down. Go ahead, Erin!"

Me: I was so excited! "Father, burn up this bridge."

Just then, a pillar of fire came down from Heaven. In an instant, the bridge and the body of the serpent were gone. Jesus then dipped His finger in the water and the water became clear. The land was soon sprouting with flowers, including sweet peas and snap dragons. There were also some lovely vines.

Me: Crying. "Lord, there are so many flowers here. I notice that they are all of my grandmother's favorites. Thank You! My grandmother died at the end of this second bridge. So did my stepdad."

Jesus: "Erin, only flowers and beautiful water are coming from here now. There is peace. Erin, there is now peace. Now one last bridge, the third bridge."

He once again reached for my hand and we were instantly at the third bridge. It was transparent. It was a bridge made out of glass. My talents, my hopes and my dreams were all here for the world to see. However, I was unsettled about this as the glass was extremely thin. There was a stream and the water was hot on one side, but frozen on the other side. I was confused by this.

Me: "What am I seeing here? This is hard, Lord. I have now dealt with the other two bridges, but it is now time to deal with the third one."

Jesus: "All you thought you knew, all you had prepared for, was across this bridge. You learned what the other side was capable of. You saw true evil in the hearts of man. All of your dreams were targeted here. The plan was for your exposure, your destruction and your death. You went deeper inward.

"You loathed yourself. You hated yourself. The enemy convinced you that you were even worse than you imagined. Evil things were done to you by people you had trusted. You then began to punish yourself using mirrors, starvation and the physical punishment of extreme exercise."

As I looked at the bridge, I saw the image of a ghost of my former self. I was deep into a horrible cycle of destruction.

Me: Crying. "Lord, how did I make it? I should have died here. What was wrong with me?"

Jesus: "You were still carrying your first two bridges on your back."

Just then, I saw myself dragging the first two bridges. It was such a strain. All of the serpents, reptiles and people who harmed me were all on my shoulders.

Jesus: "I know what you are thinking... 'Why did He not show me this before?'"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I thought I was finished. I thought I was done. Father, I thought that I had crossed these bridges out, never to look back. I don't like these bridges."

Jesus: "Erin, the strongholds come from this. They still punished you. They used an open wound."

Me: "Lord, I repent."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, you have already repented. They came via a sneak attack. They want you to remain as a victim, wounded and ineffective. They want you to be angry, yet still accepting of your fate. I instead call you to victory. Erin, I bring you forward. I call out for you and you follow. The enemy wants you to be weak. You can then be a victim of his lies there, weakening you further. If you can remain in his grips, you will remain in sorrow while you wait on Me. I want you to instead break this off. Erin, embrace the win!" He smiled as He nudged me.

Me: Laughing. "Hey, that is what my golf coach used to say."

Jesus: "The enemy has fought you relentlessly. He never sleeps. He has plotted your demise in so many different ways. You had questions as to why you were either loved or hated by various people. There were very few in between. However, you should know that this polarity is common among those I have called to do My Will.

"When looking back, you, your children and your friends, along with many others, will see that this was, and is, the case. However, you are not to worry. You are to now rise up, Erin. I have set you free. You are free indeed. I am with you. You will be successful in all you do. Nothing will come against you with success. Now, rise up and shatter this bridge."

He handed me a large rock. As I approached my third bridge, I could see my golf tournaments, my dance and my art. These were all things I was good at that I am no longer able to do. I could see the enemy whispering in my ears. I could hear my parents saying negative things in my ears. I then saw myself very thin, unhealthily so.

I took the rock and hurled it toward the bridge with super human strength. I heard a high-pitched scream, like a siren, as the rock hit. At first, there were just some small stress fractures in the glass. However, after just a few seconds, I heard the loud sound of cracking. I heard deep moans as the entire bridge shattered.

The glass shards then hit different sides of the river, either the extremely hot side or the extremely cold side. Jesus then put His finger into the water and it immediately turned crystal clear and calm. All around me was the most beautiful golf course I had ever seen in my life. I put my head in my hands and wept.

Me: "Oh Lord, I miss doing the things that I loved. I had so much fun before it was all destroyed."

Jesus reached into the water and pulled out a golf ball. It was made up of the glass from the bridge. He handed it to me.

Jesus: "You are free, Erin. This is yours. All of this, everywhere your eyes can see, is yours. Not only will you golf, but you will also dance and paint, and so many other things. Do all of this..." He smiled as He nudged me. "...but still remember Me."

Me: "Thank You, Lord. Thank You."

Jesus: "Now, let us put all of this behind you."

Me: "Lord, should I never talk about these three bridges again?"

Jesus: "Erin, this is My Story, written on the tablet of your heart. It is a riveting story, one in which you should share. You can help others. Now, you are free from the chains the enemy bound you to. The lies were heavy as you still believed what was said of you from those you loved and trusted. This is why I started you out showing you the dragons and the book of lies on the ladder.

"You needed to remove these to continue your journey to Me. You were willing to do whatever it took to come to Me, to know Me and to love Me. Forsaking all else, you trusted Me. It has been more than seven years and you are still here." He smiled. "Since you now understand whatever it takes, nothing will keep you from My love and favor.

"I am with you. No thing, nothing, will prevail against you. You have saints here in Heaven who come to the Courts of God daily to plead your case. Some do this day and night. There is a great celebration in Heaven today because of all of this. One day, Erin, one day you will know. However, for now, we still have some things to prepare. So, are you ready?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I was born ready on God's Mountain. You were there."

Jesus: Smiling and laughing. "Very wise, Erin. I am with you. I love you, Erin. I will provide for you. I will help you. I will send help concerning you and to guard you in all of your ways. Now, rejoice, as the rain has fallen. The sun will soon shine again. There is the promise of spring." He hugged me. "Now, let's go to the 'Fun Bridge', the bridge to Heaven and Earth." Dream over...

Dream 384 – Jesus and the Children at the Potter’s House

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for being so kind and gentle! Thank You for delighting in us and loving us. I thank You more than anything for creating us. You love Your work, including creating new things in us. I am sorry that I have struggled and fought you at times during the course of my life. While I don't have to fully understand everything, I am thankful that You always answer my questions that come from my heart when they prove beneficial.

Oh Lord, thank You for always being consistent. This makes me rest in Your promises that You will do all of this on Your perfect timing. Please forgive me when I mistrust Your plan and think of You as being in the same category as those I know that never kept their promises. I apologize for sometimes putting You on the same level as the world even though I know that You are over all things.

Oh Father, I realize that, at times, I have also wrongly accused You of unfairly punishing me and my children. I did this because I knew You could help us, but You weren't...or so I thought. I was unsatisfied with my path and I pleaded my own case in Your Courts that my punishment was too severe. I did this out of a lack of understanding because I was scared and desperate and couldn't hear from You as a result.

In the end, I falsely accused You of hurting me quite a few times. If only I understood back then that You were doing this because You were doing something amazing in me. These pages I write are proof. My pen is proof of this. I know it is proof because, as I have said many times, I don't even like writing. I would much rather paint!

So, Father, I am sorry, so sorry. I haven't fully trusted You because, at times when I do not feel like I am hearing from You fast enough, I worry and become fearful. Please, Father, I never want You to leave me. It is just that I never quite got it that You are always working even when I don't see it. You are always working all things together for our good.

You did this with our fast, even though it started off with immediate trouble. While nothing had happened as we had hoped or expected at first, it ended up even better than we had hoped. For my daughter, our prayers for her were answered and everything has been restored to how it had been. She is happy again.

For my older son, this has been slower and a struggle, something we face together day by day. While he has not been fully restored, his depression is lifting more and more as time goes by. He is back to laughing and smiling. I didn't realize how much I missed him doing this until he stopped and started again. Thank You, Lord, for giving me a greater appreciation for my son's humor.

As for myself and my husband, it feels as if the doors are still closed. The revelation of these former things has caused me to face them head on. It has been painful opening and readdressing hidden compartments. Hidden there are issues that I needed to face, but had not really confronted. When I was battered by a torrent of nightmares, You gently reached for my hand and told me, 'Erin, rise up, stand to your feet!'

Father, the hidden memories of my past have been bubbling up to the forefront of my thoughts and dreams this last year and a half, but even longer than that really. However, our fast brought these up front and center. I have been faced with barriers and enemy blockades down here. In Heaven, I am free. I am free to go to You whenever You call me or whenever I need Your help. No matter what, You are always here.

Father, You have continued to fulfill all of Your promises. You have never failed, and I mean NEVER failed. You have never failed Your children, not once. We have never gone hungry. We have never been without shelter. Why would I fear this then? While I don't always do this, why do it ever when I know in my heart that You understand all we are going through. Oh Father, please help me to change.

While during my life, I have been told:..

- You are disqualified
- You are not good enough
- You have fallen short

You then tell me...'Erin, you are worthy!'

While during my life, I have been told...

- You are a mistake
- You are a burden
- You are inconvenient
- You are unloved
- You only know how to love conditionally

You then tell me...'Erin, I love you and I have chosen you!'

While during my life, I have been told...

- God doesn't care about you
- You are crazy

- If you mattered, why are you sick?
- Why are you broke?
- You are a sinner
- You can never be in the ministry

You then tell me... 'Erin, you matter to Me and your name is written here on My hand!'

While during my life, I have been told...

- You are deceptive
- You are a pig
- You are forever stained
- You are unforgiven and unforgivable
- You are the worst kind of evil
- You are a failure
- You are not a true Christian
- You will never succeed
- Your heart is dark, hard and cold

You then tell me... 'Erin, I refined you in the fire as gold and your heart is good!'

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was on a path that looked familiar. I could hear the laughter of children in the background. I ran down a smaller path towards the joyous laughter. I looked towards a clearing and I finally recognized where I was. I was at the backside of the Potter's House. I walked down the small path until I arrived at the back garden. To my surprise and delight, there were all these children here from ages three to seven.

The children were all sitting in front of their very own small potter's wheel. Jesus was sitting at His main wheel and was instructing the children on how to make a pot. He turned to me and smiled. I laughed to myself as I could see that He was pretending that He didn't know I was there right away. Of course, He knows everything, so this was quite amusing.

Jesus: "Ah, look who came to visit! One of My favorite Sparrows!"

The children all ran over to me and hugged me. They were all so cute. I got so many hugs and kisses. It was one of the most endearing things I have ever had happen to me. All of them had such huge smiles.

One little boy: "Come and look at what we can do here with Jesus!"

They all began to call me over to show me their creations. Jesus was smiling and laughing at the sight. There was not one ounce of evil in any of the children.

Me: "Don't worry, I will come and see what each one of you have created!"

After the children sat at their wheels again, I went around to each one of them. I was so impressed as each of their pots was absolutely perfect.

One little girl: "Miss Erin, Jesus said that He will let us use His paints to finish our pots!"

Me: Smiling and laughing. "You are so blessed! He is the Most Wonderful Potter!"

Just then, I heard Jesus whistle. A few angels then appeared to gather up the children. The angels then took the children into His Studio to paint and glaze the pots. While the children were so excited, they were also completely obedient to Jesus. There was nothing chaotic or unruly in the children's behavior. I smiled when I then saw an angel come over to the children with a tray of freshly baked cookies.

Me: Jokingly. "Hey, wait a minute, I want to try a Heavenly Cookie! Well, okay, only if there is one left over."

I laughed as I watched the children each take a cookie and then sit down.

Jesus: "Erin, I am so glad that you came. Can I show you what we have been working on?"

Me: "Yes, of course!"

He reached for my hand and we walked over to the northern side of His Studio. There in front of us were hundreds of tiny vessels glazed like jewels pouring out into a channel of water. The pots were somehow suspended in air over the channel. Each pot continually poured out water at various flow levels. Each created a melody. They sounded so beautiful. The sounds were not chaotic, but in tune with each other.

While I cannot describe just how beautiful the music this water pouring was creating, they just were. However, these vessels were not just pouring out water. They were also mixing in the light of the sun. This somehow created a multitude of living rainbows. While each pot was of different sizes and poured out different flows of water, I knew that all of this was exactly planned as it was meant to be by God Himself. Again, all of this is very difficult to adequately describe.

Jesus: "These have been added to My water feature today."

Me: "This is so beautiful, Lord. Thank You for sharing. Now, who are all of these children, Lord?"

Jesus: "They are here waiting for their parents. These are parents who lost a child in a tragic way and have been praying for 'just one more day'."

This tugged at my heart and I began to quietly cry. I reached over and hugged Him. I never wanted to let go. One of my biggest fears has been to lose one of my children. As I hugged Him, I felt so grateful that losing a child was not to be part of my many tests and trials.

Me: "Oh Lord, I love You so much. Thank You!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, there are many mysteries in the ways of Heaven. What I have prepared is always a 'Good Way'. I see the evil which has been done. All of it is recorded. I then see the pain of the loss of a child. It cuts deeply into those left with only memories. However, and as you can see, these children are all well cared for here. They are loved and find joy and laughter."

Just then, I saw the angels escorting the children outside for a butterfly hunt. I smiled as there were no nets. I received a download and saw images of the children gently catching the butterflies in their hands. The butterflies were of different shapes, sizes and colors and were all so vibrant. These butterflies were specifically created by Jesus for these children and were all amazing.

With so many children, you would expect at least one to not look happy, but this was not the case. Every child was laughing with so much joy. I watched as butterflies then chased the children. Some of them even landed on the angels' heads and they would laugh and pretend they didn't notice them, all to the children's delight. The angels had huge smiles on their faces as they pretended to be unaware, their palms held up as a humorous gesture. Tears of joy started to stream down my cheeks.

Me: "Oh Lord, all of these children are truly better off with You here!"

Jesus: "Even so, each person called by Me has a journey. Some journeys are shorter than others." He gestured towards the children. "Other journeys are longer than others." He gently nudged me. "Erin, there is a purpose under Heaven for the least of these to the greatest of these, understand? I care deeply for each one.

"However, I will not share the painful stories of some of the little ones here. It is just too much for some to bear and would lead only to sadness for those parents who have children already here. Despite the lies the enemy tries to spread, I am not cruel. I do not sit idly by and allow trouble to prevail even though it seems so at times.

"Each one is called to a different path and a different course. There are times that wolves in sheep's clothing lie in wait for the innocent and the helpless. Though this didn't result in your death, this happened to you as well. However, I was with you, Erin, and I saw everything. It was I Who strengthened you and kept you alive and safe."

Me: "Thank You, Lord, but what about these children? Even though I know You say their deaths has a higher purpose and I believe you, their seemingly 'untimely' deaths are just so hard for us on Earth to comprehend."

Jesus: "Each of their paths and purposes are very important. Their deaths have been a measure unlike anything you can understand. They did not suffer nor do they recall this. However, to those lives they touched, thousands will be saved and evil will be exposed. So, when you hear of these things, understand that all of the children will be residing here with Me (Jesus emphasized the word 'all'). They are here (in Heaven). As for you and My Army, you will be there (on Earth) for those I call you to minister to."

Me: "Lord, is this in the future or in the past? Are these children already here 'on Earth time' or is this still to come?"

Jesus: "You are missing the important message here. As the future unfolds, you are to remember that those children that are taken from the Earth 'early' are all here with Me and in great care. Today is also about the message of forgiveness...My love and forgiveness. My Army will soon be sent out to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim freedom for the captives and release the prisoners from the darkness.

"This includes those who blame themselves for the death of another as in war or under government authority. In war, one good man often dies while another good man lives. The survivor then lives with the guilt of killing the other person. Instead of them then being able to continue to embrace life, they are bound by the chains the enemy has fashioned for them and has burdened them with.

"Memories of the horrors of war or evil by another has a binding effect. You will send the message of love to them. Through My Army, I will be there with you in the midst of them. I do this as they were not the determiner of the days of another man's life, but were only an unknowing player in 'My Play'. While a man's heart plans his way, it is I that determines his steps, including the length of his steps.

"All of your days were written in the Book of Life before one day had even come to be. It is also I Who can extend the days of a man's life. Yet this too is written so you understand...the wicked do not have the final say. It is I Who meet them at death's door. It is I Who is there for all those that I have called."

Me: "So, Lord, does not everyone see You at death?"

Jesus: "Erin, it is I Who knows the heart. I am here in Heaven and there on Earth. I am not cold and unfeeling. If a righteous man appears to suffer at the end, perhaps it is not for the purpose of that man, but instead for those who witness his proclamation of faith even through suffering."

Me: "Lord, this is a difficult topic for so many."

Jesus: "The saints are here and enjoy the place I have prepared for them. My recompense is with Me and they are greeted by saints. However, in order to understand death and suffering, you must also then understand the magnitude of what is at stake. What is at stake is an eternity here in Heaven or an eternity elsewhere, understand?"

"My Army will be part of this process, the division of the goats versus the sheep. Each one of you have been tested and understand what is at stake. You now understand and are not interested in gaining acceptance in the world of evil. However, you are to understand that you are only to show them the way, the truth and the light. You will display mighty deeds. You will be with many as I take them Home.

"However, you will also see evil beyond description. There I will instruct you in the ways that you shall go. I will well up in you and you will do as I instruct you. My Sheep hear My Voice. I will be in the midst of My Soldiers as they keep My Sheep safe. You will not understand everything yet, but soon you will." He smiled at me. "Now, forgive yourself. You are worthy. You are not to blame. I will strengthen you. You will not believe what I am about to do with you. Rejoice, Erin. Look around you!"

Me: "Oh Lord, I want so much to already be here in Heaven with You!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Yes, I know. However, I will be there on Earth with you, all of you, My Army. You will be part of bringing in the harvest of souls. This is the Great Harvest that has been foretold of, along with the Great Falling Away."

Me: "Yes, Lord. We need Your strengthening, Your wisdom and Your help more now than ever. I cannot imagine doing anything as I am right now."

Jesus: "Do not worry! Now come...the little ones are painting their vessels for My Garden!"

He smiled at me as He reached for my hand.

Dream over...

Dream 385 – Uriel and the Rise of the Dragon

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! With each passing day and more bad news, I think and wonder 'when', Father? When will You strengthen Your people and expose the wicked? Yet, who am I really? No one! I am certainly not one who should question You. Father, we really have no true understanding about Your ways as they are so much higher than our ways. What I do know is that You are patient and kind. Father, You love us in such a deep way that You know everything about us. In Your Word...

- Psalm 139:13-18: You knit us in our mother's womb
- Matthew 10:30, Luke 12:7: You know the numbers of hair on our head
- Job 14:5, Psalm 139: You know the number of our days here
- Psalm 56:8: You have collected all of our tears in bottles

Sigh...Father, Your love is so much greater than anything we can imagine. You send lovely things. You make our hearts glad in such a dark world. You never stop loving us. Thank You for pursuing us. Thank You that each one of us matters to You. You see the evil done in secret and You record the deeds of the wicked. Your Scales of Justice are good, fair and upright. Even so, the wicked plot schemes and are favored by the world due to the gold carried in their accounts.

In the world today, he who has the means will win the fight. It seems as if he who has very little, even if proved true, will almost assuredly lose his day in the worldly court system. I know this by personal experience, Father. In the world today, a man is not judged by his godly fruits, but is instead forgiven of his bad and rotten fruit because of his exchange for money. All that is fair and just is fading now. It makes me sick. Father, I had a very vivid dream last night that was quite frightening...

Sub-dream 1 "Operation Infect America" begins...

My husband and I were already transformed and had been sent by the Lord to do work in the 'Land of the Dragon'. While I was not sure what city I was in, it seemed to have a heavily Americanized presence. We were staying in a small apartment that was owned by a close friend. This friend, also one of the Transformed, was away on God's business somewhere else. At a certain point, I was travelling without my husband as he was attending some high-level financial meeting between governments.

Before separating, we both agreed that I would stay in one area under a veil as we were being closely surveilled. There was still a lot of activity on the streets of this particular city. As I walked, I eventually came upon a familiar hotel brand. It was a five-star Hyatt Regency. I went into the lobby, but was undetected by the armed gunmen in the lobby. As I looked around, I noticed that there were two different sets of elevator banks. The one to the right was quarantined and the one to the left was operational.

The quarantined elevator seemed odd to me because I did not have the sense it was because of the virus. After entering the elevator on the left, I pressed a button. The guards immediately jumped to attention and aimed their guns in my general vicinity. However, the Lord had cloaked me and they were unable to see me. After inspecting the inside of the elevator more closely, they just laughed and dismissed the incident as them being jumpy.

Once the elevator door closed, I decided to press the button for the convention meeting floors on the mezzanine level. When the elevator doors opened, armed guards were there immediately to check out the inside. As these guards could also not see me, I simply walked past them. Once inside, I saw that a meeting was in progress. The outside presence was heavily armed. The security was so tight that there were even guards escorting attendees to the bathrooms and back.

The entrance to the meeting included a body scanner. Everyone also had to relinquish their phones. Unbeknownst to the attendees, each phone was then scanned and hacked into. I walked into the meeting hall and the scanner activated due to my presence. However, since I was still 'invisible', the security guards dismissed this as a technical glitch. I was now in this meeting undetected. I decided to take a seat in the very back of the room.

The Voice of the Lord welled up in me and told me to observe and listen. I was confused at first as everything was being spoken in Chinese. As soon as the thought came, the Lord immediately gave me the ability to understand their language. As I looked at the large screen at the front of the room, they were displaying a map of the world. On this map, there were several key cities highlighted. I then looked around at the crowd. I noticed that two individuals were being specifically highlighted to me.

Voice of the Lord: "Erin, the two people highlighted are USA spies. These two spies are soon to be killed as they are aware of their presence. You will be saving one of them. However, you are not to do anything yet as I will tell you what to do when the time comes. Now, listen to what they are saying."

As I listened, I was in disbelief at how long this takeover of the USA by the Land of the Dragon had been planned. A historian was soon invited to come up front to talk. He had been educated at Harvard and was well spoken. He spoke about the infiltration of spies in all of the major universities. I then saw different university officials who secretly worked for the Land of the Dragon's government.

These university officials were instrumental in providing the seeds of an operation codenamed 'Gateway'. Several students were operatives and spied for the Land of the Dragon. Data of all of the Universities and others major research and development of everything from drugs, medical, chemical, machinery, weapons and other technologies were all being compromised and sold to the Land of the Dragon by operatives posing as research assistants. Operation Gateway called these particular workers 'keys'.

From here, these 'keys' began to work for several major corporations in the USA, some at very high levels. They had infiltrated areas of Washington DC and New York, some even posing as hotel workers and tourists. In turn, I saw thousands of compromising photos of the vulnerabilities of major USA intelligence buildings and workers on the inside of these. They even had access to hotel room safes. They were able to hack into these. They were also able to download information on tablets and laptops.

I then saw an overview of their political arena. They had many insiders in the USA working as key lobbyists, all with access to large money payouts. It was very difficult to watch this. After about two hours of listening to all of their areas of advancements gained from stealing the world's intellectual properties, they switched over to the next phase of their operation. This next phase was codenamed 'Open Door'.

A soft-spoken man then explained some of the intricacies of Operation Open Door. He then spoke about the progression to the next phase after Operation Open Door that was codenamed Great Wall. Operation Great Wall was all based on what they had learned from their initial operation, the Corona Virus, in their first phase codenamed 'Trojan Horse'. He spoke about how Operation Trojan Horse had initially targeted Hong Kong.

However, something had gone wrong with using Hong Kong as their target so they changed the target of their experiment to a secondary city in the Land of the Dragon, a city with a population in the 10 million range. While this would be a big city in the USA, it was a medium sized city to the leaders of the Land of the Dragon. Among many things measured and analyzed, they then used this to document how quickly the spreading occurred. They also experimented in several other areas...

- How quickly were phones used to spread fear?
- How quickly could the virus infect a building?
- Who was immune?

- Could the virus be somehow designed to kill the strongest, leaving just the old and the weak?
- What mistakes were made in this secondary city that should be corrected?

I then saw two things that gave me the chills. The first was a dumping ground for the bodies that had died from this virus. The second was a type of crematorium used to dispose of these bodies instead.

They then looked at all of the different ways this could be spread. While they had experimented with domestic animals, wild birds and wild animals, they found that the spread by these sources were not as hopeful. They were surprised that this was just too contained a method of spreading this virus. They then changed the formula of the virus and paid subjects to willfully spread the disease. They each did this in different ways and they monitored the results. In most cases, the virus spread quickly.

They also tried spraying areas with varying traces of the formula. While inhabitants were told that this spray was an anti-virus spray, it was actually the opposite. They also tried using sprays through filtration systems, heating ducts and airway systems. This proved surprisingly effective, especially at night when the subjects were in their most relaxed and 'contained' state. I then saw that certain people were purposely infected and sent on ships and airplanes. One of the cruise ships was a target.

This presentation made me realize pretty quickly that this whole 'Corona Virus' pandemic was all pre-planned and greatly so. However, just when I thought this could not get any worse, it did. A man approached the podium that looked as if he was a high-ranking military man. He then outlined that their true plan was global control by taking over the USA, Canada and Mexico. I was in shock at all that I was hearing!

They outlined that, at some point, they would apologize to North America for spreading the virus to them. They would then send barges in the form of food, vaccines and aid as part of their apology. However, this offer in 'good faith' was anything but. What was contained in these barges were being sent to make the contamination of the population even worse. Fortunately, at least in the short term, an embargo of this country's goods would keep these barges from unleashing their 'hell' on North America.

This would not last forever though. Cities in the USA, primarily on the West Coast, would soon name themselves sanctuary cities and sister cities to cities in the Land of the Dragon. Court cases filed would then make it so that these barges would be required to be allowed to land in these cities. I then saw a CGI projection of how this would all then unfold in North America. I was in shock as it was so terrible. Their leadership had been planning all of this for many years.

I then saw the two spies get up to go to the bathroom, but really to send out the message back to their superiors. One of the two men was immediately shot in the head in front of the whole assembly. The people there knew that they should not react, but they still looked horrified. To my surprise, the Lord then showed me that someone else was there at the meeting that was just like me, another Transformer. She was invisible to everyone but me. We immediately walked over to the second spy and sheltered him. As soon as we reached him, he became completely invisible. All three of us were now invisible. A portal opened and the three of us walked through it. We were immediately somewhere in the USA. While this spy was now safe and sound in the USA, the people at the convention were in confusion as the guards were still looking fervently for this man in order to execute him as well.

Other Transformed Worker: Talking to the spy. "You must go immediately and tell everything to your superior. Leave nothing out. I will be there with you."

Spy: "Thank you! They slaughtered my entire family after first experimenting on them. They have killed so many Christians."

Me: "Do not worry about the murdered Christians as they are now with the Lord. Now, go quickly and tell your superior everything."

I then turned back toward the portal. As I stepped through it, I was back on the same street in the Land of the Dragon. To my amazement and delight, there were many Transformers that had stepped out onto this street at the same time as I did. I knew that I was not to worry about my husband though as he was still safe and sound at his high-level meeting.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, this dream disturbed me greatly. I know virtually nothing about the Corona virus. I do not feel well about the world and the USA. It just seems that there are too many enemies to count. America has so many countries trying to destroy it.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was immediately on the deck of the Heavenly Outlook. I could see the Earth below me. It looked quiet as it rotated.

Me: "Father, there is no good news here. Please strengthen your people from what is coming."

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. It was Uriel.

Uriel: Smiling. "Erin, you have questions..."

Me: "Yes. What is happening to the world? For the most part, it seemed peaceful."

Uriel: "Well, you have seen nation rising against nation in various ways. There are wars and rumors of wars today. Why would that be?"

Me: "I don't know for sure. Is it because it is written?"

Uriel: "Yes, but there is more. In the world, rumors are spread very quickly. However, even rumors can begin with a grain of truth. One side wants you to believe a side that is based on a platform of fear. This then causes an emotional and reactive response. Usually the side who begins the rumor and controls the false narrative then wins the war.

"The enemy is clever. He begins by turning people against each other who were once for a common cause. This then weakens the ruling platform. He then sends in things, events and people in order to solidify the narrative. However, God has confounded the enemy. Erin, they are turning against themselves."

Me: "It is crazy out there right now."

Uriel: "Make sure you are not in this number. Continue to stand down until you are strengthened and told to stand. During this period, give everything to God for He alone is worthy. Erin, be careful what of the world you ingest, as much of the origins are questionable."

Me: "Do you mean food, drink or something else?"

Uriel: "All things, Erin. Do not believe a story or something is good until you first offer this up to Heaven, to God. He will then make it clean. However, when God says it is clean, then it is clean, and you must trust God in faith that this is so. If something does not seem good, then trust the Counselor, your Holy Voice in you, the Spirit of God. You are soon to see many disturbing things.

"You are not to follow the practices of the wicked. You are to remain keepers of the laws in a time when that which is evil is called good and that which is good is called evil. If you are forced to do something, then this too bring before God. He will then make right that which is meant for evil. There have been many corrupt rulers in place for quite some time as evil appears patient. However, those with discernment have seen the rise and increase of the wicked."

Me: "What can be done, Uriel? It all seems so hopeless."

Uriel: "There is confusion in the world right now. While one nation believes it is sovereign, the nation to the north and east of it believes it is. Still another to the west believes it is more righteous. However, all of them have a common enemy in mind and that is the Crown Jewel, Israel. However, they desire to first take down the Crown that is the USA.

"Remove the Crown and give it to another...destroy Israel by the take down of the Crowning Nation. All of the nations will turn. A direct assault began when God rose up His ruler. This ruler is unpredictable, uncorruptible and cannot be purchased like others can and have been. This ruler then escalates words and wars. He also infuriates many because he exposes the schemes of the wicked.

"See, the Crown of this nation was slowly being dismantled. The wealth of this nation was slowly being given to others, as well as control. A few corrupt leaders sought to level the playing field for all (by bringing the USA down while simultaneously bringing other countries up). However, God sees the hearts of man. You have only to look at the leaders and people of these nations who consider themselves sovereign to quickly see that they are void of God...

- What child in Africa is receiving fresh water, fresh food or good medical care?
- What child with any disability is allowed to live in the Land of the Dragon?
- What people are truly free in nations that have severe poverty?
- What people are free in nations where women are hidden and children are sent into slavery?
- Where are Christians able to freely serve God and spread the Good News?"

Me: "Most of these countries hate Christians!"

Uriel: "Yes, Erin. These countries teach that God is evil and that the enemy is good. These are practiced here. The birth pangs are here, Erin. The rise in evil has come."

Me: "What can we do? Where is safety?"

Uriel: "It is best to seek wisdom and press into the Word of God. Understand that there will come a day in which it will be a crime to speak truth. However, you are not to worry as God has a much greater plan than that of the enemy. The enemy knows that, by removing the Voice of Truth, he can then replace this with lies. Take precautions. Be careful about what you see and hear. If you have questions, pray that God will answer them quickly. You will not be harmed."

Me: "But, Uriel, how can we trust anything?"

Uriel: "Stand strong and know that God is with you. God's plans will not be thwarted by the enemy's schemes."

Me: "Uriel, will this next (presidential) election be tainted?"

Uriel: "The enemy will attempt to overthrow that which stands in his way. However, God has a greater plan and the enemy's schemes will be exposed. You should also understand that there is much financial backing behind those opposing God's elect. Just as this virus will eventually be removed, giving rise to a great church in the Land of the Dragon, so too will a great church rise up all over the world."

Me: "Do you mean a physical church?"

Uriel: "Well, yes and no. It is a special remnant of God's people who will gather up the elect of God and will usher in the Lord, the Lamb of God."

Me: "Uriel, when will this be? Who are these?"

Uriel: Smiling at me. "Hmm, you do not know yet?" He then jokingly nudged me. "Oh Erin, please rejoice and do not worry. You are where you are for a reason and this is good. You have understanding today. Pray for wisdom and remain hopeful."

Me: "Uriel, how can I remain joyful with all that I have seen? It is so difficult."

Uriel: "I understand. Now, there are a series of players on the world's stage. They are greedy and wicked to the core. The goal is to bring in one government, one ruler, one god over all. However, there is a problem right now. There are three rulers which believe they are 'the ruler'. These will be silenced and will give rise to the ruler with no land, yet appointed over all from the beginning.

"He will make deals and is at work even now offering promises behind the scenes. Once he has risen and begins to speak publicly on his platform, a platform which will appear peaceful at first, this will then become more forceful. You will then understand. The Temple will begin construction. You have seen that, with many people moving quickly, even hospitals can give rise in just days. In this same way, even the Temple can be built quickly, even supernaturally so."

Me: "What about Trump?"

Uriel: "He is a force of opposition to the enemy's plans. However, he is the instrument used for construction of the Temple and this is good. Those countries who seem like friends and supporters of him and Israel will betray both. This is written. Again, this is of no surprise. Erin, always remember that God has a great plan."

Me: "Uriel, hurry! Please have God hurry!"

Uriel: Smiling. "I am only a servant of God. I do not declare a thing to Him on behalf of a Sparrow. I am a messenger and an angel in God's Army, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Uriel. I am sorry."

Uriel: "Erin, it is fine. God wants you to come to Him when you are troubled."

Me: "I will come to Him. I am worried though."

Uriel: "Do not be. You will not be starving. You will not be harmed nor will your children. There will be a time when you are all ordered to return to your homelands. I remind you yet again that God is with you."

Me: "Does the enemy want to find us?"

Uriel: "It would not be hard. It is much like a census. They are trying to locate everyone's origins. Do not entertain this. When a friend gives you a test kit as a gift, you can accept the gift, but do not take the test. Wait upon God. If someone has already done this, then pray that the enemy has no access. Do not make it easy. Remove obvious markers, things like tracking related information."

Me: "That is impossible. All of our devices have trackers."

Uriel: "Yes, but you can ask God for discernment."

Me: "This seems very sensational, almost like a conspiracy theory or something."

Uriel: "Erin, we have been fighting an epic battle in the heavens over the Earth for seven years and it has not stopped. We have been there to take a stand as God directs. We have not actively pursued the enemy yet, but instead have watched and observed his tactics.

"Be careful about the news you hear. It is not accurate. It is subtle, but truth is sprinkled in with lies. The two do not work together. It is like mixing fibers. It is like mixing yeast into a batch of dough. Yeast inflates. Fibers mixed are course and ill fitting when woven together. This is like truth sprinkled with lies. This confuses and sickens.

"It is better that you hear nothing at all than to entertain lies. After a while, even those with understanding can succumb to an alternate truth if not careful. Now, do not worry. Things will move very quickly. Rejoice. Rejoice as God will provide for you and will protect you in all that you do. Do not worry. Be strong and take courage." He smiled.

Dream 386 – God hears our pleas for Healing

Received Saturday, February 22, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for all that You have done with me. I am forever blessed by You, Father. I am also concerned. These doors You have promised have not opened for us yet. This makes me so afraid. We are about to be hit with some unexpected expenses and it is daunting. As Your child, the daughter of the Most High God and King, my Father and Heir to the Kingdom of Heaven, I ask for Jesus to plead my case before You in the Courts of Heaven.

I am with no understanding unless You grant me this, Father. I am scared. You have saved us countless times and have never failed. I just see no end in sight to our current situation. We need some miracles, Father, in Jesus' Name. I know this is Your Will because Your Word in Matthew 7:7-8 and Luke 11:9 states, 'Ask and it shall be given you, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you. For everyone who asks receives and he that seeks finds and to him that knocks it shall be opened.'

So, once again, I seek You, Father. I knock at Your door. The squirrels knock at our doors and windows when they are hungry and I do not provide for them like You do. However, I still want to help them. I then give them what I can so that I have enough to give them the next day. However, Father, You are greater than all of this. With You, You are the Provider of all things. You have more than enough for all of Your children, animals, birds, trees and sea animals. There is no provider greater than You...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I saw God's door in the distance. Tears streamed down my cheeks. I realized that I really did not want to ask my Father for any more as He has already done so much for me. The beautiful pond was to my right. The pond had ever blossoming trees and vines surrounding it. The little animals and birds played so carefree here. None of them were afraid of predators or death for they are under the wings of God's appointed angels. There is no threat, just the peace and protection of God and His comfort.

The birds were singing and the animals were unafraid of me. I looked at God's door again. I questioned myself as to why I had needs to bring before Him...yet again. Did I fail somewhere? I sighed and decided to sit down at His pond for a while. I sat under the blossoming willow tree. Before me was the sound of the fountains and they were like springs of Living Water. I read somewhere recently that the wells of grief are fed by springs of memories. This seemed fitting.

As I am officially at the beginnings of my ninth Bridge of Life, I had hoped by now that, by tearing these old memories down, they would now be forgotten. I had hoped by now that, by moving on, I would have already experienced a burst of great healing and joy on this ninth Bridge. Instead, my wells of worry are being fed by springs of fear. This is frustrating as I know that this is contrary to the Commands in His Word.

What I am asking for is this. When I am here in the Garden of God, I am free and safe. I feel the love and peace of my Dad here, my Father on the Throne, the One Who created me for His divine purposes. I am asking for wells of joy and victory, all fed by springs of faith, all without fear. Please heal me, Father, of my lack, my illness and the darkness which continues to be at odds with the very nature of the heart of a Father's Divine Love for His children. I had a wonderful dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "Dancing for the king's wife" begins...

I was young and able to dance and laugh with strength and beauty. Under Your splendor, I was now a new creation, a creation with joy and humility. My heart was full of joy and love for those who are far from You. I performed awesome maneuvers as a ballerina. As I danced, I soon realized that I was dancing in front of the wife of a king. She was so impressed with my dancing that she invited me and my family to the house of the king. Even though they were hated by many, her heart was good.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Oh Father, I am capable of such great things in my dreams, things too wonderful for me. When I wake up, I am almost embarrassed that I could have such imaginations when my current physical condition is so far from this here on Earth. However, here...oh here...are the peace, the beauty and the love of God surrounding us at all times. This place is of magnificent wonder and has been prepared for us by He Who loves us so much. Oh, how I wish to permanently be here in His presence.

Even so, and at the same time, I was delighted that He will be using me for His divine purposes here on Earth before this happens. This put a smile on my face again as I got up from where I was sitting to walk over to God's door. I held up my hand to knock, but I paused first. I then took a deep breath and knocked three separate times. It seemed like nothing was happening.

Me: "Please help me, Father. I just knocked three times."

Just then, I felt a breeze behind me. I turned around and there was Uriel on his horse. He smiled at me as he dismounted his horse.

Uriel: "Erin, God would like to speak with you."

Me: Crying. "Oh Uriel, is He mad at me right now?"

Uriel: Smiling. "Why would He be mad at you? Have you done something to cause your trouble?"

Me: "No...other than trying to plan for the inevitable when it came...but still coming up short. Oh Uriel, even with my plans, I can do nothing."

Uriel: "Yes. Only God reigns on the Throne. He makes the plans. He knows, Erin. He has showed you that there are things which you are unable to foresee or plan for. Now, God requests your presence."

I took a deep breath. Uriel placed salve in my eyes. The door then opened and he brought me through it. My heart leapt at the beautiful choirs of angels singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy!' Uriel brought me closer to God's Throne than I had ever been before, but I was still so far away. I dropped to my knees as I felt every cell in my body vibrate in the presence of the power of God. I felt waves of warmth flow through my body.

I prayed and thanked God for all of the days of my life, the days that brought me here to Him. I thanked Him for every failure, every change of direction, every story, every humiliation and every tear. I thanked Him for every bridge of my life, each of which had been planned by God for His purposes. I thanked Him for every person I have met, every situation I have encountered, that has led me here in His presence. I thanked Him also for the Godly saints who brought words of wisdom into my life.

There were three in all in my seemingly now distant past. The first was my pastor in the 1990s. The second was a counselor during my refining furnace of affliction from 2005 to 2009. The third was a rival to me in the 1990s who became like a sister to me from 2005 to the present. Father, please bless these people for keeping me pressing into You. Please bless them for squelching my wrong thinking and speaking life back into me. If not for their words ringing truth into my weary soul, I am quite certain I would not be here today.

Me: In my mind, but really to God still listening (as always). "Father, please help me. Please help us. I am not well and Your doors have not opened. It seems that only uncertainty and looming threats are mounting. Father, each new day also seems to bring more new troubles. Please help me, but also all of us. We love You so much!"

God: "Erin, I am here. I am with you. Rise up and stand before Me. Do not hide and cower."

Even though my muscles quivered, my every cell in my body rose up at God's command. It was as if my brain had no option in the matter. I rose up with more strength than I have ever had. However, I knew it was not my strength, but His.

God: "You do not stand before Me on your own, Erin, for it is I Who commanded it and willed it. It is also I Who determines a man's days. Though you believe you have control, you do not. This is because you have surrendered your life to Me for My purposes. Your life is therefore in My hands and under My authority and power.

"While a man can accept My Son as his Savior and live a life of his own free will, it is still I Who determines his path. However, for those who have surrendered their lives and their free will to My Will, My course and My way, I will also then provide for this 'High Way'. You are My priests, a portion set apart by Me for My purposes.

"Your life is not your own. What can you do on your own to open a door if there be no one on the other side to open it? It is therefore not a door that I have presented as I do not present doors to deceive. I do not do this. When I present a door, I will also open it. While sometimes this door is open for you to step through, at other times, you must knock and it shall be opened.

"However, Erin, it is still I Who presents this. You did not miss a door. You did not fail Me. You are not in the midst of punishment. Now, waiting is difficult for those I have called. Why? It is because you do not understand the beauty of trust and the jewel in your crown that you have received from being patient in the waiting."

Me: "Forgive me, Father, but we have been given great promises and dreams of the fulfillment of these promises, yet I become more ill with each passing day. Oh Father, age does not reverse our illnesses and pain is at odds with patience. Please forgive me for saying this to You, Father, as You already know everything."

God: His laughter filled the Court and gave me such comfort. "Ah, such is the perspective of a 'small sparrow'."

Me: "Yes, Father, I am small. I am also thankful to be under Your Wing. I am sorry for the things I have made it. However, I have great faith in Your promises as You have always fulfilled every one of them. This all has been amazing. All we read in Your Word is true...all of it! Before I knew You, I heard of You and heard of Your Works. However, I had no connection to You.

"I now realize I was Yours from the beginning and that my life has always been part of Your Story, not my own. I am sorry that I have been impatient and scared. My doctors have given me bad reports and the 'what ifs' have begun to bleed my mind with thoughts of doubt. However, Father, I know

Your love and I know how much You have done on my behalf, as well as for my children and my friends.

"Please shine the light of Your sun...Your Son...on our dark reports, as it is hard to hear bad news from those with great knowledge in the fields of medicine. Ultimately, I know that You have the final say. The final word is always Yours, Father. You brought my body back to life from the steps of death's door more than twice.

"I know that You are God over all and have great plans. So, Father, while we wait, please supernaturally grant us Good News. Please fill our pantries and pay our debts so that no evil can continue to taunt us. Better yet, please change us and transform us. I would love to dance again. I would love to ..." I began to cry.

God: "I have heard your cries, Erin. These are reasonable. I will have compassion on you, your family and your friends. I have promised you many things and I plan on fulfilling these. My promises are true. I understand that it is difficult to present your case for miracles when you are not visibly walking in these. Your case is a good one. However, do you understand the burdens that will come with these gifts?"

Me: "Well, Father, I already know the burdens of being limited in capacity without them, as well as the burdens of walking in sporadic miracles. Without Your healing and transformation of us, many consider these dreams and visions as a false doctrine or even a cult. While I have spent years pouring out my heart on these pages, mixing the ink with my troubled tears, they see this as You not being with me.

"While these dreams from You are truly a miracle beyond compare, they could also appear to be delusions from a crafty lunatic to outsiders. As you know, Father, I am not very smart, certainly not smart enough to come up with these dreams without You, so I am asking to be vindicated. I am asking to be vindicated and for my story to be proved right by Your miracle of healing. I have promised to serve You all of the days of my life.

"I want so much to spread the Good News of Your Love for your children. I want so much to spread the Good News of the hope of Heaven and a life of an eternity spent with You. However, when people see me as I am now, they think 'she is unqualified and is an embarrassment to testify to Your goodness.' Despite this, I have continued to write down what You have directed me to write.

"I do this writing in ink and there are no erases, no cross offs and no go backs. I come to You in full faith every time I write down one of Your dreams. These are not my dreams, but Your dreams alone. You have just borrowed them to me as Your earthly steward, along with my husband, my family and our friends as witnesses. Please, Father, I was born for a life in Your service.

"Please take me off of the bench and use me as Your player. Please pick me! Please pick my husband and my children! Please pick my friends! We love you and we come each day to sit in Your mighty presence. We believe in You. We cheer to You. We cry out and we hope." I was both crying and pleading out loud now. "Oh Father, please play us soon...today even! We are willing and our hearts are ready! Please put us in, Coach! We are ready to play...today!"

I heard a great roll of laughter. The laughter of God shook His Court. While His laughter filled me with hope and joy, as it always does, it also made me want to drop to my knees to praise Him. I decided to do just that. I was now praising Him with my face down in His presence. I prayed that I pleased Him. I prayed that my husband, our children and our friends pleased Him.

God: "Oh Erin, come, rise up to your feet. In My 'game', I reserve some of My best 'players' for 'the finals'. Now, rejoice, as you are among these. Do not worry, Erin, for I will do all that I have promised. My Contract is good and I do not delay. Have faith that I have heard you and that I will agree to your request. I will strengthen you before I put you out on My court for the finals." He laughed again and it was so soothing. "I am pleased with you, your family and your friends. Erin, I am pleased."

I felt Uriel reach for my arm. He walked me back to God's door.

Me: "I love You, Father!"

God: "And I love you, Erin. Rejoice. I have answered your prayers and petitions and found them good."

I was now so happy. I waved and curtsied towards His Royal Presence. I saw a swirl of color that seemed to be a wave back to me. I felt in my heart that He was pleased with me...with all of us. Uriel brought me outside.

Uriel: "Erin, everything is about to change around you. Rejoice and do not be afraid. Do not worry when you see these changes coming as God is in this, okay?"

Me: "Yes, I think so."

Uriel: "It is for your benefit. He has answered your prayers to be delivered from your troubles. Now rejoice! I must go." He mounted his horse. "Do not worry, Erin, for greater are those with you than those against you!" He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 387 – Uriel: God is unconstrained by time

Received Sunday, February 23, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You. Thank You for my husband, my children and my friends. I am blessed beyond measure. I woke up late this morning. This is the second day in a row in which I have slept in. I have been fighting the beginnings of illness and praying that this will remain only a threat. I am hoping I can combat this with rest, prayer and eating well.

Someone from my past was placed on my heart today. This person hurt me severely. She was, and still is, a part of a large ministry. I had given freely to this family as they did not have much at the time. I gave even more freely to them when the time came around to move to the desert after my heart had stopped in 2008 / 2009. While we gave so much, I want to first fully acknowledge that we are not to expect anything in return.

Still, what they did to us shortly after all of this was so unexpected that it still stings today. I had been told by my lawyer that I needed a third personal reference to my character as a mother and a person. Since we had spent so much time with this family and I had attended their church where they were pastors for six years, I thought I could get a personal reference from them. I phoned my friend for this reference, but she did not respond as I had hoped for...

Pastor (Name Removed): "Oh, do I have to? I am sorry, but I really don't want to be involved with this. We are just too busy."

I was with my daughter when this phone call took place and she was surprised by my reaction when I eventually hung up with her. I was crying so hard that I was having a hard time breathing. This pastor couple had told us they were our friends and that they loved our kids. How could she then be 'too busy' to write a short letter that would take only a half an hour to draft? They were also still using thousands of dollars of furniture that we had given them (again, fully realizing that we should expect nothing in return).

Even though unconditional giving means just that, I am still human, and this cut deep. I already had two references and I desperately needed this third one as three were required. It was such a horrible gut punch. I believed that the secondary reason for this was that my ex and his family had gotten to her and her husband. While no one liked our 'icky story', you should still expect pastors to help you pray through it all and not simply abandon you. My daughter, quite young at the time, couldn't understand...

My daughter kept saying over and over again: "No, mama, not Pastor (name removed). Pastor (name removed) is our friend. I love her."

This didn't help my crying as it was just so sad to hear this. I finally told my daughter: "No, Pastor (name removed) wants nothing to do with us. She and her husband have abandoned us."

What she did to us was so against what she preaches. She's on speaking tours and has written several books. She is now famous. She has connections in so many places, including Portland, Bend, Seattle, the Tri-Cities and Idaho. Father, You have found such great favor in this person, a person who crushed me without even a second thought. Father, I would be lying if I told You that this no longer hurts. It still does.

Please forgive me as I am only human and this was such a tough time for me. I have been hurt by so many people in my past while fighting my greatest enemy. I ask for a heart of forgiveness towards them. As there are no accidents in this life, I also ask that Your healing waves of love go out to anyone whom I have hurt. Please do this so that I can make things right by following Your Divine Guidance.

I now see why You had us move way out here to the Land of the Trees. You did this so that these dreams and visions could flourish. You did this so that these dreams and visions could remain fully guided by You and not by man. Had I continued my ministry where I was, I would have lost countless friends from these churches. I may have even been removed because some could accuse me of pushing 'another gospel'. Doing so would actually be my greatest nightmare, but this is how people can be at times.

It was so odd that the ones closest to me where I had lived were book authors, pastors, Christian artists and public speakers. They would have made me feel as if I should stop. You moving us here protected my children and me and kept us focused on You. We had been damaged by others for no reason, but this has been a place of healing.

Yes, Father, this has been a healing journey for us. We are now in a place of healing, growth and safety, under Your Wings, until the day comes in which You bring us out. Please let this be soon, Father. I had a vivid dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "The only safety is on 'The Path'" begins...

We were traveling by foot from one city to another. No cars were operating. We walked down one part of the road. The crops on either side of the road had been ravished, either by a parasite or by locusts. I was unable to tell which. Stalks of corn were stripped and there was nothing left. Crops, orchards and vineyards were now unable to produce food. I heard people crying out, 'What will we eat?' and 'What is left?'

A great wind then came. Dust and debris were blown everywhere. There were also tornadoes here and there that further ravished the area. The heat then came and the temperatures broke records. Fires broke out and burned up the barren land. After a while, the torrential rains and flooding then came. I now heard people crying out, 'Where is God?' and 'There is no god who sees or hears what has happened.'

We continued to walk, making sure we stayed on the path. We knew that, as long as we stayed on this path, we would be fully looked after and cared for by God. We soon came to a massive university. Their dormitories were crowded with student. People were drunk and sinning in many different ways, even right there in the open. There was no shame in them. I now heard someone yell out, 'Tomorrow might never come...enjoy all things and take your fill!'

Just then, a massive earthquake shook. This earthquake was stronger than any I had ever felt. The buildings at this center of higher learning crumbled, killing many of the partiers. Once again, the path that we were all on was not affected.

It was now becoming night time and the moon in the sky was full. As we looked up, the stars surrounding the moon started to shoot down. They then started to hit the Earth like fireballs. We then heard screaming, 'Where is God?' and 'He is not here with us!'

We then looked up at the moon. We all saw the most astonishing thing. God's hand appeared. His hand took hold of the moon and pushed it forward. The moon fit into the palm of His hand. I could hear people screaming in horror at the sight. Father, this seemed so real. All of this seemed to have a specific order...

- Event 1: Crops ravished, no food, famine came
- Event 2: Severe winds came
- Event 3: Record heat came
- Event 4: Fires came
- Event 5: Torrential rains and flooding came
- Event 6: Massive earthquake came
- Event 7: Fireballs from the Heavens / Stars came
- Event 8: God's hand pushing the moon forward came

As I looked over all of the damage, I was filled with a great sadness for all of those not on the path that would have to soon endure all of this. I then prayed to the Lord that we would no longer still be in these bodies during this time. This was all so awful.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was immediately in front of me on his horse. He was smiling at me as he dismounted.

Me: "What is happening, Uriel?"

Uriel: "What you did not see is how many had joined you on the path. Much of this life is a great mystery. Why does one person experience darkness and troubles, while another person experiences great things. Erin, you should have understanding on this by now. By now, you should understand that it is all about the heart.

"The heart and the soul are one. However, if the heart is as stone, then the soul is a ghost of missed opportunities to love. If a man's heart is of stone, how can he then have compassion on the lost? How can he love without earthly conditions? He cannot. The Lord tests the heart to see if there is a heart condition.

"He then checks to see if, by adding Living Water, the stone heart can be pliable and shaped to the Will of God. Those children tossing clay on the Potter's Wheels with the Lord were shaping the hearts of their parents. The children's vessels are good. Their life's purpose here is as gold. What quicker way is there to test a heart for God than with the loss of an innocent life?"

Me: I was now crying. "Uriel, I don't like this at all. It is disturbing. It is very disturbing."

Uriel: "As you have seen by the number of children here in Heaven, children matter greatly to God. These children did not suffer needlessly, Erin. Do not judge the Heart of God."

Me: "Forgive me. I did not mean to. My heart just breaks for those parents. It is so hard. Please show mercy to them."

Uriel: "Erin...Erin...listen to me...when Jesus met you at His Studio with those children, were they joyful?"

Me: "Yes, of course. Uriel, I even now recognize one of the children. The dream occurred way before I saw a picture in the news of the little girl that had later drowned in an accident. When I saw her face, I instantly knew I had already seen her in my dream. Heavenly time is different than Earth time and is difficult to understand. Well, I don't understand it.

"I have also seen beautiful and intricate engraved pieces in Heaven. They had such beauty that I knew that they must have been crafted by a saint in Heaven. I later found out that these engravings were by my mom. What is confusing is that I saw these engravings two years before my mom had even died. When I look back, I know it was her work here in Heaven.

"Again, this is confusing. How can this be? On Earth, I have still not received any of her engravings. They were already expensive, but have now become even more so due to her death. Her work is highly sought after. However, in Heaven, she is an artist, yet still serves God. How wonderful! Oh Uriel, how can all of this be?"

Uriel: Smiling. "Erin, these are mysteries. Do not try to understand Heavenly time. God is not constrained by time. This is a chasing and not a mystery that will be solved here. When you finally rest in eternity, you will laugh at your quest for these answers. You will laugh as these answers cannot be measured on Earth.

"All you need to remember is that God is the God of time and order. Nothing is random or unplanned when it comes to God. Take comfort in this. God loves you. No day of yours spent on this Earth is wasted, not one. Each day has a purpose under Heaven, so take comfort in this.

"Now, back to your dream...all the events you witnessed were under the power of God. Man had no control. Even during these events, men cried out to God. This is the final wave of trouble before God sets up His Throne. Rejoice, Erin, as your path will have the 'once lost' walking on it with you. Once on the path with you, they were untouched." He smiled.

"Now, take courage, Erin. Remember that some mysteries are reserved for revelation here in Heaven. Rejoice, Erin, as your heart is ready!"

Uriel turned and mounted his horse again. He smiled at me, but was then gone in an instant.

Dream 388 – Jesus and the Finest of the Grapes

Received Sunday, March 1, 2020

Morning Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for my children, my husband and my Nest friends. My life without all of them would be lonely and meaningless. Father, I say this fully realizing there is You and that You are always with me. However, a life without others, a life living in isolation, would be a lonely life. Lord, what a month that just finished. February seemed to be a 'tipping point' month for the world.

Perhaps all that we are experiencing is World War III, or at least the beginnings of this. This Corona Virus has changed the steady rhythm of the heartbeat of the financial markets. In turn, the markets determine the overall health of the body of the nations. I was stunned to learn about the greed of a handful of individuals and their lust for power at any cost. They don't care if they even completely take down our nation if it benefits them.

Father, clearly the 'Trojan Horse' has entered into our nation already. We are unaware of its origins other than being from the Land of the Dragon. While we know the ultimate roots, we do not know all the different ways in which it has come. We have also learned about a communist regime who was enjoying its quiet takeover of the world using economic dependence of those who did business with her.

Still, it goes much deeper than this. The people of this foreign land have been deceived by their own government. This foreign government has also deceived the American people. We have also been deceived by the greed of those here in America that have made us dependent on the Land of the Dragon for so many of our goods. Father, these are communists. We did business with communists in exchange for monetary gain. To what end did we do this other than for the convenience of our own lives?

The United Nations Security Council is a powerful world body consisting of five permanent members and other rotating members. The five permanent members have veto power. Just one of them vetoing will make it so the resolution dies. Of the five permanent members, two are communist nuclear powers that hate the USA. They would like it if we failed completely.

What makes this particularly disconcerting is that these two communist countries compete against each other and believe each is sovereign and above all the other nations in the world. As You have shown me, Father, the Corona Virus was not an accident. It was planned as retaliation for the USA under President Trump exposing the Land of the Dragon ruler's plans to bleed us dry.

But a virus in exchange for tariffs? Would this be that much of a stretch given how much their leadership hates the USA? If this virus had been unplanned, they would have been humbled and would have asked our medical people for help. There has instead been great secrecy surrounding all of this. A dream I had three nights ago seemed to reveal even more hidden plots, hidden agendas and hidden alliances...

Sub-dream 1 "Deadly Shipments" begins...

The Land of the Dragon sent several shipments of something to the Middle East and Italy. While I could not tell exactly what this was, I guessed that it may have been rice. The leaders of the Land of the Dragon hated the Muslims and were setting up even more isolation camps for them. These leaders also hated all Christians, but especially the Catholics and their Pope.

The people of the Land of the Dragon were unaware of what was happening as the message was heavily controlled by their leaders. Many had no way of any communication reaching them and any that did were more likely to be lies. An actor was hired to play the part of their President. This actor then shook hands with the people of the city where the Corona Virus originated (note that this has been reported as something that has already occurred).

Sub-dream 1 over...

I took a break here as I was not feeling led to continue. However, several hours later, right after dinner, I felt the Lord call me to continue this dream...

Evening Communion

Dear Father,

I love You! I am so sorry that I am scared and anxious. I feel so poorly about myself. I want to be healed so I can be energetic and young again. I am afraid for our children. I am afraid for this world. There are so many of us who have not realized our promises here. We are still waiting to see the miracles You have had me write about. However, we know that You are able to do anything and all things, so we know it is coming.

Father, You can just say the Word and it is done. While none of the 'really great things' have occurred yet, it is clear that You are definitely lining everything up. It is just difficult for us to wait. Oh Father, the waiting is the hardest part. While You have told us that certain events would occur in personal words specific to us (and many of these already have), we are still waiting for that 'knockout punch', the one that will make the world sit up and take notice of what You are doing through us as Your end times army.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in the same vineyard in Heaven that I have been to so many times before. I looked towards the hills and saw several massive angels harvesting grapes. I waved at them and they waved back. I took some time to pluck a grape from a cluster and popped it into my mouth. It was amazing from start to finish. From the moment I bit into this grape, the burst of flavors was a fantastical journey.

I realize that this is difficult to understand, but this grape was like a red wine grape, a deep burgundy grape, a rose grape and a white grape for Zinfandel, all mixed with a sweet taste. It was as if this grape embodied all the others, yet was unlike anything I had ever tasted. I smiled as I decided to take the whole cluster. This seemed to be the perfect snack while I looked around. After looking around for a while, I decided that I really wanted to speak with Jesus now.

Me: "Lord, are You here? Where are You?"

I ran down through the fragrant archway of flowers. When I looked to the end of the path in the aspen grove, there was Jesus. He was holding the reins of His beautiful horse. He stood there enthroned in the light of His Glory. My breath was taken back and I gasped in joy. Warm tears of happiness streamed down my cheeks. I was so happy to see Him. I ran as fast as I could. When I reached Him, I dropped to my knees. As I knelt before Him, I touched His feet and cried.

Me: "Oh Lord, I am scared. While I know that You are in control, I am asking for a favor. Please keep my lungs clear. Please do the same for my family, my friends and their families. Not being able to breathe is so difficult. My mom could barely breathe. She also lost her ability to swallow. You are the breath of life. I am free here and I can breathe deeply. On Earth, my breathing is shallow and my lung capacity is poor. Without Your protection, surely pneumonia would soon overcome me."

I felt His hand on my shoulder. When I opened my eyes, I noticed that He had bent down to me. He reached for me to help bring me up to my feet. He had a tender smile and such sympathetic eyes. He could read my every thought. He knew every part of my heart. As I looked back at Him, I once again realized just how 'everything' He is to me...to us! Yes, He is worthy of ALL of our worship and praise!

Jesus: "Erin, I am with you. No disaster will come near your tent. While I know that you fear these things at times, you must turn away from what your eyes see and your ears hear. You are to press into Me instead as I am always with you. Do not dismiss My voice as imagination. It is not. It is Me. You, on your own, would not speak so boldly. It is I, Erin. Talk to Me and I will answer you. I am never far from you."

Me: "Lord, everything has changed so rapidly. What can we do without You? Please heal us soon!"

Jesus: "Erin...Erin...calm down. I am here. I will comfort you. Do not let the enemy have a foothold. He calls out to you from the desert and wants you to believe that you are not hearing from Me. However, this is not so. Now you will need to talk to Me."

Me: "I am afraid of angering You. Lord, I feel I should be more faithful. I feel I should be better and more equipped. If I tell people I know at church about these dreams, I know that they will make me feel like a lunatic for my beliefs. I know that these dreams would not be popular for so many, so I stay quiet."

Jesus: Smiling. "Remember that I too was considered by so many as being a lunatic, along with so many other labels. They could not fathom that I might actually be their Savior, the One Whom God had sent, His Son in flesh. I was not whom they expected, remember? Now, you are My Bride and My Scribe. You are not a lunatic. If you were, surely your writings would have unraveled by now. People with demons are not controlled and it does not take long before words and stories become nonsensical.

"If you had been writing aside from Me, these Words would not hold as true. You would have to be a brilliant writer of great standing to write such things in one short span of a few hours at a time. You would also need hours upon hours of research into what you have already written in order to stay consistent. You would also need to know every aspect of the Bible so as not to be in contradiction in any way. Am I correct on this, Little Sparrow?"

Me: I was smiling again. "Yes, Lord, You are correct."

Jesus: "While it is impossible for you to do all of this on your own, all things are possible through Me. While I know that you don't understand all of this right now, you are to continue on your course. You work for Me, Erin. You please Me. You are not a slave. You are free and I am with you. Erin, you are also injured. Please allow Me to make a case for all of this. I will do this to ease your doubt. I will start by asking you this...how many paintings have you completed since your accident?"

Me: "Well, I am having troubles with my hands when it comes to painting. I have only completed one painting. I had to use a putty knife though. It was on the night that my mom died. I painted the field in front of our house. There was a full moon over it that night. While it wasn't my best work, I wanted to still do this for my mom. However, my mom died and she never saw it."

Jesus: "So, you are formally trained as an artist, a painter and an illustrator, yet you only painted this one in five and a half years (5.5 years or 66 months)."

Me: "Yes, Lord."

Jesus: "If you were uninjured, this would be easy for you. This therefore shows you cannot do this. However, you have instead written in many journals with My guidance. You have done this even though you dislike writing, correct?"

Me: "Yes, Lord." I started to laugh. "Lord, am I on trial right now?"

Jesus: Laughing. "No, Erin. I am making a case for Me working through you. You are My Vessel, understand? You work for and by the pleasure of your King and Savior. Now, is anything impossible for Me?"

Me: "No, Lord, nothing is impossible for You. I am thankful for these dreams and visions. I am even more thankful for You, Lord."

Jesus: "Erin, you have been and continue to write My Love Story for My Bride. Your pages and the story of your journey to Me encourages others. What did you recently say about this?" It was instantly downloaded as a reminder to me.

Me: Smiling. "My pain is your gain."

Jesus: Laughing. "I couldn't have said this better Myself. Now, what makes a bride My Perfect Bride?"

Me: Sighing. "First off, You do not go by outer appearances. Secondly, You do not go by our talents. You are certainly not going by our own perfection. Is it by our faith in You?"

Jesus: "Hmm, well, yes and no. You have been through the refiner's fire. Remember the furnace? You have been there many times and yet you still chase Me. Erin, you still look for Me. You still hope and long for Me. You run after My heart. You study Me and know this pleases Me. You desire to do good all the days of your life."

Me: Crying. "Thank You, Lord, but I still fail sometimes."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin. While you still make mistakes, you then immediately correct yourself, repent and come to Me. You now make fewer and fewer mistakes. This is good, right?"

Me: "I do?"

Jesus: "They are very few and far between. You know that the hour is late. Your heart is ready and it is good." He then looked over at the cluster of grapes I was holding in my hand and smiled. "Hmm, so, what have you brought Me?"

Me: "Oh Lord, these grapes are being harvested in the vineyards. These are amazing. There are so many flavors contained in just one grape."

Jesus: Laughing. "These are the special reserve grapes for a special wine unlike any other. Their time on the vine has been completed and they are ready to be selected for My Wine."

Me: "What is this Wine for?"

Jesus: "You will see very soon. I am glad you like the taste. It is familiar, right?"

Me: "It tastes wonderful. It is the most amazing grape I have ever had. I would like to fully describe it, but I can't."

Jesus: "These are special grapes. These are a special planting of God. Now, not everyone will like these. For many, this will be like acid. However, to many others, it will be like honey. These have been prepared by Me for My purposes. You will understand more very soon." He smiled. "Erin, I love you. Thank you for surrendering yourself to Me fully for My purposes."

"I know it has not been easy for you, your family or your friends. However, all doubts will very soon be far from you. Remember that I hold these." He lifted the reins to His horse. "Erin, I see the evil things done in secret. They will not go free from justice in the Courts of God. I see their plots and count their victims. They will not go unpunished."

"Now, remain in Me. Know that angels have been sent to guard you and your households. The enemy's plots against you will come to nothing. Much of what is happening in the world has been foretold from the beginning and is part of My Plan, understand? Do not be afraid of this as I am with you. Remember that you are My Bride and My Special Reserve." He smiled. "You are a Jewel in My Crown and I am pleased. Do not worry, Erin, as I have you. I love you."

Me: Hugging Him. "You are forever in my heart, Lord. I love You with my very being and with all that I am. I love You. I just wish I looked as I do in Heaven on Earth. I wish I was strong. I wish I could encourage the broken and let them know how wonderful You are. You are so special, Lord. You are greater than that which describes You. I have no words adequate to describe You. No one does. If I had a special wine that represented You, there would be no finer wine and it would never run out."

Jesus: Laughing. "Well, instead I am the Breath of Life and Living Water."

Me: "Yes, Lord, and this is even better."

He leaned over towards me and kissed the top of my head.

Jesus: Laughing. "Erin, do not grow tired of doing good. Your heart is good. Smile more as this will make My heart glad. Let My light shine upon you in all that you do. Since you work for Me, do not act as a slave, as someone oppressed, as this is not of God. You are free. I have set you free, understand? Since the beginning of time, men have ruled over other men. Some rulers are kind and others are not.

"Do not go back in history and act as judge for I did not appoint you to do so. Remember that it is God Who judges, not man. The enemy desires division. Remember that they call out from old bridges and gravesites, saying 'God doesn't care.' Remember also that vengeance is Mine. The living do not understand the pain of history on old battlefields, so do not worry.

"Life on Earth is a battlefield. The measure of a man's heart is weighed. While many are here, many are found wanting. While many are in the depths of Sheol, many are here with Me. Let this go, Erin, as those who are angry and bitter will not be used for My purposes. However, those with contrite hearts will be called for greater service and will be used to administer hope to the lost.

"Oh yes...they will also display awesome deeds as I will be with you. Justice will also be administered to the wicked who are far from Me. I will only be working with those with a yielding heart, a ready heart. Erin, I see the worry in your eyes. However, you are not to worry as your heart is ready. This is enough for now. Rejoice, Erin, as I am with you."

Dream 389 – Jesus exposes the Hidden Tiger

Received Monday, March 9, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family and friends. Most of all, thank You for Your love for us. I feel rich in love. So many of our friends have had such disappointing news after prolonged prayer. It is so discouraging. So many of our Nest members are experiencing bad news. I became scared the last few days. Fear is a liar. I found myself traveling down fear's path. I did this for really no good reason.

The world has changed. Things I had hoped for as I neared retirement age now looks so unattainable. These are hopes I might never see here. I am afraid. I am not doing well because of it. The world has changed, Father, and not for the better. Not at all. You have shown me that a few greedy people have sold out our country. However, it is not just the USA that has been sold out.

Canada, Israel, much of Europe and so many other countries have also been sold out. Greed has made all of us dependent on a communist country, the Land of the Dragon. They control their people by enslaving them. While the focus has been to draw our attention away from what is happening to us by them to instead focus on other countries such as Russia and North Korea, the one truth of their slow takeover of us remains...we have basically already given our lives over to this enemy.

However, I want to be very clear here...while the citizens of this country are not our enemies, their leadership are. In terms of the people themselves, I believe a great revival will soon come from this land.

In terms of their historic rise, it was in the 1990s when we first gave rise to their powers through the pharmaceutical companies, but especially in 1994. Thanks to this sell out, much of the world's lifesaving drugs now come from the Land of the Dragon. The rise of autism really started to accelerate after this, but especially from around 1996 or so.

Baby formula, neonatal vitamins and baby foods are all now produced there. Insulins, antibiotics and other drugs are also produced there. At any moment, they could put something into a few batches and weaken an entire nation. We have emboldened our main enemy by allowing them to control most of what we ingest, both drugs and food. This is like ancient Israel telling the Philistines to produce and provide their food supply during a siege. Not a good idea!

Would it be unlikely that all of this could have led to mental health issues such as depression, anxiety and suicide? Another example is bottled drinking water. Where is this really coming from? This is frightening. It is no longer fear taking over me now, but rather a feeling of anger, anger towards our leadership for selling us out so blatantly, as well as to the media for purposely not reporting on it.

How many politicians have been paid off? How many were paid to look away and keep their mouths shut? How many media outlets have been paid off? Father, this is the worst sin possible against humanity. Have the sins of our nation put us in danger of takeover? Why wouldn't You as even those who claim to follow You are now indulging in so many horrifying sins?

While some will mourn the USA when we eventually fall, we are still hated by so many. Please help us. Please don't allow this. Please let the Corona Virus be only a wakeup call for us to fight and turn back to You. Please let the manufacturing of our vital medicines and foods be brought back to the USA and away from the enemy's hands. We need to produce these ourselves again.

Even the cleaning products and masks we use to try and combat this are coming from the Land of the Dragon. How do we know these will even work against what we are fighting against? How do we know they ever have? Things have now become of such poor quality that they are basically disposable. Nothing is meant to last anymore. I know that You, Father, are in control of all things, but do we not have a right to be upset about this? I had a dream a few nights ago...

Sub-dream 1 "Junk Store with Museum Pieces" begins...

I was at a junk store shopping. I had never been there before. There really wasn't anything I was interested in, so I was going to leave. I then noticed that people were pulling up to the front of the store. I asked what they were doing here and they said they were going to the backroom to see the items for auction.

I had been pushing a shopping cart and it had moved away from me about ten feet...then twenty feet. I went and retrieved my cart as I did not want to be separated from it as it had my purse and a journal in it. It was only then that I noticed the backroom for the auction that had been previously hidden. I went into the room and could not believe my eyes.

The room contained the best of everything, all displayed in museum cases. Each case contained valuable things many would want to collect. Each piece was numbered for the auction. All in all, there were twelve cases and each of the cases contained simply amazing items. I suddenly realized that God had a purpose for each of the items in each of these cases. I could hardly wait to see what He was going to do with all of them.

Sub-dream 1 over...

The dreams I am having these days are not much fun. I had another disturbing dream just last night...

Sub-dream 2 "The Bear is not our enemy, the Tigers are" begins...

I started off by facing off against someone I had thought was my main enemy. We were standing face to face. This enemy was someone I didn't know directly, but I knew that they hated Christians. I was standing my ground and not backing down. After a short while, this person lunged at me. When I put out my hands to stop her, I suddenly realized she had no muscles. She was basically nothing but skin and bones hidden under bulky layers of thick clothing. I could literally blow this person over with my breath. In essence, she was just a voice shouting. After standing up to her, she decided to walk away.

Soon after, I then felt something moving behind me. I suddenly felt something go over me. I instinctively knew it was a shield from God and that I was now fully protected. When I turned, there was a massive black bear standing very close to me. I am not sure if he had tried to attack or not, but the shield would have kept me safe either way.

Upon closer inspection, I realized that the bear was sick and wounded. There were tubes coming from his stomach. These tubes were short, like stints, as if something had been hooking up to the bear. While the bear was angry, he had no energy to attack. Even if he did, I am not sure if he really wanted to.

The bear then suddenly vomited. The vomit was gold and green colored, all covered in a white foam. It was bile. He did not look well at all. I decided to approach the bear. I laid a hand on the bear and prayed for his healing. Tears formed in his eyes.

He nudged me to continue to pray. I called upon Jesus to heal this sickly bear. As I prayed, the bear began to gain strength. I then watched as the stints going into the bear's belly were supernaturally removed. To my shock, the bear started to speak...

Bear: "Do not be afraid of me. I have been weakened. It is what is out there that you should be careful of."

I looked behind the bear. There was a forest of birch trees there. While I could see movement, I was unable to see what it was.

Bear: "They are there, but they are concealed."

I then prayed to the Lord for revelation. While still faint, I could now see many large white tigers with black stripes blending into the birch trees.

Their camouflage was as perfect as you could get. With their black stripes, they blended right in with the stripes on this dense forest of birch trees.

I then prayed to the Lord for even more revelation. The white tigers then changed colors and were now orange tigers. I was shocked as there were many more tigers there than I had first thought. It was extremely frightening.

Me: "They do not belong here!"

Bear: "Yes, but you are part of God's Army and are stronger than them. This is because God is with you. You have His strength and His wisdom inside each of you."

Just then, a tiger sprang up to attack the bear. However, two very large angels suddenly appeared in armor and the tiger scattered in fear. The angels then turned towards us. They towered over us and were more than thirty feet in height.

Angel 1: "There is nothing you can do. While the world slept and attention was drawn to the east, the enemy rose up in the west. They have been allowed to ravage the land."

Angel 2: "It was...and is...a machine that cannot be stopped."

Just then, the angel opened up a hole in which a vision appeared. There in the vision was a dream I had from several years ago. It was a massive machine like a rototiller. However, it now also looked like an excavating machine with a drill had been added. This strange combination is hard to describe. It was devouring the land. Where a normal landscape once stood...a beautiful little home with a white picket fence...was gone in an instant.

Note: After finishing this dream, the Lord helped me clarify some of what this section meant. The rototiller represents the Land of the Dragon and their indirect control of the invasion of Islam to our lands through our governments. The Land of the Dragon has controlled the governments to use these people to soften the countries they have invaded (burden on social programs, unrest, etc.). The excavating machine with a drill represents the Land of the Dragon and their unseen control of our lands. There was also a combine machine that seemed to represent their unseen control of our commodities. Even today's record stock market plummet will benefit the Land of the Dragon as they can now scoop up stocks at a reduced price. Their tentacles are pervasive and now growing exponentially.

Me: "The American Dream is gone. All is lost!"

Angel 1: "Erin, do not worry as this time you are in has been foretold from the beginning. Just remember that the enemy follows the same pattern. This is not new. Even though this is so large in scale, it occurred right in front of all of your eyes. This happened in secret because there were trusted, but crooked in reality, voices telling you that this wasn't actually happening (the media). Now you know it really is. Remember though that you are not to worry as God is with you."

Sub-dream 2 over...

Father, even though I know I shouldn't be, I am still scared and I am still worried! Please strengthen us all. Enemies we thought we had might not be our enemies at all. Hidden enemies we didn't know we had may be much more powerful than we had ever thought. We may even already be in a WWIII right now even though it hasn't been declared yet. Please help us, Lord!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a Heavenly Vineyard. It was sunrise and the dew were like tiny diamonds on the vines. As the sun rose, the warmth and light created a dance of activity around the clusters of grapes. This was so different and I was fascinated. The juice inside the clusters appeared to dance in the light of the sun. When I looked around, I realized that there were no angels harvesting yet. Perhaps it was too early in the morning?

I then noticed the beautiful archway a few rows down the path. I decided to take two grapes before running down the path. They were too big to eat both at once, so I put just one in my mouth. The taste was so amazing that I instantly stopped running. I closed my eyes and I could taste so many different vines in one, even the sweetest wine. It started with white grape, then red, then burgundy, then sweet and then even sweeter still.

I decided to keep the other grape for Jesus to taste. I opened my eyes and continued on my way to the archway. When I arrived, I could see Jesus meeting with a large group of angels at the end of the path. This explained why the angels were not in the vineyards harvesting. I wanted to walk up unnoticed so that I could 'eavesdrop'. Not unexpectedly, there is no 'sneaking up' on Jesus...

Jesus: Smiling. "Hmm, it seems a tiny sparrow has just arrived."

I heard the angels laughing in a good-natured manner. I then started to laugh when I could then hear nothing but music from a divine orchestra. I was laughing because I knew Jesus had turned up the music so that I could no longer 'eavesdrop'. I smiled and shook my head at myself. I could not hear a word of what they were saying.

Jesus then took turns putting His hand on each of the angels' shoulders. Once finished doing this with the last angel, they all started clapping. They then turned to go back to 'doing their angelic business'. Jesus was smiling. His horse was with Him. He laughed as He held up the reins to His horse. I started laughing so hard that it took awhile before I could speak.

Me: "Soooo...'whatcha' up to, Lord?" I was now giggling.

Jesus: Laughing. "Well... reassuring scared sparrows... coaching angel armies... saving the world one soul at a time... you know... the usual. And you?" He was still smiling.

Me: "Oh... You know, Lord... not adding to my days by constantly worrying... stressing... general malaise... You know... the usual." I started to laugh.

Jesus: After laughing so hard. "Well, you are refreshingly honest today! So, have you repented for this yet?" He was smiling at me.

Me: I had to think. "Hmm, I guess I haven't. I am sorry, Lord. How about sending some healing my way, as well as a few 'Heavenly Super Powers', so that I am ready to face what comes our way?"

Jesus: "So, are you trying to negotiate with the Living God?"

Me: Laughing. "Is there another?" We both laughed together. "I believe You are the only Living God before me other than our Father in the Courts of Heaven on His Throne. I would instead like to label this as more of an ongoing negotiation, something like peace talks, but instead these are 'hope talks'!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Okay, okay, this is good. I am glad you continue to press on and pursue the miracles I have promised. Erin, I have given you these dreams so that you would get to know Me as the One Who loves and pursues those I call, My Bride. While it has been a short courtship in Heavenly Time, it has been a long one in Earthly Years. However, I needed you to first learn who I am, not what many say of Me.

"Erin, I am not far removed from you. I am instead the One Who pursues you and has from the beginning. There will soon be a day when I can share things that are hidden with My Bride. However, I have given you dreams and visions like those of 'the prophets of old' so that you would not be caught unaware at the ever-changing landscape before you.

"Right now, you have been looking for and waiting on a massive war. While there will be much fighting, much of what you had expected this to be is different. However, it is actually the same as it has been in history. You have only to look to the pages as the stories of invaders are no different."

Me: "I believe there are nine in the Bible, Lord? Is this the ninth or is there a tenth? Oh, I am not really sure at all about this."

Jesus: Smiling. "Do not worry about this. There have been far more since the beginning. There are several ways to invade. While the most obvious way is 'by force', there are others. However, for right now, this invasion is clever and, like this story you speak of, is..." He then nudged me to finish His sentence...

Me: "Oh yes... Troy... the Trojan Horse!"

Jesus: "Yes, but this is even more slow and methodical. Erin, what have I revealed to you?"

Me: "Lord, this is so awful. It makes me angry. If it were just a few consumer trade goods, it would be easy to stop this war. However, it is instead far greater and more widespread than we ever imagined. A few of our leaders, each of them evil men and women, have sold out North America to a foreign power. We then laid in bed with her and prostituted ourselves, even sacrificing our babies to her in the process.

"She now holds the 'Earthly Reins' to all things essential to life on Earth. This includes medicines to food, to baby formula, vaccines to fight illnesses and all other goods we need for daily living. Our abilities to produce these things stopped because factories closed and left to the Land of the Dragon. Having now made her powerful and very, very rich, we then allowed her to come back in and buy up all of our farms, mills and land so that we are powerless.

"She has paid the media, the politicians and even the search engines. She has done this so that she appears perfect, wholesome and sovereign, like a pure virgin. Oh Lord, the world has laid with her in ten beds just as the dream I had long ago showed. She only needs to remove our defenses and then she wins.

"She even sent Fentanyl over to destroy the young and healthy, those discouraged with no jobs and no hope. She purchased our universities and invaded them with her children. They even stole that which was hidden by learning who we are and where we reside. She even determines the money as many are the banks under her care. Lord, please help us!"

Jesus: "Erin, I will thwart the enemy's plans. Remember Who I am. Remember what I am holding." He smiled and held up His horse's reins. "Now, do not be afraid. While you are correct that the power has shifted, that which was once completely surrendered will now be a fight (due to our soon Transformation).

"I am not pleased. I will not allow the takeover of My people. Do not worry as I have seen her treacherous ways and I have heard her blasphemies. I know her worship of gods and I know how she mocks Me. However, there will come a day, Erin, when every head will bow and every tongue will confess." He smiled. "However, there will be some kicking and screaming before this.

"Now, I have given many of you great knowledge and discernment. Do not practice her ways. Do not burn incense at her altars. Do not follow her wheel and compass as this is not the same as My Calendar. Their wheel is used for conjuring the spirits and conversing with the dead about the living. These 'sensors of evil' are an abomination to Me.

"While they were once Mine, they have since gave themselves over to Moloch. They practice evil and even sacrifice their children by burying them alive in tombs with the dead. Well, Erin, I have never forgotten their cries. They are here with Me. I took them Home to Me. The sins of their fathers are grave as they kill God's children. I hear the cries of martyrs at My Altar."

Me: "Lord, I have rarely seen You so upset!"

Jesus: "This is so you know that I do not sit from My lofty position and turn My back on this, Erin. The lands have been measured and the scales are not equal. I am therefore about to equalize the battlefield. Do your best to come to Me daily, several times a day even. If you have questions, I will answer you. All you thought you knew is about to change. Even so, My love for you will never change. Now, do not worry, as I am with you and I will provide for you. I have you." He smiled. "Do not be afraid."

He smiled again as He reached over and kissed the top of my head. I started thinking about everything He had recently told me. I started remembering so many things.

Me: "Lord, the dream I had about the tigers devouring the babies..."

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, it is true. I have been preparing you for this time in advance. I will soon do even more."

Me: Suddenly remembering the grape I had been holding to give Him. "Lord, I wanted to give You this grape." I put my hand out and opened my palm. The grape rested there. "I am afraid that I have been..."

Jesus: Smiling, He took the grape from my hand and popped it into His mouth. "Hmm, a very good grape, Erin. Thank you. Now, the angels are getting ready for this 'Special Harvest'."

Me: Crying. "Lord, why does all of this have to be so hard?"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, yes, I know it is hard, but just wait. I have a wonderful plan, a plan for those that I have prepared and called. It will not be thwarted." He smiled again as He hugged me.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all that we have. Thank You for dreams and visions. Thank You for sending our Counselor, the Holy Spirit. Thank You for Your Word of Truth, our written 'war handbook', the Bible. Thank You, Father, in all things. You are speaking to me with great clarity and I am so thankful. However, I must admit that I am a bit scared at the same time.

We do not have the means to survive great trouble. We do not have the reserves and the means to survive a prolonged quarantine. Father, I know there are many of us who are experiencing these same concerns. Great fear creates anger and panic. We are also seeing a rise in rage. I now see demonic manifestations like nothing I have ever seen before in my life.

We are coming into a time where we will see both the worst in people and the best in people. We are in the beginning stages of WWIII. Only one nation has devised a scheme of long-term globalization and domination. The Land of the Dragon even calls themselves the center of gravity whereby all things rotate and revolve around them.

In contrast, the American Dream was just a home with a family and a white picket fence. This included freedom to live and enjoy America within its territory. This included serving your fellowman and God, giving Him thanks for all things. This dream was to live in a place apart from hate, prejudice and fear of death.

Instead, something else has been happening under the radar. The Land of the Dragon has been planning a long-term vision to be completed by 2049. Their dream was birthed from a 'Century of Humiliation'. This was the foundation of their rise. The Communist Party rose to power in 1949 and this was the plan that was put into place.

After a hundred years of humiliation by foreign powers, they would now rise up as the global power by 2049. While the rest of the world slept, their slow, methodical takeover began. The USA let this power rise by shifting their power to them. The Land of the Dragon then rapidly rose, mostly in secret, in the following areas:

- Financial resources in all of its forms
- Land acquisitions
- Global market shares
- News media outlets
- Technology
- State of the art military
- Educational resources
- Intellectual property
- Knowledge of the law and the ability to use this to their advantage
- Store house for the Earth's elements, including minerals, rare elements and other precious metals, a type of monopoly

Much of our country's wealthiest people are those who became rich by selling, trading and standing with the Land of the Dragon. However, it is not just the USA that has done this. There is also Canada, Europe, India, Australia, Japan, Singapore, Africa and South America, along with their dreams. Look at it this way. We know that this trouble is coming from somewhere. There is a root. Just follow the money and how it was used in an indirect manner to fuel global unrest in return for their continued gains:

- Who funded and fueled the wars? Was it really Russia?
- Who funded the mass migration of Syrians?
- Who fueled the Middle East wars and why?
- How has this all served to weaken almost all of the nations except the Land of the Dragon?

Father, I am troubled, so troubled, by all of this. We were once independent. We know that there are many who look at the Muslim Brotherhood as the main culprits. Yes, they have their theories and they may even be correct. Yes, there is a massive number of Muslims who long for their savior, Mahdi, to rise up. We know that they have come into different parts of the world to persecute Christians and take the land.

However, this does not make as much sense to me on how they would do this as they are a ruler with no land. Yes, they are a strong religious movement and they are want-to-be invaders of Israel. And yes, perhaps they will be a stronger force soon. However, who is already there? We now know for a fact that this is the Land of the Dragon. They are already an economic powerhouse and getting stronger every day. This makes even more sense to me.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up at God's door. Uriel was there.

Uriel: "God requests your presence. Erin, why did you withhold your dream?"

Me: "I just didn't write it. I am sorry! Is God mad at me?"

Uriel: "While God is not upset with you, you must write what He directs you despite the enemy's efforts to keep you from this. While much of what you have discovered is true, you are not to worry as God's plans are much greater than man's."

Me: "Uriel, I must repent!"

Uriel: "As I have told you before, you are not here under God's judgment. However, He does request your presence."

He placed salve in my eyes and brought me into God's presence. I was now in God's Throne Room. The choirs of angels were singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy'. I fell to my knees with my face to the ground.

Me: "Oh Father, my heart is so very heavy. I see the enemy building up against the nations and we will all soon be in trouble. Stores are out of disinfectants and even toilet paper. Certain medicines have run out on the shelves. The pharmacy was packed. People are panicking. The world has gone into a panic over the Corona Virus. Please have mercy on us. Please protect Your people. Please, Father!"

God: "Erin, I have given you dreams and visions about this time. I am in control. None of this is a surprise to Me. There is an evil plot by a handful of people to destroy the nations. What have I shown you?"

Me: "There has been a plan in place to destroy the USA. This is because certain nations hate Trump. The USA was beginning to thrive again. Jobs and growth were returning. It seemed that Trump had been pointing out and exposing the wicked intentions of several countries and within our government. While they have not tried to kill him yet, I am sure that this is next.

"I believe the virus was started by the Land of the Dragon, working with others against the USA, to cause economic instability. They did this knowing that fear would make the markets plummet. They could then purchase USA stocks at a bargain price so they would have even more control. The virus doesn't seem that bad compared to what it could be, but the news media has been stoking great fear. Father, You raise up kings and throw them down. Please be with our President. Please be with our people."

God: "Yes, Erin, I have appointed him. He was raised for a time such as this. He stood up against corruption. He stood on behalf of those sacrificed to the evil Moloch, the innocent children. He then pointed out the country who has been stealing. This has not gone over well though because this nation has paid for false narratives and confusing reports. They (the Land of the Dragon) purchased these in order to cover up their wicked schemes.

"The truth is then left muddled. There is a master plan being discussed behind closed doors and in secretive meetings hidden from the public.

However, their master plan will not succeed because I will expose it. Those who have witnessed the corruption are threatened and/or paid to keep their silence. Erin, I am God. No plan of man will prevail against Me. I am over all things.

"Though your nation is wounded and your leader dealt a near fatal blow, I will raise him up. I will stop the plans of the wicked. Any nation who sacrifices to false deities, burns incense at the altar of the dead and/or practices Baal worship is unclean. I will not let them go unpunished for their corrupt schemes. They lie to their people.

"However, I have called warriors to rise up in the midst of them. I have seen the sacrifices these warriors have made to spread truth about the Good News of My Kingdom. Therefore, for their sake, the enemy, the wicked leader, will not prevail. I will expose him.

"Now, I have not forgotten My people. There is an assault in place to stop worship and gatherings. They want to stop prayer and silence My elect. Because of this assault against my people, I will turn their celebrations and new moon festivals into a barren haunt for jackals. I will expose their lies as they have angered Me."

Me: "Father, are You speaking about those people in the Land of the Dragon who love You with all of their hearts in secret?"

God: "Yes, Erin. I have not forgotten them. I have not forgotten My people all throughout the nations. I hear their pleas, their petitions and their prayers. I have seen their great faith in the midst of persecution and I have not forgotten them."

Me: "Today is declared a day of national prayer. Father, we love You. Please accept our prayers. You are our Father and a Treasure beyond any treasure on Earth. Father, there is so much fear. Please help us."

I was interrupted here and decided to take a break for the day. The dream continued seamlessly the next day. Received on Monday, March 16, 2020

God: "Erin, never forget that I am always in complete control. I am here. I am with you. Do not be afraid. Though there is great panic, remain strong and be courageous. Do not be afraid. Now, you have a dream that I had given you in the past that is now on your mind."

Me: "Yes, Father. It is the dream about the pale, yellowish/white cow who was very sickly. It was along the side of the road. It was very ominous. Her babies were starving because her milk had dried up."

God: "What were you doing?"

Me: "I was walking and healthy. I was not afraid."

God: "This is because you feed off of the milk and honey of Heaven. This is My promise to you. I have you and you are Mine."

Me: "Father, people are afraid, horribly afraid. 800 people crashed the doors of a major box store and ran in to get supplies. One mom was so distraught because she had little ones with her. There were no diapers and no paper products, including toilet paper. People had compassion on her and gave her some of what they had. This store set a single day sales record that day. We went there the next day and nothing had been restocked. The shelves were emptied. This all seems so ridiculous."

God: "Erin, it will be finished. This is part of the shaking of the land. This will humble the hearts of man. Even so, when this passes, men will continue back on their course. For now, some ask 'does God care?' or 'does God see?' Well, I am not idle. I am not carved of wood or forged in iron.

"I do not sit on a shelf only to be toppled over in a storm or by a great earthquake. I am here and I am God. I have compassion on the meek, the infirm, the orphans and the widows. Who will turn to Me for comfort in great times of distress and who will instead turn to the bearer of bad reports and worshippers of lies?"

Me: "Father, man was created by You for Your enjoyment. Our hearts were originally created to worship You. However, the land is now filled with those who worship self and all things vile. Please turn and have mercy on those who love You and those You have called.

"My faith is in You to save us, but I have no faith in my fellow man to do what is right in Your sight. I have only seen a small snippet of the heart of greed these last few days as people put themselves first above others. It is frightening. Not all people can be trusted in times like these. We see the best in some and the worst in others."

God: "Erin, the world is at war against an unseen threat. I have allowed this so that man would understand that they fight against an unseen enemy and that they are dependent on that which the enemy provides. This is the time man should rend their hearts to Me as I alone control all things. If they turn from wickedness and unclean practices to look to Me, I will save them.

"However, they do not look to Me, so I have given them over to themselves. While I have not forgotten My people, they also must not fear what comes as much of this is meant as a tool to invoke great trembling. The enemy uses fear and lies to destroy. When you hear something, come to Me. When you see a threat, cry out to Me. I will protect you. I will not let you starve or hold your paper products hostage.

"Come to Me. Turn to Me. Do not participate in the enemy's schemes. As a wildfire can spread rapidly and burn field upon field, so can the lies of the wicked spread even faster and burn up the hopes of the righteous. Do not allow this. I am the Giver of Good Gifts. Come to Me with your requests, your petitions and your prayers. In return, I will grant you supernatural wisdom, knowledge and strength to endure."

Me: "Thank You, Father."

God: "There is more. I am about to do something in your days that you would not believe even if you were told. This time has come. I am with you."

Me: "Father, I believe You. Please heal us. Please show Your powers, Your might and Your miracles. Replace our fears with songs of worship to You. Strengthen us. Grant us the ability to run fast like Elijah and stay ahead of our enemies (1 Kings 18:46). Father, please well up in us, fill our vessels, change us and grant us supernatural abilities from Heaven. Please use us to show Your grace and mercy. Please use us to heal the nations...in Jesus' Mighty Name!"

God: "Your petition is good. I find your proposal good."

Me: "So, will You do this today, Lord? Please? Please!"

God: "Allow Me to work, Erin. I know what you ask for and have prepared you with dreams and visions. These are not your imagination. I have planned this from the beginning. Do not worry. I will take care of you and your household, as well as your friends and their children. Do not worry. Rejoice, Erin, for your time of waiting has come to a close. Now, rejoice, I have you. I am with you."

Just then, Uriel reached for my arm and brought me back to my feet.

God: "Bless you, My child. My face will shine upon you and I will be gracious to you. I have turned My face to you and I will give you peace."

I dropped to my knees again. I put my hands up in the air in worship towards God's Throne. I felt a hand on my head. I cried.

God: "My favor is upon you, your children and your family. I will go before you, be beside you, be behind you, all around you and within you. I am with you during your walk in the morning and at all the watches of the night. I am with you when the moon shines brightly or even when darkness comes. I am with you in your coming and your going. I am with you in your weeping and your rejoicing. I am for you, not against you. I am with you. Receive this blessing now. I love you. Erin, I love you."

Me: Crying, but really weeping with joy. "I love You too, Father. I did not know You when I was young. I had turned away from You. However, now that I am older and I love You, You have shown me the favor of kings and a love for my Savior. You have made me wealthy by knowing who You are. You have made my heart glad and my soul rich. I will chase You forever, Father!"

God: Laughing, but in a way that made my entire body smile...hard to describe. "You have Me, Erin. I am with you. I delight in you!"

Uriel brought me to my feet again and back to God's door. I turned around and waved to God. I was filled with an absolute love for Him. A flash of light that I have determined to be a wave back surrounded me. While I could not see Him as His glory is just too bright, I knew this had emanated from His Throne. Uriel brought me through the door.

Uriel: "This is a big day for you, Erin. God has blessed you and your household with a priestly blessing. Now, do not be afraid. Continue to worship Him. Invest in God and the things of Heaven. Do not invest in the lies which lead to the depths of Sheol. I must go now." Uriel was in his full armor. He mounted his horse. "Rejoice, Erin, for God has blessed you and your family."

Me: "My friends too? My friends that are here with me on the Nest (that is, the members on our Nest Forum that have been so faithful to me and my family)?"

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, your friends too. Now, this is a good day!"

He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 391 – Jesus makes Psalm 91 come alive

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family and friends. Father, You know all things and You have from the very beginning. You know the plans You have for us, plans not to harm us, but to give us hope and a future. You give us signs in advance of troubles and You hasten our Spirit to act in order to prepare our households. I never truly understood all of this until now.

I now see that many of the dreams I have had of troubles coming to the lands were not for Tribulation, but were instead for the times leading up to it. When You told us to prepare our houses and finish our tasks, I had no idea it was for this magnitude of trouble. The entire world is battling an unseen enemy, something we really know nothing about. However, You know, Father, and You always have.

So, what does cleaning our homes mean? Cleaning it physically, yes, but more than this. It means to clean up our acts and remove all that is unclean and repent. We are to rend our hearts back to our Father. As prodigals, we return our hearts to You, Father. In order to get our attention, You have removed our status quo using this Corona Virus and the impact of this virus. Father, You have used this to humble us severely. We are completely at Your mercy and at the mercy of the unseen forces all around us. The difference for us who love You though is that we are under Your love, grace, compassion and mercy. I had a dream two days ago that I now realize was a warning. It started with a loud boom. I later found out from my daughter that this boom had actually happened in the house, but was a boom that everyone else in the household, including me, had slept through...

Sub-dream 1 "A Stranger asking for help at 4:00am" begins...

Within my dream, I was awoken from my sleep (wherein I was actually still dreaming) by a loud boom. I looked over at the clock and saw that it was around 4:00am (which was also the actual time of the boom according to my daughter). Within my dream, I got up to look for the source of the loud noise.

While I was unsuccessful in finding the source, I soon noticed that there was a stranger standing at our front door calling out to us for help. He wanted to come in from the cold air and into our warm house. I immediately could tell that he was an evil man by the strange look on his face. He had 'scary eyes'.

Man: "Please let me in. It is cold out here."

Me: "I am sorry, but you are not welcome in our house."

He had a menacing grimace on his face as he touched our doorknob. As he held the doorknob, I saw a red substance first coat the part of the doorknob outside of our house and then move to the part of the doorknob inside of our house.

Man: Yelling. "You must touch the doorknob. I need to get into your house."

Me: Yelling back. "No, I will not."

Man: Now quietly and in a sinister tone. "Don't worry, I will still be able to get inside where you live and breathe."

While he then walked away and was soon off of our property, the doorknob remained the strange red color. I decided to spray the area with disinfectant and the red soon disappeared. As I peered out into the dark, I could see the outline of the man walking away on our road. While I knew he could come back here at some point, I also knew that God would protect us.

Sub-dream 1 over...

I now realize that the Corona Virus was the stranger, the would-be invader, in this dream. Our home is our body and the doorknob is the entry cell into our lungs. This virus has the ability to replicate our cells once it comes into our body. This then makes it a type of weapon against us that we cannot stop. This then can overpower us. Once it enters into our lungs, we then get fevers as our body fights back against these home invaders.

While our bodies can fight against it, it becomes even more difficult to fight if we are already at war with another illness. For those who are already compromised, there is a risk that they will succumb to the fight. This is because they may not have the ability to fend off the invasion of these 'shape shifting cells'. Father, this is a huge analogy to us about unseen forces. This is a thief who comes to rob, steal and destroy.

We live remotely and have very few resources here compared to the rest of the nation. However, this works out well for us as our neighbors are not close in proximity to us and our dogs do not roam free. Our only real contact with the outside right now is to shop for our necessities. This too is disconcerting right now as so much stuff is being cleared off of the shelves. Full aisles are being wiped out.

Cereal, crackers, boxed meals and canned goods are almost all gone now. The only thing in normal supply seems to be non-frozen perishables. The frozen food sections were also mostly wiped out. Thank You, Father, that You supply for our needs. We now pray that the banks, utilities and internet providers remain open.

Many of us will need some miracles. I am still amazed at how fast all of this has been overtaking the lands. Between social distancing and the cancellation of most public events, this has a feel unlike anything most of us have ever experienced. My daughter appears to have found two Bible passages that seem to be talking about just this time...

- First Catch – John 16:31-33: “Jesus answered them, ‘Do you now believe? Behold, the hour is coming, indeed it has come, when you will be scattered, each to his own home, and will leave Me alone. Yet I am not alone, for the Father is with Me. I have said these things to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation. But take heart; I have overcome the world.’”

While just our personal opinion, this sounds like right now, doesn't it? This was in a place in the Bible where Jesus was talking about what will happen at the end. While times will get worse, this certainly seems like an unprecedented start to all that we have been waiting and watching for.

- Second Catch – Isaiah 26:20-21: “Come, My people, enter your chambers, and shut your doors behind you; hide yourselves for a little while until the fury has passed by. For behold, the Lord is coming out from His place to punish the inhabitants of the Earth for their iniquity, and the Earth will disclose the blood shed on it, and will no more cover its slain.”

Again, while just our personal opinion, could this also be pointing towards our soon Transformation? Once we are Transformed, the Earth will no longer conceal her stain. Until then, we are in ‘our rooms behind closed doors’ due to the Corona Virus as we wait for this huge event to finally occur.

Father, thank You for dreams and visions. Recently, one of these dreams were a warning from You. While the content was personal, I still feel that what happened is worth talking about publicly...

Sub-dream 2 “Our Sewage backs up and explodes” begins...

Sewage was backing up throughout our home. It was coming out of every piece of plumbing, every drain. It kept coming and coming and would not stop. No matter what we did, we were helpless and at the mercy of what was backing up in our system. The stench was horrific.

Sub-dream 2 over...

This dream startled me awake, a rare occurrence. At first, I thought perhaps there was a hidden problem in our household that, if left unchecked, would come back at us. I was not thinking of the very simple interpretation...our septic tank might need pumping. Duh...lol!

I asked my husband the next morning and he thought that we last had it pumped less than two years ago. This would have been a normal time as we made sure this happened every two years. Well, it turns out it was almost three years ago. We were overdue. While nothing was happening to our pipes...yet...we made an appointment. This was then completed by a waste company yesterday. This is the conversation that took place between the pump guy and my husband...

Pump guy: "When did you last have this pumped?"

My husband: "I thought it was less than two years ago, but it turns out to be almost three years ago."

Pump guy: "Are you sure you didn't have any problems?"

My husband: "No. Why?"

Pump guy: "Because I just pumped out 650 gallons from a 550-gallon tank. You should have had major problems."

My husband: "No, nothing happened."

Pump guy: "Well, all I can say is that someone must have been looking after you."

Okay, how cool is that? While God sometimes allows these types of things to happen, is it not just amazing when He helps us avoid these things. At first, I was not going to share this, but my husband and I thought it would be a fun (though slightly gross) story to share, so there you go! Yes, Father, You were and are looking out for us. Thank You! This was a miracle of epic proportions. Thank You!

So, Father, this virus has officially kept us isolated. While the rest of the world is now getting sicker, the Land of the Dragon, where this virus originated, is getting better. Father, I then had a dream that You had rebuked me for not writing down. I avoided this dream mostly because I felt it could jeopardize the Nest.

I am sorry. When I later went to write this dream down, I felt You tell me not too, at least for now. I repent as clearly You are aware of everything and nothing is beyond You. While my dreams last night were mostly sad, the night finished on a high note with a dream of great miracles! This dream was post-Transformation and had me smiling!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in the Heavenly Vineyard. The smell was fragrant and the skies were blue. It was dawn. As I looked at this vast vineyard, I realized that the grapes, God's special reserve of fine grapes, had now been fully harvested. I began to look for any grapes that could still be remaining on the vines. There were no grapes at all to be gleaned. I guessed that this was most likely a good thing. I looked around me and there were no angels harvesting.

I then looked down the rows to the beautiful valley and all seemed peaceful and quiet except for the sound of songbirds. I ran down the row I was standing in and could soon see the beautiful archway that leads to the aspen grove. As I neared the archway, there was a flash of light. I paused as, right there, was standing our awesome Savior. It stopped me in my tracks. He was, and is, so handsome.

Jesus was in His King's armor with a beautiful Crown. His horse was next to Him. He smiled and waved for me to come to Him. I ran as fast as I could. The light around Him was like that of the Throne of God. I dropped to my knees before Him and began to cry. I was scared for all that is to come. Jesus bent down to bring me to my feet. He then hugged me.

Before continuing, I wanted to include a happy note: Whenever the term 'friends' is spoken of in these dreams, this usually always means the members on our Nest Forum and our readers from around the world that have been so faithful to me and my family. While we have other 'non-Nest friends' locally, they tend to usually be more worldly Christians that are not looking for His return and are certainly not ones that want to talk about these dreams.

While we still pray for them too (of course), it is our Nest family that has been with us every step of the way and have been such a huge blessing in my otherwise lonely walk (other than my family, of course). When I say this, this is from an earthly perspective, not a Heavenly perspective. I am never alone as the Lord is always with me!

May God bless each of you greatly for your amazing friendship over these years of the dreams. What a blessing you have all been to us on this amazing journey! Since I anticipate many more faithful friends still to come once these dreams become widely distributed, just know that this is also about you 'late comers' even if you are reading this in the future! Fun thought, right? Anyway, back to the dream...

Jesus: "I am here, Erin. I am with you. I will never leave you. I have you. I have your children. I have My beloved, your friends. I will never leave any of you. Do not be afraid. Oh My Little Sparrow, I will save you from the fowler's snare and from the deadly pestilence. My protection will also be your Shield and your Rampart.

"You will no longer fear the terror of night nor the arrow which attacks by day nor the pestilence that stalks in the darkness. You will no longer fear that which is hidden and you cannot see. You will no longer fear this plague that destroys in the middle of the day at noon. A thousand may fall at your side, ten thousand at your right hand, but it will not come near you.

"You will only observe with your eyes and see the punishment of the wicked men and women. Erin, I am your Dwelling Place, your Refuge and your Shield. No harm will come to you nor disaster hit your house. See, I have commanded angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways. Now, let Me strengthen you."

Me: "Please, Lord, please do. Lord, the grapes are now all gone. Was I not considered? Did I make too many great errors? Please forgive me!"

Jesus: "Do you love Me, Erin?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. I would lay down my life for You. I love You. I just want to serve You." I was now crying. "What if..."

Jesus: He smiled at me as He gently interrupted my negative thought. "Erin, look at Me. Look into My eyes."

As I looked into His eyes, scenes started to unfold. I saw massive crowds of angry people. Many of these people were upset at the lack of supplies. However, there was plenty to help those suffering on the other side of a barrier. In order to get help, people offered up money and even their children.

The men controlling the supplies were wicked. They had no concern for the pleas of the people. A foreigner, a commander, received a call. I could hear it in my thoughts. A box was brought forward by his order. Rats came out from the box. All of these rats were infected.

Me: "Oh Lord, this is so awful."

Jesus: "Wait, Erin."

I looked back into His eyes. I then saw people beginning to cry out to God. An army from God then came out to help them.

Jesus: "You see, Erin, you will tread upon the lion and the cobra. You will trample the great lion and the serpent. The grapes have been made into new wine, a vintage made in Heaven. This has been reserved for this time."

Me: "Lord, in my dream, You spoke of Amos."

Jesus: "Yes, this is true. The days are coming when the reaper will be overtaken by the plowman and the planter by the one treading grapes. New wine will drip from the mountain here and will flow from all the hills. Remember, I have kept My good wine until now. Look to this great valley as Heaven is celebrating this time, Erin."

Me: "Is this because many are coming Home here?"

Jesus: "Well, there is that, but it is much greater a celebration. There is great fear that has been fueled by false reports. This is a great war, but it is being fought in a different way. The dream you were given several days ago that I allowed you to withhold confirmed that this was an orchestrated attack. This was done in a way so that only a few nations would be in control, but ultimately for the one nation not dedicated to Me and not under Heaven.

"All of this has been allowed to rend hearts back to Me. However, there are very few that are doing so. They are instead being separated from Me by lies and fears. This deception is not from Me. One nation wants to rule all the others. This enemy gained a foothold while the world slept. They are buying up all the resources in order to gain control. From the reports your eyes saw in My eyes, lifesaving remedies were being held back from the old, the sick and the infirm by wicked leadership.

"Oil prices were also purposely dropped as an attack against the land that was once fully dedicated to Me. Erin, I have granted permission for the enemy to begin to strike this land and its people. However, for those who look to Me, I will still save them. However, for those who look only to man or idols, then the idols will need to place them under their wings.

"Still, their wings will take them nowhere but to Sheol. They will not turn from their wickedness even while facing death and the scarcity of breath, understand? However, I will have compassion on the lands and will send a Great Army. One will have the strength of a thousand men. They will perform awesome deeds.

"They will scale a wall and leap over a hill. However, and even more, they will share the Message of Good News, My Truth. Oh Erin, do not look downcast for I will be with each of them. Do not look downcast as you too are in this number! So, rejoice, as all of you that I have chosen for this will now be the bearer of Good News...because He loves you..."

Me: Crying with joy. "Me?"

Jesus: "Yes, Erin, you too." He smiled as He gently nudged me. "Yes, Erin, you will soon declare that the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob is God over all things. I will rescue him and protect him for he acknowledges who I am. He will call upon Me and I will answer him. I will be with him in trouble. I will deliver and honor him...and her...with great celebration. Now, Erin, rejoice, as I am with you to share the Good News. Beautiful are the feet which bring Good News.

"When you hear a bad report, come to Me. I will clarify it and its origins. Be diligent and do not practice uncleanness. However, you are not to be afraid. Trust in Me with that which you cannot see. Though you worry for your household, do not, as I am with you. I will deliver you from trouble and I will not let troubles come. Be still and know who I am. If I am with you...and I am...then who can stand against you?"

Me: "Oh Lord, no one is greater than You!"

Jesus: "Wonderful! We have established a good thing. Come, I have some new wine I would like you to drink."

Me: I was so excited! "I love You, Lord. Thank You."

Jesus: He smiled at me as He looked into my eyes. "You are welcome."

Dream over...

Dream 392 – Uriel: Nations rise against nations

Finished on Sunday, March 22, 2020

Received on Saturday, March 21, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love and continued care for us. Thank You for my family and friends. Please bless them during this great time of uncertainty. There is great fear moving across the land. As I thought on this, a large bald eagle flew over our front yard and circled our home. Even though You have given me a prelude to these events in my dreams and visions, I never imagined a time like this.

Father, I truly thought it would look different. However, in the physical, everything You showed me is happening now and, very soon, even more. My last three nights of dreams are difficult to write down as it is still hard to believe things like this will soon occur. It is as if all of the gates of hell could soon be opened.

All of this makes me feel so ill. I really thought that the third world war would be a physical war with attacks and violence. I imagined bombs, attacks, invasions and destruction, but I never imagined what is really going on. The enemy is continuing to quietly lay a great trap for us 'whilst we sleep'.

I tried to wrap my head around what would cause people to stay at home and shelter in place if there was a military attack during wartime. I wondered how the physical city of Jerusalem could remain standing while her people were dying. I tried to understand what would cause shortages of food, medicines and essentials. I could not understand what event could occur that would make it so our family could not go to the city alone. While You had showed me this, my imagination simply could not understand it.

When You showed me Portland OR in lock down, I thought 'how could this be?' When You showed me the vacant, desolate streets of San Francisco with gangs of marauders, I again thought 'how could this be?' I found myself wondering 'where did all the people go?' Now I know. The people are confined to their homes. This time is now. Father, what concerns me even more though is what is yet to soon come.

We, as a nation, have sold our soul to a hostile regime posing as a friend or mutual host. The people here don't even know it is happening. This hostile regime has the means and has paid for great control over all that we see and the goods we purchase. The Land of the Dragon has grown wealthy from our patronage. At one time, we were the ones supplying our country, as well as the nations, with lifesaving goods. However, we have turned away from God as a nation and now our power has been siphoned.

The lies told to us are beyond ridiculous. Some even border on insanity. However, this is what we have come to expect when our media and all or most of what we look to is paid for and purchased by this foreign regime. I am just so thankful that You have raised up at least a handful of government workers, including our President, to not lay down and allow these hostiles to take over without a fight.

Some of us are now finally realizing that we have been lied to by evil, false reports. As Your Word says in Isaiah 5, all of these woes are here. Father, please don't forget those here who still love You, those of us who still diligently pray for the nations and for the souls of those who were asleep and are now slowly awakening. Please remember us and our families. There are still people here that continue to look to You in all things. I had an odd dream two nights ago...

Sub-dream 1 "Gangs rob the citizens of the land" begins...

I was shown the extent to which the Land of the Dragon had invested great wealth to sow into a vast field. They had so much power that they paid those who governed to set free the evil and condemn those who argue for the safety of others. I saw men being released and given money and means to spread out into territories. I saw a large city, possibly New York City, being filled with evil groups.

They had formed to wait like predators for people to leave their homes for food or supplies. I saw an elderly man in his late sixties leave to go to the store for food. He also had a list for several others on his floor in their apartment. The man was well-meaning and goodhearted. He was doing this to help others.

On his way to the store, and with very few witnesses, the evil gang jumped the man. They then dragged him to a bank machine and forced him to withdraw all that he could. They then stole all he had on him, including his ID, beat him and left him to die on the street alone. There were many more doing evil things and all of it was just so disgusting. The weak were being taken advantage of severely and it was so sad.

As another example, in the outer areas, evil men and women went door to door to gain entry to various homes. While they took advantage of many types of people, they tended to focus their attention on the elderly by posing as a utility worker or national guard. I saw these evil people then steal their checks out of mailboxes. They would then later go to their homes and force them to endorse their checks. For the elderly that were senile, they pretended to be their relative so they could rob them of everything.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, darkness is being unleashed upon the light. The prisoners are being set free and evil is given the green light to punish those who are vulnerable in their homes. There is no one to stand for the widow, the elderly or the weak. They are like sitting ducks in an arcade as evil knocks on every door desiring to come in. For those who are fooled, robbery and even death awaits them. This evil is coming for them now.

Father, I also had a dream a few days ago of some Mormon people I had known. They are expecting You to raise them up soon to their 'special status'. According to their religion, Elijah gave them great powers when he appeared to Joseph Smith, the founder of the Mormons. They believe this time for them is now.

Sub-dream 2 "Mormons with their ears sewn shut" begins...

I was trying to talk to some Mormon people I had known, but they seemed to be unable to listen to what I had to say about the Truth about Jesus. When I looked closer, I realized that their ears were literally sewn shut. This is why they could not hear me. However, they were okay with this as they were waiting for their false version of the 'Transformation' as promised to them by Joseph Smith. This was so heartbreaking as they were such kind people to me when I had lived in Washington State.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Oh Father, the deception on Mormons is so great. They have been trained not to listen to anyone outside of the Mormon religion. This makes conversion very, very difficult. I just find it interesting that the earthquake that recently hit Salt Lake City made the twelve-foot gold angel Moroni statue drop its trumpet. It fell. If only they knew that God was trying to wake them up, including symbolically, with this great shaking.

As for here, our town is now a ghost town. Everything is closed. It seemed to happen overnight. Only essential businesses are allowed to be open now. Many are now fearing a soon complete lock down. As my husband has recently called it, we are already in a 'soft quarantine'.

Communion

Dear Father,

Twelve years ago today was the morning after my last Near Death Experience (or NDE). I had woken up on March 22, 2008 with an odd feeling about my Spirit. It was as if the Silver Cord from Heaven had not been fully severed. I had a type of covering of peace over me which is difficult to describe. I had a knowing that God was and is and is soon to be much, much greater than all of my troubles.

I had no fear of the world because I had met my Creator God. He warned me it would be a difficult journey. The feeling I had spiritually and physically lasted for about three days after and was unlike anything I can describe. While I simply can't describe it adequately, I will still give it a try. I was able to notice small, lovely things as signs from Jesus. My body also felt very unusual compared to normal.

Yes, I had aches and bruises from my fall, but it was something else, something much greater. It was like a warm fire had been ignited in my soul, a Heavenly flame. I was warmed from within and felt as if I had a glow to me. However, since I had children that depended on me, I went about my business normally. This was a feeling inside that I was sharing just between me and my Creator. I honored God fully and was thankful for every beat of my heart and breath of air into my lungs.

Something unusual happened to me recently as I slept. In the early morning of March 20, 2020, You woke me up from my sleep twice. The first time You woke me up was with the words...

'Time to Mobilize!'

The second time You woke me up was with the words...

'Prepare the Oil!'

This unusual event happened again in the early morning of March 22, 2020 (last night) when I was again awakened twice. The first time You woke me up was with the Aaronic Blessing from Genesis...

'His face shines upon you in your coming and going!'

The second time You woke me up was about an hour later when I was given a specific directive...

'Blow the Trumpet in Zion! Tell My people!'

I went back to sleep after this and had yet another strong dream...

Sub-dream 3 "The 'Evil Fruit' Bearing Tree" begins...

I noticed a deceptive root that was rising up out of nowhere. This root then grew into an 'evil fruit' bearing tree. It was trying to trick me into eating from it. The tree soon became angry with my refusal to partake in its fruit. It then tried to trick me again by making it easier to eat by shaking its branches to drop the fruit to the ground. I again refused. When it saw that I was not being tempted at all, the tree began to curse me. These fruits then manifested into various people that had been my 'in-laws' at a time that has since past.

Sub-dream 3 over...

This dream was so disturbing that I decided to get up. You then called me to continue writing down these dreams even though You know that I am scared of the dreams I am having lately. The enemy is taking this opportunity to hold us captive in our own homes. It seems innocent enough right now, but what I have seen in my dreams of things to come have really bothered me.

Father, You appoint leaders and You take them down. Please protect our leader, President Trump, as You have sent him. Father, there are so many lies circulating about him that I consider our ears and eyes to be under siege as well. Please send help in Jesus' Mighty Name!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was standing near the pond at God's Door and it was beautiful. The flowers were blossoming and there were all types of small animals, butterflies and birds. The fountain in the middle of the pond created ever changing designs. The designs were intricate and never the same. It was like nothing on Earth. I walked over to the pond and decided to sit at the base of the beautiful weeping willow. This willow was blossoming and each blossom was perfect.

Me: "Thank You, Father. This place is so restful. It is lovely."

I laughed as my two bunny friends came over to sit on my lap. While cuddling them, I soon felt a hand on my shoulder. It was Uriel. He looked serious, so I moved the small bunnies from my lap onto the grass. Uriel helped me to my feet. He was in full armor.

Uriel: "Come, I have been sent by God to show you what will occur."

He squeezed my hand and we were instantly at the overlook of Earth from Heaven.

Uriel: "Erin, as in the Words of the Prophets, namely Isaiah, I will reveal what God has instructed me to. Look here..."

I saw Tarshish, a distant Isle which was/is Japan. I saw the North Territory, which appears as Europe or the union of northern countries. I then saw the country of Cyprus, which had roots in the east. I saw the label Sin, Sidon, but I also saw the Chaldeans.

Me: "Uriel, I do not understand. What am I to see? I am not certain I understand."

Uriel: "You were told that various troubles came to the Israelites on their exodus by those who went along with them. This happened because the rabble had their roots from the fallen. These were the multitudes. They caused clamor, worry, mistrust and deception. They followed the elderly and the very young and sowed seeds of discord. They were not of God's people and many practiced their own rituals.

"What you are seeing are the root areas of what the prophets spoke of. A great alliance is occurring...with nations against one nation. The area you know as Europe will gather more nations. The nation which is rooted here..."

He pointed to Cyprus. "...is now the place of Sin." The area east was highlighted as the Land of the Dragon.

Me: "Who is Tarshish?"

Uriel: "A land who was severely humbled and has never healed from the afflictions from your nation 75 years ago."

Me: "Japan? But I thought they were our allies?"

Uriel: "The one nation has slowly risen up and has formed alliances and strongholds with other nations. Another nation has purchased the shipping ports. Yet another has purchased the oil. These were purchased around Tyre. Tyre is ill. The land is humbled. Two nations will rise up to aid portions of the other areas." I saw Russia and the Land of the Dragon aiding Europe. "There is a common goal...to strengthen and gather up the nations to take down the one."

Me: "Israel?"

Uriel: "No, Erin. Israel will be given over during the midst of this. I am showing you the nation once under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Me: "The USA? Oh no!"

Uriel: "There is one nation (the Land of the Dragon) who has purchased the other nations, as well as the kings with no lands. They have cut down God's saints and have tortured them. They have worked with other nations and stirred up lies to fight against the one nation (the USA). This one nation (the Land of the Dragon) has a vast army and nothing will be able to stand against it. These nations will surrender willingly."

Me: "How can this be? Why don't they fight?"

Uriel: "A man who is sick and in need of a cure will die if not helped. The one who cures the man is considered his 'savior'. The sick man is then forever in his debt, understand? Think of this in another way. A man who owns the banknote on another man's loan has the power. As his lender, the poor man is at his mercy.

"You will soon see properties vacated by force and mansions with no occupants. There will be nothing they do not own. This nation is eventually hated by the nations when they finally realize they too have been controlled and deceived by her. This will give rise to another leader. This leader will rise to be the one they call 'savior'. He will take his seat in the heart of Tyre."

Me: "Do you mean the city of Berlin?"

Uriel: "This is not important right now. Just know that the people of the nations have been greatly deceived. This nation wants complete control. Remember, they come peacefully at first in order to gain trust. They then use money, power and lies to hold territories under siege."

Me: "I don't understand. What is Japan's role in all of this?"

Uriel: "While Japan has many ships, the Land of the Dragon owns most of the shipping lanes and harbors. Then there is Russia. Russia seeks control of the skies."

Me: "This is so disturbing. I am sick."

Uriel: "This is 'as written', Erin. This nation has caused division. They purchased the lies that the people now believe."

Me: "Uriel, what can be done? What about South America, Mexico and Canada? What about Australia? We still have allies, right?"

Uriel: "Yes. You still have allies to the north and to the south. However, both of these countries are gateways. Erin, all of the nations are being humbled."

Me: "But how can this be? If we are all under house quarantine across the land, how can we be enjoying marriages and ordinary daily routines right up to the great and terrible day of the Lord? Uriel, what is all of this that we are experiencing now?"

Uriel: "This is the world at war. It is a slow and...soon...a very painful takeover, one in which maps have already been redesigned in Sin (the Land of the Dragon)."

Me: "What? Really? That is so arrogant!"

Uriel showed me a map from the Land of the Dragon. It showed their desired takeover of the nations. They were planning 'One Government, One Currency, One Religion'!

Me: "But, Uriel, I thought we were looking at the Muslim nations to do this?"

Uriel: "Make no mistake...they also desire to wipe your nation from the map, as well as Israel. However, they have instead been sent out in the form of a great exodus in order to soften the land. This is so hearts are destroyed and hope gone until their 'savior' returns, the 'one who will rise up' and take his seat. This will not be our Lord though, Erin, but an imposter.

"Remember that Israel has many enemies. She has been protected by the USA, so this has kept them from attacking. However, this nation, once loved and revered by all, has now prostituted herself with her enemy. That enemy is now gathering up all of the nations against her to overcome her (the USA)."

Me: "Uriel, we will be destroyed if God doesn't intervene."

Uriel: "Do not worry, Erin, as God is with you."

Me: "How could we have let this happen? It is so painfully obvious now. The very scenario people spoke of in His Word is happening."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin. You cannot prevent that which is God's Will. Erin, you have been prepared for such a time as this."

Me: "Yes, Uriel, but not as I am right now. Look at you...you are in full armor and fully equipped. You know where the enemy is at all times. Look at me...without the Lord, I am old, weak and powerless. I don't even have the strength at times to write the horrible things He has shown me that are coming. Really, though...I am scared!"

Uriel: "You are a daughter of the King. You are royalty. Do not worry, Erin, as the enemy will not prevail against you."

Me: "Uriel, I see something else coming, something that spills into the sea."

Uriel: "This is later. What I have told you is happening or is soon to happen. This great nation under God protected Israel, but is now struggling to protect itself. The massive nation of Sin (the Land of the Dragon) has seduced Israel. Israel has prostituted herself also and has sold portions of God's land."

Me: "Wait! What? How can this be?"

Uriel: "Remember, the enemy comes as a peaceful friend, offers this and that and writes contract deals that cannot be declined. Once in, they are able to control the situation. While God has blessed Israel and the nation of your birth with wisdom and knowledge, the Land of the Dragon does not possess this. This is why they must steal God's land, ideas and blessings from His people.

"The leader of the Land of the Dragon believes that, if he can control all things, he will then reign as god over all. However, he is actually under the God of Israel and will soon bow before Him and one day surrender. This leader also does not see what is coming up in the midst of all of this. God has a plan, Erin, and this comes quickly. You have not been forgotten.

"God has given you the gift of discernment. While God knows that I just gave you much information, He sends His message to prepare you in advance of this. While you will be hated because of this, you will also be strengthened. Do not be afraid. Do not turn against your leader (President Trump) as he has been appointed by God to stand against the enemy's schemes.

"Now, I have a battle to get back to. Continue to understand that those offering 'good will' are not always doing the will of God, but that of the enemy. Do not let strangers into your home. Do not wander outside alone. God does not say this to create fear. However, this was designed by your enemy to create great fear and the false sense that the world's savior is Sin (the Land of the Dragon)."

Me: "One more thing, Uriel...who are the Chaldeans?"

Uriel: "A root. The ancient Chaldeans were trained by the fallen, including in the crafts of stargazing, astrology and all types of fortune telling. Nebuchadnezzar was also Chaldean in root. They have been scattered and even went to India and Sin (the Land of the Dragon). Their practices were taken up with the people of the lands and adopted. Some are Muslim today."

Me: "When did they scatter?"

Uriel: "With the fall of Babylon."

Me: "Okay, so, they are not an issue right now?"

Uriel: "Hmm, yes, Erin, they are, as the ancient Chaldeans are a movement which infiltrated the move of God and His Son."

Me: "Oh, like the New Age Movement? There are also many other kinds of practices which are unclean!"

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, as this is meant to make the clean unclean in God's eyes. However, God looks at the heart. They have gone out across the land and spread ancient practices. These have since been worshipped."

Me: "I see. So not necessarily physical, but spiritual demonic entities."

Uriel: "Yes. However, do not concern yourself with this. There is a greater concern and this is practiced with the Word of God. This king of Sin (the leader of the Land of the Dragon) has changed God's Word to place himself as 'savior'. This is an abomination to God. He is retraining and reeducating, by torture, God's children. Pray for God's people under his regime." He could see me worry.

"Erin, these things have been written. This is of no surprise. Now, do not be afraid as God is with you. He is about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told. Now, I must go."

Me: "Thank you, Uriel. Be safe."

Uriel: "We are and so are you and your family. So too are your friends and their children. He has you. Do not be afraid as God is with you."

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for all You do for us. Thank You for Your protection. Thank You for the blessing of friends and family. I had a couple of interesting dreams last night...

Sub-dream 1 "An exposed bed" begins...

I was overlooking a large field. In the middle of the field, I saw a bed. The bed was completely exposed to the elements. It was in a wide-open space with no walls. I looked down at my body as I stood looking and noticed that I was in a young state. When I looked at the bed again, I decided to drop to my knees. I took a deep breath and recited the Lord's prayer. It felt fantastic to pray.

Sub-dream 1 over...

I woke up from this dream at around 4:00 am. I went back to bed and had another dream...

Sub-dream 2 "Picking out a walking cane" begins...

I was searching for the perfect walking stick. I wanted the right one. I wanted this stick to be sturdy, not hollow, so that I could steady myself on an icy path if I needed to. There was a fine selection of sticks for me to choose from. I tried each one out and soon decided on one that had a beautiful patina of rosewood. It was tall and slightly twisted. It had one end of brass and leather.

For some reason, I decided to screw off the brass tip. Underneath this brass tip was something like an ice pick. I then heard one of my children call out to me..."Mom, you could also use the green cane." I picked the green cane up. While it was a beautiful hand carved cane, it was hollow. While it had a hook for my hand, something I would normally want, I realized that I did not need this anymore as I no longer had any troubles with my grip.

Sub-dream 2 over...

I had to go into town yesterday for groceries. I was not sure what I would find there at the store. I went late in the day to avoid crowds. I took my older son. I wanted to purchase chicken. There was a limit of two for each customer. However, this did not matter as none were left. There were also no sanitizers, cleaners, wipes or soaps. There was also still no toilet paper. Fortunately, we still have enough for two weeks.

While there were vegetables and fruits there priced for quick sale, most of them were not looking great. However, what was really disturbing was how many specialty departments were closed. This included the bakery case, the meat case, the deli case and the seafood case. It seems as if any fresh products that require being in the open air are going to be closed permanently until the pandemic passes.

All in all though, and for the most part, I was surprised that there was still so much available. It was good to see. However, there is now talk of mandatory 'stay at home' orders, which, of course, is disconcerting. In reality, people are already staying at home anyway as there is nothing to do when the city is already pretty well shut down.

Fortunately, we are still connected though. We have online school set up and an online small group at church. There is also online worship. This is all good. However, we live in the country so there can often be volume overloading our internet services. This is because of overuse since our neighbors and businesses are mostly working from home now. For some blocks of the day, we have very little and/or very slow service.

Father, my Holy Spirit is telling me that all of this is a wide spread experiment. It seems to be a case study of sorts on fear and resilience. Every time I see a cotton swab used, I think of that dream I had with mandatory DNA testing. This would be so diabolical if they were disguising this as a health testing kit for the virus. Where is the data to be stored? Perhaps there were not enough people purchasing 'ancestry boxed kits'.

If I could invent a scenario like what we are currently living in and wrote a script for a movie, it would not even be considered as the studios would say it was too farfetched. Well, even so, here we are, right in the most unbelievable global scenario since the second world war. Perhaps I should have paid more attention to World War Z when I watched this a few years ago.

There is a piece of news that seems like good news, but is almost so unbelievable, it is hard to believe it is true. ISIS has called for a temporary suspension of jihad events due to the virus. This one really cracked me up. In reality, we can look at all of this Corona Virus stuff as an enemy attack because it is. It is also a giant lesson from You, Father, on how the enemy works. This is actually really huge.

This seems to be given by You as a time to reflect on our own heart condition and as a time to prepare our homes and lives for a long period of isolation. This also seems a time where we should be listening more, praising more, worshipping more and rending our hearts fully to You more. Hey, why not pray for others more while we are at it!

In summary, what we are seeing right now is Biblical Prophecy unfolding as a live action show. Yes, Father, we are the ticketholders to Your Divine Show. Well, we have now auditioned for a part in this Show and pray that we are able to soon participate as part of the Cast of Your Great Event.

After writing this down, I suddenly felt a strong desire to pray for my friends here on the Nest, along with our global readership. I felt that I was to make this prayer in depth...

Father, please keep each of us free from harm. To all of our friends who live alone, please keep them connected to us and keep the enemy's attacks far from them. Please be with them to comfort them as their Father and Friend. To our friends with families and children at home, please do not let the enemy get a foothold or gain access by technology or by contact. Keep all of us safe.

With my friends like me with medical issues, oh Father, we need miracles. Please heal us where we are and let none of us fall to illness. Please keep any dental issues completely far away. Where we are, the dental offices are closed unless it is a dire emergency. Father, please heal every cavity, swollen root, abscess and broken tooth.

To anyone who cannot get medical care right now, please keep every infection away from their bodies. Please keep all kidney, urinary and gall bladder issues far away. I feel in my heart that some are having horrible heartburn, or acid reflux, because of nervousness of the times we are in. Father, please calm their spirit and their stomach. Better yet, please heal them.

I also feel in my heart that there are many who have joint pain, muscle aches, RLS, arthritis, lupus and/or some combination. Father, please grant them relief from this, but, better yet, healing. There are also those with pacemakers, blocks, high or low blood pressure and other heart issues. Father, again grant them relief. Please heal us so that we are calm in our Spirit. Please be the beat of every heart.

Please fill our veins with rich, oxygenated blood. There are also those with lung conditions, including breathing problems, COPD and asthma. It is truly scary not being able to take a deep breath. It is also scary when the coughing starts to really hurt. Father, flow pure air into our lungs, air straight from Heaven. Father, You are the breath of life. Breathe deeply into each one of us the rarified air of our Heavenly Home.

I know that these are just a handful of the issues and that there are many more. However, Father, You are our Creator and our Best Friend. Breathe into each one of us! I declare Ezekiel 37 as we are Your Remnant of the Spiritual Tribe of Israel. We are but dry dead bones in a valley. Please, Father, take our tired old bones and raise us up. Breathe into us and flow through us.

Please let us be Your Supernatural Army. Lord, please let us be like Your Crown Jewels, Your Corona, but a Holy Corona! Please let us be Your Heavenly Miracles so that the wicked can no longer hide from You. Please grant us the strength of a thousand strong men. Please let us be able to scale walls and leap hills like Jacob's sons. Please let us be able to run like Elijah, ahead of his enemies, our enemies.

Please let us be able to multiply the loaves and fishes to feed the hungry. Please let us drive out demons and heal the sick like Jesus did...and still does. Please let us even add limbs to those who have been maimed in wars. Please let us give sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf.

Please let us make tongues confess that You still love Your children. Father, please consider us...the downtrodden, the afflicted, the hidden, the meek and the lame. Please anoint us and call us up in that number 'when the saints go marching in!' Father, we plead for all of this in Your Mighty Name, in Jesus' Mighty Name, Amen!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was right there in front of me. He was in his full armor again.

Uriel: "Erin, God has heard your prayers. He finds it good. You are ready and waiting for Good News. Do not worry as the Lord, God of Hosts, has a day. While men labor, prepare their homes and diligently fortify their palaces in anticipation, they do not look to Him Who did this or see Him Who planned this long ago. Erin, this is as written...

"You have been told, 'Come, My people, enter your chambers and shut your doors behind you, hide yourselves for a little while until this has passed by' (Isaiah 26:20). Remember, also, because you have prayed to be like the sons of Jacob, 'In the days to come, Jacob shall take root. Israel shall blossom and put forth shoots and fill the whole world with fruit' (Isaiah 27:6). Erin, your prayer is good! Now, I must go."

Me: "Okay, Uriel, but I need to ask you something before you leave. How much longer do we need to wait for our time in service in God's Army to begin? Many of us are getting anxious while we wait for His perfect timing. Uriel, when will all of this start?"

Uriel: Smiling. "Erin, the day is upon you... 'a little while'."

Me: "How about today, Uriel? How about right now?"

Uriel: Laughing. "Oh Erin, just a little more patience is required, understand?" He smiled. "Erin, if there was no war right now...no enemy and no battle...then there would be no threat. To have this answer prior to 'That Day' is to also lack wisdom. Pray for wisdom, Sparrow! Now, I must go...the battle rages!"

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day and fresh snow! This is a blessing. Thank You for friends and family. Thank You for the ability to communicate as best we can during this now worldwide lockdown. Please keep our services running and our utilities on. Thank You for keeping this illness from us. In the midst of all of this, there are songbirds on the tree outside my window.

This is a great reminder that there are still so many reasons to praise You! Thank You for the promise of spring. Thank You also for the blanket of fresh white powdery snow. It is beautiful. So many things are happening... or, really, not happening... right now because of the Corona Virus. All businesses except for necessary businesses are closed. It is now rumored that school will not reopen and my daughter's graduation will be cancelled. Most government offices are closed.

What makes all of this even more difficult is that the situation is still fluid and ongoing. As people around here are obeying protocol, the city is now like a ghost town. It is like a Twilight Zone episode out there. It is so oppressive. People are downcast. The mood is somber. So many things are now being shut down without warning. Thankfully, Father, we still have food. I had two quite vivid dreams last night...

Sub-dream 1 "The Lions and the Mansions" begins...

I was either in a fancy resort hotel or a massive mansion with many rooms. The resort had a beautiful garden in front of it with varying layers of different varieties of hedges. There were also boxwood hedges that were low and geometric in design. I was there attending some ceremony. After this, there was music and a great reception. For some reason, I could not stay as I had to get back to my home.

I had been wearing a flashy gown made of a rose gold fabric that looked like liquid metal (but was not). I exited out the main doors and walked down the beautiful stone stairs. The garden was illuminated in lights. When I arrived at the bottom of the stairs, I decided to take off my impractical party shoes to walk barefoot. I thought I could save time by cutting across the soft grass of the lawn.

As I walked barefoot, I noticed some movement to my side. It looked like a small kitten running towards me for some affection. I soon realized that he was an adorable lion cub, not a kitten. What was so odd was that it looked like a miniature version of a full-grown lion. Though he was only the size of a kitten, he almost had a full mane. He brushed against my legs in an affectionate manner hoping that I would pet him.

Just as I was about to bend down to do so, I suddenly realized that his mother would not be that far away. I tiptoed over to a row of bushes and looked in between. I could see an entire pride of lions, including a massive male lion, about to descend upon the mansion. The 'kitten cub' must have snuck between the bushes to come find me. The bushes were too close together for the lions to make it through.

I found a break in the hedge and the cub followed me. When I turned onto the path outside the hedge, two of the female lions instantly noticed the cub. They started to come towards me. I knew that they were going to try and hunt me down. I also knew that there were people in the mansion that needed to stay inside due to the danger. I yelled out to a person on one of the higher balconies to make sure no one goes outside.

The two lionesses were now running towards me. In an instant, my dress somehow transformed into an amazing 'supernatural running outfit', complete with runners. The material felt amazing. I could feel an amazing strength surge throughout my body. I turned down the path and ran incredible fast, much faster than the lionesses could. I ran up a steep hill into a high-end neighborhood with beautiful homes. I looked back and saw that the lionesses had already given up on chasing me.

I continued to run, but now at a leisurely pace. It felt so good. My breathing was easy and, even though I just ran full speed up a hill, I was not winded at all. However, snow was now beginning to fall. It was as if a massive warehouse of snow from Heaven was being dumped over the area. It soon went from just a dusting of white powder to a dumping of over a foot of snow. This somehow did not affect my running!

I continued to run uphill as the snow fell. Even though I was dressed for running in much warmer weather, the cold air did not seem to affect me at all. I knew that all of this, the immunity to the weather and exhaustion, could only come supernaturally from God. As I continued to run up the hill, the mansions became even larger. However, I noticed that the people in these mansions were all vacating them as fast as they could.

There was now a mass exodus of vehicles going downhill. They were sliding into each other, sometimes sideways, as they went down the steep snow-covered slope. Thanks to the Lord's supernatural guidance, I was easily able to avoid all of the out of control cars and continue on my course.

Sub-dream 2 "The mentally ill roam the streets" begins...

Mentally ill patients were being allowed to leave the institutions where they were being kept. There were also a multitude of mentally ill patients that were having episodes as they could no longer afford and/or get their medications. They were now roaming the streets in the suburbs. They were walking into people's homes and claiming that they now owned them. However, instead of letting the occupants leave, many of them were holding them as hostages.

After witnessing this, I turned my attention to a city in the distance. I saw three separate towers. Each of these three towers had identical architecture. I was then able to supernaturally see that thousands of people were now in a panic. The middle floor of the central tower had somehow burst open. The glass from the tower had shot out everywhere. Since there were no police around to keep law and order, there was chaos everywhere. The people looked so distraught.

Well, I am finally getting to the dream I have been avoiding. You have now given me permission to get back to it. This is the dream I was rebuked on for not writing it down a few weeks ago...

Sub-dream 3 "Mice the size of rats cometh" begins...

I was in a type of harvesting mill for rats. Several lab technicians were labeling cages with colors and numbers. While there were many numbers, four numbers stood out. These were the numbers 17, 19, 3 and 9, in that order. There were two colors used. Yellow with black writing and red with yellow writing. At some point, the tags from two of the cages dropped simultaneously.

When they put the tags back on, they accidentally switched the numbers 19 and 9. These cages each had just a few small mice in them at first. I then watched as they quickly multiplied, some then becoming as large as rats. Data was recorded. However, a call soon came in to ship a crate to a testing facility. While I could not tell exactly which crates were shipped, I did notice that at least one had the mixed-up number.

I was then taken to a facility. It was something like a university in what seemed to be a large city in the USA. I was not 100% sure it was the USA though. Upon arrival, it was found that several of the mice had died. These were examined, data recorded and then thrown out. They were not careful about disposing the mice and rats soon came and ate them. I heard a voice: 'The Second Wave'. I was not sure at all of the timing of this.

Sub-dream 3 over...

Father, perhaps I have watched too many movies...smiles. Still, this dream was not my call to make. Since these dreams are Your dreams, not mine, I repent.

Sub-dream 4 "The New World Order's Bible Study" begins...

I was meeting with a group of friends for a Bible study. We had a fire in a sawed-off oil drum. We sat on large rocks that circled the drum. Someone had a guitar and we sang 'worship songs'. I put this in quotes as they were not the type of worship songs we are used to, but something twisted.

It was pitch black outside and there were no stars. While I was me in the dream, I wasn't me. Hard to explain, but I was Transformed, yet still in disguise. They only had one 'bible'. Again, I put this in quotes as this was clearly not our Bible. Each person had something to say about the times they were now living in...

Comment 1: "I wished we had paid more attention when things were right. This 'bible' we are studying just does not seem right."

Comment 2: "Well, it is too late for that. God forgot us long ago and left us here."

Comment 3: "True, but I deserve this. I would have terrorized Heaven and robbed the palaces of gold."

Comment 4: "I am just tired. I am tired of trying to survive here. Even though I am trying to, I just can't take my life here."

The firelight became brighter and I could see their faces more clearly for the first time. They looked battered and bruised.

Comment 5: "Yeah, I know that we are not supposed to be meeting here, but what are they going to do? Kill us? Who here cares about living anymore?"

They all laughed and made comments that showed they were all in agreement.

Comment 6: "Do you think He sees us or do you think He has forgotten us? Like, do you think we were so bad that He could never...I don't know..."

Comment 7: While shaking his head. "I didn't listen. I didn't pay attention to what was happening. I made fun of them. I hated them. I hated God. I was glad when bad things happened. I thought it was funny. Seriously, God could give a s about us, but especially me."

Group Leader: "Well, let us see what is written in 'his word'."

I looked at the 'bible' he had and it was very thin. I was immediately very suspicious as this book would be impossibly thin to be the real Bible, no matter how small the font.

Group Leader: Quoting from this false bible. "And God appointed His Anointed, the True Lord, over the land, to smite the inhabitants by his rod, to trample the feeble minded and to hunt down those who hide in darkness to worship the false one. He has been appointed to do this so that they worship and obey Him, the Lord over them, appointed in this season, to bring them to the promise of Utopia. They will raise their branches and praise their Holy Lord. They will work for their food and serve their Master." I couldn't take it anymore and interrupted him. I did not feel a check in my Spirit that I was interrupting too soon.

Me: "Okay, wait a minute. Let me see this."

The Group Leader handed the 'bible' to me. When I perused it, I could see that the entire book was full of blasphemies against God and Jesus. Suddenly, and without me knowing this was going to happen, the light of God's Glory shined on the group. While they were shocked, they could see that I was remaining calm.

Comment 10: "Who are you?"

Me: "I am a soldier in God's Army."

They all immediately dropped to the ground in fear.

Comment 11: From all of them in various forms. "Don't kill us. Please. We are sorry."

I then heard horrible cries and sobs. Even the large muscular men with tattoos were weeping. While all of these people were very 'rough looking', they all had the fear of the Lord written all over their faces.

Me: "I am not God, just His worker. Only the Lord, Jesus Christ, and His Father, are to be worshiped. I am here to lend you comfort. You are part of the final harvest of God. You are the grapes which have been trampled beyond measure. God knows each of you and He has heard your cries. He alone is with you. I am here to send His encouragement. He wants you to 'wait a little longer' and 'endure just a little more'.

"When you do...and you will...you will then see a beautiful place prepared for you in Heaven. God loves you!" I pointed to the 'bible'. "As for this piece of garbage here, this is NOT God's Word. While God has allowed the punisher to reign, this will not be for much longer. Now, the Lord has asked me to do something for you. I am giving you a gift to guard.

"As there are no books, tools or resources, I will give you the True Word of God, but under the disguise of the cover of this blasphemous book. Each time you study one book of the True Word of God, the next book will appear. This will then continue to happen so that you see all that He has truly written, understand? Now, you will have questions as you read this. When there are, verses from various places in His Book will come to light and will be highlighted.

"If the enemy sees this book on you, it will revert back to its falseness when they open it up. They will not see anything wrong. You will then be able to keep the book and not face punishment. Even if they do seize it or even burn it, you will automatically receive another book that will do the same as this one.

"If there is something you would like to recall, it will immediately come to you inside that cover. While there are too many of these false books to count lying around everywhere, the one you hold will be the True Word of God. This is from God, Your God, and Jesus, your One True Savior. While I must go now, be encouraged as God's army is near."

The Lord then raised me up over the area. However, to them, I just disappeared. They were both excited and stunned. They quickly opened the leather book and the Word of God instantly came alive to them. It was as if they had just won the lottery, but a thousand times better!

Comment 12: From all of them in various forms. "What does it say about now? What does it say about Heaven? What does it say about..."

Sub-dream 4 over...

Sub-dream 5 "Finding food during the Second Round" begins...

I saw two women unpacking some plastic bins they had been storing. They were full of supplies.

Woman 1: "Well, time to start over again."

Woman 2: "When will this one stop? Bread is the price of gold. There is no flour. Even the milk is sour."

Woman 1: "Why are you joking at a time like this?"

Woman 2: "I'm not. What is left, really? What shall we eat?"

Woman 1: "I don't know. I think I have some cans somewhere just in case there was a 'Second Round'...and now here it is!" Just then, she found a bin with cans she had almost forgotten she had. "Well, we now have food. Come, let's eat!"

Sub-dream 5 over...

Sub-dream 6 "Winds unlike anything the world has seen" begins...

I was watching a dire weather report on the television...

"Warning! Severe winds will be kicking up from the west to the east. These winds will be unlike anything the world has seen before. You must button down the hatches and remove things which could fly. You must reduce the risk of your homes and businesses being weaponized by these winds immediately."

Shortly after this, I could hear something coming in from the distance. It was the winds. We scrambled to prepare our house for what was coming as per the weather report. I knew that we did not have much time.

Sub-dream 6 over...

Father, it was a depressing day yesterday. Everything around us is depressing. There seems to be no good news. Our technology has been running poorly lately as there is a high use of internet in our area. It has been so difficult. I have also received many emails from fellow Sparrows from all over the world. Many have urgent situations and are in need of our prayers, but really for Your help and healing.

A few of these Sparrows are doctors, nurses and military, all workers on the front line of this pandemic. They are all exhausted, tired and exposed, all dealing with the great demands of sick people. Oh Father, please bless them. Please grant them supernatural power and strength from on High. Please grant them divine wisdom and knowledge to know exactly what to do and to determine who needs help.

Father, please protect them and their families at home from any illness. Please shelter them and steady their hands for good work. Please let their feet be the feet of those who bring Good News (Isaiah 52:7 & Romans 10:14-15). Please bless them and keep them close to You. Please be with them in all they do, in Jesus' Mighty Name, Amen!

Father, while my husband is also concerned about the plights of so many, he cannot help himself from also being very excited about all of the prophecies written thousands of years ago now coming to life. In comparison to him, I have a more somber view. Still, his positiveness is appreciated and we make a good team...smiles. It is just that I see the looks of worry on people's faces and wonder what will all come out from this.

From what You have shown me, what is happening today is nothing compared to what will one day come. In comparison, this is only a 'wake up call'. This is a portion of time where You, Father, have given us a big swat and a time out. You do this in the hopes that we will turn our hearts to You and say 'I love You and I am sorry' while we are confined to our 'chambers'. I will tell you who is really happy though! Our dogs. All of 'their people' are at home and accounted for.

The things I need to do around the house are now wonderful distractions while I think about all that You have done. When I sit in my devotional room, I think about the many small, broken or chipped antique items that have come through so many wars and journeys.

I have a lot of pieces from Europe. I was watching a WWII documentary with my husband last night and they had some old footage of the night bombings of Dresden, Germany. While the items from this area may not all be in good shape, they tell a story. Seriously, if they could talk, just imagine all they would say. How many of these pieces were damaged by the raids? How many were stolen during the pillaging?

In reality, I just don't know these answers. However, I do enjoy the idea of the excitement of the person who received them as gifts. I enjoy thinking of the makers, the incredibly gifted craftsmen. It is hard to believe that such detailed things could be crafted without the use of modern technology. It is just fun to imagine how something so fragile could have survived several hundred years to still be with us.

All in all, I have taken this timeout to reflect on my walk, my steps, my hopes and my dreams. I pray more. I listen more. Still, I know that something has shifted in the world. It is not my imagination. The world has changed. I am not sure how it will be once we are again allowed to go about our daily business. Oh Father, this would be a great time for Your miracles. Could You please make this for today?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up on the path near God's Door. The beautiful pond was there. It was spring and everything was in full bloom. As I was standing there looking at all of the beautiful sights with all of my attention, I almost didn't notice Uriel standing there right next to me.

Me: Smiling. "Oh, hi, Uriel! Where did you come from?"

Uriel: He smiled back. "The same can be said of you too, Erin." He then became more serious. "Now, you have many questions. God has heard them. He knows your comings and goings. You have been told to prepare your households. Many did not listen, so now, what you have prepared, whether willing or unwilling, you are left with no choice but to ready yourselves. Thoughts reflecting on what you should do are not the same as preparation."

Me: "I thought I had prepared. I believe our house is ready if need be. I think? I mean...we could probably get a few more things. Oh Uriel, what else do we need?"

Uriel: "No, Erin, this is not what I am referring to. When God asks for you to ready your house, He means you are to ready your body, mind and Spirit. Now, prepare your family and friends for the Great Move of God. Sound the trumpet. Prepare the oil. Wear no adornments. Care for that which God cares for. Pray."

Me: "I thought I had been. I am sorry, Uriel."

Uriel: "No, Erin, I am not your savior nor am I your judge. I do not declare a judgment, I deliver them. I am a messenger for the Lord."

Me: "Uriel, you are being so serious right now. What is about to happen?"

Uriel: "Do not worry, Erin, as God is with you. You are confined to your Bridal Chambers. Make yourself holy and pleasing to God, to Your Groom. There will be others who believe themselves more righteous and deserving. There will be others who believe themselves more beautiful in their chambers. You have watched through your lifetime many being chosen over you.

"While you have felt that God has passed over you and forgotten you, your time of travailing is over, Erin. Prepare your oil. Let the Joy of Gladness shine upon your face. Mourn no more at the lost years and the painful afflictions you have endured...for the Lord is about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told. Your afflictions have ended.

“Prepare and ready yourself for the One Who has said that He formed you to be His servant. He says to the prisoners...to those who appear to be in darkness...Come Out! While you have said, ‘the Lord has forsaken me’, God says, ‘I could never forget you as your name is engraved on the palm of My hand.’

“Though you are now downcast, do not be, as the time you have waited for has come. Rejoice and give thanks to God for He is worthy of all praise. Heaven is rejoicing. The celebrations have begun for God is about to do Great Things. While I must go now, please do not be discouraged. All of your needs will be met, so do not worry.”

Me: “Thank you, Uriel.” He was about to leave, but I called out to him. “Be safe!”

Uriel: He looked back at me and smiled. “Yes, Miss Erin, I will.”

He was gone in an instant.

Dream 395 – Jesus: Use this time of separation to prepare

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your divine love and protection. Thank You for my family and our Nest friends. It feels like a giant 24/7 church, so thank You. So many things are closed right now, but 'we' remain open. Our bank is closed other than by appointment only. Stores are rationing various items. We are now only leaving the house for necessities and nothing else.

Father, You gave us the warning of the Corona around the Sun on January 18, 2020. It has been exactly seventy days since then. I went to the bank that morning and swapped photos with my friends there who are tellers. This is a small town and we have become quite fond of those around us. I had no idea at the time that what we were swapping as 'conspiracy theories' and 'impossibilities' would soon come to pass.

I shared my thoughts on Biblical prophecy and they shocked me by saying they saw it too. I miss my 'bank teller friends'. I hope they are okay. The world was different seventy days ago. The world as we now know it has changed. I remember telling my husband on that particular day that we should gear up for what is coming. While we have since mostly done this, we have also not gone overboard. As of today, I believe we did everything You had called us to.

When we were at the grocery store yesterday, the line up was huge, about an 1/8th of a mile long to pay. There was a similar line for getting into the store itself. Still gone were toilet paper, disinfectant wipes, hand sanitizer, flour, yeast, baking powder and soda. Still being rationed were sugar, ground beef and chicken. People have gone from being friendly and talking to saying pretty well nothing. They now look down at their feet or at their phones while going about their business.

The last couple of times I have been in a store, I have felt odd chills, muscle aches and headaches. These then promptly go away when I leave the store. This makes me believe that this is also a spiritual warfare situation. Father, why did You let me feel this way? Still, thank You, as I believe it was a gentle reminder from You that I should be careful and only go out when 100% necessary, preferably in off hours.

I again had something unusual happen as I woke up. For two nights in a row, I have seen an image I do not really understand. This image appeared a total of four times. The image I saw was a massive, all white Eagle with black spots landing talons first into a tree. After seeing this happen the fourth time, I later saw a real eagle circling our yard. I sensed it wanted me to go away so he could feast on our tiny friends. I had a dream the night before last that was disturbing...

Sub-dream 1 "Welcome to the Hotel California" begins...

I was in a resort in what looked to be in California, but I was not 100% sure. The area was beautiful. It was run by a family that reminded me of an old television series family that starred Sally Field. It was called 'Brothers & Sisters'. From outward appearances, this resort seemed to have everything going for it. It had the setting, luxury, architecture, spa, pool, golf course, activities and restaurants.

I was at this resort with my husband. We were guests, but not really. God had us there on assignment. He did not want us to drink the water, eat the food or swim in the pool. We decided to walk around the resort. There were wealthy people with fancy clothing, jewelry and luxurious cars. We then walked over to the pool area. There were many people in the pool swimming. It looked beautiful, but only from a distance.

As we got closer to the pool, we soon fully realized why God did not want us to swim there. On the bottom of the pool were dead rodents, human waste and some sexually explicit 'stuff' I will not elaborate on. The guests swimming in the pool were somehow unaware of all that was at the bottom. The pool was horribly unclean and the water murky. We left the pool area and decided to go report our findings to the owners.

The owners were in a backroom off of the kitchen of one of the resort's restaurants. The entire family was there when we alerted them to the pool's cleanliness problem.

Main owner/husband: "There has been no time to clean it as the pool has been booked for private parties at night. No one has complained. We will get to it eventually."

Wife: "We have never owned a resort before, so we are learning more every day. We are too busy with the restaurants and the rooms to get to the pool. We are so busy that we do not even wash the sheets. We just 'keep it green' by telling the guests we are reusing sheets and towels. The guests seem pleased with our conservation efforts. They like knowing that they are staying at a 'green resort'."

Me: "Yes, but have you let your guests know that you are also not cleaning sheets and towels between guests? I don't think your guests would like this too much if they knew."

Wife: "No, we have not told them about this. They think it is just for their reuse only, not a carry forward from prior guests. Still, no one has complained."

Me: "Do you mind if we take a look around the restaurant's kitchen?"

Husband: "Go ahead."

There were no words adequate to describe what we were seeing. Every vile thing was being served as food. Every vile practice was being used to prepare the food. They were butchering various things and leaving the blood and entrails everywhere, even folding them into various food items. There were flies, cockroaches and other vile things crawling all over the place.

Since God had given my husband and me supernatural eyesight, we were then able to see things you could not see with the ordinary naked eye. There were every kind of disease and bacteria flourishing in the kitchen, all in vivid color. I would consider it pretty if it were not so dangerous. We went back to the family to explain all that we had seen. While explaining it, we could tell that they were completely oblivious.

Husband: "Well, no one has complained. I am not aware of anyone being sick."

We were frustrated by their nonchalance. We decided to then walk over to the spa area. Things did not get any better. They had therapeutic mud rooms, but the mud was just not mud (I do not want to elaborate). They had inappropriate services on their menus and guests could even request photographs of this.

We then went into the shower and steam facilities. It was unisex. People did not seem shy to be naked in front of each other. My stomach felt queasy. While there were fragrances throughout the resort, even these could not mask the stench after a while.

We then went into the pump and filtration house in the back of the resort. Upon closer inspection, we discovered that the septic was being intermingled with the drinking water. The place was so unclean that I believe the only solution would be to level it and burn it. No part was salvageable.

Sub-dream 1 over...

When I woke up, I had one of my four images of the white eagle...

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You, thank You, thank You! You have done great things! Thank You! It has been 5 years, 10 months and 21 days since my accident at TCS. Finally, in an amazing and unexpected decision by L&I, they finally concluded that my neck injury was directly related to my May 8, 2014 accident. This is a true miracle as they hate me so!

Even though we are soon to be healed, this is still a much-desired miracle. This was vindication! Now I pray that they will order my pension and then all of this can stop. I can then let You be my Physician and dictate my treatment. Thank You, Father, for my freedom, even if it is only partial freedom for now.

Father, You have placed some heavy burdens upon me recently. There are things about this world that I want to make 100% clear are from You. Father, I am trying to write things with Godly wisdom, not rushing into my own understanding. I feel that rushing things might create fear and I don't want to compound this. The enemy hates us and would love to destroy us.

Oh Lord, it is scary out there right now and the world has not even seen the worst of this yet. Please help me. Please guide my every step. Please be with me in all that I do!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was standing at the end of the path in the aspen grove. He was holding the reins to His horse. I pretended to reach for my dress to run to Him. We both smiled and laughed at the gesture. He waved for me to come to Him. I did not need to be asked twice. I ran as fast as I could into His open arms. He hugged me and I felt so secure.

Me: "Thank You, Lord! I love You so much. Is there anything I can do so people will know just how great You are? Anything?"

Jesus: "You will soon be able to do much more. Do not worry, Erin, for you have readied your house and your Nest. In turn, your Nest has readied others. For right now, there is nothing more you can do. Take this time to rest, reflect and repent on things you can now realize were distractions unbecoming of the sons and daughters of the King. Rend your hearts to Me in complete joy.

"Although some of your (Nest) friends still grieve, they should not, for I am here and ready to accept them. You see things for personal enjoyment has now changed. You see a suffering world. It is a difficult thing to celebrate a victory when so many only know defeat during this time. Because of the punishment across the land, there are no more excuses of time restraints as barriers to a relationship with Me.

"Get to know Me. I am here. I am waiting. Take this time to inventory what I have done for you from the beginning and what promises are soon to come. You will all be given increases of dreams and visions. As you take this season to seek Me more, greater will be your increase. Rend your hearts to My Will as your will."

Me: Smiling. "Okay, done! We are ready for what comes next. How about right now?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Well, since you still have your will, plenty of distractions can be created. The enemy calls you backwards. His tactics are reruns of games and history. He calls you out by fear. If listened to, this can cause you to be afraid of all things. This will then make you sick. The enemy is also enjoying taking this time of isolation to remind all of you of the great mistakes you made in the past and of the problems you are currently unable to fix.

"Medical conditions unrelated to this plague (the Corona Virus) are also being amplified as sorrow and fear makes the heart sick. Some now self-medicate with wine or other things. Some will grow angry. Fear will create rage. This is all that the enemy desires. Do not fall into his trap. Invite Me into your chamber dwellings instead. Prepare each one as a 'Temple of Joy' knowing that, very soon, I will do all that I have promised.

"Now is the time to take stock in all you have and offer this to Me. I will create a place of peace and comfort. I will give you good reports. I am here. Be still, Erin, be still. I will instruct you in the way you should go. The 'Great Separation' is occurring. You were shown the angel armies measuring and weighing the nations. All were wanting, all were troubled and all had fallen.

"Shortly after you were shown this, the judgment, a great judgment, went out across the nations. This began with the nation who claims higher sovereignty than any other (the Land of the Dragon). They lied and covered up the problem because of pride and power issues, but also Mammon. The hour was then too late for them. Erin, what is in motion from the Courts of Heaven cannot be stopped."

Me: "Oh Lord, are we able to petition You in order to shorten this? Many of us have already petitioned. Lord, your children have been praying!"

Jesus: "You are starting to worry. Do not. Erin, there are those who defy the warnings of God and continue on their course. They do this despite My warnings. Be on guard so that your hearts will not be weighed down by dissipation or drunkenness. If you do not let the worries of this life inhibit you, 'that day' will not come on you suddenly like a trap, understand?"

"It is the wicked and the unwise that say, 'Come, celebrate our new moon festivals. Dance and parade about in costume. Honor the god of drunkenness. Dance until dawn. Pursue your course of seduction. Give in to your lusts of the flesh, parties and abominable idolatries. Let us partake in these sins, for tomorrow, we worship, vomit and then rest.'

"Erin, what god are they serving?"

Me: Crying. "Oh Lord, I used to behave like this before I followed You. This is sad. I am sorry. While I know this is now many years in my past, I am still so sorry!"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, do not worry, as I am speaking of today, not the past. Do not look back. The enemy would have you believe that you are still guilty of that which you have repented of long ago. He wants you to believe that you have not been set free. He is a liar and always has been.

"Now, this trouble has come upon the nations because they have failed to remember the God over all things. They remember Me only when they use My Name for curses. They remember me only on their cursed lips. Erin, dedicate your homes and property to Me. I have you. Troubles will not fall upon you. It is difficult to understand what is happening and what is soon to happen.

"You will cry out when you hear of the troubles that will fall upon various people and even their children. Still, was this not also planned from the very beginning? This is something you cannot determine or control, only God can. Since this is the case, give this also to Me. Ask Me and I will answer. I am here with each of you. No, Erin, this is not your imagination.

"Now, understand this. There will be more troubles. However, I am sending hope, healing and great signs, as well as the wonders of My love. This will all come very quickly. Continue to pray. I am with you.

"Remember also that My people come in all shapes, sizes and skin colors. They are scattered throughout the nations. Erin, I have not forgotten one race over another. I have not disqualified someone on the basis of the world's measures. I do not look at how educated someone is. Even if education was an issue, you would still easily pass." He smiled as He gently nudged me. "Erin, you already have your 'Doctorate in Affliction', a degree held in high esteem by God.

"Hmm...Erin...I just read your thoughts. You just thought that many have already disqualified you. Well, it is only My opinion that counts. Erin, you are not disqualified. Let the wicked murmur and grimace at those I call. Greater will their fall be from their 'higher places'." He laughed. "Faster should their feet be when they run for the hills!

"Erin, I called you today because I know that you are worried. You are worried for others. You are worried for those who are working through their troubles. Pray and I will answer you. Knock and the door shall be opened to you. Seek Me and you shall find Me. When you find Me, you shall find Me with your whole heart.

"Though it is hard to see at times, this great separation is good. Now, continue to ready your home. Clean and prepare. Praise Me in this storm.

Dedicate your 'homework' to Me. Pray that this plague passes over you quickly."

I was now smiling again and feeling so much better. I just knew in my heart that the Lord had this fully in His control...just like He always does. Yes, He is holding the reins!

Me: "I will pray for all of these things. I will continue to prepare. I love You, Lord. We give our lives and our hearts to You in all that we do."

Jesus: "Remember that sickness and death are equalizers on the scales. Judgments are God's way to level the lofty and to lift up the low. The dream you were given shows you that uncleanness leads to separation. Remember, I did not come to remove and replace the Laws of My Father. I instead came as a fulfillment of prophecy.

"I did not come to make everything permissible. I instead came to show the love of My Father to the lost, display mighty deeds and miracles and set the captives free. I also came to level the lofty, humbling the proud, as well as shaking the land off of its foundation. However, and more than this even, I rose the thousands of dead and walked through the ruins Transformed." He smiled at me.

"So, Erin, what do you think?"

Me: "Oh Lord, we could be Transformed and the reverse happen, right?"

Jesus: Smiling. "Hmm, this is an interesting idea. Pray on this. I am surprised no one has thought to do this before."

While I already knew that He was just teasing, He smiled again as He good naturedly nudged me. He had such a kind and loving expression on His face and in His eyes.

Me: Laughing. "Oh Lord, even Your humor is beyond earthly description. Please let Your Kingdom come and let Your Will be done, on Earth as it is in Heaven."

Jesus: Smiling. "Do not worry, Erin, as I am about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told. I am not referring to the troubles that are already here (the Corona Virus), but to My soon miracles!" He had such a beautiful and gentle smile when He leaned over to hug me again. There truly is no one, on Earth or in Heaven, as awesome as our Lord. Jesus is worthy of all of our praises. He always has been and always will be.

Dream 396 – Jesus: My Promises are True

Received on Wednesday, April 1, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love. Thank You for keeping this plague away from our home. Please let us never be haughty or self-righteous about Your wrath as this is clearly being allowed by You to level the lands. You gave the lands plenty of warnings. While You tried to soften hearts, many instead grew even colder. Many have turned Your grace and power into the opposite. We watched this unfold as the spirit of rebellion went throughout the nations.

All things foretold by the Prophets are happening right now. Yes, right now! The grand kickoff to this rebellion, the time when everything was amplified, began in December 2012. I just pray that this plague is far removed well before December 2020. Father, the great wave of rebellion was meant to 'shake fists' at Your good works and holiness. There are so many 'shaking fists' out there, with the following just a few of them...

- Gay marriage legalized
- Marijuana legalized
- Addictions and deaths due to opioids
- Tattoos and piercings on our skin
- Worldwide persecution of Christians
- Increased removal, either by 're-education', force, shaming or sky high pricing by those in positions of influence, of meat from our diets (1 Timothy 4:1-5)
- Church pastors melding with the world
- Human trafficking with auctions
- Constantly expanding abortion laws, including infanticide and partial birth abortions being allowed
- All adultery and sexual immorality now commonplace and acceptable
- Criminals are being set free in massive numbers
- Robbers are allowed to take what they want as long as it does not exceed a set limit – the police standby and do not arrest them
- Felonies are now misdemeanors, yet a regular citizen speaking out goes to jail
- Rape is no longer actual rape

- Those who practice Christianity are accused of spreading hate
- Whole churches are forced to remove blocks of God's Word as offensive
- Any religion that does not follow Jesus are accepted
- Even Sharia Law is accepted – people are afraid to talk about this

There are also things that we see happening as a result...

- Suicides have now hit record numbers, particularly with youths
- Guns are being taken away from law abiding citizens
- Homeless camps have greater rights for public park use than those who want to visit these parks
- Homeless go to the bathroom in the open and nothing is done to stop this
- Increases in mass infestations, including locusts and rats
- Increases in costs of staples, including bread, milk and ground beef products

The America that once stood for justice, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, all under God, is now gone. There is poor justice, no liberty, no personal freedom and a dying American Dream. We have instead become self-centered and self-serving. We have prostituted ourselves with many gods other than You. You are the One Who created us, the One Who loves us, yet You are widely ignored now.

Oh Lord, please have mercy on us. That which was once considered good is now bad and that which was once considered bad is now good. The character of our President, a very good man and a true patriot, is relentlessly attacked. I have seen an unreasonable amount of hatred being spewed against him. Trump Derangement Syndrome is a real thing, a very real thing. The amount of hate is truly not normal.

You would think the Gates of Hades have been opened. Persuasive tactics are used against all of us to sway our opinions. I am particularly disgusted by the rich Hollywood celebrities. Most of them have been bought and paid for. Bloomberg has openly admitted that he bought those he wanted to be in Congress. What is even more frightening is that we are now under the control of the Land of the Dragon.

Father, the enemy started this plague through bio-weapons. They are also able to see our reaction through our technology. They manipulate the media so that the narrative is always in their favor. The narratives are even increasingly depicting them as now being the heroes...here to save us from the virus. I cannot recall a time in modern history when we have all of the following...

- Worldwide lockdowns
- Worldwide fear

- Worldwide death
- Worldwide control of the narrative on television
- Worldwide control over guns, including a decrease in the ability to self-protect
- Worldwide control over our medicines
- Worldwide control over foods, essentials and liberties

Is there any doubt that World War III is already here? Yes, it is not in the form of war that we would have expected, but, make no mistake, this is war. We all expected something else, but using our health as a weapon is still warfare. Thousands of people have died due to the Corona Virus and thousands of more will die. Some have even written 'Exodus 12' on their front doors in the hope the plague will 'Passover' them.

Looking at the above list of things we are doing against You, Father, no wonder You are upset at the world. Instead of Your commandments and laws being adhered to, we have inserted our own relaxed laws and muddied Your commandments. Oh, how far we have fallen. How disgusting has our ways now become? A study of Matthew 5:17-19 tells us quite a bit of what we need to know on this subject...

- Matthew 5:17: "Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them, but to fulfill them."
- You then made very clear the timing of this – Matthew 5:18: "For truly, I say to you, until Heaven and Earth pass away, not one iota, not one dot, will pass from the Law until it is all accomplished."
- You then gave specific instructions to us – Matthew 5:19: "Therefore whoever relaxes one of the least of these commandments and teaches others to do the same will be called least in the Kingdom of Heaven, but whoever does them and teaches them will be called great in the Kingdom of Heaven."

Oh Father, all of Chapter 5 of Matthew, as well as the Beatitudes, gives us our personal orders to ready our hearts and to prepare ourselves. However, we are still a motley crew of men and women. None of us have done the right things all of the time. All of us have fallen short of the Kingdom of Heaven. Thankfully, Father, Your Grace falls like rain and washes us clean. Your 'Snow' covers us and makes us white and new.

Truly, the hour is late. Israel, our marker, became a nation almost 72 years ago. Then there are the signs in the sky. All of these have been written about by Your Prophets. This is it. The time has now come. However, we are not strong enough on our own. Only You, Father, can make us new and strong enough. You make all things new and You declare it. Thank You for Isaiah 43:18-19, Revelation 21:5 and Isaiah 65:17.

Please, Father, let us soon be without blemish. As I am today, I have blemishes that the world can easily see. Please let all of the work You have done in me count for something despite my failings. I love You, Father. I love You, Lord. Please choose us. You make all things new. Please make us new! Please make us 'blemish free', and not just in Your eyes, but also the 'world's eyes'. Show us to be worthy of Your favor!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in God's Garden of Trees in Heaven. These trees were taller and wider than those on Earth. I was on a beautiful path. My neck felt no pain as I looked up at these massive trees. I was in awe. I approached the base of one these trees. There was a plaque that read...

"For God has blessed me with a view of Heaven!"

I was smiling and laughing as I went to the second plaque on the next tree...

"For God has blessed me with strength to endure!"

I laughed as I thought, 'what would need to be 'endured' in Heaven other than peace?' I then walked over to the third plaque on the next tree...

"For I once bragged that I could fly, then I was toppled, yet God has shown His Great Mercy and I am here!"

Me: Talking to the tree. "Hmm, I am so sorry you fell, tree."

I then went to the next tree and the fourth and last plaque...

"God sent winds, fire and drought and I stood His tests. My Victory is in Him, the God Who saves."

Me: "Oh Father, You are so good, so very, very good! Who is like You, Father?"

I walked further down the path. The sunlight shined into a small clearing. There were beautiful flowers and mossy grass. There was a beautiful stream that ran through it. I could hear the gentle sound of a distant waterfall. I could smell wonderful scents. I noticed that the smell of decaying wood was absent here. I smelled Sequoias, Redwoods, Pines and Eucalyptus, as well as something like Sandalwood.

It was so fragrant here. It was warm...not too hot, not too cool...perfect. There was a mist just ahead of me. This was not an earthly mist, but rather a dewy mist that was coming from the ground. The sunshine mixed with this beautiful mist and created rainbows like a blanket. I suddenly heard the sound of a horse behind me. I turned and there was Jesus on His horse. He was in full armor, but a different kind of armor.

I somehow knew that His armor was soft to the touch, but yet I also knew it could repel the fiercest of attacks. This is difficult to describe as it simply has no earthly equivalent. He smiled at me as He dismounted. He opened His arms and I did not have to be asked twice. I ran into His embrace and enjoyed His gentle hug. I felt a peace and security in His arms that simply defies description. All of Heaven is this way.

Me: "Lord, this is so beautiful! This is a wonderful Heavenly Gift and such a nice break from our earthly worries!"

Jesus: "Well, I thought that this would be a welcome surprise. I notice that you are working on your self-examination. How is this going?"

Me: "As You know, Lord, I am a sinner. Just as I think I have finally figured all of this out and repented for my lack, I then realize there is still more to do. Clearly, I am here once again bringing up my personal sin and epiphanies for a reason. Quite simply, I am ever bringing these before You. I must admit that this makes me worry."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, worry doesn't add to your health and it doesn't make your heart glad. Still, I am glad that you come to Me with all of your troubles, worries and doubts. If I call you friend and you still did not share these things with Me in truth and trust, then we could not have the relationship that we do.

"While there are many things for you to worry about right now, take this time to instead reflect in all that I have done from beginning to the end. You will stand amazed. These trees reflect the Glory of God and His Saving Grace. These trees were once falsely labeled as 'gods' by wicked men. However, they now stand here in Heaven. Though hard for you to understand, they are even grateful for this."

Me: "Lord, do You mean that these are the trees that once stood in California that have since been destroyed?"

Jesus: "Well, yes. They are here now and there are thousands of them. They are no longer subject to fires or men. They are now only subject to God instead."

I took a short break here to look up the names given to the tallest of the trees. To my surprise, they were all named after Greek Mythology. The names included Hyperion, Helios, Icarus and Daedalus. I then went straight back to Him.

Me: "I am so glad that these trees are now here, Lord. I cannot wait to explore God's Garden more. There will be no fear here. No evil will be here. What a wonderful thing. How glorious and fun all of this will be!" I was now crying. He reached over to give me another hug. "Thank You, Lord. Thank You for these dreams. Thank You!"

Jesus: "You have many concerns and worries. While I understand why, remember that I am always with you. I am glad that you are working at readying your house. In the coming days, there will be many bad reports." I should note that He emphasized the word 'many'. "Erin, trouble has come upon the nations. This is the Great Separation."

Me: "Lord, do You mean the separation of the goats from the sheep?"

Jesus: "Perhaps. Study My Word to gain knowledge. Pray for wisdom. This is more a time to humble hearts. Weigh and measure yourself, not against the world's view, but against Heaven's view. This is how you prepare. While you are to take note of the former things, also take stock and purchase those things of Heaven, that which cannot be bought or purchased by earthly means. My currency is different. A penny has more value based on the heart of the giver. However, there are also other things."

Me: "What other things?"

Jesus: "Okay, how about forgiveness? Have you forgiven others as I have forgiven you? How about love? As I have loved you without condition, have you loved Me the same in return? Look at your fruits. Check your stock. Are these good? This is preparation. Make sure each one is checked and found good. Fruits here in Heaven have no blemishes. This is not the same on Earth, so make sure each one is examined. Also, do not lend an ear to fools who desire to be the first to spread bad news."

Me: "Lord, I pray that all of my fruit is good. Please forgive me for any fruits that I have neglected. Please ready my house and find us pleasing and holy to God."

Jesus: "Oh Erin, now you are even more worried. I am giving you this so you prepare. I am about to do a new thing here and it is good. Continue on your course of surrendering your heart to Me. You already have. Remember that I am with you and I have not forgotten you. I have prepared a place for you here. I will not revoke this.

"You, in turn, will remain with Me. I do not demand perfection as, to demand it from you when it is impossible for you, it would mean that I am a deceiver. I am not. However, I instead look for a willing and pliable heart, a heart that will surrender to the works of the hands of the Potter, understand?"

Me: "I am pretty sure that I understand."

Jesus: "Erin, you came to the Potter's House and you saw your vessels. Why would I fashion a vessel and not put it to good use? I do nothing without a purpose under Heaven. I am not idle or empty in My actions and promises. I understand that, when all things around you seem dark and even some lights are growing dim, you wonder 'is the Lord mad at me? Is there more that I need to do?'

"Well, I prepared you in advance for this season. I am not mad at My sheep, neither the ones who stay with Me nor the one who wanders off at no fault of their own. While some I only need to gently call to stay with Me, I need to shake My Shepherd Staff at others. However, all of this is good. Erin, you are here with Me. This is why I have told you to not be disheartened or misled at bad reports. Come to Me with your concerns and questions. Ask and I will immediately answer you. I am here.

"Oh yes...obey the laws of the land. I did not send you to defy those who govern. There is much behind the scenes of which you do not know. Take this time to walk with Me further. Pray and fast for greater wisdom. I will send dreams and visions to you.

"One other thing...when there are signs, wonders and miracles from Me for others, you will always have a witness to testify to this...two or more. When it is a personal sign, it does not need two, but not all of these then are meant to be shared. Use discernment. If a man says 'come out of your house, your savior is here' or 'come out to the woods, he is here', do not believe it. I come to where you are. I am with you."

Me: "I believe that I now understand, Lord."

Jesus: "Erin, use the wisdom I have given you. Stop, drop to your knees and pray. I am there. Remember, My promises are true. Remember, I am about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told."

Me: Smiling. "Well, would a 'world lockdown' not qualify? What about all of the earthquakes, fires and locusts?"

Jesus: Laughing. "Yes, understood. I agree." He then looked into my eyes and smiled. "However, something good is coming too." He hugged me.

Sonho 397 - Estamos prontos! Luz! Câmera! Ação!

Comunhão

Caro pai,

Obrigado por mais um dia! Obrigado por nos manter seguros e livres de vírus. Cada dia muda à medida que essa pandemia se intensifica. As regras também estão mudando constantemente. Existem muitas faltas. Enquanto as pessoas estão tentando ficar esperançosas, há uma sensação de que as coisas provavelmente piorarão antes de melhorar. Também estamos vendo falta de medicamentos.

Eu também tenho um pacote de remédios esperando por mim nos correios. No entanto, devido a circunstâncias especiais, ir para lá significa que devo ficar em quarentena por duas semanas. Felizmente, ainda tenho alguns, por isso continuo a "optar pela liberdade" e confio em que Tu, Pai, cuidará de todas as nossas necessidades. Eu tive um sonho duas noites atrás...

O sub-sonho 1 "Alimentador de pequenos esquilos" começa...

Eu estava olhando para um pequeno alimentador de esquilos. Nesse alimentador havia um pedaço de espiga de milho. Ele ficou de pé no convés do alimentador. Metade da espiga era abundante e a outra metade era estéril. Vi duas fileiras de esquilos de cada lado da espiga.

Na linha da direita, havia uma linha de esquilos em forma. Nenhum deles era obeso, apenas bem alimentado e saudável. Eles não estavam acabando quando a espiga de milho produzia cada vez mais, reabastecendo-se sobrenaturalmente.

Na fila da esquerda, havia uma fila de esquilos esqueléticos e doentios. Eles não conseguiram nem um pedaço. Aqueles que tiveram que lutar apenas para manter esse núcleo. A espiga de milho estava seca e não havia nada lá. Eles não conseguiram ver que o outro lado dessa espiga solitária tinha uma abundância de grãos.

Sub-sonho 1 acabou ...

Eu tive outro sonho ontem à noite por volta das 5:00 da manhã ...

Sub-sonho 2 "Cena 1, Ação 2!" começa ...

Eu estava no set de filmagem com atores asiáticos em Hollywood. Havia uma claquete com uma leitura digital. Os números digitais estavam em contagem regressiva. Eu não entendi a contagem regressiva, pois era um número longo e ao contrário. A claquete era preta com letras brancas.

Os números digitais estavam em vermelho e havia dez pontos quadrados. Ouvi o produtor gritar ...

Produtor: "Estamos prontos! Ação! Cena 1, Ação 2!"

Sub-sonho 2 acabou ...

Depois que acordei, outra música continuou tocando na minha cabeça. Desta vez, não foi 'A contagem regressiva final' da Europa. Foi, em vez disso, a música 'Head over Heels' dos Go Gos. Havia também outra música na minha cabeça. Era a música 'Somente em Meus Sonhos' de Debbie Gibson. Eu logo adormeci novamente. No entanto, eu não terminei com a música 'A Contagem Regressiva'...

O sub-sonho 3 "Cantando 'A Contagem Regressiva Final' para meus vizinhos" começa...

No meu sonho, eram 2 da manhã. Eu estava de pé na minha varanda com vista para o nosso vizinho. Comecei a cantarolar 'A Contagem Final'. Eu então comecei a cantar em voz baixa. Eu continuei levantando minha voz. Logo estava cantando quase como um grito, mas afinado. Agora eu estava cantando a música e alegremente! Eu deveria tê-los acordado, mas todas as luzes ficaram apagadas.

Sub-sonho 3 acabou ...

Pai, preciso da sua ajuda. Estou assustada. Você me disse que meus sonhos eram 100% seus, então eu confio neles. No entanto, preciso da sua ajuda aqui. Você recentemente me deu uma palavra muito forte de conhecimento com uma voz audível. Isso não acontece com tanta frequência. Cerca de dois dias atrás, eu estava profundamente preocupada com as origens do vírus. Eu estava ouvindo uma enxurrada de teorias da conspiração. Eu te pedi a verdade. Aqui está o que você me disse ...

Jesus: "Erin, fique tranquila. Silencie seus pensamentos ansiosos. O entendimento está nas ações simples vistas. Se a origem veio apenas do mercado úmido e impuro, por que isso foi reaberto? "

Pai, você é tão infinitamente sábio! Se o mercado úmido era a fonte e o dinheiro e o poder são o número 1 neste país comunista, abrir esse backup significa que eles sabem que a ameaça não se originou no mercado úmido. Em vez disso, foi feito por eles de uma origem diferente. Essa é a explicação mais simples, mais lógica e está escondida ali à vista. Obrigado por nos conceder conhecimento e sabedoria. Que presente de Seus Tribunais no Céu.

Verdadeiramente, a Terceira Guerra Mundial começou! Por favor, continue a nos proteger de tudo isso. Israel já iniciou o seu encerramento de três dias. Cada pessoa recebeu ordens de permanecer dentro de suas casas por três dias durante a Páscoa. A lua estava tão linda e cheia ontem à noite. Estará completamente cheio mais tarde esta noite. Certamente, pai, você está prestes a fazer algo maciço para nos mostrar o seu poder. Por favor, deixe no terceiro dia. Por favor, nos levante, pai!

Jesus: "Erin, suba."

Eu estava no caminho perto da porta de Deus em Seu jardim. Foi tão bonito! As flores da primavera eram como nada na Terra. A primavera é eterna aqui! Nunca acaba. A vida selvagem é nova e bonita. Nada é ameaçador. As fontes de água viva no belo lago são incríveis. A água é cristalina.

A melhor comparação é a cor da água gelada, que tem um leve toque turquesa. O fundo da lagoa está cheio de pedras preciosas. Essas pedras preciosas refletem sem esforço a luz do sol. Há tanta coisa para ver e descrever nesse cenário muito pequeno. Simplesmente, não posso descrevê-lo adequadamente. O ar é perfumado e puro.

Qualquer fração de um cenário como esse na Terra sempre vem com algo assustador e venenoso. Aqui, não há ameaça nem preocupação com ameaças. É simplesmente perfeito aqui, assim como nosso Pai, Deus, é perfeito. Não há fim para a bondade e criatividade de nosso Pai Celestial. Eu estava suspirando com a beleza quando senti um toque no meu ombro. Eu me virei e havia Uriel de armadura completa.

Uriel: "Deus me enviou para lhe dizer que Ele está com você. Não tenha medo. Todas essas coisas devem acontecer. Deus não faz acepção de pessoas. Deus é Deus sobre todas as coisas. Fique calma. Você está vendo nação se erguer contra nação. Até os governantes sem terras agora estão se levantando. Você começou a experimentar as dores do parto. Como uma mulher de parto, Deus enviou contrações na forma de terremotos.

"Ainda assim, o fim ainda não chegou, entendeu? Há uma batalha épica nos céus e lá seremos vitoriosos. O inimigo que lutamos entende que o fim dos tempos está aqui e que a mulher está prestes a dar à luz. O inimigo gostaria que seu coração tivesse medo. Deus quer que você permaneça focado em Seus Estatutos e Promessas. Nunca houve um tempo como este, exceto o dos dias de Noé.

"Por favor, saiba disso e entenda... os tempos escritos pelos Profetas há milhares de anos agora estão aqui. Prepare suas casas agora. Prepare seus corações agora. Admire a Deus, pois Ele é o Doador de Bons Presentes. Ele ouve seus gritos e até no altar Dele dia e noite. Ele sabe. Erin, prepare-se. Sua família e seus amigos, preparem-se.

Eu: "Oh Uriel, eu tenho medo. Há um grande movimento de Deus por vir. Eu quero estar nesse número.

Uriel: Sorrindo. "Um dia muito bom está aqui, Erin... aquele em que os homens deixam de observar. No entanto, para Deus, este dia marca um grande presente que Ele deu ao mundo. Ele deu Seu Cordeiro, Seu Sacrifício Especial. Muito poucos reconhecem isso. Ele agora tem outro dom para enviar ao mundo, um que eles não esperam, aquele em que as origens não podem ser contestadas como sendo dele e de origem celestial.

"A batalha no céu por você é por causa dessa hora tardia em que você está agora. O inimigo acredita que ele é capaz de parar, ou pelo menos diminuir a velocidade, o que Deus já colocou em movimento. Deus não tem planos de parar com isso, então não se preocupe. Ninguém pode parar Deus. Ele nunca perdeu uma batalha e nunca o perderá. Agora, alegre-se, Erin, porque você não precisa ter medo.

Eu: "O que está por vir?"

Uriel: "Um nascimento! Agora, regozije-se, pois isso é um presente. No entanto, devo ir agora. Lembre-se, alegre-se e olhe para cima. Lembre-se, ouça a voz Dele.

Nesse momento, Uriel montou em seu cavalo. Em um instante, ele se foi. Ele passou por uma porta invisível.

Sonho acabou...

Dream 398 – The Kingdom of Heaven is at the Doorpost!

Received on Wednesday, April 8, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for allowing me another day! Thank You for my family and friends. Thank You for keeping our home safe from looming troubles. Father, I had a troubling dream last night. It was about a funeral for the husband of a friend from long ago. However, when I looked it up, this person is still alive and doing fine.

Sub-dream 1 "A funeral & a hole in one" begins...

I was late for a dear mentor's funeral. I worked for him during a time of complete crisis in my life. He was a Godly man. We were arriving at the very end of his service. His wife was a good friend of mine. She saw me and ran up to hug me. Understandably, she looked very sad. I looked around at the crowd. It consisted of elderly people that I recognized from church choir over 22 years ago. They all had stoic expressions on their faces. They were emotionless.

I looked over at the casket. It was fully open. For some reason, he looked the same as he did when I knew him from years back. The memorial was near a resort. Since this was in Central Oregon, there are many of these resorts. I did not recognize this particular resort as it has been well over a decade since I have been there. My husband and children were with me, so we decided to check into the resort.

I kept looking for my friend, but soon found out that she was out golfing. I went out to try to talk to her, but she was busy and had no time. Again, she was sad and meeting with many people, so I completely understood. To my amusement, I soon found myself on a hole alone. Someone had left an old 5 wood next to a golf ball, a Titleist Balata. I looked down the hole and decided 'Hey, why not?'

The hole was a par four of about 220 yards. It was short, but had a dogleg right with plenty of trees. There was no wind at all, so this would be a true shot. Because I had no pressure from other players being around me, I just went for it. My swing was perfect. My body was behind the ball as I watched my clubface hit the ball. It was a perfect shot. The ball headed right where I had prayed it would go.

It landed on the green and rolled toward the cup. I began to jump up and down. I could see my husband in the far distance and called out for him to see this. He was too far away and couldn't hear me. When I arrived at the green, I noticed a lot of balls around the green. However, I did not see mine. There were some youths there. They took turns talking.

Me: "Hi guys, did you happen to see where my ball went?"

Comment 1: "Oh, it is probably lost like the rest of these"

Comment 2: "Yeah, people just leave them here and lie about it on their score card. We then get to keep them."

Comment 3: "Here, I think this is yours."

He handed me a wooden ball that looked a lot like a croquet ball, but smaller. Upon closer inspection, it looked ridiculous. It was a series of blocks shaped into an artichoke. Some of the pieces had numbers and letters. I noticed the numbers 16, 9, 32 and 0, along with the letter Z or N depending on the direction you were looking at it.

Me: "I am 100% sure that this is not my ball."

Comment 4: "While it would never happen, did you check to see if your ball is in the cup?"

Me: "While that would be hard to believe at the speed the ball was rolling, I will check."

I walked over to the cup and, there inside, was my ball, the Titleist Balata.

Me: "Okay, guys, did one of you place the ball in the cup as a joke?"

Comment 5: "No way! We are only here for the lost balls, not the found ones."

Comment 6: In a patronizing tone. "Yeah, take a picture. It will be proof and will last longer."

I decided to ignore the sarcastic comments and walk away. Even though I was now a distance away, my hearing was enhanced and I could still hear them.

Comment 7: "Oh no, she didn't! Did she really just accuse us of stealing?"

Comment 8: "Nah, I don't think that she is smart enough."

Comment 9: "What if she is going to rat on us for being out here."

Just then, and in an instant, I went from being a distance away from them to being right in front of them.

Me: "Look, I can hear you. Quit your murmuring. You sound ridiculous. I am just excited to make a hole in one. I will be moving on now. However, you really don't want to upset me, if you know what I mean."

They were in complete shock. They dropped what they were holding, screamed and ran. I was laughing as I went to look for my husband and children. I was still sad though. I was sad I was late for the memorial. Even though I understood why, I was also sad that my friend did not want to carve out any time to catch up with me.

Sub-dream 1 over...

I just heard the sad news that singer John Prine had just died of the Corona Virus. My parents had one of his 8-Track Tapes. I think my mom might have even known him personally, but I wasn't sure. She knew quite a few of the singers of that era. We went to so many concerts when I was young that I barely remember any of the details. I hated it because everyone was always smoking, drinking and doing drugs.

So many of the songs from this era of 1968 to 1975 are sad. It was a sad time. The young people were rebelling against their parents and the government. I remember all of them sitting in groups for hours complaining about the world and their situation. They would then use drugs and alcohol to escape. They also had a warped view of themselves. They believed that they were morally superior to others.

It was the times, the age of everyone breaking free and then realizing that they couldn't afford it. That block of time for me was the worst, just awful, full of tragedy and poverty. In reality, my parents were too irresponsible to have children. They were too busy concerning themselves only with 'me, myself and I'. To my parents, we were baggage. It was such a sad time.

I decided to listen to some old songs of John Prine. While I thought that perhaps I would appreciate them more, it instead brought back painful memories. His song 'Hello in there' is a good song, but so depressing. It reminded me of my mom crying to it. She cried because the song reminded her of her parents. Witnessing this as a young child was just so horribly sad.

I then listened to some other songs that I associated with this era. They were all depressing me. There was Joan Baez's 'Diamonds and rust'. There was Gordon Lightfoot's 'If you could read my mind'. There was Jackson Brown's 'Fountain of Sorrow'. There was Jimmy Cliff's 'The harder they come'. What an emotional journey this was. It reminded me once again of the conditions I grew up in.

We had very little furniture in our house. We had a pool table. We had a dining table with four metal and Formica chairs. We had some shelves on cinder blocks with wood planks that held the stereo and speakers. Other than this, there was very little. We really had no keepsakes at all. Our clothes were gross and usually came from Thrift Stores that had little quality control.

I had a green pair of tennis shoes with no arch support that I had to make due with for over two years. It had holes upon holes. I had to play sports in these as this is all that I had. The other kids were not exactly sympathetic. Far from it. I could see them pointing and laughing, not always in whispers, as they pointed to my outfits. Instead of photos or items as souvenirs, all I had was music. Songs were our memories.

I had a couple of houseplants in my room. I used salvage things to try to fix it up. It really was so sad. While we were now living in an upgraded home of 1000 square feet, it was still small. However, it seemed huge compared to our 580 square foot home in Reno NV. The house was basically a box 30 feet by 30 feet. There was a tiny add on porch serving as a laundry room / pantry that accounted for the extra square footage.

Why did my mom and stepdad not see that they were oppressed and depressed? This depression then led to my stepdad's suicide in the garage of that 1000 square foot California home. I was going to make a return visit in the early 1990s, but I couldn't. I just couldn't go back. It was way too depressing. I still can't believe how many memories I just dealt with simply because a singer from that era had died.

However, I decided that I would not allow the sadness to win. I decided that I had enough of moping around with these horrible memories. I have good reason for this...

- This is because something wonderful has changed
- Jesus is now in me!
- There is joy where there once was sorrow
- There is hope where there once was hopelessness
- There is light where there once was darkness
- There is life where there once was death
- God has made all things new!

Father, I am so grateful for all that You have done for me. These painful journeys make me so relieved and thankful for all You have done. All of it! It is a miracle! What You did for me and my brothers, and eventually my mom, are miracles. You took us out from the mire and led us into beautiful lands. I was able to grow and live in safety there. Thank You, Father!

Yes, last night and this morning were painful, but I cling to Your promises. I pray for joy to fall on all those who are scared, alone and with no hope. Father, darkness has come across the world. However, You, Lord, are the True Light of the world. You, Lord, are our one and only Savior. Thank You for all You have done for us!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Before me and to my right were freshly planted fields. I could tell that they were healthy and would bring a record yield of harvest. In the distance was a beautiful bridge. The bridge crossed over raging rapids into God's Garden. Heaven was right there. I ran down through the fields to the bridge.

While I then tried to cross the bridge, I was held back by an invisible force. I stood there looking across, but could not go. I really had no choice but to stay. I soon began to cry. I decided to turn back to look at the fields. To my surprise, Uriel was right there in front of me. He was there in full armor and mounted on his horse.

Uriel: "There is still much to do, Erin. These here are not ready yet. However, they soon will be. The harvest will require workers, but there are few. Are you no longer wishing to continue?"

Me: "Of course! Yes! Uriel, I am ready and willing. However, I thought I could go back and forth."

Uriel: "Yes, but now is not that time. You must tend to these now."

Me: "But, Uriel, I thought..." I let out a deep sigh as I was not understanding.

Uriel: "Erin, events are moving rapidly. As fast as that river flows, it will reshape the landscape. God is reshaping the landscape to prepare for His Workers. Do not jump ahead. He knows you are ready and willing...as well as a bit bored too. However, please look at His signs all around you. Wait for His call. It is coming. Everything around you will change. Be patient. This time is here and God is with you.

"Remember, the enemy wants you to look backwards over old bridges. He wants you imprisoned by your thoughts. He wants to use your memories as chains are to prisoners. He likes to remind you of your beginnings and that these were low. However, remind your enemy that he was lofty and resided in Heaven, yet then fell from his position. Do not fall for his antics. Still, God sometimes takes you back at times so that you remain thankful for where you now are in His care, understand?"

Me: "Oh Uriel, I never want to go back!"

Uriel: "You won't...and neither will you fall. Now, list the signs around you that point to what God is doing. Do you see that it is already like nothing the world has ever seen? He has the final say over all things. Very soon, Heaven will be visible in those He has called. Do not worry though as you are His Lambs, not lambs sent to slaughter. Now, pray. Pray for what God is about to do in you, for it is good.”

Me: I was happy, yet still frowning. “Yes, Uriel, but it is taking such a long time!”

Uriel: Laughing. “Oh Erin, I have been with God for thousands of years. In comparison, you have only truly looked to Him for twenty years. Are you now being impatient?”

Me: Smiling. “Sorry, Uriel, but yes. It is just that twenty years in my earthly life is over a third of my life to date. Still, I am sorry for being impatient. I will try harder.”

Uriel: Smiling. “Do not worry, Erin, as He has you and He has a great plan, a plan you wouldn’t believe even if you were told. Now, hindsight is 2020. Looking back does nothing but add to your anxious thoughts. Give these to God. He will quiet your soul. You are not alone and you will soon have overwhelming joy. Now, I must go. Rejoice, rejoice, as the Kingdom of Heaven is near...even at the doorpost!”

He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 399 – ‘It is finished’ now means ‘it is time to get started’

Received on Saturday, April 11, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for our home. Thank You for my family and friends. They offer so much love and hope in this time of such darkness. We had quite a snowstorm here yesterday. Father, You dumped Your Spring Storehouses of Snow on us. It was beautiful and white everywhere the eyes could see. Flocks of birds then came. There were some birds that I had never seen before.

It was so exciting that I must have taken a hundred or more photos. This was such a beautiful gift. Thank You, Lord! This snow is not to last long though as tomorrow is supposed to warm up quite a bit. I pray that this does not mean a quick melt off. We have had very little flooding in our garage this year, so I pray that You keep any floodwaters away from us.

It has been such a sad time for the world. You are a Wise Father. Your wisdom includes that we are not to bend our ears to all of the bad reports. There have been so many these days. You have given me a heightened ability to know truth from fiction. You have been working with me to see that which is unseen by the naked eye.

This is something I have not been practicing much these days. This is because, thanks to social distancing, I don't have much interaction with others face-to-face these days. I understand the afflictions that are part of Your Refiner's Fire in our lives. The sad part is that not all who go through the wilderness make it to the Promised Land. It is so easy to lose hope right now. We are all isolated and at home. We are in our own tents.

Many are now left to work out their heart issues from their couches and beds. While many watch the news given to us on various media, many fail to read the Good News. A picture is worth a thousand words sometimes. In this case, I am referring to the pictures of the hundreds of pine boxes stacked and lined side-by-side in Hart Island, NY. These are the dead bodies of the poor whose families can't afford to bury them.

The price must be staggering to bury your dead in New York City. Father, each one of these unclaimed bodies of the dead matter to You. Father, You have the final say over life and death. You remember each one of these people from when they were children in their mother's womb. You always remember all of us. In many countries, infected people 60 years and older are now simply being left to die.

Even though these older people helped build their countries when they were in their youth, they are now being forced to suffer inglorious ends. Father, these bitter difficult reports remind us of the heart condition throughout the nations. One of the Archbishops of the Catholic Church has even called for a mass exorcism over the world for today. He thought the timing of being between Good Friday and Easter Sunday was ideal.

While I like the idea of this in theory, we have to ultimately remember that the end-times, along with their associated events, have all been foretold in Your Word and is therefore Your Will. All of this is being allowed because the world needs to stop what they are doing and hopefully turn their hearts to You. Most are not doing this though.

The Jewish people celebrate the Feast of Unleavened Bread today on the Sabbath Day. Passover represents salvation. Unleavened bread is void of yeast, wherein the yeast represents the wickedness of pride and a puffed-up attitude. As such, unleavened bread represents sanctification. Sanctification comes through afflictions, tests, trials and the purging of 'self'. As many of you now know, I have spent a long time in the wilderness training and working on my 'self'. By the time God was finished, I was abased, my 'self' now gone. In other words, I soon became a very flat unleavened bread...smiles! The day after the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread represents the Resurrection. This is the time when the first fruits are offered.

Yes, tomorrow is the First Fruit Offering. In Jewish Tradition, they offer their best, their 'First Fruits', to God. As for our Christian tradition, Jesus, our Savior, is God's First Fruit offering that was made at the Resurrection. In a way, thanks to this Corona Virus plague, we are all now in the wilderness. It is a time that people either recognize God in this or believe it is just a cruel random joke pulled on them by an unfeeling universe.

Although it is hard to see at times, this time of the Corona Virus is actually a gift, a true gift. It is a great shaking of those usually too busy to stop and see all that God is doing in the world right now. Still, there are some that are now thankfully awakening from their slumber. They then say, 'Okay, this is not something we saw coming. Surely, this has to be God.' This is good!

All along, You just want our love and attention. This is not because You are needy. It is because You knew a time like this was coming. You did this so none of us would miss out on Your spectacular display of power. Instead of sick hearts and hopelessness, You desire us to turn to You in honesty, truth and great humility and give our hearts to You during all of this (Proverbs 13:12).

Yes, Father, we will truly never be the same. This time has been a gift, not a curse. While hard, I believe You want us to view this as such. As for me, I have pressed into You like never before. It has been a blessing, Father. You are our eternal Gift!

That being said, Easter Sunday has now arrived. This is tomorrow. For the first time, we are not allowed to assemble in this nation to worship You together at church. Perhaps it is during this time of isolation that You will show Your mercy on us and fulfill Your promises of healing and Transformation. Oh Father, may it be so!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was laying down looking up at the beautiful tree with twelve different fruits. I must have fallen asleep. I sat up and looked around. I recognized this place as being near the southern overlook in God's Garden and the Valley of Blessing. I saw Jesus sitting on a large rock. He smiled at me as He got up to walk over to me. He put His arms out to receive me. I ran as fast as I could to Him and hugged Him.

Me: "Lord, it is You! I am so glad that there is no plague in Heaven. Lord, I can still hug You here!"

Jesus: Laughing. "So, how was your rest under the tree?"

Me: "Wonderful. How long was I out?"

Jesus: "Time is not relevant here. Are you rested?"

Me: "Yes, Lord. While I know that I am safe from harm here, seeing the size of that fruit hanging over my head...well, what if one fell on me? What if..."

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, you just said that you were glad that there is no plague here. Are you thankful that the first fruit of this tree did not fall and hit you on the head while you slept?" Now laughing. "Oh Erin, if I can keep a plague from coming to Heaven, can I also not keep a fruit from hitting you? You are funny!"

Me: "I am sorry, Lord. It is just that I have been trained for doom and gloom on Earth. I am going to quote Newton here, the 'father of falling fruit'. His third law says that, for every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction."

Jesus: Laughing. "Okay, you have gained wisdom...forces come in pairs."

Me: "Do you mean 'pears', as in 'pears' from the tree?"

Jesus: Smiling. "No, Erin, I mean 'pairs'. Oh yes...Newton resides here in Heaven."

Me: "He is here in Heaven?"

Jesus: "Yes. Now, you are to remember that God holds the keys to life and death. Oh, that My truth, My Word, be the final Word. The enemy would have you believe that 'it is finished' actually meant 'I was finished'. Obviously, it is not so, as here I am, very much alive. The wording I used simply meant that I had finished the work that I was sent to complete on Earth for that time, understand?"

"There was a greater ending to this than the enemy had planned. Much to his dismay, this didn't mean that I would now be withering up in a tomb. As much as the enemy would have enjoyed this, God had the Final Word and still does." I was crying. He reached over and wiped my tears. "Erin, remember that you have fountains made up of those tears here."

He laughed with a kindness impossible to fully describe. I instantly felt such joy that He was still pleased with me.

Me: "Oh Lord, I am so thankful for You. I am so grateful. I am just in awe of Your brilliance and Your wisdom. Who can be like You? No one...not one person. I could sit with You forever and study You and never be bored. You are so amazing!"

Jesus: "Thank You, Erin. Since I still hold the keys, remember to not worry. Since I am always with you, remember to not be fearful. I have great plans for you, your family and your friends. Remember, there is still much to do. After all of this is finished, I will once again have the Final Word. Now, come, walk with Me." He reached for my hand. "Let's call down some first fruits off of this beautiful tree."

He turned to look at me. He studied me and I knew that He knew my every thought. His love permeated my entire being. He is truly worthy of all of our praises.

Jesus: "Come, do not worry, Erin, as this is a good day. Since the enemy will not prevail, it is time to rejoice. Yes, Erin, the wicked will not prevail. No thing...nothing...coming against you will prevail, understand?"

Just then, Jesus' horse came up and nudged Him.

Me: "Where has Your horse been?"

Jesus: Looking over at His horse. "Drinking from the beautiful River of Life. Oh yes...but he comes with a reminder." He reached over and took the horse's reins. "If I hold the keys and the reins, then why do you worry? Do not. Now, My horse would like some of these beautiful ripe fruits. Come."

We walked together toward the tree with the twelve fruits.

Dream over...

Dream 400 – We must continue to fully trust in God

Received on Sunday, April 12, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

I had a sub-dream on Saturday night, April 11, 2020, that I waited until today to write down. I wanted to jot this sub-dream down before I started today's dream...

Sub-dream 1 "A Massive Smoldering Furnace" begins...

I was looking at a massive furnace. It was old and rusted from use. In it were so many ashes that the fire could no longer burn properly. The furnace was smoldering instead. The smell from this was making me ill. I called out to see if anyone was here...

Me: "Who is here? Whose are these in here?"

Voice of God, the Father: "Be not anxious for your life, Erin. Consider the lilies of the field. I created these in great beauty and splendor. I also created the grass of the field. They have rest here. So then, Erin, be not anxious. Seek first My Kingdom and My righteousness. Worry not for tomorrow."

I then saw a newly printed newspaper. The headline on the front page read 'Easter Sunday!'. The paper landed in the smoldering furnace and was immediately consumed in the flames. It was gone. I started to cry. I then heard God's Voice again...

God: "Erin, this is not the good news you are looking for. I am here with you. I Am the I Am, understand?"

Sub-dream 1 over...

Thank You! Thank You for everything. Jesus is my everything. Thank You that Jesus rose. Yes, He has risen! Without this, we would have no promise or hope. I had a song on my heart this morning. It is one that I remembered during my troubles. Our church choir sang this in Portland OR almost twenty years ago. I remember the words and the songs buildup. I remembered everyone standing up and cheering at one point.

I looked up the lyrics and started to cry as I read them. The song is 'In Christ Alone (my hope is found)'. What a great song. What an awesome thing You have done for us in Jesus. He is our Light in this dark world. You sent Him first for the Jewish people. Many hearts did not receive Him though. They were looking for a King, not a baby, and certainly not a man from Nazareth.

To the Jews, He was a man of no significance, a carpenter, the son of a carpenter. They missed the great signs and miracles there before them. God was with us. He still is! However, You declared that the whole world, Jews and Gentiles, would be grafted into the branches of the redeemed.

- In Isaiah 11:10: "And in that day, there shall be a Root of Jesse, Who shall stand as a Banner to the people; for the Gentiles shall seek Him, and His resting place shall be glorious."
- In Isaiah 42:1: "Behold! My Servant Whom I uphold, My Elect One in Whom My Soul delights; I have put My Spirit upon Him; He will bring forth justice to the Gentiles."
- In Isaiah 49:6: "He says: 'It is too light a thing that You should be My Servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to bring back the preserved of Israel; I will make You as a light for the nations, that My salvation may reach to the end of the Earth.'"
- In Matthew 15:21: "Then Jesus went out from there and departed to the region of Tyre and Sidon."
- Revelation 22:16 calls Jesus the Root and Offspring of David, a Banner or Ensign to be lifted up in the sight of an army or to rally people together.
- John 12:32 states that Jesus' Crucifixion was a Banner for the world to see.
- Isaiah 60:13 states that His Resting Place will be Glorious.
- Taken together, this means that, when the Gentiles seek Him, the Messiah of the world, they will look to Him for salvation and protection.
- Jesus is our Resting Place because He has risen and is with His people, all of us.

Thank You, Father, for You sent Jesus for all of us. We learned from Isaiah that Jesus, the Gentile Savior, would be Jewish and that the Messiah would come from Jesse's line. It speaks of 'Root'. The word Root is Shoresh in Hebrew. A Root can be a sprout that springs from a dead tree. Father, thank You for Jesus!

My dream last night greatly disturbed me. It made me so sad for these days to come. I pray for the many who will have to witness the full force of all of this. As quickly as changes have come to the world, as this You have allowed so that hearts would turn to You, so I also know that all of this is possible and can come quickly...

Sub-dream 2 "Creatures from the land, air and sea are removed" begins...

People were enjoying a normal sunny day. People were once again able to gather for events. I was walking down the street with my husband. I believe we were now Transformed as I was able to look up without pain. Suddenly and without warning, we heard a loud horn, loud like a siren. Several very large angels then descended upon the area. People were running and screaming. The angels then began to gather the birds of the air in pairs. I turned to my husband.

Me: "Look how beautiful the Trumpeter Swans are."

We looked up and the swans together had stunning plumage. Their feathers were thick and perfect, with a slight rose tinge. I then saw many other incredible specimens of birds. The angels were removing them. I turned to my husband again.

Me: "Oh no, all of the birds of the air are gone!"

I then heard another horn. It was also as loud as a siren. The angels descended again, but this time they gathered all of the animals in pairs. We knew some of these animals personally. They seemed to be smiling and waving goodbye to us. People were mourning the sudden loss of their animals. We tried to comfort a couple who just had their dog go missing.

Me: "Do not worry, for God has taken them to a safe place. This way, they will not have to endure what is coming. He has done this as all of them are innocent."

The crying and wailing from what just happened was horrible. People did not see the angels as we had. While I am not sure if this was post-Rapture, I should note that I did not see any children below the age of accountability. Perhaps they had already been taken. Again, I am not 100% sure.

I then heard yet another horn as loud as a siren. This time, the angels descended and turned the many waters bitter. I somehow knew that the fish had already been removed. I turned back to my husband.

Me: "Well, we have a lot to do now. We had better go."

Before we did, the Lord moved us to a better vantage point. We could see the landscape below with enhanced clarity. We could hear people screaming...

People: In sheer terror. "God's Wrath has come. He has shaken the Earth. He has sent hailstones and fire. He has taken our living creatures from the land, sea and air. He has poisoned our waters."

What happened next astounded my husband and me. Instead of repenting to God and turning from evil, they quickly increased in wickedness. These delusional people did not realize that there was still much more to come.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Father, I would not call this a particularly enjoyable Easter Sunday dream. I had hoped to focus more on Your Great Glory and Your miracles of the Resurrection events. This was unexpected. Father, I am scared. While You have repeatedly told me to not be afraid, I am. People like us are looking to You for hope. Right now, the doom and gloom are everywhere.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was on the overlook in God's Garden in Heaven. This area is so beautiful that nothing compares to it on Earth. As I stood there, I saw the River of Life winding through the pastures, fields and forests. I saw animals of every kind. However, there was no longer the predator vs. prey aspect. I could see tributaries all flowing into the beautiful river. Fish were jumping out of the water as if to fly.

Tears streamed down my cheeks when I saw a group of beautiful horses running. They were not wild though...they were free. There were some ponies there as well. I then looked toward the sun as it rose on the horizon. The sky was like a 1,000 Rembrandts. Since this was God's personal canvas, nothing can describe what I was seeing.

I suddenly heard a melody come from the north. Every kind of bird was sweeping across the sky. They were led by eagles and angels. They were singing in perfect harmony. It was incredible. My jaw must have dropped open. I was so excited that I started to jump up and down. I could now see a flock of Trumpeter Swans. This was the greatest migration ever seen on Earth, but was business as usual here in Heaven.

Me: "Father, You have storehouses of snow like in Job 38:22. Here in Heaven, You have glorified the birds of the air, some even from our yards on Earth. You have glorified the animals. They are perfect here. There are no fears of predators here. The fish in the River of Life thrive. The rainbow trout and salmon have colors beyond description. The water is so pure here. While there is salt here, the water is not saltwater. Everything here is pure and perfect."

I looked over to my right and there was a beautiful blossoming tree. The blossoms seemed to be moving. They were. Suddenly, thousands of butterflies came off of the branches and started to fly in perfect patterns. The tree that remained was not bare. Far from it. It still had thousands of blossoms on it. It took my breath away. I sat down and began to weep, even as I write.

Me: "God, there is no one like You. You are intricate, thoughtful, faithful, never ending, mighty and strong. When I am here, it truly makes me realize just how big You are. It is sometimes easy to forget this on Earth. Nothing is possible without You. I fail at trying to capture by pen all that You are. You are everything to me. You are our Creator!"

I felt something next to me. I opened my eyes and there was my dog, Zoey. I was obviously shocked! She was now healed and strong again. She wanted me to pick her up. I gathered her up into my arms.

Me: "I am glad you are here, 'Z!'"

She gently licked my face. She was so happy. Something behind me distracted her. I turned around to see what it was and there was Uriel. I put Zoey down.

Uriel: Smiling. "Erin, God requests your presence."

He was in full armor standing next to his horse. The horse bent down so that I could ride on its back. Uriel walked beside the horse. Zoey wasn't sure if she was welcome, so she sat down and watched us walk away. Uriel noticed...

Uriel: "Come on, Zoey. It is okay. You can walk along too." She then followed us.

Me: "Why am I seeing Zoey here? She is at home downstairs right now."

Uriel: "You needed to know that God cares for His Lambs and for His lambs of Lambs. Erin, it has not been written that animals do not mean anything to God. If God knows when a sparrow falls and cares, then why would He not care about that which you care about and He created? This would be against His character of holiness. Do not listen to those who dishearten.

"These people love to speak for God on pulpits and proclaim this or that without knowledge. So many lies are said of God, but this one hurts little ones. Your animals are here...or will be...all of them. They will see you one day soon. They run and nap in the sun here. They splash in the rivers and chase butterflies here. They have no fear. They spend time preparing at your Home for the day you return."

Me: "Uriel, this is a mysterious statement."

Uriel: "Your Home is Heaven, Erin."

We arrived at God's Door. Uriel helped me off of his beautiful horse. There was a saddle on the horse that was so comfortable that it was as if it was specifically built for me. I somehow also knew that it automatically adjusted for Uriel when he mounted his horse. I looked over for Zoey and there she was under God's willow tree by the lake with fountains. She was on her back with her paws in the air. She was lying in the sun and sleeping. She looked so peaceful that I began to cry.

Uriel: "Come, Erin, God requests your presence. Zoey will be fine."

Uriel put salve in my eyes and brought me through the door into His presence. I could hear the incredible Heavenly choir of angels singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord God Almighty, Who was and is and is to come. You are worthy, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power, for You created all things and, by Your Will, they were created and have their being.'

Uriel brought me in a little further than the time before. The cells in my body soon had me dropping to my knees. I realized that He wanted the angels to sing this chorus as a reminder that He is the Creator of all things! I immediately began to worship Him. I was so thankful for Him that He would care about me so much that even things like Zoey would be on His mind.

Me: "Praise You, Father over all things. There is no one like You. I love You so much. I pray that I have done You justice as a scribe with my pen. I pray that I have done everything in accordance with Your Will. As You know, I don't always like what I am called to write. However, I know that this is Your Story and I am just me. Still, You remind me that I am a daughter of the King."

God: "I love you, Erin, not because you are perfect in the sight of men, but because you are perfect in My sight. You are like My scribe, Jabez. As a young boy, he was ridiculed because of his name. He then turned to Me with his whole heart one day and said 'Oh Father, that You would instead bless me and keep me from pain.' I then answered his prayers. I blessed him from the tribe of Judah.

"He was an artisan and did what was right in My eyes. He was highly esteemed. While you cried out in the times of your pain, you did not ask to be free from your trials. You instead asked for a heart of gold and to be like your Savior. This came at a cost similar to the price paid by those who asked to sit next to My Son in Heaven. Refinement like this comes with great pain and suffering at the hands of your enemy and enemies."

Me: "But, Father, I did ask You to remove my pain and I still do."

God: "Yes, but only when it began to be very painful. It is finished, Erin. I have brought you through your troubles and you walk with Your King. You have been blessed like Jabez. You came from humble beginnings and the world should know you not. Still, here you are with Me. You are a scribe even though you have no formal skills in this area. How is this possible? It is not unless I have declared this work in you.

"Now, I have heard your prayers and agree with your petitions. I am not finished with you and I am not calling you Home. I have a plan in place and this is written, yet few have found it. What can a man discover unless it is I who lead him to what is hidden? You are also now concerned over the events of the world. Erin, this was important. I brought you through severe troubles and punishing blows, yet you are here. So, Erin, was I heartless?"

Me: "No, Father. Knowing all that I know now, it had to happen this way. I had always hoped for something miraculous, something so great, that the mouths of my enemies would be shut in awe. This never happened though. Still, You are the One with the Final Word. Everything You do is perfect. I must stay focused on You and You will take care of us. When I look back, I want to vomit. It is so painful, so unbelievable. I am thankful for evidence, testimony and witnesses.”

God: “Erin, I can feel your pain. I have not forgotten this. If I said you are like Jabez, then I will bless you like I did him. I know your sacrifices. I know your longings. They are good, not lofty. However, I have something much greater planned than even you can conceive. This is not an ending for you, but only a new beginning. I told you that the day you were looking for was not Easter. I gave you the dream of the newspaper. It was not subtle.”

Me: “I am sorry, Father, but I was really hoping that today would be ‘The Day’ for our healing, our Transformation.”

God: “Erin, I am with you. My plans are good. As you were tested and here you are, so too is the world being tested. I will take care of those who press into Me. I will not forsake them. I am with them even in the minute details. I will provide for them. While I know that you are discouraged, do not be. I am about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told.”

Me: Smiling. “Do You mean all of the stuff that is happening right now in the world?”

God: Laughing. “Yes, this is true, but better.”

Me: “Thank You, Father.” Uriel came to bring me out the door. I turned back and waved to God. “I love You!” I could see a motion of light from His arm in the direction of His Throne.

God: “I love You too.”

When I came outside, I immediately noticed that Zoey was no longer there.

Me: “Where is Zoey?”

Uriel: Smiling. “She is now downstairs.”

Me: “Does she know that she was here? Did she dream it?”

Uriel: “Would this not be a good thing? Be encouraged, Erin, for God is with you. He knows you are waiting on Him. He has prepared your heart for good things. Things will become difficult in the world. God has referenced you as a scribe. The Lord has said this of you...

“And He said to them, ‘Therefore every scribe who has been trained for the Kingdom of Heaven is like a master of a house, who brings out of his treasure what is new and what is old.’ (Matthew 13:52).

“Erin, God has given you the desires of your heart to be like the Lord. You are a branch, a shoot, from the Root of God, understand? Your branch bears good fruit. Do not be discouraged when time continues and you grow weary or doubtful if God has forgotten you. He has not forgotten you. You are ever before Him. Your name is scribed on the palm of His hand.

"Now, rejoice, as God is about to bless you with more than you even prayed for you and those He has called. I must go. Take heart and remember that He has overcome the world."

Me: "Uriel, I am sick each day and I am becoming sicker. Could you...? Oh, never mind. God knows me. If He is with me, then He will have compassion on me. If I am like a lamb, He could heal His lamb as the Good Shepherd. Since He says He will heal me, then He will. I just pray it comes soon. Something has become much worse. I need a miracle. Many of us need a miracle."

Uriel: "I will give God this message." He gave me a smile that told me that we both knew that God already knew what I had just spoken. "Remember that He always loves you and always cares about you. I must go now."

He turned with his horse and was gone in an instant.

Dream 401 – God will be ever before us

Received on Wednesday, April 15, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

I am anxious, scared and still very worried, but also hopeful for Your soon miracles. I have had some unsettling dreams recently...

Sub-dream 1 "Selling some of our items" begins...

My husband and I were at a border town in Minnesota or Wisconsin, not far from Winnipeg. I was speaking to a woman there who was taking some of my antiques to the USA to sell. She travelled once a week. Even though we were staying at a hotel, it felt more like a dorm room at a university. The furniture was dated and sparse.

While I gave her one set of descriptions for our items, she completely changed it for the sale. She also had a bunch of items for sale. As I walked around looking at her items, I found a couple of things of interest. One was an odd piece of jewelry made of green transferware. This doesn't even exist in real life. My husband and I didn't have time to purchase this though as we had to leave immediately for a reason I was not aware of.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Sub-dream 2 "An island on a lake" begins...

I had to travel to an island in the middle of a lake. I had to get clearance to go. I flew in on the last few days of the summer season and had a place there. There were small resort cabins there that were very modern. There were so many construction workers on the island that they were practically stumbling over themselves to hurry their work by a certain time. The small cabin I was staying in consisted of a single bed, a closet, a bathroom and a small kitchenette. I was there for something important.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Father, what if You have abandoned me? What if You remove Your love and favor from me? What if I am rejected? What if I am alone? I am scared. What if me just feeling like this makes it so You turn away from me? Oh Lord, You are my Best Friend. You have always been with me. Please help me, Father.

After writing the above part down, something odd suddenly started to happen to me. It seemed like there was some kind of focus on the number

22. When I looked down at my emails, I immediately noticed an email with the number 22 in it. One email in particular seemed to be highlighted to me.

It was from a few months back, so I opened it to refresh my memory. It was a message sent to me from a Nest member (Annie from Oz) dated August 22nd, 2019. I remember I was sad that day and this was so gratefully received and perfectly timed. With permission from Annie, here is her message, along with her attached poetry...

* * * * *

Beloved Erin,

I love you and your family with all my heart. You are always close to my heart and I bless the day I first heard your name seven years ago. Little did I know that I would come to know my Jesus so much more because of these dreams. I wrote the below poem 25 years ago. This was 18 years before I even knew you. I thought of you today and remembered the poem. When I read the poem again today, I knew that it was missing something...your name. After adding this, I felt called to send this to you today...

TO MY DAUGHTER

One day, the Master took a thread of life and began to weave a priceless tapestry.

On and on He wove until sadly I began to despair that this work of art would be trampled underfoot in the market place.

For who would appreciate the grey tones of grief, the charcoal threads of broken dreams.

Surely no one would believe that these dark threads were useful in the Master's Plan.

On and on He wove, seeming to ignore my pleas for light.

Questioning, why, why, why, I feel asleep, awakening only to find that the Master had been working all night.

Dazzling colors of sunrise exploded in joyful celebration, while warm hues of humor chuckled along meandering tracks leading to a glorious new morning.

The brilliant gold of nobility, the purity of white, the crimson red fire of love danced that scene before me.

Tenderly the Master turned to me and said...

'In My care, both light and dark become a priceless work of art. You are My masterpiece. I have called you by name...Erin!'

* * * * *

This was so touching and brought tears to my eyes...thank you, Annie! I then went back to my MSN account and saw some more emails being highlighted. I did not feel called to open these ones though. However, I once again noticed that they all continued to center on the number 22. Please, Father, help! What is happening?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up at God's Door with Uriel.

Uriel: "God requests your presence, Erin."

Me: "Yes, please. I would love to see Him."

He put salve in my eyes and brought me into His presence. I wept as I listened to the beautiful choir sing. I sighed a very heavy sigh. I went as close to God as I could before my cells forced me to drop to the ground.

Me: "I am sorry, Father. Some of the dreams You have given me have scared me. Father, I am afraid."

God: "Be still, Erin, be still. I will not leave you. I know what has happened and I understand your pain. However, I will never leave you. As for those who have trampled on you that are still on Earth, they think nothing of what they had done to you. They do not recall the pain they have caused you. However, I haven't forgotten one thing...not one.

"See, I know the many times you have been cast aside...your heart crushed and your dreams dashed. You had hoped for something that never came. While you prayed for blessings and to be honored for your hard work, this never came. I watched, Erin. I saw it. I knew that there was a day that I had planned for this to happen, but I first needed to know that, if this never came, you would still love Me and serve Me on Earth.

"Well, Erin, you have. Still, as God, I am never surprised. As God, only I am able to say things using absolutes. As you and others are not God, I send tests and trials when someone uses absolutes. These follow a declaration. However, here you are. You still come here. Even in fear, you still come here. Therefore, greater is your reward.

"I will do much more than I had originally planned. Now, forget your former things, the pain of your heart, and focus on Me. I am the Mender of broken hearts and dreams. What I promise, I fulfill, and I will not abandon you. You are a hidden treasure and an unopened gift. You are more precious than rubies or the finest gold of Ophir. I have picked you.

"Today, I sent you a message written more than 26 years ago, a message placed upon the heart of someone in a different hemisphere than you even. While this was made for you, I am going to send even more to you. Your Love is returning as 'He chooses you and He comes for you'. He is not abandoning you for another. He already chooses you even as you are now.

"Your heart is fine and now I will deny you no good thing. Whatever you ask in My Name, I will do this. You are precious and honored in My sight. I will not pass over you. I will instead part the way for you. You will cross on level ground there and nothing will come against you. I reserved you for a great purpose under Heaven. Do not worry, Erin, as you are not delusional or self-edifying. I am declaring this. You are Mine.

"When you pass through the raging waters, they will not overcome you nor will anyone come against your children, animals or property. I will protect all of this as these are Mine. You will be confident in this. Where you walk, there will be peace. Where your feet step, truth will overtake troubles and evil will flee. Terror will be on the hearts of those who recognize that I have sent you.

"Now, wait for My instructions, as these are soon to follow. Do not be discouraged. I will send My daughter with a great dowry from Heavenly storehouses. Kings will see and send gifts as they will also see that I am with you. Now, rejoice today, Erin, rejoice, as I am with you!"

Uriel reached for my arm and helped me back to the door. I turned back to God and curtsied as I wiped away my tears. I felt His love permeate my every cell.

Me: "I love You, Father!"

God: "I love you, Erin."

Uriel took me outside the door.

Uriel: "Erin, God is showing you that you will be at rest and peace wherever you are called. This is because His hand is upon you. Do not worry as God has a plan!"

He smiled at me as he turned away from me. He disappeared in an instant. Dream over...

Dream 402 – A Covenant Wine of Celebration is finalized

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for all You do. You are wonderful. You are marvelous. You have cared for us in all things. Thank You. I had a dream last night that I did not understand...

Sub-dream 1 "Expensive Fabric" begins...

I had been invited to my friend's house. When I arrived, there were many people there. While I was looking around, I spotted a two-tiered bench that had been covered in my signature fabric from many of my published projects. This fabric is now discontinued and quite expensive, as much as $500 per yard. This fabric was, in essence, my 'lucky' fabric. I waved to my friend to come over.

Me: "Where did you find this fabric?"

Friend: "I can't really recall where I got this from."

She then pulled out a bag that I recognized as being a bag I had donated a few years ago. In this bag was a light blue bag from a store that her son had once worked at. Inside the bag were fabric scraps and remnants from old jobs I had worked on. There was a Manual Canovas green velvet fabric there that stood out. At the bottom of the bag were some Lego figurines and small assembled pieces which had once been my sons.

Me: "Where did you find this bag?"

Friend: "I picked it up at a thrift store."

Me: "I recognize all of this. It used to be mine. These were my sons once."

Friend: "I have more too. If it is yours, you can have it."

Me: "No, no, it is rightfully yours now. I am just sorry that you can't do anything with the scraps. They are just too small."

Friend: "I have put together a quilt."

She showed me a beautiful quilt made up of various incredible pieces of fabric.

Me: "Wow, this is so beautiful."

Friend: "Well, what was once yours is now ours together." We laughed.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, this was an odd dream. Even though the tattered scraps of this fabric were useless to me, I still felt attached to them. I felt attached even though they brought back painful memories of great struggles. The one constant in my life has been my daughter. She has always been with me and I am so grateful. I have also had so many dreams and plans from the very beginnings.

I found a magazine hidden in my cookbooks this morning. This magazine spoke about Lake Pend Oreille in Sandpoint, Idaho, as well as Priest Lake. Pain filled my heart as I remembered exploring different areas of both lakes with my friends. We went boating, fishing and swimming and had so much fun. My mom and I would also go for drives to these places, even on cloudy days. We would also take new routes just for fun.

We had very little back then, so adventure on the cheap was how we lived. For just a moment, I felt the warm sun and smelled the smells of the Tamarac pines. I had no fear, just peace. This was the summer and fall of 1980. By June of 1981, I was gone. I went off to live my own life at eighteen. My mom made it clear that it was time for me to go. While I still visited her occasionally on summer breaks, it was never quite the same.

In reality, age eighteen is too young to go and be by yourself. However, by Your Grace, Father, You took care of me. Thank You, Father, for Your love. Life is different now. The entire dynamic of all things has changed. So much of my past is now 'buried'. My playbook is to distract myself from the 'buried objects' completely and redirect my attention to other more pleasant things.

This is a 'deflect then indulge' methodology, a pattern of indulgence and deflection. It is similar to having something terrifying happen and then trying to bury it by eating a huge cake covered in icing. While I would then hope this would make me feel better, it instead just created more 'dishes' to clean and a stomach ache. One thing I do know...it certainly did not remove my horrible heart ache. Only God can do this.

Trouble is...I didn't have God in my life back then. When God did come into my life, I then had to reconcile my past by dredging up so many memories. He then kept me from using my two favorite techniques – either burying or indulging. These were gone. I was now in a mess, a big one. God and His light exposed that which sat in darkness. He exposed my fears, my failures, my ideas and my big, big dreams.

Oh Father, that You would restore my joy. Actually, instead of me, please restore my older son's joy. He is dealing with severe OCD right now. This is a generational curse that has hit the first-born children from as far back as I can remember. I once had even more severe OCD than his, but You removed this from me. Please do this with him as well. Please release him. I really believe that I have prayed long and hard enough for this miracle to now come to pass for him.

If I took a piece of scrap fabric from every trial and test and sewed it into a quilt, it would have no rhyme nor reason. It would be a 'crazy quilt'. This quilt would be made up of lost dreams, lost places, lost homes, lost loved ones and lost hopes. In a way, I can also see this happening to my daughter right now. Thanks to the Corona Virus, there will be no prom and no graduation ceremony for her.

While my daughter is taking this in stride and is a good sport about it, this still saddens me. It is unfair, so unfair. Thank You, Father, for loving us. What seems unfair to us is still all part of Your Great Plan. I just know that You will soon make all things right. As for now, I am just in tears. We have all lost so much. For me, I have lost my abilities, my hope and my dreams. While You have kept us and provided for us, I, along with so many on our Nest, feel as if we are being stored on a shelf. Please use us soon! We love You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was under the tree with the twelve fruits here in Heaven. I saw Jesus sitting on a rock a short distance away. He stood up and turned to receive me. I ran over to Him and into His arms. I wept there and even as I write.

Jesus: "I know. I am here, Erin. I have always been here. I have seen all things. I know. Erin, I know."

Me: "Oh Lord, I am not asking for vindication. I am not asking for self-elevation or immense wealth. I am not. I just have deep inner longings of things here that I have seen. I only have glimmers of this on Earth. I want my children to know and see these things. I want them to have adventures."

"I want to see our home out west again before things turn. Lord, what I have seen coming..." I stopped as just the thought of this had me crying.

"...well, there will be no turning back very soon. Lord, so many of us are looking for our healing, our Transformation. What if we have a lot longer to wait? Oh Lord, what if..."

Jesus placed His finger on my lips. He smiled at me and nodded His head. I suddenly felt such peace. I saw His plan flash in front of my eyes. I had seen this before and it once again told me not to worry, He has this. Sadly, once I saw this, the clarity of the plan was then removed from my memory. Gratefully, it also soon replaced my sadness with a smile.

Jesus: "Oh Erin, you are emotional today. You miss your parents. You want to roll back time. Why? To make changes? To redo your painful experiences? Is this what you want? You cannot make changes as this is My Story...'His Story'. It is finished. It is done. You cannot go backwards."

While you can go backwards in your memory, this is full of affliction and where the devil resides. Now, repent, so you can be free.”

Me: Crying. “I am sorry, Lord. I don’t know what happened today. One small thing, opening that magazine, opened a floodgate of tears. I don’t know why I do this to myself. I am so sorry. My daughter and I had been looking through photos and found a disc of pictures that has not been opened in thirteen years. The kids were so happy.

“We were at the pumpkin patch in 2006 at Smith Rock. There were other pictures from 2007. It was a long time ago and such happy memories. These are still bittersweet though as they were also a ‘kickoff to my stupidity’. I trusted the wrong voices and didn’t hear from You clearly. I was in a situation of fear and grief with three young children. I am sorry, so sorry.”

Jesus: Hugging me. “Erin, I was there. I saw what happened. I was your Advocate and Kinsman Redeemer. I was your Constant Companion. However, you did not always hear My Voice. This is because you were looking for My Voice through those you thought had your best interest, those who claimed to be My Voice. They were not though. This then caused great heartbreak for you, even to the point of stopping your heart.

“Well, Erin, you are now here with Me. I have a Great Plan and here you are. While I know that this has not gone according to your plans, it has to Mine. All of your children are there with you. Your enemies thought your union with your husband would never last, not even a year. The walls now echo with the sound of silence in the halls of your enemies. The promise of victory has now faded, all with curses still on their lips. Now, come with Me.

I have a place I would like to bring you. We will try this new wine there.”

He took my hand. I soon began to cry as I realized that I was walking with the Lord in a beautiful pine forest. It was fragrant and lovely. It somehow encompassed the best sights and smells of Yosemite, Lake Tahoe, the Red Wood Forests, Crater Lake, the Oregon Coast, Central Oregon, Northern Idaho, Cranston BC, Banff AB, Whitefish MT, Bozeman and the Maine Coast. Hard to describe, but so amazing. We soon walked up to a beautiful lake.

Me: “Lord, this looks like Lost Lake in Oregon. It is beautiful. I have pictures of the boys here from when they were little.”

Jesus: “Well, the lake which was lost is now found here. This is part of your property in Heaven, the property that I have prepared for you.”

Me: “Wait! What? I get a ‘Found Lake’ here in Heaven?”

Jesus: “Well, yes. You can invite whomever you want to come here. I do this for those I love, for those who lost large blocks of time. I give them recompense here. Remember that My recompense is eternal, not temporary, understand? You lost so much and, what little you kept, even that was taken. Here, this is for you. See over there. You have a little cabin on the lake.”

He pointed to a structure on the lake’s shore. In an instant, I could see flashes of all that this ‘little cabin’ had. Well, let me assure you that this was no ‘little cabin’! This was like a property right out of an architectural digest. I jumped up and down in glee.

Jesus: Smiling. “Your mom wants you to know that she visits here often. She loves to set things up for you here. She tries her hardest to guess how you might like it.”

Me: “Well, from what was just flashed in front of me, she is doing a great job. Oh Lord, this lake is so beautiful. Thank You.” I started to laugh as I made a humorous comment. “Hmm, I think I might ‘charge’ You with ‘deflecting’ my thoughts away from painful memories of the past and ‘indulging’ me with something I don’t deserve.” He laughed with me. I then sighed. “I am just overwhelmed by all that You do for us.”

Jesus: Smiling as He gently nudged me. “Well, Erin, you will soon get over it. Yes, and since I am God, I can redirect your attention to the things of Heaven and show you some of My plans for you. Did you think I would forget you? No, Erin, I could not. I could not. Do you think I could forget your children and forget their dreams? No, Erin, I could not. I could not.

“I have been there with them from the beginning. I heard the horrible things said of them. I saw what was done. I have never forgotten. However, you must understand this...just because you did not see My vindication in the visible sense, you can know and understand that there will be vindication. There is a cost for those who harm My children, the little ones, and you have seen this.

“Please understand, Erin, that the cost to those who do evil and have no remorse will be great. Please understand that the cost for those who do evil and justify it as doing work for Me will be great. They have worked for the devil from birth and their heart is not Mine. You see them act higher than you in the churches and the synagogues, but they are not.

“They do not reside here and they do not partake in the fruits of My Good Tree nor will they ever. They know no good fruit. As a result, there is no threat of their wicked schemes and plots here in Heaven. They have instead stored up their treasures in the pews of the wicked.

“In these pews, their ‘treasure’ is that given to an oppressor of hopes and dreams. The wicked enjoy crushing dreams of the innocent and the poor. However, it is I Who crushed the head of the serpent with My foot, understand? Do not let the enemy get a foothold on you as he has already been defeated.”

Me: “Lord, You suddenly seem so serious to me.”

Jesus: “Yes, Erin, as I am letting you hear My Words of Knowledge. I am quite aware of all the comings and goings of the wicked. Their days are short. While there is an uptick in evil, things are to soon change.”

Me: “Lord, thank You for calming my anxious thoughts and turning my tears into ‘Found Lake’...or should I call it ‘Lake once was lost, now it is found’.” I laughed.

Jesus: Laughing. “It is your lake now. Look at what your ‘Found Lake’ is like here compared to what ‘Lost Lake’ is now like there. So, are you hungry?”

Off to the side, a beautiful pier suddenly popped into view. This had not been there before. At the end of the pier was a beautiful pergola area. It had various vines and flowers beautifully climbing the pergola. There was a table there. I was so excited that I ran by myself down the pier to underneath the beautiful pergola. When I realized that I had left Jesus behind, I became remorseful and quickly looked back at Him. He had such a sweet smile on His face that told me not to worry.

The pergola had a beautiful bench built into it. The comfortable cushions were made out of my ‘lucky, but expensive, fabric’, but even better here. It was the glorified version of it and was like linen and velvet combined. I had tears of joy. The table was set for two. There was freshly baked bread and a bottle of wine wrapped in a cloth. Jesus was now standing with me and laughing.

Jesus: “I see that you are taking all of this in!”

Me: Crying with joy. “Oh Lord, You think of everything, just everything. No detail is left out...none. The water of the lake is crystal clear. It looks similar to glaciated blue fresh water, but even clearer. This is not like the dark water of Lost Lake. I can see the bottom and this too is beautiful.”

Jesus: Smiling. “I am glad you like it. There is a lot to do here, Erin. You will have an eternity of fun here.”

Me: “Do my friends also have lakes here?”

Jesus: “Well, some will. However, there are things I have done which are unique to each of their tastes. You will have invitations to their parties and you will then see what are special to them that I have prepared. There are so many things to do here. All of your memories of pain will be removed and replaced with good things.”

Me: “I am so happy here. I love all of this. It is truly amazing.”

Jesus: “I am not the god of missed opportunities and broken dreams, understand? I Am the God of Opportunities, Hopes Fulfilled, Blessings and Good Things. Now, have some of this fresh bread. You will love this." He broke the bread and prepared it with something like butter and a sprinkle of salt. He placed it on a small tray for me. "This is the Special Reserve Wine.

I will give you a sample. As this is from the first batch, it is sweet."

I took a bit of bread and was instantly in awe. There was not even a hint of the flavor of yeast in this bread. It was amazing. It was unlike any bread I had ever tasted.

Me: "Thank You. Lord, this is wonderful."

Jesus: "Let us partake in the wine of the vineyards of Heaven."

Me: "Lord, can I make a request?"

Jesus: I knew He already knew what it was. "Yes."

Me: "Can this Reserve Wine be the best of the batches? Can this Reserve Wine represent all of us who You have called on Earth as they also are in Heaven?"

Jesus: Smiling. "You do not understand what you ask."

Me: "While maybe not fully, I just know that everything here is good. Please make Heaven visible in Your people. Please let this be like a covenant."

Jesus: I knew He already knew that I would ask this. "Hmm." He nodded.

"Okay, so, Heaven in you would be visible. Hmm."

He was pretending that it was taking a while for Him to understand what I was asking for. I couldn't help but laugh at His perfect acting. Well, everything He does is perfect.

Me: "Yes. Make it like You prayed in the Lord's Prayer. I am not worried about stepping out of line as we will follow what You tell us to do. If we are to display mighty deeds like Jacob's sons and You are with us, then You will naturally keep us in line. In turn, we can be like a beacon of the hope of Heaven amongst the living. However, not just the living, but also for the dying...that they might know You and be healed."

Jesus: Nodding. "Hmm. Okay. I see. Okay."

Me: "What? Really? Really! Okay, let's drink!"

Jesus: Laughing. "Okay, take a sip."

I took a sip. It was the most amazing wine I had ever tasted from God's vineyards. I cannot even describe it. While I am not a wine connoisseur, I somehow knew that this topped any wine on Earth.

Me: "Wow, this is a Celebration Wine!"

Jesus: "Well, it is now also a Covenant Wine."

Me: "I love You...so much."

Jesus: Smiling. "I love you too!"

Dream over...

Dream 403 – Time to be still and rest

Received on Sunday, April 19, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Father, thank You for Your recompense. Thank You for our home and our location here. Thank You for my family and friends. What a blessing. Things are still really slow going here because of the Coronavirus. There is no longer the need to take my girls to school in town. My daughter's church duties and activities are gone. We are all really missing Wednesday night worship service. Our outdoor 'freedoms' are really limited now.

Things which were social for me are gone. I miss seeing familiar faces. Our mailbox and other services are over an hour away. Because of the ridiculous restrictions there, we have opted to wait until things loosen up a bit. I have a box of medication waiting for me which I had ordered in case of emergencies or shortages. I ordered this back in February and it came in March.

We know all the workers there and they have assured us that they are holding things in safekeeping for us. In addition, our bank has never really opened back up. I have to do everything online now. I miss seeing people who know my name and I know theirs. We have had to redirect all our activity to the north of us. There is a larger Walmart and other stores there. We must stay within certain parameters or our whole house will be quarantined for two weeks. This is just not worth it. Father, please open things back up soon. I miss visiting the Kingsbrae Garden in St. Andrews, NB. It is so beautiful this time of year. I miss our beautiful drives to see Mount Washington. We also miss seeing the Amish on their horse and buggies.

It feels somewhat foolish driving places for anything other than essentials right now. There are a lot of people who seem sick with flu, colds or Covid 19. You never know if one of them are pumping gas or working at the grocery stores. Father, all of this seems way more ominous than just the threat of a virus. It seems more like a trial or practice round for someone's model of what to do the next time this happens.

The main hidden agenda seems to be the desire to disarm us. There seems to be an interest in controlling that which we are able to purchase. We are being shown what we are supposed to believe. It all feels like a giant agenda. Our ability to assemble together to worship God is now cancelled. Those who violate these orders are arrested and publicly humiliated. Some pastors are even arrested with mugshots.

In contrast, the liquor stores remain open. Not surprisingly, drinking is on the rise. According to the 'gospel of the world', this is good. While there are restrictions on what we can do with a home garden, we have no restrictions to purchasing growing supplies for marijuana. This is where family violence enters in. Drugs and alcohol are then used to numb the effects of anxiety.

How much of people's stimulus checks are going to cannabis and alcohol? While these loosens one's inhibitions to not follow safety guidelines, government seems to just stand by on this one. To some, it doesn't matter as much since they are feeling good by doing this. What is happening is awful. This is the attitude of some. Some feel like they don't need to follow guidelines at all as they don't care if it is just the old that are dying.

I find this kind of attitude disgusting. The elderly are the people who built our country and fought for our freedoms. The elderly are the ones who tucked us in at night and taught us how to read, cook and other skills. This makes me so sad. While truly essential surgeries are being delayed, there are those in the government that still fight for the right to abort babies as being essential.

So, let me get this straight. Biopsies for cancer are being put on hold, but we are still allowing the killing of the unborn? Oh Father, now I see why Your wrath has come. I usually don't get angry over news and politics, but I am angry, truly angry. I usually keep this anger to myself, my husband and God, but it is still there.

To make things worse, while we are losing jobs, income and freedom, the leaders of the Land of the Dragon are laughing at us. No, they are celebrating. Does the world not see what they have done to their own people? What did they do to the little children with birth defects in the orphanage we had been sponsoring for years?

I know. Their police raided it, made arrests and seized the children. Where are these children now? Well, Father, I know the answer...they are now Home with You! Where are the others? What have they done to the innocent? Who will pay for the world's losses? Father, please make them pay. Please make their government pay.

Make those in Hollywood who are paid by their corrupt leadership pay. Make those in our government paid off by their corrupt leadership pay. Expose the wicked, Father. Please expose them. The threat to the world is both the New World Order and the Land of the Dragon. They are not the same entities. Both are at war with us.

Father, we received our sign from You on January 18, 2020, the amazing corona around the sun. Yesterday, April 18, 2020, marked three months since that date. This reminded me of 2 Samuel 24:11-13. You gave David three options. He was instructed to choose one to be carried out against his people:

- Option 1: Three years of famine on the land
- Option 2: Three months of fleeing the pursuit of their enemies
- Option 3: Three days of plague upon the land

David chose Option 3. 70,000 people then died over the next three days throughout the land. However, the plague stopped short of Jerusalem. This seems to be happening to us now. However, instead of three days, it seems more like three months. This also includes three months of fleeing from an enemy that is hidden in plain sight.

Quite simply, our freedoms have been slowly taken away from us. We now have many more months of economic troubles that will ensue. Oh Father, please have mercy on Your people. My heart is on the forgotten elderly in those homes that are now dying alone. There is no one at the end to be with them. Father, please heal them miraculously, in Jesus' Mighty Name.

I had an epic dream last night. It was extremely vivid. What was unusual was that it was given to me in two separate parts. The first part was given to me prior to 6:00am. I got up at 6:00am for a few minutes and then went back to sleep. The second part was given to me after 6:00am. This was a long and detailed dream...

Sub-dream 1 – Part 1 “An oppressive employer goes crazy” begins...

I was working at the home of an oppressive employer. She encompassed at least five traits of former horrible bosses. These traits included (1) anger, (2) bitterness, (3) jealousy, (4) shrewdness, including being greedy with money, and (5) no compassion or mercy. Her face looked somewhat twisted with an evil grimace and this look never really seemed to change.

Her home was massive and was paid for by those she was able to steal and glean from. Her opportunistic ways allowed her to afford this massive mansion. The mansion was quite valuable. It had a large property and was surrounded by a high wall. There were two gates, one in front and one in back. The home was in the heart of a city I didn't recognize. There were hills and a bay close by.

While it looked a bit like either Knob Hill leading into the San Francisco Bay or around Massachusetts, I was really not sure where this was. When viewing the outside of the house, they had done something strange. Every single thing was painted in a Benjamin Moore color 2139-30 named Shark Skin. It was so odd as this color was used for everything...the main walls, the trim, the window trim and even the roof.

The style itself was from one of my least favorite periods of architecture – Victoria Gothic Style with a widow’s walk (aka crow’s nest). The folklore of this feature is haunting. This was a lookout tower featured primarily in coastal towns in the 18th and 19th centuries. The wives of sailors would go up there to look around when they became worried for their husband’s safety. They always had great views of the ocean.

In contrast, the interior of this woman’s house was filled with very, very high-end furnishings. While these were high-end, they were still quite tacky looking. In this dream, we will call this boss of mine Pat. Pat had ordered me to her home to put together a presentation of tile layouts for an extremely wealthy client. She had me there because she was not capable of doing such a presentation herself. She had no skills in drawing or putting a proposal together.

Pat: “In putting together this presentation, I want you to use the model of the home you designed back in the 1990s. I am talking about the large 15,000 square foot Mediterranean home that had over $500,000 in tile.”

Me: “Yes, I know the one. Here, I will pull out my designs and drawings.”

As I organized these, Pat began to pace back and forth. She was muttering and complaining that I was taking too long. When I finished organizing and explaining things to her, the two gentlemen clients arrived. She quickly panicked and I could tell that she didn’t want me around.

Pat: “I need you to go to the kitchen immediately. There is food there that needs to be prepared. I would like you to make something gourmet, like Beef Bourguignon. I need you to do this while I make ‘my’ presentation.”

I agreed to this and tried to find things in this massive kitchen. I found a prime rib roast there and I knew I could make something great with this. In the meantime, I could overhear Pat telling her clients that these were drawings from a home she designed. This quickly backfired though as the clients started asking her questions that she was unable to answer.

After each question, she would excuse herself, telling them that the chef she had preparing their meal was incompetent and needed her direction. Pat would then come back to where I was cooking and ask me their questions. She then went back to her clients and answered their questions as if it was her with this knowledge.

Needless to say, this was really starting to make me anxious to leave. However, even though I was already Transformed and had more than enough means not to work for this woman, I stuck around as God had me on this assignment for a purpose. Making this meal was going to take so long that I decided to ask Him for help.

Me: "Lord, I don't want to be here long. Could You please cook this with supernatural speed? Let it be perfect so that I can leave here soon."

It was then that I noticed the stove. It was massive. What was odd though was that it was more than just a stove. It was also a furnace as well. It was gas powered and quite frightening due to its large size. I placed the roasting pan with the roast inside the stove and closed the door. There was a side bar I had to latch to seal it. When I looked back in, I became frightened about burning it as there were so many flames.

Me: "Yikes, Lord, please help me."

I turned away from the stove temporarily to see if I could find a fire extinguisher 'just in case'. Even though this turn took but a few seconds, I heard the ding of a timer. The latch then popped open on its own. To my surprise and delight, when I pulled out the roasted prime rib, it was of such quality that it could be on the cover of a cooking magazine. I was in shock.

When I turned to put the roast on the counter, there in front of me appeared a beautiful full course of food for dinner. All in all, this only took about twenty minutes at most. When I went out of the swinging doors to see how Pat was doing, I saw that she was now flirting with these two gentlemen. I decided to interrupt her flirtations.

Me: "I am happy to announce that dinner is served!"

Pat seemed both angry and shocked.

Pat: "Gentlemen, please go into the dining room." I was about to follow, but she stopped me. "What are you doing? I was just closing the deal."

Me: "Well, you will just have to do this on a full stomach. Open some wine for them and they can't refuse."

Pat: I could see her thinking. "Come, let me see what you have done. You couldn't have..." Just then, she saw the entire meal's lay out. She gasped. "Wait, that is impossible! Impossible! I gave you an impossible task! Who did this?"

Me: "God helped me. Well, actually, He really did all of it for me."

Pat: In a sarcastic tone. "Right...it was God then. Sure." She then pointed to the dining room. "Here, go and sit with them. I will be serving them this food."

I walked into the dining room and struck up a conversation with them about their project. They treated me like I was stupid at first, but then I told them several details about various projects I had done over the years. They looked surprised as I now looked like I was only in my twenties and way too young to have done all of this. They soon realized that it was me that had designed the 15,000 square foot Mediterranean home. Pat came into the room.

Pat: "I worked very hard cooking all of this for my special guests. You will love this. Erin, come and serve us."

Pat had rolled in a massive cart with all of the food. They were amazed by the beautiful display of food. I got up and prepared their plates for them and served each of the them. The food was well received. After dinner, the clients were ready to go.

Client: "That was a fantastic meal. Thank you. We will sign if Erin is on the project. If we move forward, we would need to have Erin on this project."

Pat: "Yes, of course...she can assist me. Now, can I get your signatures today?"

Client: "No, not on a Sunday. Our people will call you."

After the two men left, Pat could no longer contain her rage. She turned to look at me and gave me such an angry look.

Pat: "What did you do?"

Me: "Nothing. I did exactly what you told me to do. I can leave though. I would rather not work for you."

Pat: "Wait! Wait! No! Stay. Stay here."

Me: "Well, I really don't want to, but I will."

Later that night, Pat had various people come visit her. While I couldn't hear exactly what she was saying, it seemed as if she was plotting something. I saw people coming in. None were leaving. I decided to sneak down to the kitchen. When I saw the stove / furnace being used, I was surprised and decided to look inside. To my shock, Pat had placed a man in the furnace.

The flames were shooting up. The lid was firmly closed. I heard a ding and knew that Pat would soon be coming to check in on this. I hid around the corner of the massive kitchen and watched. She sat on the floor and dragged the burnt body out. It was absolutely repulsive and creepy.

Pat: Talking to the burnt man. "Now, Jay, I told you things would not go well if you continued to ask me for your money. Remember when I..."

I couldn't take it anymore. I interrupted her.

Me: "Pat, what have you done?"

Pat: "You mean what have we done! Since you are here, you are now a part of this."

Me: "Oh no I am not! You have gone mad."

Pat: "There is nothing wrong here. No one will miss this snake. Go back to bed. The body will be burned and gone in just a couple of hours."

Me: "Why have you done this? Am I next?"

Pat: "No, I need you. I would never do this to you. We are friends."

Just then, dawn was breaking. I became worried about her son.

Me: "Pat, where is your son?"

Pat: "He is at a friend's house." She then started talking to me as if nothing had happened. "Hey, I am thinking about remodeling. Want to help?"

Me: "No. I am going outside. I feel sick."

As I started to walk towards the door, I glanced back. She was turning the furnace on to full power.

Pat: "Wait. I am going out with you."

She now seemed crazy and unclean. Her property was so large that we sat on a bench about a football field away from the house. I suddenly smelled gas. The flame in the stove must have gone out and now the house was filling up with gas. Just then, Pat's son, who was about twelve, rounded a bush and headed into the house. He yelled out to us. It seemed as if, just then, Pat could now also smell the gas.

Son: "Hey, mom, I'm home!"

Pat: Screaming at the top of her lungs. "Noooo! Don't go in there!"

She ran inside to get him out of the house. Just then, an explosion blasted the home. It was so powerful that it rocked the neighborhood. I would have been knocked off my feet had God not been protecting me.

Sub-dream 1 – Part 1 over...

I woke up suddenly. It was around 6:00am. I breathed a sigh of relief that this was a dream. I laid back down to go to sleep. To my surprise, this sub-dream continued without any interruption.

Sub-dream 1 – Part 2 "The exploding house aftermath" begins...

I stayed in the area to answer questions and work with the authorities. We soon discovered that Pat had killed everyone she had ever owed a debt to. This included not just those who had built her home and property, but also their families as well. The only one who remained alive that she owed a debt to was me. It turned out that she had owed me more than I had ever imagined as she had secretly stolen things that I had not even known were mine.

All in all, the authorities, judges and estate attorneys ended up giving me her property and all that she had. It was vast. Nothing was left of the house. The little remains that were left, including the foundation, were promptly removed from the property. My family and I decided to move into a hotel across from the property while a new house was being built in its place. When we first entered the hotel to book a room, the clerk looked down at us as if we were disgusting to her.

Clerk: "Do you understand how expensive this hotel is? Have you gone online?" She shook her head at us in disgust. "Here, I will give you a quote."

Me: "Well, we will need this for three to six months or so, give or take."

Clerk: Laughing hysterically. "I will see the manager about your absurd request. Better yet, I will call security."

Me: "Actually, call the manager instead. I am sure Dave will understand."

The clerk was clearly surprised that I knew the manager's name. This is because I had phoned the hotel earlier to check on availability. It wasn't hard as he had already heard of my name. She stopped smiling and pressed a button on her phone.

Clerk: "Dave, we have a problem. I will come and get you."

She went into the back offices. While she was gone, I turned to my family. We smiled at each other as we knew that this was going to be good.

Clerk: "Here they are. They have been a nuisance."

Manager: "Oh no! They are very welcome here." He gave the clerk a stern look before turning to us with a welcoming smile. "I am so sorry, Erin, she wasn't aware." He turned back to the clerk. "This family has more money than, like, Oprah!" He turned back to us. "Even I didn't know this until recently."

Clerk: "I am sorry, Erin. I am so sorry."

Me: "No problem. Just remember that you should never judge on appearances. We look a little worse for the wear as we have been very busy lately. We could really use some rest, food and fresh clothes."

Manager: "You've got it. Whatever you need. You have our best."

Clerk: Whispering to her manager. "But our best is booked."

Manager: "Well, it is now. Erin and her family are now booked in our best for the next three to six months." He then spoke to the clerk under his breath. "Just move the existing guests out."

I was going to protest as I did not want anyone to be dispersed. Before I could, the Lord told me that He didn't want me to and that this adjustment in booking was His Will.

Me: "Well, thank you so much for your hospitality."

Manager: "We will get you some clothing and food while they prepare your rooms."

When we were eventually moved in, we could not believe how beautiful our suite was. We even had a private elevator. We had a change of clothing arrive via racks on wheels that we were able to pick through.

The manager then took us to their restaurant. It had an amazing view of both the harbor and our new house being built. It was beautiful. We could see construction workers building something beautiful. We ate some wonderful food together. All of us were now so relaxed.

Sub-dream 1 – Part 2 over...

Father, having a dream like this is very unusual. I don't fully understand the meaning of the gory parts and this took me to a place which left a bitter feeling, like a queasiness in my stomach. Thankfully, the day is beautiful here. Please help me to see You working in all of this, Father. In Psalm 27, Your Words..."Delight yourself in the Lord and He will grant you the desires of your heart."

Well, Father, I am struggling with 'delight' right now. While I can delight in You, my husband, my children, my friends, my pets, the weather and our home, all else seems too difficult to delight in. Quite simply, all of our lives have changed. We have retreated into our homes, apartments, assisted care centers and dwellings. Many are in forced rest and reflection. While we have managed to stay busy and safe, the feeling in general when leaving our home is ominous.

The world always has had an enemy, a common unseen one. However, many live their lives as if You are the enemy keeping the world from having fun. This is opposite of who You are. You are our Creator, our First Love, the One Who delights in us even when we do not delight in our circumstances. So many blame You unjustifiably. Still, this 'mega time out' has taught me to delight in the little things.

This includes things that are simple, but that are sent from You so that we are happy. Our little rock chuck named Flower has awakened and I am so delighted. When she sees me outside, she runs to me. It makes me so happy. Almost all of the little red squirrels run up to take a peanut from my hand. Not long ago, a little downy woodpecker came up to where my husband was sitting just to visit.

There was also the small red breasted nuthatch that almost landed on my husband's shoulder while he was filling the bird feeders. There are so many things like this. There is an old client from ten years ago that reaches out to check on me. There are some old friends and family that does this too. There is a friend my husband has been texting and he always looks forward to his messages.

Oh Father, You delight in things which delight us. However, and more than this, we delight in You. Father, You are so very good. There is no 'god' like You. In You, I find rest and peace for my soul. Thank You for spring. Thank You for buds on the trees and the soon promises of summer. Thank You, Father, that You delight in Your children. Thank You for assuring us that the wicked things will not go unpunished. Please continue to protect us. We love You, Father!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Uriel was standing right in front of me. He was still in his battle gear. His horse was standing next to him. He was smiling at me.

Me: "Hi, Uriel!"

Uriel: "Erin, I send you Good News. God knows the state of your heart. Your deep longings delight God. You have not veered off course or, in boredom, delighted in evil. You have prayed for your neighbors, those you know and those you do not, and this is God's delight. God knows you have worried. God knows you are tired and weary. God knows you wonder if you should stop.

"You think...what if God never heals me? What if I never see His promises? Well, I am here to tell you...never stop in doing good all of your days. As you have delighted in the Lord, He has granted you the desires and deep longings of your heart. You will see this. However, and not just over the Jordan...Erin, you will enter into this promise. You will partake in this promise and you will delight in God...even dance before Him.

"God is not idle or passive. The evil you suspect is occurring actually is. There is so much more going on than the wicked plans and schemes you see. Those who plot evil are too numerous to count. This is seldom reported. God hates those who are quick to run to evil. They will soon be exposed when the Sword of Truth comes upon them.

"Elijah was afraid after displaying mighty deeds. He ran. He retreated and was in great fear. I met him there. I gave him drink and warm bread for his journey. God sent me to encourage him. He was afraid of what he had done as this had never been witnessed by so many. There was great fear and anger. Elijah was exhausted from his journey and was welcoming death. I was sent by God to tell him to arise and eat. I was sent not just once, but twice.

"Erin, the period you are in is a great time of rest. This is needed to sustain you for the journey ahead. You are tired and discouraged. Things have not gone according to your plan, but it has gone according to God's Plan. God is meeting you where you are and will soon call to you. You are safe. God is providing for you. Your soul is resting. You are eating, sleeping and praising God. This is His Message to you..."

Uriel was now speaking for God: "Erin, I am in the midst of you. I take great delight in you. I will renew and quiet you with My love. Do not be afraid, you who is highly precious. Be strong now. Be very strong. My peace is with you. You will soon be healed and strengthened. I Am God and, before Me, there is no other.

"There is a river who makes glad, whose streams delight the City of God, My Holy Place where I dwell. God is within her. She will not be moved. God will help her when the morning dawns. Erin, the God of Jacob is your Fortress. Come see what I will do by My Mighty Works.

"When I lift My Voice, great devastation falls upon the Earth. For it is I Who makes war cease throughout the Earth. I break the bow and shatter the spear. I burn the shields in fire. Be still and know that I Am God. I will be exalted among the nations and over the Earth. I will do all that I have declared...thus says the Lord!"

Me: "Uriel, this is from Psalm 46!"

Uriel: "Yes. You were twenty years old the first time God spoke to you. Much has changed since then."

Me: "Thank you, Uriel. However, I also like the chapter before that one (Psalm 45)."

Uriel: "Oh yes, the Wedding Song for the Daughter and Scribe of the King. Erin, do you understand what God is telling you? He wants you to be still right now, understand?"

Me: "My sorrow is so great, Uriel. I am tired and scared."

Uriel: "The dream you had of the oppressive employer was a record of the deeds of your oppressors and those who continued to curse you and limit your abilities. God's recompense is with Him. You are a stream, a river, in which God delights. He is in the heart of you...in the midst. Your heart delights Him and this is where you dwell...near His Altar. This message is from God for He is within you. You will not fall. God will help you at the break of day."

Me: "Which dawn? Which day? Uriel, please tell me." I was laughing and smiling.

Uriel: Smiling back. "Remember what God has declared. You are to be still. You are to be quiet. Now, do not worry. Rest in God. In His arms, He will give you rest. Day by day, you will dine at the King's Table. Do not worry. I must go now. You will see me again soon."

Me: "Will I be seeing you because I will still be worrying?"

Uriel: "I hope not. I hope it will be for another reason. This is good. Now, I must go as there is an epic war."

He turned away from me and mounted his horse. He then looked back at me and gave me a reassuring smile. He nodded towards me, but was then gone in an instant.

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! I am feeling exhausted today and unusually so. My movements and breathing have been labored. My dreams last night were disturbing. I woke up suddenly from one of them because my husband was having a scary dream that I had woken him from. It seems that we have both had increases in difficult dream subjects recently. In my dreams, You were instructing me loudly and clearly.

Father, I am scared. I don't understand everything, but I know Your Voice. You know the hearts of men and the schemes of the wicked. Please help me. It is difficult to not be fearful even though You tell us to take courage. My dreams seem to be a foreshadowing of what is still to come. You have given me knowledge about events while taking me there in my dreams. You are instructing us through these dreams.

However, lately, and even in my waking moments, You are now instructing me here too. When I was at the grocery store yesterday, something unusual happened. You highlighted various people that were in the store with me. You highlighted one person and said 'she is Mine' or 'he is Mine'. Another one was 'this one was hurt'. Another one was 'The road back to Me will be a difficult one'.

Another one was 'this one was never Mine'. As You said these things, my heart would become heavy. I was becoming heavy hearted. This all made me realize that I would get these things wrong on my own. The ones I thought were His were not and the ones I thought were not were His. This was not always the case though as, like I said, I discovered I am a horrible guesser. This was truly hit and miss for me.

Take for instance a man who worked in the fish department. He was very gruff, rugged and tough. While he didn't display Jesus on his face, this changed in an instant when I made a joke about how much my son liked his special coated Cod fillets. I joked that this was huge as my son was more of a corndog connoisseur. All of a sudden, his face lit up and I could now see Jesus on his face.

Worker: "In that case, I will take this as high praise. It is nice to know that the fish department staff have fans during all of this." He smiled and was so sincere. "Sadly, we are not allowed to make these up for you right now."

Me: "Well, this will soon be over and I will be the first in line with my son to buy your almond crusted fillets."

After we laughed together about this, I then went to the checkout and a familiar cashier. I had visited with this woman before many times. I had thought for certain that she was the Lord's. As I was checking things out behind the plexiglass curtain wall, I noticed that she was acting quite odd.

Me: "I hope you are staying safe."

Cashier: "Yes, I am fine. I am still here."

Me: "Well, thank you. God is good!"

Cashier: "God left this area a long time ago." She quickly switched topics. "Do you collect bonus points?"

Me: "Well, if God is gone, what is the use of bonus points, right?"

I smiled at her and was trying to make her laugh. It clearly was not working.

Cashier: "First off, you can use these points for free stuff. These are worth something. You can then actually touch and see it."

I watched her shrug her shoulders and disinfect the area. While I said a polite goodbye, I wanted to say more about God's goodness, but felt this was not the time. I was so sad. Oh Father, there are so many feeling hopeless just like this woman. These six feet of separation and suspicion seems to be starting a new cold wave. Father, the world is growing colder and more so every day. I had an interesting dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "Like a Red Bull in a China Shop" begins...

I was in a beautiful antique shop. The owner had sectioned all of the collectibles, porcelain and furniture into beautiful vignettes. It almost felt like a museum. I had never seen such a beautiful display in all of my years of antiquing, even from earlier on in my life. There were beautiful tall arched doors with topiaries. The stone floor looked like Jerusalem stone pavers.

The first vignette was Italian pottery and beautiful artwork with gilded frames. There were small religious diptychs and triptychs with small oil paintings and crucifixes. These seemed quite Catholic in theme. The subsequent vignettes in order were Spain, France and Germany. Both France and Germany were filled with beautiful porcelains, steins and pottery. All of these exquisite items had been hand-painted.

The next vignette was themed for Switzerland. It had a collection of money, bank notes and legal documents. It also had an incredible collection of chocolate molds. As I was walking toward the Dutch, Belgium and English vignettes, I was approached by a very beautiful soft-spoken woman who was from the Land of the Dragon.

Saleswoman: "I see that you are enjoying our collection."

Me: "Yes. I have never seen museum quality items like these for sale anywhere. Even at auction, this is hit and miss. There is so much that I am interested in. By the way, do you also sell items from the Southern Hemisphere of the world, places like Africa, India, South America and other places?"

Saleswoman: "Hmm, no, there is really no value there other than items for mining. My father owns all of these collections and he has worked tirelessly to find the very best." The woman then purposely repeated the last three words... "The very best!"

Me: "Well, his taste is incredible. It is amazing how he found items that are without flaws or blemishes!"

Saleswoman: "Although these things are interesting, they do not have lasting value. They will not keep value like the collection over here."

She then walked me over to a series of vignettes from Ancient China to current. A man with blonde hair then approached us. He was wearing very expensive jewelry that he was trying to hide with the sleeves of his shirt. When he spoke, he had a British accent.

British man: "Let me explain something here. All that you see in these vignettes were actually stolen thousands of years ago from Chinese craftsman. Intellectual property on a worldwide scale was stolen from Asia. All crafts, from porcelain, pottery, monetary exchanges, weaving, silk, painting, metallurgy, weapon making, vessels and jewelry, were all stolen from Asia."

I knew I was not to argue, but to agree. I really didn't believe him at all, so I worded my reply in a way that he thought I agreed.

Me: "Hmm, this makes it sound like all of the historical records of the origins of these crafts were not telling us the truth. This is so sad. By the way, your jewelry is incredible!"

The man suddenly looked nervous, but I was not sure why. It was as if I had gone 'off script'.

British man: "Yes. I paid 5G for them."

Me: "Five grand? Wow, that is a steal! Amazing."

British man: "No, 5G, as in 5G."

I still didn't quite understand, but I nodded in agreement as I didn't really want to continue to discuss this. Just then, I heard the rattling of a cowbell at the front door. We turned and a very large bull began to walk quietly inside the shop. It was a longhorn, as in VERY longhorn, and was reddish brown in color. The saleswoman and the British man began to panic. The British man got on the phone and called someone who could handle the situation. He then texted several people.

Saleswoman: "We need to call the media immediately."

Meanwhile, I watched the bull walk down the area with the European vignettes. While looking from side to side on occasion, his long horns would accidentally knock things over. He did a lot of damage with very little movement. The saleswoman began to scream as the bull had now set his eyes on her. It was then that I noticed there was a reason for this. The saleswoman was wearing an outfit that kind of resembled a cape, but with arm holes.

I remained calm as this bull was not being aggressive at all towards me. The saleswoman then began to throw items at the bull to try and hurt him. Just then, the bull began to stir up. It was as if something had struck its backside. It began to kick up trouble. This first happened on the ground.

Things displayed on the floor flipped up and toppled the higher items over. The saleswoman's continued harassment did not make the situation any better. The bull broke apart a priceless collection of Ming, Qin, Han, Zhen and Shang dynasties. Even though the woman was yelling at the bull, he kept coming for her. Just then, the bull stopped, turned towards me and 'smiled'. I smiled back.

Me: "Come on, let's get out of this shop."

The bull then left with me. As I looked back, most, if not all, of the inventory was in complete disarray.

Last night, I had a deeply disturbing dream that I found quite confusing...

Sub-dream 2 "A Tornado and Time" begins...

My husband and I were staring at a city skyline. While I am not sure what city this was, it seemed similar to the skyline of Atlanta, Georgia.

Me: Talking to my husband. "Look, there is a tornado forming."

As we looked, we could see a funnel cloud. What was really odd, and hard to describe, was that it was reflective, sort of like glass, but spinning like a tornado. There was a red script reflecting through this 'glass' from the slogan on a building. It reflected the word 'Time'. The script, font and color were very similar to the Time in Time Magazine. While this doesn't sound ominous in describing this, it was ominous in the dream.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Father, the winds howled last night. Something banged against the side of our house. It sounded like knocking. I remembered what a police officer had told me. While this is counterintuitive, thieves come around during these storms. They know that, when people hear a knock, they will most likely attribute the sound to the storm, not to their thievery. I was also told that the most common break in times were between 3:00am and 6:00am, the fourth watch of the night.

Thank You, Father, for Your signs and wonders. I was so excited to see a golden crowned king bird outside of my window yesterday. I tried to take a photo, but it was gone before I could get set up. It was still so exciting to see though. My husband and I are trying not to watch as much news. Most of it is bad reporting and just creates depression and fear. This opens up time for more photography, right?

Father, please help my heart. I am troubled and discouraged. I want to report good news. I had to stop yesterday because I was so sad at what You showed me. There are days when I wonder if I am equipped for all of this. While my husband loves to date speculate on when You may do this or that, I am more passive about this and just listen. So many of these days look good.

I then remind myself that God created each and every day. Every day is made anew. Each and every day is special to God because He made it. As for today...this is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad in it (Psalm 118). Thank You for this day. Even though It is blustery outside right now, it is still sunny out, all complete with a landscape filled with my little furry and feathered friends.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in the middle of a field full of flowers. I was in the Valley of Blessing. The colors were indescribable as they don't even exist on Earth. I felt something in my hand. I was holding a rein. I turned and there behind me was a beautiful white horse. I kissed his nose. He then motioned for me to sit on him. He bent down his legs so that I could easily mount the beautiful saddle. I was so excited.

Me: "Okay, so, where are you taking me?"

Even though I was holding the reins, the horse was clearly the Lord's to guide, not me. Since the horse was tall, I was able to see amongst the beautiful patchworks of the variety of flowers. God is so incredible. The horse came to a stop at the end of one of the fields. There was a small spring coming from a basalt column. This then overflowed into a small pool. There was a small bench there.

Me: "Is the Lord meeting me here?"

I climbed down from the horse's saddle and walked over to take a drink from the spring. The water tasted amazing. I went over and sat on the bench to wait for the Lord. I didn't sit long though as there was a patch of flowers that caught my eye. I went over to them. They were parrot tulips. While you would think it would be hard to improve on the earthly variety, these were so much better here.

Me: "Oh Father, these are on Earth as they are in Heaven...just not as great."

In just this small patch alone, there were so many colors and textures. The petals looked like the feathers of colorful parrots. Very dramatic. Each one is different here though. Absolutely stunning. These have to be one of my favorites, along with peonies. I walked back to the bench. The horse walked over to drink from the spring. I began to cry. Father, thank You for the promise of Heaven. Thank You for Your love.

I put my head in my hands and cried. I could hear birds in the distance. I could hear the sound of the bubbling spring. I could hear a horse breathing into my ear. Wait, what? I looked up and was surprised to see the Lord's horse there. The horse I had ridden was also still there. I stood up and hugged him. I was still crying though and His horse then nudged me as if he had wanted me to stop.

Me: "Oh, I see...you want me to stop crying."

I then heard Jesus' Voice!

Jesus: Laughing. "Hmm, I thought I might find you here. This is the horses' favorite spring. This is why your horse decided to bring you here."

Me: "Oh Lord, You are so funny. It was You Who put all of this together!"

Jesus: Hugging me. "Erin, life on Earth will not become easier. Do you understand?"

He looked at me. He was studying my eyes.

Me: "I know, Lord, it is just...Oh, it is just that I am trying to hang on there. My recent dreams have been scaring me. Perhaps there is someone out there that would be better entrusted to all of this than me. Are you sure..."

He immediately put His finger to my lips.

Jesus: "Do I make errors in judgement? Repent."

Me: "Please help me, Lord. I repent. I am just so heavy-hearted right now. I am scared. We are in need of miracles here. I need a Physician and a Healer. I need You. I need an Advocate, a Defender and a Protector. I need You. I need a Hero and a Savior. I need You. I love You, Lord. The world needs You."

Jesus: "I have you. Erin, I love you. I know you and appointed you in your mother's womb. It was not you who chose Me, but I Who first chose you. Why you? Well, you are like a voice in the wilderness, one who cries out to Me. You are like a messenger who prepares the way for the Great Move of God and for Me. You are like a servant for Me who has been through My Refiner's fire. I have refined you as silver and gold. You are then to say for Me...'Return to Jesus and He will return to you'."

Me: "Is this like a shadow of Malachi?"

Jesus: "Well, yes and no. You are My servant whom I have called for this time to write as a scribe a letter of love to those who think I have forgotten them. I have not. You are writing from the tablet of My heart and your heart together. You are giving Good News to those who are disheartened, to those who had expectations after coming through the furnace of afflictions and to those that may currently still be in the midst of the flames. Many are unsure if I am there with them. I Am! I Am in the midst of you."

Me: "Lord, much of Malachi seems just like today, like right now. It was foretelling of Your coming."

Jesus: "Yes. I made a covenant with the people in those pages. When reading prophecies from the prophet's Words, many events have been fulfilled. However, these Words are seldom referenced today as the Laws of God. Many of the Words of the prophets were buried when I died and was resurrected.

"While this was fulfilled, so many priests and teachers today discount this. They should not. They will stand in awe when they see My Words and those of the prophets being fulfilled in a way they think not. So, in light of this news, let us revisit this."

Me: "Malachi 3 is so interesting, Lord!"

Jesus: "Well, yes, it is, but so are the other prophecies. You are able to see these events occurring now. So is the 4th chapter."

Me: "Yes, Lord. There are also Jeremiah, Zephaniah, Isaiah and Joel. However, the world is stubborn. Lies are now accepted as truth and truth as lies. There are even reports that You didn't actually die on the cross. You then, in a vision, had an angel take me to visit the place of the killing rampage in Nova Scotia. Only some young boys ten and twelve escaped.

There is no one to bury the dead. There are no funerals or gatherings to support the grieving. This is horrible, Lord!"

Jesus: "Erin, if an angel of God was sent to you, there was a purpose under Heaven. You must trust Me when I give you such things. What was told to you? I will give you confirmation."

Me: "Yes, Lord. I am sorry, but this is so difficult for me."

Jesus: "Erin, I know this is difficult. I understand this. Please continue."

Me: "The angel told me that You allowed this shooting as a foreshadowing of what the enemy has planned against those nations who resist what is coming. The angel told me that the shooter was ruthless, but also shrewd in his dealings even with his family. He took on the resemblance of a police officer.

"People were peaceably confined to their homes during the stay at home order. This shooter then went quietly door to door and killed people in their homes, many while they slept. He then set their homes on fire. The people were defenseless and unaware of the danger going from door to door.

"Every person and every animal in his path were shot. Because this was done when so many were home, there were so many victims. Two young boys managed to escape and hideout at a neighbor. The reaction a few days later was a call for gun control. This was so incredibly saddening and tragic!"

Jesus: "What else did the angel tell you?"

Me: "That this was a study in a larger plan."

Jesus: "Yes, but it was also a warning of a larger scale attack."

Me: "Why can't evil leaders just stay in their own countries and be satisfied?"

Jesus: Kind of chuckling. "Well, unfortunately, this is not how evil men in power work. Evil enjoys the spread of darkness over light. They hate any freedoms afforded to others. They live in misery, anger and paranoia. To offset this, they perform wicked deeds on those who are innocent. Erin, you and your children understand this. You often cry and think 'if only we could have just lived our life in peace under normal conditions.' Well, Erin, evil doesn't operate like this.

"You are instead witnessing a mass exodus from truth. From what was once good is now being crafted into a new narrative. This new narrative means new laws, new governing and a new way. While all of this is presented as good, make no mistake, many, many will perish. This will all be for the sake of a few in power. Evil enjoys child sacrifice to their gods. Millions of babies have been slaughtered.

"The Kingdom of Heaven is near to the brokenhearted. Remember, it is not in the obvious which evil operates. The evil is in the shadows. If it appears in the light, it is quickly gone again for fear of exposure. Erin, the evil man from Germany slaughtered millions of Jews, elderly, infirm, young and disabled. He slaughtered anyone he deemed to be genetically unclean, a swine or repugnant.

"The same is true today, understand? The enemy is now shutting down churches, Synagogues and prayer meetings in the hope of removing

My Words and My Powers. Well, there is another plan in place, one in which I own the playbook. I have written it. Since they choose to not follow My Words and the Laws of God, I will make Heaven visibly prevail on Earth ahead of My coming. Yes, and I am coming...it is written!

"Now, I know that these things grieve you. I know that you have many concerns. I once showed you a mad woman in a room full of china about to destroy all she was in care of, all she once held dear. Well, Erin, she represents those who have fallen away from their first love, those countries no longer under Me. They are balancing on uneven scales."

Me: "But I thought this was like an analogy to the stock markets?"

Jesus: "Ah yes, the heart rhythm, an EKG of the world's health. This is not something you could trust in for eternity. Same as for the crude oil that runs in the world's veins. Yes, there is a movement to do away with all of that now."

Me: "Yes, Lord. We are seeing these voices rise right now."

Jesus: "These are from the same people who would prefer that natural selection be at their hands, not God's. Woe to those who play God for they will soon bow down and beg for forgiveness for the blood on their hands."

Me: "Lord, I want to ask, but I don't want to ask yet again..."

Jesus: Smiling. "Oh Erin, I know what you are asking for. Just know that I am with you and that I have you. Do not worry. I have a plan. Can you trust Me a little longer?"

Me: "Yes, Lord, and for eternity even! I just hurt. I am sad. My heart is broken for the people...for those who need You and for those who need help."

Jesus: "Good answer, Erin. Now, do not worry. I have a plan and this is good." He smiled. "Come, I will show you something special. I have a Gift for you!"

Dream 405 – The fields will soon need us to work them

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love. Thank You for all You do for us. You are constantly at work in the world as Your Divine Ways are so far beyond our dim imaginations. Father, I have been working to 'be still'. It has not been easy though as the enemy has been working overtime on me. One of my sure signs of spiritual warfare is plumbing issues, such as burst pipes and leaking cracks.

Our sons live in the basement of our home. Several years ago, we had a corrupt contractor take advantage of us. Because I have been in the remodeling business for many years, I looked over our project and knew what to do. This guy hated me because of this. He was part of our church and we trusted him. However, in hindsight, doing so was a big mistake.

This man took advantage of us. Every time I was there, he was trying to take short cuts. He tried to act friendly, but he hated me with a passion. He was not used to being challenged on his shoddy work, so I was an aggravation to him. While my husband and I tried our hardest to have this man do the right things, and sometimes succeeded, this man was very crafty in the way he did things.

There was one thing we asked him to do that probably pushed him past what he was capable of. This was the shower to be built in the basement for our sons. While we watched him as best we could, we didn't see everything. We didn't see how he joined the pipes. We didn't see if he took care on everything. Well, it has been a few years now and it came to a head yesterday.

My husband ripped up the vinyl flooring that covered the path from the shower to the drain. We then found evidence that something has been failing. While it could be that the shower pan has failed, we are just not sure. Worst case scenario...it all has to be ripped out and the concrete floor opened to look for a leaking pipe. We are overwhelmed. We simply cannot wait for the Transformation on this one!

Quite simply, this cannot be held off. This is a mess. Father, this could not be at a worse time for all of this. Please heal our home. Please repair the leaks. Father, please help us. You can just make it alright for us. We cannot have the original contractor come back as he was lazy and wicked. His cure would be worse than the problem. Father, please help us.

Oh Father, we have been able to enjoy our safe home here during this lockdown. Please don't allow the enemy to win this battle. This has given me a heaviness today. I am exhausted and so sad. There is so much more to this than just the plumbing though. All the things you have shown me have begun to unfold. Even though I knew these things would come to pass at some point, can one truly be prepared?

Sub-dream 1 "Credentials Please" begins...

Our family went to a restaurant to eat. It was not that busy and there was plenty of space for us. The hostess asked to see our credentials. It had a feel of Nazi Germany. We did not have any credentials with us. She excused herself and brought over the manager. The manager told us that we were not welcome to eat there. We left.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Overall, it has been a very rough day for me. My husband just asked for prayers for me and I am already feeling better. Thank God for our Nest and their love and prayers. How lonely this walk would be without all of our amazing friends on the Nest! Thank You, Lord, for sending each of them here to be with us during these darkening times.

Received on Monday, April 27, 2020

Thank You, Lord, I feel much better today. Prayer is powerful. We also called a plumber this morning and he is going to come and inspect our basement shower tomorrow on Tuesday, April 28, 2020. All of my dreams are now showing me sad and disturbing scenarios. Yet another one of these dreams came last night. It seemed to illustrate what life would soon look like for our family if we had not been Transformed instead. It was chilling to the core...

Sub-dream 2 "Nothing for your family unless you comply completely" begins...

The landscape around me felt very dark. Because of my name being last in the alphabet, I was able to shop at the grocery store at a certain time of night. The people allowed on this night was based on their last name initials (U, V, W, X, Y and Z). While we were the largest span of letters able to shop, we also had the smallest block of time.

On this particular night, we were standing in line at the front of the store. There was a booth with two people interviewing those ahead of me. When I arrived at the booth, they addressed me in a cold manner.

Booth: "We need proof that you have been tested by blood and have been cleared."

They were very serious and I could tell that they would tolerate no exceptions.

Me: "I don't have any proof of this. Is this a new requirement?"

Booth: "You are not allowed into the store without this."

Me: "But I need groceries for my family."

Booth: "You are not allowed into the store without proof of testing, immunity or other."

Me: "Well, I don't have proof of testing or immunity. Perhaps I have 'other'. What is meant by 'other'?"

Booth: The two attendants looked at each other. "Well, if you have to ask then you are not 'other'. These requirements are for the continued safety of all people and products in the store. We have a kiosk set up where you can get tested. However, there is a waiting period. If you decide to use the kiosk, we will give you a one-use shopping pass to enter today."

Me: "But that doesn't seem safe to me at all. What if I am a carrier? I would still be allowed in the store and who would know? This doesn't make any sense to me."

I soon realized that this booth must have been something new that had sprung up on an unsuspecting public. I deducted this as not one person in our line up were aware of these new requirements. Not one person had the required documents. All of us were being forced over to the kiosk. As I got closer to the kiosk, I realized that it was being run by a robot. The robot was all white and meant to look fun and friendly.

It had a somewhat human looking face, but not really. Hard to describe. It had a friendly male voice that was somewhat soothing. It was holding a tablet screen. It somehow already knew my name. It felt creepy, for lack of a better description. No one else seemed to be as disturbed by this as I was. It started to ask me many questions.

Virtual bot: "Hello, Erin, nice to see you today..."

- Could you please confirm your address, social security number, phone number and date of birth?
- How many people live at your house?
- Has anyone been committed of a crime in the last ninety days?
- Are there any firearms at your home?

- Does anyone at your home have special training or speak other languages?
- What is your mother's maiden name?
- What is your religious preference?"

At this point, I was really upset. I started to walk away. After taking just a step or two, a warning bell sounded. I looked around and realized it was meant for me. I watched as two concerned looking attendants quickly approached me. I waited for them. They knew my name. No, this was not a pleasant experience at all.

Attendant: "Hi, Erin. Do you have a problem with answering these questions?"

Me: "No. It's just that I am now ready to go home."

Attendant: "But you haven't picked up your groceries. Sooner or later, you will need to answer these questions for your health registry. Once you have done this, you will then be allowed to enjoy your freedoms again."

Me: "So, are you saying that, if I want to do anything, like shop or go to a restaurant, I must register first?"

Attendant: "Erin, don't worry...your information is safe with us. Just know that you will be required to register to even receive services like mail, fire protection, police services, electrical, water..."

Me: I could tell that the list was going to be long. I interrupted. "Wait! What? What?"

Attendant: "Why are you so upset? You should be glad to know that only one person from each household must register and it is only a one-time service. Just remember that this is necessary to keep everyone safe, understand?"

Me: "Okay, okay, I get it. We need to eat. Let's proceed."

I stepped back up to the virtual bot. My heart was now racing. I decided to lie on some of the questions as they were absurdly personal. As soon as I finished, an alarm sounded. The two attendants rushed back over to me.

Attendant: "Excuse me, Erin, but the kiosk has detected a change in your heart rate, as well as in your eye movement. We will allow you one chance to make corrections. Remember that this is for the good of your household."

He gave me a look that told me that he knew I had done this on purpose. "I am sure that you were just nervous and forgot some of the answers to our questions, right?"

The virtual bot had an accurate rate of determining which questions I needed to 'adjust' my answers to. This was horrifying. After answering all of the questions truthfully, I was given a temporary card and told that I was now allowed to shop. After I had put everything in my cart, I went to pay.

After everything was rung in, I noticed that my price was triple what I had expected. I gave the cashier a concerned look.

Me: "Why is this so expensive today? This is triple what I had expected."

Cashier: "Until your registry is complete, you will be unable to purchase at the same rate as the others that have already registered. Once registered, the prices will be more in line with what you are used to."

Me: "But we will run out of money and starve by then."

Cashier: Leaning in towards me to whisper. "Listen, I am not supposed to tell you this, but you were marked with an 'R' status. The 'R' stands for 'Resister'. Because of this rating, and until you are cleared, you will be paying three times as much anywhere you go. I suggest you stop resisting. Just comply or it will be very bad for you. You won't be able to get gas, see a doctor or even attend church."

Me: "What's next? A chip or a tattoo?"

Cashier: "You don't know? I already have one in order for me to work or bank."

I was now dumbfounded and speechless. I paid and quickly left the store. When I arrived home, there was a man inside our home asking questions at our kitchen table. I set the overpriced grocery items down on the counter. My husband and our kids said hi. The man smiled at me and I could tell he already knew a lot about us. It was scary.

Interrogator: "Ah, Erin, hello. We have been waiting for you. Let me introduce myself. I am your local advocate. I am here to facilitate your family with services such as health care. First off, you didn't tell us that your sons have special needs. That is important information. I also noticed that you do not have a registered firearm permit and that one of your vehicles lacks registry."

Me: "Well, we don't have guns and our one vehicle doesn't run."

Interrogator: "Well, your answer was a good one as your story matches your family's previous answers."

Me: "This is all very scary. I am sick to my stomach."

Interrogator: He was writing as I spoke. "Well, this is how we are going to keep the world safe and healthy moving forward. We need to know who is healthy and who is not so that we may provide appropriate services. Take your sons for instance. They should be registered, but you left their information off at the kiosk. Why?"

Me: Trying to keep calm. "It just slipped my mind. Sorry."

Interrogator: "Ah yes, that is right...you have a brain tumor, as well as other ailments. This could be affecting your memory. In order to keep you and others safe, you will now need to stay home from now on. Erin, other than at strictly controlled times, you can no longer go out. Your doctors will be monitoring you from home from now on.”

Me: “Oh, yes, so that you can leave me here to die.”

Interrogator: “This is for your safety and for the common good of all. Here is the problem as we see it. According to your medical records, you are now costing more than what you are providing for the common good.”

Me: “I knew it. You are ranking people to see if they are ‘worthwhile’ to society!”

Interrogator: “Then why did you not just register all of this the first time?”

Me: “Because my fate is the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. You have already decided my fate, right? Are you going to have me come to the train station next?”

I could tell from his sinister smile that he knew I was referring to the trains the Nazis used to bring Jews to the death camps.

Interrogator: “Okay, I can now see that you are delusional. This is another condition to add to the registry. Now, you need to stay home. Remember as this is important.”

Me: “Okay, yes, I will stay home. Just allow my family to have food. Please.”

Interrogator: He seemed satisfied with my groveling. “Well, this is a good day for you. I will now clear your household. Congratulations, all of you can now go to shops and restaurants. However, for you, Erin, you are restricted. Other than being in your house, you can go to a park or garden four times per year, but only on designated days. Other than this, you must remain home, understand? If you are caught doing otherwise, your family will lose all of their privileges. Do you understand?”

Me: “Okay, fine. I agree.”

Interrogator: “Here are your cards. Oh yes...for those of you who would like to work, there is a further clearance measure. A tracing device will be provided. This will be very small. This will trace your steps in the event you come into contact with someone who is ill. This is vital to the overall health of our society.”

The man left a pamphlet and walked out.

Sub-dream 2 over...

Father, please help us. What has happened to the world? This feels like war. Father, please, we need You now and more than ever!

Jesus: “Erin, come up.”

I was in the harvest fields. I could see the lovely bridge that crossed over the raging waters. I looked at the field. They had grown so lush since I was here last. The fruit was young and not yet ripe on the trees. There was wheat, barley and other grains. There was also some corn. All of this was not quite ready yet though.

There was enough food in this harvest to feed an army. However, I was more focused on the bridge that crossed the waters. I ran down the rows of grapes. The grapes were still hard and small as they were too young. I rounded the bend and was just about to breakthrough from the orchards when I was abruptly met by Uriel on his horse.

Uriel: "Hi, Erin. Where are you going? It is not yet time for you. You are the farmer of these fields. Have you ever seen crops such as these? There is such a promise of record yields in this harvest. Why then would you stop?"

Me: Crying. "Uriel, I am scared. We are experiencing warfare. I have done all I can do as one small woman. As I am, I can do nothing. I need God to heal me. I need a physician. I am sick. Our plumbing is leaking in the basement. I need a plumber."

Uriel: "Erin, you are no different than others who have gone before you. You can run, but you cannot hide. However, it is better to be sought after by God than hunted by men. Now, be still. This was your Physician's orders. He delights in you, Erin. Do not run ahead of God." He pointed to the bridge. "While this bridge is about to be your best, you must still wait a little longer."

Me: "Uriel, does the world not see that the war has already begun?"

Uriel: "Well, no. However, if you go to a declaration that was made in 1999, you would understand."

Me: "Do you mean the song '1999' by Prince?"

Uriel: "No, but in a way, also yes. This is what the world does. All are filled by the appetite of sin as if there will be no consequences. However, I am instead referring to a declaration that was made (by the leaders of the Land of the Dragon) back in 1999 while the world was distracted. They proclaimed that there would be a different war soon to come, one that was not to be fought on a standard battlefield.

"They chose this type of a war as they knew the cost of a traditional war would be too great. Their main tactic is to instead cut off vital nutrients so that a tree cannot bear fruit, understand? You have been taught this. What does the enemy do in war?"

Me: "Well, they always seem to follow a familiar pattern..."

- The enemy cuts off your supplies after surrounding you
- He then causes inner power struggles, the same side fighting against each other
- He then cuts off food, medicine and water

- He then slowly weakens them and makes the people ill
- He then has allies turn against them
- He always makes great efforts in controlling the news and therefore the narrative
- Finally, he creates great fear in the citizenship

Uriel: "Yes, Erin, this is a creative war as it is disguised or cloaked. It is a non-military action, understand? In some ways, this is more frightening than military action as it creates great confusion. In the midst of this particular war is the creation of great fear through the use of lies. All of this is noted and several enemy forces are crafting a way to shape the world under one rule. There are two powers at odds on this though. Soon this too will be revealed. Erin, God has given you knowledge."

Me: "Yes, Uriel, and it has been gnawing at me. 1 John 2:18-20, but really the entire book, is amazing. This one part in verse 19 is interesting. 'They went out from us, but they were not of us. For if they had been of us, they would've continued with us. But they went out, that it might become plain that they are not of us.' Uriel, this is about deceivers being among us."

Uriel: "Yes, Erin. This is the last hour. However, there is also a hidden gem for you, something that the Lord is about to do."

Me: "It seems like John was referring to liars among them who branched off from them. It seems like they were spies."

Uriel: "Well, yes, this is true and a common tactic used by the enemy. Those trying to deceive are easier to spot than you think. The Lord's Voice is loud if you ask Him to turn up the volume. However, you still need to ask Him."

Me: "Thank you, Uriel, but I already feel as if I am constantly nagging the Lord."

Uriel: "Do not worry, Erin, as He can take it. Ask for discernment. Things you once thought would be impossible are now occurring. There are now signs that something from God will soon be coming that is much greater than anything designed by man. Erin, nothing will compare to what God has planned.

"Now, turn away from your discouragement and see what the Lord has for you. Erin, He is worthy. See what He has for you, Erin?" He pointed to the crops. "If not you, who will work these fields? These are your fields to work. Now, rejoice and ask Him. Seek His face. He will give you the desires of your heart."

Dream 406 – Two Leaders compete for World Dominance

Communion

Dear Father,

Before we begin...In case you did not read this already, you may wish to read the update that has been added to the very end of the previous dream (link at the end of this dream). In summary, the prophecy in Sub-Dream 2 of Dream 405 was precisely fulfilled in that the Virtual Bot has now been unveiled and looks exactly as described.

Thank You for another day here! Thank You for my husband, our children, our home and our Nest. Thank You for our community of sparrows, where birds of a feather flock together. We had a busy and difficult week. We had no choice but to deal with underlying problems in our home. If I were to write a book specifically looking at the thought processes of watchers, it would be hilarious.

There are many 'holdoffs' and 'holdbacks', all done with the great faith that the Lord will soon take care of this or that. My husband can be like this at times as his date estimations and calculations are always based on pertinent factors and truly do make complete sense. All in all, this makes it fun to watch for You, Father, as we do so based on Biblical principles and historical evidence.

Yes, it is so easy to 'fall into the trap' of holding off things best looked after right away. This is because I am not feeling well and there are so many days when my hope in Jesus is all I have. My husband's speculations are then music to my ears as they always have a basis of encouragement in God to them. Where you can run into trouble is when you put something off that will likely bring great trouble if you don't deal with it.

Two things this week were like that for us. The first one involved a tree. The last big storm caused a pine tree to uproot and lean toward our home. This tree was then threatening an even larger tree. All of this was right outside my devotional area, my daughter's bedroom and a bathroom. The situation was one bad windstorm away from causing thousands of dollars in damages had it been blown onto the house.

The second one involved plumbing. We had this issue resolved with a semi-permanent fix and was not nearly as bad as it could have been. Thank You, Jesus! Thank You also for sending the right 'tree people'. I watched a man creatively use a chainsaw when he saw the precarious place that the tree was likely to fall. He measured his cuts, re-examined the area and then made a rather curious looking wedge cut.

This cut was made with such precision that the tree stood upright for a moment and then dropped perfectly between two trees, missing them both. It was as if God had sent angels to perfectly twist and place the tree on the ground. Well, I really have no doubt that He did. It was so amazing that I regretted not filming it. The tree was also bigger than we had thought. It was about 50 to 60 feet tall.

Until the men began to cut the tree apart and haul it away, it was difficult to comprehend just how massive this threat really was. While we have several other fallen trees, none are a threat, so we pushed having them looked after to when it can be afforded (or until God Himself takes care of it, a better alternative). After they cleared the debris, we once again had a path to walk to our little creek. What a blessing.

While both of these issues came at a price, we are so grateful that this was such a little expense in comparison to the disasters either one of these could have been. Thank You, Father, for sending the right people to help us. However, I felt something during this time that I had then felt guilty about, something that I really had no right to feel.

While they charged us to remove the tree, I also knew that they were going to sell it for firewood. I know the families of the workers and they are all poor. Knowing this, I still felt stressed. Looking back, how foolish. Fortunately, You spoke to me on the situation immediately and straightened out my 'crooked' thoughts...

Jesus: "Erin, Erin, do not worry, for it was I Who sent them. It is also I Who sent the storm which caused the tree to uproot. Yes, I am God and I allow such things. However, and more than this, I own the land, the trees, the path you walk on and the very home you live in. It is I Who gives and it is I Who takes away."

Me: "I am sorry, Lord, for the thing I have made it. It is just that I am trying to be wise as You provide all that we have. I thought I was being a good steward."

Jesus: "Yes, but you still need to be reasonable. Do you have a cutting instrument that could have cut this up? Do you have other instruments to turn this wood to be burned in a fire? No, you cannot. So then, look up the practice of gleaning and do not consider this as payment.

"What is it to you if the poor or needy profit from what they removed? Did you have the skill to fell the tree and avoid your roof? No, Erin, for it was I Who fashioned this. Now, relax. Do not worry about what they might do with things you did not want. Have I not blessed you the same way?"

Me: "Forgive me, Lord. I am so sorry."

I repented of my faulty thought process and shared it with my husband. We both agreed. Shortly after that, the Lord replenished our shortfall of provision with a gift that covered what we had lost. This strengthened our faith that we had done what was right in God's eyes. Father, I am not perfect. This You know. Thank You for fixing our leaking pipes and our leaning trees.

Thank You for clearing away the reminders of storms of the past. Sigh...Father, here I am. My dream last night was deeply disturbing. It was filled with disturbing events. I need Your help with this. Please let me not forget one thing I was shown...in Jesus' Mighty Name, Amen!

Sub-dream 1 "A Polluted River is Healed" begins...

It seemed as if we were in a future summer season, but I could not be certain of which one. The plague must have now passed as people were once again gathering closer together. I also did not see any masks. We were in an area close to Washington DC. There were virtually no cars in this area. In order for people to travel, they rode on benches in open flatbed trucks.

While there were a few cars, they were very small and either electric or solar powered. My husband and I were visiting this area and were riding together into the city on one of the flatbed trucks. From there, we rode on barges that were powered by people who used paddles. While they paddled in a standing position, the passengers were all sitting.

I noticed that the atmosphere seemed to be devoid of all humidity. It was searing hot and bright out. It was as if a coating had been removed from the atmosphere to shield people from the heat of the sun. Some people were covered from head to toe. Almost all were wearing hats. Some even had goggles over their eyes.

The river's water was murky and brown. One little boy, around age five, had become fascinated with the water and said 'fishy'. When the boy went to touch the water, one of the paddlers motioned as if he was going to strike the boy's hand with his paddle. The mother noticed this and moved the boy back before the man could strike.

Mom: Addressing her now crying boy. "I know that it looked like there was a fishy, but it wasn't. The water is sick water, very sick water, and it can make us very sick too."

Paddler: "The only water that is not sick right now are the special mountain springs. These are clean by the grace of God. The oceans are all sick, as well as the rivers which lead to them. I am sorry, but I could not allow you to touch the unclean waters."

We observed and remained quiet. The little boy then turned towards us. He pointed first to my husband and then to me.

Boy: Smiling again. "You! You can heal the water. God just showed me. You can heal it. I know you can."

He was now giggling with excitement and making a scene. His mother was embarrassed and moved the boy away from us. He tried to look back at us, but she would not let him. I walked over to the edge of the boat and sat down. I felt that I should consult God. This was all done only in my mind the whole time.

Me: "Oh Mighty God, do You want me to heal this water?"

God: "Dip your hand in the water seven times. Do this in a way that everyone witnesses it. I will keep the paddler from striking you."

I looked into the water and could not believe how gross it was. When I dipped my hand in the water the first time, I could instantly feel the bacteria and debris sift through my fingers. I wanted to vomit, but the feeling instantly dissipated. I could tell the paddler wanted to swat me, but couldn't, as he was getting angrier and angrier with each dip.

Paddler: "Are you crazy? You will get us all sick!"

My husband: "No. God is about to heal the river."

As soon as I removed my hand from the water after the seventh dip of my hand, it was as if a dark storm had dissolved in the water. The water instantly became crystal clear and beautiful. All of the murky mud in the water and the silt at the bottom was removed. It was now a perfect ecosystem of rocks and healthy river plants. I did not see any fish though.

God: "Cup your hand and drink from the river."

I cupped my hand and drank the water. It was cool, fresh and clean. I not only did not become sick, but I looked refreshed and revived. The people didn't have to be asked. They were screaming with joy and jumping into the water. The little boy was jumping up and down in excitement.

Boy: "Thank you, thank you, thank you."

Me: "No, it was not me. This happened because of God and God alone."

Mom: "Who are you people?"

Me: "We are healing as God calls us."

Paddler: "Good enough for me. I am going for a swim." He jumped into the water. He had a huge smile on his face as he swam around. "Say, would you be able to ask God to stop the sun's heat from burning seven times brighter?"

God: "Erin, while they can ask for My protection as a filter, I will not stop the increase in the sun. It is written."

Me: "If you are in need of protection against this, God will shelter you. However, He will not remove it."

The little boy came up and hugged me. I looked at his mother and she was smiling. I could tell she didn't mind.

Me: "Lord, please shelter the heat from this little boy, his mother and their household. Please let them be cool in the heat and warm in the cold. Please protect them from the plots of the enemy. Please shelter them from the impending storms."

We reached the city and it was time to exit the barge. The boy and his mother went one way and we went the other. The boy waved to me with a huge smile on his face. I waved back. We then kept walking down a street. There was a man shouting out from the steps of the Capital Building. He was prophesying from Isaiah 30. He was very intense, but few paid attention to what he was saying.

Preacher: "For thus sayeth the Lord, God, the Holy One of Israel...In returning to Him and in rest, you shall be saved; in quietness and trust shall be your strength. But you were unwilling and you said, 'no, we will flee away upon horses' and therefore you shall flee away; and we will ride upon swift steeds, therefore your pursuers shall be swift.

"A thousand shall flee at the threat of one; at the threat of five, you shall flee till you are left like a flagstaff on the top of a mountain, like a signal on a hill. Turn to God and away from your idols. You will hear the Voice of God behind you saying, 'this is the way, walk in it'. The Lord was gracious and you turned from your wickedness.

"You removed your graven images and you dedicated this land to the Lord. And the Lord saw it was good. Then in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fell, the light of the moon became like that as bright as the sun. The light of the sun has become seven-fold brighter, like the light of seven days.

"But the Lord longs to be gracious to you as He is the God of Justice. He will bind up the brokenness of His people and heal their wounds inflicted by His blow. You shall have a song as in the night when the Holy Feast is kept and gladness of heart as when one sets out to the sound of the flute to go to the Mountain of the Lord, to the Rock of Israel.

"And the Lord will cause His majestic voice to be heard and the descending blow of His arm to be seen in furious anger and a flame of devouring fire with a loud burst and a storm and hailstones. The invading army will be terror stricken at the Voice of the Lord when He strikes with His rod and punishes the enemy."

Me: "Who are you speaking of?"

Preacher: "You already know that I speak of Jesus."

Me: "Who is the enemy you are speaking of?"

Preacher: "There are many. However, there are two who battle for the position of one. One leader claims to have harvested the power of the sun. He has sent plagues upon the nations and he threatens the seas.

"The other leader stands in wait for the power of one. He punishes those who do not comply and purchases the loyalty of many. He believes himself to be the only hope. He saw the effects of the plague upon the lands and deemed this good. He then began to control the Word as he knew the Word of Truth would reveal his wicked plots. He then removed the houses of worship. He removed the joy of the Lord.

"He removed transportation and meat. He has weakened the spirit of God's people and weakened their bodies. He has declared his power good. He removed babies and the infirm, the weak and the old, by withholding help. He changed information, history and freedom of thought. His thoughts then became what was best for all. Those who rebelled were either removed or enslaved."

Me: "God's Word is Truth. He is the God of Truth. He is the Word and He spoke the Word into being. The enemy will not prevail."

Preacher: "The powers treat me as crazy and not as a threat right now. However, if they see anyone actually listening to me, I will be deemed a threat and removed. Now that they have seen you standing here and listening to the Truth, they will now remove and kill me."

Me: "No, no. You will not die. God loves righteousness and justice over sacrifices. You speak of these things."

Preacher: He suddenly became excited! "Wait! You are speaking Psalm 21. You speak with the heart of the King. He has sent you! Praise God for He has sent you!"

We were now on full public display and the authorities had been alarmed. My husband and I watched as several armed men came at us. Before they reached us, I hugged him as instructed by God. In an instant, we were completely removed to a peaceful home on a river.

Me: "Here is where you will stay until the Lord comes for you. Here you will have enough to sustain you...you and your family. Nothing will come against you, understand."

When I finished speaking this, the preacher's family suddenly arrived. He was almost speechless. Almost...

Preacher: "Oh, praise God! Thank you! Thank You, Lord."

Me: "Jesus is with you!"

In an instant, we were gone again.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, I have a pit in my stomach from reliving that particular dream.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in the harvest fields. I knew that the bridge I really wanted to cross was just around the corner, so I bolted towards it. I rounded the row into the orchards of fruit and was almost home free. Not so fast...there was Uriel. He was right in front of me on his horse. He smiled at me as I sighed. He knew that I was trying to get to the bridge.

Uriel: "Erin, your time here has not come to an end. Are you testing God?"

Me: "No, Uriel. I am so sorry."

Uriel: "Are things too difficult for you?"

Me: "No. I just see what is coming and what is already here and I can't believe it. Uriel, I never imagined that any of this could happen and so easily. It all happened so incredibly quickly and few even take note of it."

Uriel: "Oh Erin, since the beginning of time, trouble has come upon the lands by men with evil intentions. While you had not encountered such times, they are now here. It is a different war. The fallen have begun to rise slowly. There are their manifestations amongst men now. Think of this as like race horses jumping in their stalls before the shot that releases the gate holding them back.

"Permission was granted for the increase of evil and the times once written of by the prophets. You have been shown a leader rising up in the west or east depending on your place. To the land of Israel, it is to the east and north. To you, it is the west. He has been building an army in a vast war, but he is doing this by several strategies.

"While the world was sleeping, he was lining the pockets of foreign leaders, sending money to those with influence and beginning wars of lies. The plagues have now begun here. This man's need for control and dominance will not stop. He does not like to be mocked or have his deeds of darkness exposed to the light. He wants supreme control by any means. He will poison supplies and weaken protective shields.

"He will send these inferior products under the guise of aid. They will change the news and force people to comply. They will ravish weak nations and make them even more ill by removing their wealth. They do this all in the name of power as they do not serve God. However, God has allowed this. This man claims to have harnessed the power of the sun to mock God, but God will not be mocked."

"Now, another beast with many heads will rise up and govern. This is a beast without borders, but is the head of many nations. You will soon be strengthened, so do not worry. I have come to tell you that God is about to raise up His Army. You will be healed and strengthened. Now, rejoice. Turn back from the bridge. Look at your crops instead. These are good. Erin, God is with you. Rejoice."

He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 407 – Take Heart! Victory is here!

Dear Father,

Thank You! Thank You for another day. Yesterday was a bad day for me. It was difficult and painful. It seemed as if I was met with some sort of resistance no matter what I did. It never stopped all day. This massive world timeout has taken a great toll on so many of us. I notice it the most on my social children, especially my older daughter. There is literally nothing I can say or do to make this better. I am at a loss.

When I was young, I remembered the thought of a future filled with great possibilities encompassing all I did. I cried a lot yesterday that this is no longer the same. As I grieved, the song, 'Young Again', by Hardwell kept playing in my head. I remembered when my children were little and they would dress up in costumes or had their light sabers. I would hear my boys tell my daughter that she would be the princess.

While she would then play the part, she always made sure that they knew that she had a light saber too. What she was really saying was 'Yes, I am a princess, but don't forget I can use this light saber if I have to.' When they were young, playtime was a way to imagine something so great in our minds that it would take us away for a moment from our difficult circumstances.

It was a way to take a vacation with no money, just our imaginations. This was the only kind of vacation that I took as a kid, so this I was used to. Even if you feel like a nobody, you can still play the part of a somebody. To be in reality right now can be painful. My daughter was notified yesterday by her school that there will be signs placed on lawns and fields to congratulate grade 12 students for graduating.

While it was a touching thing to do, we still both cried. This is the way it will be for almost all graduating in 2020. When 9/11 came just before my daughter was born, I thought we would see a world of change. We had just finished Y2K and then 9/11 came. However, I never thought the world would see a complete lockdown for the graduating class of 2020.

This served as a backdrop for me telling our kids about the 12th grade class of 1980 when I was in 11th grade. This was the time when the Mount Saint Helens volcano blew. Graduation was cancelled then too, but instead of a virus, it was ash as thick as a three-inch layer of snow. It caused electricity to go out and so many other things. Cars would just suddenly quit on the side of the road due to all of the ash in the air.

How about those who have lost a loved one right now? Just imagine...a life lived and gone in an instant...no funeral, no remembrance. All of this was heavy on my heart as I was crying a lot yesterday. It was a difficult day. I grieved my losses. There is something in my heart that breaks. I have had more losses than victories in my life. When I have had victories, they have usually been short-lived and came at a cost.

My plans for my family have not happened the way I had always hoped for. However, this is the way that God has crafted all of this. All of this is for His purposes and I take comfort and joy in this. I do this even when I don't feel comfortable or joyful in my current state.

This virus just never quits giving...smiles. As an example, I have a hard time getting used to the dirty looks I get when I buy meat right now. It is not like I can yell out that I have a family of seven and need more than a family of four. It is exhausting. Sadly, are we now to expect a second wave such as the one Uriel spoke of? I had a dream of something being sent to the lands via a university lab.

Is this the second wave? How can all of us continue to live like we are? The news is almost all bad now. The reports feel more like agenda propaganda than real news. I went to sleep last night praying for a bright light or at least a spark. The Lord then gave this to me in the form of a dream that I had just a little while later...

Sub-dream 1 "A stadium full of beautiful friends and flowers" begins...

I was in a distant city situated on a hill. There was a massive indoor stadium. I had an immense task to prepare for. I knew this was for a really big event. I was preparing for the arrival of several delivery vans. Shipment after shipment soon came. The delivery men were dressed in all white. Their white shirts had rolled up sleeves that went along with their white gloves and pants. I was directing them as to where to set everything up.

The last van with boxes finally arrived just as dawn was breaking. As I looked up the hill, I noticed that there were many glass houses on the slope of this hill. The light of dawn was now shining on the rows of glass homes. They looked very beautiful. This made me realize that this stadium was situated in a beautiful and safe area. It was a fun task to direct all that the workers were to do, including specifying the lighting.

Me: Addressing the last delivery driver. "Where are all the people in those homes?"

Delivery Man: "While some of these homes are vacant, others have people that are still sleeping."

He smiled as he then handed me a clipboard with a stack of papers outlining each of the deliveries in detail.

Me: "I hope that I don't need to sign each paper in this stack!"

Delivery Man: Laughing. "No, I don't have all day for that. Just sign the line with the X please."

Me: "How much was all of this? Will you be sending me a bill?"

Delivery Man: "No worries, it is all covered. If you don't mind, just give us a good review. Our crews work hard."

Me: "Thank you. Now, may I tip you?"

Delivery Man: "Oh no, it has all been covered. We are all very well taken care of. Just enjoy all of this. Some of us will even be at the event."

Me: "Wonderful! I had better finish up though as I think I am losing time."

Delivery Man: "You are in Good Hands. You will soon be getting back everything that has been lost."

I shook his hand and turned back to the stadium. When I walked inside, everything was dark. As I stumbled around to find a light switch, I could hear some hushed giggles and whispers. I found this quite odd. I felt my way to the main double doors.

Me: Out loud to whoever may be listening. "Okay, guys, who is messing around with me?"

Many voices suddenly shouted in unison: "Surprise!"

The double doors opened and I could immediately see that my work had been completed. To my surprise, there were long-stemmed roses filling each of the stadium's seats. This is hard to describe, but there were also a multitude of people there at the same time. There was a tsunami of flowers. There were roses in every color of the rainbow...reds, purples, whites, even golds and so many other colors.

Again, hard to describe, but the colors of these roses swept over me like delightful waves. I cried at the beauty of all of it. The lighting was perfect and the fragrances were incredible. I was so thankful. Something unexpected then happened. A group of people approached me. They were the many friends on the Nest that my husband and I have not met in person, yet already know.

Our many friends: "Look at all that you have put together here. Have you ever seen anything like this?"

Me: "No, I have never seen anything even close to this."

While I didn't really understand exactly what it all meant or what I had prepared, I just knew that this was going to be something great for so many of my friends. The Voice of the Lord confirmed this.

God: "Do not worry, Erin, as this will all make perfect sense very soon."

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, thank You for this amazing dream. It was beautiful. I am so excited to share this dream with all of my wonderful friends on the Nest! The gift of these friendships reminded me of another great gift...the gift of my daughter. I specify my daughter here as she was born not long after my February 23, 2000 encounter that started this all off.

September 1, 2000 was my friend's memorial service. I was dressed in black for the service. After the service, I went to the Portland Rose Garden.

I was weeping on a bench when I believe an angel came to visit me there. I had prayed to have a heart of gold and to be of use to You, Father.

Woman / Angel: Pointing to a rose. "Look, a 'Heart of Gold Rose'. How beautiful!"

I was roused out of my self-reflection moment to the shock that I was sitting right in front of the 'Heart of Gold Rose'. While there was more to all of this, I can barely remember the details right now. However, I will never forget the circumstances and the declaration I had made to You on that day. Just a few short months after, my daughter was conceived. She would serve many purposes that could only come from God.

Yes, she was to be a gift from You as a banner to wear for my upcoming afflictions. She was the one child who was always with me. She was conceived on Valentine's Day 2001 and was born a day short of Halloween 2001 by C-Section. I was having trouble with my pregnancy and the doctors needed to deliver her early. I had a choice between Halloween or the day before and chose the day before.

Father, thank You for sending my daughter. Thank You for protecting her during all of my troubles. Thank You. You sent my daughter so that the enemy could not say I was a bad mother, incapable or mentally unstable. She was sent as a contradiction to the enemy's schemes. The enemy had been able to do so much damage to my sons, but he was never afforded the same opportunities with my daughter.

Oh Father, I don't think I have thanked You enough for all that You have done. It is a miracle, truly a miracle. You have turned that which I had thought to be a tragedy into an amazing miraculous story. Well, here we are! When I had awoken from my dream this morning, I could smell roses. I then heard a song in my head that kept playing over and over. It was 'Holy Water' by We the Kingdom. Here are some of the lyrics...

'Your forgiveness is like sweet, sweet honey on my lips. Like the sound of a symphony to my ears. Like Holy Water on my skin. Dead man walking, slave to sin. I wanna know about being born again. I need You, Oh God, I need You.'

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in Heaven in a field of flowers stretching out like the sea. I felt small in this vast oasis. I soon found my way to a small grower's path. As I turned onto the path, I realized that Uriel was waiting there for me on his horse.

Me: "Am I in trouble?"

Uriel: Smiling. "What type of question is that? God has not sent me to condemn you. This is not my position. He has also not sent me to rebuke you. You are much too busy rebuking yourself. God has sent me to give you a message of goodness. That is, unless you prefer to sit in your self-condemnation state."

Me: Sighing. "Oh no, forgive me. I am tired and weary. I am afraid too, Uriel."

Uriel: "Erin, I have no power to accept your forgiveness. I am not your Savior. However, if God calls me to save you from trouble, as in a rescue as commanded by God, that I can do. I am a messenger from God and I am also a gatherer. I escort you to God and back, understand? I am a soldier of God from the Army of Heaven."

Me: "You are being modest, Uriel. I just know that you are more than that. You are an angel of God's presence. You are a type of gatekeeper. You are a personal messenger from God's Throne. I have seen you in artwork from history."

Uriel: "Hmm, I am not certain that they have captured my good side. Look at what they did to Raphael." He was joking...rare for Uriel.

Me: Laughing. "I know what you mean. They always make Jesus look emaciated, frail and pale. Well, He is none of that. While I know you don't 'forgive' me, I just don't like causing grief to you."

Uriel: Smiling. "You don't cause me grief, Erin. You make us smile more than you think. We also shake our heads at times too, but always in a good-natured way."

Me: "Thank you for keeping me, my family and my friends safe."

Uriel: "Again, it is only by the commands of God. He is Who you thank. Our reward comes from God. We work for His praise, not yours. If you hear anything contrary to the words I have said, you should know and understand that these words are from those who fell...those who serve the one who deceives and lies, understand?"

Me: "Yes, Uriel."

Uriel: "Now, God has a brief Word of encouragement for you..."

God (but with the Words spoken by Uriel): "I have given you victory. I love you and My recompense is soon to follow. Do not be discouraged. Do not be afraid when you hear bad news. I have declared victory for you. My love will fill your tabernacles. Now, rejoice. Rejoice!"

Me: "Thank you for giving me these amazing Words of encouragement from God."

Uriel: "Erin, there is an epic battle and I must now go. However, take heart! The victory is here."

He smiled at me as his horse rose up on his hind legs. Uriel and his horse turned. They were gone in an instant.

Dream 408 – The Four Gateways and Bridges will soon open

Received on Sunday, May 10, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for our lives. Thank You for my family and friends throughout the world. Friday, May 8, 2020 marked the six-year anniversary of my accident. As it turns out, this accident was the beginning of Your plan to get me out of the desert. It was an incredible delivery that even came with a great surprise – my husband. I truly never saw any of this coming.

All the while, Your plan also exposed hidden agendas and plots. I truly had no clue of the magnitude that the enemy will fight to take down one of Your children. I am thankful, Father, so thankful, to be a child of God, Your child, Father. Happy Mother's Day to all! I am so grateful that I am the mother to three wonderful children by blood and two wonderful children through marriage. I thank You for all five of them.

I had an interesting conversation on Friday with my oldest son as we drove into town to run a couple of errands. It was sunny and beautiful out, the calm before yesterday's snowstorm. My son has been struggling with extreme anxiety from technology. He has been struggling since last August 2019. OCD has been the result. He has been so sad and depressed.

He misses communicating with his friends in the service and out in Washington State. At first, I thought that this was a huge enemy attack against him. However, I have now slowly begun to believe that all of this has been unfolding for a different purpose under Heaven. One of the reasons I believe this could be so is that it seems as if the only time he has peace is if he is reading the Bible or doing his new hobby...drawing.

Me: "I now believe that God has given you a type of 'pause on the remote'. This is like a stop to all that you had been doing. He is drawing you closer to Him."

Son: "While my mind won't let me, my heart still wants to do other things. I miss doing the things I used to do. I miss spending time with my friends. This is not my choice. This is against my plans."

He sounded more sad than angry. Just then, a song came on the Christian radio station. It was the song 'Anxious' by Sarah Reeves. This is a new song the station had just begun to play. I knew this had to be from You, Father, as the timing was perfect. While this song sums up my feelings on what my son is going through, there is even more to this. This song was released when my son's troubles began last year.

After the song finished, Your Voice welled up in me. I needed this as I didn't really have my own words. He is a young man trying to find some independence, so having to listen to advice from his 'mommy' is not always the easiest thing. However, the words of wisdom that came just had to be from You as he remained engaged as I spoke with him. He would look intently and nod his head in agreement as I spoke.

Me: "As you read in the Bible, you will notice that so many in the Bible, both in the old and new testaments, spent a lot of their lives waiting on the promises of God to be fulfilled. Imagine being a prophet during such dark times and suffering because they had spoken God's truth over the lies people preferred. Then look at all of God's people who have been imprisoned because of their beliefs.

"This is not an easy road. I know you are being made fun of. To have an anxiety disorder about technology is not popular. Just know that you are not alone. Today marks six years to the day that I fell at work. Before that fall, I worked out at the gym, chased our dog Zoey down the street and went for long walks. I could hit golf balls at the driving range.

"I helped people out with different room arrangements, even helping them move and arrange furniture and accessories. While I was still disabled, I was not as disabled as today. I could still work and function and I remained physically fit. I was active and joyful. You must still remember me being like this just a bit, right?"

Son: "Hmm, I do. However, it now feels so long ago."

Me: "It does to me as well. Now look at me. I am not who I am in my heart. My heart is filled with wonder and excitement of promises soon to be fulfilled. However, that is not who I am physically. I need to drop some weight and be physically healed. I need this even to do small things like art painting or drawing. Other things, like sewing and other projects, are just too much for me know."

"Back in the year 2000, when I was at the Rose Garden in Portland OR, I was at a fork in the road. From what I could see, I had three different options.

"Option 1 – Turn away from God: I could have turned back and gone backwards to a familiar place, a place before I met God. Even though God has always been with me, I had barely begun to be with Him. I could have easily turned away from all of this 'Christian Stuff'. This would have been a relatively easy step in the short term, but with dire long-term consequences.

"Option 2 – Remain a 'Luke Warm' Christian: I could have taken the road to the left and remained as I currently was. I had a good business and a career with promise. While I had already given birth to my two sons, I was now back in shape. I could golf and be an instructor. I could remain active at church by occasionally doing volunteer work and attending service.

"In this scenario, I would let the Sunday service message sink in just enough to last until Monday evening. This would have been simpler and more superficial. I would never be convicted of my sin as I would stay shallow in my relationship with the Lord. This road would have been easier as I would be inconsequential to the enemy. He would want to keep me this way, so he would not attack me.

"Option 3 – Ask God to use me for His purposes: I instead chose Option 3 and asked God to use me for His purposes. In doing so, I had to fully trust Him with my path. I could not dictate to God how He would orchestrate all of this. So, what happened as a result? Well, I was severely pounded by the enemy for twenty years. I suffered. I made mistakes.

“According to the world, I lost much and gained very little. Quite simply, I was not well equipped for what would soon be coming. I did not truly know what I had just asked for. I did not truly know what was in store for me by choosing the difficult narrow road with the tiny gate. I didn’t read the fine print. What if God instead showed me the perils in the same manner as the disclaimers at the end of those pharmaceutical commercials.

“These commercials show a person doing fun activities. They then show them enjoying life so much more because they were taking this new medicine. While the commercial then continues to show the person in joyful activities, a rushed voice starts stating all of the potential nasty side effects. Imagine if God had provided these to me as well.” I then started talking to my son in a similar voice as these commercials...

“Potentially Dangerous Side Effects of Option 3 – Being Used for His purposes:

“While serving God for His purposes will have great eternal gains, consequences during your lifetime could (and, for me, it did) include the following:

- Can cause heart problems and irregular heartbeats, possibly leading to death or installation of a pacemaker
- Medical costs can lead to the loss of all of your material wealth
- Troubles may result in a diminished ability to take care of your family
- You will need to prepare for unjustified attacks during this time of personal vulnerability from your ex-husband, family, friends, the courts, the schools and even the court system
- You will temporarily lose one of your sons due to unjust circumstances and because you do not have the means to hire an attorney
- Those who can’t afford legal counsel will almost lose their children entirely until it is discovered that the opposing party is actually the abuser
- All of your abilities will soon be diminished and, eventually, an event, a serious fall, will make it so that your abilities are almost completely gone
- During this time, it will become necessary to move you to another area while you are being pursued by your enemies

- You will wait there for the last six years with your husband (yes, you will remarry) and receive no treatment at all for your disabilities
- You will continue for twenty years from the beginning in such a diminished capacity until the day the Lord has promised finally arrives
- Those who wait upon the Lord for more than twenty years will experience sadness, depression, waves of grief, vivid dreams and nightmares
- They may also experience the hearing of the Voice of God
- Some will experience visions of Heaven and even the Two Witnesses
- Some will even experience angel visitations from Heaven and miraculous manifestations of wisdom and knowledge
- Upon experiencing this time of waiting and long suffering, you will grow weary, lose hope at times and become anxious
- You might also occasionally doubt your sanity, wellness and decisions if it were not for the many encouragements sent by your friends on the Nest and from the love of your family

“If it stopped here, who would take this on? However, what if He added that He will always take care of you, promising to answer you when you cry out to Him? What if He added that He will give you hope and a future? What if He promised that all of your children will be with you during uncertain times? What if He promised that your life would bring comfort to many people as they grew closer to Him through you?

Son: “He promised you all of these things, didn’t He?”

Me: “He has.” I paused for about a minute. “Wow, guess what I just realized? I suddenly realized that I would do it all over again. I would. Even though so much of this is contrary to my great plans for myself, I would still surrender to God. It reminds me of a saying I recently read...‘God doesn’t call the equipped, He equips those He calls.’ Even though I have no skills in writing, He still called me to do this.

“While He could have called a professional writer to write ‘His Story’, He instead called me. I am unqualified to be a writer. I don’t like writing. I am not a Bible scholar. However, when I write and spend time with God, He almost always temporarily removes my pain. When I am done writing, the pain commences again. However, I am okay with this knowing that I just accomplished the work of what the Lord placed on my heart.

"In reality, I am an artist and an illustrator. I should be creating artwork instead of writing. I am creating 'heartwork' instead on these journal pages. Knowing I am helping people makes my heart glad."

I felt that this was all that needed to be said to my son. While he didn't say much in reply, I could tell he was thinking about all of what was said. When we arrived home, I went to feed the little yard animals before the snow storm hit. When I came back inside, my son said 'Mom, I love you.' He has said this many times to me, but this was one of those 'I love you's' that you cherish forever.

Thank You, Father. This son was once so angry with me. Thanks to his father, he was turned against me, his brother and his sister. However, he is home with me here and is now in the healing process. This is a true miracle. Thank You. Oh Father, I would do all of this again. Even if You told me all that would happen, I would still go down this path that You laid out for me.

So, why would I do this? This is because I love and trust You, Father. I had to give up control to You. This was why everything was so difficult. I had wandered for twenty years in a spiritual desert. However, in reality, these last 7.5 years of dreams have developed a heart work in Me. All of this is really You working through me as a vessel to encourage others while I encourage myself at the same time.

I had a couple of dreams last night. I was an observer in both of these dreams...

Sub-dream 1 "Forging Handles for the Four Gates" begins...

We were preparing the Handles for four separate Gates by using a forge. All of us knew that this was extremely important work. There was a foreman oversee our work.

Foreman: "Be careful as you forge. Make sure there is no delamination in your iron. Work as if this will be the most important forge of your career as forgers. Do everything as if you work for the Lord. You are!"

One of the workers: "Shall we also create locks for the Four Gates?"

Foreman: "If your design is dedicated to God and of the best quality, there will be no need as nothing will come against you. Nothing can open a gate which God shuts nor can they close a gate which God opens. These are God's Gates, understand?"

We all agreed. We then began to sing a song in unison as we hammered our iron.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Sub-dream 2 "The Gateway that can't be covered up" begins...

There was a walled over area of stone which consisted of hewed Jerusalem Stone. The Doorway or Gateway was walled up with stones and mortar as if sealing off a tomb. I could tell this work had to be redone due to a great earthquake that had previously occurred. The encasement of the Gateway had been completely destroyed. The false stonework which had covered the original opening had come down, exposing the Gateway they were trying so hard to hide. I heard people yelling at each other.

Man 1: "We have covered this twice. Quickly, we must wall this back in so the prophecy is unfulfilled. Hurry!"

Man 2: "Golden Gate has fallen! The Messiah is at the door!"

Man 3: "Which Golden Gate? Which prophecy?"

Man 2: "Both! Hurry! Hurry! The time of Zechariah 14 verses 4 & 5 is nearing..."

"On that day, His feet shall stand on the Mount of Olives that lies before Jerusalem on the east, and the Mount of Olives shall be split in two from east to west by a very wide valley, so that one half of the Mount shall move northward, and the other half southward. And you shall flee to the valley of my mountains, for the valley of the mountains shall reach to Azal. And you shall flee as you fled from the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. Then the Lord my God will come, and all the Holy Ones with Him."

"Hurry, for He comes with His Army of Holy Ones to take His seat!"

Sub-dream 2 over...

Father, it has been awhile since I have been an observer in these dreams. Both dreams referred to Gates. I am scared, Father. I have had troubles sleeping. I love You so much. We have been so thankful to You for everything. Although the waiting has been difficult, You are here with us. You are in the waiting. Thank You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was immediately at the overlook from Heaven to Earth. I was looking over a stunning view of Earth. It truly is God's masterpiece and so incredible to view from a distance. When I was young, I tried to imagine being an astronaut and seeing a sight like this. I never imagined it would actually happen and certainly not by being a view from Heaven. This is awesome.

I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and there was Uriel. He was with his horse. They were both in full armor. On a side note, Uriel is going to use the term 'Midway'. This is because my husband and I just watched a movie called 'Midway'. This movie was all about some epic battles between the USA and Japan in World War 2. It was basically a great battle of two rival aircraft carrier fleets.

Uriel: "Erin, the battle in the heavenlies, 'The Midway', continues. Look!"

I could suddenly see the battle of Heavenly angels in armor battling the dark realm. There were billows of black smoke, wind and lightning. I could see the two dragons, the red one and the black one. I also saw a pale horse and rider. The demonic army had strengthened in number. I could also see the archangels in full armor in battle. The angels were fighting the most horrendous of creatures.

They were terrible to look at, so much so that they are beyond description. I could smell sulfur and other foul odors coming from them. I could hear screeching metal. I would see a shimmer of Heavenly armor, but it would then disappear again into the battle. I then saw Uriel wave his arm and the battle disappeared. I could see the Earth again.

Me: "Where did the battle go?"

Uriel: "It is still raging, Erin. The Four Gates are about to open. Through these will come help, miracles, healing and the Kingdom of Heaven. This is the Bridge you try to run to cross over back and forth. These are placed in the 'Four Corners of the Earth' by which God's Holy Ones will ascend and descend.

"There is great news here. The enemy will be unable to wall up these Gates. The enemy will be unable to tear down these Bridges. Several events are about to occur. These will be with Israel as your gauge. While this has never changed, this will be a time like no other time. Erin, your wait is over!"

Me: "Uriel, why four?"

Uriel: "Because four is an important number to God. You can pray for wisdom here. I am here to show you that the battle in 'The Midway' has increased. Evil is manifesting visibly on Earth. You have been given an increase in knowledge from God to those He has called."

Me: "Uriel, I am now able to spot a deceiver by using a measure...when I spot a deceiver, my stomach instantly becomes ill."

Uriel: "It is important right now to say very little and make no declarations. What God has shown you is true. What is on the airwaves are false reports meant to manipulate. They then study the public's reaction for future reference. There is a plan in place to destroy the nations from within by weakening their structures and the laws of the lands. This is especially true for the land declared to be a nation to God.

"This is also the time of the great rebellion away from truth. The enemy has been unable to destroy God's elect. The plan was to destroy the elect by turning them away from God and causing them to fight amongst each other. While the enemy is trying to gain momentum by controlling what is consumed by man, he is really running against the wind.

"This is in the form of false information and the spreading of fear. This is in the release of criminals and the arrest of those who abide by the law, most to house arrest and some even to jail. There is the controlling of food and that which is consumed. There is also the removal of God's Church from worship.

"Well, all of these plans will come to nothing. God is about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told. The enemy is not in control. God is on His Throne on Earth as He is in Heaven.

Nothing is beyond the Creator of Heaven and Earth. Remember this. Now, Who is like God?"

Me: "No one comes close to God. God created all things into being. God cannot be duplicated. He cannot be overthrown. He will not be mocked without consequence. He won't let the wicked go unpunished. God takes no delight in evil. Even though I know all of this, I am still sometimes scared about all that I see coming."

Uriel: "Do not be, Erin, for something wonderful is coming upon the Earth. Now, rejoice! I must go. Take heart as God is in control."

Me: Addressing God. "Hurry, Father! We love You! Hurry! In Jesus' Name, hurry!"

Uriel smiled and nodded in agreement. He mounted his horse. When he took out his sword, it became an amazing flaming sword. Impossible to describe...intimidating, yet somehow also comforting. I then watched Uriel ride with his horse into the battle with his flaming sword.

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family and friends. Thank You for our Happy Nest. Father, I dedicate all that I am to You. I love You and I am so thankful for You. I have been crying randomly lately. I do this when I see something that I recently enjoyed being changed or limited. It hurts my heart. I am not equipped for much. It seems as if even a meat shortage can trigger my emotions.

For two days in a row, there has been no beef in stores. There is still lots of pork, but I really don’t care that much for it other than bacon. I am thankful that there is chicken still available. When I see circumstances like this, I just sigh. We always long for something which is taken from us. It seems like ‘others’ are making choices for us right now. We are no longer in a democracy.

We are fighting as our freedom is slipping away. The enemy is clever. All of this pandemic stuff is truly evil. Its origins are evil. It seems that the plan is to take our freedoms away while supposedly ‘protecting us’. The world is now under siege. While You have been instructing me when I dream, I haven’t really been sleeping well. The last four days were the worst sleeps since right before the birth of my children.

I am struggling, Father. I am struggling to give Good News. You are God over all things. You are the Great I Am. There is no one above You. A wise man takes time to reflect on Your sovereign control over all things. The right answers are always with You because truth and righteousness are Your Scepter. A foolish man looks to men, those around him that act as gods in control and domination.

However, man is clearly below God. We therefore do not look to man for answers, but to God for hope and truth. Your ways are higher than ours. You are Father over us. As Your children, we are to place our trust in You and not man. You appoint leaders. You raise them up and also remove them, all according to Your Will. As we are only a small portion of Your much larger Grand Plan, we must trust fully in You.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was walking on the forestry path towards God's Door. Lined along the path were beautiful glorified trillium flowers of every color. I could see waves and waves of purplish blue coming from the trees in the distance. I saw butterflies like diamonds as the light of the sun shined through the trees. As per usual, the temperature was perfect.

As I walked, I recalled how I had gone from not liking God to now truly loving Him with my whole heart. I used to look at God as the 'Supreme Punisher' that was always disappointed in me and ready to bring down harsh judgments. While I still fear Him, I am no longer afraid of Him. He knows me and is never surprised by me. Even when I am disappointed in myself, He is still right there to speak tenderly to me.

After I walked around a bend in the path, I was able to see God's Door. This was usually where Uriel met me. I looked around for Uriel, but I did not see him. I decided to sit under the willow tree by the small lake with the beautiful fountains. Just as I had sat down, Uriel placed his hand on my shoulder. I smiled and jumped to my feet. Uriel was in full armor. He had been in an epic battle.

Me: "The battle continues?"

Uriel: "Yes, and it is unlike any we have had from the beginning. Erin, I have a message for you from God. He is unable to call you into His presence today."

Me: "He has never said that before. Why is He unable? He is God and nothing is impossible for Him."

Uriel: Smiling. "Yes, Erin, and this is true."

I could tell by his smile that this was to remain a mystery, at least for now. I wanted to press Uriel a bit more on this, but knew from past experiences that it would be futile.

Me: "Thank you, Uriel. What is His message? I can hardly wait."

Uriel: "Before I begin, you need to remember that He is always with you. Right now, He is preparing. You will be called into His presence soon." He smiled. "You are downcast, but God has seen all which is occurring. You see only a small portion. Very soon, you will see all things from a different observation point or horizon line. Now, God sends the following message to you..."

'Erin, My child, I love you and I am well pleased with you. You have waited on My Will, not your will. Although you feel as if you are traveling against the wind, you are soon to be harnessing the wind as a horse is harnessed by his rider. There is much more also, but be encouraged. Your time of waiting is coming to a close. You will soon be called into wide open spaces. People who knew you will say 'who is this one?'

'Many will be terrified as, in the presence of My Glory, tongues of liars will confess in your presence. When you come to My Altar, no lies are formed on lips because My Courts are Courts of Justice and Truth. There can be no lies or liars here before Me. Therefore, the liar submits and the righteous praise My Name. Do not listen to liars and those who have no fear of Me. While they lie today, they will fall to their knees tomorrow and beg for mercy before Me. It is here where the evidence is presented and then My judgments.

'Now, you also have another purpose. You are My child. You are like a banner on a hill. You are like a beacon in a storm-tossed sea. You are what Heaven looks like on Earth.

"Erin, you are to accept this Word from God. You are..."

Me: I interrupted him without thinking. "But, Uriel, I don't deserve any of this. I don't..."

Uriel: "Erin, stop. Do not speak. If God has declared this, then accept this Gift and rejoice. This is a Gift unlike any other. This is a mystery from Heaven soon to be revealed. You will be both loved and hated. This will be as your dreams from last night have shown you."

Me: "Yes. My first dream last night was trying to put two magnets together. However, a force between them kept them apart. It was incredible and frustrating at the same time."

Uriel: "Well, those God has called will be attracting both negative and positive forces. Anything falling under the positive forces will be pulled to you. Anything falling under the negative forces will be repelled by you. They will be repelled as they will be fearful of your power under Heaven. You will be clearly set apart and marked by God as His."

Me: "Wow, I am so excited for this!"

Uriel: "You will only be subject to God, not man. You will be free under God and He will be your King. Now, rejoice, Erin, as the Year of the Lord's Favor is now upon you. The time of your forced labor is over."

Me: "Uriel, what about my second dream. There was an elderly Jewish Rabbi in the dream and he was reading Isaiah 40 to me."

Isaiah 40: 1 Comfort, comfort My people, says your God. 2 Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and cry to her that her warfare is ended, that her iniquity is pardoned, that she has received from the Lord's hand double for all her sins. 3 A voice cries: "In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord; make straight in the desert a highway for our God. 4 Every valley shall be lifted up, and every mountain and hill be made low; the uneven ground shall become level, and the rough places a plain. 5 And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together, for the mouth of the Lord has spoken." 6 A voice says, "Cry!" And I said, "What shall I cry?" All flesh is grass, and all its beauty is like the flower of the field.

7 The grass withers, the flower fades when the breath of the Lord blows on it; surely the people are grass. 8 The grass withers, the flower fades, but the Word of our God will stand forever. 9 Go on up to a high mountain, O Zion, herald of good news; lift up your voice with strength, O Jerusalem, herald of good news; lift it up, fear not; say to the cities of Judah, "Behold your God!" 10 Behold, the Lord God comes with might, and His arm rules for Him; behold, His reward is with Him, and His recompense before Him. 11 He will tend His flock like a shepherd; He will gather the lambs in His arms; He will carry them in His bosom, and gently lead those that are with young.

12 Who has measured the waters in the hollow of His hand and marked off the Heavens with a span, enclosed the dust of the Earth in a measure and weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance? 13 Who has measured the Spirit of the Lord, or what man shows Him his counsel? 14 Whom did He consult, and who made Him understand? Who taught Him the path of justice, and taught Him knowledge, and showed Him the way of understanding? 15 Behold, the nations are like a drop from a bucket, and are accounted as the dust on the scales; behold, He takes up the coastlands like fine dust.

16 Lebanon would not suffice for fuel, nor are its beasts enough for a burnt offering. 17 All the nations are as nothing before Him, they are accounted by Him as less than nothing and emptiness. 18 To whom then will you liken God, or what likeness compare with Him? 19 An idol! A craftsman casts it, and a goldsmith overlays it with gold and casts for it silver chains. 20 He who is too impoverished for an offering chooses wood that will not rot; he seeks out a skillful craftsman to set up an idol that will not move. 21 Do you not know? Do you not hear? Has it not been told you from the beginning? Have you not understood from the foundations of the Earth?

22 It is He who sits above the circle of the Earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; Who stretches out the Heavens like a curtain, and spreads them like a tent to dwell in; 23 Who brings princes to nothing, and makes the rulers of the Earth as emptiness. 24 Scarcely are they planted, scarcely sown, scarcely has their stem taken root in the Earth, when He blows on them, and they wither, and the tempest carries them off like stubble. 25 To whom then will you compare Me, that I should be like Him? says the Holy One. 26 Lift up your eyes on high and see: Who created these? He Who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name; by the greatness of His might and because He is strong in power, not one is missing.

27 Why do you say, O Jacob, and speak, O Israel, "My way is hidden from the Lord, and my right is disregarded by my God"? 28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The Lord is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the Earth. He does not faint or grow weary; His understanding is unsearchable. 29 He gives power to the faint, and to him who has no might He increases strength. 30 Even youths shall faint and be weary, and young men shall fall exhausted; 31 but they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint.

Me: "I was young in this dream. This Rabbi was instructing me on the ways I should go. Who was he?"

Uriel: "Erin, all of your dreams and visions will soon be understood with much greater clarity. Now, what you have prayed for, what your husband has prayed for, what your children has prayed for, what your friends on the Nest have prayed for, is here! Rejoice, Erin, rejoice! I must go now. However, I will see you very soon. Do not worry."

He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 410 – God will now crush those who come against us

Received on Friday, May 15, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for a good night's sleep! These are few and far between these days. I probably would have slept until noon today, but I was awakened from my sleep with three earthquake feed warnings in a row. This has never happened before since I downloaded my earthquake app. I woke up slowly, but didn't check where the earthquakes were located until I was in a different area of the house.

When I saw where it was, I was in shock. A 6.5 earthquake had hit Tonopah, Nevada. I remember this area from when I was a child. This was one of the many road trips my parents would take me on when I was younger. The other places included Washoe County, Carson City and south of there. It seemed to be mostly mining areas from in and around Virginia City.

I continued on with my morning routine when I heard the Voice of God...

Voice of God: "Erin, the time of the Great Separation has come. You are a Royal Priesthood, Living Stones of My Heavenly House. You are My possession, My chosen people, a light in the darkness, a watchtower in the vineyard and a beacon in the storm."

As soon as I heard this, two more aftershocks in a row alerted me to the Tonopah area again. I immediately went to my journal and wrote the Words I received from God down.

Me: "Father, You have downloaded a great and wonderful Word. Please give me wisdom as a scribe to write what You have called me to. Please grant me wisdom and clarity to do Your Will. In all things, I dedicate my writing to you."

As I sat in prayer, I took communion and praised God. Several things came forward in my mind. Israel has just formed a new government after over 16 months of political division. There have been two factions and no clear winner despite three failed elections that brought no clear resolve. The agreement is that Netanyahu will continue in power for 18 months until mid-November, 2021. Gantz, the other of 'The Two Benjamins', will then take over for the following 18-month period.

As I sat in my chair, I felt the Lord prompt me to examine Tonopah NV again. In doing so, I discovered something shocking. Tonopah consists of 16 square miles of land midway between Reno and Las Vegas. There is only one route between the two...Highway 95. Highway 95 in the west runs from Mexico all the way up through to Canada. It crosses Las Vegas, Reno, then up to Sandpoint ID and then Goodgrief ID.

I have been on this route many times in my lifetime. There isn't much to the Nevada portion. As a child, this portion was always the perfect time to take a nap in the car. Tonopah means 'small water' and is an Indian name. The town was once known for silver mining and had the tallest building in Nevada for 13 years. The story of how silver was discovered here is really quite remarkable.

On May 19th, 1900, a prospector named Jim Butler had been searching for his donkey that had wandered off during the night. The donkey had sheltered itself near a rock outcropping. When he found his animal in the morning, he picked up a rock to throw at it in frustration. In the process of his actions, he discovered one of the second richest silver strikes in Nevada history.

Tonopah then became a boomtown from 1900 to 1919. There are many miners buried in the cemeteries there. They didn't tend to live long there as mining is extremely dangerous. One of the epitaphs read 'Forgotten by Everybody but God!' Thank You, Father, that You never forget us. What was really interesting was that the tallest building in Tonopah was called the Mizpah Hotel.

The Mizpah Hotel was known as 'The Jewel in the Desert'. In addition to the Mizpah Hotel, there was also the Mizpah Mine. Mizpah is Hebrew for watchtower or lookout and was a city from the Tribe of Benjamin. It is mentioned in Genesis and is where the agreement between Laban and Jacob was made. However, there is even more here. There was also an uprising against the Chinese workers by the labor unions.

A riot in 1903 later resulted in a boycott of USA goods by China in 1905. However, and much more than all of this, Father, and what is heavily on my heart, is Genesis 31:22. Laban was told on the third day that Jacob had fled with his daughters and grandchildren, as well as with all of their belongings. What Jacob didn't know was that Rachel had also taken Laban's false gods.

Laban then took a bunch of men with him and pursued Jacob for seven days. Laban finally got close to Jacob around the hills of Gilead. God came to Laban in a dream and said to him... 'Be careful not to say anything to Jacob either good or bad.' Laban then overtook Jacob and pitched tents near them. What followed was a series of accusations of Laban to Jacob accusing him of treating his daughters as if they were taken as captives by sword (Kidnapped).

Laban accused Jacob of fleeing in secret to trick him and as a deceiver. He accused Jacob of withholding his ability to send gifts, bless them and kiss them. He then accused Jacob of stealing his gods. When Laban went searching for his false gods, Rachel sat on them under her saddle and claimed she couldn't move because of 'female issues'. Jacob finally lost his temper with Laban and began to state his case.

He spoke of all that he had done to serve Laban faithfully over the years despite having his wages changed ten times. He then stated that 'if the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the fear of Isaac, had not been on my side, surely now you would have sent me away empty handed. God saw my affliction and the labor of my hands and rebuked you last night.'

Laban then responded by stating his case... 'Come, let us make a covenant, you and I. Let it be a witness between you and me.' So, Jacob took a stone and set it up as a pillar. Jacob then said to his men, 'Gather stones!' They then took stones and made a heap and they ate there by the heap. Jacob called this heap Galeed.

They also called it Mizpah, for it was said, 'The Lord watch between you and me when we are out of one another's sight. If you oppress my daughters or if you take wives besides my daughters, although no one is with us, see, God is witness between you and me.' Then Laban said to Jacob, 'See this heap and pillar, which I have set between you and me...this heap is a witness, that I will not pass over this heap and you will not pass over this heap and pillar to me to do harm.'

So, Jacob swore by the fear of Isaac, his father, and he offered a sacrifice in the hill country and called his men to eat bread. They then ate bread and spent the night in the hill country. Early in the morning, Laban arose and kissed his grandchildren and his daughters and blessed them. Then Laban departed and returned home.

While I thought this was it, I then discovered something in Genesis 32:1-2...

Jacob went on his way and the angels of God met him. When Jacob saw them, he said, 'This is God's camp!' So, he called the name of this place Mahanaim. Jacob, then being in fear and distress, moved on to face his giants. He then wrestled with Jesus at Peniel.

This is all so interesting. Father, I do not feel I am off track. I feel strongly that You are leading me in the ways I should go for all of this.

I was then led to a historical postcard of the Mizpah Hotel in Nevada circa 1914. This is what it read...

'Oh thou thy way and I go mine, apart, yet not afar; Only a thin veil hangs between the pathways where we are. And God keeps watch between thee and me. This is my prayer. He looks thy way, He looketh mine, and keeps us near. I sigh sometimes to see thy face. But since this may not be, I'll leave thee to the care of Him Who cares for thee and me. Genesis XXXI.49'

Tonopah NV was once dedicated to God. It was a place of silver and of gold. Father, You shook the ground there today. You split the highway, making it impassable, shutting down the road. Father, if we are Your Living Stones, like a wall, gateway, covenant or Mizpah, even like a watchtower, then, Father, please show us Your Glory.

What exactly happened to the sons of Jacob when Jacob met Your angels? Were they healed and strengthened? Perhaps they were even Transformed in a manner similar to what we are waiting for? Lord, the sons of Jacob were fearsome warriors that all the nations around them feared. Is this what You are about to do with us?

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again near God's Door on the path near His beautiful pond with fresh springs like fountains. God had not taken me on a path like He did this morning. I decided to sit down under the beautiful willow tree as I could see that God's Door was not open right now.

My Prayer: "Father, our nation is losing its liberties. It has happened suddenly from within, yet it is a war. There is an enemy advancement happening of which we feel but we cannot see. In the year 1620, four hundred years ago, our land was dedicated to You. Please bless us again as You blessed them! In Jesus' Mighty Name, Amen!"

Since it fits in so well, here is a reminder of what the Puritans wrote prior to leaving the Mayflower...

'In the Name of God, Amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyal subjects of our dread sovereign Lord King James, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith. Having undertaken, for the Glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith and honor of our King and Country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the Northern parts of Virginia,

'do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God and one another, covenant, and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic for our better ordering and preservation, and furtherance of the ends aforesaid, and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions, offices from time to time,

'as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the colony: Unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witness whereof we have hereunder subscribed our names: Cape Cod, the 11th of November, in the year of the reign of our sovereign Lord King James of England, France and Ireland eighteenth and of Scotland fifty fourth, Anno Domini 1620.'

So, the gift to this land to the colonies was Your Will, Father. At this point now, 400 years later, 2020, what was once all dedicated to You under the rule of King James, is now being all thrown out the door by our out of control liberals. The promises made in Your Name are being broken. The framing of just and equal laws, ordinances, acts and constitutions are no longer for the greater good of people under God.

My heart grieves, Father. The land has had eight Jubilees as of this year. The end of the eighth is almost finished and is in 'forced rest'. However, instead of debts being canceled, debts are being added. There have also been approximately 57 Shemitahs. How many of these Shemitahs have gone without rest? In reality, I know nothing about these other than what is in Your Word.

We were taught as children that all that 'stuff' was because the Jewish people were bad and unruly and God made them do things because of this. Of course, this was not the case at all. This was a plant by the enemy to make sure we do not follow God's Commandments, Laws and Principles.

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I looked and there was Uriel in full armor. His horse was there and was also in full armor.

Uriel: "I have come from an epic battle. Now, the Lord sends the following Word to you..."

'Erin, all that I have promised you will now come to fruition. This is 'The Time of the Lord's Favor'. Now, do not be discouraged when things do not occur as you expect at first light, as just as quickly as the sun appears upon the horizon, your worry and sorrow will quickly turn to great joy! I am about to make a New Covenant with you as I call you into My Spiritual House. You will be called Oaks of Righteousness. My Glory will be revealed and all humanity together will see it. I have spoken!'

"Erin, God has spoken this to you."

Me: "Uriel, I am scared!"

Uriel: "Erin, your sorrow will soon be turned to joy. Do not worry. The man of lawlessness has called upon his army. They have removed liberty while the nation hid in their dwellings. There will soon be an uprising against the author of lies and his army. Those who you once thought were favored by God will not be as they are not God's. You will be hated and despised.

"Remember that it is written that God will shake the nations and they will come with their treasures and God will fill the house with His Glory! The silver is His and the Gold is His, declares God. The Latter Glory of His House will be greater than the former, declares the Lord, and, in this place, He will provide peace.

“Now, your worry comes because you have heard and He has told you these things, yet you have only seen glimmers. However, there is a reason. If you, as the Bride, knows nothing of your Groom and loves not the One Who seeks you, then what is love, what is the love of God? What is the love God speaks of?

“Those who love God with their whole hearts have found a hidden treasure more valuable than silver, gold or the wealth of a thousand kings. What you have written on the tablet of your heart is more precious than rubies. Erin, you have no idea what God has done here.

“What you have done as a vessel, allowing God to flow through you as Living Water on these pages, has refreshed the thirsty and quenched the parched hearts of the lost. You will soon understand all of this. Remember the parable of the vineyard owner who built a watchtower then leased it to tenant farmers and went away.

“Well, understand this what the Lord has declared. You are like a watchtower in a new vineyard. You are like a capstone representing the Kingdom of Heaven. You too have been rejected by the builders. Well, God is at the doorway, the archway, and He is the Cornerstone, the Capstone! You are like these stones, but now anyone falling on you or coming against you will be crushed, understand?”

Me: “I think so.”

Uriel: “Very well. I must go, Erin. Take heart. Rejoice, for the rising of the sun has come. See, there is the light of dawn!”

He turned and was gone in an instant.

Erin's husband's dream – First two minutes of Transformation

Received on Saturday, May 16, 2020

My husband had a vivid dream that he shared with the Nest Forum. The following is what was written by him to the forum...

Dear Nest family,

I woke up at 5:45am on Saturday, May 16, 2020 and was disappointed that we had not been Transformed. As I laid there, I prayed to the Lord to do this soon. He then gave me a dream so real, I thought it was actually happening. This is one of the most vivid dreams I have ever had. Even though it was short, about two minutes or so long, this is how it went. I am sure there was more to this dream, but this is all I could recall...

I was in a sound sleep when I heard a noise that rustled me from my sleep. I was about to open my eyes when this amazing feeling of an electric rush starting moving from my toes to my head and back again. This seemed to happen about three times – three slow sweeps in all. This felt so healing that I really did not want it to stop. I really can't adequately describe this as it has no earthly equivalent to me.

When the third sweep finally stopped, I could now feel a strength I have never had before. I took a deep breath and even this felt limitless. When I opened my eyes, I looked down at my stomach. My stomach no longer had any fat on it! The rest of my body was the same. While I am trying to lose 'a few' pounds right now, it is going exceedingly slow. To have this weight gone in an instant was amazing.

Now for the really good part...

When I sat up to tell Erin what had happened, I could see that she had already been up and dancing around in joy. She must have known not to wake me up while I was being Transformed, but it seemed as if she had been transformed about 5 minutes before I had been. When she saw that I was now awake and had been transformed, she stopped dancing and leaned over and put her elbows on the bed.

Erin: Huge smiles! "It happened! It finally happened!"

I was too choked up to speak. I shook my head in amazement. It was as if the Lord took Erin's inner beauty and somehow made her exterior match her inner beauty. Quite simply, I have never seen any woman on Earth look so flawless and pure. She also had a sparkle in her eyes that defies description. Many say that a smile brightens a day...well, her smile enveloped me in a blanket of warmth and happiness.

Erin: In an excited voice. "I don't feel any pain! My pain is gone!"

There was something else that then happened that is even harder to describe. There was a joy in my heart that exceeded any joy I have ever had. There was also an energy inside of me that seemed boundless. I no longer had fear of what was coming, just great excitement. I now knew what it means for us to be His servants and strengthened for such a time. As I pondered all of this, Erin raised her head and looked into my eyes!

Erin: Smiling. "Let's wake up the kids. It's time for us to get to work."

When I woke up, I was in shock that it was just a dream. It felt so absolutely real, as real as any reality I have experienced. However, what happened next was odd. My disappointment in not being changed had changed into an excitement and patience for what is soon to come.

As great as I thought the Transformation would be like, just these first two minutes alone far exceeded what I had imagined. In other words, precious Nest Sparrows, let us stay focused and keep running the good race. God's timing on this will be perfect as He has never made a mistake. As for whatever we think we are waiting for, I now see that this will be even better than we can imagine!

Oh yes...here is Erin's corresponding dream from Dream 313:

Uriel: "Now, you will soon be changed and in an instant. This change will come upon you as a thief in the night. You will be in a dream and you will think that 'this is only a dream'. However, when you awake from this 'dream', you will soon notice your ability to breathe has become greater. You will then notice that you feel alive and strong again. As you will be amazed by this, it will then take some adjustment for you to fully comprehend it. However, when you then begin to move around, you will notice that your pain has been completely removed. You will then get up and dance. While there is even more to this, I must go now."

Dream 411 – Our journey is about to change for the good

Received on Sunday, May 24, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You! I am thankful for the sun and the spring blossoms on the trees. We receive the seasons of spring and fall late and both are too short. We had a blizzard three weeks ago, but have had it quite hot the last few days. It seems as if there is no 'in between' seasons anymore. It seems to go from one extreme to another.

I must give You a 'state of my being' status report. I am not doing well. As a manager ...well, really, a 'mom'-ager... I work to maintain a working, functioning home dedicated to You, Father. My job is to make sure the needs of my husband and children are met so that we have a harmonious living situation. There are a lot of different relationships when there are seven people in one house. My husband pointed out that there are 21 separate relationships for a family of seven compared to 6 for a family of four.

My older son is not doing well. His state of being affects me. This, in turn, affects others. Last week, I had to deal with medical doctors and tests related to him. He was quite sick and anxious this morning. He was cold and clammy and his oxygen levels were low. I prayed for him and this calmed him down. He was soon back asleep. Still, I kept checking on him to make sure he was okay.

While we have not been hit with the plague here, we have been plagued with other problems. A few days ago, I awoke to the voice of an angel. I was half in a dream and half coming out of slumber.

Angel: "Count for yourselves three months until the next wave. We are in an epic battle. Secure your gates. Batten down the hatches and wait for this to pass."

I was then fully awake. I sat up and just cried. I am in a frozen state of being. My Tuesday was horrible. Since I had to deal with a crisis, dealing with medical issues right now is difficult. I also have to remain as a normal functioning mom for the others at home. While I have been trying to keep myself joyful, I feel like I am failing at this at times. I am troubled by the way the entire landscape of the world has changed. This all happened in such a short period of time.

In the meantime, our home is under attack. However, I believe these attacks were really orchestrated by You to make us look after a problem we didn't even know existed. That problem was...extension cords! We had a short in one of them that made us reevaluate every extension cord we were using. While the new ones were in good shape, we ended up throwing out three potential fire hazards.

Oh Lord, thank You, as this could have potentially been a horrible explosion. Still, something awesome did happen at about the same time. I was preparing dinner and somehow scraped off my middle knuckle. The skin was hanging there and there was a lot of blood. This was not a superficial cut. My husband needed to turn off the barbeque before he could tend to me, so I used a paper towel to curb the bleeding.

When he came back in, I took the paper towel off. It was still bleeding profusely. He prayed over my cut and asked for complete healing. While we have both prayed over cuts before, we have never seen the healing of a cut actually happen in person. After he prayed this, he went and started the barbeque up again. When he came back, I had a huge smile on my face.

I held out the knuckles on both of my hands and asked him to guess which hand had been the badly cut one. He shook his head in amazement and went in for a better look. To his surprise, he could not tell which one had been cut. The Lord had healed it completely. Thank You, Lord, for this visible healing as we needed it to put some joy back into our walk. We still talk about this in amazement, so thank You.

It was a nice distraction from all of the things we are not allowed to do right now. I miss prayer services. I miss general freedoms, such as going to a restaurant or a hair salon. Still, I thank You, Father, for Jesus, our Kinsman Redeemer, our Physician and our Lawyer. In Your Courts, Father, only truth is spoken. The accuser cannot lie there. His tactics do not work there as he is not allowed to muddy the 'living water'.

So much is unfair here in comparison. When doing a search on the Land of the Dragon, nothing but positive things pop up. In contrast, when doing a search on President Trump, nothing but negative things pop up. Well, thank You for Twitter as this seems to be the only thing speaking truth about him right now. I no longer listen to reporters who are biased against him. They ramp me up unnecessarily, then disturbing my sleep.

Father, my heart is breaking for the world right now. Everything has changed. You are so complex and I am so simple. I am not able to change my circumstances. All I can do is the best I can do for my family and for those around us. Please, Father, consider healing us, your children, soon. I had a vivid and disturbing dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "Running up God's Mountain" begins...

I was being hunted like a dog in the middle of the night. I was barefoot. Instead of stopping to stand, I ran up the Mountain before me. I knew You were there with me. I knew they could not find me on Your Mountain. While they eventually stopped searching for me, I kept running and running. My feet were now bloodied.

Sub-dream 1 over...

I woke up suddenly from this dream and was unsettled. A song then started to go through my head. It was the song 'Freedom is here' by Hillsong. I fell back asleep and immediately went into another vivid and disturbing dream...

Sub-dream 2 "The Biker Gang is Destroyed" begins...

I was worried about a biker gang that had recently organized not that far from where we live. I was then instantly taken to the middle of the living room in their clubhouse. While I was really worried at first, I soon realized that they could not see me. As I listened, it soon became apparent that they were plotting against all of their neighbors. While they had a list of valuables in our area, what I saw next was much more disturbing.

They had a type of chart outlining all of the children in the area. Each one of them had an estimated price for if they were to be sold. I became even more upset when I saw that both of our daughters were on that list. For those homes with dogs, they discussed poisoning them first before making their move. With the dogs removed, they could then take the children by force.

Once they had the children, they would move them to a distant harbor city. This would be to distant places with large scale shipyards. They were going to wait for a stormy night to strike each home. This is a common tactic by thieves and thugs as the sounds of the storm cover up the sounds of their movements. This is actually quite clever and so very diabolical of the enemy.

I was suddenly moved to the front yard of their clubhouse. In between me and their house were all of their motorcycles. I prayed to the Lord and begged Him to eliminate this horrible evil. Just as I finished praying and said 'Amen', the home collapsed into a heap. God then sent lightning to set it on fire. Not one person survived.

I then turned to walk along the main road. I saw some things that were greatly disturbing. I saw ranch after ranch and all their horses and cattle were pale like parchment, like a pale yellow. They did not look right. The land seemed unproductive, as if nothing was operational. It seemed as if the animals were left to starve and die. I continued walking and saw Psalm 27 written in paint on the side of an old barn.

I then saw three graves with crosses there, along with a hole not filled in. The hole had the body of the man who buried his family. As I continued walking, I suddenly noticed that there was a Ziplock bag in my pocket. I pulled the bag out and looked at the contents. There were 24 relics, a silver skull and a gold skull. I looked at it and realized it was from the biker's 'now permanently closed' clubhouse.

Sub-dream 2 over...

What a troubling week. I am so tired and downcast. I need help with the meaning of these dreams. They are so disturbing. Oh Lord, please help!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was lying down under a beautiful tree. The tree was just beginning to bear fruit. I heard the sound of rushing water and decided to sit up to look. I recognized the area as the place where Jesus had been filling the Vessels. Tears of joy streamed down my cheeks. I went closer to the rushing water and was amazed to see thousands of perfect rainbow salmon.

Each of them looked different, yet all sparkled with silver and rainbow jewels. While the fish were swimming against the current, they were supernaturally strong and seemed to fly. They would then drop back into the raging waters and then jump back up again. While I feel sorry for their plight on Earth, I did not feel this way here in Heaven. I just knew in my heart that they would soon get Home successfully.

I then gasped in delight. Right there next to me and playing were a baby fox, a baby racoon and a baby beaver. I had seen them grouped together on the road not that long ago and they had been run over. I cried at the sight. Thank You, Lord, for showing me that they are already here and thriving. I could tell by their play that they were having the time of their lives.

Me: "Father, thank You for this! I love You!"

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned my head and it was Uriel. His horse was with him. He came and sat next to me.

Me: Laughing. "I don't think I have ever seen you sit down before."

Uriel: Smiling. "Not true. You have seen me sitting on my horse." He gently nudged me. "Now, I have a message for you from God, Erin."

Me: "I will see Him soon, right, Uriel? I hope that He is not mad at me."

Uriel: "Yes, you will see Him soon and, no, He is not mad. You are downcast. I have been sent many times with a Word from God concerning this. Erin, God did not choose you because you are perfect. It is in your imperfection in which God is made perfect. See these fish." He pointed towards the glittering salmon.

"Nothing stops them from what God has called for them. He has chosen you because you are like these. You live for God and His Kingdom, the Kingdom of Heaven. This is not an easy route. However, in doing so, you have discovered the heart of God.”

Me: “I love Him so much. This is why I have been so hurt. I am scared.”

Uriel: “Yes. This is why God has sent me. Let us look at these fish again. They have no fear of a struggle against the current here, but they continue this not knowing what will happen there on Earth. However, you have been called blessed...you, your children and your friends. All of those whom God has chosen for this time have hearts like these fish. Notice here that these fish can do so much more than on Earth.

“We are in an epic war in the heavens over you. There is an ongoing battle and it is severe. There are outages and problems against God’s people right now as the enemy tries to destroy even the faith of the elect. However, do not be discouraged at these things as, just as God has granted all you have, He will also take care of your needs no matter what happens. No matter what seems to be lost...stand!”

Me: “Thank you, Uriel, but I am still scared.”

Uriel: “Erin, God already knows this as He is aware of all things. It is difficult to feel joyful when there are bad reports. It is also difficult when truth is hidden. There is a ruler that is furious. His pride is larger than the borders of his territory. When all seems back to normal or close to normal, another plague will be coming. This will not be the same plague and people will be very discouraged.

“Nations will be in an uproar. The world will be unprepared for this. However, God is always prepared. Your dreams of landscapes with pale animals mean that disease and death are coming. This will hit all regions. The one leader will rise up and declare himself savior, complete with a supposed cure.

“Now, about your dream last night. The 24 relics were made of unpolished stone and represent the elders over the tribes of this generation and the generations before. The polished skulls of silver and gold mean the pursuit of these will lead to death. God has weighed and measured the Earth and it is wanting. The scales of justice are not balanced. What is coming is both great and terrible.”

Me: "But, Uriel, God has not had the Great Harvest yet nor has He..."

Uriel: Interrupting me. "Do not worry, Erin, for God has a Great Plan. He will not be mocked. The Earth is His and all within it. The world and those who dwell there are His. He has founded it upon the seas and established it upon the rivers. Who shall ascend the Hill of God? Who shall stand in His Holy Place?"

"Erin, it is he or she who has clean hands and a pure heart. It is he or she who does not lift his or her soul to what is false. It is he or she who does not swear deceitfully. It is these who will receive the blessings of the Lord and righteousness from the God of all salvation. Such is these who seek Him, these who seek the face of the God of Jacob."

Me: "I recognize this! Uriel, this is from Psalm 24!"

Uriel: "Then study this, Erin, for it is good. I am here to give this Word from God..."

"Stay encouraged. Though you swim upstream against the current, remain in My Truth. Erin, I have established you. I have cared for you and I have led you through the wilderness. It has been a long journey. I know that you feel I have abandoned you. You are questioning My Words of Truth because you are removed from places of worship at My Altar."

"The enemy cannot control Me. The enemy cannot control My Voice of the Holy Spirit in you. This is My Voice. Your attacks have increased. Pray and stand against this for I am with you. I am about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told. Stay in My Words, Erin. Do not veer off of this."

"Stay encouraged. If you experience a random attack...as you have...it is because of the battles above you. You, your family and your friends will not be harmed. My recompense is with Me. I will bring you a double portion of anything you have lost in return."

Me: "Thank You, Lord! Oh Uriel, please tell God how much I love Him!"

Uriel: Smiling. "He already knows this. He is with you. I must go. Take courage, Erin. Be strong and take courage. He has your children. He has your sons. He will not let the enemy continue. His Vessels are now ready." He smiled. "Erin, your journey is about to change for the good."

He mounted his horse and smiled at me. He then turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 412 – Our preparations will include extraordinary training

Received on Tuesday, May 26, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for Your love. Thank You for sustaining us. Thank You for my family. Thank You for our Nest friends! Thank You for these dreams. The dream I had last night was incredibly clear. What is unusual is that the Lord wants me to start writing this dream down immediately. This is so unusual, I already feel that this will be a dream that will really stand out. Well, here it goes...

Massive dream about our preparations begins...

There were eight of us at a Base Camp at the foot of a massive Mountain. The Base Camp was in an area consisting of red dirt. Even though it seemed to be a high-desert type region, there were very few trees. The Base Camp consisted of a structure that was similar to a salt-box type dwelling with wood walls and a metal roof. While it seemed warm outside, inside the dwelling itself was cool.

Due to the warm weather outside, we were all dressed accordingly in lighter clothing. The Base Camp had an Instructor. He was training us to climb this massive Mountain. The Mountain was where we would see God. The preparations began on the evening of a certain Friday. Instructions were then completed in eight days plus a final day. In other words, this went from Friday evening to the evening of the second Sunday.

We would go a bit further in our training each day. We were all younger in health and strength. It seemed as if all of us were very new to this, so we were all at the same level or skillset. On the first full day, we prayed and offered up all that we had brought with us. Some brought more than others in preparation for what they thought was next. Our Instructor was not of our Earth, but was in human form.

Our Instructor was clearly an angel in God's Army. In our group, we had five young men and three young women. Our Instructor had us place all that we had brought with us to the center of the room. We had all brought items we were certain we would need for the journey. We all brought items for climbing the massive Mountain before us.

We had backpacks with matts, canteens, food, flashlights and other practical items. Some of the things I saw others bring brought a smile to my face. I then wondered why I hadn't thought of bringing that. The pile was now about seven feet long and about five feet high for the eight of us. The Instructor seemed happy with us.

Instructor: "Congratulations on your preparedness and thoughtfulness.

Please close your eyes now." We did as instructed. "Father, please remove anything contrary to what You would require of Your recruits." Even though our eyes were closed, we all saw a flash of light. "Okay, you may now open your eyes."

When we opened our eyes, the pile of our stuff was completely gone. It had vanished. We looked at each other in bewilderment. The Instructor smiled at our reaction.

Instructor: "God has spoken. You are to take nothing on the journey up on His Mountain. Your loads to carry will be light. I will take you further each day and then we will return here to rest. You are to follow my instructions. God has appointed me to your group."

I looked around the base of the Mountain and was in shock at what I saw. Around this mountain, there were thousands of training camps, each consisting of eight people plus two heavenly instructors. Someone in our group of eight looked worried about not having enough provision and the angel Instructor became very serious.

Instructor: "Do not worry! What you bring with you is all that you will need."

Our Instructor was not someone anyone would want to go against. Take the top 100 military leaders of all time and combine them into one and you would still not match this leader. His face was chiseled. Though he had strong features, his eyes were green and so kind. His skin was medium olive in tone and his hair was dark and shoulder length. His structure was rock solid in muscular strength. There was zero fat on him.

He also stood over us by at least two or three feet in height. When he smiled, his teeth were perfect. While an earthly instructor could have treated us as if we were foolish over all the stuff we had brought, he was kind about it instead. Perhaps I would have been too as we were way off-base on what supplies God would require of us for the climb. He didn't mock us or belittle us at all. He had clearly been expertly trained by God Himself to train us and have compassion on our lack.

On the first full day, our Instructor took us through the red dirt. He taught us about removing our fear of the things we see in front of us. He told us that these fears would all come to nothing. We then came against threats common to the desert terrain. These included scorpions, snakes, spiders and other poisonous things. He taught us about strength over fear.

He taught us why God had created these things on Earth which seemed to do no good. The angel taught us that God allowed us to be afraid in order to understand fear and to then ask for the tools to stand against these. These things are to be either crushed and removed or handled for God's purposes under Heaven. He showed us how to pick them up and handle them without threat of what they could do to us.

These were definitely not something I would have ever imagined us doing. This was our first day of training. We then returned to Base Camp. There was an amazing meal waiting for us, as well as music. There was a type of television screen there in which we could see the other thousands gathered at the base of God's Mountain.

We all dined and worshipped God together. When it was time to sleep, the most amazing beds were already prepared for us. We fell asleep under what must have been the metal roof now turned into glass. I say this because we could now see billions of stars in the Heavens. We could see it with such clarity that we were all amazed.

The next morning, the angel woke us up to pray, worship and have breakfast. It was now the next full day of training. I was so excited that I blurted out a question for our angel Instructor.

Me: "Are these Base Camps closer? We are going closer and closer to the Mountain of God, yet there doesn't seem..."

Instructor: Smiling as he interrupted. "We will always return during training to our Base Camp. Don't worry as this will become much easier, yet more difficult, as we go. This will all become clearer each day."

None of us really fully understood what he was talking about. We somehow knew that we soon would. While the next several days of training were packed with awesome lessons, I was only allowed by God to only recall a few items. Some of things we were taught that I could recall included the following:

- How to stand against a lion and a bear
- How to control anger, giving it over to God
- How to wait for God and His instruction even when we saw injustices in various forms, not doing it as we see it, but waiting for His plan and timing
- How to wait for His instructions like the angels in Heaven, in God's Army, does
- How to stand against torturous things and then, later on, how to allow God to wield us as weapons against the enemy
- How to give comfort and words of life to those who needed to hear them
- How to die to our 'self' completely

The training was interesting because I noticed that some things were very easy for some of us and more difficult for others. The main purpose of all of this instruction was to yield to God and His Will completely. What was particularly interesting was that those who were more skilled and educated in a worldly sense were more difficult for the angel to train than for those who were less skilled and educated.

As I said, the days all seemed to be 'jumbled', on purpose though, except I had more recollection about the training we received on the Thursday than the other days. We were training against extreme conditions, different environmental storms. We were also to be instructed on the use of these for God's purposes under His instructions.

To our surprise, one of the things we were taught to do was call down snow from His storehouses in Heaven. This was not just a bit of snow lightly falling either, it was a full-blown blizzard. I looked down at my feet and started to snicker as I was wearing inappropriate footwear. I was wearing bright yellow canvas boots with heels and a white rubber sole. The Instructor smiled at me as I raised my hand to ask a question.

Me: "How can I do anything in a blizzard with these on?"

Everyone started laughing with me on this question as each of us seemed to be wearing impractical footwear.

Instructor: "Good question. Sometimes you appear completely out of place for the conditions, yet you are not as far as God is concerned. You will blend in at times and stand out in others. God will not give you something you are unable to function, whether this is a storm, wind, rain, a chaotic scene or even a battle with the enemy. No matter what you wear or your abilities or what you think are inabilities, God will use all of this for His purposes."

Me: "Thanks for explaining this to us!"

Instructor: Laughing. "You will not be easily forgotten when appearing before a crowd to stand against them while calling down snow from Heaven. You will also not be forgotten when you are able to crush rocks with your hands. No matter what the circumstances, God will equip you."

Me: "What about when we are in foreign lands or talking with some with a foreign tongue?"

Instructor: "The timing of your question is perfect. By tomorrow morning, you will know all of the languages of man. Each one here will know the language of the land no matter where you are called. You will also understand all technologies. You will be able to know the thoughts of the wicked. However, you will also be instructed on how to turn off these thoughts as led by God so that you will be able to rest properly. You will only understand or have understanding as revealed by God."

Me: "Are we unique at all or are we all the same?"

Instructor: "You have only to look around you to see that you are not clones. You are a unique handprint from God Himself and each one of you will also have specialties. Some will be called for different assignments.

However, in all things, all will know that you are a child of God and special for His purposes."

At this point, one of our members had to leave, but just for the rest of this day. He waved to us and then was gone. The Instructor waved back and then continued.

Instructor: "There will be nothing able to come against you with any success. You will be a great frustration to the enemy. You will be a banner of God's hope to those who seek Him and those God has called. You will see and experience many difficult things. You will work six days and rest on the seventh day. On this day of rest, God will whisper to you mysteries and you will dream of things to come in the next week.

"You will heal and display awesome deeds. Never has there been a time and times like these on Earth and never will there be again. Now, take courage. You are here because you are zealous for God. You have an aversion to evil and repulsion against the wicked schemes of man. When you are present, lying tongues will confess to their deeds and their vile plans will be on full display for all to see.

"You will be both hated and revered as all will confess that you are part of God's Army. Although the enemy will create an illusion of grandeur as he has some knowledge or memory of Heaven, he will do nothing but accuse God day and night in his attempt to elevate himself above God in Heaven. Unfortunately for him, he will instead be exposed by God's Remnant.

"Though he will desperately want to, he will be unable to come against you. He will often somewhat shelter in place as a result in the hopes that you will think him no threat, like a sleeping tiger. However, this too will be unsuccessful as God knows all things. There will continue to be an epic war in the Heavens. While we battle the enemy, the dragon and his princes, you will be able to witness these battles and see what areas are strongholds of the enemy.

"God will strategically send you to the providences in these strongholds. You will then heal the sick and bind up the broken. You will then give Living Water to those who thirst. You will then give comfort to those who mourn. Now, we have much to do. It is time to harness the wind and call down hail. You will even..." He stopped and smiled. "...well, you will see! Let's go!"

While more was taught on just this day, the only Thursday, it was like this every day. Each of us had the supernatural ability to learn more than we could ever learn on our own. This was not exhausting, but instead energized us to greater heights. We were not exhausted after facing our fears, standing against them and even crushing these strongholds.

If anything, we were more alive, more strengthened and stronger in God's Armor. Under His Holy Care and His angels, we were perfectly led. We could breathe easily. We were strong. We had no pain. We could scale walls and leap over the Base Camp's building. We could jump extremely high. We could mount a horse running in a full sprint. We could clear paths in forests.

We could cause a wellspring of water to come from a rock. We could have anything called to us in need. We could even have food multiplied in order to feed those who needed it. It was all God! God did so many incredible deeds through us! He did so many different miracles through us that I don't have enough pages to write everything down. All I can say is this...

"God loves His people. He loves an upright heart, not perfect, but a desire, a longing, something contrary to anything that would do harm. A heart which always runs to evil is not able to sprout a root of love. A heart which always desires love and peace and has a root which longs for God and the Kingdom of Heaven is what God looks for in His people, the elect, in which He has called His.

"We are His Wine, a New Wine, a Special Reserve of God. This New Wine will be poured and contained in fresh wineskins, strong ones reserved for the purposes of God. Father, we have been refined in the fire of affliction. We have been trodden and crushed by the world and our enemies. We have experienced injustice, iniquity and deceit, all weapons the enemy, the blacksmith, has wielded against each of us.

"However, during our tests, trials and afflictions, You have called us to love You through them. We love You, Father. Our hearts are our living sacrifices to You for Your purposes. Who is like You, Father? There is none! Who is like Jesus? There is none like Our Beloved. So, Father, I pray for Your Will to be done on Earth as it is in Heaven, for I long for the Mountain of God. I long...we long...for the King of Glory! Look, He is at our Gates!"

Dream 413 – Even the enemy was expecting Pentecost

Received on Sunday, May 31, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family and our friends. Thank You for our Nest, which now has officially reached our 500th member. This is a miracle, Father. I had an amazing dream last night. In this dream, my mom was still alive. I had no memory of her ever dying. She was different...no longer critical, but supportive instead. She acted like the mother I had always prayed to have.

Sub-dream 1 "Shopping with mom, skiing like a pro" begins...

My bedroom was the same as in my last home that we had as a family together prior to my mom selling it and marrying again. This home was really small, so the bedroom I had was also very small. My bedroom was probably eight feet by eight feet in size. My mattress was on box springs on the floor. There was a tiny box for a nightstand. The lamp on it was made of black tin. I went to tell my mom that I didn't like this lamp.

Me: "This lamp base is so large that there is no room even for a glass of water. I want to shop for a mounted wall lamp so that I can have room for my glass of water and my Bible. I want to find the perfect lamp."

My mom: "Sure. Let's go."

The two places I knew of suddenly became a part of the Bay Area. More specifically, the East Bay Area near El Cerrito / Albany where I grew up. The first place we went to was a designer shop that I was familiar with. It was the San Francisco Design Center.

Me: "I am not sure that I want to go in."

My mom: "But what if the right one is in there?"

Me: "I am a bit embarrassed to admit this, but I don't want to go in because of their prices being higher than I can personally afford. I was in there with a wealthy client when she wanted a pair of table lamps. The price came out to $2,500 and that was with a discount. I would prefer to go to Lamps Plus instead."

My mom agreed and we walked a few doors down. We went into the store and I looked around. I found a beautiful wall mounted light with a swing arm. I was about to settle for it when I suddenly remembered that this particular lamp had to be professionally hardwired. I then dismissed it as a viable option.

Me: "I don't want to wait for installation. I am just going to find a normal plug in one."

I soon found one. While it wasn't perfect, I knew it would fulfill my needs. However, my mom noticed that I wasn't 100% positive about my choice of lamps.

My mom: "Erin, please don't settle because I am here. Get what you want. I can tell that this store does not have the lamp you truly want."

Me: Hugging her. "Thanks, mom!"

My mom: Looking at her wristwatch. "Oh no! Erin, you must go. You will be late for your skiing lesson."

As soon as she said it, I suddenly remembered I had a lesson booked. I hugged her again. While mom wasn't much of a hugger in real life, she was a great hugger in this dream. I then walked out to the sidewalk of a distant city and began to run up the hill. The area changed to another city. It seemed similar to the Mount Rose area near Lake Tahoe. Even though I was on foot, I could run so fast. When I arrived on the mountain, the ski instructor was waiting there for me.

Instructor: "Erin, you barely made it!"

Me: "I know. Sorry about that."

Instructor: "Are you ready?"

Me: "I think so."

Instructor: "I am going to show you how to ski on slippery snow slopes, dodging around rocks and boulders."

Me: "I am not an advanced skier. In fact, I really don't ski."

Instructor: "Well, you are an advanced skier now. Just follow my lead."

I looked at the course and it was extremely steep. Dangerously so. And icy! There were so many boulders and rocks. I had trouble believing that this could even be skied by the best of skiers. I was about to voice my concerns about the conditions when the instructor surged forward.

Instructor: "Come on, Erin, follow me!"

I decided to go for it. I was so good at skiing and it was so natural, I was in shock. I was really good and I mean really good. I had no fear of failure. Not only was I dodging the boulders and rocks with ease, I was even doing flips over them. As long as I followed my instructor, I knew nothing would happen to me. It was so much fun!

Sub-dream 1 over...

I then had another dream immediately after...

Sub-dream 2 "A woman has an amazing change of heart" begins...

I was in a busy open market place with my family. While we each had gone in different directions, I supernaturally knew approximately where they were at all times. They were able to do the same with me. I was once again looking for a lamp. This time it was in a modern gallery. When I picked up a lamp I liked, I was quickly approached by an Asian saleswoman. I could tell that she did not like me.

Woman: "Please put that lamp down. It will not work for you."

Me: "What do you mean? Look!"

I clicked the lamp on even though it was not plugged in. I prayed to the Lord and He had me 'will' the lightbulb on. It shined brightly. Once the woman realized that the cord was not in the electric outlet, she jumped backwards in terror.

Me: "See, the lamp works perfectly. I love it. Here is $120."

Woman: "For you today...$1,200."

Me: "But the tag says $120."

Woman: "Just as I thought...you cannot afford it. Sorry."

Me: "Okay, fine."

Without doing anything, the $120 in my hand multiplied to $1,200. Instead of six $20 bills, I now had twelve $100 bills.

Woman: "Sorry, it is still not for sale."

Me: "That is fine. The quality was not there for me anyway."

I turned and walked out of the store. The minute my foot passed the threshold of the store, the entire inventory fell off of the ceiling, walls and surfaces. God had just ensured that she would not be doing any business for quite a while. It was as if a powerful earthquake had just struck that one spot. The woman began to curse me in her native tongue.

What was amazing was that I could understand every word she was saying. God told me that her name was Min Choo and that He would speak to her through me. I held up my hand to have her stop talking and she immediately stopped her cursing. Her eyes opened wide in shock as her lips were now completely sealed.

Me: "Listen carefully to the following words. God will now be speaking to you through me..."

"Min Choo, why do you curse Me and those I send to help you. Turn from your gods and come back to me. No longer should you have a bitter heart. Recognize Me as the God of all Creation and serve Me. You have been found by Me. I am here. Now, apologize to My servant Erin. Once you have apologized, I will work through her to restore all that has just been lost."

Min Choo dropped to her knees and started to weep. In her weeping, I could hear her apologizing to God. She then looked up and apologized to me. I walked over to her and touched her shoulder. A vision was then downloaded of why she was so bitter. I prayed over her as she wept and blessed her in Jesus' Name.

Then, with just one wave of my arm, the Lord, through me and operating in me, restored her store with better products than before. The former broken lights were completely removed and replaced. When she opened her eyes, she screamed with joy.

Min Choo: "Thank You, Jesus! Thank You, Erin! Please allow me to give you any lamp you desire for free."

I was about to protest when the Lord talked to me.

Voice of the Lord (in my head): "For you to take a lamp from her will be healing for her. She longs to offer something up to you for her rude behavior. This will make her heart glad and bring her joy. You are to accept her offering, hug her and bless her business."

Once I did as the Lord instructed, Min Choo's heart was healed and her joy completed. The vision showed me why she was so bitter. Her parents desired her to be a boy and inflicted great pain upon her for not being born male. While there was more to her pain, this was the main thing that had crushed her. As I left her store, I saw that people were now starting to line up to get in to see all of her merchandise. I was so happy for her.

As I walked down the street with a smile, I soon came to an open-air dance studio. There was no one there. There was a mirror, along with a beautiful Maplewood floor and a ballet bar. I walked up to the ballet bar and started to stretch. I was strong and lean again.

Without looking in the mirror, I began doing several intricate dance moves. I was performing them all with ease and in complete perfection. I laughed with joy when I realized I was not out of breath despite the great movements these dance moves required. I could not do most of these moves even when I was in my best shape.

Me: Praying. "Thank You, Jesus!"

I then began to search for my husband. Thanks to our enhanced Heavenly instincts, I almost immediately found him. He was in an Apple Store. Many people had gathered around him and he was showing them things his own Apple iPad could do. It was capable of things impossible for man to understand. He must have sensed me as he soon looked up and immediately noticed me.

My husband: Addressing the crowd. "Hey, it has been fun, but my wife is here and I must go."

They were disappointed and called out for him to come back. He continued to walk out of the store. As he drew near to me, he reached for my hand. We laughed and smiled as we walked and talked together.

Me: "You will not believe this. I can dance. I have no pain. I have no limitations. It is a miracle."

My husband: Hugging me. "That is so awesome! What a Lord we serve!"

Me: "You got that right. So, what were you up to in the Apple Store?"

My husband: "Erin, God has shown me an entire technological advance which cannot be replicated. I will need to go to leaders with others and help them."

Me: "Wow! When?"

My husband: "Right away. This will create a time of peace and reform as God brings in the Harvest of Souls. We need to find the kids. God has shown me great mysteries. God has shown me evidence which needs to be uncovered as proof."

Me: "I don't think God has given me this gift. Why do you have this and not me?"

I should stress that I was not jealous of my husband for this, but completely happy for him. I just wanted to understand the distribution of gifts better.

My husband: "Well, you have this too. However, He is sending you to do something different. While we will be together at times, we will be apart at other times. However, whether we are together or apart, you are not to worry, okay?"

Me: "Okay."

My husband: "Oh Erin, I am just so incredibly excited. God is so good and not just a little either. He is brilliant. He is so much smarter than any of us can comprehend. He is capable of so much, more than we can even imagine. He truly is the God of the Impossible. We have barely scratched the surface of what He is capable of!"

We walked together to find and gather our kids. This did not take long. When we talked with them further, we found out that each one of them had their own specific discoveries and gifts that they did not know they had until now. They showed off some of their skills and then asked me to show them one of mine. I decided to show them some of my dance moves. They were all amazed.

Sub-dream 2 over...

So, Father, today is Pentecost! I was hoping today would be the day of our Transformation. I look over the damage over the USA and I am in shock. All the once beautiful cities are now decimated. I am so sad. Why? Father, You raise up leaders and You allow them to be removed. You have shown me some things.

This is the rise of the tactics of the enemy at war with Your people. Race wars. However, Father, this is all based on unbalanced scales of Justice. A few years back, I had purchased a justice statue. It was an antique. I was able to get this for just a couple of dollars because she was missing her scales completely.

Father, You said to me at least three times in the last ten days that three storms are coming and that one is already here. I was not fully understanding what kind of storm as You are a mystery. I know this much though. You appointed our President to cause trouble for those who enjoyed unchecked power over the people. The very first thing people did was then call him a racist for doing so.

I grew up in a very liberal region of the USA. Even back then, rents and mortgages were high and disproportionate to wages. Why? When liberals were in control, why were we all taxed so much that our family could not live on one wage. Both of my parents had to work. There were food shortages and mass unemployment. There was a diminishing middle class.

I remember great anger in the people. There were protests in Berkeley against the police. Riots broke out when my mom went to school there. However, most of it was peaceful...anti-war, anti-Vietnam, war protesting. However, as a child back then, what do I remember? I remember that both sides were heard. I remember that speech was a protected right. There was freedom to speak.

I remember that my parents had political discussions with people they didn't agree with. However, things remained amicable and friendships lasted through this. One thing was clear though. Something had happened and the envelope continued to be pushed further and further. Then welfare became available. We stood in line for hours for Velveeta Cheese, brown beans, rice and cereal. It was horrible.

We could not survive. The system broke. The solution for leaders were to keep many of us poor and ineffective, with no hope, and blame it on others. They did this even though the problem were the politicians to begin with. What happened in Minneapolis is disgusting. It was so horrific that prison time is warranted. Still, we must also keep in mind that all of this was designed to fuel the flames of hatred against each other.

Make no mistake, there are huge agendas unfolding as we speak. All of it is designed to keep us in check and to have the New World Order keep control. What happened to the Corona Virus? Was it forgotten? Where did it go? Were the riots started because the Corona Virus was not doing enough to crush America?

The destruction of these cities is no longer about the original incident. This is a war tactic meant to divide and undo all of the progress the President has made. This was meant to focus our attention on the country's stain in history – slavery and oppression. This is meant to fuel hatred towards the police. Without the police, there would be complete anarchy. Trust me...no one wants anarchy!

The USA has a system of checks and balances to try to keep the powerful from overpowering the weak. When this system is chipped away, the strong rise up and the weak diminish. This is happening now and the scales of justice is now on the evil person's side. This is why we are being raised up! Oh Father, please call us up soon! Please strengthen and heal us so that we can be great servants in Your Army!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again on the banks of the raging river. I was watching these beautiful Heavenly salmon swimming upstream. What a struggle for them on Earth, but not here in Heaven! On Earth, we struggle almost every day. To not have at least some struggle in a day is almost unheard of.

While I know that the Lord allows this to make us stronger, I am still 'not a big fan' of our blacksmiths. Oh Father, please protect Your people. There is no division in Your Sheep. There is only division between the Sheep and the Goats. Please build up Your Sheep. Please help us.

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and it was Uriel in full armor. His horse was with him. He sat beside me.

Uriel: "Erin, there is an epic war in the Heavens right now. It has been a difficult battle. I come to remind you that the battle is God's battle. It is not your battle. This has continued for many moons and is showing no signs of an end. I am bringing a message to you from God...

"Erin, the enemy is fighting against My Army of Heavenly angels. The enemy remains in the same pattern as his tactics are nothing new under Heaven. The voices of My people have been silenced. Their voices of worship and prayers in My Church has been silenced. Just as I have brought the great floods and the fires, I will now fan the flames. The time of lawlessness has come. Great fear will grip the nations.

"Monuments and cities will fall like dominoes. I will shake the foundations of the proud and the arrogant, exposing their wicked schemes. I alone own the land. The wealth is Mine. The cattle are Mine. The harvesting fields are Mine. Woe to those who blaspheme My Name, removing My churches and the voices within. I am God and there is no one above Me. Erin, the plots of the wicked are far greater than what you see. The truth is hidden in what you often do not see.

"This is because much is edited by removal, erased from view. This very morning, people of all races joined together to clean up what the evil tore down in the riots last night. Is this talked about by the media? No. This is because it does not further the evil one's agenda. You have only to ask questions and I will reveal to you truth. Do not believe the voice of one calling in the wilderness...'God is here...come' or 'I just saw him over there'. Do not believe it.

"Now, I have created each of you for My purposes. Continue to prepare your households. Repent of anything contrary to things of Heaven. Do this quickly as I am near, even standing at the door. Erin, do not be afraid. I have a plan in place that will bring in a Great Harvest, a harvest like the world has never seen. Stand firm. Make no long-term plans for yourself in the physical at this moment for all is about to change.

"The enemy has tried to take you out this week as you are greatly hated. The enemy understands that a Great Move of Heaven on Earth is about to unfold. They have been working on a counterfeit movement that will attempt to mimic what I am sending. However, the enemy's plans will be unable to match My plans. You are not to worry though as nothing will come against you.

"I see the injustice of the land. I do not turn a blind eye to it. I met George at his end and took him Home. He was raised up for this. I am God in and over all things. Justice is Mine, understand? Now, why have I allowed all of this? It is because of the evil hands of the wicked against the innocent. Rejoice, Erin. When you were told all of this would be coming, did you think you would not really see it?"

Me: "Of course not. I had just hoped that we would have been strengthened by now."

Uriel: Continuing to speak for God. "You are Mine, Erin. I will take care of you and your children. I will take care of your friends and their children. Soon, nothing will come against you again. Peace and revival will sweep the nations. Now, rejoice, as God is with you. I love you."

Me: "Uriel, thank you for giving me this wonderful message from God!"

Uriel: "Erin, God could have stopped the plans of the wicked. The wicked wants the nation to fall so that it can gain a stronghold. You are correct in your assessments. The financial backing and organization of the riots, as well as their timing, had been put into place as a 'nuclear option'.

They wanted to do this now so as to overlap the plague. This would make it so all people would be viewing this from their electronic devices.

"This was a well-planned attack. If the public knew what the leaders said about the people in private, all would be furious. Your neighbor is not your enemy. This is an illusion created by evil leaders. We are in a Great War in the Heavens. As we strike down members of this vast army of demons, they enter those with great rage with full permission of the host. This is why you are seeing such great chaos.

"However, this just appears as chaos. Understand this...it is structured and well regimented. It is not random mayhem or unplanned circumstances. There is a 'ground game'. You cannot see it as the coverage is sporadic. Just as the mass immigrations from the south were planned, so too was the plague's origination planned and strategically spread. The enemy knows that God is about to do something in your days you would not believe even if you were told."

Me: "When, Uriel? Pentecost was perfect! So many good dates come and go."

Uriel: "Erin, do you not think for a moment that the enemy also expected something to occur on Pentecost? Well, he sent fire and other diversions just in case it had been. Look at what is happening in Israel right now while the world is watching the USA on fire (Jordan is becoming more aggressive). The enemy is at war in the Heavens and on Earth because he knows that, when this Great Move of God sweeps across the land, you and those God has called will no longer be moved by the enemy's schemes.

"Not only that, but you will expose the enemy's schemes. He will be exposed and many will see it and turn to be saved. His hands will be tied. His greatest weakness is continuing to underestimate the power of God. Now, rejoice, for a great time of change is soon to come. You will be in this and swept up in its currents." He smiled. "I must go now, Erin. Do not worry as God has sent angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways." He mounted his horse, smiled and waved. He was gone in an instant.

Dream 414 – The enemy is trying to distract God’s people

Received on Sunday, June 7, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day with my family and friends! There was an epic storm here two days ago. My husband and I were driving right in the middle of it. Lightning struck several trees right behind us. When we drove back home, a massive tree had fallen across the road. It seemed that everywhere we looked, once beautiful oak trees had been downed. Many of these trees had weathered many extreme storms.

When we got home, we were so thankful to find that all of our trees had remained standing. The last storm had cost us some money as there was a precariously balanced fallen tree threatening the house that needed to be removed. This could have been very bad had it struck the house.

Father, I am struggling. While I was struggling even more before, prayers from the Nest has really helped. My whole Spirit, heart and body are grieving for the people being victimized right now. There are things I have witnessed that I cannot 'un-see'! Now there is a call to remove all law enforcement. What? Father, surely You are about to do something soon because this is utter madness.

If we could just rewind time back to just six months ago. It seemed so normal in comparison. It is so confusing and horrible. The news is now designed to be a propaganda machine. The demons have rained down. The demons have entered those with anger and hate in their hearts. I have no words to describe what has happened. Since it makes no sense in the natural, then it must be supernatural.

Reports are being scrubbed. I watched a video of a group of protesters proclaim that they were going to branch out into the suburbs so that they can attack us in our living rooms. When I went to show my husband, the report had already been scrubbed. We are instead shown whole groups of people kneeling and praising allegiance to another group, apologizing for being what God had created them.

God did not create this hate, but He did create us. It is like blaming all Jewish people for the death of Jesus and making them pay for it with their lives continually for 2000 years now. Oh wait...this actually happened and is still happening. It is wrong. It is all wrong. Everyone matters to God. Every life matters to God.

Based on the media, people are supposed to apologize for where we were born, our education, our hard work, the fruits of our labor and the very things we cannot change. This is pure evil. To demand this is pure evil and is not of God. I had no life of privilege. Many of you know my story. Any door which opened for me was presented and opened by God when I was finally ready to knock on it.

Things were not easy for me. God allowed me to go down a long hallway of hell before I returned to the doorway God presented. I am deeply disturbed by what I am witnessing on the news. All of it is planned confusion. God has sent the Bull, President Trump, as our leader. The enemy is doing everything possible to fight God even if it means sacrificing people of color and those who seek peace of all skin color to do so.

Despite one week of rage, protests, fires and destruction in almost all cities in the USA, the financial heartbeat of America shows a financial market that is strong and rising. The pandemic severity was a lie meant to create fear and control over people to take down the Bull, President Trump. This was a planned attack for right when the country was scheduled to open back up on June 1st.

'Race Wars' are now being amplified and fanned by the media. People are scared. There is an increase in gun sales. The militia is rising, especially in the back-country areas. Some of these militia are racist. Some of the protestors are just as racist. There are racists of every color. This is truth from the beginning of time. Until God intervenes, this is our truth.

So, what would society look like if all police were removed? Well, if you poked a large Grizzly Bear with a stick while she was protecting her cub, that would about do it. Just see what happens next! I once ran into a tactical survivalist and it was quite eye opening. They are preparing for a mass exodus from the cities into their protected land. They are arming and storing goods for a long-term battle to fight for their property.

So, Father, what is next? My dream last night was very real and quite frightening.

Sub-dream 1 "Satan tries to tempt me to dive" begins...

I was almost a thousand feet up on a mountain ridge. Satan was standing to the left of me. I did not look at him directly. When he spoke to me, he was always doing so in an extremely mocking tone.

Satan: "Child of God, soon to be Bride of His Son and chosen of God, look at those two pools below."

I looked down to the area he was pointing at. There were two pools on the side of the mountain we were on. There was a half moon shaped infinity pool that poured into a surrounding crescent shaped spill way pool. The pools were illuminated and surrounded by jagged rocks. The ocean was below this and was very dark. I never looked at him, I only looked at the pools.

Satan: "Show me your great skills and dive into the refreshing pools. This is but a small feat for you as a Child of the Living God."

Me: Still looking below. "No." I shrugged my shoulders.

Satan: "What do you mean... 'no'? No one says 'no'. Oh, it must be because this is too difficult for you. It must be because you are too scared."

Me: "No, I am not. I just don't want to. So, 'no!'"

Satan: Becoming enraged. "This is so simple. Come on. Be the change! Show me what you've got."

Me: "No, I don't need to. This is boring me now."

Satan: Now fully enraged. "Don't you have a witty retort or wise parable to share? You are the Bride...supposedly."

Me: "No, I don't need to. There is no need for me to engage. There is no need for me to get wet. There is no need for me to teach in parables. No means no...thus sayeth the Lord, in Jesus' Mighty Name!"

Satan shook his head in anger as he threw a small rock at the pools below. When the small rock hit the infinity pool, there was a huge explosion.

Me: "These pools were not meant to refresh me."

Just as I finished my sentence, he disappeared.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Sub-dream 2 "Even a Massive Tree will not harm us" begins...

I was walking on a small path in a forest with many trees. While I was walking, a massive tree fell towards my head. I could hear laughing in the background. They had obviously set this up as a trap. Before the tree could hit me, I reached up with my hand and effortlessly hurled it off to the side of the path. When they saw this, I heard them say, 'Oh no, run!' I saw several evil people running away from me. I then heard the Voice of God...

God: "You will be hated. The enemy will continuously try to kill you. However, nothing will harm you."

Me: "Thank You, Father."

Sub-dream 2 over...

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was up in the Garden of God in Heaven. I was along the beautiful raging river. It was roaring, foaming and extremely powerful. The beautiful fish were swimming against the powerful current. The fish were so beautiful and colorful like jewels. It was an amazing sight. There were thousands of them. As I sat and watched, I cried out to You. I prayed to You with all of my heart. My prayer...

When, Lord? When will You bring truth? When will You administer justice? I am grieving what is lost, what can never be again. I pray for the children of God. I pray for those who have lost so much. I pray for the people who have lost homes in landslides. It is unimaginable to watch your home fall into the sea and have all you own gone (Norway). To once have a beautiful city and thriving business to now have lost this.

We now live in fear of being robbed and thrown down to the ground. It is hard to live in a free country, yet not be free. We were once able to speak freely, yet now you must say nothing. It is horrible. Father, You are God over all things. You are our Creator and our Father. I weep and weep over this great loss as there is no turning back. Our world, a world that we once enjoyed, has now been destroyed.

Oh Father, nothings is the same...all because of hatred. Please, Father, give us a fighting chance. As I am now, there is nothing that I can do. A handful of evil people have taken down all people who stand for peace. Please send a great wind of revival. Father, You are our hope for the lost. I pray for all of this, in Jesus' Mighty Name.

I cried on the side of the raging river. I felt a hand on my shoulder. I looked up and it was Uriel. He was in full armor. His horse was with him. He sat next to me.

Me: Weeping. "Uriel, I am so glad to see you."

Uriel: "Erin, God has sent me to tell you to not be afraid. There is a great war in the Heavens above you. As was told to you, many of God's people are able to see events occurring without a veil of evil. Many of those that have been called by God are able to see truth from deception. From your perspective, it is a difficult thing to understand.

"Because of the closing of God's houses of worship, the power of corporate prayer has weakened and is replaced by fear. A large army of thousands of demons have entered those with hate. They have become emboldened to do great harm to anyone standing in their way. As you have witnessed, the airways and networks are veiling truth from the people. As a result, many people are staying in their homes from fear.

"The veil has gone over the eyes of many who believe they are fighting for good when they instead are instruments of the enemy. This is a fight against the prince of lawlessness and the purveyor of lies. This was a great distraction in order to cause mass removal of truth and those who stand for it. You have been warned to be mindful and wise concerning what your eyes see, your ears hear and your tongue speaks.

“There are twelve spirits of the tribes of Israel who God is holding back until the proper time. The prince of lawlessness knows the times. He is at work to create chaos and distractions among the nations. If possible, he would bring this to all of the nations. Out of fear, many leaders have given themselves over to the king of perdition. As a result, they then spread a narrative of great lies. They work together with leaders who hold no borders in order to filter information.”

Me: “Uriel, this feels like Nazi Communism. Their tactics seem like Marxism to me.”

Uriel: “Understand this...the prince and leader of lawlessness had all things in place for the Great Annihilation of God’s people and the Jews. The elderly, the children, the weak, the infirm and anyone not deemed of good stature were to be removed. Those who remained were to be enslaved and reprogrammed with the ‘proper information’. Those who rebelled would be removed.”

Me: “Uriel, this is millions and millions of people.”

Uriel: “Yes, but at every turn, God and His Army, the Army of the Lord, has stopped their plans and exposed their wicked schemes. They have created a great upheaval. The enemy is fearful as God’s Army is greater in number. This is why they are using media and information, as well as those who are not called of God to Heaven. You have seen the manifestation of evil on their faces and the acts of all wickedness from hearts of stone.

“The enemy anticipated the nation of Israel would be born, so he began a plan to destroy the Jewish people. Look at the pattern. It is similar today. Because the demons no longer reside in Heaven, they do not have divine inspiration from God. However, they have the same patterns of evil in strategy. Despite all of this opposition, God still made Israel a nation again.”

Me: “Why did God allow Hitler to kill so many?”

Uriel: “This is a mystery and a question for God, Erin. Please know this...God sent the Lord to witness to them at the end...and even in the furnace. Many more are in Heaven than are not. God has the Final Word and the Lord has the keys over death. Do not focus on this as God is merciful and just. The wicked does not prevail. Look at what the enemy did. He fought Israel.

"He hates Israel, the nation, as well as Jerusalem, God's Holy City. He has tried to destroy all things reserved for God...His land and His people. He tried to take back Jerusalem as well. However, God prevails. Now here again is the same situation. This nation under God was indivisible...with liberty and justice for all. The enemy has once again used an entire race to destroy them in pursuit of God's chosen people.

"This leader of the nation, the bull, was sent to equalize the landscape. He was sent to stir it up and expose the plans of the enemy. Even those who stand on his political side has conspired against all things good. Erin, God is with him and those who stand for truth. Those who are opposed seem like many, but this is a lie. Many more are for him and are silent. There are many who are paid to look as if they are defecting.

"This includes those in uniform and those sworn to stand with God and country. Some are part of a great plan to overthrow the nation, remove the bull and hunt down his supporters. There is a plan to seize property and place those who support him into prisons and camps. There is also a plan in place to put people of color back into slavery...to work the land."

Me: "How would this even be possible?"

Uriel: "Erin, it is possible. However, you are not to worry. Evil can plan, but God's plans are much greater. I am here to send a word of hope to you from God..."

"I love you, Erin. I am with you. Do not worry that you have missed My recompense. You have not. I gave you and your children and your household and your friends and their children a priestly blessing. You did not miss your blessing!"

Me: "Thank You, Father! Thank you for relaying this message to me, Uriel!"

Uriel: "In the beginning, the word was given to Jacob about his children. Before they passed from here to eternity, they prophesied about the end and what is to come. Many others have also. However, many scrolls and scripts have been removed. God allowed this so that those He has given knowledge to will know truth. You have been shown what is to come and you are scared. However, you are not to be afraid. Take courage. You have seen the first wave of troubles. There is a second. God has a plan, Erin."

Me: "Uriel, how do we prepare for the second wave?"

Uriel: "Go to God, Erin, as He is with you. You need to speak to Him more. His Voice can be heard by you. Soon, very soon, you will be as one and nothing will be impossible for you. Remember also to pray. Oh yes, one other thing...the areas the bull has been attacking are territories of the prince and the king of perdition. The dragon is also attacking."

Me: "Who are they?"

Uriel: "What you cannot see is this...there is a red and black dragon. One represents a nation and the other represents lies and blasphemies against God. There are ten heads which represent nations and leaders with no land, yet are very powerful. Then there is a battle against the great spider and her young. This is in the realm of communications. There are orders or regional principalities that are like strongmen.

"These strongmen have reptilian features. They also have many offspring. They rise to cause distractions and then swarm in and attack. You cannot see all of this from your position. However, you have seen these enemies during your time on the path to the ladder from your early visits.

"There is a vast army and they are currently active around you. God has called up angels to surround you and to guard you in all that you do. They are unable to harm you. There are days when a small attack might come, but it will come to nothing. The enemy is trying to hunt down God's elect and destroy you, if possible."

Me: "I am so thankful that the Lord is protecting us!"

Uriel: "There is more good news. God's Vessels are ready now. The time of testing has closed. What is left is the Great Move of God. This is coming soon! The enemy is furious. He is battering the land as much as he can in anticipation of God's Great Move. Erin, I must go. Please remain encouraged. God is with you. The enemy is unable to harm you."

Me: "Thank you, Uriel! Please stay safe!"

Uriel: "There are many more of us than there are of them. Do not worry!"

He mounted his horse, smiled and waved. He was gone in an instant.

Dream 415 – Three rats feast on the bald eagle

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family and friends. Thank You for a safe home. Thank You for all You have done.

Father, my daughter is now officially a graduate. She has been sad though. She knows that she will never see some of her classmates again. It just ended on Friday. While she was given special honors and the school sent lawn signs for encouragement, that was it. She had no prom. She had no excitement in the build up to the prom. Her friends will now disperse due to graduating. This is the way and always has been.

All the years I had spent hoping to have just a few normal moments for my daughter like I once had just never happened. In comparison, I went to four proms, four homecoming dances, two military formals and a Sadie Hawkins dance. I also had campouts and class retreats. There were trips and adventures. As for my daughter...nothing.

I don't want to complain as complaining does nothing. I am trying my best to remain positive. However, truth be told, I am not doing well. I am sad these days. My dreams are usually not uplifting these days. It turns out that my glimpses of what I thought was post-Rapture are actually happening right now. The riots and the looting are already here! While not exposed to this, it seems that we are all under attack right now.

I am weeping deep in my Spirit. My heart hurts with great travailing. I wake up and I can't go back to sleep. It seems as if all news is bad news now. There is seemingly no good news. The enemy has swept the land and is using people and leaders to decimate it. When I watch mainstream news, I can hear Your Voice audibly saying 'This is untrue', 'This is an omission of facts' and so on.

Father, it now seems that China is shutting meat markets in Beijing again due to Corona Virus resurfacing. This happened just after flights resumed between China and the USA. I am so troubled at the state of the world. I know You are allowing all of this, but this is difficult and very troubling for us with eyes to see and ears to hear.

Then there is me! Forgive me, Father, but I am not conditioned to hold up to the troubles surrounding me right now. It is too much and I am breaking down. I can barely stay up on the things I need to do daily. I have letters to write and emails to send. However, I am in bad shape now and this is so hard. I am grieving and so tired. It feels as if I am hiding in a cave.

It is not that I am afraid, it is that I am consumed with sorrow. The joy of the Lord is my strength. On my own, I am very weak and I have no strength. Lord, did You choose correctly when You chose me? I know You don't make mistakes, so I know I was the right choice, but it is just so hard for me to see it. While I should be encouraging right now, all I see is so much trouble coming upon the nations. I then struggle even more. My dream last night...

Sub-dream 1 "Three rats feast on the bald eagle" begins...

I was in a dark alley after a downpour. I could smell decay. I could see something moving under some cardboard debris. I removed the cardboard and, to my horror, I saw a massive bald eagle with a mortal wound. It was alive still and I tried to comfort it. Both of his wings were broken. I rolled him over and found out that there were three rats devouring him. This sight was hidden from above. All they did was in secret.

Alarmed at my presence, the rats quickly moved off to a distance. I could now see that the eagle's chest cavity was open. The heart was beating, but very lightly. It was not enough. I started to cry. After a few minutes, his heart stopped completely. My crying now turned into weeping. The eagle was dead. I looked up at the three rats and could tell they wanted me to leave so they could again feast on the carcass.

I suddenly became extremely angry and started to chase the rats. I chased them to a seawall in a harbor. It seemed as if I now had them cornered. I was wrong. The first rat ran up a narrow stairway to a massive field. It had supernatural speed. The second rat ran up a bundle of network cables and disappeared. The third rat scoffed at me as it hopped to safety on a passing barge.

I thought that was the end of it. I then decided to go back and check on the dead bald eagle. When I arrived, I was shocked to find out that all three rats had made it back before I did. The three rats had returned to devour the carcass.

Sub-dream 1 over...

Father, help! I am struggling. I need Your help because life in my waking hours has been troubling. What do I do? I have no abilities. I have no 'extra' anything. I need to be strengthened in order to take a stand.

Father, please strengthen me. Help me focus on lovely things. I need Your help. My heart is grieving the loss of life as we once knew it just six months ago. Father, I love You!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was in a beautiful fragrant garden. This garden had the most beautiful peonies that I had ever seen in my life. Each blossom was about eighteen to twenty inches in diameter. There were so many different types. There was also a small stone bench and a beautiful fountain springing in a plume from a stone. I cried as I sat there.

Me: "Father, thank You for taking me here. These are my daughter's favorite flowers."

The blossoms were strong and had ethereal translucent-like pedals. They were stunning. As I was taking in their beautiful fragrance, I heard something new. While it seemed like music from some instrument, I was unable to see where it was coming from. I looked up and there was a massive group, or charm, of hummingbirds. They looked more like jewels than the ones on Earth and were making amazing music.

It took my breath away. There were such vibrant colors to behold. The songs their wings created were so beautiful. Just when I thought it couldn't get any better, God sent a massive group, or kaleidoscope, of glass winged butterflies. Every color in the light spectrum shined out from their wings. This was incredibly beautiful.

Me: "I praise You and You alone! I apologize for my attitude. I thank You for all that we have. I thank You for my husband and children. I thank You for my daughter and that her love for You is so contagious. I just hurt for her and for what she missed in terms of a normal graduation and prom."

I felt a tap on my shoulder. I turned around and there was Uriel. He was in full armor. His horse was standing next to him.

Uriel: "God has sent me to give you encouragement. He also has the meaning of the dream you just wrote down. Erin, do not grow weary in doing good. God is with you."

"Now, the nations are in an uproar. The bull has angered the one who calls himself supreme sovereign leader above all. The bull has shamed him by exposing his plans. The three rats have devoured the belly of the country. This has divided it into two by separating its breast. Meanwhile, they have been feeding and devouring it alive from within. The cardboard covering the eagle represents shipping goods.

"The cardboard was hiding the eagle from the eyes of the world. As long as the world focused on the wealth of a few representing the eagle, they could not see what was underneath it all at the ground level. The wings of the eagle are broken. This great nation is not free as its wings are broken and it cannot fly. The 'sovereign' wicked leader controls and has fortified his strength in the following three areas...

"The first area is in the communication, information and media sector. They have sent out lies and false stories through various channels. False wars have been advertised in order to create many divisions. They created this divide after first sending the plague. They controlled the way the plague was handled.

"They were hoping to take down all of North America by locking down the financial markets. When the financial markets were at their lowest, they then bought stock in these companies at a bargain price. Since they control the news and other media, they are able to control the narrative and fuel fear.

"The second area is fortifying their secret control of major shipping harbors. They have done this across the globe, but especially Israel. By controlling the ports of entry to the nations, they can then control all goods, commodities and oil. This is happening because the nations are distracted by the plague, the bull and now the racial divide. This has all been created by leaders in the Land of the Dragon.

"Finally, the third area is the ground war. Since they have been unable to take down the bull, they have created a new wave of plague, one that supposedly comes from a meat market selling salmon. This is false. This is meant to spread great fear of a second wave to the world, but especially for the USA. The media will convince them to stay in, contradicting the bull's statements that the nation would never lockdown again."

Me: "Why is this happening?"

Uriel: "Because one leader wants control of the world. His prize jewel is the USA. His plan is to rule the world with an iron fist. He has paid many leaders a great amount of money in exchange for them betraying the USA. He has also promised them a future of safety and freedom. However, the bull is a direct threat to this leader's 'American Dream' that is really a nightmare. He has a great plan in place. Erin, the war has already begun. It is not hard to see."

Me: "What is the second wave? Will people die?"

Uriel: "What you see is not real. However, if the bull begins to find favor with the people again, this man will then unleash something else. His goal is to keep people locked in their homes and then control the media to anger people against themselves. This leader is manipulating the people so that neighbor is against neighbor, brother is against brother and so on. They will then begin a ground war initiative."

Me: "Uriel, please send help!"

Uriel: "These are the plans of the wicked, not of God's, understand? The plan in place by the leader of the Land of the Dragon is to destroy the USA before the 11th month (November). They will strive to create so much fear that no one will support the bull. They have a plan to overthrow the election while the nations watch in horror. In the meantime, there is another waiting and watching. While he rules no country right now, he will rise from the ashes and will declare himself god."

Me: "This is awful. I am scared, Uriel."

Uriel: "Do not be, Erin. God is God over all and He will not be mocked. He has a plan. He knows the desires of your heart and He is with you. He is at the door."

Me: "Will He have mercy on us, heal us, provide for us and shelter us?"

Uriel: "He will. However, you are not to know the details yet. Those God has called are His. Those who see the schemes of the enemy understand what he is planning. There is nothing for you to do right now other than pray. Understand that the issues facing the nation are an illusion. There are truths being hidden from the people. Look only to the fruits of those who lead and you will see that someone else is controlling them.

"To those who ask for wisdom from Heavenly Courts, God will give this. You will then see the truth clearly. If He reveals truth, but you choose to ignore it because it is not what you had hoped, then God will not call you. When the twelve spies went into the promised land, they each gave different accounts of what they observed.

"Ten spies focused on the size of the giants and failed to report good news. The other two spies came bearing beautiful fruit and the blessing. In the end, the ten were destroyed and only the two entered. Erin, focus on God and His Kingdom. Do not listen to the wicked and their information as it is a lie. The time is here. Rejoice, Erin, for God is with you. I must go now."

He mounted his horse, turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 416 – Three Planter Boxes, Three Years of Planting

Received on Sunday, June 21, 2020

The following was dictated to me (Erin's husband) by Erin. In other words, this is as if Erin was speaking and typing the following...

Happy Father's Day to all of the fathers out there! Also, and most importantly, Happy Father's Day to our Father and Creator.

I woke up last night at approximately 2:30am. I then heard the Lord say to me...

Voice of the Lord: "You are My Sentinels. You will be My Watchmen. You will soon sound the alarm. When you do, nothing will be strong enough to come against you as you will all be supernaturally strengthened."

I soon fell asleep again. When I did, I then had a dream of three raised garden beds. These beds were huge...about ten feet by fifteen feet and standing about a foot and a half tall. I was being instructed by an angel of the Lord.

Angel: "Erin, you are not to plant in two of the three garden beds yet. However, you are to plant in the first garden bed now."

I somehow knew what I was to do. I started planting in rows. I had a large cup filled with seeds. While I was not sure what kind of seeds they were, I felt it didn't matter as this was to be more symbolic. I then noticed that the seeds were already beginning to sprout. As a result, I knew I had to get them into the ground right away. After I planted them, the angel of the Lord talked to me again...

Angel: "You are to watch these. God will send water in due season, as well as light. This will be for the first year."

Me: "What about those?" I was pointing at the other two planters as I said this.

Angel: "You are to wait on the other two. However, this one here is already ready for now."

While I was confused at first, the Lord downloaded knowledge to me...

- The planter representing the first year would be easy. This is because what is in the planter is already ready to go.
- The second planter was not to be ready until the second year. This bed looked quite dry. This second year's harvest would be more difficult than the first year's harvest.
- The third planter was not to be ready until the third year. This bed looked even drier than the second planter. I knew it would be quite difficult to get anything to grow here. The third year's harvest would be, by far, the most difficult of the three.

I then felt called to stress the importance of Proverbs 6:16-19. This reads as follows...

16 There are six things that the Lord hates, seven that are an abomination to him: 17 haughty eyes, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, 18 a heart that devises wicked plans, feet that make haste to run to evil, 19 a false witness who breathes out lies, and one who sows discord among brothers.

In other words, people are already doing what the Lord hates and detests. The evil fruits of the spirit are spreading rapidly. This is why God is sending us, His Holy Army. This is a countermeasure. We are not to fear. God has great plans for us. This message is meant to be a strong reminder that God loves each of you and is preparing you for takeoff.

By the way, the reason I am dictating this to my husband is because the enemy keeps zapping the air conditioner in my devotional room. This only affects me and my daughter. While God could counteract this easily, I suspect He is allowing this to occur as a physical reminder that what He says is happening in the heavens is actually happening (that is, the battles over us).

I should also mention that this involves a breaker switch, not the unit itself. While we have a few other portable air conditioners, none of these breakers have been affected at all. As I often remind myself, if it makes no sense in the natural, it must be supernatural!

Much love & blessings, Erin (& her husband...her administrative assistant...lol)

Dream 417 – The rebellion has now taken hold

Received on Monday, June 29, 2020

Communion
Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family and friends. Thank You for continued protection and love! Thank You for a safe shelter and the ability to keep our home cool when the heat has been breaking records. Psalm 45 has been replaying in my ears. I know this is from You. My heart is stirred by a noble theme as I recite my praises for the King. My tongue is like the pen of a ready scribe.

You are the most handsome of the sons of men and grace is poured upon Your lips. God has therefore blessed You forever. Gird Your sword on Your thigh, oh Mighty One, in Your splendor and majesty. In Your majesty, ride out victoriously for the cause of truth, meekness and righteousness. Let Your right hand teach You awesome deeds. Your arrows are sharp in the hearts of the King's enemies. The peoples fall under You.

Sub-dream 1 "A small perfect funnel cloud"

I was in a home that I did not recognize. From a room that looked like a small office, I looked outside and watched dark clouds gather. The clouds were dark brown and grey. They rumbled and began to rotate. I suddenly noticed that there was a hole in the center. A funnel was beginning to form.

It was small though, perhaps 12 feet in length. It was a perfect funnel. I was not worried though as I was just an observer and it was not threatening me. It soon shrank and then left as quickly as it had formed.

Sub-dream 1 over.

Sub-dream 2 "The surprise Golden Hour"

I was outside in the evening observing the stars on a blanket laid out on the hood of a pickup truck. I watched in amazement as a dark thundercloud, like a wave or a thick blanket, moved slowly towards me. It began to swallow up the stars. The cloud caused great atmospheric changes. I was expecting lightning to soon strike. Instead of lightning though, a great light, bright like the sun, formed there in the middle of the night.

The light was coming from where the stars once were. The clouds stopped moving. As I looked up, the sky was now half in darkness and half in light. It had the appearance of the 'Golden Hour'. The meadowlarks and songbirds were confused by this and began to sing as if it were the morning at dawn. Even though the light was coming from the wrong direction, it even fooled nature to believe it was now day.

Just as quickly as time had stopped, the storm then came. Even though it was a mighty looking storm, no rain fell. Instead, the night creatures began to stir again. The clouds then rolled back and the stars shined again.

Sub-dream 2 over.

I had only witnessed something like this on Earth once and this was just two weeks ago. The clouds created the illusion that it was a different time of day than what it actually was.

Father, please help us! I began a fast this morning. I will go as long as I am able. I am currently self-isolating after finally making a trip to Houlton for our mail. I had medical documents to retrieve. While where I went was not known to be infected, several people outside of this area had been. Had I gone just a week prior, I probably would not have felt a need to self-isolate.

Since then, I now rise early and perform chores. I do most of these before the house awakens. I disinfect everything and then go outside to the yard. My husband has had to do all the driving and grocery shopping. He is doing a wonderful job and does so without complaint. While this is difficult, I am obeying doctor's recommendations in order to keep my family safe. While at home, I find my heart grieving for the nations.

The world is in turmoil. I thank You for not having us live in an area of conflict. When my parent's friends came back from Vietnam, I could see a change in them. They had a disturbing look in their eyes. The occasional story I overheard was difficult to hear. My younger brother served three tours in the Middle East. He had amazing stories. He said it was difficult for those serving.

Even though they were there to help the people, it was dangerous for them when they left the base to go into the city. He said that they would be spit on and called 'White Devils'. How hard would it be to fight for others, defending and serving them, just to have them spit on you and call you names? Well, Jesus knows how hard it is. Oh Lord, how did You do this?

You came as God in human form. You had the ability to silence all who treated You poorly. Despite this, You afforded them their ability to persecute You. As a child, I was scared of words used as weapons by those

I thought were my friends. I found some of them on Facebook. It brought up so many memories and emotions. I recalled so many incidents. Even though we were very poor, I was still often the victim of stealing.

It was very difficult then seeing kids less impoverished than us wearing items they had just stolen from me. I tried reporting a girl who had stolen from me, but was jumped after school that day. I learned not to say anything again. The bitterness in my heart was turning to hatred. I was angry and hurt. I was scared. I longed for the ability to see the tables turned on them.

Thankfully, my mother moved us away from this area shortly after this. It was a gift. Leaving that area was a true gift. Still, the news these days has stirred up grief in my heart as it is so similar to the persecution I suffered. I have been mourning the loss of things we once knew and believed in. I just never thought I would see the USA fall so far and so fast. It has only been six months since the impeachment trials.

We are seeing greater freedoms and support for sins and sinful lifestyles. They are now silencing anyone who speaks out in opposition. We are seeing people denouncing their skin color to pander to other groups. We have been seeing the removal of our symbols of history. There is now a call to remove Jesus. They want to remove statues, crosses, stained glass and anything else Jesus.

Artworks and other religious artifacts are also subject to removal. Churches are being burned and defaced. At the same time though, not one mosque has been destroyed. No one is outraged about that religion, just ours. Regardless, the race wars in the USA have officially been amplified. Was this preplanned by the Muslim Brotherhood, the leaders of the Land of the Dragon or someone else? Does anyone truly know?

Father, I just know that the enemy is willing to destroy the nation to take down the bull and anyone who was part of the movement to build up our nation again. There are too many nations who hate the USA and Israel. This hatred has been made manifest. We are seeing this in the news and it engulfs whole cities. Father, You know all that is happening. Help us, God! Please, where is the justice?

Sub-dream 3 "Protective Services have now been Removed"

There were no police available to call anymore. If you wanted to protect your family, home or property, you now had to pay for protection. When money ran out, those you paid for protection would steal your goods and sell it to the highest bidder. I saw a very old stately suburb of Portland OR called Dunthorpe. I recognized several of the homes. Though very high end, it was not gated. I was able to witness this from an aerial view.

I watched as armed guards that were paid to protect one particular area near an exclusive private school were being approached by several men. These men had a vast amount of cash. The guards then went back to the homeowners...

Guard: "You will need to pay us more as we have now received a better offer. If you won't or can't, we will take the other offer. Once we do, the other guards and I will surrender your property to this group."

Woman: "But what about my little children?"

Guard: "I suggest you either abandon your properties now or pay at least what this group is offering in order to buy time."

There was anger, fear and great anguish. Only a couple of homes had the necessary cash to buy protection. The guards had a message for those without enough money...

Guard: "Take your families and put on some warm sweats, jackets and rugged shoes. Leave now before the ice storm hits."

Different woman: "But I am pregnant. Can we take our car?"

Guard: "It will be seized as it is a nice car. If any of you have a clunker, this would be a good time to drive that. Look, I don't want to take your money, but I will have no choice. Either way, since they believe that they are owed your properties, they will be taking them. They will kill us if we don't allow them to do this.

"They will also rape all of you. They will make you beg for your lives. They will then kill you, but not until after you have watched your children being brutalized. Take any arms you have and run towards the backwoods. Appear as one of them and you will live. If you try to do anything else, you will die."

The families quickly ran back to their homes and disguised themselves and their children as instructed. They gathered as much as they could and abandoned their homes. The guards stalled the crowd to give them more time. The guards then approached the crowd in order to collect their money in exchange for the neighborhood.

The guards were betrayed instead. They ended up in a gun battle and all of them lost their lives. The mob then occupied the now empty homes. They took all the valuables out and sold them by live auction to foreign dignitaries and the like. There were Birken purses, valuable art, paintings, furnishings and other items to further their cause.

Those who were wealthy were hunted like dogs. Photos from social media and from other means were used to place bounties. It was crazy. In the meantime, the wealthy gave the appearance of poverty to save their lives. Since they still had access to their finances and investments, they started to unite for revenge.

Sub-dream 3 over.

Sub-dream 4 "Wicked people become possessed"

I saw what looked like stars dropping from Heaven to the Earth. These were in the millions. When they dropped, they appeared in demonic forms and went into all those operating in wickedness. This included bitterness, anger, jealousy, hate and lies. When the demon occupied the human form, they were able to multiply lies. This then gave birth to evil. It was horrible. People were no longer rational. They had fully surrendered to the demonic realm.

Sub-dream 4 over.

I had trouble falling back asleep after this. Oh Father, the world has turned dark so quickly. It is disturbing. The enemy is creating fear through lies. We are watching people being taken over in real time. God, please help us! What is coming is not of You! Still, the times we are now living in have all been foretold in Your Word.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was near the door on the path in God's garden. It was beautiful there. There is always peace in Heaven. There is no fear, no lies, no illness and no death. There is no persecution, no prejudice and no slavery. I thought we would not be as we are for this time. It is horrible. Some of my dreams that were actually nightmares are now already becoming reality on Earth.

I sat down under a beautiful tree. I rested my head in my knees and wept. Several baby animals and other little ones came toward where I was sitting. I don't think they were used to seeing someone grieving in Heaven.

I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and there was Uriel. He was in full armor. He sat next to me.

Me: "Uriel, will God not see me anymore? Did I do something wrong?"

Uriel: "No, Erin. He is preparing to receive the multitudes. Heaven is also preparing for those who will soon come Home. This is the time of the Great Revolt against God. It has begun as this had to come first."

Me: "But I thought this happened later?"

Uriel: "Erin, there is a great war in the heavens. Truth is being exchanged for lies. Lies have overcome truth as man enjoys the new narrative of lies.

The enemy is controlling information. This is the opposite of truth. Anyone who turns from truth to believe and follow lies then fools himself. Even those who were called the elect of God, but never really were, will soon fall away.

“However, those who truly stand for truth and see what is occurring, the great deception manifesting, are truly the elect of God. As for those who bend or lean toward the rebellion, God will allow them to be tested. Erin, I know you have been in great mourning as the world you once came to know is now gone. Much of what you see now is just an illusion.

“As the ‘silent majority’ is not in agreement, they will become even more disheartened by false reports meant to disarm them. Did God not warn you to be careful about what your eyes see and your ears hear? Then too should you continue to bridle your tongue until God leads you to do otherwise. Soon those who love truth will be silenced.

“Erin, you have only to hear the plans of the wicked to know these times are upon you. The beginning of sorrows is here! Churches are about to be destroyed, falsely branded as places of hate. These houses of God will be burned and looted. Jesus will be hated for who He is. His Words of Truth will be burned and destroyed. Those who stand for the One True God and Israel will be hunted down.”

Me: “Uriel, this is horrible. All of this happened so fast. First it was the impeachment, then the Corona Virus and now the Rebellion.”

Uriel: “Yes. The demons came in advance to separate the wicked. They also came to separate the sheep from the goats.”

Me: “Who are all of these?”

Uriel: “You do not know? These people include the following...”

- Those who are easily deceived
- Those who enjoy the digestion of lies
- Those who enjoy destruction
- Those who hate based on the color of a man’s skin

“Many are marked by their color now. Your skin is a target in these times. People have become...”

- Lovers of themselves
- Lovers of money
- Boastful
- Proud
- Abusive
- Disobedient to their parents
- Ungrateful for all that they have been given
- Unholy
- Void of love
- Unforgiving of others
- Slanderous
- Without self-control
- Brutal

- Loathing all that is good
- Treacherous
- Emboldened

“Erin, you have seen all of these. All of these are now being accepted as good. Anyone opposed to these evil practices are considered hateful.

Anyone opposed to their false narrative are now to be beaten and killed, their families put on trial, their homes and businesses taken.”

Me: “Uriel, can’t we stand against them? What will happen to us? Please protect us.”

Uriel: “Erin, this has come because the enemy of God and man knows that the hour is late. He hates justice and mercy. He opposes truth. This is all the Gate...the Door...that will open a flood of enemies to attempt the removal of God’s elect. However, God has a Great Plan in place, a plan that is coming into greater focus even as the enemy hurries to remove all evidence of the Lord.

“Do not worry. Instead, take comfort at what you see. Take comfort as this is as has been written and foretold thousands of years in advance. The following are what you all are to continue to look for...

- Silence of the opposition, the silence of truth
- Label good as evil and evil as good
- Rise up and remove any governing bodies opposed to destruction and anarchy, including police and other officials
- Remove the voice of truth, filling the airways and media with false narratives and stories instead
- Publicly humiliate all who speak out, calling for their punishment in order to invoke fear and silence in them
- Send in false saviors to invoke peace
- Anti-Israel and Anti-Jesus crowds will rise up and remove all references to the God of the Bible, deeming Him and His Word as hateful
- Muslims will rise and become like a police force and will take whatever they want
- In order for you to obtain food and necessities, you will need to swear by false gods

Me: “Uriel, will God not rise up? He is stronger!”

Uriel: “You must stand and pray...for His Kingdom come, His Will be done, on Earth as it is in Heaven. Understand? Heaven will be visible.”

Me: “I am scared!”

Uriel: “Do not be, Erin. God is with you. There will be a great display of God’s power in you and in those with the following qualities...

- Those God has called

- Those who only kneel before God's Throne
- Those who remain blameless before God
- Those who do not serve other gods
- Those who do not fornicate with the sons of perdition
- Those who have remained in truth

"Now, do not worry, Erin, for He is with you. His Voice is in you. You will soon display awesome deeds. I must go now as we are battling many princes and their armies. The war continues. Pray and fast...for the Kingdom of Heaven is near."

Me: "Yes, I am now praying and fasting." I began to cry.

Uriel: "Do not cry, Erin. God is with you. He will take hold of your right hand. Beautiful is the princess in her chamber. Her gown is interwoven in gold. In her embroidered garments, she is led to the King. Her virgin companions follow her, those brought to be with her. Led in joy and gladness, they enter the palace of the King."

He smiled at me as he mounted his horse. He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 418 – The Red Dragon and the Black Dragon Unite

Received on Wednesday, July 1, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Oh God, please, please help us! My dreams are so painful now! So, so painful!

Sub-dream 1 “The Waves sweep across the USA”

I looked down at the USA as if from space. I could hear a drumroll. There was then a 30 second period where nothing moved. Then, suddenly and without warning, two massive waves came. The wave on the west coast was dark blue. The wave on the east coast was red like blood. I saw the waves mounting up and cresting beyond the shores as they swept blue from the west to the east and red from the east to the west.

These two waves then met at the center of the crest. They met with such force that the entire landscape was changed. When the water receded, I saw many dead bodies. Vultures were now gathering in massive numbers. Those who survived were in lofty positions, in places where they could not be touched. Just as the strategic initiatives had planned it to happen, all of the USA as we once knew it was now gone.

The invading armies then came and took hold of everything. The world looked on in horror. There was some resisting on both sides. Entire cities were fenced in and left for dead. All those inside their homes, businesses and apartments were left to fend for themselves. Thousands of people went to the surrounding fences. Once there, they had to choose between accepting ‘The New Initiative’ or death.

Many thousands were killed, even those who took up their cause. The weak, the old, the infirm, the religious and anyone considered unclean were killed. After many days, the fences were removed and the armies took over the cities. Everyone left there were killed, including BLM, Antifa, patriots, occupiers and right extremists. Anyone who was considered strong or rebellious were killed immediately.

After witnessing this ‘from the heavens’, I was then sent to travel to Santa Cruz CA with my husband. We were told that the best new hotel to stay at was called ‘The Deluge’. While it was called ‘The Deluge’ in English, the intention was to call it ‘The Deluxe’. However, because of the language barrier and no one opposing it, it was accidentally called 'The Deluge'. We found this amusing as 'deluge' means extreme flooding.

We were there to see a young family member who had just inherited millions from her dead relatives. She had been living in this hotel. When we arrived, we were greeted by the Asian manager. While her English was poor, my husband and I understood what she was saying to us. She began to spill out things we were certain she was not supposed to actually verbalize.

Manager: "You are entering 'The Occupied Zone'. You must follow these instructions. If you do not, things will not go well for you."

We nodded our heads in agreement. When we looked at the sheet, it consisted of 'Fengshui Principles'. The manager was very busy completely remodeling the hotel resort. She showed us the three floors allowed for us...the bottom three floors. In contrast, the top six floors had been designated for 'Occupiers Only'.

When we went to the room housing our family member, we were met by an Asian nurse and another attendant. The attendant had a briefcase. Both of them were just leaving. My husband and I supernaturally knew that this room was heavily bugged with filming equipment and other surveillance apparatus. We then immediately shut all of it down, again supernaturally. We truly would have been helpless without God's help.

As we walked around in the suite, we noticed the beautiful views of the ocean and the beach. I could also see high rises being built in the distance. Everything in the room was the same color of dark grey, but with a few exceptions. The exceptions were two lampshades, the sheets, the pillows and the ceiling. These were all white. While the grey made the room look depressing, it also made the outside landscape stand out.

The young family member we were visiting was lying in bed and was very sick. She appeared to have the flu. While she seemed somewhat glad to see us, we noticed that she was also not very cognitive due to her illness. She seemed upset by what she had been experiencing at this resort.

Young woman: "In order for me to be here, I had to sign over the estate to 'The Occupiers'. They told me that I had thirty days left of income and that I would then have to leave. I am fearful that I will not make it much past then. Since they have now figured out that I kept my money somewhere where they have no access, they are now coming to get my..."

She instantly fell asleep before finishing her sentence. We knew that she should have had millions of dollars from the estate, so we wondered just how much this hotel was charging her.

Me: "My stepdad's ashes are scattered over there at Steamer's Lane. There is no boardwalk. There are no surfers. Where did they go? I don't even recognize this as Santa Cruz anymore. Oh, I just remembered something...my aunt's home should be in a neighborhood directly behind the hotel."

We went to the window facing the east. To my surprise and horror, the neighborhood that once stood there was now completely gone.

Sub-dream 1 over.

Sub-dream 2 "Community leader tells people to prepare immediately"

I watched as several hundred people met with local community leaders in the parking lot of their community center. There were almost a thousand people gathered there. One of the community leaders then stood up in a car and looked over the crowd. There were people of all nationalities represented there. He spoke in a loud, stern voice...

Leader: "Your last chance, other than God, will be to protect for yourselves what God has given to each of you. You do not have long, so you must gather essentials. I do not care about your feelings of weapons to arm yourselves. As we know from reports, the occupiers are taking control over the cities. Your homes will now become your personal cities. To protect them, you must fortify your gates. You must prepare in order to protect your families.

"Your young men and women must not go into the cities. They must instead remain at home. Even if you believe you are safe, you are not. Do not believe it. God will instruct you. You have to pray for wisdom. We have set up a trading network. Anyone who has skills, please come forward. Those with skills can help those with little. Those with little abilities can trade shoes, clothing, medicine and other things to the others. Do not use your devices to communicate. Each device is a beacon for the enemy.

"Televisions operate satellites. Any cell phones, laptops, computers or gaming systems which uses applications or the internet will be an alarm. Any of you who still own landlines can still call others with landlines. However, these too will eventually be traced. If you phone a cellphone or other device that is traceable, you will then be found. Cars with no technology will continue to be safe, but just for a little longer."

Woman: "Wait! What about God? Can He not shield us?"

Leader: "Of course He can. However, He sent me to you all in order to relay wisdom."

Man: "But are we not just delaying the inevitable?"

Leader: "For now, all of our homes are too spread out for them to take full control. The occupiers will stick to main roads and cities. They will do this because they know all of you will eventually need food and supplies. If they control this, they then control all of you. I know this is difficult to understand. However, if you can hold out as long as possible, help will come. God will send help.

“Just remember that they hate us...all of us. They have taken everything from us. However, I will not give them my heart, my home, my Lord, my family, my land or my belongings. We will be killed the minute we surrender to them. Now, you must prepare. You must pray for God’s mercy!”
Sub-dream 2 over.

Father, it is so difficult to have dreams like this. They make me sick. I have prepared my heart for troubles my entire life. Literally all that I have accumulated throughout my lifetime has been like a giant hope chest. I have been storing and waiting for something game changing to happen for me. Everything done has been waiting and hoping for something.

Father, I am distraught. I spent my entire life waiting for something great. We are then hit by yet more distractions, but really more like devastations. My hopes and dreams have been crushed as I watch this slow-moving wreck happen. I have not received good news from doctors about my future physically either. I am who I am now. According to the doctors, this will not change. I will continue to decline.

Time slips away. It is fleeting. Hope kept my heart on the possibilities. Father, someone could look at me and say... ‘oh, she had so much promise, so much potential’. I feel like my car right now. It is in need of repairs. It has rusted exterior parts. Our kids will need a vehicle to drive and fixing this car seems to be our best option.

Still, even this car is a reflection of how I have been feeling lately... old, run down, dead battery, flat tires. However, the interior of the car is pristine and clean. I am not sure I can say the same about me... smiles. When searching for some stuff, I came upon three dreams I had once written down many, many years ago...

- The first dream was of our foundation and roof falling away. We then had no place we could go other than that we had to trust in You completely.
- The second dream was about my main enemy’s father appearing to me in a dream on the father’s birthday. This was so frightening.
- The third dream was where I was swimming in dark, black water while pulling a granite stone. I could not do it. I was not strong enough.

Father, I am distraught today. I am frightened for the future. I have prepared for something wonderful and these dreams of Earth are no longer fun. As such, I must instead focus on things of Heaven. I must focus on insuring that many do not become discouraged and fall away. Falling away right now would be so easy to do. Oh Father, please help us!

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was once again in God's Garden by the beautiful pond and fountains near God's door. The moment I saw this, I bent down with my hands over my eyes and began to weep.

Me: "My Father, Who art in Heaven, hallowed be Your Name, Your Kingdom come, Your Will be done, on Earth as it is in Heaven. I am so sorry, Father. I am sorry for complaining."

Just then, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I turned and it was Uriel. He was standing next to his horse.

Uriel: "Come, Erin, let us sit and speak. I have a Word of Knowledge from God."

We walked over to a beautiful tree and sat down in the grass.

Uriel: "While God has brought you through difficult times, He never let you fall. He protected you and your children while a battle raged over your heads. The enemy fought you as he knew you were to serve God in a greater capacity. The enemy first recognized this in you when he saw that you continued to pray for your enemies. You stayed on course and you were then blessed.

"He gave you victories even as the enemy continued his battles and raged against you. When you were finally hit with your final test, your final blow, and you passed, God knew that He had chosen correctly. Although you were broken, it was not the enemy that broke you. God then restored you and gave you your freedom, both you and your children, but in an unexpected way.

"However, in order to keep you focused on the things of eternal value, He allowed your injuries. Now, God does not allow such things on those He has called unless there is a greater reward. You don't understand what this is yet, but you soon will and you will stand in joy and amazement.

"Now you will ask... 'God, was there not a better and easier way?' Well, yes, of course He could have... but it would not have come with the same amazing rewards, both here on Earth as it is in Heaven. The things you have been shown are difficult. God understands this. You are seeing things that are difficult to convey right now. Now, let us review all that has happened.

"A plan was put into place to take America down. They would remove freedom and eventually would control and enslave. The old way was to have the same slow and steady decline, breaking the land apart, removing the value and eroding morality. The USA would eventually have been sold off to other countries.

"However, God stepped in and sent the bull. This bull has an untamed tongue and is like a prize fighter. However, a fighter is normally allowed a rest to renew his strength before the next match up. God's fighter has instead gone round after round after round with no celebrations of victory.

"God showed him what was occurring with the breaking apart of the lands. The enemy and enemies know he was God's elect because there can be no other explanation for his revelations and his resilience. His tongue is unbridled as it calls out the schemes of other countries. Because he is tough on them, the world has come to hate the bull and anyone who supports him.

"He was strengthened and so was the nation as he stood for God... 'one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.' Still, even though the nation is under God in many hearts, many have given themselves over to their adversaries. The land of the dragon (the 'Red Dragon') will rise from the sea and will have many heads. This means many leaders, some even without any borders.

"Many will see things in the Red Dragon that they like as these are filled with lies and deception. The Red Dragon has purchased land with the great wealth stolen from the work of laborers. More and more powers were given to the Red Dragon and, in turn, they showed gratitude to men of influence (internet / technology). However, the Red Dragon then turned on them and stole their intelligence to gain even more power.

"The Red Dragon then began to pay politicians to stand against the bull in order to make him look foolish. The Red Dragon then teamed up with the Black Dragon in order to begin race wars to further fear. The Black Dragon is the great promoter of fear. While the Red Dragon lies and spreads lies, the Black Dragon promises and blames others. While the Red Dragon desires order and control, the Black Dragon desires chaos. Chaos is the Black Dragon's delight."

Me: "But, Uriel, these two Dragons seem so opposite of each other."

Uriel: "Make no mistake... Neither likes each other. However, they believe they can destroy what God has done if they work together."

Me: "Uriel, is there anything we can do to stop this?"

Uriel: "Your life and trials have mimicked the troubles of this time. How many times did you see the plots of the enemy, but could do nothing alone to stop it aside from God?"

Me: "So many! When I look back and read through my old journals, I stand in shock at the pure evil sent against us. I was in shock and denial even as it was upon me. Even though I knew it was coming, it was always too late to do anything about it."

Uriel: "Well, Erin, you have been shown the plots of the enemy. You have seen all of this from the beginning. You see the lies. You see the closings of businesses. You see the rise of larger businesses. Soon there will be only a remnant.

"The Black Dragon views Israel as their jewel. He wants to destroy Christians and Jews, killing them, hunting them down and burning their homes to the ground. He wants to dominate, desecrate and destroy, all to bring their 'savior' here.

"The Red Dragon wants to rule all. It hates all nations unless they serve it. They seek to control the movement of all things, including technology, airways, internet, news, entertainment, medicine, money, wealth and religion. They want to do this by taking all of it. They have paid people to open doors and gates. The Red Dragon has much power and many heads. The Red Dragon views the USA as their jewel.

"Now, there is still yet another. However, his rise in power is suspended publicly for now. Still, while he will soon rise, he will do so by rising up with the Black Dragon.

"Remember that, if they are able to control all you consume with your eyes, ears and mouth, they will then rule. This happened when 'The Wolf' rose up against the Jewish people. He rode on a machine. This machine was information propaganda and he controlled the narrative. When the Lord rode into Jerusalem, His 'Machine' was the Word of God, all while He was riding on a donkey created by God.

"Now, what is occurring is the Red Dragon and the Black Dragon conspiring with technology, a powerful web made by a spider with eight legs and a stronghold. Demons came down to all those who were bitter, angry and had hate in their hearts. You are seeing the manifestation of lies and chaos. However, and more than this, you are seeing people in control blaspheming God and calling for an end to houses of worship."

Me: "It seems as if sports and other segments are now also controlled by the enemy."

Uriel: "You are witnessing things that are uncharacteristic of normal behaviors. These are the opposite of the fruits of the spirit. Now, the Red Dragon has stirred up unrest after first sending the plague. The unrest will be calmed a bit while they turn their attention to the November elections.

However, another wave has been created by the Red Dragon. This is to send illness and fear, along with the collapse of the financial markets."

Me: "Uriel, my stomach is sick from all of this. The USA is falling."

Uriel: "Do not be afraid, Erin. These are only the plans of the enemy. You are seeing a pattern in place. You are witnessing their verbal goals. However, do not worry."

Me: "Send in help now, Uriel. Please have God help us!"

Uriel: "He sees all things, Erin. He allowed this so the wicked would be on full display. You will know the plans the enemy is moving toward. However, this can be stopped."

Me: "Please, Uriel, tell God to help us."

Uriel: "Erin, this is the Great Falling Away... the tarries amongst the wheat! The field is prepared and the wheat is planted. The harvest will be a record harvest."

Me: "When?"

Uriel: "Prepare your house. Prepare your fields. Sow into the Kingdom of God and store up for yourselves treasures in Heaven."

Me: "Oh Heavenly Father, please protect us! God, please protect us!"

Uriel: "Do not worry. Do not be afraid. The Kingdom of Heaven is near... even at the door. He is there!"

He smiled at me as he mounted his horse. He turned and was gone in an instant.

Dream 419 – Erin cries out to Jesus for Mercy

Received on Friday, July 3, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

I am panicking today! Please help. I woke up with severe grieving in my heart. I am mourning something that I don't understand. Something triggered this. I smelled Bend OR and could even feel it. I missed it so much that it almost seemed illogical. I was grieving and mourning a loss...a painful one. Oh Father, please, please help me. What if I am here and I am like I am now forever? What if I am stuck in this situation forever?

I am not at peace today. I am panicking. I have been preparing for living for years, yet another season is passing us by again. I am trying to be happy, but I am afraid. I have fear. I need help to be content with our status. Right now, this is our reality unless You grant us the miracles You have promised us! I won't golf again. I am overweight. I am depressed at times and often in great pain. I am overwhelmed.

I have fully accepted that I am trapped and can do nothing on my own without You. All these things around me were a distraction to keep me busy while I personally was and am dying inside. What about our children? What if I have kept all of them waiting, waiting, waiting for Your big miracles to come. Father, You gave me promises, promises I have clung to with hope for all of these years.

I am in a jumbled phase of different stages of grief...all being here at once. I rotate back and forth and receive shocks to my system. I am great at crisis management... responding, calculating and adjusting quickly to damp down the severity of any crisis. I then remain set on future goals and dreams while waiting out the storm. I survey the aftermath with realization and tepid acceptance.

I have never truly moved out of 'Emergency Mode'. My being prepares for the worst and it is unhealthy. I live in great pain physically and in my heart. Father, I have loved You always. I have kept my heart always on You even when I was getting annihilated. I was desecrated. So, so many people took advantage of me that I prayed and believed that You would vindicate me one day.

Right now, I am left with myself and the reality of who I am and what I have become. I am sick. I need Your help. I am in crisis. I am numb. I am lost. Please come find me. I am fasting right now, so I know that I am more emotional than I usually am. Please forgive me, Father. I love You so much.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

Jesus was right there in front of me. He reached out to hug me. I cried as I wrote.

Jesus: "I am here. I am here. I have always been with you. I know that you are tired and weary. You are scared. I am here. I am with you. What can I do for you, Erin? What will make you smile and laugh?"

Me: "Lord, the contract with Your promises for us! These were to be on Earth as they are in Heaven. What if I have given our children hope where there really is no hope? What if You are a figment of my imagination?"

Jesus: "I am not, Erin. I am really here with you."

Me: "Lord, time is counting off...minutes to hours, hours to days, days to weeks, weeks to months, months to years. Lord, it has been 10.5 years since I left Bend OR. I remember the Cloud 9 House up until the 11th month of 2004. I was then hit with what my ex-husband did to me. Even though this was horrible, at least me and my children were free and had so much joy. There was so much promise.

"I remember the spring. It was warm and beautiful outside. I felt safe. However, this was short lived. A flood of trouble soon came. There were so many strikes against us. I kept thinking...this is okay...the Lord will vindicate us...He will give us back so much more for all of this. I could not accept it. I couldn't accept that You kept allowing troubles...more and more and more.

"I felt like the mother on the bottom floor of the Titanic...singing her children to sleep as the boat sank. That was me. It became even more humiliating as I was stripped of more and more and more. I kept certain things in hopes of a better life someday. Then even these were sold or taken.

"Then the lawsuits kept coming, along with more and more and more troubles. Until all of this, I thought for sure these things were only going to be temporary. I kept thinking...surely, I will get through this...surely, everything will be okay. Well, here we are again and I can see familiar patterns emerging. The grief all came back today. Lord, the floodgates came today."

Jesus: "I know that this has not been easy for you. I know that your heart breaks. I know all about your dreams of something better. Erin, your dreams are reasonable."

Me: "Lord, it is painful to keep coming to You. While I love being with You, our circumstances still don't seem to change. Every day is like Groundhog Day. I am tired and so sad. My dreams are difficult while I am asleep. My days are then difficult as well. Oh Lord, I love You so much even during the hoping and the waiting. I don't have years here. Our lives are shorter now than our forefathers.

"I spent my entire life in trials and troubles. I have shared these with others. I have prayed for miracles and You have answered some of them. Now how am I to plan? Well, I have no plan. However, Lord, I know that You have a plan. Lord, my children have had so many disappointments. People are not nice to them. Other than the Nest, it seems as if no one truly cares about us or our children. Same thing with my husband's children. As for me, I just don't know what to do any more, Lord."

Jesus: "I have a plan, Erin. My Word is good and therefore My Contract with you is good. I realize that life has not gone as you had expected it would. You still continue going even when you are discouraged. My Words are true, Erin."

Me: "Okay, Lord, but when then? When will You finally fulfill Your promises to us?"

Jesus: "Erin, I have protected you from the will of others concerning you and your children. I have used you as My Vessel. Your Vessel has been used for My purposes for all of these years and...yes, Erin...so have your children's Vessels. However, as you have cast off your own ambitions and surrendered your heart and life to Me, then I, the Creator of Good Gifts, will grant good things as recompense for your troubles. While your treasures are stored up here, I will also bring you My recompense there on Earth."

Me: "Lord, I am sorry to complain. I just don't see You opening any doors. Grant us freedom...or at least some more of it. Lord, You can declare this in an instant. Give me some hope here. If You are not willing to heal me or my household...if You are not willing to heal our friends on the Nest...then what else?"

"You called me to be honest and I know You can take my very breath. You have the power to do all things. Please, please help us. You wanted me to be honest. Have I not proven that I love You? Have I not tried to do what is right in Your eyes? I know I fall short. Please have mercy on me. Please!"

Jesus: "Oh Erin, I see no peace in your eyes right now."

Me: I quickly panicked. "Oh no, please..."

Jesus: Smiling. "No, Erin, I meant that I see you that you are feeling restless in your heart. Do not worry...it was not Me foretelling that you would no longer have peace."

Me: Laughing. "Oh good! Thank You!"

Jesus: Looking more serious. "Erin, do you really think this of Me?"

Me: "I don't, Lord. I am sorry, but I panicked. You are wonderful. I just think that I am losing my mind at times."

Jesus: "With Me here in Heaven, you have peace. However, on Earth, there is no peace. It is I Who brought you where you are to keep you apart and safe until I call you for My purposes. Erin, I do have something wonderful for you. You will never doubt again. Although you do not see it, I want to be clear with you so you do not doubt this. I moved mountains in a difficult system to place you there with your husband.

"You were also sent to be a pillar for him and his children. You have been a blessing, Erin, not a curse. Both of you will one day see what was planned for your husband and his children before I sent you. It was not good. In a similar manner, you have been safely preserved by moving to where your husband is, a place where the enemy could not snare you or your children.

"I realize you have many questions and I repeat the same truth in answers. You and your family, your house, your children and animals...all of this will not be harmed. Many, many will fall into troubles, but you will escape them all. Right now, you are like a flower at the bud stage.

"However, it seems to you as if you will remain like this forever. However, then, one morning, in comes the rays of light from the sun and that flower will open and its beauty, your beauty, will be in full glory, understand? Erin, yes, I can do anything. With Me, nothing is impossible. If there was not an even greater plan in place...

- I could heal you using doctors
- I could let you golf into your aging years
- I could let you experience things common to men

"However, I have instead done something you would not believe even if you were told. This is far greater than your journals and these dreams. Yes, and even more, Heaven watches you and cheers. Children, parents, brothers, sisters and generations pray that My Word and the hope of Heaven would settle into the hearts of their loved ones on Earth. Now, though, they also cheer for your husband and your children.

"They intercede in the Courts of Heaven. In addition, though I will do immeasurable more there on Earth, all will know you are Mine. So, Erin, even though I could quickly act like a genie in a bottle and grant you this or that, I am instead doing something with you and through you that has never been seen before and will never be seen again.

"Remember, even the angels ask of you. So, please take heart and hold fast. Things are about to change. You will stand amazed. Now, shall you trust Me to fulfill My promises to you? Shall you trust Me as Lord over you, the One Who has determined your path...or would you choose another?"

Me: Crying. "I choose You, Lord! I definitely choose You!"

Jesus: Smiling. "Alright then...let's have a joyful day. I have something wonderful to start all of this off with. Come!"

He reached for my hand.

Dream 420 – Walking with Jesus in the Place of Splendor

Received on Sunday, July 5, 2020

Communion

Dear Father,

Thank You for another day! Thank You for my family. Thank You so much for the blessings of Sparrow prayers. I feel so overwhelmed with love. I had a very deep and heavy sleep last night. I am not sure why though as these are very rare for me. I fell asleep at 1:00am and finally woke up at 10:00am. I could have fallen back to sleep, but the pain of laying down without much movement was greater than my exhaustion.

As I moved around, my chest felt heavy and my breathing labored. I have been in self-isolation now for 10 days and I have no symptoms of the virus. I will remain this way until the 14th day is finished on Thursday evening. However, I will wait to 'emerge' until this Friday, the 15th day, just for good measure.

I went to feed the animals outside when I noticed that the grey squirrels had once again been liberating the seeds from the bird feeders. This is so frustrating. It is so funny too. I go outside and only the bold little red squirrels and baby groundhogs see me and run towards me. The rest of the animals flee as if I am the end of their party. Just to make a point, I then spend even more time with those few who want to visit with me.

It is endearing for me as I can even pet some of them. One little groundhog hid between my feet, only popping out to retrieve seeds and peanuts. Several nights in a row, we have heard some animal attacking another animal or animals in our back-porch area. This area is the home of 'Flower', the groundhog, and her five babies. Flower has been here for a few years now and I have grown attached to her.

In previous years, Flower would run up to greet me at the sound of me calling her. This year though, there have been many predators, seemingly more than normal. As such, she is now slower to greet me. I told my husband that I would like to set up a night camera to see the action. He just shook his head and said, 'Erin, like you need something else to worry about.' I nodded in agreement as he had a good point.

Anyway, I saw Flower a couple of weeks ago and she looked like she had been in a fight. Shortly after that, one of her babies was killed by a dog that likes to come on our property. The dog comes in like a wave of terror to the little animals as he chases his owner on a mountain bike down the dirt road. On this particular day, he left the body by the house and our kids found it. It was awful.

I later saw Flower and the other babies looking for the little guy who had died. Shortly after this, we heard something in the way of a bad fight. Flower and another of her babies have not been seen since. The babies were not quite weened. Now only three babies are left. Two stay together and the third stays away. The one that stays away came up to me this morning and was hungry.

The grey squirrels around me were circling the perimeter. They are bullies. In order to keep peace, I pay them off with peanuts. It has now gotten out of control and they are now my 'yard terrorists'. Yes, I am exaggerating, but there are so many of them and they aren't really that nice. It is so weird.

Anyway, since the grey squirrels emptied the birdfeeders, chickadees, yellow finches and nuthatches were forced to go to the seed on the ground. As I sat there, I was amazed at the beauty of these little creatures and the complexity of Your Creation. Father, You made these animals look like jewels. Simply beautiful. I have seen Indigo Buntings and ruby throated hummingbirds here. Absolutely beautiful.

As I got up to go back inside to write my dream down, I saw a beautiful Downey Woodpecker teaching a fledgling how to eat and hide food. Sometimes it would feed directly from its mouth. The males have a red mark on the back of their heads. This, combined with their black and white striped feathers, makes them stunning. In this instance, the 'Father Downey' was feeding the 'Baby Downey' beak to beak. So cute.

After I spread the rest of the seed and peanuts, I went inside and washed my hands in the kitchen sink. I then went to the window to peek out to see who had come to breakfast. I laughed out loud at the sight of all of this.

There were at least 20 yellow finches, some indigo buntings, chickadees, mourning doves, sparrows, nuthatches, crowned sparrows, blue jays, Downey woodpeckers, Harry woodpeckers, 8 large squirrels, 10 red squirrels, 2 chipmunks, 2 crows (Scout and his partner) and one little groundhog baby.

Within less than three minutes, they had all descended, 16 varieties of little creatures. It seemed the only ones missing were the hummingbirds and the wild turkeys.

There must be a storm coming as the atmosphere seemed suddenly cooler and thicker than yesterday. The animals and birds now seem frantic. Father, please protect these little ones from storms and predators.

My dream last night was unusual as in there was absolutely nothing I had done in the physical which would trigger something in my sleep state. In order to understand this dream fully, I am going to give you some background on this area of Portland OR and on the designer industry in general.

When I designed in Portland OR, I belonged to the North West Society of Interior Design, or NWSID for short. During the year, there is one event that always makes us incredibly busy. This is show home time. In the time of my first street of dreams in 1993 to my injury in 2014, I had easily worked on a total of twenty show homes. Of the twenty, three were very high-end homes.

These high-end homes took a year to design, budget and coordinate. Most of my employers were builders who took 100% credit for everything and gave very little, if any, credit to their designers. While some designers do this for fame and others for money, I did it for income as I always needed this for my battles. It is an industry of big egos, with some even becoming very wealthy.

By doing these show homes well, you are then in demand for the next two years. It helps to keep you employed. I spent a lot of time making others look good. It is humbling in a way as others get awards and recognitions for the work you do. This has been God's Will though. I have seen designers I have trained become more prominent than me. I have also seen great designers simply fall into obscurity for no good reason.

Sub-dream 1 "Designing with futuristic lighting"

I was an active Interior Designer again. I had been gone for many years and it was now show home time. I had come back to the Portland OR area after being gone from that area for 15 years. I was now preparing an exhibit of lighting effects using new technologies. I was happily doing this as I love good lighting and always hated the blue lighting that Obama had forced on us.

I had now signed up for show home entry. I was younger again, most likely Transformed, though not 100% sure, but seemed logical. I was overwhelmed with an unbelievable list of hurdles in order to even enter with only days before the display and judging for something I felt I would be able to do well in. I felt I had a really great display. I was instead called away to do something equally as important.

Other designers who were my rivals knew I was back in town, so they had placed obstacles on my path. These were insignificant though as I was called to do other things. The main thing was that I only had three days left and was doing some amazing things using nano technology. This 'nano lighting' could illuminate a great area, all with the added ability of varying the individual degrees of lighting in a wonderful way.

I knew this was supernatural as I was doing incredibly complicated things. Others wanted to steal my abilities, but couldn't. They felt I was using trickery, not wanting to acknowledge that God gave me these talents. As a result, I was being pursued. If it was up to them, I would do all of this for them without credit and I would have no time to rest. In a supernaturally fast way, I was done setting up what I needed to set up.

This was good timing as my mother soon appeared with my youngest brother with only 24 hours left. In this dream, my mom was the same age as me and my brother was once again only about 8 years old.

Mom: "Erin, what are you doing? This is too much. Keep it simple. You have more knowledge now. This is a simple show of lights for you. You have nothing to prove here. Just show up."

I dismissed her at first, but then decided that her advice was sound. The three of us then decided to go to the Flower Market in Portland OR. The Flower Market was not open to the public. When I arrived, I recognized clerks from many years ago. However, they did not recognize me. I used my old business number and they ushered us in. They seemed as if they were wrapping up.

I went to an area with various string garland lights. My mom stood next to me while my little brother sat in the cart. There were samples on the wall and one string stood out to me. It was not of this world, but of Heaven in origin. The strand was a silver garland of branches and leaves. The entire piece was illuminated. All of the other lights were blue LED and looked more like cheap Christmas lighting. I called over a clerk.

Me: "Excuse me, but could I please have a case of these Heavenly Strands?"

Clerk: "Oh yes! This was sent to us as a sample, but the rest of the batch of these lights have never come. We keep waiting, but the garlands promised have not yet arrived. My sales rep keeps promising though."

Me: Turning to my mom. "If I can't have these, I want nothing else that I see here."

Mom: Smiling. "This is a good decision."

Me: "Why was I even going to participate in this show?"

Mom: "All you need is with you."

Me: "Awesome! Then let the lightshow begin!"

Sub-dream 1 over.

Father, this dream was very real. However, I don't know what it all meant. Please help me...well, all of us...to better understand what You will soon be doing with us.

Jesus: "Erin, come up."

I was on a beautiful path consisting of perfectly chiseled stone pavers. At each joint, there was short green moss or grass that acted as grout and highlighted each stone. On each stone was chiseled the Words of God. It was amazing as the chiseled Words of God were illuminated with light. To the left and right of the path, and for approximately fifty feet in width, were various flowers in the bud stage.

There were thousands of varieties of flowers. On either side of the flowers were my favorite aspen trees. When I looked through the trees, I could see green meadows framed by large rocks. These were at the base of two large mountain ranges. I could hear beautiful singing of birds. I felt the warmth of the sun as I walked. I walked slowly, trying to take everything in. I couldn't as there was just too many things to look at.

Something unusual then happened. I began to see everything as if in quickened time lapse. I watched as the sun moved forward at a quick speed. I watched as the light went from behind me to over me to moving in front of me. As I walked towards the sun, I noticed that the flowers were quickly moving from budding into blossoming. It was so incredibly beautiful that it took my breath away.

I know that my words are not doing this justice. Quite simply, I have seen many things in Heaven, many things of God and all that He has planned for us, but never have I seen such a beautiful sight as this. I was in absolute awe and wonder as I walked. The sun began to set on the path before me. As it did, God's Words on the paving stones were illuminated even more without the sun being present.

All things around me now had light, but a hard to describe super amazing internal light. It was light without electricity, cords or bulbs. The trees had illuminated branches and leaves. The flowers, the meadows and the rocks...but, really, all that I could see...now had light. Any darkness only existed to make the effects of the lighting even more vivid. I could see millions of stars in the sky. All in all, night was just as beautiful as day.

As I walked, dawn was now also coming in with a quickened time-lapse. I could see dew like diamonds watering the flowers. As the sun rose, I could see Jesus on the horizon walking towards me. I ran to Him. I cried out to Him, but with joy this time, as I ran. He received me with open arms.

Jesus: "I am so glad you came, Erin."

Me: "Lord, I have never seen such beauty as this. I am in awe."

Jesus: "Erin, this is the place of Splendor...My Splendor. I thought that you might like to see it. You have been downcast and could use the lift of your head."

Me: "Thank You, Lord."

Jesus: "The path has stones which are living truth. The stones you walk on are My Word. These are the words I have given you to encourage you. My light, My Word of Truth, is in you and in those that I have called. Therefore, since I am the Light of the World, like the sun, then too you are My lights. Your long wait has made your lights grow dim though. It is as if they are run on batteries that are losing their power.

"However, Erin, you are not powered by things of the world. You are powered by My Light, the Light of the Son, and the Words of Truth, which I have spoken. Where you are, a wave of darkness has swept over the land and nations. Sin has begun to sweep all that is good into the shadows. Many now believe that good is evil and that evil is good. Even those who have claimed to stand on My Word of Truth have now proclaimed a new truth.

"However, Erin, as you can see..." He pointed to the stones. "...My Words remain unchanged. No darkness, no scheme of man, no instrument of the sons bound for the lake of fire will remove you, your family, your children, your friends or their children from My hands. No scheme will be able to change My Truth or squelch My Light in all of you. Fear will not overcome those that I have called.

"Those who live in fear must turn from the schemes of the enemy and come to Me. I am here. I am with you. I have not only prepared all of this for you in Heaven, along with much, much more, but I have also declared this to be on Earth as it is here. You must now stand on My Word, My Promises and My Rock of Salvation.

"When the storms continue to batter the nations and the quakes shake the foundations in wave after wave, you will stand unmovable and unshakeable. You will be like a lighthouse and a beacon in the storm. My Voice will be in you as My Light is also in you and upon you."

He reached over and placed His hand on my forehead and blessed me. He then leaned over and kissed the top of my head.

Jesus: "Erin, you will have a visible mark showing that I have blessed you forever. This will not be like a tattoo made of ink, but instead like a Signet Ring of God. A Signet possesses the authority of the King in Good Faith as an extension to perform His Will. You will be strengthened and have a Signet as a seal and a sign that I am with you.

"This will be visible to all and, when I call you here or there, I will also instruct you with knowledge greater than any king on Earth. At times, you will only observe the deeds of the wicked and their deeds will be recorded. At other times, you will move forward to administer justice, mercy, healing and grace.

"Many weapons will be fashioned against you, but none will prosper. All who run to Me for help and mercy shall be saved as great healings will come over the nations. Now, look at these..." He pointed to the beautiful flowers of many varieties. "...not all of these have buds which blossom. Not all I have called will bloom, but this too was known from the beginning.

"Here though, all buds bloom from the stem. This is unlike what you are familiar with. There, the promise is visible, but it sometimes fails to open. Remember, Erin, that it is I Who is in control of all things. Do not be discouraged. Instead, be encouraged that everything I do, all which is done, is good. Remember, Erin, that I care for each of you. Do not be discouraged. Instead, stand firm and unwavering. I Am Who I say I Am and I Am about to do something you would not believe even if you were told!"

Me: "My Lord, I love You. Please strengthen us. The pain of this world is great and, without Your strength, none of us would bloom. Let Your Will be done...and as You have said...on Earth as it is in Heaven."

Jesus: Smiling. "Now, prepare your hearts. Be encouraged. I love you. You are My Bride. Come, walk with Me. I have more to show you. Take My hand."

I instantly and willingly presented my hand to Him. He laughed as He took my hand. I could tell that this gesture had pleased Him. We walked down the path together. As we walked, the flowers before Him opened in response to being in His vicinity. We walked towards the setting of the sun.

In total, it went from dawn to sunset two times, plus the nighttime in between.
